FOURTH ~~NIGHT LEAD KOREAN~~ WAR ROUNDUP (180)

BY DON HUTH

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, MAY 9-(AP)-MORE THAN 300 ALLIED PLANES TODAY MADE THE BIGGEST AIR STRIKE OF THE WAR AGAINST THE NORTH KOREAN CITY OF SINUIJU ACROSS THE YALU RIVER FROM MANCHURIA.

FIRST REPORTS SAID SWARMS OF RUSSIAN-TYPE JETS HAD TAKEN OFF FROM MANCHURIAN BASES AND FURIOUS SKY BATTLES WERE IN PROGRESS.

"IT'S A MASSACRE AND THEY ARE BEING MASSACRED, NOT US," SAID ONE ALLIED FLIER ON RETURNING TO HIS BASE.

WHILE 206 FIGHTERS ROCKETED AND BOMBED SINUIJU, MORE THAN 100 SPEED SABRE AND SHOOTING STAR JETS FLEW COVER.

THE SKY BATTLES RAGED IN MIG ALLEY--SO TERMED BECAUSE OF THE FREQUENT APPEARANCE OF RUSSIAN-TYPE MIG-15 JETS FROM MANCHURIAN BASES AROUND ANTUNG, JUST ACROSS THE YALU FROM SINUIJU.

BUT THE FIRST SKETCHY REPORTS INDICATED THAT THE NUMBERS OF RED PLANES SMOKED OUT FAR EXCEEDED THOSE OF ANY IN PREVIOUS DOG FIGHTS.

ON THE GROUND, THE REDS BACK-PEDALLED IN KOREA AMID GROWING REPORTS OF FRICTION BETWEEN RED CHINA AND RUSSIA OVER CONDUCT OF THE WAR.

MAY 9 1951

MOUNTING ALLIED PRESSURE SHOVED THEM BACK OVER THE SAME TERRAIN THE REDS HAD TO BUY WITH BLOOD OF MORE THAN 80,000 MEN.

HIGH RANKING U.S. MARINE OFFICERS TOLD AP CORRESPONDENT JIM BECKER THE CHINESE REDS HAD WANTED TO UNLEASH A MIGHTY SMASH IN EARLY APRIL WITH 600,000 MEN, 3,000 RUSSIAN-PROMISED PLANES AND HUNDREDS OF TANKS.

THE RED TANKS AND PLANES NEVER SHOWED UP. THE ALLIES DROVE INTO NORTH KOREA. BECKER SAID IT GOT TO THE POINT WHERE THE 600,000 REDS HAD NO CHOICE BUT TO LET FLY THEIR PLANNED OFFENSIVE ANYWAY. SO IT STARTED--APRIL 22.

OFFICERS POINTED OUT TO BECKER THAT THE REDS ACHIEVED THE VERY BREAKTHROUGH THEY HAD WANTED IN A MOVE TO SPLIT AND DESTROY THE UNITED NATIONS DIVISIONS. BUT RUSSIA HADN'T COME THROUGH WITH THE TANKS AND PLANES NEEDED TO FINISH THE JOB.

THE CHINA FOOT SOLDIER OFFENSIVE RAN OUT OF GAS IN A WEEK.

THE ALLIES STARTED MOVING FORWARD AGAIN.

TODAY THE RED FALL-BACK WAS GENERAL ALL ACROSS THE KOREAN PENINSULA.

HARD-FIGHTING SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS PUSHED THEM BACK IN THE WEST AND EAST. THE REDS WITHDREW AHEAD OF FAR-RANGING ALLIED PATROLS IN THE CENTER.

A DISPATCH TODAY FROM THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT DISCLOSED A NEW ALLIED CROSSING OF THE 38TH PARALLEL. IT WAS MADE TUESDAY BY SOUTH KOREANS SOUTHEAST OF INJE AGAINST MODERATE RESISTANCE FROM NORTH KOREAN REDS.

CENSORSHIP WOULD NOT PERMIT PIN-POINTING POSITIONS OF THE LIMITED ALLIED ATTACKS.

NORTHWEST OF SEOUL, SOUTH KOREANS CROSSED THE HAN RIVER FROM KIMPO PENINSULA AND PROBED RED LINES SOUTH OF KAESONG. THAT CITY IS 35 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL AND WITHIN TWO MILES OF THE 38TH PARALLEL.

ANOTHER SOUTH KOREAN COLUMN DROVE NORTH FROM SEOUL.

A DISPATCH FROM KOREAN HEADQUARTERS OF THE U. S. EIGHTH ARMY BY AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON REPORTED THE ACTIONS. BUT MILEAGES WERE DELETED.

THE PURPOSE OF THE PUSH NORTH OF KIMPO PENINSULA WAS TO GUARD AGAINST ANY RED MOVE TO SLIP DOWN THAT WAY AND ENCIRCLE SEOUL FROM THE REAR.

THE REDS FOUGHT BACK AGAINST THE SOUTH KOREANS ALONG THE SEOUL-MUNSAN ROAD, USING MORTARS, ANTI-TANK GUNS AND AUTOMATIC WEAPONS.

THERE WERE SEVERAL BRISK ACTIONS IN THE SECTOR (FIVE WORDS DELETED) NORTHWEST OF THE CAPITAL ALONG THE ROAD TO MUNSAN, EUNSON REPORTED.

"WEST OF THE ROAD, ALLIED UNITS PUSHED NORTH AND WERE FIGHTING A BATTLE WITH NORTH KOREAN REDS (THREE WORDS DELETED) SOUTH OF MUNSAN," HE SAID.

BEYOND UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, ALLIED ENGINEERS CLEARED A MINE FIELD UNDER FIRE OF A RED COMPANY HIDING IN NEARBY HILLS.

ON THE CENTRAL FRONT, ALLIED PATROLS ENTERED CHUNCHON FOR THE SECOND STRAIGHT DAY TUESDAY WITHOUT FINDING ANY REDS. CHUNCHON, A FORMER RED STRONGHOLD, IS 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL AND EIGHT MILES SOUTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL.

A35KX

"EAST OF THIS IMPORTANT ROAD JUNCTION TOWN, HOWEVER, AN ALLIED PATROL WAS AMBUSHED AND FORCED TO WITHDRAW," EUNSON REPORTED.

AROUND KAPYONG, BETWEEN CHUNCHON AND SEOUL, ALLIED AND RED UNITS FOUGHT THREE BRIEF SKIRMISHES.

STIFF FIGHTING WAS REPORTED IN THE VICINITY OF INJE, A TOWN 75 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL AND FOUR MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL.

THE ENEMY LINES SEEMED TO BE GIVING ON THE EXTREME EASTERN TIP, EUNSON SAID, BUT HOLDING FAIRLY FIRM DIRECTLY EAST OF INJE.

EIGHTH ARMY MADE THE RELATIVELY LOW CLAIM OF 915 REDS KILLED OR WOUNDED IN GROUND ACTION TUESDAY AND 69 CAPTURED.

RED VEHICULAR TRAFFIC BEHIND THE LINES SLACKENED SOMEWHAT. BUT ALLIED FLIERS COUNTED 1,625 VEHICLES LAST NIGHT, MOST OF THEM IN THE WEST.

ELEVEN B-29S LAST NIGHT BOMBED THE RED SUPPLY CENTER OF SARIWON IN WESTERN KOREA.

MAY 9 1951

NEARLY HALF THE GROUND LOST WHEN THE COMMUNISTS LAUNCHED THEIR ILL-FATED APRIL 22 OFFENSIVE HAS BEEN REGAINED ALONG THE 100-MILE WIDE BATTLEFRONT. THE RED DRIVE BOGGED DOWN SEVEN DAYS OF HUMAN-SEA ATTACKS.

NOW THE COMMUNISTS WERE BATTLING CLUMSILY, LIKE A PUNCH-DRUNK FIGHTER STRUGGLING FOR TIME TO REGAIN STRENGTH. THE REDS STEPPED UP THEIR ARTILLERY AND MORTAR ATTACKS. ROADS WERE STREWN WITH RED MINEFIELDS.

ON THE FAR WESTERN FRONT SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS GAINED FIVE MILES IN TWO DAYS, SHOVING THE REDS NORTH OF THE KONGNUNG RIVER, A TRIBUTARY OF THE HAN RIVER. AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH SAID COMMUNIST RESISTANCE STIFFENED AT THIS POINT, SOME 17 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

DRIVING DUE NORTH OF THE BATTERED OLD KOREAN CAPITAL, ALLIED TANKS CLANKED 20 MILES UP THE IMPORTANT UIJONGBU HIGHWAY. RED MINES LITTERING THE ROAD WERE CLEARED AHEAD OF THE ARMORED GIANTS.

THE CHINESE STILL HELD RIDGE POSITIONS FIVE MILES SOUTH OF THAT ALLIED PENETRATION, MAKING THE POINT OF ACTUAL ENEMY CONTACT ABOUT 15 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL.

THERE WAS LITTLE FIGHTING NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. U.N. PATROLS ENGAGED AN UNKNOWN NUMBER OF REDS JUST SOUTH OF KAPYONG, 33 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL ON THE IMPORTANT HIGHWAY TO CHUNCHON.

ALLIED TROOPS APPARENTLY MAINTAINED THEIR STRONG DEFENSE PERIMETER ABOVE SEOUL AND HAD ESTABLISHED ANOTHER PROTECTIVE ARC AROUND UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF OLD CAPITAL. IT STRENGTHENED THE ALLIED HOLD ON THE TRADITIONAL INVASION CORRIDOR IN CASE OF A RENEWED RED THRUST.

OTHER U.N. UNITS OPERATING ON KIMPO PENINSULA FOUGHT A MORTAR DUEL WITH AN ENEMY FORCE ON THE NORTH BANK OF THE HAN RIVER.

AP CORRESPONDENT STAN CARTER SAID THERE WERE INDICATIONS THE CHINESE STRENGTHENED THEIR DEFENSES IN THE RUGGED HILLS AND RIDGES EAST OF SEOUL.

ON THE CENTRAL FRONT MORE ALLIED TANK-INFANTRY PATROLS CRUNCHED OVER

DUSTY TRAILS NORTH OF CHUNCHON, A NO-MAN'S TOWN ABANDONED BY THE ALLIES AND DESERTED BY THE CHINESE.

A206KX

IT WAS THE SECOND STRAIGHT DAY U.N.PATROLS PASSED THROUGH THAT DEVASTATED TRANSPORTATION HUB, EIGHT MILES SOUTH OF PARALLEL 38, IN SEARCH OF RED CONCENTRATIONS TO THE NORTH.

CHINESE ARTILLERY OPENED UP TUESDAY NIGHT ON ALLIED POSITIONS BOTH NORTH AND EAST OF CHUNCHON.

ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT, AP CORRESPONDENT NATE POLOWETZKY SAID ALLIED LINES ADVANCED TOWARD A COMMUNIST BUILDUP AREA FORMING NORTHWEST OF INJUE -- ANOTHER ABANDONED ROAD CENTER FOUR MILES NORTH OF THE PARALLEL.

AIR OBSERVERS, TAKING ADVANTAGE OF CLOUDLESS SKIES LOCATED THE RED BUILDUP AND CALLED IT "CONSIDERABLE." ALLIED PLANES HIT ONE RED GROUP OF ABOUT 300 NORTH OF INJE. HOW MANY MORE WERE IN THE AREA WAS NOT DISCLOSED.

ALLIED PLANES BOMBED AND STRAFED OTHER RED TROOPS AND SUPPLY CONCENTRATIONS ALONG THE CENTRAL FRONT AND RAN INTO HEAVY GROUND FIRE AT SOME PLACES. THE HEAVIEST WAS IMMEDIATELY NORTH OF CHUNCHON, WHERE THE REDS SENT UP MACHINEGUN AND SMALL ARMS FIRE.

THE U.S.FIFTH AIR FORCE HURLED 500 AIR STRIKES ON RED TARGETS DURING THE DAY. NAVY AND MARINE FLYERS ADDED TO THE SCORCHING ATTACKS ON ENEMY OCCUPIED BUILDINGS, ROAD NETWORKS AND SUPPLY INSTALLATIONS.

AN EIGHTH ARMY COMMUNIQUE TESUDAY NIGHT ESTIMATED THAT THE REDS SUFFERED 2,965 CASUALTIES MONDAY.

LT.GEN.JAMES A.VAN FLEET LEFT HIS EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS FOR A VISIT TO THE WESTERN FRONT DURING THE DAY. THERE, AS THE MOURNFUL SKIRL OF BAGPIPES FLOATED OVER THE RICE PADDIES, HE PAID TRIBUTE TO BRITAIN'S GALLANT CLOUCESTERSHIRE REGIMENT. IT HAD FOUGHT TO THE DEATH ON THE IMJIN RIVER FRONT TO DELAY THE CHINESE POWER DRIVE OF APRIL 22.

"IT SAVED OUR LIVES," VAN FLEET TOLD A HANDFUL OF CLOUCESTERSHIRE SURVIVORS. THEY WERE AWARDED THE U.S.PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION.

FIRST LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (300)

BY OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, MAY 8-(AP)-ALLIED TROOPS TODAY PUSHED CAUTIOUSLY NORTH AT BOTH ENDS OF THE 100 MILE KOREAN FRONT FOR THE SECOND SUCCESSIVE DAY.

PATROLS HUNTED IN THE VACUUM BETWEEN THESE POINTS FOR VANISHING RED TROOPS. FAR NORTH OF THE THEORETICAL BATTLE LINE, PILOTS REPORTED NEW COMMUNIST BUILD-UPS IN RED KOREA.

WITHDRAWING AND REORGANIZING CHINESE AND NORTH KOREAN REDS WERE REPORTED ANGRY BECAUSE THEY DIDN'T GET RUSSIAN TANKS AND PLANES TO SINEW THEIR SPRING OFFENSIVE.

THE CURRENT LIMITED OFFENSIVE IS IN THE HANDS OF U.N. TROOPS. FROM WEST TO EAST, FRONT LINE DISPATCHES GAVE THIS PICTURE OF TUESDAY'S SKIRMISHING.

AT THE EXTREME WEST, WHERE NO ACTION HAS BEEN REPORTED FOR WEEKS, U.N. FORCES ON THE KIMPO PENINSULA NORTHWEST OF SEOUL ENGAGED IN A MORTAR DUEL WITH REDS.

SOUTH KOREANS MAKING THE WESTERN ADVANCE REACHED POINTS 17 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL ON THE EAST BANK OF THE HAN RIVER. ARMORED PATROLS FANNING OUT FROM UIJONGBU STABBED TO POINTS 20 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL.

ACROSS THE REST OF THE WESTERN AND CENTRAL SECTORS, AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH REPORTED, "THERE IS NO FORMAL FRONT LINE. INSTEAD, THERE IS A WIDE SHELF OF NO-MAN'S LAND OF VARYING WIDTH. IN THIS BELT, CHINESE AND UNITED NATIONS PATROLS ROAMED BACK AND FORTH."

FOR THE SECOND SUCCESSIVE DAY AN ARMORED COLUMN RUMBLED UNOPPOSED INTO THE HUB CITY OF CHUNCHON, 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. PATROLS JABBED NORTH INTO RED DEFENSES BUT ELSEWHERE FOUND NO COMMUNISTS.

SOUTH KOREANS FIGHTING ABOVE THE 38TH PARALLEL BATTLED A COMMUNIST BATTALION EAST OF INJE. NORTHWEST OF THIS RED-HELD CITY AIRMEN REPORTED A "CONSIDERABLE BUILD UP" OF RED TROOPS.

FIFTH AIR FORCE WARPLANES FLEW 500 SORTIES, SOMETIMES THROUGH HEAVY GROUND FIRE.

LT.GEN. JAMES A.VAN FLEET, EIGHTH ARMY COMMANDER, VISITED THE WESTERN FRONT TO AWARD THE U.S. PRESIDENTIAL UNIT CITATION TO THE HEROIC BRITISH GLOUCESTERSHIRE REGIMENT.

REPORTS OF RED DISCONTENT CAME FROM ALLIED OFFICERS ON THE WESTERN FRONT. AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH SAID SOME U.N. OFFICERS BELIEVE THERE IS HARD FEELING AMONG CHINESE AND NORTH KOREAN TROOPS BECAUSE THEY DIDN'T GET TANKS AND PLANES FROM THE SOVIET UNION TO SUPPORT THEIR RECENT ILL-FATED OFFENSIVE.

THE INFANTRY CARRIED THE FULL BURDEN OF THAT ATTACK, LAUNCHED APRIL 22. MORE THAN 80,000 REDS HAVE BEEN KILLED OR WOUNDED, BY U.N. ESTIMATES. MONDAY 2,940 WERE REPORTED KILLED OR WOUNDED.

RANDOLPH QUCTED ALLIED OFFICERS THAT RED OFFENSIVE PREPARATIONS INDICATED THEY HAD EXPECTED BOTH ARMORED SUPPORT AND AIR COVER. ROADS WERE WIDENED. AIR FIELDS WERE PUT INTO CONDITION. BUT THE SUPPORT DIDN'T DEVELOP AND THE RED INFANTRY WAS UNABLE TO EXPLOIT ITS GAINS.

"I THINK THAT IF THEY HAD ANY AIR AND ARMOR AVAILABLE IN NORTH KOREA THEY WOULD HAVE USED THEM IN THE APRIL ATTACK," ONF OFFICER SAID.. "AS IT WAS THEY TOOK SOME TERRIBLE LOSSES TRYING TO DO IT ALL WITH INFANTRY.

"IF THEY AREN'T DELIBERATELY HOARDING THEIR HEAVY STUFF UP NORTH (IN MANCHURIAD THERE ARE ONLY TWO SOLUTIONS--EITHER THEY COULDN'T CROSS THE YALU RIVER, OR ELSE THE RUSSIANS WELCHED ON THEIR PROMISES."

THE OFFICER SUGGESTED THE REDS COULD BE HOLDING LARGE CONCENTRATIONS OF PLANES AND ARMOR IN MANCHURIA TO WARD OFF ANY POSSIBLE ALLIED BLOW IN THAT DIRECTION.

TO REACH THE FRONT FROM MANCHURIA RED TANKS HAVE TO RUN A FANTLET OF U.N. AERIAL BOMBS AND ROCKETS. AND COMMUNIST PLANES HAVE TO SNEAK PAST AN AERIAL PATROL BY F-86 SABRE JETS ALONG THE YALU RIVER BORDER.

EVEN BAD WEATHER MONDAY FAILED TO HALT "THE DAY-BY-DAY DESTRUCTION OF THE ENEMY'S WAR POTENTIAL" THE FAR EASTERN AIR FORCES REPORTED. MORE THAN 900 SORTIES (SINGLE FLIGHTS) WERE FLOWN. MANY STRIKES BLASTED HIGHWAYS ON WHICH 2,000 TRUCKS WERE SPOTTED. OF THESE, 315 WERE CLAIMED KNOCKED OUT.

A57FX

SEA-BASE PLANES SUPPORTED THE SOUTH KOREAN LIMITED OFFENSIVES.

ON THE EXTREME WEST, REPUBLIC OF KOREA (ROK) INFANTRYMEN PUSHED FORWARD FOR GAINS OF ABOUT THREE MILES.

THEIR OBJECTIVE WAS TO CLEAN OUT OR DRIVE BACK NEARLY TWO DIVISIONS OF A BATTERED NORTH KOREAN ARMY CORPS. THESE REDS WERE THREATENING TO CROSS THE HAN RIVER FOR POSSIBLE FLANK ATTACKS ON SEOUL. OTHER SMALL GROUPS OF REDS WERE ACROSS THE HAN IN THIS AREA.

THE SOUTH KOREAN PUSH MONDAY CARRIED 12 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

ABOUT THE SAME DISTANCE DUE NORTH OF SEOUL, ALLIED TANK PATROLS STRUCK AT SEVEN ENEMY POCKETS IN THE MOUNTAINS NORTH OF UIJONGBU.

U.N. FORCES HAVE REGAINED ABOUT HALF THE GROUND LOST IN THE RED OFFENSIVE. BUT SOME HILLS CHANGE HANDS DAILY WITHOUT A FIGHT. ALLIES OCCUPY THEM BY DAY; REDS AT NIGHT.

U.N. PATROLS FOUND VIRTUALLY NO REDS IN THE CENTRAL SECTOR WHERE ALLIED TANKS ROLLED BACK UNOPPOSED INTO THE HIGHWAY JUNCTION OF CHUNCHON. CHUNCHON IS 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL AND 27 MILES SOUTHWEST OF INJE.

THE SMALL BUT STUBBORN FIGHTING AROUND INJE WAS INTENDED TO STRAIGHTEN OUT THE U.N. LINE THAT CONTINUES TO THE EAST COAST NINE MILES NORTH OF 38.

TOKYO WEDNESDAY, MAY 9-(AP)-NORTH KOREA'S RED RADIO AT PYONGYANG TODAY CALLED FOR THE ARREST OF GENERALS MACARTHUR AND RIDGWAY BY THE UNITED NATIONS ON WHAT IT CALLED CHARGES OF WAGING GERM WARFARE IN KOREA.
THE UNSUBSTANTIATED CHARGES---FLATLY DENIED BY U. N. SOURCES---WERE COUPLED WITH AN ADMISSION THAT SMALLPOX WAS ON THE INCREASE IN COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED AREAS.
THE BROADCAST, AS HEARD IN TOKYO, SAID THERE WERE 3,500 NEW CASES OF SMALLPOX IN APRIL AND THAT 10 PER CENT DIED.
THE PYONGYANG RADIO CHARGED THAT GENERAL MACARTHUR, BEFORE HE WAS REPLACED AS U. N. COMMANDER BY GENERAL RIDGWAY, ORDERED GERM WEAPONS FROM THE JAPANESE.
THE BROADCAST CLAIMED THAT SECRET FILES CAPTURED IN SEOUL CONTAINED ORDERS FOR SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS TO SPREAD DISEASE GERMS.
U. N. PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIALS AND INVESTIGATORS HAVE REPORTED WIDE-SPREAD DISEASE IN NORTH KOREA. THEY SAID THE COMMUNISTS HAD NOT BEEN ABLE TO CARRY OUT AN EFFECTIVE PREVENTATIVE PROGRAM.

ESPIONAGE (170)
TOKYO, MAY 8-(AP)-EIGHTEEN NORTH KOREANS AND JAPANESE WILL BE TRIED BY AN AMERICAN MILITARY COURT FRIDAY ON WHAT AMOUNTS TO ESPIONAGE CHARGES.
THE GENERAL CHARGE IS "ACTS INIMICAL TO THE SECURITY OF THE OCCUPATION."
ONE COUNT CHARGES THEM WITH CONSPIRACY "TO COLLECT MATERIAL INFORMATION IN REGARD TO IDENTIFICATION, LOCATION, NUMBERS, EQUIPMENT LOGISTICS (SUPPLY TECHNIQUES), INSTALLATIONS AND FACILITIES, COMMUNICATIONS AND OPERATIONS OF THE OCCUPATION FORCES."
MILITARY AUTHORITIES SAID THE MEN WERE NOT SPECIFICALLY CHARGED WITH ESPIONAGE BECAUSE THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION FORCES "ARE NOT AT WAR WITH ANYONE."
NONE OF THE CHARGES REVEALED THE COUNTRY FOR WHICH THE ALLEGED ESPIONAGE WAS ATTEMPTED.
MAXIMUM PENALTY UPON CONVICTION IS 10 YEARS IMPRISONMENT.
THE DEFENDANTS ARE ACCUSED OF STARTING TO COLLECT THE INFORMATION PRIOR TO THE OUTBREAK OF THE WAR.
THEY WERE ARRESTED BY INTELLIGENCE AGENTS LAST AUGUST.
MILITARY AUTHORITIES SAID THEY COULD NOT RELEASE FULL DETAILS.

BY JIM BECKER (550)
WITH U.S.MARINES, KOREA, MAY 8-(AP)-(DELAYED)-HIGH-PLACED U.S. OFFICERS SAID TODAY THERE ARE GROWING INDICATIONS THAT ALL IS NOT WELL WITH THE HAMMER-AND-SICKLE WEDDING OF CHINA AND RUSSIA.
THESE OFFICERS SAID THE REPORTS OF FRICTION BETWEEN THE TWO COMMUNIST NATIONS OVER CONDUCT OF THE KOREAN WAR HAVE COME FROM MANY RELIABLE SOURCES.
THE MOST PREVALENT OF THESE REPORTS INDICATES THE CHINESE ARE HIGHLY DISGUSTED WITH THE RUSSIANS FOR NOT SUPPLYING LARGE QUANTITIES OF TANKS AND PLANES SUPPOSEDLY PROMISED BY THE KREMLIN.
THE CHINESE, THESE OFFICERS SAY, PLANNED TO AUGMENT THEIR MASSED INFANTRY STRENGTH--PROBABLY 600,000 READILY AVAILABLE TROOPS--WITH TANKS AND PLANES FOR THE BIG SPRING OFFENSIVE.
THE DRIVE WAS SLATED FOR EARLY APRIL. THE PLAN WAS TO RUSH MOBILE ARMOR SPEARHEADS THROUGH A BREAK FORCED BY THE FOOT SOLDIERS TO SLASH THE RETREAT ROUTES OF THE LARGELY ROAD-BOUND EIGHTH ARMY.
WITH ESCAPE ROUTES CLOSED--AND THE NORTH-SOUTH KOREAN ROAD NETWORK IS HIGHLY VULNERABLE--THE EIGHTH ARMY UNITS WOULD BE SITTING DUCKS FOR RED AIR, THE REDS BELIEVED.
BUT THE PROMISED TANKS AND PLANES NEVER CAME FROM THE SOVIETS.
MOST OFFICERS AGREE THAT THE RUSSIANS HAD PROMISED 3,000 MODERN COMBAT PLANES TO THE REDS FOR THE BIG ATTEMPT TO HACK THE U.N. ARMY TO PIECES AND THROW IT INTO THE SEA OF JAPAN.
ONLY AN OCCASIONAL TANK HAS BEEN SPOTTED IN RED-HELD KOREA BY AIR OBSERVERS AND THE MASSES OF TANKS NECESSARY TO PUT THE CHINESE PLAN INTO ACTION WOULD NOT BE EASY TO HIDE.
THE COMMUNIST "D DAY" ARRIVED WITHOUT THE PROMISED SUPPORT FROM THE RUSSIANS, ACCORDING TO THE U.S. SOURCES, AND HAD TO BE POSTPONED.

MEANWHILE, THE EIGHTH ARMY PRESSED CLOSER AND CLOSER TO THE RED'S "IRON TRIANGLE" BUILDUP AREA.

FINALLY, THE CHINESE WERE FORCED TO ATTACK WHEN PATROLS REACHED THE OUTSKIRTS OF CHORWON, NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL ON THE WEST CENTRAL FRONT, DUE NORTH OF HWACHON.

THIS ANCHOR CITY ON THE CENTRAL FRONT WAS THREATENED, AS WAS THEIR ENTIRE BUILDUP AREA.

THUS U.N. ATTACKS TRIPPED THE TRIGGER ON THE RED SPRING OFFENSIVE BEFORE IT WAS READY. BUT THE REDS ENJOYED TERRIFIC INITIAL SUCCESSES ANYWAY, ESPECIALLY ON THE CENTRAL FRONT. FOR 36 HOURS NOTHING STOOD IN THE WAY OF A SWEEPING MANEUVER THAT WOULD HAVE DONE GREAT HARM TO THE EIGHTH ARMY CAUSE--BUT ARMOR HAD NOT BEEN DELIVERED.

A116FX

"AT FIRST WE THOUGHT IT WAS A TACTICAL BLUNDER ON THEIR PART--NOT EXPLOITING THEIR CENTRAL FRONT BREAKTHROUGH," A HIGH RANKING OFFICER SAID. "BUT SINCE THE OFFENSIVE WAS STOPPED WE HAVE LEARNED FROM MANY SOURCES THAT THE CHINESE DID NOT FOLLOW UP THEIR BREAK-THROUGH BECAUSE THEY HAD PLANNED ON USING PLANES AND TANKS AND THE RUSSIANS DID NOT DELIVER THEM.

"WE HEAR THAT MANY TOP CHINESE GENERALS ARE DISGUSTED BY THIS RUSSIAN FAILURE TO DELIVER. OUR INFORMATION SOURCES BELIEVE THE RUSSIAN RELUCTANCE TO EXPEND VALUABLE TANKS AND PLANES IS DUE TO THE HEAVY LOSSES OF RUSSIAN ARMOR SUFFERED BY THE NORTH KOREANS WHEN THE U.N. FORCES BURST FROM THE PUSAN PERIMETER AND DROVE CLEAR TO THE YALU.

"THE NORTH KOREANS LOST NEARLY EVERY TANK THE RUSSIANS GAVE THEM--AND THEY GAVE THEM PLENTY. PROBABLY THEY DON'T WANT TO TAKE ANOTHER CHANCE."

HOWEVER, FEW FRONT LINE OBSERVERS BELIEVE THE CHINESE WILL QUIT THEIR PURSUIT OF U.N. FORCES INTO SOUTH KOREA BEFORE THEY MOUNT AT LEAST ONE MORE ATTACK, EVEN IF THEY MUST USE ONLY FOOT SOLDIERS.

"THEY PICKED UP A LOT OF REAL ESTATE IN THEIR FIRST DRIVE," A GENERAL SAID, "THEY WOULD BE STUPID NOT TO TRY AT LEAST ONCE MORE."

WESTERN FRONT, KOREA, MAY 8TH-(AP)-THE MOURNFUL SKIRL OF BAGPIPES FLOATED OVER THE RICE PADDIES.

AN AMERICAN GENERAL SPOKE IN TRIBUTE TO THE DEATH STAND OF BRITAIN'S GLOUCESTERSHIRE REGIMENT:

"...THEY WERE IN THE PATH OF THE CHINESE POWER DRIVE INTO THE NERVE CENTER OF OUR FRONT...THEIR GALLANT STAND DELAYED HIS DEADLY THRUST...IT SAVED OUR LIVES."

LT.GEN.JAMES A.VAN FLEET, COMMANDER OF THE U.S. EIGHTH ARMY, PAID THE HONORS OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC TO THE DEAD, THE MISSING AND THE HANDFUL OF SURVIVORS OF THE GLOUCESTER FIRST BATTALION AND ITS ROYAL ARTILLERY MORTAR CORPS.

HE WAS THERE IN THE NAME OF THE PRESIDENT TO GIVE THE BRITISH FORCE THE DISTINGUISHED UNIT CITATION FOR ITS HEROIC BATTLE ALONG THE IMJIN RIVER APRIL 23-25.

IT WAS THERE THAT THE GLOUCESTERSHIRES FOUGHT THE BULK OF A CHINESE COMMUNIST ARMY CORPS OF THREE DIVISIONS TO A STANDSTILL--FOUGHT UNTIL THEIR TIME AND THEIR AMMUNITION RAN OUT.

THE FORMATION TODAY WAS ONE OF THOSE STIRRING MILITARY CEREMONIES THE BRITISH HAVE HELD IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE OVER THE YEARS.

IT WAS AT THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE BRITISH 29TH COMMONWEALTH BRIGADE IN THE COURTYARD OF A KOREAN SCHOOL.

THE UNION JACK FLUTTERED IN THE SPRING BREEZE UNDER A BLUE SKY. IT WAS FLANKED BY FLAGS OF BELGIUM AND LUXEMBURG, EACH WITH A BATTALION ATTACHED TO THE BRITISH FORCE.

FORMING A HOLLOW SQUARE AROUND THE COURTYARD WERE DETACHMENTS FROM EVERY UNIT IN THE BRIGADE--THE ROYAL NORTHUMBERLAND FUSALIERS; THE ROYAL ULSTER RIFLES, THE KING'S OWN EIGHTH HUSSARS, THE SEVENTH ROYAL TANK REGIMENT, THE BELGIAN BATTALION, THE LUXEMBURGERS AND ALL THEIR ATTACHED UNITS.

OFF TO ONE SIDE WERE THE ORANGE AND GREEN KILTED PIPERS OF THE ULSTERS, BLOWING THE SOMBER MUSIC OF GAELIC SOLDIERS.

VAN FLEET STOOD IN THE PLACE OF HONOR, THE STARS AND STRIPES ON HIS RIGHT AND HIS OWN THREE-STARRED FLAG ON THE LEFT.

THERE WAS A BUGLE CALL AND THE TROOPS LIFTED THEIR BAYONETED RIFLES HIGH IN A SALUTE RESERVED FOR GENERALS. THEN THERE WAS ANOTHER BUGLE CALL AND SIX MEN MARCHED FORWARD TO RECEIVE INDIVIDUAL HONORS IN THE NAME OF THE DECIMATED UNIT.

B41KX (Q)

THEY WERE LT.COL. DIGBY GRIST OF MINCHINHAMPTON, GLOUCESTER, THE BATTALION'S NEW COMMANDER, REPLACING LT.COL.FRED CARNE; MAJ. T.V.FISHER-HOCH OF REIGATE, SURREY, COMMANDER OF THE 170TH MORTAR BATTERY, ROYAL ARTILLERY, WHOSE TROOP "C" VANISHED IN THE ACTION; COMPANY SGT. MAJ. RONALD MUNRO OF 36 NORTH ROAD, VAUXHALL BARRACKS, DIDCOT, BERKSHIRE; COMPANY SGTT.MAJ. ARTHUR COURTNEY, 11 CAMBRIDGE BLOCK, BERECHURCH ROAD, COLECHESTER, ESSEX; COLOR SGT.ERNEST ARTHUR READ, 24 ARUNDEL STREET, WAKEFIELD, YORKSHIRE, AND COMPANY SGT. MAJ. THOMAS BLACK FORD, 26 FINLAY ROAD, GLOUCESTER.

"I AM VERY HAPPY AND VERY PROUD TO PIN THESE AWARDS ON THE UNIFORMS OF SUCH BRAVE MEN," VAN FLEET TOLD THEM. "I DEEPLY FEEL A LOSS OF SO MANY FINE SOLDIERS. IT WAS UNFORTUNATE FOR THEM BUT FORTUNATE FOR US THAT THE MEMBERS OF THIS GALLANT BATTALION WERE IN THE RIGHT PLACE AT THE RIGHT TIME TO STOP THE 63RD CHINESE ARMY AND TO SAVE FOR US THIS FRONT."

EACH OF THE SURVIVORS RECEIVED THE GOLD-BORDERED, ROYAL BLUE RIBBON THAT SIGNIFIES THE CITATION AWARD.

PRESENT MEMBERS OF THE UNIT MAY WEAR IT FOR LIFE. NEW MEMBERS MAY WEAR IT WHILE THEY BELONG TO THE UNIT. UNLIKE MOST MILITARY AWARDS, IT IS WORN ON THE RIGHT CHEST.

THE BATTALION AND THE MORTAR TROOPS ALSO WILL RECEIVE STREAMERS FROM THE PRESIDENT TO FLY WITH THE BATTLE HONORS ON THEIR REGIMENTAL AND COMPANY STANDARDS.

VAN FLEET SHOOK EACH MAN'S HAND. HE WAS FOLLOWED BY LT.GEN. FRANK MILBURN, COMMANDER OF THE FIRST CORPS, AND MAJ.GEN. ROBERT SOULE, COMMANDING THE U.S. THIRD DIVISION.

BESIDE THEM WAS THE 29TH'S OWN COMMANDER, BRIG. TOM BRODIE.

THEN THE PIPERS STRUCK UP "THE GREEN HILLS OF TYROL."

AND THE TROOPS MARCHED PAST IN BRITISH STYLE--SWINGING THEIR ARMS FAR IN FRONT OF THEM WHILE THEIR BAYONETS GLINTED IN THE SUNLIGHT.

WAR FLOTSAM (650)

BY JOHN RANDOLPH

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, MAY 8-(AP)-THE LITTLE OLD KOREAN MAN SAT ON THE GROUND IN HIS DIRTY WHITE COTTONS.

HIE BACK WAS AGAINST A RICE PADDY BANK. HIS BANDY LEGS AND STRAW-SLIPPERED FEET EXTENDED STRAIGHT OUT BEFORE HIM.

HE WAS CLENCHING AND UNCLENCHING HIS HANDS. HIS SCRAGGLY GRAY BEARD WIGGLED AS HE POURED OUT HIS UNHAPPY STORY IN THE GUTTERAL, EXPLOSIVE LANGUAGE OF HIS COUNTRY.

BUT NO TRANSLATION WAS NEEDED TO CATCH THE DESPERATION IN THE OLD MAN'S VOICE.

THE WORDS GUSHED OUT, IN PANICKY HASTE TO PERSUADE THE AMERICANS BEFORE THEY COULD SEND HIM SOUTH IN THE WAITING TRUCKS--ALREADY FILLED WITH ABOUT 40 REFUGEES.

"MY DAUGHTER...HOUSE IN VILLAGE...BABY LAST NIGHT...NOW SHE SICK... BAD FEVER...SHE MAY DIE...BABY DIE...I MUST GO BACK...GIVE MEDICINE...".

THE OLD MAN LOOKED UP AT LT.BOYD W.MAYO, OF 2545 PEACH DRIVE, JACKSONVILLE, FLA., CIVIL AFFAIRS OFFICER FOR THE SEVENTH CAVALRY REGIMENT.

MAYO'S LIPS TWISTED IN SYMPATHY.

BUT THERE WAS NOTHING TO BE DONE, HE TOLD AN INTERPRETER, ADDING:

THE CHINESE WERE BACK IN THE VILLAGE. ONE AMERICAN SOLDIER ALREADY HAD BEEN KILLED ON PATROL. THE SOLDIERS COULD NOT GO BACK TO GET THE SICK MOTHER. THE AMERICANS COULDN'T LET THE OLD MAN GO BACK ALONE. HE WAS TOO OLD, TOO WEAK.

HE HAD BEEN BEHIND THE UNITED NATIONS LINES--HAD SEEN OUR GUN POSITIONS AND TRENCHES. ALL THIS WAS INFORMATION THE CHINESE WOULD SWEAT OUT OF HIM. HE COULDN'T POSSIBLY GO BACK.

MAYO CAUGHT THE INTERPRETER'S EYE AND NODDED TOWARD THE TRUCK. THE OLD MAN SHRANK AWAY, HANDS FLUTTERING AND VOICE RISING IN HYSTERIA.

IT WAS A PITIFUL SIGHT, BUT NOTHING NEW IN 10 MONTHS OF KOREAN WAR.

THE INTERPRETER SHOUTED TO ANOTHER KOREAN SOLDIER. BETWEEN THEM THE HALF-HELPED, HALF-PUSHED THE OLD MAN TO THE TRUCK.

"YOU GET THEM LIKE THAT EVERY DAY," MAYO EXPLAINED. "HIS DAUGHTER PROBABLY HAS A FEVER AND NEEDS SULFA OR PENICILLIN. IF SHE'S STILL ALIVE TOMORROW AND OUR PATROLS CAN GET BACK THERE, MAYBE WE CAN SAVE HER. IT'S JUST A CHANCE."

A59FX

"THESE PEOPLE WAITED TOO LONG TO GO," HE SAID. THE CHINESE CAUGHT UP WITH THEM WHEN WE PULLED BACK. NOW WE'VE PUSHED FORWARD AGAIN AND THEY'RE RIGHT ON THE FRONT LINE.

"WE CAN'T LEAVE THEM HERE. THEY'RE RIGHT IN LINE OF FIRE FROM BOTH SIDES. WE SIMPLY CAN'T LET PEOPLE PASS FROM ONE SIDE TO THE OTHER AT WILL. THE CHINESE CAN GET TOO MUCH INFORMATION ABOUT US THAT WAY. SOME REFUGEES ARE COMMUNIST AGENTS."

KOREA'S WORST REFUGEE CRISIS CAME LAST WINTER WHEN MORE THAN 2,000,000 (M) FLED SOUTH IN THE BITTER COLD. THOUSANDS DIED ON THE ROAD.

MOST OF THE REFUGEES ARE OUT OF THE FRONT AREAS NOW. BUT THERE IS STILL NO LACK OF TRAGEDY.

ALMOST ALL OF KOREA'S REFUGEES ARE RICE-GROWING PEASANTS. LIKE PEASANTS OF ALL LANDS THEY HAVE A BLIND ATTACHMENT TO THEIR LITTLE FIELDS. THEY FOLLOW THE CONTENDING ARMIES LIKE SEAGULLS FOLLOW A SHIP-- OFTEN MOVING BACK TO THEIR FARMS WHILE A FIGHT STILL RAGES ON THE HILL BEYOND.

BUT LET THE BIG GUNS GROWL AT THE SIGN OF A NEW CHINESE OFFENSIVE AND THEY START SOUTH AGAIN--THIN COLUMNS OF OLD MEN, OLD WOMEN AND LITTLE CHILDREN.

NEVER DO YOU SEE YOUNG MEN OR YOUNG WOMEN. THE YOUNG MEN ARE EITHER IN THE ARMY OR DEAD. THE GIRLS ARE EITHER DEAD OR IN CHINESE HANDS.

EACH NEW MOVE WINNOWS OUT THE WEAK FROM THE STRONG. SOMEONE ALWAYS IS LEFT BEHIND.

EVERY DAY SOME BENT OLD PARENT COMES TO THE END OF THE ROAD AND LIES DOWN TO DIE--UNCOMPREHENDING, IN ORIENTAL FATALISM.

EVERY NIGHT SOME LITTLE TOT STUMBLES THROUGH THE DARKNESS, CRYING FOR THE MOTHER HE WILL NEVER FIND AGAIN.

IT HAS BEEN GOING ON FOR 10 MONTHS. IT GOES ON AND ON AND ON.

WITH UNITED NATIONS (A30)

BY EDWARD CURTIS

LONDON, MAY 8-(AP)-BRITISH OFFICIALS DECLINED TO SAY TODAY WHETHER SUPPORT OF THE AMERICAN-PROPOSED EMBARGO AGAINST RED CHINA WILL INCLUDE A COMPLETE HALT OF ALL RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO THE CHINESE MAINLAND.

QUALIFIED INFORMANTS SAID BRITAIN WILL VOTE FOR THE AMERICAN

PROPOSAL TO SLAP A U.N.EMBARGO AGAINST PEIPING, AND THAT NEW INSTRUCTIONS TO THIS EFFECT HAD BEEN SENT TO SIR GLADWYN JEBB, THE U.N. DELEGATE. THE EMBARGO WOULD HALT THE SHIPPING OF ARMS, AMMUNITION AND WAR MATERIALS.

THE INFORMANTS SAID BRITAIN ALREADY HAS CUT OFF SHIPMENT OF WAR POTENTIAL GOODS TO RED CHINA WITH THE EXCEPTION OF RUBBER. SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO THE CHINESE REDS WOULD BE RESTRICTED TO AN ESTIMATED CIVILIAN REQUIREMENT OF 2,500 TONS A MONTH.

BUT OFFICIALS DECLINED TO SAY WHETHER SUPPORT FOR THE EMBARGO WOULD MEAN THAT THESE RUBBER SHIPMENTS ALSO WOULD BE HALTED. RED CHINA RECEIVED 3,265 TONS OF MALAYAN RUBBER IN APRIL, A DROP OF 3,747 TONS FROM THE MONTH BEFORE.

WITH THE POSSIBLE EXCEPTION OF THESE RUBBER SHIPMENTS, OFFICIALS HERE BELIEVE BRITAIN'S PRESENT POLICY WOULD LIVE UP TO THE TERMS OF THE AMERICAN EMBARGO PROPOSAL.

THE RUBBER SHIPMENTS STILL ARE UNDER FIRE FROM THE CONSERVATIVES, AND WINSTON CHURCHILL IS EXPECTED TO LEAD AN ATTACK UPON THEM IN A DEBATE IN THE HOUSE THURSDAY. REFERRING TO CRITICISM FROM THE UNITED STATES, CHURCHILL YESTERDAY ASKED SHAWCROSS:

"WOULD IT NOT BE BETTER TO STOP RUBBER EXPORTS ALTOGETHER, NOW, COMPLETELY, AND REACH A SATISFACTORY SOLUTION WITH OUR GREAT ALLY?"

SHAWCROSS REPLIED THE QUESTION WAS BEING CONSIDERED IN THE U.N., AND BETWEEN BRITAIN AND THE COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT NOW APPEARS CONVINCED THAT AN EMBARGO ON SHIPMENT OF WAR POTENTIAL GOODS TO RED CHINA WILL NOT BRING RETALIATION BY THE PEIPING GOVERNMENT AGAINST HONG KONG.

HONG KONG, A BRITISH CROWN COLONY OFF THE CHINA COAST, DEPENDS UPON CHINA TO A GREAT EXTENT FOR ITS FOOD. ONE OF THE TRADE GATEWAYS TO THE CHINESE MAINLAND, THE COLONY SENDS TEXTILES AND OTHER MANUFACTURED GOODS TO RED CHINA IN RETURN FOR RAW MATERIALS.

BRITAIN STILL IS OBTAINING SUCH CRITICAL MATERIALS AS TUNG OIL, USED IN MAKING HIGH QUALITY PAINTS, FROM CHINA THROUGH HONG KONG. SUCH MINOR BUT NECESSARY MATERIALS AS HOG BRISTLES FOR PAINT BRUSHES ALSO COME TO BRITAIN FROM CHINA THROUGH THE CROWN COLONY.

A111

THE GOVERNMENT ALSO APPARENTLY BELIEVES THAT THE PROPOSED U.N. EMBARGO AGAINST RED CHINA WOULD NOT AFFECT BRITAIN'S EFFORTS TO SET UP DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH PEIPING.

BRITAIN HAS GRANTED RECOGNITION TO RED CHINA BUT FOR MORE THAN A YEAR A BRITISH CHARGE D'AFFAIRES HAS BEEN WAITING IN PEIPING FOR RED CHINA TO OPEN FORMAL DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS.

THE COMMUNIST CHINESE HAVE REFUSED TO GIVE ANY RECOGNIZED STATUS TO BRITISH CONSULS. AS A RESULT SIX CONSULATES ARE BEING CLOSED. ONLY YESTERDAY, BRITAIN PROTESTED IN PEIPING AGAINST THE TREATMENT OF ITS CONSUL AT NANKING.

BRITISH OFFICIALS ACKNOWLEDGE THAT NO HEADWAY IS BEING MADE IN OPENING DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE COMMUNISTS. PRIVATELY THEY ADMIT THAT THE SITUATION COULDN'T BE MUCH WORSE THAN IT IS NOW, BARRING ACTUAL OUSTER OF THE BRITISH CHARGE D'AFFAIRES FROM PEIPING BY THE RED CHINESE.

PARIS, MAY 8-(AP)-THE WESTERN WORLD WILL CONTINUE REARMING UNTIL RUSSIA "LIFTS THE IRON CURTAIN AND AGREES TO EFFECTIVE INTERNATIONAL ARMAMENTS CONTROLS," U.S. AMBASSADOR PHILIP JESSUP DECLARED TODAY.

JESSUP TOLD THE 46TH MEETING OF THE GIG FOUR DEPUTIES THAT "OF COURSE OUR DEFENSE MEASURES WILL CONTINUE SO LONG AS OUR SECURITY IS THREATENED."

THE DEPUTIES ARE TRYING TO ARRANGE AN AGENDA FOR A COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS. SO FAR THEY HAVE AGREED ON SEVERAL POINTS THE MINISTERS SHOULD DISCUSS, BUT APPARENTLY ARE HOPELESSLY DEADLOCKED ON THE QUESTION OF ARMS REDUCTION.

MAY 9 1951

RUSSIA WANTS THE AGENDA TO COMMIT THE FOUR MINISTERS TO DISCUSS REDUCTION OF THE ARMS OF RUSSIA, THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE ONLY. THE THREE WESTERN POWERS INSIST THAT DISARMAMENT TALKS SHOULD COVER ALL THE WORLD'S ARMS AND ARMIES.

"THE WESTERN WORLD IS NOT GOING TO REDUCE ITS OWN ARMS WHILE THE SOVIETS REMAIN FREE TO BUILD UP THEIR ARMIES THROUGH THEIR SATELLITES," JESSUP SAID.

SOVIET DEPUTY ANDREI GROMYKO REPLIED THAT JESSUP'S REMARKS "ARE UNWORTHY OF COMMENT."

DURING HIS REMARKS JESSUP SAID THAT, "IF THE SOVIET DELEGATE REFUSES TO AGREE TO ANY COMPLETE AGENDA, THE THREE (WESTERN) GOVERNMENTS ARE WILLING TO HAVE THE FOUR MINISTERS MEET ON THE BASIS OF WORK UP TO NOW."

MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE OF THE UNION APPOINTED INCLUDE THE REPRESENTATIVES OF MOST WESTERN EUROPEAN NATIONS, IRAN, EGYPT, THE UNITED STATES AND SOME LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES.

PRESIDENT OF THE UNION, MARC RUCART, A FORMER FRENCH MINISTER OF INFORMATION, SAID THE ORGANIZATION HAS SUGGESTED THE INTRODUCTION OF "AN INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED PRESS PASS."

HE SAID THE UNION WANTED TO INSURE THAT PROFESSIONAL JOURNALISTS ACCREDITED IN ONE COUNTRY WOULD AUTOMATICALLY BE RECOGNIZED IN ANOTHER MEMBER NATION. COMMITTEE MEMBERS ARE TO PUT THE SUGGESTION TO THEIR HOME GOVERNMENTS.

ALTHOUGH THE UNION NOW IS LIMITED TO MANAGING EDITORS, IT PLANS TO EXPAND ITS MEMBERSHIP TO INCLUDE ANY PROFESSIONAL JOURNALIST.

RUCART SAID REORGANIZATION OF THE UNION HAD BECOME NECESSARY BECAUSE THE PRE-WAR UNION HAD FALLEN UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THE SOVIET UNION AFTER 1945. HE STRESSED IT WOULD OPERATE INDEPENDENTLY AND WITHOUT ANY GOVERNMENT SUPPORT.

HOWEVER, THE UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION (UNESCO) MAY BE ASKED FOR SOME FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR CREATION OF "A SOURCE AND INFORMATION OFFICE." AT THE SAME TIME, PARTY LEADERS SAID IT SOON WILL OPEN A DRIVE TO EXTEND ITS INFLUENCEINTO THE RICH AND POWERFUL RUHR VALLEY AND RHINE-LAND.

EARLIER TODAY, THE WEST GERMAN GOVERNMENT HAD ANNOUNCED AT BONN THAT IT WOULD TAKE VIGOROUS ACTION TO OUTLAW THE PARTY THROUGH THE NEWLY CREATED WEST GERMAN CONSTITUTIONAL COURT.

INTERIOR MINISTER ROBERT LEHR SAID THE PRESTIGE AND REPUTATION OF GERMANY WERE BEING DAMAGED BY THE RISE OF THE SRP.

THE SRP, WHICH WON 16 SEATS IN THE LOWER SAXONY STATE PARLIAMENT AND, THEREBY, JUMPED TO FOURTH PLACE AMONG WEST GERMAN POLITICAL PARTIES, CLAIMED IN ITS STATEMENT THAT IT STANDS FOR DEMOCRACY.

INTERIOR MINISTER ROBERT LEHR POINTED OUT THAT THE WEST GERMAN CONSTITUTIONAL COURT HAS BEEN ASKED TO RULE ON LEGALITY OF THE PARTY. BUT HE INDICATED THAT THE GOVERNMENT, EVEN IN THE EVENT OF AN ADVERSE COURT RULING, WILL CONTINUE TO SEEK WAYS TO MEET THE PROBLEM.

LEHR DECLARED THE GOVERNMENT WILL NOT IDLY WAIT UNTIL THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT IS IN BEING. THE COURT DOES NOT MEET FOR ANOTHER TWO MONTHS.

MAY 9 1951

IT WAS IN THE YUGOSLAV REPUBLIC OF CROATIA THAT PAVELIC--FIRST WITH THE SUPPORT OF BENITO MUSSOLINI AND LATER WITH GERMAN BACKING--SET UP THE WARTIME "INDEPENDENT STATE OF CROATIA."

AS CHIEF OF THIS "STATE" AND HEAD OF THE DREADED USTACHI, PAVELIC RULED THE TERRITORY WITH AN IRON HAND. DURING THE THREE AND ONE HALF YEARS HE RULED, YUGOSLAVIA CLAIMS HE WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE KILLING OF SOME 700,000 SERBS.

VIENNA, MAY 8-(AP)-WEST GERMANY AND EAST GERMANY MUST GET TOGETHER IF THEY WANT TO TAKE PART IN THE OLYMPIC GAMES, THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE DECIDED TODAY.

A GERMAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE, FORMED ENTIRELY OF WEST GERMANS, WAS ADMITTED UNANIMOUSLY TO THE IOC.

MAY 9 1951

BUT, THE GERMANS WERE TOLD, THEY WILL BE KICKED OUT AGAIN UNLESS EAST GERMANS ARE ADMITTED TO THE COMMITTEE AND EAST GERMAN ATHLETES ARE ADMITTED TO THE COMMITTEE AND EAST GERMAN ATHLETES ARE ALLOWED TO COMPETE ON AN EQUAL BASIS WITH WEST GERMANS FOR PLACES ON A GERMAN OLYMPIC TEAM.

IT WAS ALMOST THE SAME THING THE IOC YESTERDAY TOLD THE TWO COMMITTEES SEEKING ADMISSION OF ISRAEL. THE TWO ISRAEL GROUPS WERE TOLD TO GET TOGETHER BY JAN. 1, 1952, AND THEY WOULD BE ELIGIBLE FOR THE 1952 GAMES.

THE TWO GERMAN GROUPS, HOWEVER, WERE ORDERED TO APPEAR BEFORE AN OLYMPIC COMMISSION AT LAUSANNE, SWITZERLAND, ON MAY 20 AND 21.

EAST GERMANY HAS ABOUT 22 MILLION. BUT WE MUST HAVE THE EAST GERMANS, TOO. WE CANNOT ACCEPT TWO COMMITTEES FROM ONE COUNTRY."

EAST GERMANY HAD FORMED AN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE RECENTLY AND SENT A REPRESENTATIVE HERE TO SEEK APPROVAL.

MAYER SAID, HOWEVER, THE EXECUTIVE COMMISSION HAD DECIDED LAST WEEK TO ORDER THE TWO GERMAN COMMITTEES TO COMBINE.

HE ADDED THAT THE EAST GERMAN COMMITTEE WAS AGREEABLE TO SUCH A COMBINATION.

"WE THINK THE WEST GERMANS WILL BE, TOO," MAYER SAID.

KONSTANTIN ANDRIANOV OF RUSSIA, WHO WAS ELECTED TO THE OLYMPIC COMMITTEE YESTERDAY, SPOKE IN FAVOR OF ADMITTING THE PRESENT GERMAN COMMITTEE. HE ALSO URGED THAT THE COMMITTEE BE EXPANDED TO INCLUDE THE EAST GERMANS.

TOMORROW THE I.O.C. IS SCHEDULED TO CONSIDER INVITATIONS TO THE 1952 OLYMPIC GAMES AT OSLO AND HELSINKI. MAYER SAID ANY DECISION ON GERMANY'S PARTICIPATION MAY BE HELD UP UNTIL AFTER THE LAUSANNE MEETING.

THE ONLY OTHER BUSINESS AT TODAY'S SESSION, WHICH DIRECTLY CONCERNED THE CONDUCT OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES, WAS RENEWED RECOGNITION OF THE INTERNATIONAL ICE HOCKEY FEDERATION.

HONG KONG,TUESDAY,MAY 8-(AP)-RED CHINA HAS ACCUSED ANOTHER CATHOLIC ORPHANAGE OF "SHOCKING ATROCITIES" AGAINST WAIFS AND FOUNDLINGS UNDER THEIR CARE. THE NEW TARGET IS ST.JOSEPH'S CHURCH IN WUCHANG, HUPEH PROVINCE.
CATHOLIC SOURCES IN HONG KONG HAD EXPLAINED EARLIER IN ANSWER TO SIMILAR CHARGES THAT THE ORPHANAGES ACTUALLY WERE RECEIVING CENTERS FOR COUNTLESS WAIFS PICKED UP ON CITY STREETS DAILY. THESE SOURCES SAID MOST OF THE WAIFS ALREADY WERE DYING FROM MALNUTRITION OR FROM ATTACKS BY VICIOUS DOGS WHEN PICKED UP.
THE LATEST CHARGE, AS CARRIED BY THE OFFICIAL SINO-RED NEWS AGENCY

IN A DISPATCH FROM HANKOW, SAID 16,000 CHILDREN AT THE WUCHANG ORPHANAGE HAD DIED SINCE IT WAS FOUNDED IN 1928.

SIMILAR CHARGES HAVE BEEN MADE AT CATHOLIC MISSION GROUPS IN CANTON NANKING AND IN HUNAN PROVINCE. FIVE CANTON NUNS HAVE NOT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE THEY WERE ARRESTED BY THE REDS SEVERAL MONTHS AGO.

MASS MEETINGS SINCE THEN HAVE CALLED FOR THE NUNS,TO BE TRIED, SENTENCED AND MARCHED THROUGH THE STREETS AS EXAMPLES OF "WESTERN IMPERIALISM."

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID TONIGHT AMERICAN CONSULS OVER THE WORLD HAVE BEEN ADVISED TO USE UTMOST CARE IN CONSIDERING VISA APPLICATIONS BY PERSONS FROM COMMUNIST COUNTRIES WHO SEEK TO COME TO THE U. S.

A VISA IS IN EFFECT AN ENTRY PERMIT TO THE COUNTRY WHICH ISSUES IT.

CONSULS UNDER AMERICAN LAW ARE PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR ISSUING VISAS, BUT ARE OFTEN GUIDED BY ADVISORY OPINIONS FROM WASHINGTON. THE PRACTICAL EFFECT OF THE LATEST WARNING IS THAT VIRTUALLY ALL VISA APPLICATIONS FILED BY PERSONS FROM COMMUNIST COUNTRIES WILL BE SUBMITTED HERE FOR SCREENING.

IN NORMAL TIMES CONSULS ARE UNDER INSTRUCTION TO REFER "DOUBTFUL CASES" TO WASHINGTON. OFFICIALS SAID THAT TECHNICALLY CONSULS HAVE NOW BEEN ADVISED TO STUDY EACH APPLICATION FROM A PERSON WHO HAS JUST COME FROM A COMMUNIST CONTROLLED LAND TO SEE IF IT IS NOT IN THE DOUBTFUL CATEGORY.

ONE REASON FOR THIS TIGHTENING UP PROCESS IS THAT FOREIGNERS FROM COMMUNIST COUNTRIES SOMETIMES HAVE OBTAINED TEMPORARY PERMITS TO COME TO THE U. S., THEN AFTER ARRIVAL HERE HAVE SOUGHT TO STAY IN THIS COUNTRY. IN SOME INSTANCES, WHEN THE GOVERNMENT RULED AGAINST THEIR APPLICATION FOR PERMANENT RESIDENCE, IT COULD FIND NO PLACE TO WHICH TO DEPORT THEM.

ANOTHER REASON FOR INCREASED CAUTION NOW, OFFICIALS SAID, IS THE POSSIBILITY OF LETTING A BAD SECURITY RISK INTO THE U. S. WASHINGTON SCREENING OF APPLICATIONS INCLUDES A CHECK OF SECURITY FILES.

OFFICIALS SAID THAT CONSULS STILL MAY ISSUE VISAS QUICKLY IN CASES IN WHICH THEY HAVE NO DOUBT ABOUT THE MERITS OF THE APPLICATION.

SINGAPORE, MAY 8-(AP)-OFFICIAL STATISTICS ISSUED TODAY SHOWED THAT RUSSIA GOT 6,324 TONS OF MALAYAN RUBBER IN APRIL. NONE WAS SHIPPED TO THE SOVIET UNION IN MARCH FROM THIS BRITISH COLONY.

DESTINATIONAL CONTROL OF RUBBER EXPORTS WAS MADE EFFECTIVE IN MALAYA APRIL 8, BUT THE RUSSIAN CARGO HAD BEEN ORDERED BEFORE THEN.

WINSTON CHURCHILL AND HIS FELLOW CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT, AS WELL AS VARIOUS QUARTERS IN THE UNITED STATES, HAVE CRITICIZED BRITAIN'S LABOR GOVERNMENT FOR PERMITTING THE SHIPMENT OF RUBBER TO RUSSIA AND COMMUNIST CHINA.

RED CHINA DURING APRIL RECEIVED 3,265 TONS OF MALAYAN RUBBER, AS COMPARED WITH 7,012 TONS THE MONTH BEFORE. APRIL SHIPMENTS TO HONG KONG TOTALLED 5,846 TONS, DOWN FROM 8,744 TONS IN MARCH. CRITICS HAVE CONTENDED THAT MUCH OF THE RUBBER SHIPPED TO HONG KONG EVENTUALLY GOES TO COMMUNIST CHINA.

THE UNITED STATES REMAINED THE CHIEF CUSTOMER FOR MALAYA'S RUBBER, TAKING 29,735 TONS IN APRIL AND 25,479 TONS THE MONTH BEFORE. SHIPMENTS TO BRITAIN ALSO INCREASED, FROM 16,793 TONS IN MARCH TO 20,594 TONS LAST MONTH.

BY ROBERT B.HEWETT

TEHRAN, IRAN, MAY 8-(AP)-AN EMBOLDENED TUDEH (COMMUNIST) PARTY TODAY MADE SEVEN DEMANDS ON PREMIER MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH THAT INCLUDED EXPULSION OF THE 25-MAN U.S. MILITARY MISSION TO IRAN.

THE OTHER SIX DEMANDS, CONTAINED IN AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PREMIER, WERE:

1. LEGALIZATION OF THE TUDEH PARTY, OUTLAWED SINCE THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF SHAH MOHAMMED REZA PAHLEVI IN FEBRUARY, 1949.
2. RECOGNITION OF RED CHINA.
3. REJECTION OF FOREIGN ARMS AID.
4. RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONERS.
5. AN END TO MARTIAL LAW IN THE SOUTHERN OIL FIELDS.
6. NATIONALIZATION OF THE BEHREIN OIL FIELDS, WHERE THE AMERICAN-OWNED BAHREIN PETROLEUM COMPANY IS PRODUCING 10,000,000 BARRELS OF OIL A YEAR.

THE BAHREIN ISLANDS IN THE PERSIAN GULF ARE CLAIMED BY IRAN, BUT ARE GOVERNED BY A SHEIK UNDER A BRITISH PROTECTORATE. THE COMPANY WHICH HAS THE OIL CONCESSION THERE IS OWNED BY THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA AND THE TEXAS CORPORATION.
THE TUDEH PARTY APPARENTLY WAS ENCOURAGED TO MAKE ITS DEMANDS BY REPORTS THE PREMIER FAVORS LEGALIZING THE COMMUNISTS SO THEIR ACTIVITIES CAN BE BROUGHT INTO THE OPEN. THE PARTY NOW OPERATES UNDERGROUND.
HE ALSO IS ON RECORD AS BEING AGAINST FOREIGN AID OF ANY KIND. BESIDES THE MILITARY MISSION HERE ADVISING THE IRANIAN ARMY, THE U.S. HAS SENT SOME SHIPMENTS OF TANKS AND OTHER ARMS, HAS GRANTED $500,000 FOR "POINT FOUR" TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE AND HAS OFFERED A $25,000,000 IMPORT-EXPORT BANK LOAN.
THE COMMUNIST DEMANDS WERE THE SECOND ATTACK ON THE PREMIER BY ELEMENTS WHICH SUPPORTED HIS SMALL NATIONALIST BLOC DRIVE IN PARLIAMENT THAT RESULTED IN NATIONALIZATION OF THE BRITISH-OWNED ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY IN SOUTHERN IRAN.
SUNDAY THE FIERY NATIONALISTIC MOSLEM GROUP, FEDAYAN ISLAM, DISTRIBUTED LEAFLETS ACCUSING THE PREMIER OF "CRIMES" AGAINST ISLAM. A MEMBER OF THE GROUP HAS BEEN CHARGED WITH THE ASSASSINATION LAST MARCH OF "STRONG MAN" PREMIER GEN.ALI RAZMARA.
MOSSADEGH SAID IN A SPEECH TODAY TO THE MAJLIS, OR LOWER HOUSE, THAT HE PUSHED THROUGH THE NATIONALIZATION LAW AND AGREED TO BECOME PREMIER BECAUSE HE HAD LEARNED OF A PLOT TO DISSOLVE PARLIAMENT TO BLOCK THE LEGISLATION. THE SHAH ALONE HAS THE POWER TO DISSOLVE PARLIAMENT.
EXECUTION OF THE LAW WAS STALLED AT LEAST TEMPORARILY BY FAILURE OF THE MAJLIS TO AGREE ON THE ELECTION OF ITS FIVE REPRESENTATIVES TO THE OIL CONTROL COMMISSION.
IN A PURELY PROCEDURAL MOVE, THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY APPOINTED LORD RADCLIFFE, 51-YEAR-OLD LAWYER, AS ITS ARBITRATOR AND ASKED MOSSADEGH TO NAME A GOVERNMENT ARBITRATOR TO SETTLE THE DISPUTE OVER NATIONALIZATION. THE COMPANY'S CONCESSION, WHICH HAD UNTIL 1993 TO RUN, PROVIDED FOR ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES.
IF MOSSADEGH FAILS TO APPOINT AN ARBITRATOR WITHIN 60 DAYS, THE COMPANY CAN APPEAL THE CASE TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE.

TEHRAN, IRAN, MAY 8-(AP)-THE UNDERGROUND TUDEH (COMMUNIST) PARTY SENT AN OPEN LETTER TODAY TO PREMIER F. MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH, DEMANDING THAT THE GOVERNMENT BAN ON THE RED PARTY BE REPEALED AND THAT THE AMERICAN MILITARY MISSION ADVISING THE IRANIAN ARMY BE EXPELLED.
THERE HAVE BEEN INCREASING REPORTS IN GOVERNMENT CIRCLES THAT THE NEW PREMIER FAVORS LEGALIZING THE TUDEH PARTY, SO ITS ACTIVITIES CAN BE BROUGHT INTO THE OPEN.
THE TUDEH PARTY LETTER ALSO DEMANDED:
1. RECOGNITION OF COMMUNIST CHINA.
2. REJECTION OF FOREIGN ARMS AID.
3. RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONERS.
4. AN END TO THE MARTIAL LAW IN THE SOUTHERN OIL FIELDS.
5. NATIONALIZATION OF THE BAHREIN ISLANDS OIL FIELDS. THE BAHREIN ISLANDS, IN THE PERSIAN GULF, ARE CLAIMED BY IRAN. THE ISLANDS ARE A BRITISH PROTECTORATE, AND BRITAIN INSISTS THEY MAKE UP AN INDEPENDENT SHIEKDOM WITH SPECIAL TREATY RELATIONS WITH LONDON.
THE BAHREIN PETROLEUM COMPANY IS PART OF AN ORGANIZATION OWNED BY THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA AND THE TEXAS CORPORATION. THE COMPANY HOLDS THE ONLY CONCESSION ON THE ISLANDS, WHOSE OIL OUTPUT IN 1947 WAS 10,000,000 BARRELS. ALTHOUGH REGISTERED AS A BRITISH COMPANY IN CANADA. THE CONCESSION IS AMERICAN-OWNED AND REPRESENTS A LARGE CAPITAL INVESTMENT.
THE PREMIER, MEANWHILE, HAS RECEIVED A REQUEST FROM THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY, SOLE CONCESSIONAIRE IN IRAN UNTIL NATIONALIZATION TO APPOINT AN ARBITRATOR TO SETTLE THE IRANIAN-BRITISH DISPUTE OVER THE NATIONALIZATION LAW UNDER WHICH THE GREAT OIL FIELDS IN IRAN WERE TAKEN OVER.

THE MOVE BY THE COMPANY, BRITISH GOVERNMENT CONTROLLED, WAS REGARDED BY IRANIAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AS SIMPLY A LEGAL FORMALITY, SINCE MOSSADEGH FREQUENTLY HAS SAID IRAN HAS THE SOVEREIGN RIGHT TO CANCEL THE CONCESSION WITHOUT ARBITRATION.
A LETTER FROM THE COMPANY CHAIRMAN, SIR WILLIAM FRAZER, ANNOUNCED THAT ANGLO-IRANIAN HAD APPOINTED LORD RADCLIFFE AS ITS ARBITRATOR AND ASKED IRAN TO MAKE ITS OWN APPOINTMENT AS PROVIDED UNDER THE TERMS OF THE OIL CONCESSION.
THE CONCESSION UNDER WHICH THE BRITISH OPERATED THE OIL COMPANY HAD SET FORTH THAT IF IRAN FAILED TO APPOINT AN ARBITRATOR, IN THE EVENT OF DISPUTE, WITHIN 60 DAYS OF THE REQUEST, THE COMPANY COULD ASK THE PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL COURT TO DO SO. HOWEVER, IRANIANS REGARD THE CONCESSION TERMS AS SCRAPPED BY THE NATIONALIZATION LAW JUST PASSED.
BRITISH DIPLOMATS EXPRESSED LITTLE EXPECTATION THAT MOSSADEGH WOULD APPOINT AN IRANIAN ARBITRATOR.
THE MAJLIS, LOWER HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT, FAILED TODAY TO AGREE ON THE SELECTION OF FIVE DEPUTIES TO SERVE ON A JOINT PARLIAMENTARY BOARD AUTHORIZED BY THE NATIONALIZATION LAW TO SUPERVISE THE OIL COMPANY. IN A CLOSED SESSION, THE MAJLIS ASKED THE PARLIAMENTARY OIL COMMISSION TO NOMINATE THE FIVE, BUT THE COMMISSION ANNOUNCED IT COULD NOT AGREE AND HANDED THE PROBLEM BACK TO THE HOUSE. DISCUSSION IS SET FOR SUNDAY.
IN A SPEECH TO THE MAJLIS, MOSSADEGH SAID HE AGREED TO TAKE THE PREMIERSHIP AND PUSHED THROUGH THE NATIONALIZATION LAW IN THREE DAYS BECAUSE HE HAD LEARNED OF A PLOT TO DISSOLVE PARLIAMENT IN AN ATTEMPT TO NATIONALIZATION. HE DID NOT REFER DIRECTLY TO THE SHAH, BUT UNDER IRAN'S CONSTITUTION, ONLY T

Second Day of Secretary Marshall's Testimony Upholding Administration Far East Policy

*WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Following is the censored transcript of today's hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into the Administration's foreign policy. (Censorship deletions are indicated by * * ):

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL — The committee will come to order.

General Marshall will return to the stand today for further questioning by members of the committee.

Testimony of Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall accompanied by Felix Larkin, general counsel.

THE CHAIRMAN—I have a very few questions that I desire to ask. Before asking them I wanted to inquire of General Marshall as to whether or not you desire to make any further statement with reference to any question that was asked you yesterday, and particularly those that were excluded from the record for security reasons.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I don't think of any at the moment, sir.

Q.—General, did you—I want you to tell us for the record just what restrictions were placed upon the scope of military operations in Korea and where those restrictions originated.

A.—The restrictions imposed on General MacArthur in the conduct of the campaign in Korea were in general to confine the operations to Korea, and under no circumstances to carry out operations beyond the border of Korea into Manchuria.

He was also cautioned against having units within, I think it was, about fifteen miles of the border in Northeast Korea where it touched the perimeter of Siberia, the Soviet Government.

The restrictions did not apply to operations by the Navy on the water along, off the coast of Korea, but those were restricted, in other words, forbidden, in relation to the Manchurian Coast, the China Coast, and most specifically the northeastern tip of Korea in close proximity to the Soviet border.

There was a modification in those restrictions in the event that our forces were attacked outside of Korea, to the effect that he was authorized to retaliate in bombing against such operations.

Q.—Did those restrictions originate with the Joint Chiefs of Staff as a part of the military program for the conduct of the war or did they originate in the United Nations?

A.—Those restrictions directly related to views of the Chiefs of Staff as expressed and discussed in the National Security Council with the representation, with the presence of the President, the Vice President, myself, the Secretary of State and the head of N. S. R. B. [National Security Resources Board]. There was a intermingling there of political necessities along with military directions.

There was an agreement that not were these restrictions necessary in order to avoid a break with our allies and a complete confusion in our relations to the United Nations and specifically the Security Council, but they also felt it would be necessary in regard to the retaliation that could be carried out by a heavy force if they developed on the Communist side. * * * (Two and a half lines deleted.)

Soviet Retaliation Power Regarded as Formidable

Q.—What is your opinion, Mr. Secretary, as to the potential power of retaliation available to the Soviet in the Korean war? A.—You are asking, as I understand it, the retaliation or the action of the Soviet military planes —

Q.—If the Soviet wanted to see fit to enter the Korean war?

A.—From the information estimates that I have seen, it would be a very serious matter, because they have, according to estimates that I have seen, a considerable force — I have forgotten exactly how many thousands in the vicinity of Vladivostok, Dairen, Port Arthur, Harbin. I don't know whether there are any plane concentrations in relation to Sakhalin, but there have been reports of troop concentrations and particularly Japanese prisoner, former prisoner, organizations, presumably of indoctrinated Japanese on the Sakhalin Point, which is not very far off northwest Hokkaido.

You made a reference a moment ago, to the United Nations, and yesterday —

Q.—If you will just pardon me, Mr. Secretary, I have been somewhat confused all through this testimony as to the source of origin of these restrictions, as to whether or not they originated with the United Nations at the time they decided by resolution to resist aggression in Korea, or whether they were the suggestion or the orders of our own Government that were invoked for military or political reasons by the United States, or whether they were directed by the United Nations.

A.—I believe it will be best for me to take the successive resolutions of the United Nations relating to this matter which form the basis for the military directions from their executive agent, the President of the United States, to our military commander in the Far East.

I think you will see, as I read these, that positive directives are not included; policies, permissions, you might say, are included.

Then, it goes beyond that in the reactions of the delegates to the United Nations toward our conduct of operations in which their troops were involved, and which involved the possibility of the development of a world war.

Now, with your permission, I will read what those resolutions are.

Q.—We will be glad to have them.

A.—I gave you a very incomplete statement yesterday.

On June 25 last the Security Council of the United Nations adopted a resolution:

A. Determining that the armed attack upon the Republic of Korea by forces from North Korea constitutes a breach of peace;

B. Calling for the immediate cessation of hostilities;

C. Calling upon the authorities of North Korea to withdraw forthwith their armed forces to the Thirty-eighth Parallel; and

D. Calling upon all members to render their every assistance to the United Nations and to refrain from assisting the North Koreans.

That was June 25. On June 27 last the Security Council of the United Nations adopted a second resolution:

"That the members of the United Nations furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel the armed attack and to restore international tack and to restore international

Marshall Defines Mission of MacArthur

On July 7 last the Security Council of the United Nations adopted a third resolution recommending that all members providing military forces and other assistance pursuant to the aforesaid Security Council resolutions make such forces and other assistance available to a unified command under the United States, and requesting the United States to designate the commander of such forces.

From July 8 last and onward, therefore, General MacArthur served as Commanding General of the United Nations forces, with his mission defined by the directive of June 27; that is, to repel the armed attack and to restore international peace and security in the area.

Late in September the advance being made by the United Nations forces was bringing them back to the vicinity of the Thirty-eighth Parallel.

On Oct. 7 last the General Assembly—not the Security Council—adopted a resolution restating the essential objectives of the United Nations as the establishment of a unified and democratic Government of Korea and recommending that all appropriate steps be taken to insure conditions of stability throughout Korea.

I will read that again:

"The General Assembly adopted a resolution restating the essential objectives of the United Nations as the establishment of a unified and democratic Government of Korea, and recommend that all appropriate steps be taken to assure conditions of stability throughout Korea."

This resolution then went on to provide that the United Nations forces should not remain in any one part of Korea—should not remain in any one part of Korea, except so far as necessary to achieve the two foregoing objectives.

Thus, in this somewhat oblique fashion, the United Nations authorized its forces in Korea to advance beyond the Thirty-Eighth Parallel. This authority, however, has always been considered as permissive, rather than mandatory; and at no time have the United Nations forces been given the task of unifying all of Korea by military action.

In other words, the unification of North and South Korea has been set up as a political, rather than a military, objective of the United Nations.

Following the intervention of the Chinese Communists early in November, the United Nations became gravely concerned about the possible extension of the area of conflict beyond Korea. On Nov. 13, 1950, our Department of State advised several of the member nations having forces in Korea as follows:

"That it may be necessary at an early date to permit United Nations aircraft to defend themselves in the airspace over the Yalu River to the extent of permitting hot pursuit of attacking enemy aircraft up to two or three minutes' flying time into Manchurian airspace—"

Serious concern was registered by several nations that action in the way of hot pursuit might precipitate an extension of the hostilities. In response to this concern our Department of State advised that the United States would continue to give other Governments having forces in Korea information in advance of taking such decisions in order that they may express their views, to which full consideration will be given.

Thereafter, enemy air action in Korea did not develop to such an extent that it was deemed necessary to take a decision with respect to hot pursuit. * * * (Nine lines deleted.)

Now I think that covers pretty generally the outline of our direct connection with the United Nations in the matter of the military operations specifically. And I repeat again the fact that no directive from the United Nations in explicit military terms has been forthcoming, but these policies have been established under which the President, as executive agent acts for the other nations in directions for the campaign in Korea.

Ending the Korean War Under Present Policies

Q.—General, can you supply for the record the directives and orders and memoranda sent to General MacArthur by the Department of Defense containing these restrictions that were imposed on him in the conduct of the campaign? A.—Yes, sir, that can be done. I suppose it will be acceptable in paraphrase form.

Q.—They will be, if there is no objection, or is there any objection to the release of those? A.—Some, yes, and some, no. I will answer that way.

Q.—Will you please designate which can be printed in the record and which you think not? A.—Yes.

Q.—We want just as many as we can possibly have, with due regard to security.

Yesterday, General, I asked you as to when there was a foreseeable end to the Korean war under the present policies of the Defense Department. In my opinion that is one of the most important matters that are involved in these hearings.

General MacArthur believes that his program will bring to an early end the loss of life that is resulting in Korea today. He presented that viewpoint very forcefully and eloquently to this committee, and he has argued that the Defense Department does not have a program that will bring this war to an end.

Now that is a very vital question. Yesterday you went into some detail in answering that question. Unfortunately, the greater part of your answer was chopped out of the record on the ground that it contained material that would be vital to our country's security and would adversely affect the operations that are now in progress in Korea.

I do not question that decision as to security, General. That is a technical matter and I do not propose to fix my judgment against the judgment of men who are expert in that field, but I do think that a statement should appear in his record from you as to whether or not you think that the mehods now being employed in Korea, the operations being conducted under the limitations and restrictions that exist, can bring that war to a successful conclusion in the foreseeable future.

A.—Mr. Chairman, it is exceedingly hard to decide what may be said in answer to your question because it really amounts to disclosing a war plan. May I project this a little bit beyond that factor?

In the matter of security we all easily recognize that matters must not be brought out here in a way to break down our codes, for example, or to suggest other action by our opponents that would be very harmful to our interests, and I think everybody is in agreement that we must not disclose plans of campaign. I think there is general agreement on that, understanding on that, but I am rather uncertain as to the extent of the understanding in regard to security as to our armed forces.

We have to do always all in our power not only to maintain but to build up the fighting morale of our forces. That is sometimes very difficult.

During the last war it was difficult in certain areas. It is equally difficult here. They have made a magnificent response and I was told only this morning the last reports indicated a very high morale, which is the most important factor, however you approach it, in bringing the operation to a successful conclusion.

But I am disturbed and I should think you would be disturbed at the effect that will sweep through that force of a situation in which their commander has stated his views which accentuate the casualties that they are suffering and in effect that it is without justified purpose.

That is not only one time, but a number of times; and the effect of the fact that their commander has been in complete disagreement with the constituted authorities of this Government, that is a most serious matter, and we should find some way of proceeding with this investigation that does not destroy us in the field by serious reaction in the way of morale.

Secretary Cites the Case Of Soldiers in Italy

Now, I don't approach this in the purely abstract manner because I have gone through some very grueling experiences in connection with it.

A soldier can be very easily made to feel sorry for himself, particularly when he is in most disagreeable, unattractive and dangerous localities, and particularly when he has been called upon to make a tremendous effort over a long period of time.

There were certain statements made in the press during the last war in relation to our "forgotten" soldiers in Italy. I don't recall at the moment how many divisions we had there, but it was in excess of twenty — not all of ours but others, and it was a very critical operation, because the force had been reduced and yet they had to play a decided part in making possible the landing in Normandy.

The effect of those statements was a tremendous mail from wives, mothers and others to these soldiers, until I was told by at least one corps commander—and I think two — that the effect on morale had been so serious they didn't know whether they could carry out successfully the next planned operations.

I went to Korea from Yalta on the request of the authorities there, and had to talk—I remember one day—twenty-five times, in the Apennines, in the mountains, to various groups to try to bring them into an understanding of the general situation.

Army Is Declared First Consideration

Q.—Did you mean you went to Korea or to Italy?

A.—Did I say Korea? Italy. That has been somewhat on my mind. This was Yalta—Italy; but I was occupied three or four days there doing nothing but talking to groups of troops all through the mountains because they thought it was urgently necessary that I do so because of the serious—they felt, almost calamitous—effect of this tremendous mail from home resulting from these statements.

Now, translate this investigation to the soldiers in Korea, who are doing a very wonderful job but under very difficult circumstances, and hearing and reading that no reinforcements are coming and that these casualties probably, possibly, are not being sacrificed to an advantageous result.

Now, that to me is the most important part of our security considerations. The other two are important, but by comparison they are almost trivial.

I make this comment so that you may have in mind what our difficulties are. I said yesterday that it was tremendously important that we give General Ridgway what support we could in his extraordinarily difficult situation—coming into command as he has.

That is all involved with this. This is the reason it is so difficult to give the answers or release for publication to the public the answers that you think would be desirable.

I have tried to be very frank. I have read from secret documents to you, I have tried to go right down to the nubbin of this thing, so far as I could, but I do think we have to question very carefully whether we advise the public at the expense of our Army or not. I say the Army is the primary consideration of this Government.

Now, that is a war plan that this question leads to. I did state it yesterday, but it was—I said we had three choices, Mr. Chairman, as I saw them. The one was the extension of the campaign along the lines suggested by General MacArthur. The one was to withdraw from Korea and violate our promise to those people and sacrifice them to assassination and probably almost extinction, and the other was to fight where we were, to what advantage we could gain by the method that we followed.

That method was to inflict the greatest number of casualties we could in order to break down not only the morale, but the trained fabric of the Chinese armies.

Chance for Negotiation After Victories Is Seen

That is, inflict terrific casualties on the Chinese Communist forces. If we break the morale of their armies, but more particularly, if we destroy their best trained armies as we have been in the process of doing, there, it seems to me, you develop the best probability of reaching a satisfactory negotiatory basis with those Chinese Communist forces, without getting ourselves into what we think would be a great hazard toward developing a much enlarged struggle with consequently larger casualties or a complete world war.

And also that we will retain our Allies, bring them to more satisfactory reactions before the United Nations as their confidence in our leadership in this delicate matter is increased, and generally improve the situation.

You don't object to my talking along at length here, do you?

THE CHAIRMAN—No, sir. I want you to go into this.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I have some notes here relating to this, you might say, the criticism of stalemate which is directed so often at the campaign in Korea.

In the first place, in the last five years the United States has been engaged in a unique struggle, unique struggle against Communist imperialism and aggression. This for us is an unprecedented situation and has called for unprecedented measures to deal with it.

I want to recite these because this is part and parcel to them.

For the last five years our supreme policy has been to curb Communist aggression and, if possible, to avoid another world war in doing so. The execution of this policy has required extraordinary patience, firmness and determination in meeting and helping our Allies to meet, and helping them to meet challenges in Iran, Greece, Turkey, Trieste, Berlin and Indo-China, and finally Korea.

Now many of you will recall discussions of some of these by me in person, notably relation with Greece, appropriations and policies, and things of that sort—and Berlin. And, of course, we have to consider appropriations regarding Indo-China. But the results I think speak for themselves.

Year by year the United States has opposed these aggressions with courage and poise, and in each instance the threats were curbed or overcome without involving this Government in a total war.

The struggle between the democracies, as we define the term, and the Communist powers is a continuing one. It has already lasted over five years, and it may last much longer.

There can be, I think, no quick and decisive solution to this global struggle short of resorting to another World War. The cost of such a conflict is beyond calculation. It is, therefore, our policy to contain Communist aggression in different fashions in different areas without resorting to total war, if that be possible to avoid.

This policy may seem costly, if maintained over a period of years, but those costs would not be comparable at all to what happens if we get involved in what you might call an atomic war.

Korea is only the latest challenger in this long, hard, continuing world-wide struggle. We are applying there the same policy that has been successfully applied in the attempted aggressions that preceded it elsewhere in the world.

Each incident has required different military and diplomatic efforts on our part, to cope with the situations as they develop, in one area or another. All of them have been costly, but Korea is the most costly of all, for it has involved the lives of our American troops.

Nevertheless, even though the conditions have been different, our policy has been uniform in the following respects:

We have spurned appeasement; we have brought to bear whatever has been necessary, in money and manpower, to curb the aggressor; and we have sought in every possible way to avoid a third World War.

The application of this policy has not always been easy or popular. Korea is not the first time there have been complaints of a stalemate, and it is not the first time that there have been demands for a quick and decisive solution.

I think these periods are of interest. Korea has lasted for ten months, but the Berlin crisis lasted almost fifteen months and was a very daring undertaking. And, entirely off the record, * * * (nine and a half lines deleted.)

It was carried out, as you know, and ended up in relieving the blockade without our getting into an actual war, but it lasted fifteen months. There were times when the fight for Berlin also looked like a stalemate, but we kept our heads and persevered and in the end won a notable victory.

Incidentally, off the record * * * (three and a half lines deleted.)

How Our Foreign Policy Has Affected the Russians

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Mr. Chairman, might I ask a question just on procedure here? I am not sure whether the general is saying "off the record" for the purpose of advising Admiral Davis or is stopping the stenographer. I think everything that said here ought to be in the official record of the committee and then cut out for security.

THE CHAIRMAN—Those instructions were given to the reporters.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I am sorry but I am going pretty far afield here, but I thought I wanted to give you the full complexion as I see it. There were those who wanted to end this situation by smashing through the Russian blockade, even though this might have precipitated a war at that time. We refused to take that risk as long as there were other means of accomplishing our ends, and I at that time was Secretary of State.

It should also be recalled that there are critics who were impatient over our policy in Greece. Some of you sat in the hearings we had in regard to Greece.

The effort to free Greece from Communist aggression took eighteen months. There were those who said that this was a hopeless adventure, and that we were merely wasting our economic and military assistance to that country.

It is true that our rescue of Greece was costly, but I do not think very costly in comparison to the stakes involved; but it paid off not only by our saving Greece, or enabling Greece to save itself, but during the course of this fight the Soviet Government suffered its greatest post-war setback in the defection of Yugoslavia.

I do not believe—I do not know, but I do not believe—that the action in Yugoslavia would have taken the course it did if Communist domination of Greece had occurred.

While our foreeign policy has placed a considerable burden upon the United States in recent years, it is likewise true that it has imposed great strains on the Soviet Government, and has created significant tensions within the Soviet orbit, which, in the end, may yield decisive advantages to this country and our allies.

What is going on in Korea is a very difficult campaign. It has been met by very able leadership, and very remarkable action by our troops and those of our allies. It is a unified force. It is now a tremendously skillful force, and in the coordination between the air and the ground and the ships it has developed to an astonishing degree.

I repeat that I think the course we are following now is virtually the only course you could follow, and I merely am referring to previous struggles we have had of the same basic nature, but the procedure we have taken has been adapted to the particular locality.

Q.—You have stated, Mr. Secretary, that there were only three possible courses of action open. A.—That I see.

Q.—That you could see. A.—I repeat again, Mr. Chairman, though, that you can get this much more in technical detail from the Chiefs of Staff, because they discussed it for hours and almost days, whereas I get the results of their discussion because I am administering all the other affairs of the Defense Department.

Russell Asks Summary Of Three Courses Open

Q.—Well, we will have the Joint Chiefs before us before we conclude this hearing, Mr. Secretary, but I should like to ask you to summarize, if you will, as you see it, the advantages and the disadvantages of the three possible avenues open to us: First, as to the extension of the war. A.—First as to what?

Q.—As to the extension of the war; the adoption of the MacArthur plan, in other words. What do you think would be the advantages or the disadvantages of that plan? You have gone into the defense of our present program in Korea, but I would like for you to deal with the effects, advantages and disadvantages, of the first possibility, I believe you mentioned, which is, I believe you called it, the extension of the war.

A.—Mr. Chairman, I want to qualify what I am going to say by reminding you again that I have opinions, naturally, in my position, but the detailed study of all these considerations is taken by others, and I get the reflection of those, and the papers of them passing through my hands.

Q.—I understand that, Mr. Secretary, but there is a responsibility——

A.—I am going to make a statement, but I will qualify it before I do. I am a little fearful that you are thinking I was a Chief of Staff and maybe I am a kind of Chief of Staffs now.

I am not. There are considerable other matters I have to attend to and I have tremendous confidence in these particular men.

So what I am saying is largely a reflection of what they bring to me. I think the extension of the conflict would not be profitable. I don't quite see how it could bring us to a quick and what you might call a victorious conclusion for a number of reasons.

In the first place, China is a vast country and is a country where human life is not put on the same standard of values that we have, and losses that would occur, we will say, from bombing and things like that they can wipe off the slate very easily where we could not.

But you don't destroy much when you do hit at that. You make it difficult, you interfere, but when you bombard a coastal city, when you bomb a coastal city or an interior city, I don't think you accomplish a great deal.

The Japanese had a long trial of that and had troops all through China, but were not able to take over the country. When you turn to the next factor involved in that you come to the question of the employment of the troops of the Nationalist Government in Formosa. That is concerned with this very affair. We are all of the opinion that Formosa itself is of great importance and it is imperative that it be kept out of Communist hands.

Now, the problem is: Can we effectively use the troops from Formosa, completely disregarding the hazard that we think might grow out of their use in relation to the development of another world war?

I referred yesterday to a mission whose report exercised influence on the Chiefs of Staff in connection with their decision.

If I can find it in my original statement, I will read it.

I cannot find it.

However, there was a mission of thirty-seven officers sent from General MacArthur's headquarters, by him, at the direction of the Chiefs of Staff, in early August, about the 3rd of August, I think, to Formosa, to go over the command there, air, sea and ground, in connection with the defense of Formosa against any Communist attack on that island.

They returned to Tokyo about the 26th or 27th of August, and submitted their report on the 11th of September; and the substance of that report—this should be off the record— * * * (four lines deleted).

That had a great effect upon the opinion of the Chiefs of Staff in relation to the utilization of these particular troops; and I came into the record yesterday with the first recommendation of General MacArthur, in August, I think it was, and his later recommendation along a different line, along in November; so that, we think, would have prejudiced the campaign because of the small result we would get from incursions of that force on the mainland, and the hazards we would take in reducing the effective force of those troops that are equipped, and those troops that are reasonably trained, in action on the mainland, not to mention the support that we would give them, in addition to what we were actually doing in Korea with our Navy and our Air.

Therefore, the feeling has been that an extension of the present war, under the terms proposed by General MacArthur, would not only hazard the development of a very much enlarged and probably a world war, but would not lead to a quick decision—decisions of a decisive nature which would not only terminate the actual fighting in Korea but relieve us of very heavy troop obligations in the immediate future in that region.

Now, the next point I mentioned was whether or not we evacuated Korea.

'Very Real Possibility' Russia Might Intervene

Q.—Before you get to that, Mr. Secretary, you said the hazard of Soviet intervention; do you think that that possibility is remote or that it is very real—that the Soviet might intervene?

A.—I think it is a very real possibility, and like all other matters pertaining to the Soviet Government, the decision is of a few men and can be an instant decision whenever they choose to make it. They may make it without any reference to a specific event; and again they may find themselves imperiled, as they feel it, in their future development of communism in the world, and therefore take action to reduce that peril.

Q.—Now, with particular respect to this question—the extension of the war—you stated on yesterday that you thought there was a great likelihood that the adoption of General MacArthur's policy would result in greater losses in Korea than to follow the present policy. I believe you stated that substantially yesterday.

A.—I assumed, and we have assumed, that if we started on that procedure, particularly the bombing and the naval action, in relation to Manchuria and China, we would immediately have whatever retaliation they were able to effect * * *. (Part of one line deleted.)

* * * (Three lines deleted.)

I am here dealing with something that the commander on the ground thought quite differently about, and presumably his air chiefs advised him differently about. However, on this side there are a number of officers who have had tremendous experience in the matter and also have had plenty of time, and all the information obtainable, to come to a pretty clear idea of what the possibilities are in the build-up of Communist China air power, which has been very evident for several months. * * * (One and one-half lines deleted.)

Q.—That answers, but not directly, what I intended to ask—as to whether or not that statement envisioned the Soviet entering the war, or whether you thought that the losses might be greater if the war were confined solely to Communist China under the program advanced by General MacArthur.

A.—Well, if you din't achieve a decisive result, I would say the losses were bound to be greater because there would be an extension of the effort and presumably heavy air action against us until we crushed all possibility of air retaliation.

Now as to the extent to which we can crush that, the issue is immediately created as to whether or not the Soviets will stand by and see this crushed, they having furnished continuously all these planes in the Chinese Communist build-up.

Q.—Well, if that is your opinion as to its effect if the war were confined to the Chinese Communists, can you state for the record what would be likely to occur if the Soviet intervened? A.—The question is what would be the effect if he Sovie inervened?

Q.—If I understand it, it is your statement that the losses would be greater if the MacArthur plan were adopted and the war was not ended by any other power than Communist China. What would the effect be if it did provoke the fect if the Soviet intervened?

A.—Well, of course that would immediately involve the defense of Japan, Hokkaido in particular, attacks on our air all over Japan, all over Korea, at the bases, probably Okinawa, and we couldn't accept that without the maximum retaliation on our part which inevitably means a world war, which means unlimited losses for a considerable period of time.

Q.—You do not believe then that the war could be limited to the Far East but would spread to Europe and all other places of the world? A.—That is our view of the matter.

Secretary Sees Tragedy If Forces Quit Korea

Q.—What would be the effect on our world posture of military strength to oppose communism if we withdraw from the Korean Peninsula immediately, Mr. Secretary?

A.—I feel that that would have a tragic consequence in relation to Communist efforts in the Far East, the build-up of the Chinese Communist party, the effect on Indo-China, Thailand, Indonesia, the efforts in the Philippines which are directed against that Government by Communist-inspired groups of people.

It would be, I feel, a very tragic affair. That is the reason the Chiefs of Staff in this particular document of Jan. 12 were dealing in the light of possibility which seemed at times to be verging on a probability that we would have to evacuate from Korea until the campaign was turned in our favor, because it was felt that we just couldn't merely evacuate and do nothing. We had to do something to try to maintain our position.

Q.—What, if any, effect would it have in Europe and the Middle East, Iran and India, and other parts of the world?

A.—It would, I think, very clearly have a very depressing effect on all of those people who have been looking to us for leadership and as an example, I think it would have a distressing effect.

I think all of us will recall the general effect in Western Europe in particular and all through Germany during that period of July when our very small forces were steadily driven back until they were reduced to a narrow bridgehead around Pusan. The papers, I think, carried very extensive comments on the reaction in Europe. A myth had been exploded—we were not the powerful country we were thought to be.

Q. Do you care to comment further on your third alternative present plan of operations.

A. I certainly wouldn't want to comment on that for publication. (234 lines deleted.)

General MacArthur destroyed one North Korean army and portions of the newly constituted army trained in Manchuria have been pretty largely torn to pieces, almost decimated, and now that they have brought in new groups of Chinese Communist troops, a very large percentage of those have been really so torn to pieces that they are not capable of effective action and will no for some time to come.

There has been a difficulty in arriving at casualties but it appears that the losses have been somewhere between 500,000 and 800,000 that have been suffered by the North Koreans, and by the Chinese Communist forces.

No people can continue at that rate very long. While we have had heavy losses, for us—considering the distance from home, the small forces involved they have been very, very small in comparison with those suffered by the Chinese Communists and the North Koreans, and remarkably small during the last two to three months.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Connally?

SENATOR CONNALLY—I will defer questions. I want to ask the general some questions later on.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Bridges?

On the Method Employed For Recalling MacArthur

SENATOR BRIDGES—Mr. Secretary, you spoke yesterday of your concurrence in the recall of General MacArthur. Would you approve of the method by which it was done?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I tried to explain that yesterday as well as I could. As to the factual part, it was arranged hat the relief would be carried to him by the Secretary of the Army, and at his Embassy, his home, and before he went to the office, so that there would be the least embarrassing reaction so far as that specific thing occurring.

The issue seemed to be the immediacy of the relief in relation to his own leavetaking of his forces.

I explained that as frankly as I could yesterday. In fact, we had to consider what was going to be the position in which General Ridgway found himself suddenly required to not only direct the campaign in Korea, but to take over the responsibilities with the Japanese Government.

I said at the time I answered the question that I couldn't give the views of the others, if I recalled them, which I didn't on that specific subject, and I tried to analyze what mine would have been as to that specific factor, of the immediacy of his relief, and though I didn't recall analyzing it myself at the time in such detail, however, since the question and my having a chance to recall a little more about it, I do recall that there was a specific discussion as to whether or not it would be desirable to retain General MacArthur in his role in relation to Japan only, particularly his relations to the Japanese treaty, and turn over to Ridgway the conduct of the campaign in Korea.

I recall that that was set aside on the ground that it would put Ridgway in an almost impossible position because Japan was his base, and there would be a divided authority there that might make it very difficult to conduct affairs. They are difficult enough at best. That was discussed.

I recall, after I had talked here yesterday, that it was felt that it mus no be on a divided basis.

SENATOR BRIDGES — Do you have, General Marshall, any one in military service in the United States who has a wider experience in the Far East than General MacArthur?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I do not think we have, Senator Bridges.

Q.—Do we have any——. A.—In fact, I know we have not.

Q.—Do we have anyone in political life who has a wider knowledge and experience in the Far East than General MacArthur? A.—I do not think we have. In political life?

Q. — Yes, in public life. A. — When you say Far East, you mean the whole Far East? Q. — Yes. A.—Well, there might be some difference about that; I don't think of them at the moment.

Q.—Do you know of any military man on the side of the free world that has a greater experience in the Far East than General MacArthur? A.—Any military man?

Q.—In the service of the free nations, our allies, in other words.

A.—Offhand, I do not know of any.

Q. — We have received the so-called General Wedemeyer Report on Korea, General Marshall. Would you tell us, first, who suppressed that and, second, for what reason it was suppressed for these several years?

A.—As to the Wedemeyer Report on Korea, I can't answer that question; I will have to tie it up with the Wedemeyer Report on the whole result of his visit.

I restricted that from publication myself for the reason that he engaged in proposals in connection with putting the China problem before the United Nations, and specifically proposing that Korea —Manchuria, be put under trusteeship with the Soviet Government, the British Government and ourselves, and I believe, the French, to handle the matter.

That occurred at the time we were heavily involved in the discussion with the Congress in relation with Greece, or discussion with the United Nations, in relation to the affairs in Greece, when we were attempting to make certain that we had a proper commission to investigate and see what was going on and represent our interests, and it was thought inadvisable to release that for publication.

Now, I also might add that that report, that visit, was instigated in order to provide information for me, and for the President. I proposed sending General Wedemeyer out, and I had him write his own directive, which brought it into the Presidential set-up.

I thought I would just send him out to look over the ground for me, and come back and tell me what he thought; but his idea, and I think it was right, was — he needed as much prestige as possible in what he was doing, and therefore he needed a Presidential directive; and my recollection is, he drew up most of the directive himself.

Now, when it came to the publicizing of the report, that was quite another matter, but it might have been done. I know they did go through it to see how we could delete, and it seemed to be so woven into the report, that part of the United Nations phase, that it would excite more speculation and more complications than would be desirable.

Now, I don't know as to the Korean section, because I did not know it had not been released until this recent matter came up; and I only presume that you can be told directly by the State Department that it was not included in their White China Book, because they felt, I presume, it didn't directly affect the China situation.

As far as I could see, there were only very few deletions necessary in connection with the report.

Q.—Do you consider Korea as militarily strategic, to the United States? A.—What?

Q.—Strategic to the United States. A.—Of strategic importance?

Q.—Yes. A.—If we can afford, and find it possible to maintain it, it is not absolutely vital, but its close relationship to Japan, and, of course, to Manchuria, makes it of very material importance. The question largely is to what extent we can commit forces continuously, or under special circumstances, for the defense of Korea.

Q.—General Wedemeyer said, and I quote: "The political, social, economic and military situations in South Korea are mingled. A Soviet-dominated Korea would constitute a serious political and psychological threat to Manchuria, North China, Japan, and hence to the United States' strategic interests in the Far East. It is therefore to the best interest of the United States to insure the permanent military neutralization of Korea. Neutralization can only be assured by its occupation until its future independence as a buffer state is assured."

Do you concur in that?

A.—In the rough, yes.

Difficulty of Maintaining Forces in Korea Recalled

Q.—Rather than suppressing it?

A.—I wouldn't answer that in the direct fashion you apparently would like me to do, because if we take every advice that we get we would never arrive anywhere. There have to be modifications in all of these matters.

I might say that my great concern when I was Secretary of State with regard to Korea was the fact of the difficulty in maintaining our forces there. I know my last recollection is that they wanted to have at least 33,000 of our troops there, and the best they could recruit, enlist, was 18,000.

But what I was more concerned about was the character of the South Korean forces that had been set up—as to command, as to leadership. And I knew at that time that in North Korea those forces had been given preliminary leadership and development by Soviet officers who were replaced, as the force was built up, by Koreans who had served with the Russian Army as far west as Stalingrad. So my concern at that time was the character of the South Korean forces, having in mind their importance in holding together a stable state.

Q.—The Wedemeyer report also said:

"Consideration was given by the mission to the organization, training and equipping of a strong Korean military force along the lines of the former Philippine Scouts. This force should be under the control of the United States military commander and initially should be officered by Americans, but with a program for replacement and understudy by Korean officers. It should be of sufficient strength to cope with the threat from the north. Such a force will become truly effective only if the United States commander in Korea is given clear-cut authority to establish and control it."

What is your comment on that, General Marshall?

A.—Well, part of that is what I was just saying, Senator Bridges—that my worries with regard to the

Q.—He further said: "The long-term purpose of military aid to Korea should be to enable South Korea, and later all Korea, to engage in a holding operation against the progressive expansion of militaristic communism."

Now, do you think that we would have been better off today, possibly not at war in Korea, had we followed the report rather than suppressing it?

A.—Followed the report — that was the end of that?

South Korean development of strength, ability of them to support themselves, was related to the question of command, development of leaders, and the immediate installation of competent leaders. And I had reference to the Philippine Scouts; I had reference to the Marines in Haiti and other places where the local forces had been built up.

I was concerned with this matter when I was Secretary of State. I found there had been an involvement in which the War Department had been involved, and I presume the State Department with the War Department, and there was the feeling that we could not place commanders of companies and battalions, regiments and later brigades over South Koreans because, as I understood it, it would have been very strongly opposed by Syngman Rhee and the other Korean leaders.

The Philippines, on the contrary, were under our control all the time up until 1946. That was not the case in Korea, and that was the reason they gave me for not having these leaders doing the build-up of that force.

Q.—You think that if these recommendations of the Wedemeyer report had been carried out and the forces there had been built up, that it might have resulted in the Korean conflict not developing?

A.—That is possible, but a great many other factors are involved in it, so I can't make a categorical answer to the proposition. In a general way most of the things he recommended were actually done, but there is a very important difference which you have read there which I have been commenting on in the character of stability, the discipline, the leadership of that South Korean force.

Q.—Do you think, General Marshall, that there was any ulterior motive or there was any planned procedure by the Soviet in having the Korean attack take place when they were absent from the Security Council?

In other words, what I am getting at, do you think this was a long-range program on the part of the Soviet to start the Korean involvement when they were not participating or boycotting the Security Council because if they had been there they might have vetoed it or probably would have vetoed it in letting us become involved?

A.—I had not thought that true as you state, and the general reaction at the moment was it was rather fortunate they were not present on the Security Council at that time, and as I recall the return to the Security Council when the leadership automatically fell, the chairmanship fell to them, they did everything in the world to obstruct what we were doing.

Of course that could be tied up with the same scheme which you have implied there. I hadn't thought about that in that connection.

Number of Subcontractors In Atom Bomb Work Cited

Q.—Do you think Russia has the atomic bomb?

A.—Senator, I know little beyond what has largely been in the press in connection with it. I assume they have.

I assume it will be a tedious and difficult development because I think in such matters we go much more rapidly than they would, and it's been a long tedious business with us, particularly because we have a real industrial complex and I illustrate what I mean by that in saying that when we discussed with the engineers, the directors of our operations over here, not the scientists, shortly after the explosion of the bomb, Mr. Stimson and I had them there in the office have a real industrial complex, and one of the statements made was tremendously impressive to me. I think it related to the man that ran the Oak Ridge thing.

I am always afraid to talk about this for fear I get off into secret things, but I don't think it's a secret, he said there were 10,000 subcontractors.

Well, I don't think they've got 4,000 subcontractors or 2,000 subcontractors in all of Soviet Russia with the skills that are required because of the extreme refined tolerances involved, so my own guess is the build-up would be slower than ours until they have developed some entirely new process, but they have the bomb I am quite convinced, and I couldn't even give you an estimate if I had the information as to when it might be available for use against us.

Q.—General Marshall, do you feel the Soviet is improving its military strength from day to day, week to week, month to month, year to year?

A.—Those are the evidences that we get and particularly in regard to its deployment. I don't know how much they are improving it in the way of better operative methods; I couldn't answer that.

I do know something about that as to aviation; but what has been going on behind the scenes has seemed to us to be a steady development in deployment in western Russia and in the Far East, notably in the Vladivostok region and Sakhalin Islands and places of that sort.

Q.—You see our intelligence, of course, and do you gain from our intelligence that the type of weapons, type of planes, and so on, which the Russians are now producing is increasing in efficiency and comparability with our own?

A.—I think that is correct. I think, however, there has been some exaggeration about some phases of it, particularly not exaggeration so much as depreciation of what we have in the way of tank power and things of that sort, but there has been a constant development; and it shows they are going ahead in every way they can.

Q.—General, as a former General of the Army and as a former Secretary of State, were you consulted on the decision to enter the Korean war? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Do you know who made the decision? A.—I don't know the details of that, Senator.

Q.—General MacArthur told the Congress that he was not consulted. Do you think that as head of the command, the man who represented us in the Far East, our commander over there, that he should have been?

A.—I have read the messages covering that period, and I would say the messages disclosed what is the approximation of consultation, because they were back and forth, several in a day, to the various authorities, and his returning comments, and his recommendations for certain actions. Now, as to the actual initial decision, I don't know.

Bridges Asks Secretary About Faith in Leaders

Q.—General Marshall, while we had the issue up of military aid to Europe, troops to Europe, and so forth, it was pointed out by various people including yourself that you had to have faith in the military leaders, you had to have faith in the Supreme Commander in Europe, General Eisenhower.

For instance, you made the statement, and I quote:

"As a result of the various steps outlined earlier, these plans are now well advanced. General Eisenhower, as you know, has assumed supreme command. In order for him to succeed in this most difficult and critical of assignments, it is essential that he not be deprived of that freedom of action which is so necessary to a military commander."

That is a pretty straightforward statement, general, and General Eisenhower in Europe and the need for faith in our Supreme Commanders in a given area and the necessity for them to have freedom of action—that was your thought as far as Europe was concerned.

Don't you think that should apply equally to the Far East?

A.—If the circumstances were the same and the men were the same. I have great regard for General MacArthur's military capabilities. In fact, I played a very large part in his various assignments, promotions, and decorations; but when it comes to the point of the Commander not recognizing, being unwilling to recognize the decisions of his Government, that is quite another matter.

General Eisenhower has been restricted at times in his operations, particularly during the last war, but there was no repercussion resulting from that. There was discussion and decision and that ended the matter.

I do not think the comparison is quite a fair one, sir.

Q.—In 1945, G-2 [Intelligence] of the Army, prepared and published a report,—prepared for publication a report which explained that the Chinese Communists were the same brand of Communists, as were the Russian Communists. Was that report withdrawn, and if so, why? A.—In 1945?

Q.—Yes, sir. A.—And it was by the Army G-2?

Q.—Yes. What I am getting at is, the State Department, many of the officials of the State Department at that time were saying that the Chinese Communists were merely agrarian reformers; but apparently the War Department—because we had not the Department of Defense at that time—took an opposition position; and, as early as that time recognized that the Chinese Communists were not agrarian reformers, but really Communists of the same basic background that the Communists of Russia were; and we have understood that that report was never published, and that somebody suppressed it; and I wondered if you knew about it?

A.—No, I have no knowledge of that particular thing; but I have my own knowledge of when I—I got out to China and looked the ground over, from the very start, and there was no doubt that the leadership of this group were Marxist Communists, and so stated in my presence, and insisted, in my presence, that they were.

And, when I visted Yunan, in that mountain fastness of theirs, in their little theatre building which they used for all sorts of purposes, and they had some kind of entertainment prepared for me—over the proscenium arch was a large picture of Lenin and a large picture of Stalin; and I recall Chou En-lai, the Prime Minister of the Chinese Government, came to me protesting, in Chungking, in the late winter or early spring of 1946, against the dragging of Stalin's portrait through the streets, in the mud.

Chou's Plan Recounted For Communist Regime

I have heard him assert not once, but a number of times, that he was a Marxist Communist. His story always was that they would approach the desired end, which was a Communist form of government, through, first, the democratic processes, as they called them, until there was enough stability and industrial strength and development to permit them to go the whole way to a Marxist Communist state.

The only phase of the agrarian belief would have been, I should suppose, the fact that most of the members of the party were of the agrarian type, as there were almost no industries within the Communist bounds in the early days in China.

There was never any doubt in my mind and never any thought there was any misunderstanding about it.

Q.—General Marshall, at one time this morning you said, in effect, that human life was very cheap in China; that they did not have any regard for human life that we have, or many other areas of the world have.

Then you made another statement, in answer to Chairman Russell, about the conduct of the war, and in advocating your procedure for fighting within the boundaries of Korea, the Korean war, to the effect that we just keep on killing Chinese Communists, and you thought that in that way, was the best way of proceeding with the war, and of bringing it to a conclusion.

If what you say is that they hold human life in much less regard in so far as the degree of dignity and value than we do here—with which I agree—do you not think that that lessens the value of your thought that by staying within the confines of Korea, and just killing Chinese Communists, where a few hundred thousand or even, perhaps, millions, wouln't make any difference to a country with the terrific manpower reserve—

A.—Senator, I referred, I think, several times in my statement—and I should have if I didn't—to trained Communist forces. There is a limit to what they have in trained Communist forces and presumably a limit as to equipment, although I imagine the Soviets would supply them, certainly, up to quite an extent.

What we have been doing, so far, as all our reports go, and it it has been tearing down the best of their trained forces.

We have gotten, I think, four different general army groups—I don't mean these army corps—the general army groups that have come in there, and some have been reduced down to about 25 or 30 per cent strength, and even that includes reinforcements that have been put into the ranks.

I am talking about the vital effect of destroying their trained Communist armies. It takes a long time to create such an army; it also presents problems of equipment, and things of that sort; and during the last three months, as I remarked, our losses have been greatly reduced, and that has been one reason we have been able to cut our calls on Selective Service, because they were so much below what we had anticipated.

On the other hand, the losses of the Communist force have been tremendously increased, and that is the trained force that we are tearing down.

I spoke, I think, yesterday, of on the front of the First Corps, which was on the left of our line in Korea, and it was calculated there were thirty-four divisions, and the last report I heard, which was about a week or maybe a little more ago, where they had a good basis for the statement, twenty-six of those had been pretty largely chewed up; and I think they said it was eight to ten remained to be committed to the action on that part of the front. That is what I meant when I said were were tearing them down.

It has been published before, but as we know, we have filled the hospitals all over China, and what happens with the wounded that are released, and naturally talk, though they may do it secretly, is bound to have its effect on the Chinese people in the end, although it will never have a sudden effect.

But they have tremendous manpower availabilities and they have built them up into very large forces and our very small force in Korea with the air and naval aid has cut them down to a remarkable extent.

Johnson Linked To Korean War

Q.—General Marshall, was Louis Johnson's removal as Secretary of Defense and your succeeding him as Secretary of Defense, did that have anything to do with the conduct of the Korean war? I mean was the Korean war involved in that, his removal and your succession?

A.—Well, I suppose it was involved, but not as a reason for the change that I know of. I was called in there and then I went about the business in the same way I had heretofore, such administrative business.

I think the only major change I made immediately was to authorize, require very general backs and forths informally, discussions with the working staffs which had not been the case prior to my arrival there.

THE CHAIRMAN — What do you mean by the "working staff?" Will you excuse me?

SENATOR BRIDGES — Certainly.

THE CHAIRMAN — What do you mean by the "working staff?"

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, if the Chiefs of Staff are involved in something that has relationship to the world picture and matters of that sort, this problem is always turned over to the group under the Chiefs of Staff to get all of the facts spread out and to make a proposal for an attitude or decision by the Chiefs of Staff.

The Chiefs of Staff then take that and may be two or three days on it, but in getting this preparatory paper, it was very important in my opinion that they be free to discuss for instance with the State Department, to go over or bring the State Department in in the lower echelons to discuss these things so that we didn't get on a basis of trying to handle the thing all in the form of a memorandum over there and then a memorandum from over there back to us on the highest level.

SENATOR BRIDGES — General Marshall, you commented yesterday about General MacArthur answering the letter of Congressman Joseph Martin. Don't you believe that if a United States Senator or a Congressman of the United States writes a letter to a military policy-making man in authority, whether it is here or in some area of the world, that he is entitled to get a frank reply?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — No, sir, I don't think from the senior commander when he knows he is advocating something to the leader of the opposition party to the Administration that he, as the commander, is in total disagreement with his own people. That sets up a chain of events in this tragic state that we have arrived at here, which is a most unfortunate thing for everybody concerned.

Q.—What is the rule so far as anybody in the military establishment answering a letter from a Senator or a Congressman?

A.—Well, I think he has to use considerable discretion. I have had to write a good many thousand, and it depends on the back and forth, but I don't think I would ever be involved myself in a criticism of the Commander in Chief to any Congressman of either party concerned.

I don't think—that goes contrary to my precepts and understanding as a soldier. I think, on the other hand, what we suffer from at times, rather critically at times, is the willingness of the individual to take issue on the confidential basis with his Commander in Chief. That is pretty hard to get people to do. There is where you state your case and put your own commission or command or position in peril, and there is where we lack and there is the place to state.

That isn't easy to do, particularly with the President of the United States. I am not referring to Mr. Truman, I am not referring specifically to Mr. Roosevelt, though I went through six years, or almost six years, under Mr. Roosevelt, but I think the chains of events are bound to be set up, and particularly the effect on the troops concerned.

You preach loyalty all the time. You are dealing with an organization where a man receives an order from even a captain which leads to his death or his wound, and he has to obey that order. He doesn't abate it, he obeys it, and that has to be instinctive. Now, if the example at the top is contrary to that, then you have got a very serious situation.

I am reminded now of a criticism that was brought to me regarding myself shortly after I became Chief of Staff, and the criticism was to this general effect: That I was giving my support to the then Secretary of War, Mr. Woodring, and not giving it to others.

Now, my reply, I remember distinctly, was this: When the Chief of Staff of the Army sets an example to the whole Army by disloyalty to his chief and superior, who is the Secretary of War, he has just about ruined the Army, in my opinion.

Experience of Pershing In Mexico Recounted

SENATOR McMAHON — Just about what, Mr. Secretary?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Ruined it. I will give you an example of what I am talking about that is much better than that.

I recall General Pershing telling me of his own experience. In the first place, he was suddenly ordered to conduct an operation into Mexico, and I think he went some 600 miles into Mexico in the effort to capture Villa.

In the first place, he was barred from using the railroad. We had no motor truck organizations in that day, and they just had to buy trucks and organize and do the best they could to carry tremendous supplies over these tremendous distances, in many cases there being no trails. He was barred from using the railroads. That was the most severe prohibition that could be placed on him. I don't think he ever made a public comment; he assured me he had not.

It went further than that. Just as he thought he was going to effect the capture of Villa, he received a communication to cease his efforts and retire, which meant he failed in his business. He told me he didn't mention that to any of his staff, and that he walked around his tent, and around the bivouac there most of the night, and gave the order the next morning for the beginning of the withdrawal without any explanation whatever to anybody concerned. That was his reaction from a military basis to Mr. Wilson's prohibition and to Mr. Wilson's orders.

I think it was a very good model to follow in the Army.

SENATOR BRIDGES — Don't you think there is a little difference between issuing a public statement, General Marshall, and writing a letter to an official of the United States Government like a United States Senator or Congressman?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, I don't know how to better explain it than I have gone into it, because you have to take the backgronud preceding that letter into consideration—what had happened.

I recited all that yesterday, and it is a disagreeable business. I will go through it again if you would like me to.

Q —No, that is all right.

Now, General Marshall, isn't it a fact that the Defense Department at under Mr. Forrestal, under Mr. Johnson, and I think even under you as Secretary of Defense, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff have consistently urged a policy toward China and a course of action in the Far East more positive than that of the Department of State.

A.—You are referring to my period as Secretary of Defense and you are going back to—

Q.—I am referring—

A.—That is all right. I am just getting it in my mind.

The Chiefs of Staff, I know, were concerned as to decision regarding Formosa, and that concern was finally completely washed out by a firm decision of this Government that under no circumstances was Formosa to come under the control of a Communist dominated or Communist Government.

What There Was Available As Base for Decisions

At the same time, they were just as firm in their conclusions that we must not commit our strength in relation to Formosa and other points in China, in a manner which we could not afford, unless there was a rather complete change in the situation regarding the armed forces in this country.

I cannot speak as to Korea. The relationships with the Communist Government, I think, were always those of not recognizing that Government.

The relationship to the Philippines was one of our poverty in troops available. In Indonesia, I don't know what the reactions of the Chiefs of Staff were to that issue.

As to Indo-China, their reaction was we should, so far as we could, provide in the light of our own requirements and some other requirements, we should provide equipment, and if they asked for it, training individuals, * * * (deleted).

That is as far as I can recall the backs and forths in these various discussions.

I think it is essential also, Senator Bridges, to keep in mind the situation that we were in at these times. Now, while Mr. Forrestal was Secretary of Defense, I was Secretary of State, and there were urgings to do a great many things. My recollection is, at that particular time there were one-and-a-third divisions in the entire United States. I know I was concerned and the Chiefs of Staff were very much concerned over obtaining enough men to guard the air strips at Fairbanks against a possible drop there, which would have been a great hazard to the Northwest.

We had literally almost no military forces outside of our Navy and outside of an effective, but not too large, Air Force, except the occupation garrisons and, as we know, even in Japan they were only at about 60 per cent strength.

There was very little with which to do. When you judge decisions, you have to judge them in the light of what there was available to do it.

That leads you up to your budget, the actions of Congress, and matters of that kind. A great many involvements were there which I was not concerned with after my departure from the State Department until I came into the picture again in September.

Q.—Well, General Marshall, aside from the time you have been Secretary of Defense, it wouldn't be surprising to you, then, to know that under Forrestal and under Johnson, the Defense Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff took a much stronger position for positive help and action toward China and the Far East than the State Department was taking? A.—Wouldn't surprise me to learn——

Q.—Yes. You have explained, somewhat, your own position, but when, in other words, Mr. Forrestal, who was a very distinguished American, and unfortunately is not with us any more, but Mr. Johnson certainly could be produced here—and I have heard, directly and indirectly from them, that they favored a much stronger position toward the Chinese and the Far East than the State Department did, during the period of their service; and I wondered if you recognized that as being true?

A.—I don't know enough of the facts at the time. I was just thinking of Mr. Forrestal, and my own contacts, in relation to China.

Now, Mr. Forrestal visited me in Nanking. I recall, at the time he visited me, I was in the middle of a conference at the Executive Yuan, endeavoring to work out that impossible situation, and he came up and got someone to come in and have me leave the conference so that he could tall to me.

Now, his concern at that time was this:

Urging me to get the Marines out of their job at that time, of keeping the railroad open from Tientsin, nor of Chin Wan Tao, and also over to Peiping. He was very much concerned by the continuation of the Marines in the situation.

I had been trying for some time to lessen that tension, but the fact remained that we could not continue the supplies of coal which were essential to Central China, if the railroad was cut off from Chin Wan Tao on down to Tientsin.

He wished to get the Marines out of there, and I was holding them longer than he thought advisable.

Now, that is the one contact in connection with China that I recall in connection with Mr. Forrestal.

There were more reactions of a naval nature than any others, because the Navy, very naturally, found it of tremendous value to them to have a port, a safe anchorage, you might say, and possible repair point on the China coast, and they had gotten that fairly well established at Tsingtao, and they felt very deeply in regard to any matter that didn't strongly support that installation.

Incidentally, I had arranged through the surplus property deals that the repair set-up of a naval nature would be covered as to costs through a period, I think it was, of fifteen years; that when we turned over certain equipment to them from our surplus property, in connection with the naval repair shops in Shanghai, that was to give the Navy something closer than Guam.

I recall very distinctly they had very strong feelings on this subject. In so far as I was concerned, in my knowledge of the matter, I thoroughly sympathized with the naval point of view.

On the other hand, I was not only skeptical, but alarmed at the possibilities of the ground involvements in connection with China. Now, beyond that, I cannot answer your question.

THE CHAIRMAN.—You turned over surplus property to them, you said. Who do you refer to?

SECRETARY MARSHALL. The Chinese.

Q.—What Chinese? A.—The Kuomintang Government; Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Government.

Relations of Departments Explained by Secretary

SENATOR BRIDGES. General Marshall, is it not a fact that when there has been, generally speaking, a division between the Defense Department and the Chiefs of Staff, whether it has been Forrestal, Johnson, or you in command of the situation, and the State Department, which advocated or stood for more pacifying methods, if that is a fair word to use, toward the Far Eastern situation, has not the President generally sided with the State Department views?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, I can answer that pretty accurately out of my own knowledge and my own experience. I know of no occasion where—I can recall no occasion where—Mr. Truman has acted adversely to the Chiefs of Staff and the Secretary of Defense, in relation to the State Department.

What has happened is this: I spoke of enabling the lower echelons, the working echelons to work back forth without restrictions; that had been previously been forbidden.

We had a great many discussions. It has been a rather common procedure for the Secretary of State and one or two of his principal men, Mr. Lovett and myself, and the Chiefs of Staff, to meet in the Chiefs of Staff room and hold discussions of two and three hours over these various matters, generally with some specific document that we were concerned with; one which had probably been furnished us, in the first place, by the State Department.

Then we would investigate it, or the Chiefs of Staff had, through their lower working levels, and then their reply had gone back informally, and then this meeting would occur. Now, that occurred time after time.

We always reached agreement, and it was an agreement where the Chiefs of Staff sat on one side of the table and Secretary of State Acheson, with his people, and Lovett and myself sat on the other; in other words, the civil discussing it from our point of view, as nearly as I was civil, and the military across from us.

Now, those were carried either to the Security Council or directly to the President and I think I am being very accurate when I say I think I do not recall a case where the President overrode the Secretary of Defense and the Chiefs of Staff in preference to the advantage of the State Department.

As a matter of fact, we practically didn't take anything to him that we could not resolve, and I found that with discussion we could resolve practically everything that came up.

Q.—General, is it, in your opinion, the aim of the Soviet, Soviet Russia, or the Kremlin, to destroy or take over the free world? A.—I think their purpose is to dominate the whole free world.

Q.—You have said before that we should build up our Allied forces in Europe, and if we do that we could successfully defend ourselves, certainly, by 1953. The military assumptions on which these statements are based, I suppose, are full European cooperation and ample American assistance in troops and air power; is that correct?

A.—That is roughly correct, but what I was talking about there is a set-up which would be successful in deterring full war, deterring the Soviet military aggression.

Now there is also involved, of course, Soviet political aggression such as occurred in Hungary, Czechoslovakia and at a much earlier date in Poland, and that is where the European Recovery Program came into play to work against such a matter as that.

That phase of the matter was one of the great failures in connection with China in their battle with the Communist forces there. We start with the development of deterrents and thereafter it is a question of good government.

Q.—Now, General, supposing that the worst should happen and that Russia should override Europe and the skills and resources of Europe became at Russia's disposal, would in your judgment then Russia be able to threaten the security of the United States? A.—I think very clearly they could do so. That would be a terrific loss to us.

Q.—At the present time do we have enough strength in Europe to prevent that?

A.—Not at the present time. We have enough to start them to think before they leap, and of course we have an atomic advantage that they are aware of.

Q.—To summarize what I was getting at, if Russia needs the skills and resources and industry of Europe and we are not going to be fully prepared there until '53, is Russia therefore going to permit us to turn Europe into a prepared area against them, and in light of the facts isn't our present program for Europe ten times more provocative for example to bring on a world war than would for instance the bombing of the bases in Red China?

I mean in Europe if they can get possession of the skills, the industries, the resources of Europe and they see those resources, skills drifting away from them as a result of Allied preparation in Europe with American cooperation, and perhaps we will be so prepared in a period of two years if all our hopes materialize there—and I believe we should do it. I fully concur in that—

A.—I understand you are making a comparison.

Q.—Isn't that a provocative place where the world war will come on, rather than a far off incident in China where you bomb some Chinese?

A.—I agree with you as to hazards we have accepted in Western Europe. The hazards were inescapable there unless we just abandoned Germany and let the other part go. We had to take them.

We had no choice, literally no choice whatever there. I don't think the same is true in Korea, but as to the Soviet determinations there is a great similarity because of the feeling on the part of many that are well advised, is the Soviets are determined that we be cast out of Korea.

Whether that determination will carry them to the overt act that provokes a war, remains to be seen.

There is also the Soviet concern as to the situation in Western Europe, but I don't think for a minute their advisers consider that we are preparing for an offensive campaign against them, other than the political reactions which will result from a prosperous and clean Europe, free people in comparison to what goes on in the satellite states and in that part of Germany that is dominated by the Soviet Government.

The situation, rather, in those respects is somewhat different in Korea, because there it is not Soviet ground that is occupied, but territory to which they attach, undoubtedly, great importance.

Secretary Believes Reds Expected Quick Decision

I think that if you want to get at what goes on behind the scenes, I think they had to assume that this force they had carefully trained, equipped, developed its leadership and its numbers—which far outnumbered those of the smaller Korean force—was in expectation that they would very quickly solve the situation in Korea and we would not involve ourselves in it, that we would hold back. I think they suffered a great surprise in that respect.

Now, there is also undoubtedly the question, aside from hazards, of the extent to which we become involved in that part of the world. That can be a very serious matter to us and one, we will say, of some satisfaction to the Soviets if we become engaged in a full-out war with China.

But you are questioning me regarding comparison of hazards. I will sum up again what I think of that. There were those hazards and are those hazards in Western Europe, and there has been no choice in taking them other than just surrendering the situation to the Soviet Government.

That is not entirely the case in Korea. The conditions are quite different.

Q.—Now, another question, General. You referred earlier in your testimony this morning in telling us why you were opposed to the proposals of General MacArthur, you stated that, you cited the fact that the Japanese spent eight or ten years on the mainland of China and they couldn't conquer China. You don't propose—certainly General MacArthur hasn't proposed or anyone I have heard, that our problem is to conquer China.

It is to rid Korea of the Chinese Communists or all enemy Communists; isn't that true?

A.—I think that is a good point. I was referring, though, to the fact that, when I spoke of the loss of life, of the cheapness of life, that the effect of blows like that would be rather remote as to the immediate situation, in my opinion, in regarding China proper and Korea as to the reaction to the Communist forces in Korea.

The same thing as a blockade or an economic blockade, that eventually wears them down, that eventually threatens the endurance of their government. But it doesn't have any immediate effect except to the extent of inconvenience.

Incidentally, Senator, if I may inject, if you don't mind, into what we have just been talking about—do you mind my making a comment about the blockade?

Q.—Certainly not.

A.—I looked up very carefully what were the factors and found that in December, that is, following the entrance of the Chinese Communists into the Korea action that this country placed a complete embargo on all exports to Communist China, Manchuria and North Korea. But in order to support this embargo, this Government applied stringent controls over exports from or through the United States to Hong Kong and Macao.

These controls cover all items except those having no strategic significance and are designed to prevent goods of United States' origin, either in original or processed form, from contributing directly or indirectly to the military potential of Communist China.

The United States has also prohibited all United States shipping and aircraft from calling at Chinese Communist ports or transporting cargo from non-United States sources destined for Communist China. It has also brought all Chinese Communist assets within the jurisdiction of the United States under control by a blocking order.

In further support of the foregoing measures which have been taken unilaterally, the United States has been pressing for the application of such international control measures as will be effective in diminishing the Chinese Communist potential for aggression.

A resolution adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, Feb. 1 last, provides the basis for sanctions to be invoked against the Chinese Communists.

Under this resolution the United States is currently pressing in the United Nations for the imposition by as many of the member nations as possible of an embargo on the shipment to the Chinese Communists of ammunitions, and other implements of war, as well as petroleum, rubber, and other materials useful to the Communist war effort.

Finally, on May 7 last, the United Kingdom (deleted) indicated that they were now prepared to support a resolution introduced by the United States for an international embargo against Communist China. Now that is quite a change there of the British Government (2¼ lines deleted). Imposition of such an international embargo will, of course, make the question of a naval blockade of far less importance, almost academic.

Recalls No Reversal Of State Department

Q.—I asked you earlier if you were aware of whether the President had ever overridden the Department of Defense in favor of the State Department's position, and I would like to reverse that question and ask if you are aware that the President of the United States ever overrode the State Department in favor of the Defense.

A.—I don't recall any such instance. He may have used his influence out of court. I don't know.

Q.—Someone has issued down to the Pentagon, we are informed, a statement or order to the effect that all officers when asked about the MacArthur case, so called, mus treply, "No comment." Did you issue that order? A.—I didn't issue it, and I didn't know about it.

Q.—New let's take General Eisenhower, for example. I pointed out that you had quoted statements made about General Eisenhower, and call attention to the fact that Europe, you pointed out there that we have got to have faith in our military, got to have faith in our Supreme Commander, and that you said yourself he should have a reasonable amount of latitude in action.

Now the program of the Administration is to put through the arms implementation program in Europe under our plans set up in the Atlantic Pact and other steps and negotiations which we have had.

Now, assuming that General Eisenhower, after being over there, comes back and says honestly that, having been around there, it is unworkable, and that he isn't getting the cooperation that he should, and so forth, and issues that statement which would be in opposition to the program of the Administration, will he be dismissed?

A.—That's a very precise question covering a considerable portion of the waterfront. He might make that statement with the approval of the Administration in order to jerk those other countries into action.

If he expressed that in opposition to a continuation of the affair which the Administration, the President, Chiefs of Staff are insisting upon, I should think he would have to be taken out of command.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—I wonder if the Senator would yield at this point for the reading of what I think to be a very pertinent statement.

SENATOR BRIDGES — I yield with the permission of the committee and the chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN — Any objection?

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—I do not want to insist on it.

SENATOR BRIDGES—All right.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—There is a book called "The Armed Forces Officer" that is rolling on the press right now, issued by the Secretary of Defense, General Marshall. It took me considerable time to get a hold of a copy of this book, but I have it, and I would like on that very point to read passages which are put out for the official guidance of officers of the Army or of the armed forces.

I am reading from Page 8, so that the record will be clear.

"The service officer is charged only to take a lively interest in all such discussions"—that is about public matters and affairs of the military—"has no more right to condemn the service unfairly than has any other American.

"On the other hand, he is not expected to be an intellectual eunuch oblivious to all the faults in the institution to which he gives his loyalty; or to the contrary, that the nature of that loyalty requires that he will use his force towards righting of those things which reason convinces him are going wrong, though making certain that his actions will not do more damage than repair. His ultimate commanding loyalty at all times is to his country and not to his service or superior."

I thought perhaps that might be pertinent in connection with the obligations and responsibilities of officers at this point in your questioning, Senator Bridges.

SENATOR BRIDGES — Based upon that statement, General Marshall.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — You mean the one just read?

SENATOR BRIDGES — Which has just been read, which I have been aware of and others have been aware of, which has been issued by your department under your direction. Don't you think General MacArthur could have been within that province putting his first loyalty to his country rather than with respect to—rather than, perhaps, differing with the Commander in Chief or, perhaps, you on the ways that it should be carried out, the methods of carrying it out?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I had not heard that particular paragraph before. It is a generalization, of course. My own thought would be that it could not be given application in this matter.

Q.—Well, now, what is your idea, General Marshall—is an officer's first loyalty, as this order in this book reads, this directory reads, is his first loyalty to his country? A.—Yes, it is to his country.

Q.—And he takes an oath under the Constitution? A.—Yes.

Q.—And the President of the United States is a creature of the Constitution, is he not?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Therefore, his primary object of loyalty should be to his country and to—his country, as provided by the Constitution. A.—Would you repeat that last one?

Q.—His primary loyalty, his first loyalty, is to his country, as set up under the Constitution of the United States. A.—Correct.

'You Have to Accept Inhibitions' in Service

Q.—And then his next obligation, taking it from there up—what I am pointing out is under those rules laid down under the Constitution, on which the man takes his oath, there might be a difference of opinion as to whether General MacArthur was carrying out his responsibilities in a loyal manner or a manner set up according to our processes.

A.—I suppose so. I don't agree though, because I feel that when you take a commission and you take your oath of office under that, you accept in the military service, because of the state of loyalty you have to feel toward your respective commanders, as you go up in the military hierarchy, which is very compelling to any effective army force and military force and, therefore, that you have to accept those inhibitions if you undertake that type of career.

It does not apply to a lawyer or an industrialist, a man in political life, such as yourself, but it does apply, in my opinion, very directly to an individual with a commission in the Army, Navy, the Air Force or in the Marine Corps.

There has come to be built up the feeling that when an officer retires he is a free agent, and that, I think, is more or less accepted. I have no comments on that. I never went into the various backs and forths concerned with it; but that is, I think, a common reaction that once a man is retired he is a free agent and can step out and say what he feels.

So long as he holds his post of military nature he is not that same free agent that he otherwise would be.

I recall in the days of Mr. Wilson there was a considerable difficulty in connection with General Wood, who was quite a conspicuous character in the military service. He was Governor of Cuba, Governor General in the Philippines, and as a military leader. In that particular case General Wood was not relieved, but they subdivided the entire Eastern Department, which extended from Maine to Florida, into three pieces in order to locate him in Charleston or out of the country.

Then his career was very seriously interefered with thereafter, because he was a man of great military competence, in my opinion; and he was a great administrator, in my opinion; but he had virtually defied his Commander in Chief on what was the appropriate policy.

I didn't agree with the defiance, but as a young officer I was in agreement with the difference.

Mr. Wilson was considering the whole world, he was considering American public reactions, and finally came out with his proposal to Congress that we declare war.

General Wood was, in effect, denied service that he might have rendered in a large way in that war by virtue of, by reason of these acts.

There have been other cases in our history very much along the same line. I suppose there will continue to be, but I think they are very poor examples to the Army; unless the man takes off the mantle of command and steps out and states his views.

Q.—Now, General, for a minute assuming in World War II, where you served with distinction as Chief of Staff of the United States Army, you had felt that a policy enunciated by the Administration at that time was not in the best interests of the United States, you felt very strongly then about that, what would you have done?

A.—I would have done my best, directed to the President, to have it changed, and I might say I had some very difficult scenes with Mr. Roosevelt over certain phases of the matter because, naturally, he had a great many irons in the fire and I only had one, which was the Army and the Air Corps, but I didn't make any public speeches.

I was frequently embarrassed here before the Congress and committees as to the questions, because I thought it was ruinous, I honestly thought it was ruinous for me to come out in opposition to my Commander in Chief.

I must find some other way to accomplish the end, and in most instances I was able to do so. In some, I was not. Some, later, it seemed to me the President was right. Others, I thought it was convincingly proved that I was right, but I had very difficult scenes in the early stages, particularly when we were building up our forces, but I had them with the President directly and I was not a very cheerful visitor on many occasions. In the end, Mr. Roosevelt gave me his confidence and we had no discussions and debates whatsoever.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, I wonder if the Senator will yield as to an inquiry for procedure. I understand that we now have on the floor the Supplemental Appropriation bill which includes some important civil defense items, N. P. A. [National Production Authority] and other matters of some considerable moment. How long does the chairman expect to run along?

THE CHAIRMAN—I had planned to run along until about 12:30, Senator, but I am perfectly willing to recess at any time the majority of the committee wishes.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — I just wanted to raise the point because there are a good many members of the Appropriations Committee who are Senators here who will be interested in some of those items.

THE CHAIRMAN—I realized the Appropriations Bill was on the floor and for that reason I decided not to have an afternoon session today. We can recess now or we can continue for a few moments and recess around 12:30. It is wholly immaterial to anybody on the committee.

SENATOR McMAHON—I'd like to finish, and I don't think it will take very long, with this present line of questioning. I would like to see the Senator build up as to what the general might have done.

SENATOR BRIDGES—Now, my question to you, General, is:

Suppose the difference between you and the Administration, the President, had become an absolute difference of opinion, where you thought the best interests of the country were not being served by the President, or the Administration?

What would you have done, then?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I probably would have resigned as Chief of Staff.

Q.—And then, following your resignation, what would you have done?

A.—That would have depended on the effect of my resignation. That might be effective without any explanation; and then again, I might have felt that the situation was so glaring that I must talk to the public.

Q.—Well now, supposing that an Army officer saw his country just, for example, going into ruin? That is, what he thought was ruin, through Communistic infiltration? Do you consider it his duty to remain silent, and say nothing? A.—As to Communist infiltration?

Q.—Yes. Supposing, we will say, that—it is perhaps a far-reaching case—but just assume that you had an Administration where somebody, with very pro-Communist views, was in your position, today, or some other very principal position, and the Army officer held a very responsible place, or theatre — or, let's take General MacArthur; for example, supposing he had assigned to him over there, as adviser, or somebody, people that he knew to be pro-Communist in their outlook, in their approach; and then, he protested, and no action was taken. What should he do—just remain silent?

A.—Well, I think it would depend on all the circumstances.

For one thing, he might isolate the fellow so that he couldn't do anything; and he might say it was intolerable, and insisted, if they insisted that he should accept the man—he would have to relinquish the responsibility that was placed on him.

He might be able to make his case in some other way.

Incidentally, I thought it would have been immensely profitable if General MacArthur, on his own motion, had come over here, responded to invitations to come over and talk to the President about a great many of these things, and come in touch with reactions which didn't reach him, except in a rather vague way, in Japan.

So, his recourse was to these statements, released through the press, and others, and of course we all know that what makes a good press may be very bad business, as to its news value.

Marshall Says Hypothesis Depends on Gravity

Q.—The answer to my question on this Communist issue, assuming for a moment, and supposing that isolating these people were not possible, then he should remain silent, or should he speak out; because he has taken his oath, and his first loyalty is to his country.

A.—Yes, but when you are talking about the country you are not necessarily talking about the public reactions of the day, or the week. It depends entirely or how serious the matter is.

I would say, off hand I'd say that he could isolate the individual; if it was within his power, he could make it virtually impossible for the man to function, and he would probably find some other way to get rid of him; and also, I think he could probably give expression to the facts—why he would not use the individual.

Q.—Could he do that publicly?

A.—Wait a minute, Senator.

I had some occasion, out in China, along that line; because there were those there who had very decided leanings toward this so-called agrarian Communistic group, and many or some, and "many" might be a more accurate statement, were so embittered by the attitude toward the conduct of the Kuomintang Government that they sort of automatically got themselves on the other side of the fence.

I ran into that at the start. I had one man removed within three days of my arrival there, and sent back to the United States.

I don't know whether he was a Communist or not, but I know the way he was talking was inimicable to good government, and he ought to get out, and his actions were in a direction other than what we were doing, and I moved him out without publicity at all, and he went back home; and others I discovered in a variety of ways; but to take one issue, one man, and whether we make a speech about that, and our duty to our country or not, you can't answer that "yes" or "no."

Q.—Well, it comes down to a point—but the time may come when that issue could conceivably come up in this country, whether or not a man commanding as Chief of Staff, or a man commanding one of the great armies of this country, whether his loyalty was to his country first, or whether it was to the Administration in power; and, I believe in civil control, as you do, but I mean there is a vast difference of judgment.

It could conceivably come to where a man might be very direct in having to take that position, could it not?

A.—It seems to me, Senator, you are refining this down to a sort of an isolated situation.

I don't mean that an Army officer is an absolute mummy, in a sense that he can't speak, he hasn't any view, or when he gets to the card table he is absolutely mum, and things of that sort.

I think these factors—we are dealing with a Commander in Chief, a Supreme Commander, technically, and Commander in Chief of our military forces, and also, in effect, the Commander in Chief for the United Nations forces.

Now, that is a very important relationship. The letter you referred to was written to the former Speaker of the House of Representatives, a man of great political influence, and you are now moving—you have to take all the past things that have occurred here, political as well as military, and then against that background this is released to the public.

I don't think that was a correct action.

Q. — Now, General, this line — General MacArthur has testified here, and you have, too, that MacArthur didn't violate a single military order. A.—That is correct.

Q.—So we are talking about a directive—— A.—That is, a single directive as to military operations.

Martin Letter Called Only One Instance

Q.—As to military operations. Now, we are talking about a directive as to whether a man in a responsible position has a right to express himself vitally on a matter.

Now, don't you think that if the Martin letter was a factor in the firing of MacArthur, that MacArthur should have had an inquiry addressed him as to whether or not he knew it was going to be public.

He might have written that in what he supposed to be a confidential vein to a Congressman, to Congressman Martin; and Congressman Martin on his own initiative made that public. If so, General MacArthur shouldn't be blamed for the publication of such a letter.

A.—That was only one instance of a great many.

Q.—Would you tell us the name of the man you removed when you had been in China three days and sent home?

A.—I don't remember his name, didn't within twenty-four hours of his removal. He had done this, though, I found: he had taken the announced policy of the President, sent out there, and in its distribution through the various agencies this Government had in China had changed the terminology, changed the expressions of the President to create quite a different reaction; because he felt deeply on this thing, he did that.

Q.—Will you furnish the committee with the name of that man when you have a chance? A.—I will try to find out who he was.

SENATOR BRIDGES—I have a lot of questions, but I won't take more time. I will pass on to the second round.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator George, do you desire to conduct your examination now?

SENATOR GEORGE—I am not going to ask a lot of questions, but I will ask the general some questions. I think it will take fifteen or twenty or twenty-five minutes maybe, but if you are going to quit for the day——

THE CHAIRMAN—I am trying to ascertain the pleasure of the committee. You are next in order.

SENATOR CONNALLY—I think we could run on for a half hour until 1 o'clock.

SENATOR GEORGE—I have no business on the floor, but a conference.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT — We ran until 1 yesterday.

THE CHAIRMAN—Suppose we proceed and see how far we get here.

SENATOR GEORGE—Is Senator Bridges finished?

THE CHAIRMAN—Yes.

SENATOR GEORGE — General Marshall, you went in as Secretary of Defense in September, but may I ask if there is in the office of the Secretary of Defense, your department, any estimate of the number of troops that would be required of us in Korea after the decision or when the decision was made that we would go into Korea to repel the invasion of Southern Korea by the North Koreans?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Senator, there are successive messages in response to General MacArthur's recommendations as to the number of divisions they would have to have, and that would be increased if the situation changes.

Q.—I meant at the time we decided to go in, General. A.—I don't know about that, sir; I will have to look it up.

Q.—If there is an estimate there of the troops that would be required, and if it meets with the pleasure of the chairman and the committee, I would be glad for you to direct me where I can get it. A.—I will find out about that, sir.

George Asks Ability To Support Troops

Q.—Was there also an estimate furnished the President at the time of our ability to adequately support the troops that we were committing in Korea, both in manpower and matériel of war? Could you say whether that estimate was made, and if so I would be very glad if you could get that for us. A.—I will endeavor to get that, Senator, but I might say, Senator, those questions might be answered very directly by the Chiefs of Staff, who have all the data and are cognizant of what exists and what does not.

Q.—Yes, but, of course, I know that the estimate may have varied from time to time, but I am speaking now of the entry into Korea. A.—You are talking about the initial estimates.

Q.—What did you say? A.—You are talking about the initial estimates.

Q.—The initial estimates, yes, sir; and not only of the number of troops then required, but an estimate of our ability and capacity to adequately support those troops by additional manpower and implements of war. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—General, you referred to the time that you visited China. That was in 1945, was it not? A.—I arrived in China a few days before Christmas, 1945; yes, sir.

Q.—You were there almost a year? A.—I was there until the following January, a year later, January, 1947, with the exception of a period, I think, of five weeks, in March and April of 1946.

Q.—Now, General, did you not come back with a rather definite impression that in order to successfully organize or reorganize the Chinese Nationalist Government, it would be necessary to bring about a coalition of the Communists with the Nationalist group in power? A.—Would you state the first part of your question again please, Senator?

THE CHAIRMAN—The reporter, I think, has it right there where he can read it back.

(The reporter read back the last question.)

SECRETARY MARSHALL — First, Senator, I will have to turn to the world "coalition." I went over, very hurriedly of course, and in studying the various policy directives, public statements from this Government and the conditions over there, I came to the conclusion very early that two things had to happen.

One was that there should be a normal democratic form of government; that is, with the minority as well as the majority actions and representations in whatever legislative group they had.

The use of the word "coalition" as relating to cabinet coalition was another matter because I gradually reached the feeling that it was practically impossible for the Nationalist Government Cabinet appointees to work in any degree of harmony, as a matter of fact to work other than with great bitterness constantly of any other members of that cabinet group that came from the Communist party.

The temporizing proposal involved there by their own initiative—that is the Kuomintang Government, the Communist group and this minority party group — was sort of an over-all council wherein the dominant party, the only party really that had any representation in the legislative assembly, was to have forty members, and all the other groups combined were to have forty, but its action could be vetoed by the Generalissimo, and that veto could only be over-ridden by a two-thirds vote, which meant that defections would have to be from his own group before he could be countered in his action by veto.

Now that was the only approach to a coalition, it seemed to me, that had any possibility of working. They would have a long way to go even legislatively because the bitternesses were so great, they were founded on so many years of contest and also the resistance of those that were members of the Government by a long period of years of exclusive authority had become great to the point it was seemingly almost impossible to cut their power.

So when you speak of coalition, I would feel that you have to define between that and a two-party government and a three-party government, any way members of the legislative assembly which represented other parties, which was not the case at the time I was there, because the ruling faction in China at that time was the group, the top-level group, which included military leaders, civil authorities and others which actually made the laws themselves, and that was the equivalent under their particular form of a national committee here, the Generalissimo deriving his authority from being chairman of that national committee, that overrode everything else.

Problem in China To Reduce Animosities

The great problem was how to reduce these animosities, this complete distrust on both sides.

There was in between various minor groups, notably the Democratic League, I believe they called it, which lined up with the Communists, and the Young China party, a democratic scientific group, I think you could call it, which didn't step to either side, and all of those minor groups represented a very small following, but the tops were intelligent men.

Now the problem, to go back to your word, is a coalition, and the actual situation was one where the bitternesses were so extreme that any normal coalition such as we conceive the word was an impractical proposition in my opinion.

However, in their own Political Consultative Conference, their P. C. C. as they called it, they themselves shortly after my arrival when their meeting was finally held, had created an organization in which all had agreed—there had been the signatures and the approval of the Generalissimo — to a procedure which involved a coalition cabinet, and that was one of the most serious factors in trying to reach any basis of action.

You were confronted with a force on one side of about 3,000,000, a military power, and a force on the other side of something between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000, of which about 400,000 were pretty well trained troops in the way of organization.

Those were in the field against each other, and to set up a political agreement in the midst of that, of course, presented an extraordinary difficult proposition.

They had decided themselves, that is the Generalissimo, with an open statement in 1937 and finally up to meetings which started back in 1944 which Mr. Hurley participated in that the matters should be settled by political negotiation to bring a cessation to the fighting.

They finally had this meeting and this P. C. C. conference and come out with a form, with the structure of a government, and immediately the fight broke out as to the good faith of the parties in setting up the number of delegates to the proposed Constitutional Convention which was to have met on May 5, 1946.

I myself did not enter into the political phase of the matter. My job was first to create an armistice so there would be no active fighting during the period of the meetings, the political meetings, and later at the resolution of this P. C. C. I was to act as an adviser in the integration and demobilization of the military forces, Communists, and government.

From that time onward it was a development of inability to produce any agreements between the two forces, political groups, the Communists and the Government which did not involve such extreme suspicions on both sides that a coalition cabinet to my mind was just out of the question.

But they had involved themselves in that in their political convention. What I had understood from the start was, particularly as to the desire of the United States Government, was a two-party system.

Of course there might be other parties too, but their legislature would have included a minority group as well as a majority group. Theretofore it would have been purely a majority group without any other representation. Does that answer the question, Senator George?

Instructions on China Noted by Secretary

Q.—My recollection, General, when you came back, was that you stated to the committee that you had endeavored to bring about, perhaps coalition isn't exactly the right term, but to bring about some integration of the Communists and the anti-Communist groups, and I had the very definite impression that you had recognized the very great difficulties involved but that you came back with the view that the only hope of China, long run view of it, was to bring about the integration of the Communists with the Nationalist force.

A.—Those were the instructions that I went to China with in the beginning.

Q.—But on you those were more or less your directives, but I thought you came back with that view.

A.—When I came back I was hard put to find a long view conclusion in the matter because of the failing structure of the Kuomintang and the determination, organization and discipline of the Communist group and their undoubted advice and possible support that would occur later from the Soviet Government.

Q.—Let me ask you one or two questions more. As I understand your position, your view is that in Korea we have three choices. You spoke of the three choices and the number one choice was the recommendation as made to this committee by General MacArthur.

I would like to ask you this direct question: If you were assured that Soviet Russia would not come in to the action in Korea, the war in Korea, would you be disposed to favor the recommendation made by General MacArthur in the hope that it might bring a speedy determination of the war in Korea?

If you will just let me elaborate for just one or two sentences.

The Red Chinese are already in; I feel there would be no dispute about that point. Whether they are in to the utmost of their capacity to wage war ultimately, they probably are in to the extent that they are presently able to wage war. They are already in, therefore. And if you were assured that the Soviet Russia forces would not be thrown into that war, would you be disposed to favor the recommendation of General MacArthur that we follow planes into Manchuria and bomb the military set-ups that were there being formed for troops and for attack purposes on our troops in Korea?

A.—Once the Chinese Communist troops had appeared in force in Manchuria and if, from a hypothetical point of view, there was no danger whatever of a Soviet intervention, I would say that certainly the bombing you mention would start almost immediately.

Q.—I apprehended that you would say that. A.—I beg your pardon?

Q.—I say I apprehended that you, as a great soldier, would conclude that, because it seems to me it would have to be concluded. Now, then, General, that brings me to this question—— A.—Senator, will you let me amplify a little here?

Q.—Yes.

A.—When you say the Soviet would not intervene, I have to include in that the consideration of whether you are talking about a direct intervention, or, we will say, as to air power, furnishing these people all sorts of matériel and strength in other matters in connection with it. They can do so much sub rosa that can be very harmful.

The question then is—will it be so harmful as to make a less profitable procedure? But I would say, if you can say that we are certain and know beyond a doubt that the Soviet Government is not going to intervene, I think we would use our naval power, and we would use our air power very freely. The restrictions would be, I would say, not to use those powers, if avoidable, in a way that claimed a great many innocent victims and left a bitterness that we would be fifty years in overcoming. But I certainly would feel that once the Communist Chinese forces are in Korea in large measure, you would go after the communications, would go after their air installations, and we would do what we could along the coast of China to weaken their hand.

Q.—General, there is absolutely no finality in dealing with any international problems, as I think you will agree. I know you will recall when even your recommendations for European aid were advanced that there were some people who were so timorous they felt like that might involve us in war with Russia. I never felt so, but there were others who did and who were better informed about conditions than I was.

A.—This was the possibility and yet against that there was the very decided probability, in my opinion, that Western Europe was going communistic.

Q.—I agree that there was a responsibility— A.—We either had to allow them to go communistic or do something.

Q.—That was a possibility in the minds of a great many well-informed people. A lot of people in this country were skeptical about our direct assistance to Greece and Turkey.

We talk a lot about calculated risks. We took them. We regarded that as unavoidable. I think the decision was wise. And on down through to the very present effort to build up the North Atlantic Treaty group.

I am quite sure you will agree that we talked again with Greece about calculated risks. There was nothing absolutely sure about what the Russians or Communist reaction would be to our efforts in that regard.

So it seems to me that when you are dealing with this matter in Korea, you have to consider, of course, whether there is a risk of spreading the war, but it doesn't seem to me that we are required to be certain that to bomb the military set-ups as they are being organized across the boundary from our own troops, that we have to know absolutely that Soviet Russia will not come in.

A.—You will never know absolutely, of course, Senator.

Q.—You can't know.

A.—But I would like to expand a little bit on your development there of the idea that some things are unavoidable. I would say, if we don't do them, we lose definitely, and we know that. That would be the European Recovery Program.

Now to step up to another issue we had to meet, there was the question of Greece. It was quite apparent to us that unless we did something, Greece would go wholly communistic and that meant probably Italy would, and Turkey was then in a serious predicament. In a sense we had no choice but to let the thing go or try to save it.

Take the Berlin blockade. There were many that advocated that we breach the Russian set-up and go through their territory with an armed convoy.

We didn't do that. We took the air lift, which was expensive, complicated, and extreme, but we managed to get through without the break.

There was another way to do the thing and we did it that way; whereas, we might have put our trains on the road and shot back the Soviet obstruction and undoubtedly would have promoted a general conflict.

Now, when we come to Korea, you have a question of conducting the operation under the possibilities and we feel to a certain extent the probabilities. * * * (Three and one-half lines deleted.)

But up to the present time what we think has happened to the troops from their air, their air bases and in Manchuria, has not had a significant effect.

We might easily be forced into action and are prepared to take that action, but it is avoidable up to the present time. It may not be avoidable beginning tomorrow, but it is avoidable at the present time, and we have to relate that to the opinion of many other countries, many other peoples that are involved in this same struggle.

Some things are avoidable and the others are almost an abject surrender.

Q.—General, I want to ask you this: When the Red Chinese came in in force in late October, early November, I do not recall the exact time, was not that a very definite danger, actual disaster almost, to our troops? A.—It threatened to be.

Q.—It threatened to be so. A.—Threatened to be disastrous in its results.

Q.—Now then, if the Red Chinese should get an Air Force themselves and come with air, would we be any more justified in going over the boundary line and destroying their lines of communication, breaking up their military formations, than we would have been to have taken that same action after they came over in November in large forces? A.—Senator George—

Q.—I am assuming that the Red Chinese do it, not the Soviets; I am not speaking of someone else.

A.—I know. * * * (three and a half lines deleted.) Up to the present time, the reaction so far as our troops are concerned on the ground, has been that they have not suffered in a direct way and have not suffered seriously in an indirect way, from the fact that these air bases exist in Manchuria and that we have not bombed them out of commission.

There was a brief period there when this Communist movement into Korea was under way when their air activity threatened to be serious. Its most serious effect was not the destruction it did at that time, but it was having its decided effect on the morale of our aviators who could not strike back because of the immediate retirement of these fast planes behind the Yalu River.

But no material harm was being done to our armies on the ground, none to our ships whatsoever, and to our stores and our communications; so we did not have a demanding action there where we had no choice in the matter. We may have no choice, as I say, tomorrow, * * * (two and one-half lines deleted.)

However, there has been a choice up to that moment—up to this moment—as to whether or not we engage in these other measures, and that choice has been very materially influenced by the large majority of our allies in the United Nations, and that is a very important factor.

Q.—I do not question the importance of it. I am not so sure that it should be absolutely controlling on us when the lives of our own troops are at stake. A.—* * * (Six lines deleted.)

Q.—Yes, sir, I understand. Now, I am getting to this, General, in the face of your very strong admonition that we should not do anything, and very properly, very proper admonition, to destroy the morale of our troops, that no one should do it.

I am not speaking only of General MacArthur, and I am not reciting it for the purpose of affecting the morale of our troops, I assure you; but nevertheless, we went into Korea, did we not, about the twenty-seventh of June, 1950?

A.—I think about that date.

Q.—About that date. A.—The invasion was the twenty-fifth.

Q.—And up to now our casualties are what, General? A.—I think 10,000 killed.

Q.—Are there not more than that, General? A.—I beg pardon?

Q.—More than that, is it not? A.—No, I think it is 10,000 killed at the present time; and missing and wounded, 50,000.

Q.—Missing and wounded, 50,000? A.—I think that is right.

Q.—Well, I am speaking of combat casualties. A.—That is what I am talking about, combat casualties.

Q.—And it includes prisoners of war and missing in action, and the wounded as well as the dead, and I am assuming that General MacArthur's statement to us must have been in the neighborhood of being correct, when he said when he left Korea that our casualties had reached 65,000. I do not mean reported casualties, I mean casualties. A.—Well, that would be a difference in what I have said of 5,000.

Q.—Yes, sir. A.—And I will have the figures as they are correctly up to date, tomorrow morning.

Q.—Whatever it is, it is considerable. Now, those casualties have been accumulated since June or the first of July, practically, of 1950. Now, going on another ten months, or any "X" months, certainly means that a continued build-up of casualties would result, in the American forces or the United Nations forces, would it not? A.—Yes, sir; but—.

Q.—That is unavoidable, of course. A.—May I finish the answer?

Q.—Yes, sir.

A.—But if matters go on, as they have in the past two or three months, the percentage would not apply, because they are going on at a greatly reduced rate.

What occurred in July and August mounted up the casualties very high on account of missing, who are counted as casualties, and they were cut off here and there in very large numbers, and the casualties during the fall were heavy for us to endure.

The casualties, fortunately, beginning in about the first of February, have been greatly reduced, and we have reasonable hope that they will continue at that greatly reduced rate. So, if you say since, from July to the present date, they have been 60,000 or 65,000, I do not think you would be justified in taking the same proportion.

Q.—Well, that may be true, and I certainly hope it is. A.—Well, that has a great bearing on what we endure, what we can undertake and what we can maintain.

Q.—And at the same time, they might be in greater proportion. A.—That is always possible.

Q.—That is always one of the military possibilities. When we speak about assuming risks, that is involved. A.—That is involved, but also the type of campaign is involved very decidedly.

Q.—Type of campaign, yes, sir. A.—And we are trying to conduct it on the basis of not paying.

Q.—What I am trying to get at, General, is this: Without regard to the use of any of the Generalissimo's troops down on Formosa, and wholly aside from the question of whether they are going to—the wraps are going to be taken off there and leave them free to infiltrate as they may the mainland of China, as a matter of sound military strategy, of common sense, as a non-military man, such as I am, must exercise, if the commander in the field knows his troops are being cut down through a period, and if he believes that through the use of his air power he can prevent these build-ups across a boundary line, whether a river or imaginary line, and interrupt their supplies—do you see that there is anything other that he can do except that of recommending that course of action, and insist upon it to his superior officers, if he believes that thereby he can shorten the war, terminate it or shorten it, certainly?

A.—Well, that is a perfectly proper recommendation from any military commander.

Q.—Yes. Now then, as to whether or not Soviet Russia would come in, do you not think it likely that if Soviet Russia is going to directly intervene or indirectly intervene by furnishing planes and more implements of war, that she had already made that decision in any event?

A.—That has been the view of some of our officials. It is a question almost of guesswork. And also there is this factor to be considered: A certain incident developes issues that go beyond the control of the Government itself—becomes committed. An example of that is that the Soviets and the Japanese fought actions in Manchuria that involved, I think, three or four divisions. That was not even considered a war and was, practically—I don't suppose it was reported to the people of either country, certainly not to the Soviet people at all.

Now, with us it is a little different, even if it is a squad involved, the whole country takes issues with that matter, and the demand to do something becomes almost imperative. So that is some of the fear we have had in connection with this thing, this situation. And when it comes to just how the Soviets will act, that's guesswork.

Whether Russia's Course Has Already Been Fixed

Q.—Of course, I agree it is entirely speculative, General. But what I am trying to ask of you is this: That if the probabilities, and strong probabilities, are that whatever decision Soviet Russia finally follows has already been made in Korea, is there not sound reason in saying that our Air Force should be used to prevent military build-ups aimed at our own troops across the northern boundary line of Korea. A.—Senator, that is generally a hypothetical question, and there are——

Q.—It is pretty real. A.—I beg pardon?

Q.—It is pretty real in Korea, if there are only 65,000 dead, wounded and missing. A.—I will say in regard to that, the casualties, the casualty list is just as tragic to those responsible for the operations—

Q.—That is correct.

A.—As they are to anybody else, and when we have to see them every day and check them every day, that is the first question we ask. It is a very agonizing business.

But you are surrounding your question with factors that make it too hypothetical to get a concrete answer. I have said before, and I repeat again, * * * (eleven and one-half lines deleted) that we do not feel up to the present time that the action against the supply bases materially affects the campaign to a degree that makes it advisable to accept the hazards of what occurs next.

Now, as to basing our action on what we think is the Soviet procedure in the direction of their affairs, I don't think we can very well do that because it is speculative.

Q.—I agree with you, General, but— A.—It is what has been our critical complication from the very start.

Use of Berlin Airlift Described as 'Realistic'

Q.—I agree with, and don't you also agree that nations have fallen in many wars in an unrealistic effort to talk around them?

A.—I imagine, I don't think offhand of the various occasions, but certainly they have occurred. But you could have had a lack of realistic appreciation of what was happening in connection with our Berlin blockade before we got it established. Others thought we should go right in and smash our way through. We were not being realistic. That word was used in the criticism of what we were aiming to do. I think we were realistic, and I think we avoided a tragic consequence.

Q.—I have no word of criticism to offer on that point. A.—I am talking about the realistic approach, Senator.

Q.—Yes. A.—And you have referred to my being a soldier, which I was. But every reaction of a soldier is to hit back, counter immediately and destroy the enemy, all the enemy's possibilities for a build-up of his strength and execution of his plans. But here is a case where we have a great many other factors we have to consider, and I think they are very important considerations.

Q.—I grant you that, General. I am not overlooking or leaving out of mind the other factors — our allies, their viewpoints, and all of that. But I am speaking of the Korean thing directly and almost only at this moment.

I think you would agree, would you not, that it is pretty hard to win the purely defensive war in a narrow area like the Korean peninsula, particularly if your enemy may immunize himself from your shot by merely going across the river and there rebuilding his forces?

A.—I would answer that reference to past history, by saying it is very difficult to win on a defensive basis. It is very reckless when you are under strength to plunge in on an aggressive offensive procedure. There have been some notable defensive campaigns in history which have ended in an offensive and decisive action.

I will say notably one was the peninsula campaign under Wellington. He endured for quite a period of time. His campaign was measured in years, largely, almost entirely for long periods on the defensive. Of course, Terres Vedra's lines are famous in history. In the end he really played a leading part in the complete upset of the Napoleonic regime. He had to start on a defensive basis, he had no other choice. We have had to start on a defensive basis because we have really no other choice.

However, we are discussing one phase where we have a choice, which is the use of our air power and our naval power. And I think in regard to them I am just repeating myself time and again on the same issue.

Q.—Yes, I understand. I don't care to occasion that, General. I have no further questions, and I thank you very much.

THE CHAIRMAN—In view of the time, I assume we had best recess here now. And if there is no objection we will stand in recess until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

(Whereupon at 1:10 o'clock P. M., the committee adjourned, to reconvene at 10 o'clock A. M. [E. D. T.], Wednesday, May 9, 1951.)

NIGHT LEAD MACARTHUR-MARSHALL

BY DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, MAY 8-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL GRAVELY WARNED TODAY THAT RUSSIA MAY ENTER THE KOREAN WAR WITHOUT NOTICE BUT HE DECLARED THIS THREAT WOULD BE FAR GREATER IF THE NATION FOLLOWS THE WAR PLANS PROPOSED BY GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

FOR THE SECOND DAY, THE 70-YEAR-OLD SECRETARY URGED THAT THIS COUNTRY NOT TAKE THE ADDED RISK OF OPEN CONFLICT WITH RUSSIA BY STEPPING UP THE WAR AGAINST CHINA.

HE SAID THE SOVIETS HAVE MASSED STRONG GROUND AND AIR FORCES IN THE FAR EAST AND THEIR ENTRY INTO THE KOREAN STRUGGLE WOULD "BE A VERY SERIOUS THING."

WITH THIS WARNING, MARSHALL SHARPLY TOOK ISSUE WITH MACARTHUR WHO TESTIFIED LAST WEEK HE DID NOT BELIEVE THE BOMBING OF CHINA WOULD DRAW THE RUSSIANS INTO THE CONFLICT--OR THAT THE RUSSIANS COULD WAGE MUCH OF A WAR IN THE FAR EAST.

AT THE SAME TIME, MARSHALL VOICED CONCERN THAT MACARTHUR'S REMARKS ABOUT THOUSANDS OF CASUALTIES IN A BLOODY KOREAN "STALEMATE" MAY SERIOUSLY DAMAGE THE MORALE OF THE UNITED NATIONS' COMBAT TROOPS.

HE TOLD THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES--LOOKING INTO THE CAUSES OF THE MACARTHUR OUSTER--THAT THERE IS THE "VERY REAL POSSIBILITY" OF RUSSIA'S ENTRY INTO THE KOREAN WAR.

"LIKE ALL OTHER MATTERS PERTAINING TO THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT," HE SAID, "THE DECISION IS OF A FEW MEN AND CAN BE AN INSTANT DECISION WHENEVER THEY CHOOSE TO MAKE IT.

HE CONCEDED, ALSO, THAT U.S. POLICY OF BUILDING UP DEFENSES IN EUROPE MAY PROVOKE A WAR WITH RUSSIA. BUT HE INSISTED THE RISK MUST BE TAKEN BECAUSE THIS COUNTRY HAS "NO CHOICE WHATEVER THERE."

MARSHALL DECLARED ADMINISTRATION POLICY IN ASIA MAY SEEM COSTLY AND A STALEMATE IN KOREA MAY APPEAR THE ONLY END. BUT HE ADDED THE COST CANNOT BE COMPARED AT ALL "TO WHAT HAPPENS IF WE GET INVOLVED IN WHAT YOU MIGHT CALL AN ATOMIC WAR."

MACARTHUR HAS CHALLENGED THE ADMINISTRATION POLICY AND CALLED STRONGER MEASURES AGAINST THE RED CHINESE--BOMBING, A BLOCKADE AND THE USE OF CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS. HE EXPRESSED FIRM BELIEF THIS COULD BRING A QUICK END TO THE KOREAN CONFLICT.

A17WX

BUT MARSHALL PICTURED KOREA AS ONLY PART OF A WORLD STRUGGLE WITH COMMUNISM. HE SAID:

"THERE CAN BE, I THINK, NO QUICK AND DECISIVE SOLUTION TO THIS GLOBAL STRUGGLE SHORT OF RESORTING TO ANOTHER WORLD WAR. THE COST OF SUCH A CONFLICT IS BEYOND CALCULATION.

"IT IS, THEREFORE, OUR POLICY TO CONTAIN COMMUNIST AGGRESSION IN DIFFERENT FASHIONS IN DIFFERENT AREAS WITHOUT RESORTING TO TOTAL WAR, IF THAT BE POSSIBLE TO AVOID. X X X

"KOREA IS ONLY THE LATEST CHALLENGER IN THIS LONG, HARD, CONTINUING WORLD-WIDE STRUGGLE."

MARSHALL CONTENDED THE BEST WAY TO WIN THE KOREAN WAR IS TO SHATTER THE MORALE OF CHINESE RED ARMIES WITH "TERRIFIC CASUALTIES" ON THE BATTLEFIELD.

WITHOUT MENTIONING MACARTHUR BY NAME, MARSHALL SAID THE DEPOSED GENERAL HAD IN EFFECT CALLED U.N. CASUALTIES IN KOREA "WITHOUT JUSTIFIED PURPOSE."

THE SECRETARY PLEADED FOR A PROCEDURE IN THE ASIA POLICY HEARING BY THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES "THAT DOES NOT DESTROY US IN THE FIELD BY SERIOUS REACTION IN THE WAY OF MORALE."

MARSHALL SAID YESTERDAY HE DID NOT THINK THE MACARTHUR PROGRAM WOULD BRING VICTORY. AND HE ARGUED TODAY: "THE FEELING HAS BEEN THAT AN EXTENSION OF THE PRESENT WAR, UNDER THE TERMS PROPOSED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR, WOULD NOT ONLY HAZARD THE DEVELOPMENT OF A VERY MUCH ENLARGED AND PROBABLY A WORLD WAR, BUT WOULD NOT LEAD TO A QUICK DECISION."

AS DID MACARTHUR, MARSHALL TESTIFIED BEHIND CLOSED DOORS AND A CENSORED VERSION OF HIS REMARKS WAS MADE PUBLIC.

MACARTHUR, WHOSE DISAGREEMENT WITH U.S. ASIA POLICY LED TO HIS DISMISSAL, CONTENDED THE PRESENT COURSE IN KOREA CAN LEAD ONLY TO A "BLOODY STALEMATE" COSTING THOUSANDS OF AMERICAN LIVES.

MARSHALL REPLIED TO THIS ARGUMENT BY SAYING THE BERLIN BLOCKADE WHICH LASTED FOR 15 MONTHS APPEARED TO BE A STALEMATE AND SOME PEOPLE WERE WILLING TO RISK WAR AT THAT TIME BY SMASHING THROUGH THE BLOCKADE.

"THERE WERE TIMES," HE SAID, "WHEN THE FIGHT FOR BERLIN ALSO LOOKED LIKE A STALEMATE, BUT WE KEPT OUR HEADS AND PRESEVERED AND IN THE END WON A NOTABLE VICTORY." ARSHALL WAS SECRETARY OF STATE DURING THIS PERIOD.

HE ALSO RECALLED THERE WERE THOSE WHO WERE IMPATIENT OVER U.S. POLICY IN GREECE AND CALLED IT A "HOPELESS ADVENTURE"--A WASTE OF MILITARY AND ECONOMIC AID.

"IT IS TRUE THAT OUR RESCUE OF GREECE (FROM THE COMMUNISTS) WAS COSTLY IN COMPARISON TO THE STAKES INVOLVED," HE ADDED. "BUT IT PAID OFF X X X."

HE SAID HE BELIEVED YUGOSLAVIA WOULD NOT HAVE BROKEN WITH THE KREMLIN HAD THE COMMUNISTS BEEN ABLE TO DOMINATE GREECE.

A18WX

MARSHALL DISCLOSED THAT THE SOVIETS ARE BUILDING UP RED CHINA'S AIR POWER (AT THIS POINT THE CENSOR DELETED 15 WORDS OF TESTIMONY).

HE SAID IF RED CHINA IS ATTACKED BY AIR, THERE PROBABLY WOULD BE RETALIATION AND THE ALLIED LOSSES WOULD BE GREATER THAN THEY ARE NOW.

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL (D-GA) OF THE ARMED SERVICES GROUP ASKED WHAT THE EFFECT WOULD BE IF THE BOMBING OF CHINA PROVOKED THE SOVIET TO INTERVENE.

MARSHALL REPLIED: "WELL, OF COURSE THAT WOULD IMMEDIATELY INVOLVE THE DEFENSE OF JAPAN, HOKKAIDO IN PARTICULAR, ATTACKS ON OUR AIR ALL OVER JAPAN, ALL OVER KOREA, AT THE BASES, PROBABLY OKINAWA, AND WE COULDN'T ACCEPT THAT WITHOUT THE MAXIMUM RETALIATION ON OUR PART, WHICH INEVITABLY MEANS A WORLD WAR, WHICH MEANS UNLIMITED LOSSES FOR A CONSIDERABLE PERIOD OF TIME."

HE SAID IN HIS BELIEF SUCH A WAR WOULD NOT BE LIMITED TO THE FAR EAST BUT WOULD SPREAD THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. HE DECLARED THESE STATEMENTS REFLECTED THE VIEWS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF WHO MACARTHUR HAS SAID WERE IN ACCORD WITH HIS WAR PLANS.

MARSHALL DECLARED A WITHDRAWAL BY THE ALLIES FROM KOREA WOULD HAVE "A TRAGIC CONSEQUENCE" ON THE OTHER ASIATIC NATIONS IN THEIR FIGHT AGAINST COMMUNIST FORCES.

REFERRING TO THE MACARTHUR STATEMENTS ABOUT WAR CASUALTIES BEING "TOO COSTLY," MARSHALL SAID:

"I AM DISTURBED AND I SHOULD THINK YOU WOULD BE DISTURBED AT THE EFFECT THAT WILL SWEEP THROUGH THAT FORCE OF A SITUATION IN WHICH THEIR COMMANDER HAD STATED HIS VIEWS THE CASUALTIES THAT THEY WERE SUFFERING AND IN EFFECT THAT IT IS WITHOUT JUSTIFIED PURPOSE.

THE ADMINISTRATION PLAN, THE SECRETARY SAID, IS TO "INFLICT THE GREATEST NUMBER OF CASUALTIES WE COULD IN ORDER TO BREAK DOWN NOT ONLY THE MORALE, BUT THE TRAINED FABRIC OF THE CHINESE ARMIES."

MAY 9 1951

AND THEN HE WENT ON:

"IF WE BREAK THE MORALE OF THEIR ARMIES, BUT MORE PARTICULARLY, IF WE DESTROY THEIR BEST TRAINED ARMIES AS WE HAVE BEEN IN THE PROCESS OF DOING, THERE, IT SEEMS TO ME, YOU DEVELOP THE BEST PROBABILITY OF REACHING A SATISFACTORY NEGOTIATORY BASIS WITH THOSE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCES, WITHOUT GETTING OURSELVES INTO WHAT WE THINK WOULD BE A GREAT HAZARD TOWARD DEVELOPING A MUCH ENLARGED STRUGGLE WITH CONSEQUENTLY LARGER CASUALTIES OR A COMPLETE WORLD WAR."

THE ADMINISTRATION WAR PLAN IS BASED ON THE THEORY THAT IF ALLIED FORCES CAN KILL ENOUGH CHINESE IN KOREA--THE CHINESE RED LEADERS WILL BE FORCED TO SUE FOR A SETTLEMENT OF THE WAR.

EARLIER, HE TESTIFIED THAT U.N. TROOPS IN KOREA ARE BARRED FROM GOING WITHIN 15 MILES OF THE RUSSIAN BORDER IN NORTHEAST KOREA--AND THAT MACARTHUR HAD BEEN ORDERED "UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES" TO CARRY OUT OPERATIONS BEYOND THE BORDER OF KOREA INTO MANCHURIA.

MACARTHUR HAS PROTESTED THAT THIS BAN PREVENTED HIM FROM STRIKING AT RED BASES AND SUPPLY LINES IN MANCHURIA TO PREVENT THE FLOW OF ENEMY TROOPS INTO KOREA.

APPARENTLY THE U.N. FORCES STILL ARE FIGHTING UNDER THESE SAME RESTRICTIONS UNDER THE COMMAND OF LT.GEN.MATTHEW B.RIDGWAY, WHO SUCCEEDED MACARTHUR IN ALL HIS COMMANDS.

MAY 9 1951

HOWEVER, MARSHALL DECLARED THE EARLY RESTRICTIONS ON MACARTHUR HAD BEEN MODIFIED TO PERMIT HIM TO STRIKE BACK AT RED BASES IF THE ALLIED FORCES WERE ATTACKED OUTSIDE KOREA.

QUESTIONED BY RUSSELL, THE SECRETARY EXPLAINED THE RESTRICTIONS "RELATED DIRECTLY" TO THE VIEWS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF AND HAD BEEN DISCUSSED BY THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL. THIS IS A TOP-LEVEL BOARD ON WHICH THE PRESIDENT, MARSHALL, SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON AND OTHER HIGH OFFICIALS SIT.

MARSHALL SAID OF THE RESTRICTIONS: "THERE WAS AN INTERMINGLING THERE OF POLITICAL NECESSITIES ALONG WITH MILITARY DIRECTIONS."

HE SAID THE COUNCIL FELT THESE LIMITATIONS WERE NECESSARY "IN ORDER TO AVOID A BREAK WITH OUR ALLIES AND A COMPLETE CONFUSION IN OUR RELATIONS TO THE UNITED NATIONS X X X."

AND HE ADDED THIS 15-MILE SAFETY BELT WAS NECESSARY TO AVOID ANY POSSIBLE RETALIATION FROM A HEAVY FORCE WHICH MIGHT BE DEVELOPED ON THE COMMUNIST SIDE OF THE KOREAN FRONTIER.

MACARTHUR HAD ARGUED THAT THE RUSSIANS' WAR POTENTIAL IN ASIA WAS NOT VERY GREAT BECAUSE OF THE DIFFICULTY OF SUPPLYING A LARGE FORCE OVER THE LONG TRANS-SIBERIAN RAILROAD.

BUT MARSHALL SAID RUSSIA'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR "WOULD BE A VERY SERIOUS MATTER." HE ADDED THE SOVIETS HAVE "A CONSIDERABLE FORCE" IN THE VICINITY OF VLADIVOSTOK, DAIREN-PORT ARTHUR, AND HARBIN.

MACARTHUR TESTIFIED LAST WEEK RUSSIA HAS LAND AND NAVAL PLANES IN THE AREA BUT CENSORS DELETED THE NUMBERS. OTHER SOURCES SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THE GENERAL ESTIMATED THERE WERE SOME 1000 SOVIET LAND PLANES AND FROM 200 TO 300 NAVAL PLANES INCLUDING MODERN TYPE JETS.

MARSHALL HIGHLIGHTS

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-FOLLOWING ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS OF DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL'S INTERROGATION BEFORE THE SENATE'S ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES TODAY. SOME OF THE TESTIMONY HAS BEEN CENSORED ON GROUNDS OF NATIONAL SECURITY.

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL (D-GA): GENERAL, I WANT YOU TO TELL US FOR THE RECORD JUST WHAT RESTRICTIONS WERE PLACED UPON THE SCOPE OF MILITARY OPERATIONS IN KOREA AND WHERE THOSE RESTRICTIONS ORIGINATED.

SECRETARY MARSHALL: THE RESTRICTIONS IMPOSED ON GEN.MACARTHUR XXX WERE IN GENERAL TO CONFINE THE OPERATIONS TO KOREA, AND UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES TO CARRY OUT OPERATIONS BEYOND THE BORDER OF KOREA INTO MANCHURIA. HE WAS ALSO CAUTIONED AGAINST HAVING UNITS WITHIN, I THINK IT WAS, ABOUT 15 MILES OF THE BORDER IN NORTHEAST KOREA WHERE IT TOUCHED THE PERMIETER OF SIBERIA XXX. THERE WAS A MODIFICATION IN THOSE RESTRICTIONS IN THE EVENT THAT OUR FORCES WERE ATTACKED OUTSIDE OF KOREA, TO THE EFFECT THAT HE WAS AUTHORIZED TO RETALIATE IN BOMBING AGAINST SUCH OPERATIONS. XXX THERE WAS AN AGREEMENT THAT NOT ONLY WERE THESE RESTRICTIONS NECESSARY IN ORDER TO AVOID A BREAK WITH OUR ALLIES AND A COMPLETE CONFUSION OF OUR RELATIONS TO THE UNITED NATIONS XXX BUT THEY ALSO FELT IT WOULD BE NECESSARY TO REGARD THE RETALIATION THAT COULD BE CARRIED OUT BY A HEAVY FORCE IF THEY DEVELOPED ON THE COMMUNIST SIDE.

RUSSELL: WHAT IS YOUR OPINION, MR.SECRETARY, AS TO THE POTENTIAL POWER OF RETALIATION AVAILABLE TO THE SOVIET IN THE KOREAN WAR?

MARSHALL: FROM THE INFORMATION ESTIMATES THAT I HAVE SEEN, IT WOULD BE A VERY SERIOUS MATTER.

RUSSELL: YESTERDAY, GENERAL, I ASKED YOU AS TO WHEN THERE WAS A FORESEEABLE END TO THE KOREAN WAR UNDER THE PRESENT POLICIES OF THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT.

MARSHALL: (LAUNCHING INTO A DISCUSSION OF SPECIAL SECURITY FACTORS WHICH HE SAID MAKE AN ANSWER DIFFICULT) WE HAVE TO DO ALWAYS ALL IN OUR POWER NOT ONLY TO MAINTAIN BUT TO BUILD UP THE FIGHTING MORALE OF OUR FORCES. XXX THEY HAVE MADE A MAGNIFICENT RESPONSE AND I WAS TOLD ONLY THIS MORNING THE LAST REPORTS INDICATED A VERY HIGH MORALE, WHICH IS THE MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR, HOWEVER YOU APPROACH IT, IN BRINGING THE OPERATION TO A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION. XXX WE SHOULD FIND SOME WAY OF PROCEEDING WITH THIS INVESTIGATION THAT DOES NOT DESTROY US IN THE FIELD BY SERIOUS REACTION IN THE WAY OF MORALE.

A219WX

MARSHALL (STILL ANSWERING THE SAME GENERAL QUESTION): FOR THE LAST FIVE YEARS OUR SUPREME POLICY HAS BEEN TO CURB COMMUNIST AGGRESSION, AND, IF POSSIBLE, TO AVOID ANOTHER WORLD WAR IN DOING SO.

THE STRUGGLE BETWEEN THE DEMOCRACIES XXX AND THE COMMUNIST POWERS IS A CONTINUING ONE. IT HAS ALREADY LASTED OVER FIVE YEARS, AND IT MAY LAST MUCH LONGER.

THERE CAN BE, I THINK, NO QUICK AND DECISIVE SOLUTION TO THIS GLOBAL STRUGGLE SHORT OF RESORTING TO ANOTHER WORLD WAR.

WE HAVE SPURNED APPEASEMENT; WE HAVE BROUGHT TO BEAR WHATEVER HAS BEEN NECESSARY, IN MONEY AND MANPOWER, TO CURB THE AGGRESSOR XXX

RUSSELL: XXX I SHOULD LIKE TO ASK YOU TO SUMMARIZE, IF YOU WILL, AS YOU SEE IT, THE ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF THE THREE POSSIBLE AVENUES OPEN TO US: FIRST, AS TO THE EXTENSION OF THE WAR.

MARSHALL: I THINK THE EXTENSION OF THE CONFLICT WOULD NOT BE PROFITABLE. I DON'T QUITE SEE HOW IT COULD BRING US TO A QUICK AND WHAT YOU MIGHT CALL A VICTORIOUS CONCLUSION XXX THEREFORE, THE FEELING HAS BEEN THAT AN EXTENSION OF THE PRESENT WAR, UNDER THE TERMS PROPOSED BY GEN.MACARTHUR, WOULD NOT ONLY HAZARD THE DEVELOPMENT OF A VERY MUCH ENLARGED AND PROBABLY A WORLD WAR, BUT WOULD NOT LEAD TO A QUICK DECISION.

RUSSELL: TO YOU THINK THAT THAT POSSIBILITY IS REMOTE OR THAT IT IS VERY REAL--THAT THE SOVIET MIGHT INTERVENE?

MARSHALL: I THINK IT IS A VERY REAL POSSIBILITY XXX AND CAN BE AN INSTANT DECISION XXX

RUSSELL: CAN YOU STATE FOR THE RECORD WHAT WOULD BE LIKELY TO OCCUR IF THE SOVIET INTERVENED?

MARSHALL: WELL, OF COURSE, THAT WOULD IMMEDIATELY INVOLVE THE DEFENSE OF JAPAN XXX, ATTACKS ON OUR AIR ALL OVER JAPAN, ALL OVER KOREA, AT THE BASES, PROBABLY OKINAWA, AND WE COULDN'T ACCEPT THAT WITHOUT THE MAXIMUM RETALIATION ON OUR PART WHICH INEVITABLY MEANS A WORLD WAR XXX

RUSSELL: WHAT WOULD BE THE EFFECT ON OUR WORLD POSTURE OF MILITARY STRENGTH TO OPPOSE COMMUNISM IF WE WITHDRAW FROM THE KOREAN PENINSULA IMMEDIATELY?

MARSHALL: I FEEL THAT WOULD HAVE A TRAGIC CONSEQUENCE IN RELATION TO COMMUNIST EFFORTS IN THE FAR EAST XXX

A220WX

SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH): MR.SECRETARY, YOU SPOKE YESTERDAY OF YOUR CONCURRENCE IN THE RECALL OF GEN.MACARTHUR. WOULD YOU APPROVE OF THE METHOD BY WHICH IT WAS DONE?

MARSHALL: I EXPLAINED THAT AS FRANKLY AS I COULD YESTERDAY. XXX I DO RECALL THAT THERE WAS A SPECIFIC DISCUSSION AS TO WHETHER OR NOT IT WOULD BE DESIREABLE TO RETAIN GEN.MACARTHUR IN HIS ROLE IN RELATION TO JAPAN ONLY, PARTICULARLY HIS RELATIONS TO THE JAPANESE TREATY, AND TURN OVER TO RIDGWAY THE CONDUCT OF THE CAMPAIGN IN KOREA.

BRIDGES: DO YOU THINK RUSSIA HAS THE ATOMIC BOMB?

MARSHALL: SENATOR, I KNOW LITTLE BEYOND WHAT HAS LARGELY BEEN IN THE PRESS IN CONNECTION WITH IT. I ASSUME THEY HAVE.

BRIDGES: GENERAL, AS A FORMER GENERAL OF THE ARMY AND AS A FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE, WERE YOU CONSULTED ON THE DECISION TO ENTER THE KOREAN WAR?

MARSHALL: NO, SIR.

BRIDGES: GENERAL MARSHALL, YOU COMMENTED YESTERDAY ABOUT GEN. MACARTHUR ANSWERING THE LETTER OF CONGRESSMAN JOSEPH MARTIN. DON'T YOU BELIEVE THAT IF A UNITED STATES SENATOR OR A CONGRESSMAN OF THE UNITED STATES WRITES A LETTER TO A MILITARY POLICY-MAKING MAN IN AUTHORITY, WHETHER IT IS HERE OR IN SOME AREA OF THE WORLD, THAT HE IS ENTITLED TO GET A FRANK REPLY?

MARSHALL: NO, SIR, I DON'T THINK FROM THE SENIOR COMMANDER WHEN HE KNOWS HE IS ADVOCATING SOMETHING TO THE LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION PARTY TO THE ADMINISTRATION THAT HE AS THE COMMANDER IS IN TOTAL DISAGREEMENT WITH HIS OWN PEOPLE. THAT SETS UP A CHAIN OF EVENTS IN THIS TRAGIC STATE THAT WE HAVE ARRIVED AT HERE, WHICH IS A MOST UNFORTUNATE THING FOR EVERYBODY CONCERNED.

MARSHALL (ENLARGING ON AN ANSWER TO A QUESTION BY BRIDGES): YOU PREACH LOYALTY ALL THE TIME. YOU ARE DEALING WITH AN ORGANIZATION (THE ARMY) WHERE A MAN RECEIVES AN ORDER FROM EVEN A CAPTAIN WHICH LEADS TO HIS DEATH OR HIS WOUND, AND HE HAS TO OBEY THAT ORDER. HE DOESN'T ABATE IT, HE OBEYS IT. X X X NOW, IF THE EXAMPLE AT THE TOP IS CONTRARY TO THAT, THEN YOU HAVE GOT A VERY SERIOUS SITUATION.

BRIDGES: IS IT NOT A FACT THAT WHEN THERE HAS BEEN, GENERALLY SPEAKING, A DIVISION BETWEEN THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT AND THE CHIEFS OF STAFF X X X AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT, WHICH ADVOCATED OR STOOD FOR MORE PACIFYING METHODS, IF THAT IS A FAIR WORD TO USE, TOWARDS THE FAR EASTERN SITUATION, HAS NOT THE PRESIDENT GENERALLY SIDED WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT VIEWS?

MARSHALL: X X X I CAN RECALL NO OCCASION WHERE MR.TRUMAN HAS ACTED ADVERSELY TO THE CHIEFS OF STAFF AND THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE, IN RELATION TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

BRIDGES: GENERAL, IS IT, IN YOUR OPINION, THE AIM OF THE SOVIET, SOVIET RUSSIA, OR THE KREMLIN, TO DESTROY OR TAKE OVER THE FREE WORLD?

MARSHALL: I THINK THEIR PURPOSE IS TO DOMINATE THE WHOLE FREE WORLD.

BRIDGES: NOW, GENERAL, SUPPOSING THAT THE WORST SHOULD HAPPEN AND THAT RUSSIA SHOULD OVERRIDE EUROPE X X X WOULD IN YOUR JUDGMENT RUSSIA THEN BE ABLE TO THREATEN THE SECURITY OF THE UNITED STATES?

MARSHALL: I THINK VERY CLEARLY THEY COULD DO SO. THAT WOULD BE A TERRIFIC LOSS TO US.

A58WX

BRIDGES: AT THE PRESENT TIME DO WE HAVE ENOUGH STRENGTH IN EUROPE TO PREVENT THAT?

MARSHALL: NOT AT THE PRESENT TIME. WE HAVE ENOUGH TO START THEM TO THINK BEFORE THEY LEAP, AND OF COURSE WE HAVE AN ATOMIC ADVANTAGE THAT THEY ARE AWARE OF.

SENATOR GEORGE (D-GA): IF YOU WERE ASSURED THAT SOVIET RUSSIA WOULD NOT COME INTO THE ACTION IN KOREA X X X, WOULD YOU BE DISPOSED TO FAVOR THE RECOMMENDATION MADE BY GEN.MACARTHUR IN THE HOPE THAT IT MIGHT BRING A SPEEDY DETERMINATION OF THE WAR IN KOREA?

MARSHALL: ONCE THE CHINESE COMMUNIST TROOPS HAD APPEARED IN FORCE IN MANCHURIA, AND IF, FROM A HYPOTHETICAL POINT OF VIEW, THERE WAS NO DANGER WHATEVER OF A SOVIET INTERVENTION, I WOULD SAY THAT CERTAINLY THE BOMBING (BEYOND KOREAN BOUNDARIES) YOU MENTION WOULD START ALMOST IMMEDIATELY.

(400) MACARTHUR DISMISSAL

BY G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON, MAY 8-(AP)-WHY AND HOW DOES A PRESIDENT FIRE A FIVE-STAR GENERAL LEADING UNITED NATIONS FORCES IN A WAR 10,000 MILES AWAY?

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL GAVE INVESTIGATING SENATORS THE FIRST AUTHORITATIVE ACCOUNT YESTERDAY OF EVENTS WHICH HE SAID LED TO THE FIRING OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR ON APRIL 11 FROM HIS FAR EAST COMMANDS AND JUST NOW IT WAS DONE. (MACARTHUR TESTIFIED LAST WEEK HE DID NOT KNOW WHY HE WAS DISMISSED.)

THIS WAS THE GIST OF MARSHALL'S SUMMARY:

MARCH 20--THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF ADVISED MACARTHUR THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN WOULD PROPOSE NEW DIPLOMATIC EFFORTS TO END THE WAR IN KOREA BEFORE ANY MAJOR NORTHWARD DRIVE ACROSS THE 38TH PARALLEL BY U.N. FORCES. THEY REQUESTED THE GENERAL'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

MARCH 21--MACARTHUR REPLIED HIS ORDERS WERE ADEQUATE AND REQUESTED THAT "NO FURTHER LIMITATIONS BE IMPOSED UPON HIM IN THE CONDUCT OF HIS OPERATIONS IN KOREA."

MARCH 24--MACARTHUR, WITHOUT CONSULTING WASHINGTON ABOUT IT, PUBLICLY INVITED TRUCE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE COMMUNIST COMMANDER, JUST AS MR. TRUMAN WAS ABOUT TO CLEAR WITH THE OTHER U.N. ALLIES IN KOREA HIS OWN END-THE-WAR PROPOSALS.

"IN VIEW OF THE SERIOUS IMPACT OF GENERAL MACARTHUR'S STATEMENT ON THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THESE NATIONS," MARSHALL SAID, "IT BECAME NECESSARY TO ABANDON THE EFFORT, THUS LOSING WHATEVER CHANCE THERE MAY HAVE BEEN AT THAT TIME TO NEGOTIATE A SETTLEMENT OF THE KOREAN CONFLICT."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN PROMPTLY ORDERED THE JOINT CHIEFS TO "CALL GENERAL MACARTHUR'S ATTENTION" TO A DEC. 6 PRESIDENTIAL ORDER FORBIDDING SUCH STATEMENTS WITHOUT FIRST CLEARING THEM WITH WASHINGTON.

"SHORTLY AFTERWARD"--REP. JOSEPH MARTIN (R-MASS) MADE PUBLIC A MARCH 20 LETTER FROM MACARTHUR ON "QUESTIONS OF WHETHER TO CARRY THE WAR TO CHINA, WHETHER TO USE THE NATIONALIST CHINESE FORCES ON FORMOSA AND WHETHER TO APPLY OUR MAXIMUM STRENGTH IN ASIA OR IN EUROPE."

THE LETTER "HAD NOT BEEN CLEARED" AS ORDERED IN THE DEC. 6 DIRECTIVE.
APRIL 7--PRESIDENT TRUMAN ORDERED MARSHALL TO GET THE JOINT CHIEFS' VIEWS ABOUT FIRING MACARTHUR.
APRIL 8--THE CHIEFS, HEADED BY GEN. OMAR N. BRADLEY, AND MARSHALL MADE THEIR RECOMMENDATIONS, "BASED ON PURELY MILITARY CONSIDERATIONS"--TO FIRE HIM.
APRIL 9--MR. TRUMAN RECEIVED THE RECOMMENDATIONS AND "WITH THE UNANIMOUS CONCURRENCE OF ALL THOSE PRESENT AT THAT TIME, MADE HIS DECISION TO RELIEVE GENERAL MACARTHUR." PRESENT, HE SAID, WERE THE PRESIDENT, BRADLEY, SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON, PRESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT W. AVERELL HARRIMAN, AND MARSHALL.
APRIL 10--IT WAS DECIDED IN THE MORNING TO ANNOUNCE THE DECISION AT 8 P.M., WASHINGTON TIME, THE NEXT DAY. BUT LATER IN THE DAY "THERE WERE INDICATIONS" THAT SOMEONE HAD LEAKED THE SECRET, SO THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS ADVANCED 20 HOURS, AND ANNOUNCED JUST AFTER MIDNIGHT THAT NIGHT.
WHO LEAKED THE SECRET? MARSHALL SAID HE DID NOT KNOW.

WASHINGTON, MAY 8-(AP)-THE NORTHEAST KOREAN TOWN OF RASHIN (NAJIN), WHICH GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR SAID HE WAS DENIED PERMISSION TO BOMB, ACTUALLY WAS HIT BY A B-29 RAID LAST AUG. 12, A REVIEW OF FAR EAST COMMUNIQUES SHOWED TODAY.
HOWEVER, THAT WAS SEVERAL MONTHS BEFORE MACARTHUR SAID HE REQUESTED PERMISSION TO BOMB THE TOWN, WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS AN IMPORTANT RED SUPPLY CENTER.
DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL, TESTIFYING BEFORE A JOINT SENATE COMMITTEE, WAS ASKED BY CHAIRMAN RUSSELL YESTERDAY IF HE COULD "GIVE ANY JUST OR LOGICAL REASON WHY THAT TOWN SHOULD NOT BE BOMBED WITHIN NORTH KOREA."

MARSHALL REPLIED THAT "IT WAS A QUESTION OF THE RISK INVOLVED IN AN OPERATION SO CLOSE TO THE SOVIET FRONTIER, AND AS TO THE QUESTION OF SHIPS IN THE HARBOR, AND OTHER MISHAPS THAT MIGHT OCCUR."
THE COMMITTEE MADE PUBLIC A PREVIOUSLY CENSORED PORTION OF MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY IN WHICH HE SAID HE WAS "FORBIDDEN" TO BOMB RASHIN; THAT THERE WAS NO INDICATION OF WHETHER THE DECISION WAS THAT OF THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT OR STATE DEPARTMENT, AND THAT HE MAD REQUEST FOR PERMISSION LAST FEBRUARY OR MARCH.
RASHIN, IT WAS EXPLAINED IN THE TESTIMONY, IS ON A ROUTE OVER WHICH EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES FROM RUSSIA MOVED DOWN TO THE COMMUNIST TROOPS IN KOREA.
HERE IS WHAT AVAILABLE RECORDS SHOW:
RASHIN IS 20 AIR MILES FROM THE SIBERIAN BORDER.
LAST AUGUST, AN ATTACK WAS MADE ON THE CITY BY "THREE SUCCESSIVE WAVES OF SUPERFORTRESSES."
CLOUDS OBSCURED THE TARGET, A COMMUNIQUE REPORTED, SO THE BOMBS WERE AIMED BY RADAR. THE REFERENCE TO THREE SUCCESSIVE WAVES OF BOMBERS INDICATED THAT PERHAPS 70 TO 80 B-29'S WERE IN THE RASHIN MISSION.
IN LIGHT OF THIS, MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY LAST WEEK SEEMED TO INDICATE THAT PERMISSION HAD BEEN REQ

IN LIGHT OF THIS, MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY LAST WEEK SEEMED TO INDICATE THAT PERMISSION HAD BEEN REQUESTED TO RETURN TO RASHIN FOR RENEWED STRIKES, BUT THAT IT WAS REFUSED.

NIGHT LEAD A-BOMB (230)
WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY HE IS CONVINCED THE RUSSIANS HAVE THE ATOMIC BOMB.
BUT WHETHER THEY HAVE SCALED THE SCIENTIFIC MOUNTAIN THAT STANDS BETWEEN "HAVING" THE BOMB AND DEVELOPING IT INTO A PRACTICAL WEAPON OF WAR IS ANOTHER QUESTION, HE INDICATED TO THE SENATE'S ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES.
THE QUESTION WAS RAISED BY SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) DURING MARSHALL'S INTERROGATION ON KOREAN POLICY. THE SECRETARY'S ANSWER WAS A GUARDED ONE, AND CONSEQUENTLY SUBJECT TO INTERPRETATION.
"THEY HAVE THE BOMB, I AM QUITE CONVINCED," MARSHALL STATED. "I COULDN'T EVEN GIVE YOU AN ESTIMATE IF I HAD THE INFORMATION AS TO WHEN IT MIGHT BE AVAILABLE FOR USE AGAINST US.
"I ASSUME IT WILL BE A TEDIOUS AND DIFFICULT DEVELOPMENT BECAUSE I THINK IN SUCH MATTERS WE GO MUCH MORE RAPIDLY THAN THEY WOULD, AND IT'S BEEN A LONG TEDIOUS BUSINESS WITH US X X X."
MARSHALL ILLUSTRATED WHAT HE MEANT BY RECALLING A STATEMENT BY AN ATOMIC ENGINEER WHICH HE SAID WAS "TREMENDOUSLY IMPRESSIVE TO ME."
"I THINK IT RELATED TO THE MAN WHO RAN THE OAK RIDGE THING (AMERICA'S FIRST HUGE ATOMIC PLANT). I AM ALWAYS AFRAID TO TALK ABOUT THIS FOR FEAR I GET OFF INTO SECRET THINGS, BUT I DON'T THINK IT'S A SECRET, HE SAID THERE WERE 10,000 SUB-CONTRACTORS.
"WELL, I DON'T THINK THEY'VE GOT 4,000 SUB-CONTRACTORS OR 2,000 SUB-CONTRACTORS IN ALL OF SOVIET RUSSIA WITH THE SKILLS THAT ARE REQUIRED BECAUSE OF THE EXTREME REFINED TOLERANCES INVOLVED, SO MY OWN GUESS IS THE BUILDUP WOULD BE SLOWED THAN OURS UNTIL THEY HAVE DEVELOPED SOME ENTIRELY NEW PROCESS X X X."

MACARTHUR-BOMBING (220)
WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL CITED JAPAN'S EXPERIENCE TODAY IN QUESTIONING GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S THEORY THAT BOMBING CHINA BASES WOULD SPEED A VICTORIOUS END TO THE KOREAN WAR.
HE SAID THE JAPANESE USED BOMBS AND TROOPS BUT WERE NEVER ABLE TO TAKE OVER CHINA.
AT THE SENATE HEARINGS, SENATOR RUSSELL (D-GA) HAD ASKED MARSHALL TO DISCUSS THE POLICY OF "EXTENSION OF THE WAR? THE ADOPTION OF THE MACARTHUR PLAN, IN OTHER WORDS."
MARSHALL PREFACED HIS REMARKS BY SAYING THEY WERE LARGELY A REFLECTION OF THE VIEWS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF. THEN HE SAID:
"I THINK THE EXTENSION OF THE CONFLICT WOULD NOT BE PROFITABLE. I DON'T QUITE SEE HOW IT COULD BRING US TO A QUICK AND WHAT YOU MIGHT CALL A VICTORIOUS CONCLUSION FOR A NUMBER OF REASONS.
"IN THE FIRST PLACE, CHINA IS A VAST COUNTRY AND IS A COUNTRY WHERE HUMAN LIFE IS NOT PUT ON THE SAME STANDARD OF VALUES THAT WE HAVE AND LOSSES THAT WOULD OCCUR, WE WILL SAY, FROM BOMBING AND THINGS LIKE THAT THEY CAN WIPE OFF THE SLATE VERY EASILY WHERE WE COULD NOT.
"BUT YOU DON'T DESTROY MUCH WHEN YOU DO HIT AT THAT. YOU MAKE IT DIFFICULT, YOU INTERFERE, BUT WHEN YOU BOMBARD A COASTAL CITY, WHEN YOU BOMB A COASTAL CITY OR AN INTERIOR CITY, I DON'T THINK YOU ACCOMPLISH A GREAT DEAL.
"THE JAPANESE HAD A LONG TRIAL OF THAT AND HAD TROOPS ALL THROUGH CHINA, BUT WERE NOT ABLE TO TAKE OVER THE COUNTRY."

MARSHALL-COMMUNISTS (350)
WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL SAID TODAY THERE WAS NEVER ANY DOUBT IN HIS MIND THAT RED LEADERS IN CHINA WERE "MARXIST COMMUNISTS" WHEN HE WAS THERE IN 1946.
HE GAVE THAT REPLY AT SENATE HEARINGS WHEN SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) TOLD HIM MANY STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS WERE SAYING IN 1946 THAT THE CHINESE REDS WERE "MERELY AGRARIAN REFORMERS."
MARSHALL VISITED CHINA IN 1946 AS A SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN. ONE PURPOSE OF HIS MISSION WAS TO TRY TO CLOSE THE GAP BETWEEN THE CHINESE NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT AND THE CHINESE REDS.
BRIDGES ASKED IF ARMY INTELLIGENCE HAD NOT PREPARED IN 1945 A REPORT--WHICH BRIDGES SAID WAS SUPPRESSED--"WHICH EXPLAINED THAT THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS WERE THE SAME BRAND OF COMMUNISTS AS WERE THE RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS."

MARSHALL SAID HE DIDN'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THAT. HE ADDED:

"BUT I HAVE MY OWN KNOWLEDGE OF WHEN I,--I GOT OUT TO CHINA AND LOOKED THE GROUND OVER, FROM THE VERY START, AND THERE WAS NO DOUBT THAT THE LEADERSHIP OF THIS GROUP WERE MAXIST COMMUNISTS."

"AND WHEN I VISITED YUNAN, IN THAT MOUNTAIN FASTNESS OF THEIRS, IN THEIR LITTLE THEATER BUILDING WHICH THEY USED FOR ALL SORTS OF PURPOSES, AND THEY HAD SOME KIND OF ENTERTAINMENT PREPARED FOR ME,--OVER THE PROSCENIUM AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

HE SAID HE HEARD CHOU EN LAI, THE RED PRIME MINISTER, ASSERT "NOT ONCE BUT A NUMBER OF TIMES THAT HE WAS A MARXIST COMMUNIST."

"HIS STORY ALWAYS WAS THAT THEY WOULD APPROACH THE DESIRED END, WHICH WAS A COMMUNIST FORM OF GOVERNMENT, THROUGH, FIRST, THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES, AS THEY CALLED THEM, UNTIL THERE WAS ENOUGH STABILITY AND INDUSTRIAL STRENGTH AND DEVELOPMENT TO PERMIT THEM TO GO THE WHOLE WAY TO A MARXIST COMMUNIST STATE."

SENATOR GEORGE (D-GA) ASKED WHETHER MARSHALL, WHEN HE RETURNED FROM HIS MISSION, FELT "THE ONLY HOPE OF CHINA, LONG RUN VIEW OF IT, WAS TO BRING ABOUT AN INTEGRATION OF THE COMMUNISTS WITH THE NATIONALIST FORCE."

"THOSE WERE THE INSTRUCTIONS, THAT I WENT TO CHINA WITH IN THE BEGINNING," MARSHALL SAID.

"WHEN I CAME BACK I WAS HARD PUT TO FIND A LONG VIEW CONCLUSION IN THE MATTER BECAUSE OF THE FAILING STRUCTURE OF THE KUOMINTANG (NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT) AND THE DETERMINATION, ORGANIZATION AND DISCIPLINE OF THE COMMUNIST GROUP AND THEIR UNDOUBTED ADVICE AND POSSIBLE SUPPORT THAT WOULD OCCUR LATER FROM THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT."

MARSHALL-PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT (220)

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY THAT WHEN IN CHINA IN 1946 HE SENT BACK TO THE UNITED STATES A MAN WHO HAD "ALTERED" A STATEMENT FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO "CREATE QUITE A DIFFERENT REACTION" THAN THE PRESIDENT INTENDED.

"I DON'T KNOW WHETHER HE WAS A COMMUNIST OR NOT," MARSHALL SAID OF THE MAN.

THE DEFENSE SECRETARY RELATED THE STORY IN TESTIMONY TO SENATE COMMITTEES INQUIRING INTO GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL.

MARSHALL SAID THAT WHEN HE WAS IN CHINA HE FOUND THAT "MANY" OF THOSE ASSOCIATED WITH HIM "WERE SO EMBITTERED X X X TOWARD THE CONDUCT OF THE JUOMINTANG (NATIONALIST) GOVERNMENT THAT THEY SORT OF AUTOMATICALLY GOT THEMSELVES ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE FENCE" AND FAVORED THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

"I RAN INTO THAT AT THE START," HE SAID. "I HAD ONE MAN REMOVED WITHIN THREE DAYS OF MY ARRIVAL THERE, AND SENT BACK TO THE UNITED STATES.

"I DON'T KNOW WHETHER HE WAS A COMMUNIST OR NOT."

HE SAID HE DOESN'T REMEMBER THE MAN'S NAME, BUT RECALLS THAT THE MAN HAD ALTERED THE WORDING OF A STATEMENT OF POLICY BY THE PRESIDENT WHICH WAS DISTRIBUTED TO VARIOUS UNITED STATES AGENCIES IN CHINA.

MARSHALL SAID THE EFFECT WAS "TO CREATE QUITE A DIFFERENT REACTION" THAN THE PRESIDENT HAD INTENDED.

HE PROMISED TO TRY TO FIND RECORDS WHICH WOULD IDENTIFY THE OFFENDER FOR THE COMMITTEES.

MARSHALL-WEDEMEYER

WASHINGTON, MAY 8-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL SAID TODAY HE HELD UP PUBLICATION OF THE 1947 WEDEMEYER REPORT BECAUSE IT PROPOSED PUTTING MANCHURIA UNDER A TRUSTEESHIP.

ANOTHER REASON, MARSHALL TOLD THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES, WAS THAT THE REPORT "ENGAGED IN PROPOSALS IN CONNECTION WITH PUTTING THE CHINA PROBLEM BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS X X ."

THE REPORT WAS WRITTEN BY LT. GEN.ALBERT WEDEMEYER, WHO, MARSHALL SAID, WENT TO CHINA IN 1947 "TO LOOK OVER THE GROUND FOR ME." MARSHALL THEN WAS SECRETARY OF STATE.

THE CHINA SECTIONS OF THE REPORT WERE MADE PUBLIC SEVERAL MONTHS AGO. THE PART DEALING WITH KOREA WAS RELEASED ONLY LAST WEEK BY THE SENATE COMMITTEES INVESTIGATING THE REMOVAL OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR FROM HIS TOKYO COMMANDS.

WEDEMEYER REPORTED ON THE POSSIBILITY OF A RED-DIRECTED ATTACK ON SOUTH KOREA.

AT TODAY'S COMMITTEE SESSION, SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) ASKED MARSHALL WHO SUPPRESSED THE WEDEMEYER DOCUMENT AND WHY.

MARSHALL FIRST SAID HE COULD NOT ANSWER REGARDING THE SECTION ON KOREA. BUT THEN HE SAID OF THE REPORT AS A WHOLE:

"I RESTRICTED THAT FROM PUBLICATION MYSELF FOR THE REASON THAT HE (WEDEMEYER) ENGAGED IN PROPOSALS IN CONNECTION WITH PUTTING THE CHINA PROBLEM BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS, AND SPECIFICALLY PROPOSING THAT KOREA -- MANCHURIA, BE PUT UNDER TRUSTEESHIP WITH THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT, THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT AND OURSELVES, AND I BELIEVE, THE FRENCH, TO HANDLE THE MATTER.

"THAT OCCURRED AT THE TIME WE WERE HEAVILY INVOLVED IN THE DISCUSSION WITH THE CONGRESS IN RELATION WITH GREECE, OR DISCUSSION WITH THE UNITED NATIONS, IN RELATION TO THE AFFAIRS IN GREECE, WHEN WE WERE ATTEMPTING TO MAKE CERTAIN THAT WE HAD A PROPER COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE AND SEE WHAT WAS GOING ON AND REPRESENT OUR INTERESTS, AND IT WAS THOUGHT INADVISABLE TO RELEASE THAT FOR PUBLICATION."

BRIDGES ASKED MARSHALL WHETHER THE KOREAN WAR MIGHT HAVE BEEN AVOIDED IF THE WEDEMEYER RECOMMENDATIONS HAD BEEN CARRIED.

"THAT IS POSSIBLE," MARSHALL REPLIED, "BUT A GREAT MANY OTHER FACTORS ARE INVOLVED IN IT SO I CAN'T MAKE A CATEGORICAL ANSWER TO THE PROPOSITION.

"IN A GENERAL WAY, MOST OF THE THINGS HE RECOMMENDED WERE ACTUALLY DONE X X X."

WEDEMEYER, WHO YESTERDAY APPLIED FOR RETIREMENT FROM THE SERVICE, WENT TO CHINA UNDER A DIRECTIVE FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

MARSHALL TESTIFIED, HOWEVER, THAT HE PROPOSED SENDING WEDEMEYER "AND I HAD HIM WRITE HIS OWN DIRECTIVE, WHICH BROUGHT IT INTO THE PRESIDENTIAL SET-UP."

MARSHALL SAID THAT AT THE TIME THE REPORT WAS SUBMITTED IT WAS EXAMINED "TO SEE HOW WE COULD DELETE" CERTAIN MATERIAL, "BUT IT SEEMED TO BE SO WOVEN INTO THE REPORT, THAT PART ON THE UNITED NATIONS PHASE, THAT IT WOULD EXCITE MORE SPECULATION AND MORE COMPLICATIONS THAN WOULD BE DESIRABLE."

THE RECORD SHOWED MARSHALL TOLD BRIDGES THAT WAS "A VERY PRECISE QUESTION COVERING A CONSIDERABLE PORTION OF THE WATERFRONT."

MARSHALL ADDED:

"HE (EISENHOWER) MIGHT MAKE THAT STATEMENT WITH THE APPROVAL OF THE ADMINISTRATION IN ORDER TO JERK THOSE OTHER COUNTRIES INTO ACTION.

"IF HE EXPRESSED THAT IN OPPOSITION TO A CONTINUATION OF THE AFFAIR WHICH THE ADMINISTRATION, THE PRESIDENT, CHIEFS OF STAFF ARE INSISTING UPON, I SHOULD THINK HE WOULD HAVE TO BE TAKEN OUT OF COMMAND."

MACARTHUR-BENTON

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-SENATOR BENTON (D-CONN) TOLD THE SENATE TODAY HE TELEPHONED PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND URGED HIM TO FIRE GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR THE DAY BEFORE THE PRESIDENT TOOK THE ACTION.

MACARTHUR "ACTED LIKE A MAN WHO WANTED TO BE RECALLED IN TAKING SEVERAL ACTIONS CONTRARY TO ADMINISTRATION FOREIGN POLICY IN THE FAR EAST, BENTON SAID, ADDING:

"THE PRESIDENT'S HAND WAS FORCED; HE HAD TO ACT."

THE SENATOR SAID "MANY POPULAR GENERALS HAVE BEEN FIRED AND I PERSONALLY HOPE THEY WILL CONTINUE TO BE FIRED WHEN THEY PUSH FOR TOO MUCH AUTHORITY AND RESPONSIBILITY."

BENTON'S SPEECH WAS THE FIRST ON THE SUBJECT ON THE SENATE FLOOR SINCE MACARTHUR TESTIFIED BEFORE THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES LAST WEEK.

IT BROUGHT TO THEIR FEET NUMEROUS REPUBLICAN DEFENDERS OF MACARTHUR WHO ASKED DOZENS OF QUESTIONS AND KEPT THE CONNECTICUT SENATOR ON THE FLOOR FOR THREE HOURS.

SOME OF THE G.O.P. SENATORS, INCLUDING HENDRICKSON (NJ) AND KNOWLAND (CALIF), SUGGESTED THAT IT WOULD BE BETTER NOT TO MAKE SPEECHES ON THE MACARTHUR CONTROVERSY UNTIL ALL THE EVIDENCE IS IN BEFORE THE JOINT COMMITTEE.

BENTON SAID, HOWEVER, THAT MANY PERSONS IN CONNECTICUT HAD ASKED HIM FOR HIS VIEWS AND THAT HE FELT THE THOUSANDS OF WORDS OF TESTIMONY BY MACARTHUR AND DEFENSE SECRETARY GEORGE C.MARSHALL HAD PRODUCED MANY OF THE FACTS NEEDED FOR CONCLUSIONS.

"IF YOU WAIT FOR ALL THE EVIDENCE TO BE PRODUCED, THEN YOU ARE GOING TO STERILIZE YOURSELVES A LONG TIME BECAUSE STUDENTS WILL BE WRITING BOOKS ON THIS MATTER 20 YEARS FROM NOW," BENTON DECLARED.

(600) AMS BUDGET

MARSHALL-MACARTHUR

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-HERE IS A COMPARISON OF THE VIEWS OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR AND SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL ON AMERICAN POLICY IN THE FAR EAST.

THE POINTS ARE TAKEN FROM THE CENSORED RECORD OF THEIR TESTIMONY BEFORE THE COMBINED ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE.

-MILITARY RESTRICTIONS IN KOREA-

MACARTHUR--THE AIR AND NAVAL FORCES THAT WERE AT MY DISPOSAL OUT THERE WERE ONLY OPERATING AT A FRACTION OF THEIR EFFICIENCY. THEY ARE IN EFFECT BEING CONFINED TO THE NARROW AREA OF THE BATTLE-GROUND OF KOREA, THEY ARE IN EFFECT MERELY PERFORMING THAT FUNCTION WHICH WOULD BE REGARDED AS TACTICAL SUPPORT OF THE INFANTRY LINE. XXXX IF YOU WOULD TAKE OFF (THE RESTRICTIONS) AND PERMIT THEM THEIR FULL CAPACITY, I DO NOT BELIEVE IT WOULD TAKE A VERY GREAT ADDITIONAL COMPONENT OF GROUND TROOPS TO WIND THIS THING UP.

MARSHALL--THERE WAS AN AGREEMENT (AT HIGH LEVELS IN WASHINGTON) THAT NOT ONLY WERE THESE RESTRICTIONS NECESSARY IN ORDER TO AVOID A BREAK WITH OUR ALLIES AND A COMPLETE CONFUSION IN OUR RELATIONS TO THE UNITED NATIONS XXX, BUT THEY ALSO FELT IT WOULD BE NECESSARY TO (GIVE) REGARD TO THE RETALIATION THAT COULD BE CARRIED OUT BY A HEAVY FORCE IF THEY DEVELOPED ON THE COMMUNIST SIDE.

-KOREAN WAR PLAN-

MACARTHUR: NOW THERE ARE ONLY THREE WAYS THAT I CAN SEE XXX: EITHER TO PURSUE IT TO VICTORY; TO SURRENDER TO THE ENEMY AND END IT ON HIS TERMS; OR, WHAT I THINK IS THE WORST OF ALL CHOICES--TO GO ON INDEFINITELY AND INDEFINITELY, NEITHER TO WIN OR LOSE, IN THAT STALEMATE; BECAUSE WHAT WE ARE DOING IS SACRIFICING THOUSANDS OF OUR MEN WHILE WE ARE DOING IT.

MARSHALL--XXX I AM DISTURBED AND I THINK YOU WOULD BE DISTURBED AT THE EFFECT THAT WILL SWEEP THROUGH THAT FORCE (OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN KOREA) OF A SITUATION IN WHICH THEIR COMMANDER HAS STATED HIS VIEWS WHICH ACCENTUATE THE CASUALTIES THAT THEY ARE SUFFERING AND IN EFFECT THAT IT IS WITHOUT A JUSTIFIED PURPOSE. THAT IS NOT ONLY ONE TIME, BUT A NUMBER OF TIMES; AND THE EFFECT OF THE FACT THAT THEIR COMMANDER HAS BEEN IN COMPLETE DISAGREEMENT WITH THE CONSTITUTED AUTHORITIES OF THIS GOVERNMENT, THAT IS A MOST SERIOUS MATTER, AND WE SHOULD FIND SOME WAY OF PROCEEDING WITH THIS INVESTIGATION THAT DOES NOT DESTROY US IN THE FIELD BY SERIOUS REACTION IN THE WAY OF MORALE. XXXX I SAID WE HAD THREE CHOICES, MR.CHAIRMAN, AS I SAW THEM. THE ONE WAS THE EXTENSION OF THE CAMPAIGN ALONG THE LINES SUGGESTED BY GEN. MACARTHUR. THE ONE WAS TO WITHDRAW FROM KOREA AND VIOLATE OUR PROMISE TO THOSE PEOPLE AND SACRIFICE THEM TO THE ASSASSINATION AND PROBABLY ALMOST EXTINCTION, AND THE OTHER WAS TO FIGHT WHERE WE WERE, TO WHAT ADVANTAGE WE COULD GAIN BY THE METHOD THAT WE FOLLOWED. THAT METHOD WAS TO INFLICT THE GREATEST NUMBER OF CASUALTIES WE COULD IN ORDER TO BREAK DOWN NOT ONLY THE MORALE, BUT THE TRAINED FABRIC OF THE CHINESE ARMIES.

A28WX

-POLICY-

MACARTHUR--THE INERTIA THAT EXISTS; THERE IS NO POLICY--THERE IS NOTHING, I TELL YOU, NO PLAN, OR ANYTHING.

MARSHALL--FOR THE LAST FIVE YEARS OUR SUPREME POLICY HAS BEEN TO CURB COMMUNIST AGGRESSION AND, IF POSSIBLE, TO AVOID ANOTHER WORLD WAR IN DOING SO. THE EXECUTION OF THIS POLICY HAS REQUIRED EXTRAORDINARY PATIENCE, FIRMNESS AND DETERMINATION IN MEETING AND HELPING OUR ALLIES TO MEET CHALLENGES IN IRAN, GREECE, TURKEY, TRIESTE, BERLIN, AND INDO-CHINA, AND FINALLY KOREA. XXXX YEAR BY YEAR THE UNITED STATES HAS OPPOSED THESE AGGRESSIONS WITH COURAGE AND POISE, AND IN EACH

INSTANCE THE THREATS WERE CURBED OR OVERCOME WITHOUT INVOLVING THIS GOVERNMENT IN TOTAL WAR.

MACARTHUR--I BELIEVE XXX THAT THE INITIATORY ATTACK OF YOUR POTENTIAL ENEMY IS ALREADY UNDER WAY. I BELIEVE IF YOU DON'T MEET IT IN KOREA YOU ARE DOOMED TO DESTRUCTION. I BELIEVE IT IS ALREADY STARTED, AND IF YOU LET IT GROW AND INCREASE BY THE ENEMY, YOU WILL GET ENGULFED.

MARSHALL--KOREA IS ONLY THE LATEST CHALLENGER IN THIS LONG, HARD, CONTINUING WORLD-WIDE STRUGGLE. WE ARE APPLYING THERE THE SAME POLICY THAT HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY APPLIED IN THE ATTEMPTED AGGRESSIONS THAT PRECEDED IT ELSEWHERE IN THE WORLD.

HIS UNANNOUNCED TRIP TO CONNECTICUT LED TO A LOT OF SPECULATION. SOME PEOPLE THOUGHT HE WAS HOUSE-HUNTING. OTHERS SUGGESTED IT WAS A BUSINESS TRIP.

UPON MACARTHUR'S RETURN, HOWEVER, HIS AIDE, MAJ.GEN.COURTNEY WHITNEY SAID THE OUSTED FAR EASTERN COMMANDER READ ABOUT CONNECTICUT'S SPRING DOGWOOD AND DECIDED TO "INSPECT IT."

"VERY LOVELY," WHITNEY PRONOUNCED IT ON BEHALF OF MACARTHUR.

NIGHT LEAD JAPAN

BY EDWARD E.BOMAR

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES ACCUSED RUSSIA TODAY OF TRYING TO "STALL" PREPARATIONS FOR AN EARLY JAPANESE PEACE TREATY AND BRUSQUELY REJECTED A SOVIET PROPOSAL TO TURN THE TASK OVER TO A PACIFIC BIG FOUR.

MOSCOW ADVANCED THE PROPOSAL YESTERDAY, AND INCLUDED COMMUNIST CHINA ALONG WITH RUSSIA, THE U.S.AND BRITAIN AS THE FOUR POWERS WHICH SHOULD LAY DOWN THE TERMS FOR A WORLD WAR II SETTLEMENT WITH JAPAN.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT BRUSHED THE IDEA ASIDE WITH THIS COMMENT: "IT IS A MOCKERY TO PRETENT THAT TO NEGOTIATE A JAPANESE PEACE UNDER THESE CONDITIONS WOULD ACTUALLY PRODUCE PEACE."

WHAT MOSCOW IS SEEKING, THE DEPARTMENT CHARGED, IS A "DOUBLE VETO" BY INCLUDING COMMUNIST CHINA AMONG THE BIG FOUR.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT MADE PLAIN THAT THE UNITED STATES INTENDS TO GO AHEAD WITH MOVES NOW IN PROGRESS WITH 14 OTHER NON-COMMUNIST COUNTRIES TO COMPLETE THE JAPANESE SETTLEMENT, POSSIBLY THIS SUMMER.

THE SOVIET PROPOSAL, AS IT WAS PUT FORWARD IN THIS LATE STAGE OF THE NEGOTIATIONS, DIMMED THE FEW REMAINING HOPES OF AMERICAN OFFICIALS THAT RUSSIA MIGHT GO ALONG WITH THE SETTLEMENT AND NOT INSIST ON THE "VETO" WHICH HAS BLOCKED PEACE WITH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

SOME HOPES HAD BEEN RETAINED EVEN THOUGH RUSSIA TWO MONTHS AGO BROKE OFF, WITHOUT EXPLANATION, THE DISCUSSIONS WHICH AMBASSADOR JOHN FOSTER DULLES HAD BEEN CARRYING ON AT LAKE SUCCESS WITH RUSSIA'S JACOB MALIK.

THE AMERICAN STATEMENT WAS READ TO NEWSMEN BY PRESS OFFICER MICHAEL J.MCDERMOTT SHORTLY AFTER THE ARRIVAL FROM MOSCOW OF THE NOTE HANDED YESTERDAY TO U.S. AMBASSADOR ALAN G.KIRK.

"THE SOVIET PROPOSAL THAT THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY BE PREPARED BY A COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS COMPOSED OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SOVIET UNION, COMMUNIST CHINA, THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE UNITED STATES IS A PROPOSAL WHICH THE SOVIET UNION MAKES PERIODICALLY WHENEVER IT WANTS TO STALL THE CONCLUSION OF A JAPANESE PEACE. IT HAS ALWAYS BEEN REJECTED AND WILL BE AGAIN," THE STATEMENT SAID.

"THE SOVIET EFFORT IS TO GET A VETO AND NOW, THROUGH COMMUNIST CHINA A DOUBLE VETO ON A JAPANESE PEACE. IT IS A MOCKERY TO PRETEND THAT TO NEGOTIATE A JAPANESE PEACE UNDER THESE CONDITIONS WOULD ACTUALLY PRODUCE PEACE."

MCDERMOTT DESCRIBED THE SOVIET NOTE AS A "LONG DOCUMENT CONTAINING MUCH PROPAGANDA" AND SAID IN DUE COURSE IT WOULD BE FULLY ANSWERED. WHAT HE HAD TO SAY CONSTITUTED A DEFINITE REJECTION, REGARDLESS OF THE FORMAL REPLY.

THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN GOING AHEAD WITH PREPARATIONS FOR A TREATY ON A BROAD BASIS SINCE 1947 WHEN FUTILE MEETINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS MADE IT EVIDENT THAT A BIG POWER AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA ON TERMS COULD BE OBTAINED ONLY AT THE PRICE OF CONCESSIONS TO MOSCOW.

SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON AND AMBASSADOR DULLES HAVE STATED REPEATEDLY THAT THE U.S. IS UNWILLING TO LET RUSSIA OR ANY OTHER POWER "VETO PEACE."

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-UNITED STATES STRENGTH OVERSEAS MAY SOON BE REINFORCED BY ADDITIONAL GUARD DIVISIONS, THE ACTING CHIEF OF THE NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU SAID TONIGHT.

MAJ.GEN.RAYMOND H.FLEMING ALSO DISCLOSED THAT THE ARMY MAY CALL MORE NATIONAL GUARD DIVISIONS TO ACTIVE SERVICE AFTER JULY.

FLEMING SAID IN A TEXT PREPARED FOR BROADCASTING ON A "TIME FOR DEFENSE" RADIO PROGRAM THAT FEDERALIZATION OF SIX GUARD DIVISIONS, TWO REGIMENTAL COMBAT TEAMS AND NUMEROUS SMALLER UNITS LEFT "OVER 250,000 ARMY GUARDSMEN REMAINING AT THEIR HOME STATIONS."

TWO GUARDS DIVISIONS, THE 40TH FROM CALIFORNIA AND THE 45TH FROM OKLAHOMA, RECENTLY ARRIVED IN JAPAN.

THE GENERAL SAID ONE-THIRD OF THE ARMY GUARD STRENGTH AND THREE-FOURTHS OF THE AIR GUARD ARE ALREADY ON ACTIVE DUTY. "THE ENTIRE AIR NATIONAL GUARD WITH THE EXCEPTION OF FIVE FIGHTER WINGS WILL BE IN THE ACTIVE MILITARY SERVICE BY THE END OF THE YEAR."

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-DIPLOMATS SPECULATED TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES MAY SOON REACH A DECISION ON REQUESTS FROM GREECE AND TURKEY FOR AMERICAN SECURITY GUARANTEES.

THE REQUESTS CALL EITHER FOR INCLUSION OF THE TWO COUNTRIES IN THE NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY OR FOR CREATION OF A MEDITERRANEAN SECURITY PACT.

AMBASSADOR JOHN E.PEURIFOY, WHO HAS JUST RETURNED HERE FROM ATHENS FOR CONSULTATION, IS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE URGED THE STATE DEPARTMENT TO SPEED ACTION ON THE PROPOSALS.

OFFICIAL OPINION IS UNDERSTOOD TO BE STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF BROADENING THE NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY TO INCLUDE THE TWO EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN COUNTRIES AND ALSO YUGOSLAVIA, IF THAT NATION CARES TO JOIN.

AN AMERICAN DECISION ALONG THIS LINE CANNOT BE FINAL, HOWEVER, IN THE SENSE OF PRODUCING ACTION. THIS IS BECAUSE NEW MEMBERSHIP IN THE NORTH ATLANTIC PACT IS SUBJECT TO APPROVAL OF ALL 12 OF THE PRESENT MEMBER NATIONS.

TRADE AGREEMENTS

(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES HAS GRANTED SWEEPING NEW TARIFF CONCESSIONS TO 17 WESTERN COUNTRIES IN ANOTHER MAJOR MOVE TO EXPAND WORLD COMMERCE.

REDUCED DUTIES COVERING $419,271,000 IN FOREIGN SHIPMENTS TO THE UNITED STATES WILL START GOING INTO EFFECT JUNE 6 UNDER THE NEW INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS.

AT THE SAME TIME, EXISTING LOW RATES WILL BE MAINTAINED ON $58,305,000 IN FOREIGN IMPORTS.

IN RETURN, FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS HAVE AGREED TO CUT TARIFFS OR KEEP FROM HIKING RATES ON $1,157,000,000 OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

THIS COUNTRY REDUCED ITS LEVIES ON MANY ARTICLES RANGING FROM METALS IN SHORT SUPPLY HERE TO CERTAIN FOODS. IT WON CONCESSIONS FOR SALE ABROAD OF MANY AMERICAN FARM PRODUCTS, CHEMICALS AND MACHINERY AMONG OTHER THINGS.

THE NEW AGREEMENTS, ANNOUNCED TODAY BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT, WERE NEGOTIATED DURING A SEVEN-MONTH TARIFF CONFERENCE AT TORQUAY, ENGLAND, WHICH ENDED APRIL 21.

THIRTY-FOUR NATIONS, ACCOUNTING FOR 80 PER CENT OF WORLD COMMERCE, ATTENDED THE MEETING. IT MARKED THE THIRD TIME THAT WESTERN COUNTRIES HAVE BANDED TOGETHER TO REDUCE TRADE BARRIERS SINCE WORLD WAR TWO ENDED.

IN ANNOUNCING THE RECIPROCAL CONCESSIONS, THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAILED THEM AS "A VERY SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCE IN THE FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE RELATIONS AND THE RELAXATION OF UNNECESSARY RESTRICTIONS ON WORLD COMMERCE."

WESTERN GERMANY AND CANADA WON THE BIGGEST CONCESSIONS FROM THE UNITED STATES AND IN TURN GRANTED THE MOST SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTIONS TO AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

WESTERN GERMANY WAS INCLUDED FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SUCH TARIFF-CUTTING AGREEMENTS.

A 474-PAGE "ANALYSIS" MADE AVAILABLE BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT SHOWED THAT GERMANY GRANTED MORE THAN HALF OF THE CONCESSIONS THE UNITED STATES PICKED UP AT THE TORQUAY MEETING--AFFECTING $557,594,000 OF AMERICAN EXPORTS.

A223WX

CANADA RANKED NEXT IN IMPORTANCE, PROMISING LOWER DUTIES ON $290,049,000 OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

THE 17 NATIONS WITH WHICH THE UNITED STATES CONCLUDED NEW AGREEMENTS ARE BELGIUM, BRAZIL, CANADA, DENMARK, THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, FRANCE, INDONESIA, ITALY, NETHERLANDS, NORWAY, LUXEMBOURG, SWEDEN, AUSTRIA, GERMANY, SOUTH KOREA, PERU AND TURKEY.

EVEN THOUGH THE TARIFF CUTS WERE NEGOTIATED WITH THESE NATIONS, THEY WILL APPLY TO ALL COUNTRIES INCLUDING THE RUSSIAN BLOC, WHICH SHIP THE SAME PRODUCTS TO THE UNITED STATES. IN MOST CASES, HOWEVER, THE 17 NATIONS ARE THE PRINCIPAL SUPPLIERS.

THE SENATE IS CURRENTLY CONSIDERING A HOUSE-APPROVED BILL WHICH WOULD DENY ALL AMERICAN TARIFF CONCESSIONS TO COMMUNIST NATIONS.

THE NEW AGREEMENTS WERE NEGOTIATED UNDER THE RECIPROCAL TRADE ACT WHICH GIVE THE PRESIDENT POWER TO CUT TARIFF RATES IN EFFECT JAN. 1, 1945, UP TO 50 PER CENT.

AMONG THE PRODUCTS ON WHICH THE UNITED STATES GRANTED CONCESSIONS ARE LEAD, ZINC, CANADIAN-TYPE WHISKEY, CIGARETTE LEAF TOBACCO, ALUM-

INUM, LONG-STAPLE COTTON, PRECIOUS AND SEMI-PRECIOUS STONES, LACES AND EMBROIDERIES, FLOWER BULBS, SUGAR, (EXCEPT FROM CUBA AND THE PHILIPPINES), CHEESE, AND CERTAIN TYPES OF FISH.

THE LIST OF PRODUCTS ON WHICH THE UNITED STATES WON CONCESSIONS INCLUDES MOST AMERICAN PRODUCTS SHIPPED ABROAD.

THE MAIN ONES ARE WHEAT, FLOUR, CORN, COTTON, LARD, MEAT PRODUCTS, DRIED, CANNED AND FRESH FRUIT, MANY CHEMICALS AND RELATED PRODUCTS, MACINERY RANGING FROM INDUSTRIAL TO APPLIANCES, ELECTRICAL MOTORS, ALL TYPES OF ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT, AND AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-SENATOR MCCARTHY (R-WIS) ACCUSED SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON TODAY OF TRYING TO GET THE NAVY TO REINSTATE A SUSPENDED SCIENTIST WHO MCCARTHY SAID WAS A "COMMUNIST AGENT."

MCCARTHY TOLD THE SENATE "TREMENDOUS PRESSURE" IS BEING APPLIED TO RESTORE STEPHEN BRUNAUER TO HIS JOB IN NAVAL EXPLOSIVES WORK AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT IS EXERTING THE PRINCIPAL INFLUENCE.

EVEN SO, HE SAID, "THE ACHESON GROUP" CONCEDES THAT BRUNAUER "IS DANGEROUS AND HE IS INVOLVED IN ESPIONAGE WORK."

BRUNAUER WAS SUSPENDED BY THE NAVY APRIL 10 AS A "SECURITY RISK." AT THE SAME TIME THE STATE DEPARTMENT SUSPENDED THE SCIENTIST'S WIFE, MRS.ESTHER BRUNAUER, EXPLAINING THE ACTION WAS TAKEN BECAUSE OF THE NAVY'S MOVE AGAINST HER HUSBAND.

AT THE TIME OF HIS SUSPENSION, BRUNAUER SAID IN A STATEMENT "I AM A COMPLETELY LOYAL AMERICAN WHO NEVER VIOLATED ANY SECURITY REGULATIONS."

MRS.BRUNAUER WAS NAMED BY MCCARTHY LAST YEAR IN HIS CHARGES OF COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

MCCARTHY TOLD THE SENATE TODAY THAT THE NAVY SUSPENDED BRUNAUER BECAUSE IT HAD BEEN LEARNED "DURING THE ATOMIC SPY TRIALS THAT BRUNAUER WAS, ALTHOUGH NOT THE MAJOR FIGURE, ONE OF THE FIGURES IN THE ATOMIC SPY RING."

REFERRING TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT, MCCARTHY SAID:

"THEY SAY "'YES, WE ADMIT HE (BRUNAUER) IS INVOLVED IN ESPIONAGE WORK, OR THAT HE WAS SO INVOLVED. WE CANNOT QUESTION THE EVIDENCE WHICH WAS DEVELOPED DURING THE ATOMIC SPY TRIALS.

"'HOWEVER, IF WE FIRE HIM, HE IS SUCH AN OUTSTANDING MAN IN ESPIONAGE HE WILL LEAVE THIS COUNTRY AND DISAPPEAR BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN.'

"FOR THAT REASON, THEY SAY 'PUT HIM BACK IN TOP SECRET WORK IN THIS COUNTRY AND WE WILL ISOLATE HIM AND PUT HIM UNDER SURVEILLANCE 24 HOURS A DAY.'"

MRS.BRUNAUER HAD BEEN A STATE DEPARTMENT LIAISON OFFICER TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

MCCARTHY SAID "SHE HAS A VERY IMPORTANT JOB INSOFAR AS THE WORK OF STEPHEN BRUNAUER IS CONCERNED--THAT IS, HIS WORK AS A COMMUNIST AGENT" BECAUSE SHE WAS ABLE TO TRAVEL TO CAPITALS OF MANY COUNTRIES.

"THE EVIDENCE SHOWS VERY EXTENSIVE CONTACTS IN THOSE CAPITALS WITH MEMBERS OF THE COMMUNIST DELEGATION," THE SENATOR SAID.

DEMOCRATS ON A FOREIGN RELATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE WHICH INVESTIGATED MCCARTHY'S STATE DEPARTMENT CHARGES LAST YEAR CLEARED MRS. BRUNAUER OF HIS ACCUSATIONS.

SHE TESTIFIED BEFORE THE GROUP, DENYING THE CHARGES.

A STATE DEPARTMENT SPOKESMAN DECLINED TO COMMENT ON MCCARTHY'S CHARGES "UNTIL ALL THE FACTS ARE KNOWN."

DEFENSE KIT

BY ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, MAY 8-(AP)-AND NOW, THE "ATOMIKIT." JUST THE THING TO HAVE HANDY, ITS MAKERS SAY, IF THE YOU-KNOW-WHAT SHOULD HIT.

THE "ATOMIKIT," ASSISTED ABLY BY TWO BEAUTIFUL YOUNG LADIES IN BATHING SUITS, HAD ITS UNVEILING HERE YESTERDAY.

THE KIT TURNED OUT TO BE A SMALL PASTEBOARD SUITCASE LOADED WITH THINGS THAT CIVILIAN DEFENSE EXPERTS SAY WOULD BE HELPFUL EITHER IN AN ATOMIC OR CHEMICAL WAR.

IT CONTAINED SUCH ITEMS AS EMERGENCY EYE DROPS, BAKING SODA, WATER PURIFICATION TABLETS, SAFETY PINS (12), RAZOR BLADES(2), SOAP (2 BARS), ENVELOPE DRINKING CUPS (36) AND FLASHLIGHT (1).

"THE BEST PART OF IT IS," SAID RUSSELL BIRDWELL AT A PRESS CONFERENCE, "ANY ITEM IN THIS KIT CAN BE DUPLICATED IN THE AVERAGE KITCHEN. IN CASE OF AN ATTACK, IF YOU RUN LOW ON ANY ITEM, YOU CAN REPLACE IT FROM THE KITCHEN."

BIRDWELL, A PUBLIC RELATIONS MAN, SAID HE IS ACTING IN A DUAL CAPACITY. HE NOT ONLY IS PRESS AGENT FOR THE MAKER OF THE KIT--UPLAND INDUSTRIES,INC., OF UPLAND,CALIF.--HE ALSO IS ITS PRESIDENT.

"I STARTED OUT ON THIS THING ACADEMICALLY," HE SAID, "AND WOUND UP GOING INTO BUSINESS FOR MYSELF. IT'S THE LAST THING I EVER THOUGHT WOULD HAPPEN TO ME."

BIRDWELL TURNED TO THE BATHING SUITED BABES, WHO WERE BANDAGED TO REPRESENT VICTIMS. FORTUNATELY,NONE OF THE BANDAGES SPOILED THE GIRLS' BETTER FEATURES.

"MISS PAT MCGOWAN," SAID BIRDWELL, INDICATING A BLOND IN A BLOND BATHING SUIT. HER TOENAILS WERE BRILLIANT RED.

"MISS CARLENE TALIAFERRO," SAID BIRDWELL, INDICATING A BROWN HAIRED GIRL WEARING THE BOTTOM HALF OF A TWO-PART BATHING SUIT. SUBSTITUTING THE THE UPPER HALF WAS A BANDAGE. HER TOENAILS WERE BRILLIANT RED.

A PHOTOGRAPHER CAME IN AND BOTH GIRLS PERKED UP. VICTIM MCGOWAN STARTED FLUFFING HER HAIR.

BIRDWELL SAID THE KIT WILL BE ON THE MARKET WITHIN 30 OR 40 DAYS, THAT IT WILL RETAIL FOR AROUND $14 OR $15, AND THAT IT WILL FILL TWO OF THE FOUR REQUIREMENTS SUGGESTED BY THE CIVIL DEFENSE ADMINISTRATION.

"IT GIVES YOU A FLASHLIGHT AND THE FIRST AID EQUIPMENT," BIRDWELL SAID, "BUT THE DEFENSE EXPERTS SUGGEST YOU'LL ALSO WANT A RADIO AND A SUPPLY OF CANNED GOODS."

HOW ABOUT THE GIRLS? DO THEY GO WITH THE KIT?

"NO," SAID BIRDWELL.

OH WELL, NO HARM IN ASKING.

NIGHT LEAD CIVIL DEFENSE

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-MILLARD CALDWELL, ADMINISTRATOR OF CIVIL DEFENSE, SENT 2,000 CIVIC LEADERS HOMEWARD TODAY WITH ADVICE TO GET BUSY ON LOCAL DEFENSE PROGRAMS.

THE FORMER FLORIDA GOVERNOR TOLD A CONFERENCE OF CITY, COUNTY AND STATE OFFICIALS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS THAT THE ADMINISTRATION IS "DOING EVERYTHING HUMANLY POSSIBLE" TO PREVENT WAR

AND AT THE SAME TIME IS ARMING RAPIDLY.
"THE LEAST PREPARED OF ALL IS THE HOME FRONT," CALDWELL SAID.
"PREPAREDNESS FOR THE HOME FRONT IS CIVIL DEFENSE. THE AMERICAN PEOPLE MUST BE CONVINCED OF THIS, AND THEY MUST ACT FAST."
CALDWELL SAID STATE AND LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE DIRECTORS WILL BE ASKED TO HOLD SIMILAR CONFERENCES IN THE NEAR FUTURE.
"WHEN THE LIVES OF OUR PEOPLE AND THE SECURITY OF OUR WAY OF LIFE ARE AT STAKE, THERE CAN BE NO DELAYS, NO STUMBLING, NO INACTION," HE SAID.
"TOGETHER, WE CAN HELP MAKE ATTACK ON OUR HOMELAND SO UNPROFITABLE TO AN ENEMY THAT IT MAY HELP PREVENT A THIRD WORLD WAR."
EARLIER THE CONFERENCE HEARD SIMILAR WARNINGS ON THE URGENCY OF CIVIL DEFENSE FROM CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR EARL WARREN, VARIOUS FEDERAL CIVIL DEFENSE OFFICIALS, AND--LAST NIGHT--FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN.
WARREN IN A MAJOR ADDRESS TODAY, SAID THAT THERE IS "A WORLD CONSPIRACY XXX AND OUR COUNTRY IS THE MAIN OBJECT OF ITS WRATH."
WARREN SAID RUSSIA HAS DECREED THAT THIS BE "ENTIRELY A SLAVE WORLD."
HE ADDED THAT THE UNITED STATES IS APPROACHING "SOME KIND OF DEADLING"--THE DAY THAT RUSSIA DECIDES SHE IS STRONG ENOUGH AND THE DEMOCRACIES WEAK ENOUGH TO WARRANT AN ATTACK, OR THE DAY THAT THE FREE WORLD IS STRONG ENOUGH TO CONVINCE RUSSIA THAT SUCH AN ATTACK WOULD BE DISASTROUS.
APPLAUSE INTERRUPTED THE CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR WHEN HE SAID "I ADMIT TO COMPLAINING AT CONGRESS FOR NOT APPROPRIATING MORE PROMPTLY THE FUNDS NECESSARY FOR A PROGRAM COMMENSURATE WITH THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE SITUATION".
WARREN ADDED THAT WHILE IT IS AN AMERICAN RIGHT "TO DO A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF GROUSING, THE TIME ARRIVES IN ANY SERIOUS SITUATION WHEN WE SHOULD OCCUPY OURSELVES WITH MORE IMPORTANT THINGS."
"WE MUST BE SERIOUSLY ABOUT THIS BUSINESS OF CIVIL DEFENSE," HE DECLARED.

WASHINGTON,MAY 8-(AP)-FEDERAL MACHINERY WAS SET IN OPERATION TODAY TO DEAL WITH SPECIAL PLEAS FOR HIGHER PAY AND TO SETTLE MAJOR LABOR-MANAGEMENT DISPUTES WITHIN THE DEFENSE PROGRAM.
THE OUTCOME MAY BE NEW HOLES IN THE GOVERNMENT'S WAGE AND SALARY CEILINGS.
THE 18-MAN WAGE STABILIZATION BOARD HELD ITS FIRST MEETING AND QUICKLY BEGAN TO TACKLE A BACKLOG OF 1,200 WAGE CASES.
SIMULTANEOUSLY, ECONOMIC STABILIZER ERIC JOHNSTON SET UP A THREE-MAN SALARY STABILIZATION BOARD TO DEVELOP POLICY ON THE PAY OF NON-UNION WHITE COLLAR WORKERS AND OTHERS. THE LIST INCLUDES EXECUTIVE, ADMINISTRATIVE, PROFESSIONAL AND CERTAIN SALES AND SUPERVISORY EMPLOYEES.
CHAIRMAN GEORGE W.TAYLOR OF THE WAGE BOARD TOLD NEWSMEN HE HOPES TO CLEAR UP THE PENDING 1,200 WAGE CASES AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE.
OFFICIALS NOTED THAT DISPUTES ARE SMOULDERING IN SEVERAL MAJOR INDUSTRIES, SUCH AS MEAT PACKING, SHIP BUILDING AND TEXTILES.
THESE OFFICIALS INDICATED THAT THE MEAT PACKING CASE IS LIKELY TO GET PRIORITY ATTENTION BECAUSE IT IS FURTHER ADVANCED THAN THE OTHERS. THE AFL MEAT CUTTERS AND CIO PACKINGHOUSE WORKERS HAVE PUT OFF A STRIKE AT LEAST UNTIL MAY 20 TO GIVE THE BOARD A CHANCE TO CONSIDER THEIR SPECIAL CLAIMS ON AN 11-CENT INCREASE, AGREED TO BY THE PACKERS.
STABILIZER JOHNSTON HAS REFUSED TO APPROVE THE 11-CENT BOOST, WHICH WOULD BE EIGHT CENTS ABOVE THE 10 PERCENT CEILING ON WAGE HIKES OVER JANUARY, 1950, LEVELS.
IT WAS IN PROTEST AGAINST THAT CEILING THAT LABOR MEMBERS OF THE OLD NINE-MAN WAGE BOARD WALKED OUT THREE MONTHS AGO. THE NEW BOARD WAS CREATED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN IN AN EFFORT TO RESTORE HARMONY.
THE 18-MAN WAGE BOARD HELD ITS INITIAL MEETING AFTER SUPREME COURT JUSTICE HUGO BLACK SOWRE IN ALL BUT THREE OF THE MEMBERS AT A MASS OATH-TAKING CEREMONY.
ONE BY ONE, THE BOARD IS GOING TO HAVE TO CONSIDER PLEAS OF SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES AND THE THREAT OF POSSIBLE STRIKES WHICH COULD ENDANGER THE DEFENSE PROGRAM.
IN TIME IT MAY BE NECESSARY FOR THE BOARD TO ALLOW ITS OWN CEILING TO BE LIFTED ANOTHER COUPLE OF PERCENTAGE POINTS, BECAUSE OF THE RISE IN THE COST OF LIVING SINCE THE FREEZE OF LAST JAN. 25.
MEANWHILE, JOHNSTON SAID MEMBERS OF THE NEW THREE-MAN SALARY BOARD WILL BE APPOINTED IN THE NEAR FUTURE. THERE WILL BE ONLY PUBLIC REPRESENTATIVES IN CONTRAST TO THE LABOR-MANAGEMENT-PUBLIC SETUP ON THE WAGE BOARD.
IN GENERAL, EMPLOYEES REPRESENTED BY UNIONS IN BARGAINING RELATIONS WILL COME UNDER THE WAGE BOARD.
THE SALARY BOARD WILL LOOK AFTER THOSE WHO ARE EXEMPT FROM THE OVERTIME PAY PROVISIONS OF THE WAGE-HOUR LAW.

TOBIN BACKED UP PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S DEMAND FOR A TWO-YEAR EXTENSION OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT, WITH BROADER CONTROL POWERS, IN TWO HOURS OF TESTIMONY BEFORE THE SENATE BANKING COMMITTEE.
HE URGED THE LEGISLATORS NOT TO BE "MISLED" BY PRESENT PRICE DIPS. THESE, HE SAID, ARE MAINLY THE UNLOADING OF TELEVISION SETS AND SOME OTHER CONSUMER GOODS AND TEXTILES "WHERE SMALL MANUFACTURERS HAVE SPECULATED BEYOND THEIR DEPTH AND ABILITY."
"THE BASIC FORCES ARE STILL INFLATIONARY AND WILL BECOME INCREASINGLY SO AS SUPPLIES ARE CURTAILED BY THE STEPPED-UP MILITARY PROGRAM, WITH HEAVY CONSUMER DEMAND," TOBIN PREDICTED.
DESPITE SHARP ATTACK BY SENATOR BRICKER (R-OHIO), TOBIN ARGUED THAT RENTS IN SOME DECONTROLLED CITIES WILL NEED THE PROTECTION OF RESTORED FEDERAL RENT CEILINGS. MR.TRUMAN'S RENT PROPOSALS WOULD PERMIT FEDERAL RECONTROL EVEN WHERE CEILINGS HAVE BEEN LIFTED BY STATE OR LOCAL ACTION.
BRICKER EXPLODED IN PROTEST AGAINST THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT "TELLING ANY CITY WHAT'S GOOD FOR IT."
"IF YOU DO THAT, YOU'RE DESTROYING THE WHOLE FOUNDATION OF OUR FEDERAL SYSTEM, LOCAL SELF GOVERNMENT," HE SAID.
TOBIN REPLIED THAT 10 OF THE 34 LARGE CITIES COVERED BY THE CONSUMER PRICE INDEX HAVE BEEN DECONTROLLED, MOST OF THEM BEFORE KOREA. RENT SURVEYS SHOW THAT IN NINE OF THEM, RENTS HAVE BEEN BOOSTED ON 28 TO 70 PERCENT OF ALL DWELLINGS, HE SAID, WITH THE BIGGEST PERCENTAGE RISE ON THE LOWEST-RENT HOUSES.
THE CITIES INCLUDE SUCH INDUSTRIAL CENTERS AS BIRMINGHAM, HOUSTON, LOS ANGELES, NORFOLK AND PORTLAND,ORE., HE TESTIFIED. HE PREDICTED ANOTHER ROUND OF INCREASES FOR THEM AS DEFENSE WORK INCREASES "BUT NO RELIEF WOULD BE POSSIBLE UNDER PRESENT LAW."
TOBIN ENDORSED MR.TRUMAN'S PROPOSAL THAT PARITY BE "FROZEN" EACH YEAR AT PLANTING TIME TO STABILIZE FOOD PRICE CEILINGS.

THE REPORT SAYS THE PRESENT FOREIGN POLICY DOES NOT WIN FRIENDS OR CONFIDENCE FOR THE UNITED STATES IN THE WORLD, DOES NOT ADVANCE THE CAUSE OF HUMAN FREEDOM OR WELFARE AND HAS RESULTED IN INCREASED INSECURITY.
THE COMMITTEE SUGGESTS:

THE UNITED STATES LATE YESTERDAY SUBMITTED A FORMAL PROPOSAL FOR THE EMBARGO AT A CLOSED DOOR MEETING OF THE U.N.'S 12-NATION SANCTIONS COMMITTEE. A VOTE IS EXPECTED EITHER LATE THIS WEEK OR ON MONDAY.
A BRIEF DISCUSSION AFTER THE PROPOSAL WAS SUBMITTED INDICATED THAT IT WOULD NOT MEET WITH ANY SERIOUS OPPOSITION, ALTHOUGH MOST DELEGATIONS WITHHELD FINAL COMMITMENT UNTIL THEY HAD CONSULTED THEIR GOVERNMENTS.
AT A MEETING LAST THURSDAY BOTH BRITAIN AND FRANCE HAD GIVEN THE IDEA A COOL RECEPTION, LEADING TO THE BELIEF THAT THE U.S. MIGHT RUN INTO DIFFICULTIES. BUT YESTERDAY, BRITAIN'S SIR GLADWYN JEBB SAID IT WAS QUOTE POSSIBLE HIS GOVERNMENT WOULD FEEL THE U.S. WAS RIGHT IN SUBMITTING ITS RESOLUTION AT THIS TIME. FRANCIS LACOSTE OF FRANCE EXPRESSED THE BELIEF HIS GOVERNMENT WOULD GIVE IT SYMPATHETIC CONSIDERATION.
ONE OBSERVER FAMILIAR WITH THE DISCUSSIONS SAID THE EMBARGO PROBABLY WOULD BE ADOPTED BY A VOTE OF 11 TO 0, WITH EGYPT ABSTAINING. OTHER MEMBERS OF THE SANCTIONS COMMITTEE ARE THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN, FRANCE, AUSTRALIA, CANADA, VENEZUELA, THE PHILIPPINES, BELGIUM, BRAZIL, TURKEY AND MEXICO.
IF THE COMMITTEE APPROVES THE PROPOSAL, IT THEN WILL GO TO THE 60-NATION POLITICAL COMMITTEE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND FINALLY TO A PLENARY MEETING OF THE ASSEMBLY, THERE IT NO DOUBT WILL BE BITTERLY OPPOSED BY THE SOVIET BLOC.
MAJOR PROVISIONS OF THE U.S. RESOLUTION:
THE SHIPMENT OF ARMS, AMMUNITIONS, IMPLEMENTS OF WAR, ATOMIC ENERGY MATERIALS, PETROLEUM, AND ITEMS USEFUL IN THE PRODUCTION OF ARMS SHOULD BE PROHIBITED TO AREAS CONTROLLED BY THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.
THE SANCTIONS COMMITTEE SHOULD CONTINUE TO STUDY OTHER POSSIBLE MEASURES AGAINST RED CHINA, BUT SHOULD DEFER ANY FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS IF THE U.N. GOOD OFFICES COMMITTEE MAKES SATISFACTORY PROGRESS TOWARD A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT. THIS THREE-MEMBER COMMITTEE SO FAR HAS FAILED EVEN TO ESTABLISH CONTACT WITH THE PEIPING REGIME.
SALVADOR LOPEZ, PHILIPPINES DELEGATE, SAID THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL REPRESENTED A MODERATE COMPROMISE AND WAS THE "IRREDUCIBLE MINIMUM" AT THIS TIME.

NEW YORK, MAY 8-(AP)-JUDGE JOHN C. KNOX RULED IN FEDERAL COURT YESTERDAY THAT A NEWSPAPERMAN IS NOT ENTITLED TO CLAIM PRIVILEGE IN U.S. COURT IN ORDER TO PROTECT HIS NEWS SOURCES.
BUT THE JUDGE DID NOT INDICATE WHETHER HE WOULD RULE THAT NEW YORK POST COLUMNIST LEONARD LYONS MUST REVEAL THE SOURCE OF SEVERAL ITEMS HE HAS WRITTEN ABOUT MRS. ETHEL ROSENBERG, CONDEMNED ATOM SPY FOR RUSSIA.
JUDGE KNOX SAID HE WOULD HAND DOWN A DECISION ON THAT QUESTION THURSDAY.
LYONS HAS REFUSED TO DIVULGE THE SOURCES OF HIS INFORMATION.
"THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN A NEWS SOURCE AND A NEWSPAPERMAN," HE SAID, "IS AS SACRED AS BETWEEN A LAWYER AND HIS CLIENT, A DOCTOR AND HIS PATIENT, AND A CLERGYMAN AND A CONFESSOR."
JUDGE KNOX, DISAGREEING, DECLARED:
"I HAVE GONE INTO THE LAW VERY CAREFULLY AND I CAN FIND THAT HE HAS NO SUCH PRIVILEGE.
"I WISH TO GO AS FAR AS I CAN TO PROTECT HIM FROM DISCLOSING HIS SOURCES OF INFORMATION IF I FEEL THAT WHAT HE HAS SAID IS WITHOUT SUBSTANCE SO FAR AS THIS LITIGATION IS CONCERNED. I WILL RULE ON THURSDAY AS TO WHETHER OR NOT I WILL ORDER HIM TO TELL HIS SOURCE OF INFORMATION."
IN SOME STATES, NEWSPAPERMEN ARE PROTECTED BY LAW FROM REVEALING THEIR CONFIDENTIAL NEWS SOURCES IN STATE COURTS.
THE JUDGE'S RULING CAME DURING AN ACTION BROUGHT BY MRS. ROSENBERG

TO BE TRANSFERRED FROM SING SING PRISON DEATH HOUSE TO THE WOMEN'S DETENTION PRISON HERE.

A PSYCHIATRIST, DR. FREDERIC WERTHAM, TESTIFIED THAT PROLONGED IMPRISONMENT OF MRS. ROSENBERG IN THE DEATH HOUSE "WILL LEAD TO A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN AND APPARENTLY, IN ALL PROBABILITY, DRIVE HER INSANE."

MRS. ROSENBERG'S HUSBAND, JULIUS, CONVICTED AND SENTENCED TO DEATH WITH HER, IS A PRISONER IN THE FEDERAL HOUSE OF DETENTION IN NEW YORK CITY.

MRS. ROSENBERG CLAIMS THE GOVERNMENT TRANSFERRED HER TO THE DEATH HOUSE AT OSSINING, N.Y., TO SUBJECT HER TO "CRUEL AND INHUMAN" TREATMENT TO MAKE HER TALK.

NIGHT LEAD UNDATED V-E DAY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE EUROPEAN PHASE OF WORLD WAR II ENDED SIX YEARS AGO YESTERDAY (TUESDAY). CONCERN OVER THE POSSIBILITY OF A WORLD WAR III OVERSHADOWED OBSERVANCE OF THE ANNIVERSARY IN THE WESTERN WORLD. IN THE COMMUNIST SPHERE, THE SOVIET ARMY DREW ITS USUAL PRAISE.

FOUR MEN WHO MET IN A LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE AT REIMS, THE SUPREME HEADQUARTERS OF GEN.DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, SIGNED THE DOCUMENT BY WHICH A BEATEN GERMANY SURRENDERED UNCONDITIONALLY.

THEY WERE COL.GEN.ALFRED JODL, GERMAN ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF; U.S. LT.GEN.WALTER BEDELL SMITH, GEN.DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER'S CHIEF OF STAFF; FRENCH GEN.FRANCOIS SEVEZ, AND SOVIET MAJ.GEN.IVAN SUSLOPAROV.

NOW JODL IS DEAD, HANGED AT NUERNBERG FOR WAR CRIMES.

SMITH IS FACING A NEW FOE--AGGRESSIVE COMMUNISM--AS DIRECTOR OF THE U.S. CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY.

MAY 9 1951

SEVEZ IS DEAD, THE VICTIM OF A HUNTING ACCIDENT.

SUSLOPAROV IS--WHO OUTSIDE THE KREMLIN KNOWS?

ONLY AFTER THE SURRENDER DID EISENHOWER RECEIVE JODL. THAT WAS TO DEMAND COLDLY AN ASSURANCE THAT JODL UNDERSTOOD THE TERMS.

EISENHOWER SPENT THE ANNIVERSARY YESTERDAY IN A CHILLING RAIN INSPECTING BELGIAN MILITARY AIR FIELDS IN HIS NEW JOB AS COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF ATLANTIC ALLIANCE DEFENSE FORCES.

AND, SIX YEARS AFTER THE SURRENDER, WEST GERMAN PRESIDENT THEODORE HEUSS APPEALED TO ALL NATIONS TO REPATRIATE THEIR GERMAN PRISONERS OF WAR "AS A MATTER OF SIMPLE HUMANITY."

"THE DISTRESS OF THOSE ARBITRARILY DETAINED AND THE SORROW OF THEIR RELATIVES CANNOT BE ENTERED INTO A LIST OF REPARATIONS," HEUSS SAID IN A SPEECH BROADCAST FROM BONN.

HE DID NOT NAME ANY COUNTRY, BUT IT WAS CLEAR TO LISTENERS THAT HE WAS CHIEFLY ADDRESSING THE SOVIET UNION. WEST GERMAN AUTHORITIES CHARGE THAT RUSSIA STILL HOLDS THOUSANDS OF PRISONERS WHO SHOULD BE RETURNED, DESPITE HER DECLARATION THAT SHE HAS SENT BACK ALL EXCEPT WAR CRIMINALS. THESE AUTHORITIES DECLARE OTHER FORMER GERMAN SOLDIERS ARE HELD IN SOVIET SATELLITES AND YUGOSLAVIA.

A11

V-E DAY, LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE IN DIVIDED GERMANY, GOT DIVIDED ATTENTION IN BERLIN.

WEST GERMANS LARGELY IGNORED THE ANNIVERSARY.

EAST GERMANY, PLAYING THE SOVIET UNION'S GAME, HAILED THE OCCASION AS A HOLIDAY TO BE CELEBRATED FOREVER IN GRATITUDE FOR LIBERATION FROM THE NAZIS. RED FLAGS WAVED IN A LIGHT BREEZE AT A RUSSIAN MILITARY CEMETERY AS EAST GERMANS EXTOLLED THE MERITS OF THE RED ARMY WHICH STORMED BERLIN.

THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT'S VOICE OF AMERICA CHIDED MOSCOW FOR IGNORING THE WESTERN ALLIES' CONTRIBUTION TO VICTORY IN RECENT YEARS, NOTING THAT PRIME MINISTER STALIN GAVE THEM FULL CREDIT IN 1945.

THE HIGH POLICY DEBATE ON HOW TO DEFEAT COMMUNIST FORCES IN KOREA AND MEET COMMUNIST AGGRESSION ELSEWHERE WENT ON IN WASHINGTON. SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL TESTIFIED BEFORE A SENATE COMMITTEE THAT IF THERE WAS AN ABSOLUTE CERTAINTY RUSSIA WOULD NOT ENTER THE KOREAN WAR HE WOULD FAVOR GEN.MACARTHUR'S PLAN TO BOMB CHINESE MANCHURIAN SUPPLY BASES.

IT WAS A DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY FOR PRESIDENT TRUMAN. THE DAY MARKED HIS 67TH BIRTHDAY AS WELL AS THE ANNIVERSARY OF HIS VICTORY PROCLAMATION.

FIFTH NIGHT LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (150)

BY DON HUTH.

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, MAY 9-(AP)-MORE THAN 300 ALLIED PLANES TODAY HIT THE RED KOREAN BORDER CITY OF SINUIJU, ACROSS THE YALU RIVER FROM MANCHURIA, IN THE BIGGEST AIR STRIKE OF THE WAR.

FIELD DISPATCHES SAID THE MISSION'S AIM WAS TO KNOCK OUT 70 TO 100 COMMUNIST AIRCRAFT CAMOUFLAGED ON THE GROUND.

SOME 50 RED AIRCRAFT ROSE FROM THE CHINESE BASE OF ANTUNG, ACROSS THE YALU IN MANCHURIA. BUT ONLY 13 SWOOSHED ACROSS THE YALU, SAID LT.GEN.EARLE E.PARTRIDGE, U.S.FIFTH AIR FORCE COMMANDER, IN A SPECIAL SUMMARY.

MAY 9 1951

A FEW AIR FIGHTS FLARED.

FIRST REPORTS SAID ONE MIG WAS DAMAGED. THERE WERE NO REPORTS OF ALLIED LOSSES.

BUT THE DESTRUCTION OF RED AIRCRAFT ON THE GROUND WAS DESCRIBED AS TERRIFIC.

IN THE GROUND FIGHTING, THE REDS PULLED BACK NEAR PARALLEL 38 AMID GROWING REPORTS OF FRICTION BETWEEN RED CHINA AND RUSSIA OVER CONDUCT OF THE WAR.

SECOND NIGHT LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (500)

BY TOM STONE

TOKYO, THURSDAY, MAY 10-(AP)-ALLIED FORCES KILLED OR ROUTED 6,000 KOREAN REDS TRYING TO FLANK SEOUL FROM THE WEST, AN EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY.

REPUBLIC OF KOREA (ROK) TROOPS, SUPPORTED BY ARTILLERY AND PLANES, SMASHED BACK TWO RED REGIMENTS BETWEEN THE HAN RIVER AND THE SEOUL-MUNSAN ROAD, 20 TO 25 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE OLD CAPITAL.

ELSEWHERE ALONG THE RUGGED, CURVING FRONT, AGGRESSIVE U. N. PATROLS MET LITTLE OR NO RESISTANCE. THE COMMUNISTS APPARENTLY STILL WERE WITHDRAWING TO LICK THEIR WOUNDS FROM THE FIRST PHASE OF THEIR BOGGED-DOWN SPRING OFFENSIVE.

PHOTOGRAPHS AND PILOTS' REPORTS INDICATED THAT WEDNESDAY'S MASS AIR STRIKE BY 312 PLANES AGAINST THE SINUIJU AIRBASE IN RED NORTHWEST KOREA---LARGEST RAID OF THE WAR---DIDN'T INFLICT AS MUCH DAMAGE AS AT FIRST ANTICIPATED.

THE U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE ANNOUNCED TODAY DESTRUCTION OR DAMAGE OF 95 BUILDINGS HOUSING RED TROOPS AND SUPPLIES, A LARGE FUEL DUMP AND FIVE VEHICLES.

THE REPORT DID NOT AND APPRECIABLY TO WEDNESDAY'S PRELIMINARY ASSESSMENT OF RED PLANE LOSSES. IT SAID ONE---INSTEAD OF TWO---WAS DESTROYED ON THE GROUND AND TWO DAMAGED. TWO RUSSIAN-BUILT MIG-15 JETS AND ONE U. S. PLANE WERE DAMAGED IN DOGFIGHTS.

MARINE FLIERS SAID EIGHT OF THEIR PLANES SUFFERED MINOR DAMAGE FROM THE HEAVY COMMUNIST ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE. SOME OF THIS FIRE CAME FROM RED GUNS ON THE MANCHURIAN SIDE OF THE BORDER WHICH U. N. POLICY BARRED THE ALLIED PLANES FROM ATTACKING.

HOWEVER, THE BIG STRIKE MAY HAVE BEATEN THE REDS TO THE PUNCH. INTELLIGENCE REPORTS HAD INDICATED THE CHINESE WERE BUILDING UP AIR STRENGTH TO SUPPORT A RENEWAL OF THEIR GROUND OFFENSIVE ALONG CENTRAL KOREA.

AT U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON REPORTED THAT THE COMMUNISTS ROUTED NORTHWEST OF SEOUL HAD THREATENED TO MAKE AN END RUN AROUND THE WESTERN FRONT AND TRAP ALLIED FORCES ABOVE SEOUL FROM THE REAR.

A123KX

EUNSON REPORTED THAT, ALLTHOUGH THE REDS NOW WERE PULLING OUT GENERALLY ON THE WESTERN SECTOR, ONE FORCE STILL HELD AN AREA EAST OF THE SEOUL-MUNSAN ROAD. ABOUT 1,000 OF THE ENEMY PUT UP A STIFF SCRAP WEDNESDAY SOME 13 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL BUT PULLED BACK UNDER HEAVY ARTILLERY FIRE.

TO THE EASY, U. N. PATROLS PUNCHED NORTH OF UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, AND ABOVE CHUNCHON---ON THE CENTRAL FRONT SOME 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. SKIRMISHES WERE REPORTED AT

TO THE EAST, U. N. PATROLS PUNCHED NORTH OF UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, AND ABOVE CHUNCHON---ON THE CENTRAL FRONT SOME 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. SKIRMISHES WERE REPORTED AT POINTS ALONG PARALLEL 38 ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT.

THE EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED AN ESTIMATED 2,100 REDS KILLED OR WOUNDED WEDNESDAY---PRESUMABLY MOST OF THEM NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

THE RED RADIO AT PYONGYANG, NORTH KOREAN CAPITAL, BOASTED THAT MORE THAN 20,000 ALLIED TROOPS WERE KILLED, WOUNDED OR CAPTURED BETWEEN APRIL 22 AND APRIL 30---DURING THE COMMUNIST OFFENSIVE. THE REPORT WAS NOT CONFIRMED BY ANY OTHER SOURCE.

CONTINUED SLACKENING OF COMMUNIST ROAD TRAFFIC TOWARD THE FRONT WAS NOTED BY THE FIFTH AIR FORCE. ONLY SMALL, SCATTERED GROUPS OF VEHICLES WERE SPOTTED WEDNESDAY NIGHT. LAST WEEK SEVERAL THOUSANDS WERE ONTEOVE.

THE STRIKE ON SINUIJU AIR BASE, ACROSS THE YALU RIVER FROM MANCHURIA, FEATURED THREE FLIGHTS OF U. S. MARINE CORSAIRS---LIKEWISE THEIR LARGEST SINGLE ATTACK OF THE WAR.

LEATHERNECK PILOTS REPORTED SPOTTING MANY PLANES AND TANKS ARRAYED ACROSS THE YALU IN MANCHURIA.

RETURNING PILOTS REPORTED 10 SQUARE MILES AROUND SINUIJU WERE COVERED WITH DUST, SMOKE AND FLAME FROM 1,000-POUND BOMBS, ROCKETS AND FIRE BOMBS.

FIFTY SWEPT-WING RED JETS ROSE FROM ANTUNG ACROSS THE YALU BOUNDARY, BUT ONLY 13 CHALLENGED THE ALLIED FIGHTERS -- AND NOT FOR LONG. THEY HIGH TAILED IT BACK ACROSS THE RIVER AFTER A BRIEF DOGFIGHT.

THE FIRST WAVES OF ALLIED FIGHTERS RAN INTO HEAVY ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE. BUT FOLLOWING WAVES BOMBED OUT THE ACK ACK GUNS. RED PLANES, SUPPLY AND FUEL DUMPS AND BUILDINGS WERE ENVELOPED IN SMOKE.

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS THE CHINESE HAVE BEEN REPORTED MASSING PLANES TO SUPPORT THEIR GROUND EFFORT TO DRIVE UNITED NATIONS FORCES INTO THE SEA.

THE BIG RED SPRING OFFENSIVE RAN OUT OF STEAM LESS THAN 10 DAYS AFTER IT BEGAN APRIL 22. AFTER TRADING GROUND FOR RED CASUALTIES -- MORE THAN 70,000 OF THEM -- U.N. FORCES HAVE BEEN ROLLING SLOWLY BACK NORTHWARD BEHIND AGGRESSIVE PATROLS.

ALLIED PATROLS MET ONLY LIGHT OPPOSITION IN SOME SECTORS ALONG THE FRONT WEDNESDAY. THE U.S. EIGHTH ARMY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED GAINS OF MORE THAN THREE MILES ON THE WESTERN FRONT, NORTHWEST OF SEOUL, THE REPUBLICAN CAPITAL.

ON THE CENTRAL FRONT, A TANK-INFANTRY PATROL REPORTED THE FIRST CONTACT WITH THE REDS IN SEVERAL DAYS. IT ENGAGED THE COMMUNISTS IN AN HOUR-LONG SKIRMISH A MILE NORTH OF CHUNCHON, 15 AIR MILES SOUTH OF PARALLEL 38.

ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT, ADDITIONAL SOUTH KOREAN PATROLS CROSSED THE PARALLEL AT POINTS ROUGHLY BETWEEN INJE AND THE EAST COAST. INJE IS 25 AIR MILES INLAND.

RUMBLINGS OF CHINESE DISCONTENT WITH THE RUSSIANS WERE REPORTED BY HIGHLY-PLACED AMERICAN OFFICERS.

A208KX

AP CORRESPONDENT JIM BECKER, SAID THESE SOURCES REPORTED THE CHINESE "ARE HIGHLY DISGUSTED WITH THE RUSSIANS FOR NOT SUPPLYING LARGE QUANTITIES OF TANKS AND PLANES SUPPOSEDLY PROMISED RED CHINESE LEADERS BY THE KREMLIN."

IT WAS BELIEVED THE CHINESE WERE STOCK-PILING THEIR RUSSIAN-SUPPLIED PLANES AT SINUIJU. THOSE THAT THE MASS AIR STRIKE PLASTERED "WERE BLASTED TO PIECES," AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON REPORTED.

"BUT EVEN IF THEY WERE DUMMIES, THEY SHOWED THE CHINESE HOW HARD WE CAN HIT IF WE HAVE TO," EUNSON ADDED.

LT. OTIS (FLASH) GORDON, JACKSONVILLE, FLA., AND MAJ. ANDREW JACKSON ALEXANDER OF ANDERSON, S.C., WERE CREDITED WITH DAMAGING THE TWO RED JETS IN WEDNESDAY'S DOGFIGHT.

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, MAY 9-(AP)-MORE THAN 300 ALLIED PLANES SMASHED A RED AIR FIELD ON THE KOREA-MANCHURIA BORDER TODAY TO PREVENT AN EXPECTED COMMUNIST AERIAL OFFENSIVE.
IT WAS THE BIGGEST RAID OF THE WAR. BUT FIRST OFFICIAL REPORTS DIDN'T LOOK LIKE MUCH. THE FIFTH AIR FORCE SAID TWO RED PLANES WERE DAMAGED IN THE AIR, TWO WERE DESTROYED AND ONE WAS DAMAGED ON THE GROUND.
PRECISELY WHAT HAPPENED IN THE THUNDERING RAID WAS SCREENED BY FLAMES AND SMOKE. RETURNING PILOTS SAID 10 SQUARE MILES WERE BLANKETED BY SMOKE AND FLAMES.
THE TARGET WAS SINUIJU AIR FIELD WHERE 70 TO 100 RED PLANES HAD BEEN SPOTTED ON THE GROUND

PRECISELY WHAT HAPPENED IN THE THUNDERING RAID WAS SCREENED BY FLAMES AND SMOKE. RETURNING PILOTS SAID 10 SQUARE MILES WERE BLANKETED BY SMOKE AND FLAMES.
THE TARGET WAS SINUIJU AIR FIELD WHERE 70 TO 100 RED PLANES HAD BEEN SPOTTED ON THE GROUND.
THE ATTACK WAS MADE BY 312 JETS AND FIGHTER-BOMBERS. THEY CAME FROM EVERY UNITED NATIONS AIR FIELD IN KOREA. FOR HALF AN HOUR EARLY WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON THEY BLASTED AND BURNED THE AIRFIELD IN NORTHWESTERN KOREA.
EIGHTY RUSSIAN TYPE JET FIGHTERS WERE PARKED ON AN AIR FIELD AT ANTUNG, MANCHURIA ACROSS THE YALU RIVER FROM SINUIJU.
FIFTY ROSE. BUT LT.GEN.EARLE E.PARTRIDGE, FIFTH AIR FORCE COMMANDER SAID ONLY 13 CROSSED THE YALU. A FEW AIR FIGHTS FLARED.
HOWEVER, LT.ROBERT DIXON, NEWTON, IOWA, SAID THE RED JETS WERE OUT IN STRENGTH.
"IT'S A MASSACRE." HE SAID, "AND THEY ARE BEING MASSACRED, NOT US."

FIELD DISPATCHES SAID ONE RUSSIAN TYPE MIG-15 WAS PROBABLY SHOT DOWN AND ANOTHER DAMAGED. ONE U.S. PLANE WAS DAMAGED.

THE BIG BLOW AT SINUIJU FOLLOWED FRONT LINE REPORTS THAT CHINESE WERE ANGERED AT RUSSIAN FAILURE TO SUPPLY TANKS OR PLANES FOR THEIR SPRING OFFENSIVE. THE AIR SHOW COMPLETELY OVERSHADOWED GROUND OPERATIONS. RED TROOPS CONTINUED TO PULL BACK FROM ARMORED ALLIED JABS.
SOUTH KOREANS ADVANCED THE WESTERN END OF THE U.N. LINE TWO MORE MILES WEDNESDAY. THEY WERE HELPED BY TANKS THAT LITERALLY OVERRAN 14 RED GUNS. OTHER SOUTH KOREANS MOVING UP ON THE EAST SEIZED CONTROL OF THE SUPPLY HIGHWAY BETWEEN HONGCHON AND THE RED BASE AT INJE.

ALLIED INTELLIGENCE REPORTS SAID ABOUT 70 TO 100 CAMOUFLAGED PLANES HAD BEEN MASSED IN SINUIJU REVETMENTS. THE LONG EXPECTED RED AIR STRIKE WAS BELIEVED IMMINENT.
THEN THE ALLIES STRUCK. AMERICAN AIR FORCE AND SOUTH AFRICAN FIGHTER PLANES HIT IN TWO WAVES.
THE FIRST WAVE SWEPT THROUGH HEAVY FLAK, ROCKETING, BOMBING AND STRAFING ANTIAIRCRAFT GUNS.
THE SECOND WAVE HIT REVETMENTS AND THE AIR FIELD WITH HIGH EXPLOSIVE, FRAGMENTATION AND FIRE BOMBS.
"I DON'T THINK THE REDS WILL FLY ANY MORE PLANES OFF THAT STRIP," SAID CAPT. H.L. WILLIAMS, WATONGA, OKLA. "THE NAPALM (JELLIED GASOLINE FIRE BOMBS) COVERED THE WHOLE PLACE."
U.N. PILOTS WERE GUIDED BY "BEAUTIFUL PHOTOS," SAID MAJ.JOE BAGLIO OF ROSLINDALE, MASS. THEY WERE "SO CLEAR THEY COULD SEE THE PLANES THROUGH THE CAMOUFLAGE ON THEM."
RETURNING PILOTS REPORTED THEY HIT THE REVETMENTS SQUARELY. BUT, IN THE WORDS OF COL.DONALD K.YOST OF PRINCETON, N.J., THEY COULDN'T SEE WHETHER THEY SHELTERED PLANES--"THEY WERE SO WELL CAMOUFLAGED."
"WE WATCHED THE BUILDUP OF ENEMY PLANES IN THIS AREA," SAID MAJ. CARL G.CARLSON OF DENVER, INTELLIGENCE OFFICER, "AND WHEN IT GOT SO FAR WE HAD TO HIT IT. WE THINK A GOOD JOB WAS DONE."
AP CORRESPONDENT WILLIAM BARNARD REPORTED NO U.N. PLANES OR AIRMEN WERE LOST. THE DAMAGED RED JET WAS HIT BY LONG-RANGE FIRE.
THE STRIKING FORCE WAS COMPOSED OF 206 U.N. FIGHTER-BOMBERS, COVERED BY 106 JET FIGHTERS.

A52FX
THE POWER OF THE U.N. STRIKE COMPARED TO THE OPPOSITION IT MET UNDERSCORED REPORTS OF CHINESE DISSATISFACTION OVER INADEQUATE RUSSIAN AID.
A FRONT LINE DISPATCH FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT JIM BECKER, DELAYED BY CENSORS, SAID ABSENCE OF RUSSIAN-MADE ARMOR BOGGED DOWN THE RECENT RED OFFENSIVE AFTER IT HAD BROKEN THROUGH U.N. LINES. BECKER QUOTED A HIGH RANKING ALLIED OFFICER AS SAYING:
"WE HAVE LEARNED FROM MANY SOURCES THAT THE CHINESE DID NOT FOLLOW UP THEIR BREAKTHROUGH BECAUSE THEY HAD PLANNED ON USING PLANES AND TANKS AND THE RUSSIANS DID NOT DELIVER THEM.
"WE HEAR THAT MANY TOP CHINESE GENERALS ARE DISGUSTED BY THIS RUSSIAN FAILURE TO DELIVER."
SIMILAR REPORTS OF CHINESE ANGER WITH RUSSIANS CAME PREVIOUSLY FROM AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH.
BECKER SAID THE U.N. PUSH NORTHWARD FORCED THE CHINESE TO LAUNCH THEIR OFFENSIVE PREMATURELY, WITH INFANTRY ALONE.
SINCE THAT DRIVE FIZZLED, THE REDS HAVE MADE STRENUOUS EFFORTS TO RE-EQUIP THEIR FRONT LINE FORCES. A U.S. DEFENSE DEPARTMENT SPOKESMAN IN WASHINGTON SAID 16,000 RED VEHICLES WERE SPOTTED ON NORTH KOREAN ROADS LAST WEEK.
TUESDAY 1,625 WERE SEEN ON THE ROADS. THIS IS LESS THAN RECENT TRAFFIC, BUT STILL FAR ABOVE ROAD MOVEMENTS BEFORE THE OFFENSIVE.
SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS EXPANDED THEIR THREE BRIDGEHEADS INSIDE RED KOREA. ALL WERE ON THE EASTERN FRONT.
THE THIRD CROSSING OF THE 38TH PARALLEL WAS MADE TUESDAY SOUTHEAST OF THE RED SUPPLY BASE OF INJE. AN EARLIER WEDGE WAS DRIVEN SOUTH OF INJE. OTHER SOUTH KOREANS WERE NORTH OF THE BORDER ON THE EASTERN SEABOARD.
SOUTH KOREANS ON THE WESTERN SECTOR ON BOTH SIDES OF THE HAN RIVER ALSO ADVANCED NORTH OF SEOUL.
THESE WERE THE ONLY SOLID FRONTS. THE EIGHTH ARMY ESTIMATED RED LOSSES FOR THE DAY AT 915 KILLED OR WOUNDED.
IN ADDITION TO THE LIMITED ADVANCES, A GENERAL HEADQUARTERS COMMUNIQUE SAID GROUND ACTIVITY WAS LIMITED TO PATROLS "PROBING DEEP INTO ENEMY TERRITORY AGAINST SPORADIC RESISTANCE."

TOKYO, MAY 9-(AP)-TWO VETERAN WARSHIPS OF THE KOREAN CAMPAIGN HAVE SAILED FOR HOME--ONE TO CANADA AND THE OTHER TO NEW ZEALAND.

THE CANADIAN DESTROYER ATHABASKAN, COMMANDED BY CMDR. R.P. WELLAND, AND THE NEW ZEALAND FRIGATE TUTIRA, COMMANDED BY LT. CMDR. P.J. HOARE, ARE TO UNDERGO REFITTING AT THEIR HOME PORTS AFTER 10 MONTHS' SERVICE.

THE ATHABASKAN, NICKNAMED BY THE AMERICANS THE "LITTLE MO" AFTER OPERATIONS IN COMPANY WITH THE USS MISSOURI, SAILED OVER 60,000 MILES AND SPENT 202 OF HER 273 DAYS AT SEA. SHE WAS ONE OF THE DESTROYERS WHICH SAILED UP THE CHINNAMPO ESTUARY TO RESCUE ALLIED PERSONNEL.

VICE ADM. C. TURNER JOY, COMMANDER OF U.N. NAVAL FORCES IN THE FAR EAST, SENT THE ATHABASKAN THE FOLLOWING SIGNAL: "ATHABASKAN HAS SERVED THE UNITED NATIONS EFFORT IN KOREAN WATERS HONORABLY AND BRAVELY, AND IT IS WITH DEEP REGRET THAT I NOTE HER DEPARTURE FOR A WELL DESERVED REST. TO THE COMMANDER, OFFICERS AND MEN MY SINCERE 'WELL DONE.'"

REAR ADM. A. K. SCOTT-MONCRIEFF, WHO RECENTLY ASSUMED COMMAND OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH FLEET, SIGNALLED, "THANK YOU FOR YOUR GOOD HARD WORK DURING YOUR TIME OUT HERE. HAPPY HOMECOMING TO ALL."

THE TUTIRA, WITH OTHER FRIGATES, PERFORMED ROUTINE ESCORT DUTIES AND BLOCKADE PATROLS. REAR ADM. A.E. SMITH, U.S. COMMANDER OF THE U.N. BLOCKADING FORCES, SIGNALLED HER:

TOKYO, THURSDAY, MAY 10-(AP)-THE AIR FORCE SAID TODAY ALLIED AIR MEN ARE USING IMPROVED RADAR BOMBING TECHNIQUES WHICH BLAST COMMUNIST NIGHT TROOP MOVEMENTS ALMOST AS ACCURATELY AS VISUAL DAYLIGHT BOMBING.

LT. GEN. GEORGE E. STRATEMEYER, COMMANDER OF THE FAR EAST AIR FORCE, SAID NIGHT-FLYING B-29 AND B-26 BOMBERS ALSO ARE USING 500-POUND FRAGMENTATION BOMBS WITH PROXIMITY FUSES.

THESE BOMBS, WHEN THEY NEAR THE GROUND, EXPLODE INTO 15,000 SCATTERED SHELL FRAGMENTS, STRATEMEYER SAID.

USING THIS TECHNIQUE, A SINGLE B-29 CAN RAIN DOWN ABOUT 600,000 PIECES OF SHRAPNEL ON AN ENEMY TROOP CONCENTRATION.

STRATEMEYER SAID AN ALLIED PATROL WHICH RECENTLY SCOUTED AN AREA HIT BY SUCH A RAID NEAR KAPYONG IN CENTRAL KOREA FOUND 600 ENEMY DEAD.

KOREAN REPUBLICAN FORCES COUNTED 800 ENEMY BODIES AFTER A SIMILAR RAID NEAR INJE IN EAST-CENTRAL KOREA.

STRATEMEYER SAID THE LATEST IN NIGHT-BOMBING METHODS WERE DISCOURAGING COMMUNIST TROOPS WHO HAD BEEN ACCUSTOMED TO MOVING SAFELY DURING DARKNESS. HE SAID PRISONERS TOLD OF "AN INCREASING SENSE OF HELPLESSNESS AND FUTILITY AMONG RED FRONT LINE UNITS."

THE USE OF POWERFUL FLARES ALSO HAS INCREASED THE EFFECTIVENESS OF NIGHT BOMBING, STRATEMEYER SAID.

TOKYO, THURSDAY, MAY 10-(AP)-BRIG. GEN. CRAWFORD F. SAMS, CHIEF OF THE U. N. COMMAND'S PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE SECTION, HAS RECEIVED THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS FOR A DARING TRIP BEHIND ENEMY LINES IN KOREA TO CHECK REPORTS OF WIDESPREAD DISEASE AMONG RED TROOPS.

THE CITATION SAID THE ST. LOUIS, MO., ARMY DOCTOR MADE AN AMPHIBIOUS LANDING IN ENEMY TERRITORY THE NIGHT OF MARCH 13. FOR THREE AND A HALF HOURS, HE GATHERED INFORMATION ON PESTILENCE AMONG THE COMMUNIST FORCES.

THE INFORMATION WAS IMPORTANT ENOUGH "TO AFFECT THE IMMEDIATE CONDUCT OF THE U. N. ARMED EFFORT IN KOREA," THE CITATION SAID.

SAMS TOOK THREE ASSISTANTS ASHORE DESPITE THE FACT OTHER LANDING PARTIES HAD BEEN CAPTURED AND THE REDS KNEW HIS OPERATION WAS PLANNED. THE FOUR LANDED IN A RUBBER RAFT AT A SITE NOT DISCLOSED FOR SECURITY REASONS.

THE CITATION REVEALED OFFICIALLY FOR THE FIRST TIME THAT U. N. MEDICAL TEAMS HAVE BEEN OPERATING BEHIND ENEMY LINES, GATHERING VITAL INFORMATION OF DISEASE AND OTHER MEDICAL PROBLEMS.

FIRST LEAD AIR (7650)
BY WILLIAM C. BARNARD AND JOHN RANDOLPH
U.S. 5TH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, MAY 9-(AP)-MORE THAN 300 ALLIED WARPLANES TODAY SCORCHED THE NORTHWEST KOREA SINUIJU AIR-BASE ON THE MANCHURIAN BORDER.

IT WAS THE BIGGEST ALLIED RAID OF THE WAR AGAINST A SINGLE TARGET.

FIFTY COMMUNIST PLANES ROSE FROM RED CHINA'S ANTUNG AIRBASE ACROSS THE YALU RIVER IN MANCHURIA, BUT ONLY 13 CROSSED THE YALU TO CHALLENGE THE MIGHTY ALLIED AIR ARMADA, SAID THE FIFTH AIR FORCE COMMANDER, LT.GEN. EARLE E.PARTRIDGE. THE REDS DIDN'T SHOW MUCH FIGHT.

PARTRIDGE'S EVENING SUMMARY SAID TWO RED MIG-15 JETS WERE DAMAGED IN THE AIR FIGHT AND TWO YAK-TYPE AIRCRAFT WERE DESTROYED AND ANOTHER WAS DAMAGED ON THE GROUND.

A FIELD DISPATCH SAID ONE ALLIED PLANE WAS DAMAGED.

AIR PHOTO TEAMS HAD SPOTTED 70 TO 100 COMMUNIST AIRCRAFT CAMOUFLAGED ON THE SINUIJU BASE. ALLIED INTELLIGENCE REPORTED THE REDS WERE PLANNING THEIR FIRST BIG AIR STRIKE OF THE KOREAN WAR.

"WE HAD WATCHED THE BUILDUP OF ENEMY PLANES IN THE AREA AND WHEN IT GOT SO FAR WE HAD TO HIT IT," AN INTELLIGENCE OFSCER EXPLAINED.

FIFTH AIR FORCE, MARINE

GOT SO FAR WE HAD TO HIT IT," AN INTELLIGENCE OFFICER EXPLAINED.

FIFTH AIR FORCE, MARINE AND SOUTH AFRICAN FLIERS BLANKETED THE AIRSTRIP WITH EMOLITION AND FRAGMENTATION BOMBS, AIRSTRIP WITH DEMOLITION AND FRAGMENTATION BOMBS, JELLIED GASOLINE FIREBOMBS, ROCKETS AND MACHINEGUN FIRE.

"I DON'T THINK THE REDS WILL FLY ANY MORE PLANES OFF THAT STRIP," SAID CAPT.H.L.WILLIAMS, WATONGA, OKLA. "THE NAPALM COVERED THE WHOLE PLACE."

MAJ.JOE BAGLIO, ROSLINDALE, MASS., SAID THE PILOTS WERE GUIDED BY "BEAUTIFUL PHOTOS--SO CLEAR THEY COULD SEE THE PLANES THROUGH THE CAMOUFLAGE ON THEM."

MAY 10 1951

BUT FROM THE AIR THE COMMUNIST PLANES COULD NOT BE SPOTTED BY EYE ALONE, ANOTHER PILOT SAID.

THERE WAS NO WAY OF KNOWING QUICKLY HOW MANY PLANES WERE DESTROYED AND DAMAGED ON THE GROUND.

BUT RETURNING PILOTS WERE CONFIDENT THEY HAD DEALT A HEAVY BLOW.

MAJ.CARL G.CARLSON, 1400 SYRACUSE ST., DENVER, A FIFTH AIRFORCE INTELLIGENCE OFFICER, SAID, "WE THINK A GOOD JOB WAS DONE."

MAJ.GEN. FIELD HARRIS, COMMANDER OF THE U.S. FIRST MARINE AIR WING, SAID "THIS IS THE LARGEST AIR OPERATION OF THE WHOLE WAR OVER HERE."

A80FX
MAJ.WILLIAM CROWE OF 466 E. 19TH ST., COSTA MESA, CALIF., A MARINE OPERATIONS OFFICER, SAID "OUR 1,000 POUNDERS LANDED RIGHT ON THE TARGET. THEN WE SWUNG AROUND AND STRAFED THE WHOLE AREA AROUND THE FIELD UNTIL OUR GUNS WERE EMPTY."

ANOTHER MARINE PILOT, LT.COL. DONALD K.YOST, 918 JEFFERSON ROAD, PRINCETON, N.J., SAID:

"WE COULDN'T SEE WHETHER THE PLANES WERE INSIDE OR NOT, THEY WERE SO WELL CAMOUFLAGED."

FIFTH AIR FORCE OFFICERS SAID RECENT AERIAL PHOTO RECONNAISSANCE SHOWED THE REDS WERE BUILDING UP THEIR AIR STRENGTH AT SINUIJU WITH NEW PLANES, FUEL AND SUPPLY DUMPS AND BUILDINGS.

THE FIELD WAS CONSIDERED RIPE TODAY FOR A HEAVY ATTACK.

FOR MORE THAN 30 MINUTES, 312 ALLIED PLANES ROARED OVER THE FIELD AND ITS NEARBY INSTALLATIONS. SMOKE AND DUST ROSE HIGH INTO THE AIR, MAKING ASSESSMENT OF RESULTS DIFFICULT.

THE STRIKE BEGAN AT 2 P.M. (11 P.M. EST TUESDAY) WHEN A MASS FLIGHT OF F-80 SHOOTING STARS SWEPT DOWN TO DESTROY ANTI-AIRCRAFT INSTALLATIONS WITH ROCKETS AND MACHINEGUNS.

P-51 MUSTANGS FOLLOWED WITH NAPALM, BOMB AND ROCKETS, HITTING FUEL DUMPS, SUPPLY AREAS AND AIRFIELD INSTALLATIONS.

THEN CAME ANOTHER LARGE FLIGHT OF F-30S, PUMPING ROCKETS AND

30.24- 22769

MACHINEGUN BULLETS INTO COMMUNIST PLANES FOUND ON THE GROUND.
ANOTHER WAVE OF F-80S POUNDED THE AREA WITH 500 AND 1,000 POUND DEMOLITION BOMBS.
AN EVEN LARGER GROUP OF MARINE F-4-U'S SCREAMED DOWN WITH MORE ROCKETS AND MACHINEGUNS.
WHILE THAT ATTACK WAS GOING, F-86 SABRE JETS, F-9-F PANTHER JETS AND F-84 THUNDERJETS ALTERNATED AT FLYING TOP COVER.
MIDWAY IN THE ATTACK ABOUT 50 MIG-15S ROSE FROM ANTUNG BUT ONLY 13 CAME ACROSS.
ONE GROUP OF FOUR MIGS CAME IN LOW AND STARTED A PASS, THEN FADED AWAY.
EIGHT MIGS JUMPED A FOUR-PLANE FLIGHT OF F-84 S AT HIGH RANGE, MAKING ONE DIVING PASS BEFORE SCURRYING ACROSS THE BORDER. ONE F-84 WAS SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BUT RETURNED SAFELY TO BASE.

MAJ.ANDREW JACKSON ALEXANDER, ANDERSON, S.C., WHO WAS IN A GROUP OF 24 F-84S, SAID:
"AS THE FIGHTER PLANES STARTED BACK TO THEIR BASES WE FLEW BACK AND FORTH IN PROTECTIVE COVER OVER THEM.
"ABOUT 20 MILES SOUTH OF SINUIJU, WHEN WE HAD REACHED AN ALTITUDE OF 20,000 FEET, THE FIRST TWO OF EIGHT RUSSIAN PLANES DOVE TOWARD ME AND MY WING MAN. I YELLED 'BREAK,' AND THE WINGMAN BROKE TO THE LEFT AND I TO THE RIGHT. I COULD SEE RED GOLF BALLS (20 MM. CANNON FIRE) GOING PAST MY WING. JUST AS THE SECOND OF THE TWO MIGS SWEPT PAST I TURNED ON MY OWN MACHINEGUNS AND I CALCULATE EIGHT BULLETS--INCENDIARIES--GOT HIM IN THE FUSELAGE. HE WENT DOWN AND I AM LISTING HIM AS PROBABLY DESTROYED.
"THERE WAS A LOT OF CONFUSION AFTER THAT AND MY WINGMAN GOT LOST FROM ME AND I HAD NO ONE TO WARN ME WHEN TO BREAK AT THE TIME OF THE MIG ATTACKS. THEIR TECHNIQUE WAS EXCELLENT. ON THE THIRD PASS AT ME, I FELT A COUPLE OF SHOTS HIT MY PLANE--THERE WAS A SHUDDER--I THINK IT WAS 30 MM. CANNON FIRE. IT HAD HIT MY TAILPIPE. I RETAINED CONTROL OF THE PLANE BUT LOST POWER DOWN TO ONLY 200 MILES PER HOUR.
"I FIGURED I WAS A SITTING DUCK NOW--I DIDN'T SEE HOW THEY COULD MISS. BUT I KEPT WATCHING THEM OVER MY SHOULDER, LOOKING RIGHT DOWN THEIR GUN BARRELS AND BREAKING TO THE RIGHT OR LEFT AS THEY MADE MORE PASSES AT ME. I HAVE A SORE NECK FROM WATCHING THEM...WE WERE ALL GLAD TO GET BACK.
"THERE WAS NO FLAK WHEN I GOT UP TO SINUIJU. I BELIEVE IT HAD ALL BEEN KNOCKED OUT. IT MUST HAVE BEEN A GREAT JOB. I HAVE SEEN FLAK AROUND THAT CITY SO HEAVY YOU COULD GET OUT AND WALK ON IT."
LT. OTIS "FLASH" GORDON OF JACKSONVILLE, FLA., WAS THE F-86 PILOT WHO DAMAGED THE MIG.
"THE MIGS STARTED ACROSS THE RIVER TOWARD THE F-80'S DOWN ON THE DECK," GORDON SAID. "THE REDS WERE AT 3,000 FEET. MY FLIGHT LEADER, LT.COL.GLEN EAGLESON, OF ALHAMBRA, CALIF., BROKE INTO THEM AND THEY TURNED AND RAN FOR THE RIVER BUT I SCORED BURSTS ON THE WINGTIP AND WING ROOF OF ONE OF THEM."

THE FIRST MAN OVER THE TARGET WAS MAJ.GEORGE G.LOVING, JR., OF LYNCHBURG, VA., WHO LED A FLIGHT OF 45 PLANES AGAINST SINUIJU.
"WHEN WE ARRIVED OVER THE TARGET WE RECEIVED INTENSE ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE--40 MM. 90 MM. AND 20 MM. STUFF," HE SAID.
"RIGHT ACROSS THE YALU RIVER AT ANTUNG, MANCHURIA, WE COULD SEE 80 MIGS SITTING ON THE FIELD."
LOVING ADDED:
"BUT OF COURSE WE WERE NOT PRIVILEGED TO HIT THEM. ANTIAIRCRAFT WAS COMING AT US FROM ACROSS THE RIVER THAT WE COULD NOT HIT BACK AT EITHER. THE JOB OF OUR FIRST FLIGHT WAS TO KNOCK OUT ANTIAIRCRAFT IN THE SINUIJU AREA SO OTHER PLANES GOING THERE LATER COULD KNOCK OUT ENEMY PLANES."
LOVING SAID BATTERIES NORTHWEST, WEST AND SOUTH OF THE SINUIJU

FIELD WERE HIT BY HIS FLIGHT FROM THE 49TH BOMBER WING.
"IT WAS A BIG SHOW," HE SAID.
ON THE WAY BACK, LOVING SAID HIS FLIGHT DREW INTENSE COMMUNIST ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE AS FAR AS 20 MILES SOUTH OF SINUIJU.

U. S. AIR BASE, KOREA, THURSDAY, MAY 10-(AP)-FIGHTER PILOTS IN THE 312-PLANE ALLIED STRIKE AT SINUIJU YESTERDAY RETURNED VOICING INCREASED DISLIKE FOR THE YALU RIVER BOUNDARY BETWEEN KOREA AND MANCHURIA.
IT WAS GALLING, THE PILOTS SAID, TO WATCH THE ENEMY STRIKE AT THEM FROM WHAT GENERAL MACARTHUR HAS CALLED THEIR "MANCHURIAN SANCTUARY." IT IS JUST ACROSS THE RIVER FROM SINUIJU.
U. N. POLICY BARRED THE FLIERS FROM KNOCKING OUT THE ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS WHICH FIRED AT THEM FROM ACROSS THE YALU. NOR WERE THEY PERMITTED TO ATTACK COMMUNIST PLANES THEY SAW JUST OVER THE BORDER.
THE ENEMY CRAFT WERE RIGHT THERE IN PLAIN SIGHT, FIRST WARMING UP TO TAKE THE AIR AND LATER GAINING ALTITUDE ON THEIR OWN SIDE OF THE RIVER, PILOTS SAID. FIFTY RED PLANES TOOK THE AIR BUT ONLY 13 ATTACKED.
FIFTH AIR FORCE ANNOUNCED THAT 95 BUILDINGS CONTAINING ENEMY TROOPS AND SUPPLIES WERE DESTROYED OR DAMAGED IN THE STRIKE, ALONG WITH A LARGE FUEL DUMP AND FIVE VEHICLES.
ONE RED PLANE WAS DEFINITELY DESTROYED AND TWO DAMAGED ON THE GROUND, THE AIR FORCE SAID. THEY WERE IDENTIFIED AS RUSSIAN-BUILT LA-5S--CONVENTIONAL-TYPE FIGHTERS---INSTEAD OF RUSSIAN YAKS, ALSO PROPELLER-DRIVEN PLANES, AS FIRST ANNOUNCED.
THE AIR FORCE ACKNOWLEDGED DAMAGE TO ONE OF ITS PLANES. MARINE FLIERS REPORTED EIGHT OF THEIRS SUFFERED MINOR DAMAGE.
MAJ. GEORGE G. LOVING, JR., LYNCHBURG, VA., AND MAJ. ANDREW JACKSON ALEXANDER OF ANDERSON, S. C., WERE AMONG THE FLIERS WHO REPORTED THEY COULD SEE THE RED PLANES SITTING ON THE FIELD AT ANTUNG, MANCHURIA, AND IN THE AIR ON THE MANCHURIAN SIDE.
LOVING SAID AA GUNS ON THE MANCHURIAN SIDE TRIED TO GET HIM BUT "OF COURSE, I WAS NOT ALLOWED TO SHOOT BACK AT THEM." HE SAID HE SAW 80 MIG-15 RUSSIAN-TYPE JETS ON THE ANTUNG FIELD, IN PLAIN VIEW, BUT "I COULDN'T CROSS THAT BORDER TO GET THEM."
ALEXANDER SAID ENEMY PLANES SWEPT DOWN ON THE ALLIED FLIERS FROM THEIR SUPERIOR ALTITUDE AS THE AMERICANS HEADED FOR THEIR BASES. CANNON FIRE HE DOWNED ONE, BUT ANOTHER MIG DAMAGED HIS PLANE WITH WESTERN FRONT,KOREA,MAY 9-(AP)-RUSSIAN-TYPE JET FIGHTERS ROSE IN MASS TODAY TO MEET A STRONG ALLIED FIGHTER BOMBER AND JET AIR STRIKE ON SINUIJU, SOUTH OF THE YALU RIVER ON THE MANCHURIA FRONTIER.

(AP CORRESPONDENT WILLIAM C.BARNARD TELEPHONED FROM U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS THAT THE ALLIED AIR RAID "IS THE BIGGEST AIR STRIKE OF THE WAR.")

MORE THAN 100 PLANES LEFT AN ADVANCED ALLIED AIR FIELD TO MAKE THE STRIKE ON THE ENEMY BASE.

LT. ROBERT DIXON OF NEWTON, IA., FORCED DOWN WHEN HIS PLANE RAN OUT OF FUEL, SAID THE COMMUNIST JET FIGHTERS WERE OUT IN STRENGTH.

"IT'S A MASSACRE," HE SAID, "AND THEY ARE BEING MASSACRED AND NOT US."

DIXON WOULD NOT ESTIMATE HOW MANY REDS WERE IN THE AIR BUT HE SAID: "THERE'S PLENTY OF THEM."

HE HAD JUST ENOUGH FUEL TO MAKE IT BACK TO THIS ADVANCE BASE.

A CORSAIR FIGHTER COMING IN WAS ORDERED TO CLEAR THE FIELD OR DIXON WOULD HAVE CRASHED BEFORE HE COMPLETED ANOTHER ROUND IN THE LANDING PATTERN.

LT. LEE HARPER, CHARLESTOWN, W.VA., ONE OF THE LAST PILOTS OVER THE FIELD, SAID THE WHOLE AREA WAS COVERED WITH SMOKE, DUST AND DEBRIS.

"I GOT AN AIRPLANE," HE SAID. "I SAW IT BURNING ON THE GROUND AS I FLEW OFF."

HARPER SAID THE COMMUNIST REVETMENTS AT SINUIJU WERE AS MUCH AS ONE AND ONE HALF MILES FROM THE AIRSTRIP. IT WAS THIS AREA THAT HIS FLIGHT HIT.

LT. COL. HENRY W. LAWRENCE, NEW LONDON, CONN., SAID "THE SHOW LOOKED PRETTY GOOD TO ME, LOTS OF SMOKE FROM THE BUILDING AREA WHERE WE HIT. I DON'T BELIEVE I'VE SEEN IT SO CROWDED IN A LONG TIME AS IT WAS OVER SINUIJU WHILE WE WAITED TO GO IN.

"ALL OF US WERE CIRCLING AT ABOUT 6,000 FEET AND ALL YOU COULD SEE WERE AIRPLANES.

LT. LOUIS H. DILLON, ROANOKE, VA., SAID GUN POSITIONS AROUND THE RED AIRFIELD WERE WRECKED.

"WE WENT IN AND KNOCKED HELL OUT OF THEM," HE SAID.

GI PACKAGES (270)

BY JOHN RANDOLPH

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, MAY 9-(AP)-LITTLE HEALDSBURG, CALIF., GOT THE BALL ROLLING AND THOUSANDS OF GIS HOPE IT NEVER STOPS--AT LEAST AS LONG AS WAR KEEPS THEM AWAY FROM HOME.

HEALDSBURG ADOPTED A BATTALION OF FRONTLINE TROOPS. NOW THE BATTALION IS THE BEST-SUPPLIED OUTFIT IN KOREA.

WHO ELSE GETS SO MANY AIR-MAIL ENVELOPES? AND MIRRORS? AND WASHRAGS? AND COMBS? AND BOOKS AND MAGAZINES?

THESE THINGS ARE MORE PRECIOUS THAN GOLD IN KOREA, AND HARDER TO FIND.

IT ALL STARTED WHEN THE BATTALION'S COMMANDING OFFICER, LT.COL. FRED WEYAND, WROTE HIS WIFE HOW SHORT THE MEN WERE OF "ALL THE LITTLE THINGS."

HIS WIFE, ARLINE, MENTIONED THE LETTER AT A HEALDSBURG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING.

"SOMEONE GOT THE IDEA OF ADOPTING THE BATTALION," WEYAND SAID.

THE WHOLE TOWN (POPULATION 3,184) LIKED THE IDEA.

THE FIRST SHIPMENT GOT HERE ABOUT 10 DAYS AGO--JUST AS THE WEARY DOUGHBOYS CAME OFF THE LINE AFTER THE CHINESE OFFENSIVE.

"WE'D HAD A ROUGH WEEK, AND WERE REALLY BEAT OUT," WEYAND RECOUNTED. "THE VERY LAST DAY--AFTER A WEEK OF FIGHTING AND DIGGING--AND NO SLEEP--WE HAD A 15-MILE MARCH WITH FULL PACK. IT WAS THE FINISHING TOUCH, AND EVERYONE WAS DOWN IN THE MOUTH.

"WE GOT INTO OUR AREA AND FOUND THE FIRST PACKETS HAD ARRIVED. THEY WERE FULL OF READING STUFF AND THINGS LIKE MIRRORS AND WASHRAGS AND COMBS THAT WE WOULD USE RIGHT AWAY FOR OUR CLEAN-UP.

"MAYBE THAT DOESN'T SOUND LIKE VERY MUCH, BUT, BELIEVE ME, IT MADE US ALL FEEL BETTER TO KNOW THAT SOMEONE, AT LEAST, WAS THINKING OF US."

WEYAND SAID HE HAD WRITTEN THE TOWNS PEOPLE OF HEALDSBURG A LETTER OF THANKS AND "NOW WE'RE KINDA HOPING FOR SOME EATING SNACKS---THINGS LIKE SARDINES AND CRACKERS--JUST SO IT ISN'T ARMY STUFF."

LONDON, MAY 9-(AP)-MOSCOW RADIO ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT RUSSIAN MARSHAL IVAN S.KONEV AND DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER V.A.ZORIN ARE IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE TWO RUSSIAN OFFICIALS HAD GONE TO PRAGUE TO CELEBRATE THE "SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE LIBERATION OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA BY THE SOVIET ARMY."

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS CIRCULATING IN PRAGUE LAST JANUARY SAID KONEV, WHO COMMANDED THE SOVIET ARMY ON THE AUSTRIAN FRONT IN WORLD WAR II, WOULD TAKE OVER A HIGH COMMAND FUNCTION IN THE CZECHOSLOVAK DEFENSE ORGANIZATION.

A CZECH GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN BRANDED THE REPORT AS "SILLY."

IN FEBRUARY THE BELGRADE PRESS AND RADIO SAID KONEV AND OTHER HIGH SOVIET OFFICERS WERE DIRECTING A PURGE OF THE CZECH ARMY IN ORDER TO WIPE OUT SUSPECTED TITOISM.

THE REPORTS ALSO SAID THAT ZORIN, WHO REPUTEDLY PLAYED A HAND IN THE 1948 COUP WHICH PUT THE COMMUNISTS IN POWER IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA, WAS BACK IN PRAGUE FOR THE PURGE.

MOSCOW, MAY 9-(AP)-MARSHAL VASILY SOKOLOVSKY, FIRST DEPUTY MINISTER OF WAR, USED THE OCCASION OF THE SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF VICTORY IN EUROPE TO ATTACK THE UNITED STATES BITTERLY TODAY. HE SAID THE VICTORY OVER GERMANY WAS A SOVIET ONE.

(THE SOVIET UNION MARKS V-E DAY ONE DAY LATER THAN THE WESTERN NATIONS.)

WRITING IN PRAVDA, OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY, SOKOLOVSKY SAID "AMERICAN RULING CIRCULES ARE FOLLOWING IN HITLER'S PATH AND MAKING THE SAME MISTAKES REGARDING THE U.S.S.R." HE INTIMATED THE AMERICANS WOULD COME TO THE SAME END AS THE NAZIS.

SOKOLOVSKY, FORMER SOVIET OCCUPATION COMMANDER IN GERMANY, SAID THE WESTERN POWERS "TRAITOROUSLY VIOLATED THEIR OWN SOLEMN OBLIGATIONS DURING THE WAR ON OPENING A SECOND FRONT, AND UNLEASHED HITLER'S ARMS FOR THE WAR IN THE EAST." BECAUSE OF THIS, HE SAID, SOVIET ARMED FORCES HAD TO BEAR THE BRUNT OF THE WHOLE WAR. IT WAS THE WESTERN POWERS' PLAN, HE SAID, TO LEAVE THE SOVIET UNION SO WEAK AFTER THE WAR THAT IT WOULD HAVE TO GO ON BENDED KNEE TO THE WEST FOR ASSISTANCE.

STRASBOURG, FRANCE, MAY 9-(AP)-THE EUROPEAN CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY REJECTED TODAY A MOVE TO BRING GEN.DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER HERE FOR ITS DEBATE ON DEFENSE NEXT SATURDAY DESPITE REPEATED EXPRESSIONS OF CONFIDENCE IN HIM.
MEMBERS MADE IT CLEAR THE VOTE SHOULD NOT BE INTERPRETED AS SHOWING HOSTILITY TO EISENHOWER, BUT THAT MOST THOUGHT HIS APPEARANCE IN THE ASSEMBLY WOULD BE IMPROPER PROCEDURE.
SOME MEMBERS WERE SOLIDLY OPPOSED TO BRINGING MILITARY MATTERS INTO THE ASSEMBLY. OTHERS WENT ALONG RATHER THAN CAUSE A SPLIT. AMONG THE OPPONENTS ON GROUNDS OF PRINCIPLE WERE THE GERMANS AND SWEDES, WHOSE GOVERNMENTS ARE NOT MEMBERS OF THE ATLANTIC PACT FROM WHICH EISENHOWER DERIVES HIS AUTHORITY.
BRITISH LABOR MEMBERS ALSO OPPOSED MIXING THE COUNCIL OF EUROPE WITH THE ATLANTIC PACT.
THERE WAS AN ALMOST UNANIMOUS SHOW OF HANDS TURNING DOWN THE PROPOSAL MADE BY ITALY'S UGO LAMALFA, TO INVITE THE ATLANTIC PACT COMMANDER. HIS MOTION WOULD HAVE CONSTITUTED AN ADDITION TO THE ASSEMBLY'S PROGRAM.
BEFORE THE VOTE, ASSEMBLY PRESIDENT PAUL HENRI SPAAK OF BELGIUM AND SEVERAL OTHER MEMBERS PLEADED WITH LAMALFA TO WITHDRAW HIS MOTION AND AVOID A SHOWDOWN, BUT THE ITALIAN DELEGATE REFUSED.
"I MUST EMPHASIZE THIS AGAIN," SPAAK SAID AFTER THE VOTE. "THIS MUST NOT BE CONSIDERED A SIGN OF HOSTILITY TOWARD THE GENERAL. ON THE CONTRARY, WE ARE CERTAINLY UNANIMOUS IN OUR CONFIDENCE AND ADMIRATION FOR GENERAL EISENHOWER."
DUNCAN SANDYS, BRITISH CONSERVATIVE, SUGGESTING LAMALFA'S PROPOSAL BE DELAYED, URGED THAT THE ASSEMBLY ADOPT A PROCEDURE SIMILAR TO THAT OF THE AMERICAN CONGRESS, WHICH CAN HOLD JOINT SESSIONS TO HEAR DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

ROME, MAY 9-(AP)-THE NEWSPAPER IL TEMPO SAID TONIGHT YUGOSLAV REFUGEES REACHING TRIESTE FROM BELGRADE SAID MARSHAL TITO HAD BEEN SHOT AND WOUNDED IN A RECENT ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT AT HIS PALACE. THERE WAS NO CONFIRMATION OF THE REPORT FROM ANY OTHER SOURCE.
ACCORDING TO THE REFUGEES, IL TEMPO SAID, THE ATTEMPT ON TITO'S LIFE WAS "COVERED UP" BY RECENT REPORTS FROM BELGRADE THAT THE YUGOSLAV CHIEF WAS IN THE HOSPITAL AFTER A GALL BLADDER OPERATION.
THE BELGRADE RADIO SAID ON APRIL 19 THAT TITO HAD UNDERGONE AN OPERATION FOR REMOVAL OF GALL STONES, AND ADDED THAT THE OPERATION WAS MINOR AND SUCCESSFUL. ON APRIL 24, THE RADIO SAID TITO WAS MAKING A SPEEDY RECOVERY. FIVE DAYS LATER IT SAID THE MARSHAL WOULD BE UNABLE TO ATTEND MAY DAY CELEBRATIONS IN BELGRADE, EXPLAINING THAT ALTHOUGH HE WAS MUCH BETTER HE HAD TO BE UNDER CONSTANT MEDICAL SUPERVISION UNTIL COMPLETE RECOVERY.
THE REFUGEES ARE AMONG THE STEADY TRICKLE OF YUGOSLAVS EMIGRATING THROUGH TRIESTE FROM YUGOSLAVIA, IL TEMPO, A CONSERVATIVE INDEPENDENT ROME DAILY, SAID.
IT QUOTED THEM AS SAYING:
TWO YOUNG MEN FIRED AT TITO WITH REVOLVERS AS HE LEFT HIS CAR IN FRONT OF THE PALACE, THE FORMER RESIDENCE OF KING PETER ON A HILL OVERLOOKING BELGRADE.
TITO WAS HIT IN THE THIGH AND FELL TO THE GROUND.
THE MARSHAL'S AIDES RUSHED TO HIS ASSISTANCE AND BELGRADE POLICE CAUGHT BOTH THE YOUNG MEN BEFORE THEY COULD ESCAPE FROM THE WALLS AROUND THE CASTLE.
THE TWO WOULD-BE ASSASSINS WERE SENTENCED TO DEATH AND SHOT WITHIN A FEW HOURS. TITO'S WOUND, THEY ADDED, NEVER WAS REGARDED AS SERIOUS.

ROME, MAY 9-(AP)-ITALY'S COMMUNIST DEPUTIES HAVE ADOPTED A "WALKOUT" STRATEGY TO DELAY THE NATION'S DEFENSE PROGRAM.
THE 130 COMMUNIST AND PRO-RED SOCIALIST DEPUTIES IN THE CHAMBER SUCCESSFULLY DELAYED CONSIDERATION OF A PROPOSED CIVIL DEFENSE LAW BY TAKING A WALK.
THE PROPOSAL WAS THE FIRST ON THE PARLIAMENTARY CALENDAR YESTERDAY, BUT THE COMMUNISTS MOVED TO SET IT ASIDE AND CONSIDER OTHER LEGISLATION
CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR MARIO SCELBA OBJECTED AND POINTED OUT THAT ITALY WAS "THE ONLY NATION IN THE WORLD" WITHOUT A CIVIL DEFENSE SYSTEM.
THE COMMUNIST MOTION, PUT TO A VOTE, WAS HEADING FOR DEFEAT WHEN ITS SUPPORTERS LEFT THE CHAMBER, LEAVING IT WITHOUT A QUORUM. LATER THE DEPUTIES RETURNED AND ANOTHER VOTE WAS STARTED. ANOTHER WALKOUT FOLLOWED.
THEN THE CHAMBER ADJOURNED UNTIL TODAY WHEN, IT IS EXPECTED, A THIRD VOTE WILL BE THE FIRST ORDER OF BUSINESS.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, MAY 9-(AP)-THE U.S. ARMY ANNOUNCED TODAY IT WAS DISCONTINUING A MEAT PURCHASE PROGRAM WHICH INCLUDED IMPORTS OF BEEF FROM COMMUNIST HUNGARY.

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO THE ARMY SAID IT WOULD CONDUCT A TEST PROGRAM TO SUPPLY BEEF FOR THE U.S. COMMISSARIES IN GERMANY. SHORTLY AFTERWARD IT WAS DISCLOSED THAT PRIME CATTLE WERE BEING BOUGHT FROM COMMUNIST HUNGARY AND PAID FOR IN DOLLARS.

TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE PROGRAM WOULD END MAY 31 BECAUSE THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL OF THE U.S. HAD DECIDED THAT FUNDS FOR THE DEFENSE APPROPRIATION ACT OF 1951 PROHIBITED THEIR USE FOR PURCHASE OF OTHER THAN AMERICAN BEEF.

THE ARMY QUARTERMASTER ANNOUNCEMENT DEFENDED ITS "TEST" BUYING PROGRAM AS HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL. DURING ITS EXISTENCE AS MUCH AS 30,000 POUNDS OF PRIME HUNGARIAN BEEF WAS BROUGHT INTO THE U.S. ZONE OF GERMANY IN ONE MONTH.

NIGHT LEAD OLYMPICS

BY BEN PHLEGAR

VIENNA, MAY 9-(AP)-WEST GERMANY WILL TAKE PART IN THE 1952 OLYMPIC GAMES, OLYMPIC CHANCELLOR OTTO MAYER DECLARED TODAY.

HE SAID THE WEST GERMANS PARTICIPATION DID NOT DEPEND ON THEM REACHING AN AGREEMENT WITH THE EAST GERMANS.

HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT IF CURRENT NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE EAST GERMAN AND WEST GERMAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEES -- AIMED AT FORMING ONE UNIFIED COMMITTEE -- BECAME "TRAGIC, WE HAVE THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW OUR RECOGNITION OF WEST GERMANY. I DO NOT THINK THIS WILL HAPPEN."

MAYER SPENT MUCH OF HIS FINAL PRESS CONFERENCE, FOLLOWING THE END OF THE THREE DAY ANNUAL MEETING OF THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE, IN CLARIFYING THE I.O.C. POSITION ON GERMANY.

HE SAID HE APPARENTLY HAD LED TO A NUMBER OF MISUNDERSTANDINGS YESTERDAY WHEN HE ANNOUNCED FINAL ACCEPTANCE OF A GERMAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE COMPOSED ENTIRELY OF WEST GERMANS.

MAY 10 1951

AT THAT TIME MAYER SAID THE WEST GERMANS AND THE EAST GERMANS "MUST GET TOGETHER" IF ANY GERMANS WERE TO BE ALLOWED TO COMPETE IN THE 1952 GAMES AT OSLO AND HELSINKI.

TODAY HE SAID THIS WAS NOT ENTIRELY TRUE.

"THE IOC HOPES AND TRUSTS THAT THE TWO COMMITTEES CAN GET TOGETHER," HE SAID. "WE HAVE ASKED THEM TO APPEAR BEFORE THE EXECUTIVE COMMISSION OF THE IOC AT LAUSANNE, SWITZERLAND, ON MAY 21 AND 22.

"IN FACT THEY HAVE ALREADY HAD A ONE-HOUR MEETING HERE TODAY, AND WHO KNOWS, THE MEETING IN LAUSANNE MAY NOT EVEN BE NECESSARY. THEY MAY REACH AN AGREEMENT BEFORE THEN."

MAYER SAID HE DID NOT KNOW THE RESULTS OF TODAY'S GERMAN MEETING.

HE SAID ANOTHER MISUNDERSTANDING REGARDING THE GERMAN POSITION WAS HIS ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE VOTE HAD BEEN UNANIMOUS.

THE FOUR IRON CURTAIN COUNTRIES REPRESENTED ON THE IOC -- RUSSIA, POLAND, HUNGARY AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA -- PROTESTED TODAY WHEN THEY READ THE NEWSPAPERS.

"I WAS IN ERROR," MAYER SAID. "I THOUGHT THEY VOTED IN FAVOR. THEY TELL ME THEY WERE NOT IN FAVOR, AND IF THEY HAD UNDERSTOOD THE COMMITTEE WAS VOTING ON FINAL ACCEPTANCE OF WEST GERMANY THEY WOUL HAVE VOTED AGAINST."

MAY 10 1951

MAYER SAID THE IOC RECOGNIZED THE PROTEST, WHICH HE CALLED A MILD INFORMAL ONE, BUT TOOK NO ACTION.

THE PROBLEM OF WHICH NATION WILL BE INVITED TO THE WINTER AND SUMMER GAMES NEXT YEAR WAS NOT DISCUSSED, MAYER SAID.

HE ADDED THAT IT IS RIGID CUSTOM FOR ALL COUNTRIES WITH RECOGNIZED OLYMPIC COMMITTEES TO BE INVITED, BUT THAT HE COULD NOT SAY FOR CERTAIN THAT WEST GERMANY OR ANY GERMAN SQUAD WOULD BE ASKED TO THE WINTER GAMES AT OSLO.

"HOWEVER, I CERTAINLY WOULD EXPECT THE GERMANS TO BE INVITED," HE DECLARED.

MAYER SAID HE HAD BEEN TOLD THERE WAS EXCITEMENT IN TOKYO OVER THE SUPPOSED FORMAL ACCEPTANCE OF JAPAN FOR THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

"I CANNOT UNDERSTAND THAT," HE SAID. "WE HAVE TAKEN NO ACTION ON JAPAN. THERE NEVER HAS BEEN ANY DOUBT THAT THEY WOULD BE INVITED ALTHOUGH THE FORMAL INVITATION WILL NOT BE SENT OUT UNTIL LATER THIS SUMMER. JAPAN IN FACT, WAS INVITED TO THE 1948 GAMES BUT WAS UNABLE TO ATTEND."

THE IOC WILL MEET FOR AN HOUR TOMORROW TO APPROVE THE MINUTES OF ITS VIENNA SESSION AND WILL THEN ADJOURN UNTIL THE WEEK PRECEDING THE WINTER GAMES AT OSLO.

THE COMMITTEE SAID IT HAD RECEIVED INVITATIONS FROM BRUSSELS, ATHENS, LOS ANGELES, MONTE CARLO AND KARACHI FOR ITS 1953 MEETING. NO DECISION WILL BE TAKEN UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

VIENNA, MAY 9-(AP)-JAPAN WILL SEND ATHLETES IN ALMOST ALL SPORTS TO THE 1952 WINTER AND SUMMER OLYMPIC GAMES, DR. RYOTARO AZUMA, PRESIDEI OF THE JAPANESE OLYMPIC COMMITTEE SAID TODAY.

MAY 10 1951

"OUR JAPANESE FEDERATIONS HAVE BEEN RECOGNIZED BY THE INTERNATIONAL SPORTS FEDERATIONS IN ALMOST EVERY SPORTS FOR WHICH THEY HAVE APPLIED," HE DECLARED IN AN INTERVIEW.

"ONLY ROWING AND THE EQUESTRIAN SPORTS ARE STILL PENDING AND WE THINK THESE WILL BE FAVORABLE."

DR. AZUMA SAID NO SPECIFIC ACTION REGARDING JAPAN HAS BEEN TAKEN AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE WHICH ENDS TODAY, AND THAT NONE WAS SCHEDULED.

"THE HELSINKI AND OSLO ORGANIZING COMMITTEES HAVE TOLD US THEY WILL INVITE EVERY COUNTRY RECOGNIZED BY THE NATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE," HE SAID, "WHICH MEANS THAT WE WILL TAKE PART."

DR. AZUMA, A PROFESSOR AT TOKYO UNIVERSITY AND AN OFFICIAL OF THE JAPANESE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND WELFARE, WAS ELECTED TO THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE AT ITS COPENHAGEN MEETING A YEAR AGO. AT THAT SAME MEETING JAPAN AGAIN BECAME A FULL MEMBER OF THE OLYMPIC FAMILY OF NATIONS. DR. AZUMA WAS TOLD BY THE IOC THAT THE ONLY QUALIFICATION JAPAN WOULD HAVE TO FULFILL TO TAKE PART IN THE 1952 OLYMPICS WAS TO REJOIN THE VARIOUS INDIVIDUAL INTERNATIONAL SPORTS FEDERATIONS.

"WE HAVE HAD NO DIFFICULTY AT ALL ALONG THAT LINE," HE SAID. "THIS AUTOMATICALLY REMOVED THE LAST BARRIER TO OUR PARTICIPATION."

DR. AZUMA SAID JAPAN WILL NOW HAVE TO DECIDE HOW BIG AN OLYMPIC SQUAD IT CAN AFFORD TO ENTER.

"THERE ARE TWO SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT," HE SAID. "ONE GROUP THINKS WE SHOULD SEND THE LARGEST POSSIBLE DELEGATION.

"IF WE ARE TO FOLLOW THE OLYMPIC IDEAL, WE SHOULD SEND AS MANY MEN AND WOMEN AS WE CAN, EVEN THOUGH THEY ARE NOT THE BEST. JAPAN'S ECONOMIC SITUATION, HOWEVER, DOES NOT MAKE THIS POSSIBLE. WE'LL HAVE TO REACH A COMPROMISE.

"WE WANT TO SEND TEAMS THAT WILL MAKE THE BEST POSSIBLE IMPRESSION SO THAT WE CAN UPHOLD JAPAN'S REPUTATION IN THE SPORTS WORLD."

DR. AZUMA WILL GO FROM VIENNA TO GENEVA FOR A MEETING OF THE WORLD COUNCIL OF HEALTH AND WELFARE. HE PLANS TO RETURN TO JAPAN THE FIRST WEEK IN JUNE.

HONG KONG, THURSDAY, MAY 10-(AP)-SHANGHAI NEWSPAPERS REACHING HONG KONG TODAY REPORTED 719 PERSONS WERE EXECUTED IN THREE RED CHINA CITIES JUST PRIOR TO THE BIG COMMUNIST MAY DAY CELEBRATIONS.

THIS LATEST PHASE OF THE CONTINUING RED PURGE OF "COUNTER REVOLUTIONARIES" MET SOME OPPOSITION. ONE SHANGHAI NEWSPAPER SAID FOUR COMMUNIST OFFICIALS AND POLITICAL WORKERS "WERE WOUNDED WHEN RESISTANCE WAS OFFERED."

THE SINO-RED NEWS AGENCY REPORTED THAT 376 WERE KILLED IN NANKING APRIL 29. ON THE NEXT DAY, 293 WERE EXECUTED AT SHANGHAI AND 50 AT HANGCHOW.

THE ACCOUNTS SAID THAT 110,000 PEOPLE "WADED THROUGH RAIN-SOAKED STREETS TO PARTICIPATE IN THE TRIAL" OF THE 50 EXECUTED AT HANGCHOW.

IN SHANGHAI, THE REDS PICKED NINE OF THE 293 FOR A PUBLIC TRIAL BEFORE 10,000 PEOPLE IN THE CITY'S CANIDROME---ONCE FASHIONABLE DOG RACING TRACK AND FOOTBALL FIELD.

THE SHANGHAI NEWS SAID THE TRIAL ENDED IN "A UNANIMOUS ROAR FROM THE AUDIENCE DEMANDING THEIR DEATH." THE EXECUTIONS WERE CARRIED OUT AT FOUR AIRFIELDS.

FORTY THOUSAND PEOPLE ATTENDED THE MASS TRIAL WHICH PRECEDED THE EXECUTIONS IN NANKING.

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, MAY 9-(AP)-BORDER WARFARE NORTH OF THE SEA OF GALILEE EASED TODAY WITHIN A FEW HOURS AFTER THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL ORDERED SYRIA AND ISRAEL TO CEASE FIRE.
THE CEASE-FIRE ORDER WAS VOTED 10-0 AT LAKE SUCCESS ABOUT 5 P.M. EST TUESDAY (2 A.M. WEDNESDAY ISRAELI TIME). BUT THERE WAS SOME SHOOTING BEFORE DAWN.
AN ISRAELI MILITARY SPOKESMAN BLAMED SYRIANS ENTRENCHED IN THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE NEAR MUTEILA HILL, WHICH THE ISRAELIS HAVE HELD AGAINST A SCORE OF ATTACKS SINCE THE OUTBREAK OF HOSTILITIES A WEEK AGO. HE SAID ISRAELI TROOPS RETURNED THE FIRE AND THE EXCHANGE DIED DOWN AFTER ABOUT 90 MINUTES.
"IT IS NOW UP TO THE U.N. TO SEE THAT THE SYRIANS LEAVE THE DEMILITARIZED AREA, WHICH IS ISRAELI TERRITORY," THE SPOKESMAN SAID.
(THE SYRIAN ARMY CHARGED THAT ISRAELI GUNS OPENED A HEAVY BOMBARDMENT OF THE SHAMLNEH AREA IN THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE AND LOBBED SHELLS ON THE SYRIAN ARMY POST AT NEARBY EL HASSEL "AT THE VERY MINUTE THE SECURITY COUNCIL ISSUED THE CEASE-FIRE ORDER AT LAKE SUCCIDR
THE U.N. OBSERVERS. SYRIA INSISTS THAT NONE OF HER TROOPS HAVE ENTERED THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE. THE SYRIANS CONTEND ARAB RESIDENTS OF THE ZONE ARE FIGHTING A DEFENSIVE BATTLE AGAINST ISRAELI RAIDERS.)
FOR THE THIRD STRAIGHT DAY, ISRAELI CREWS DRAINING THE HULEH SWAMPS IN THE FRONTIER ZONE WORKED UNMOLESTED. THEY HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN SUBJECT TO SMALL ARMS FIRE. ISRAELI'S PROJECT TO RECLAIM THE SWAMPS AND CONVERT THE AREA TO FARM LAND IS OPPOSED BY SYRIA AS A VIOLATION OF THE ARMISTICE TERMS WHICH ENDED THE PALESTINE WAR OF 1948. THE SYRIANS WANT THE NATURAL BARRIER LEFT AS IT IS.

DAMASCUS, SYRIA, MAY 9--(AP)--SYRIA EARLY TODAY ACCUSED ISRAEL OF BOMBING HER TROOPS JUST AS THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL ORDERED AN IMMEDIATE CEASE-FIRE ALONG THE SYRIAN-ISRAELI BORDER.

A SYRIAN ARMY COMMUNIQUE CHARGED ISRAEL WITH "HEAVY BOMBING" OF THE SHAMLNEH REGION NORTH OF THE SEA OF GALILEE BETWEEN 1 A.M. AND 3 A.M. (6 P.M. TO 8 P.M. EST) -- JUST AS THE COUNCIL AT LAKE SUCCESS VOTED 10 TO 0 FOR THE CEASE-FIRE.

TEHRAN, IRAN, MAY 9-(AP)-PREMIER MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH'S GOVERNMENT MADE CLEAR IN A NOTE TO BRITAIN TODAY THAT IT HAS NO INTENTION OF RETREATING ON NATIONALIZATION OF THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY.

THE NOTE DENIED THAT NATIONALIZATION WAS A "COMMUNISTIC ACT," AS CHARGED BY BRITAIN. IT SAID ELIMINATION OF THE BRITISH-DOMINATED COMPANY WOULD EASE DISCONTENT IN THIS COUNTRY AND LEAD TO BETTER RELATIONS WITH LONDON.

IRAN SAID SHE WAS PREPARED TO LOOK INTO BRITISH CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION AND TO GUARANTEE THAT FORMER CUSTOMERS--THE BRITISH--WOULD BE PUT AT THE HEAD OF THE LINE IN THE SALE OF NATIONALIZED OIL.

MEANWHILE, THE SENATE GAVE MOSSADEGH'S GOVERNMENT A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE, 48 TO 0. THREE SENATORS ABSTAINED. THE MAJLIS (LOWER HOUSE) GAVE THE GOVERNMENT A SIMILARLY OVERWHELMING VOTE SUNDAY.

PREMIER MOSSADEGH'S NOTE INFORMED BRITAIN THAT THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY "WILL BE INVITED" SOON TO HELP DISSOLVE ITSELF AND TRANSFER ITS MULTI-MILLION DOLLAR ASSETS TO IRANIAN OWNERSHIP.

THE AIOC IS BRITAIN'S BIGGEST SINGLE FOREIGN ASSET AND THE MAIN SOURCE OF THE BRITISH NAVY'S FUEL. ITS CONCESSION IN THE RICH OIL FIELDS ALONG THE PERSIAN GULF NORMALLY WOULD HAVE RUN UNTIL 1993. THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT OWNS 52 PER CENT OF THE STOCK IN THE COMPANY, WHOSE ASSETS HAVE BEEN ESTIMATED VARIOUSLY FROM $500,000,000 TO MORE THAN $1,000,000,000.

"BY EXERCISING ITS SOVEREIGN RIGHTS," MOSSADEGH WROTE, "THE IMPERIAL IRANIAN GOVERNMENT WISHES TO STRENGTHEN THE ECONOMIC STRUCTURE OF THE COUNTRY THROUGH ITS OIL REVENUES, TO PROVIDE FOR THE GENERAL WELFARE OF THE PEOPLE AND TO PUT AN END TO GENERAL POVERTY AND DISSATISFACTION.

THE DENIAL WAS MADE IN A DIPLOMATIC NOTE TO BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY HERBERT MORRISON IN WHICH IRANIAN PREMIER F.MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH DECLARED THAT THE TAKEOVER OF THE GIANT ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY WILL STOP DISCONTENT IN THIS COUNTRY AND LEAD TO BETTER RELATIONS WITH BRITAIN.

MEANWHILE, THE SENATE GAVE MOSSADEGH A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE, WITH 48 OF THE 51 MEMBERS PRESENT BACKING THE NEW NATIONAL FRONT GOVERNMENT. THREE ABSTAINED. THE SENATE ACTION FOLLOWED AN OVERWHELMING CONFIDENCE VOTE BY THE MAJLIS (LOWER CHAMBER) ON SUNDAY.

FOREIGN MINISTER BAGHER KAZEMI MADE THE IRANIAN NOTE PUBLIC AT A NEWS CONFERENCE. HE MADE CLEAR THAT IRAN HAD NO INTENTION OF RETREATING FROM THE GO-AHEAD WITH OIL NATIONALIZATION, DESPITE BRITISH PROTESTS.

IT WAS THE FIRST DISCLOSURE OF DETAILS OF THE IRANIAN-BRITISH DIPLOMATIC EXCHANGES AND REVEALED FOR THE FIRST TIME THAT MORRISON VIEWED THE NATIONALIZATION OF IRANIAN OIL AS A COMMUNIST ACT.

THE CHARGE ANGERED IRANIAN OFFICIALS WHO POINTED OUT THAT BRITAIN'S LABOR GOVERNMENT HAS NATIONALIZED MANY OF ITS HOME INDUSTRIES.

MOSSADEGH'S NOTE SAID THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT WAS PREPARED TO EXAMINE ANGLO-IRANIAN CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION AND TO GUARANTEE THAT FORMER CUSTOMERS--WHO HAVE BEEN CHIEFLY BRITISH--WOULD HAVE PRIORITY IN PURCHASING IRANIAN OIL.

IN RESPONSE TO A PLEA FROM THE PREMIER FOR SPEEDING UP THE MACHINERY FOR NATIONALIZATION, THE SENATE NAMED FIVE MEN AS ITS REPRESENTATIVE ON THE 11-MAN JOINT BOARD WHICH WILL SUPERVISE ACQUISITION OF THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY. THE MAJLIS--THE LOWER HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT--FAILED TO REACH AGREEMENT YESTERDAY ON ITS REPRESENTATIVES AND WILL TRY AGAIN ON SUNDAY.

BY DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL DECLARED TODAY THAT GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S WAR PROPOSALS HAD THREATENED TO SPLIT THE UNITED NATIONS ALLIES AND FORCE THE UNITED STATES TO "GO IT ALONE" IN KOREA.
HE TOLD SENATORS THE FIVE-STAR GENERAL'S OUTSPOKEN OPPOSITION TO THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION'S KOREAN POLICY RAISED THE ISSUE OF "WHAT VOICE SPOKE FROM THIS COUNTRY ON FOREIGN POLICY."
"BY HIS PUBLIC STATEMENTS," MARSHALL TESTIFIED, "X X X HE SET UP A VERY SERIOUS REACTION AMONG OUR ALLIES, WHICH THREATENED OUR COLLECTIVE ACTION WITH THEM, AND WHICH THREATENED OUR POSITION IN THE WORLD IN RELATION TO THIS GREAT CRISIS, AND WHICH THREATENED TO LEAVE US IN A SITUATION OF GOING IT ALONE."
HE DENIED, HOWEVER, THAT FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS HAD DICTATED MACARTHUR'S REMOVAL BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN OR HAD EVEN SUGGESTED SUCH A STEP.
MARSHALL SHARPLY CHALLENGED A SUGGESTION THAT THIS COUNTRY ALREADY IS "GOING IT ALONE" IN THE CONFLICT.
SENATOR WILEY (R-WIS) INDICATED THERE ARE ABOUT 30,000 U.N. TROOPS ON THE KOREAN BATTLEFIELD FIGHTING ALONGSIDE AN ESTIMATED 350,000 AMERICAN TROOPS.
HE ADDED: "COULD IT NOT BE SAID IN THE LIGHT OF THESE FIGURES THAT WE ARE ALREADY GOING IT ALONE?"
"I DON'T THINK SO, SIR," MARSHALL RETORTED.
GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR HAS PROPOSED THAT THE UNITED STATES "GO IT ALONE" IN KOREA IF NECESSARY TO BOMB RED CHINA AND TRY TO FORCE A QUICK END TO THE BLOODY STRUGGLE.
CHAIRMAN RUSSELL (D-GA) OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE SAID HE BELIEVED WILEY'S ESTIMATE OF 350,000 AMERICAN TROOPS WAS TOO HIGH AND HE NEVER HAD HEARD THE FIGURE BEFORE.
MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY ON THE COMBAT STRENGTH OF THE 8TH ARMY WAS DELETED FROM THE RECORD BY CENSORS APPOINTED TO PRESENT SECURITY LEAKS IN THE SUPER-CHARGED HEARING ON FAR EAST POLICY.

HE SPENT MOST OF HIS TIME EXPLAINING TO THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES THE STEPS WHICH LED TO THE OUSTER.
THIS WAS MARSHALL'S THIRD DAY BEHIND CLOSED DOORS TO DEFEND THE ADMINISTRATION'S ASIA POLICIES AND THE FIRING OF MACARTHUR WHO LAID HIS CASE BEFORE THE GROUP LAST WEEK. AS IN THE CASE OF MACARTHUR, THE SECRETARY'S TESTIMONY IS BEING CENSORED TO PREVENT SECURITY VIOLATIONS BEFORE THE TRANSCRIPT IS MADE PUBLIC.
MACARTHUR WANTED TO HIT THE CHINESE REDS HARDER BY A NAVAL BLOCKADE, AIR OPERATIONS OVER MANCHURIA AND THE USE OF CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS. THE ADMINISTRATION SEEKS TO CONFINE THE WAR TO KOREA, HOPING TO INFLICT SUCH CASUALTIES ON THE FOE THERE AS WILL INDUCE HIM TO MAKE PEACE.
IN ESSENCE, MARSHALL SAID THE HISTORIC DISPUTE BOILS DOWN TO A CLASH OF OPINION OVER WHAT RUSSIA CAN AND WILL DO IN THE FAR EAST.
MACARTHUR DOES NOT BELIEVE RUSSIA CAN WAGE A STRONG WAR IN ASIA AND HE IS WILLING TO RISK SOVIET ENTRY INTO THE KOREAN WAR BY BOMBING CHINA.
THE ADMINISTRATION BELIEVES RUSSIA HAS STRONG FORCES IN ASIA WHICH MIGHT COME TO CHINA'S AID AND CREATE THE THREAT OF A WORLD-WIDE ATOMIC WAR.
GIVING HIS OWN VIEWS ON THE VOICE OF AUTHORITY, MARSHALL SAID:
"THE IMPORTANT ASPECT OF THE MATTER IS THERE CAN BE ONLY ONE VOICE--THERE CAN BE ONE VOICE--CONSTITUTIONAL AND OTHERWISE X X X IN THE DECISIONS AS TO THE FOREIGN POLICY AT THE TIME THEY ARE GIVEN OUT."

MAY 10 1951

A216WX
"I DON'T MEAN BY THAT THAT YOU DON'T DEBATE THEM UP HERE X X X BUT YOU CANNOT HAVE TWO VOICES."
IF HE HAD BEEN IN MACARTHUR'S PLACE, MARSHALL SAID, HE WOULD HAVE KEPT HIS FIGHT WITHIN THE GOVERNMENT AND NOT CARRIED IT TO THE PUBLIC. AND HE ADDED IF HE HAD LOST--HE WOULD HAVE RESIGNED.
MOST OF MARSHALL'S STATEMENTS WERE IN ANSWER TO QUESTIONS FROM SENATOR WILEY (R-WIS) WHO VOICED DOUBT THAT MACARTHUR HAD VIOLATED DIRECTIVES FROM WASHINGTON IN SPEAKING OUT PUBLICLY ON KOREAN POLICY.
AT ONE POINT WILEY SAID: "DO YOU MEAN TO SAY THAT A MAN IN GENERAL MACARTHUR'S POSITION, WHO WAS THE CHIEF OF STAFF WHEN YOU WERE A COLONEL, HAD NO RIGHT TO DISCUSS OR ADVISE OR RECOMMEND TO YOU LEADERS IN WASHINGTON? IS THAT WHAT YOU MEAN IS A VIOLATION OF POLICY?"
MARSHALL RETORTED: "THERE WAS NO LIMIT WHATEVER ON HIS REPRESENTATIONS OF HIS VIEWS TO THE OFFICIALS IN WASHINGTON. THERE IS A GREAT DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THAT AND THE PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENTS."
THE SECRETARY DISCLOSED MACARTHUR NEVER WAS REBUKED PRIOR TO HIS OUSTER FOR THE STATEMENTS HE MADE IN OPPOSITION TO THE GOVERNMENT POLICY, ALTHOUGH THE GENERAL REPUTEDLY IGNORED A DEC. 6 DIRECTIVE TO CLEAR ALL POLICY STATEMENTS WITH THE DEFENSE AND STATE DEPARTMENTS.
HE SAID THE EFFECT OF THE MACARTHUR STATEMENTS WAS "CUMULATIVE" AND THE DECISION TO FIRE HIM CAME AFTER REP.MARTIN OF MASSACHUSETTS, REPUBLICAN HOUSE LEADER, MADE PUBLIC A LETTER IN WHICH MACARTHUR PROPOSED THE USE OF CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS.
IN THIS LETTER, MACARTHUR ALSO SAID: "IT SEEMS STRANGELY DIFFICULT FOR SOME TO REALIZE THAT HERE IN ASIA IS WHERE THE COMMUNIST CONSPIRATORS HAVE ELECTED TO MAKE THEIR PLAY FOR GLOBAL CONQUEST X X X THAT HERE WE FIGHT EUROPE'S WAR WITH ARMS WHILE THE DIPLOMATS THERE STILL FIGHT IT WITH WORDS X X X."
THAT WENT OVER INTO FOREIGN POLICY, OUTSIDE OF A FIELD GENERAL'S REALM, MARSHALL SAID.
WILEY SAID THE ISSUE IS WHETHER THE MACARTHUR LETTER "JUSTIFIED THE METHOD AND THE ACT IN REMOVING" THE GENERAL.
MARSHALL ARGUED THIS LETTER WAS NOT THE SOLE REASON FOR HIS REMOVAL AND THAT DISPLEASURE WITH THE GENERAL'S PUBLIC STATEMENTS HAD BEEN GROWING OVER A PERIOD OF MONTHS.
WILEY SAID HE UNDERSTOOD FROM MARSHALL'S REMARKS THAT BECAUSE THE ALLIES DISAGREED WITH MACARTHUR "YOU PEOPLE CAME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT HE WAS VIOLATING A DIRECTIVE OF SOME KIND WHICH JUSTIFIED HIS REMOVAL."
MARSHALL REPLIED: "I'LL SAY THIS, SENATOR: BY HIS PUBLIC STATEMENTS HE HAD CREATED A FEELING OF GREAT UNEASINESS AMONG OUR ALLIES X X X. HE WAS CREATING A FEELING OF UNCERTAINTY WITH OUR ALLIES AS TO WHO WAS DIRECTING THESE AFFAIRS X X X."

BUT MARSHALL SAID THE ALLIES DID NOT FORCE THE OUSTER. HE ALREADY HAS SAID THE DECISION WAS AGREED TO UNANIMOUSLY BY THE PRESIDENT, THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF AND HIMSELF.

A217WX

"THEY (THE ALLIES) DID NOT DETERMINE WHAT SHOULD BE DONE," HE DECLARED.

MARSHALL DETAILED FOR THE COMMITTEES THE BEGINNINGS OF THE DISPUTE WHICH LED TO MACARTHUR'S OUSTER--AND WHICH CREATED ONE OF THE BITTEREST MILITARY AND POLITICAL DEBATES IN AMERICAN HISTORY.

FIRST, HE SAID, A DIRECTIVE WAS SENT TO MACARTHUR IN TOKYO ON DEC. 6 REQUESTING ALL POLICY STATEMENTS BE CLEARED THROUGH THE STATE AND DEFENSE DEPARTMENTS.

THIS ORDER WAS DIRECTED AT MACARTHUR, HE TESTIFIED, BUT WAS COUCHED IN GENERAL TERMS "SO AS NOT TO EMBARRASS HIM WITH PUBLIC INSTRUCTIONS ON THIS PARTICULAR OCCASION."

(MACARTHUR HAS SAID HE DID NOT REGARD THIS DIRECTIVE AS APPLYING TO HIM AND THAT HE KNEW OF NO PROHIBITION ON PUBLIC STATEMENTS.)

THEN MARSHALL LISTED THE STATEMENTS WHICH WERE OFFENSIVE TO THE ADMINISTRATION:

DEC. 26--A STATEMENT IN A WAR COMMUNIQUE CHARGING THE "SURREPTITIOUS INTERVENTION" BY CHINESE REDS HAD BLOCKED THE UNITED NATIONS FROM THEIR OBJECTIVE IN THE NOVEMBER OFFENSIVE WHICH FAILED.

MACARTHUR ALSO SAID IN THIS RELEASE THAT "POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE HAD FAILED TO PENETRATE THE IRON CURTAIN AND PROVIDED NO SUBSTANTIAL INFORMATION OF THE ENEMY'S INTENT." AND HE PROTESTED HIS INTELLIGENCE HAD BEEN HANDICAPPED "BY THE SEVEREST LIMITATIONS" WHICH COULD NOT BE OVERCOME BECAUSE HIS AIRMEN COULD NOT FLY BEYOND THE MANCHURIAN BORDER.

FEB. 13--IN A NEWS CONFERENCE IN TOKYO ON RETURNING FROM A FLIGHT TO KOREA, MACARTHUR TOLD REPORTERS THAT U.N. TROOPS WERE BEING KEPT SOUTH OF PARALLEL 38 BY POLITICAL AND NOT MILITARY FACTORS.

MAR. 7--IN A NEWS CONFERENCE AT SUWON, KOREA, THE GENERAL SAID THE WAR COULD NOT FAIL TO END IN A STALEMATE BECAUSE OF THE "LIMITATIONS" ON THE FIELD COMMANDERS.

MARSHALL HAS TESTIFIED THAT MACARTHUR'S MARCH 24 CO

MAY 10 1951

ON THE FIELD COMMANDERS.

MARSHALL HAS TESTIFIED THAT MACARTHUR'S MARCH 24 CEASE-FIRE PROPOSITION TO THE RED COMMANDER IN KOREA DESTROYED ANY CHANCES FOR A U.N. PEACE MOVE AT THAT TIME, WHICH HE SAID WAS BEING PLANNED WITH MACARTHUR'S KNOWLEDGE.

HE SAID THE CLIMAX CAME WITH PUBLICATION OF THE NOW-CELEBRATED LETTER TO REP.MARTIN. HE CONCEDED NONE OF THE EARLIER STATEMENTS BY MACARTHUR HAD BEEN "APPROVED OR DISAPPROVED" OFFICIALLY.

Transcript of Third Day's Testimony by Secretary Marshall in Defense of Foreign Policy

MAY 10 1951

*WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Following is the censored transcript of today's hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into the Administration foreign policy (censorship deletions are indicated by * * ):

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL — The committe is now in order.

We welcome here Senator Brewster, who, due to the action of the Democratic Steering Committee and the Republican Conference, will today formally be assigned to a seat on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Senator, we are glad to take time by the forelock, and hereby invest you with all the rights, powers and privileges and benefits and handicaps and disadvantages of being a member of this committee. I do not think it will serve any use and purpose today because I doubt if you will have a chance to ask questions; but you are clothed with all of the rights of a member of this joint committee.

SENATOR BREWSTER—I appreciate very much your courtesy, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN—When the committe recessed yesterday, Senator George, I think, had about concluded his questions for the time being. He is not present now. So, Senator Wiley, under my system of switching from committee to committee, I will now pass to Senator Byrd.

I have been requested, Mr. Secretary, to ask if you are ready to furnish the name of the individual whom you told the committee about in China, whom you had seen fit to relieve of his duties and return to the States.

Testimony of Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall, accompanied by Felix Larkin, general counsel.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I have not located the man yet. I might say that, when I said I had seen fit to relieve him, I inquired about him and said we ought to get him out of there, and they reported to me he had been put on a boat and sent to the United States.

THE CHAIRMAN—You are still trying to find his name?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Yes, sir, we are trying to spot the name.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Byrd.

SENATOR BYRD—I have quite a few questions to ask but I will defer most of them until General Bradley takes the witness stand. These questions relate for the most part to his responsibilities and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

I would like to ask Secretary Marshall if he has any knowledge of this peace pact, defense pact, made between Red China and the Soviet, the Mutual Assistance Pact.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I just know they have the pact, and that has been a consideration the possibility of Russian intervention, and the details of that course, the State Department can handle much better than I can.

The fact that the pact directly referred to the Japanese, possible intervention on the mainland of Asia, I know controlled the action of this Government in not using any Japanese whatsoever in Korea. Beyond that, Senator, I think I will have to pass it up to the State Department.

SENATOR BYRD — Just one other observation. Have you furnished for the record a copy of the directive of Dec. 6? I have not seen it.

THE CHAIRMAN—General, it appears on page 178 of the compilation of information which was prepared for this committee.

SENATOR BYRD—I just wanted to locate that.

THE CHAIRMAN—I think it could also be printed in the record, and I asume that it has been furnished to appear at the end of the day's procedings for the permanent record as in the case of other documents that have been offered.

SENATOR WILEY—Have you got the committee print there?

MR LARKIN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR BYRD—I have no further questions.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Wiley?

Marshall Reacts Faster to 'General'

SENATOR WILEY—Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Secretary, how are we supposed to address you now, as Secretary or General?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I react more quickly to "General."

SENATOR WILEY — General, all right. To your knowledge, was General MacArthur, after he was appointed to take over Japan, ever consulted by you on your mission to China or by anybody else in the Government in relation to the formation of what was to be or what resulted in our China policy?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I have no recollection of discussing the matter with General MacArthur on my way out—no, I did not see him on my way out to China. On my return to the United States for a temporary period in March, 1946, I did see him, and I don't recall any discussion with him, specifically regarding the matter. I can't recall what else we talked about, but I was with him in his office for a considerable period, and at his house.

Q.—What I am getting at ——. A.—I have no recollection of refraining from comment, and I would assume that I made comment, but I have no—there was no formal consultation.

Q.—Then what I get from your answer is that to your knowledge this man, who has had that vast experience in the Philippines, who had fought his way up, and lived off and on twenty-five years out there, was not consulted by those in government who were planning the policy in the East. Am I right? A.—I couldn't answer that specifically, Senator, because I think there were consultations with individuals sent out by the State Department, but they can answer that directly.

Q.—All right. When you saw him, what was your position in the Government. A.—At that time I just referred to I was special representative of the President to China, with the rank of Ambassador.

Q.—You had no directive from President to consult then with in relation to the matter we are now discussing? A.—No, sir, I did not.

Q.—Now, General, if you will take this exhibit, the committee print, and turn to Page 184, you will find there a message from the Joint Chiefs of Staff under date of March 24, 1951, which reads as follows:

"To: Commander in Chief, Far East, Tokyo, Japan.

"From: Joint Chiefs of Staff, personal for MacArthur.

"The President has directed that your attention be called to his order as transmitted 6 December 1950. In view of the information given you 20 March 1951 any further statements by you must be coordinated as prescribed in the order of 6 December.

"The President has also directed that in the event Communist military leaders request an armistice in the field, you immediately report that fact to the JCS for instructions."

I call your attention particularly to March 24, the date of this message. Now at that time was there any objection to what MacArthur had previously said?

A.—The reason for the directive of Dec. 6 which I referred to in my testimony on the first day specifically.

Q.—Yes, but I am asking you if at this date—— A.—March 20.

Q.—Was there any particular objection to anything he had said or any statement he had made as of that date? A.—Yes, sir. The reference there pertained to his public announcement for the Chinese military commander.

Q.—Of what date? A.—I am just trying to get a date.

Q.—What I am getting at is if at that time there had been any specific objection to any of his previous statements. A.—I first said there was to his statements prior to Dec. 6 which gave rise to the Dec. 6 instruction. There was now in connection with this date that you have mentioned the issue by General MacArthur towards a meeting on the field with the Chinese Communist commander, and I am trying to get the date of that.

Recalls Statement To Chinese Commander

THE CHAIRMAN.—You will find that on Page 183 of the compilation.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Page what?

THE CHAIRMAN—183 of the compilation, the middle of the page.

SENATOR WILEY—Well, you will note, General, that that is the same date, so you certainly didn't have that objection in mind, or did you? Now let's find out.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I couldn't identify these headings. It related to his statement on March 24 to the Chinese military commander for a meeting in connection with a—where he states, "I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the commander in chief of the enemy forces in an earnest effort to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea, to which no nation may justly take exception, may be accomplished without further bloodshed."

In that communication——

SENATOR WILEY—That is the same date as the message. You mean to say you had already gotten that statement——

SECRETARY MARSHALL—That message referred to that statement, whatever the dates are.

Q.—All right. Well, now, we will come—if you are satisfied about that, that you are telling what you think is your best recollections, then on March 24 this message to MacArthur had reference to the statement that MacArthur made on the same date—— A.—There is a difference there, sir, because you are getting west of the 180th Meridian.

Q.—Was there any consultation about any violation by any—— A.—I referred to that in my statement that there was a consultation between the Secretary of State and his assistants and Mr. Lovett and General Bradley and I don't remember who else. I think Mr. Harriman, and then a meeting with the President. And out of that came this direction to the Chiefs of Staff to send the message that you originally referred to.

SENATOR WILEY—Well, now, let us again refer to this same message of March 24. You say there was "your attention is called to the order transmitted the 6th of December." All right. Now, as stated by the chairman, that order is found on Page 178 of this committee reprint.

Now, if you will kindly turn to that order and tell me what clause in that order—is that in the record?

THE CHAIRMAN—I instructed that to be put in the record. We are not printing these orders along with this transcript, but they will appear in the printed record of the hearings and they are identified where they can be found immediately by referring to this compilation that was prepared under my direction for the committee.

SENATOR WILEY—I understand, Mr. Chairman. I am asking the general to tell me what clause, and please read it, because this order is from the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the Commander in Chief of the Far East and the first paragraph says:

"The President as of the fifth of December forwarded a memo to all Cabinet members, to the chairman of the N. S. R. B. [National Security Resources Board] the Administrator E. C. A. [Economic Cooperation Administration], Director C. I. A. [Central Intelligence Agency], Administrator E. S. A. [Economic Stabilizing Agency] and Director of Selective Service, which reads as follows."

Then there are a number of paragraphs. Now, please tell me where in your judgment this statement that you claim—that was made of March 24, that MacArthur claims was scattered, as I recall it—I thought he said it was scattered by the millions over the troops and others—what provision of this order of Dec. 6 he violated.

SECRETARY MARSHALL (Reading):

"No speech, press release or other public statement concerning foreign policy should be released until it has received clearance from the Department of State.

"No speech, press release or other statement concerning military policy should be released until it has received clearance from the Department of Defense."

That first paragraph that I read is directly involved in this matter, because in his public statement that has been referred to here, on March 24, he refers to the fact—he says:

"These basic facts being established, there should be no insuperable difficulty in arriving at decisions on the Korean problem, if the issues are resolved on their own merits without being burdened by extraneous matters not directly related to Korea, such as Formosa and China's seat in the United Nations."

SENATOR WILEY—What date is that you are referring to?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—That is his statement on March 24, which caused the message of March 24, that is, in the United States, March 24, to be sent, which specifically directed him in the future that ——

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, I wonder, for clarification, isn't there one day's difference in there—isn't March 24 here, the 23d in Korea?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Or vice versa.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—That way, one day earlier—there would have been one day earlier in Korea, it would have been. In other words, the 25th of June, here, was the 25th (sic) of June in Korea, the day that the fighting broke out.

SENATOR WILEY—I think the fact is just what is demonstrated, but we can demonstrate that by someone who is an expert on it.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Here, Senator, is an explanation, in the fine type at the top of that statement of General MacArthur's, on March 24, that was printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES, and is dated, Tokyo, 25th of March.

Q.—I don't want to be confused. What you have just read out of the statement of Dec. 6, 1950, follows directly under Paragraph 1, where it says that the President forwarded to all these people. Does it mention there that MacArthur, or his connection—

A.—It says, "This applies to officials in the field, as well as those in Washington."

Actually, it was intended to do this, in this way: So as to not embarrass him with the public instruction on this particular occasion. It was generated because of these previous articles of a few days before, and in order not to put before the public this difference, the decision was made to make it a broadcast; but that, Senator, was added—to that was added, "This applies to officials in the field as well as to those in Washington."

Q.—Well, Dec. 6 does that—does it—the statement of Dec. 6? A.—That is the last sentence in Paragraph 1.

Q.—Now then, when MacArthur issued his statement of Dec. 26, 1950, was there any objection to that—was there any objection to that? Was there any approval or disapproval sent him? A.—In his statement which is reported—did you say March 25?

SENATOR WILEY—No, Dec. 26; that was his first statement after the Dec. 6 document.

THE CHAIRMAN—The bottom of Page 178, following the order of Dec. 6.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—And your question is, was that referred here for clearance or was anything, any action, taken, actually taken in relation to it, is that your question?

SENATOR WILEY—That is right. Did you or anyone else in authority in Washington notify him that this statement was in violation of any order, of the Dec. 6 statement, or did you approve it or disapprove it?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I have no recollection of approving or disapproving, and I am reasonably certain there was no action to that extent.

Q.—All right. Now, refer to the statement on page 181, the statement of MacArthur on Feb. 13th. Was that approved or disapproved by you or by anyone in authority in Washington? A.—I know of no approval or disapproval.

Q.—All right. Now, the statement of MacArthur on March 7, 1951, was that approved or disapproved by anyone in authority, you or anyone else? A.—I have no knowledge of approval or disapproval.

Q.—Well then, I call your attention to a message from the Joint Chiefs of Staff on March 20th on Page 183. A.—Yes, I have that.

Q.—All right. You will notice that there is nothing in there that specifically approves or disapproves, criticizes the previous statements made by MacArthur after Dec. 6th. I am going to read it because it is very brief.

"To: Commander in Chief, Far East, Tokyo, Japan.

"From: Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"State planning Presidential announcement shortly that, with clearing of bulk of South Korea of aggression, United Nations now prepared to discuss conditions of settlement in Korea. Strong U. N. feeling persists that further diplomatic effort toward settlement should be made before any advance with major forces north of Thirty-eighth parallel." Now, you notice you say, "strong U. N. feeling persists." Then continuing:

"Time will be required to determine diplomatic reactions and permit new negotiations that may develop. Recognizing that parallel has no military significance, State has asked J. C. S. what authority you should have to permit sufficient freedom of action for next few weeks to provide security for U. N. forces and maintain contact with enemy. Your recommendations desired."

What was the answer to that?

A.—I haven't the message here in my hand, but the reply from General MacArthur was to the effect that he had no request for additional authorities. But he did state that he wanted no further limitations imposed on the employment of his command.

Q.—Have you the answer in record from any place? A.—You mean the actual message?

Q.—What? A.—You mean the actual message?

Q.—Yes. A.—From MacArthur?

Q.—Yes. A.—He has got it right there.

Q.—Well, if it's brief, put it in the record.

A.—This is the message from General MacArthur in reply to that message you have just read from the Joint Chiefs of Staff:

"Recommend no further military restrictions be imposed upon the United States command"—that is "the United Nations command in Korea."

Q.—Is this from the Chiefs of Staff to MacArthur?

A.—This is from MacArthur to the Chiefs of Staff in reply to the message you just read.

"The inhibitions which already exist should not be increased. The military disadvantage arising from restrictions upon the scope of our air and naval operations, coupled with the disparity between the size of our command and the enemy ground potential renders it completely impractical to attempt to clear North Korea, or to make any appreciable effort to that end."

That is his answer to the message you have just read.

Q.—All right. What is the date of it? A.—The date of that is the 21st of March.

Q.—At that time was there any notice to MacArthur that he had violated any particular order or directive. A.—None other than that of Dec. 6.

Q.—Well, was there any notice in there that he had violated the Dec. 6 directive? A.—I said the only order that he had received from the Chiefs of Staff or the President, or otherwise, that I know of——

Q.—You did not understand my question. My question is this: Up to that date, now, was there any formal notice to MacArthur that he was guilty of violating any directive? A.—None other than that that would be drawn from the message of Dec. 6.

Q.—Well, Dec. 6 that you are talking about is the message to MacArthur that you claim determined definitely the scope of his activity. Now I am asking you between December——. A.—That I claimed what, sir?

Q.—I am asking you between Dec. 6, now, and March 21, was there any communication to him that any of these communications that he had made were in violation of the Dec. 6 directive? A.—I answered that, I think twice, Senator, that I knew of none.

Letter From MacArthur To Martin Discussed

Q.—Thank you, thank you. All right. Now, General, will you look at the letter to Mr. Martin, which is on Page 185 and 186? Do you have it? A.—I have it, sir.

Q.—Now that letter, you will notice, was written on March 8. A.—General MacArthur's letter was written on March 20, Mr. Martin's letter on March 8.

Q.—I beg your pardon, letter from Joseph Martin to General MacArthur was March 8. The letter from MacArthur to Joseph Martin, as you say, was March 20.

Now will you read the language in that letter that you claim was violative of any order or directive, because up to that time as I understand your testimony, the general had received no notice that he had violated any previous order or directive. Will you read to me the language that violates?

A.—"It seems strangely difficult for some to realize that here in Asia is where the Communist conspirators have elected to make their play for global conquest, and that we have joined the issue thus raised on the battlefield; that here we fight Europe's war with arms which the diplomats there still fight it with words; that if we lose the war to communism in Asia the fall of Europe is inevitable, win it and Europe most probably would avoid war and yet preserve freedom. As you pointed out, we must win. There is no substitute for victory."

That is the leading paragraph in that letter which involves foreign policy, involved the reactions of all our Allies in Western Europe and involved our dealings with our Allies, and the question of what voice spoke from this country in the matter of foreign policy.

Q.—I think you have definitely stated the issue. I think the issue now before the bar of public opinion—and that is the only place it could be tried—is whether or not that paragraph justified the method and the act in removing — A.—Oh, there were other passages all through this.

Q.—Removing General MacArthur? A.—I don't think you can confine it to this one final letter involved in this matter.

Q.—General, until this letter was written, had the President ever called or been consulted with by you people as to the advisability of removing General MacArthur?

A.—There was a meeting—until this letter. I am quite certain there was no discussion to the effect that General MacArthur might be relieved in connection with the drafting of the order from the Chief Executive of Dec. 6.

The matter came to a head with this letter we have just been reading. I might say, Senator, that every time there is an indication of a difference, an important difference or an important attitude, you do not necessarily call the individual to account. It is cumulative, and it was decidedly so in this particular instance.

Q.—Now what I am calling for, then — and I think the record should be clear on it. You say it is cumulative. You should give a bill of particulars and not just simply generalities like that because somehow or other I see a similarity here between the situation in the Senate when a nomination comes in and a Senator says "he is obnoxious," if the Senator doesn't explain that generally kills the nomination.

When the Senator starts to explain, starts to give his reasons, then the Senate sees whether or not the reasons justify the act. Now we know there is no question about the legal authority or the power—

Statement by President Enters Discussion

A.—There is no question about what?

Q.—We know there is no question about the legal authority or the power of the President, but we are called upon, as an investigative body to get out all the facts, and that is all I am trying to do here. I am trying to put myself in the position of General MacArthur and also in the position of the President and you gentlemen who apparently initiated and consummated this job.

We will carry on this examination. If you will refer to Pages 188 and 189, which is the dimissal by the President, and the public statement by the President, in the dismissal he says among other things:

"My reasons for your replacement will be made public concurrently with the delivery to you of the foregoing order and are contained in the following message."

That is dated April 10. Then in the statement he says:

"With deep regret I have concluded"—this is to the press and to the public—"that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur is unable to give his whole-hearted support to the policies of the United States Government and of the United Nations in matters pertaining to his official duties."

Who wrote that last paragraph, General?

A.—You mean what you are just reading?

Q.—The one I just read. A.—You said last paragraph.

Q.—That is a statement to the public. A.—I am trying to get the particular reference. Are you talking about the whole message?

Q.—I will reread it. Who wrote this statement? The President states:

"With deep regret I have concluded that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur is unable to give his wholehearted support to the policies of the United States Government and of the United Nations in matters pertaining to his official duties."

A.—That message was prepared partially in the Department of Defense, partially in the Department of State and partly, I believe, by the Chiefs of Staff.

Q.—What does that language in your judgment mean? A.—I think it is very specific. That he is unable to give his wholehearted support to the policies of the United States Government and of the United Nations in matters pertaining to his official duties.

Q.—What policy? A.—You are referring, I presume, by that question that there is no definite policy in your mind.

Q.—You say first he can't support policies. I want to know what policies he can't support wholeheartedly and didn't support.

A.—The policies involved here

related to the conduct of the operations in Korea, our relations with the United Nations in the responsibility of the Chief Executive of this country as the commander of those units, the resolutions of the United Nations in relation to the matters in Korea, over which General MacArthur was the United Nations commander.

Q.—All right. Those are generalities or conclusions. A.—The resolutions were not generalities.

Q.—I am asking you specifically what policies. What policy did he not support, what policy could he not support?

I might say in court I would move to strike that out as not a response, because it simply states a conclusion and not a response, and because it simply states a conclusion and not a fact. Now, if you can state definitely what policies, then we will have the answer.

A.—In the first place the policies were determined by the resolutions of the United Nations Security Council. The further development in connection with the orders from the Chief Executive acting for the United Nations—that is, the President—were based on the original resolutions and were based on the continual contact with the representatives of the nations who were involved in that fight and those pertained to the restrictions on bombing, those pertained to the blockade of the China Coast, and those pertained to the use of the troops from Formosa of the Government of China.

Q.—Don't you mean that what you have referred to as policies, he may have made counter-recommendations? There may have been disagreements but in your previous statement you said he carried out every military policy. Do you mean that?

A.—He did not violate these restrictions. He carried out the military directives, which is quite a different thing from the discussion of the limitations, as they were related to our allies, all of our allies, in the conduct of that campaign.

Q.—Do you mean to say that a man in General MacArthur's position, who was the Chief of Staff when you were a Colonel, had no right to discuss or advise or recommend to you leaders in Washington? Is that what you mean as violation of policy?

A.—There was no limit whatever on his representations of his views to the officials in Washington. There is a great difference between that and the public announcements.

Q.—We must not get into any heated argument, but I have a right to ask you specifically what was meant by that language, and what policy he violated. A.—Well, I have tried to define it.

Q.—Be specific. Let us see. A.—I think I have been sufficiently speci-

Negative Vote Received On 'Hot Pursuit' Policy

Q.—You have been as specific as you can be?

A.—I think I have been sufficiently specific. It starts with a resolution or resolutions of the United Nations Security Council; it goes on in the development of affairs in Korea, in relation to the representatives of the various nations concerned.

For example, I went into the details of our effort to introduce "hot pursuit' 'in the air. That was formally taken up with each of the thirteen nations involved, and we received a negative vote. There was a phase of policy precisely which I have already covered, but we were in constant contact with them in relation to the various movements or actions that General MacArthur was proposing to us, the constituted authorities, meaning the Commander in Chief.

Q.—It seems to me what you have shown is that your associates on the United Nations did not want to follow the policy, and you do not claim that there was any violation then by MacArthur, do you, because he wanted, first, to bomb north of the Yalu, and he wanted to bomb these two sacred precincts that have been set aside. He wanted to blockade the coast, and so forth.

Now, someone said, "no," to his suggestions. Now, did he violate that "no?"

A.—By his public statements or statements that were made public in the ordinary press, he set up a very serious reaction among our allies, which threatened our collective action with them, and which threatened our position in the world in relation to this great crisis, and which threatened to leave us in a situation of going it alone.

Q.—Now, let us be specific about that. What did he say or do that caused these allies of ours to have so much power that they apparently determined what should be done? What did he say and do? A.—You say that they apparently determined what should be done.

Q.—What is that?

A.—You say, referring to the allies, they apparently determined what should be done. I want to keep that phase of your question before us. They did not determine what should be done, but we had an issue with our allies before the world, when, in effect, this country, in connection with foreign policy, was speaking with two voices.

Now, what was to be the reaction to that, among those allies who were concerned with troops on the ground, who were desperately concerned as to the avoidance of a general war, which would have reached them far more quickly than it would have us so far as our homeland is concerned?

SENATOR WILEY—May I see if I understand that answer, General? The answer is—that because MacArthur, on the ground, 10,000 miles away, had a different idea as to how the battle should be carried on, than when he gave those different ideas to his superiors here in Washington, and they must have given them to the allies, that they disagreed with his ideas, and because they disagreed with MacArthur's ideas, you people came to the conclusion that he was violating a directive of some kind, which justified his removal?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I'll say this, Senator:

By his public statements he had created a feeling of great uneasiness among our allies, as to the consequent results from his proposals.

He was creating a feeling of uncertainy with our allies as to who was directing these affairs—that our Chief Executive, as the executive agent for those allies, or otherwise; when he proposed the utilization of the Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa, he was setting up a very serious consideration, entirely remote from the quality of those troops, which is a matter that the Chiefs of Staff can talk to more definitely in regard to than I can, because the employment of Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea set up a possible political consequence of great importance to those allies.

Q.—He didn't use them, sir. A.—I beg pardon?

Q.—He didn't use them. A.—He was proposing their use, sir.

Q.—Was that a sufficient crime to take a man of his position out of that job? A.—When you create the feeling among your allies that you are on the verge of doing something which they feel is of great misfortune to them and a hazard to them, you are now involved in a question of policy, and the President of the United States by the Constitution is the only one who should interpret that.

Wiley Asks What MacArthur's Sin Was

Q.—I recognize the power, General. You, yourself, testified yesterday that you often had a strong disagreement with Roosevelt but you did not violate policy when it was decided.

Now, then, once you folks decided MacArthur's suggestion in relation to utilization of the Chinese, in relation to not bombing north of the Yalu, in relation not to bomb Rashin, or whatever they call it, he did not violate that policy, did he?

A.—He did not violate the policy by military action, but he took issue with the policy before the world.

Q.—And that was his major sin? A.—And created a situation where apparently we had two voices speaking for this country because he was the Supreme Commander of those troops of those various nations involved.

Q.—Yes. Now have you any documents in the nature of communications from our allies indicating what would prove the statement you just made? A.—I will have to ask you to make that request of the State Department.

Q.—Well, I certainly request it, because I am very much interested in ascertaining, as I look through this record, just how the situation all at once exploded in our faces as it did. Now, General—— A.—Senator, may I intervene with another comment regarding what you have just said?

Q.—Yes. A.—As to our Allies, they did not determine General MacArthur's relief. They gave no expression of that kind even remotely that I can recall pertaining to his relief. But as to them and the importance of our relations with them, I gave you the example of our failure to establish a basis with them for the hot pursuit. * * * (about thirty-five lines deleted).

Q.—General, I am not going to discuss the merits or the demerits of MacArthur's proposition because I don't think that is the issue. I say to you that the future alone may determine whether he was right or you people were right in limiting his authority. What I want to get from you now is this.

Supposing you had said to the allies, "You gave us this command and we are going to keep MacArthur on the job," what would have happened?

Supposing you had said to the allies, "You gave us this command and we are going to keep MacArthus on the job," what would have happened?

A.—Well, I don't know whether you would call that a hypothetical question or not.

Q.—You are pretty good at any questions. A.—Well, I don't think so. However, I would feel that we were jeopardizing our entire relationship on a collective security basis.

Q.—Then you mean that the pressure by the allies was so severe because MacArthur had dared to say what he did say—and I want a bill of particulars—what he did say irritated the allies, that if we had not listened, it would have jeopardized our relationship. You mean they would have pulled out?

A.—That would remain to be seen.

Q.—Did they call attention to any specific statement of MacArthur's that irritated them so? A.—You will have to ask that of the State Department, sir.

Q.—What? A.—You will have to ask that of the State Department who had received those. I can only give you second-hand, and I don't think that is advisable.

MacArthur's Stand Explained by Whitney

Q.—Now, general, if you will refer to Page 914 of this record, you will find a statement by Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney on April 12 that gives the explanation apparently from MacArthur to Whitney of his understanding of the directive of Dec. 6. Will you take Paragraph 2? I will read it:

"Immediately after its receipt, General MacArthur submitted a proposed communiqué to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who informed him, among other things, that it was not necessary to submit communiqués referencing military operations."

Is that a fact?

Q.—That is correct.

SENATOR WILEY—All right, now let's refer to 2:

"The President, in a press conference in January, appeared to this headquarters to specifically define General MacArthur's authority, but denied that there was any curb on his authority 'to speak freely on the Korean war.'"

SENATOR SMITH. Paragraph 3.

SENATOR WILEY. Paragraph 3, I beg your pardon. Did MacArthur do anything but speak freely on the Korean war?

SECRETARY MARSHALL. You have, I think, to read that in connection with the direction of the Chiefs of Staff to MacArthur, who informed him among other things that it was not necessary to submit communiqués reference to military operations.

I would assume, though I have not discussed this with the President, that his statement related to military operations and did not relate to the general policy of this Government.

Q.—All right, refer to 4:

"Furthermore, the directive of Dec. 6, by its terms and spirit, was interpreted at this headquarters as applying solely to formal public statements and not to communiqués, correspondence, or personal conversations with others."

Do you think that is a fair implication?

A.—I do not. There was, in the second paragraph of the message of Dec. 6, specifically said, "this applies to officials in the field." Now the only officials in the field we had were in Korea and in Japan.

Q.—All right, now 6:

"The general has interpreted both his statements of March 24"—which I might say parenthetically we have already referred to, you and I—"and his letter to Congressman Joseph Martin, dispatched from here four days prior thereto, as dealing exclusively with the military situation and within the area of his uncontested authority to speak. The one bore no slightest relationship to the other."

What do you think of that?

A.—I think that is inconsistent with the statement that he made, because he refers directly to Formosa and China's seat in the United Nations.

Question of Procedure In Dismissal Raised

Q.—What? A.—I think that is inconsistent with the statement that General MacArthur made because he referred in that statement to both Formosa and China's seat in the United Nations.

Q.—You wouldn't say, would you, General, it was a customary procedure to dismiss a commander of General MacArthur's stature as abruptly as was done in this case? A.—Well, I think when you say "stature," that is another matter, but as to commanders and senior commanders of armies, there have been other cases.

In this particular case, as I explained to the committee, it was arranged that a high official of the Government, the Secretary of the Army, should present the message of the President and the draft of his statement that he would make to the public at General MacArthur's embassy, which was his home, and at a specific hour in the morning before he went to his office, under those circumstances.

I also explained that what actually happened was that Secretary of the Army Pace, who was in Korea, never received that message, though we did not know it at the time, and that prior to that there came to the attention of the President, his advisers, a leak which they felt would disclose in advance the actions to be taken, and in those circumstances it was the decision of the President to carry out the relief immediately.

Q.—Is it customary to notify the press of the Commander's dismissal before notifying the theatre Commander? A.—I would say no, and I thought under these circumstances they had managed to avoid that.

Q.—The main criticism of General MacArthur, as I get it from your testimony, has been concerned with his actions as a theatre Commander. Why was it considered necessary to relieve him of his other offices, notably that of the Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Japan? A.—I think I stated previously in my testimony, Senator, that that was considered——

Q.—When and what dates? A.—That was considered on several dates.

Q.—By whom? A.—By meeting with the President between his special adviser, Ambassador Harriman, by the Secretary of State, by the Secretary of Defense, and by General Bradley, and the discussion—this was prior to the decision as to his relief——

Q.—How soon?

A.—And the discussion ran along the line of: Was it possible as a practical proposition to first retain General MacArthur in his capacity as Supreme Commander until a Japanese treaty could be effected? That was not felt to be a practical proposition.

Then the discussion took up the question of: Could it be arranged to retain General MacArthur in his Japanese control role particularly because of the matter of the Japanese treaty, and the opinion as to that was it was not a practical proposition, because General Ridgway not only would have an unusually hard task owing to the circumstances of his replacement of General MacArthur and his junior position, but he must use all of Japan as a base for his operations in Korea.

And, there would be a divided control, and no one could tell how that would work out.

Therefore, it was considered, in the interest of the campaign, that General Ridgway should not be put in such a complicated position.

I am stating that the matter was considered, and it was felt unwise.

Secretary Says Meeting Was Held on April 6

Q.—Now, I asked you—was that after the Martin letter had come to the attention of—. A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—Okay; and how soon before the 1 o'clock session that we all heard about did that take place? This other discussion? A.—I think that was first discussed, as nearly as I can recall, on Saturday morning, following—that would be——

MR. LARKIN—Wouldn't it be about——

SECRETARY MARSHALL—It isn't "about," it is one date. Saturday morning, following the first discussion with the President on Friday, which began this group discussion with him.

SENATOR WILEY—I wonder if we could have the dates, so that we could get the chronology of this?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I have got it here. On Friday, April 6, there was a first meeting with the President; and those in attendance were the same that I named: Ambassador Harriman, Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, and General Bradley—on Friday, April the 6th.

Q.—Were there minutes kept of that meeting? A.—No, sir. I know of no minutes. There was no secretary in the room, nobody but the President and ourselves.

Q.—Was it there agreed upon, at that meeting, that MacArthur would have to go? A.—MacArthur would—what?

Q.—Would have to go? A.—No, sir; there was no such agreement; and as I have already explained, there was this preliminary discussion, and the President directed us to gather the facts and data and bring it to his attention on the following morning, Saturday, April 7.

There was then a discussion on April 7, and I think, there, at that discussion, arose the discussion as to whether it was possible—whether it was a desirable procedure to attempt to find a method of keeping General MacArthur in command until the conclusion of the Japanese treaty.

Then, I think, on that same Saturday morning, there was a discussion of whether or not it would be wise to continue him in command in Japan, while passing over the military leadership to General Ridgway.

That, for the reasons I have just stated, was not found advisable as a course of action.

At that meeting the President directed that we think over the matter over the week-end, and meanwhile, I was to obtain the views of the Chiefs of Staff as to the purely military aspects of the matter. Those were obtained on Sunday afternoon, and we met on Monday morning.

There the discussion was renewed, and General Bradley presented there the actions of the Chiefs of Staff, and the President then took his decision.

Q.—May I ask you to name the Chiefs of Staff, the personnel? A.—General Vandenberg, General Collins and Admiral Sherman and, of course, General Bradley, as the chairman.

Q.—Their reaction was that he had to go? A.—The reaction that he should be relieved was unanimous, but I prefer that you ask General Bradley specifically as to their reasons.

Q.—All right. Now, in this meeting on the 9th——

A.—That is on Monday, is it not, the 9th—that the decision was taken.

Then, there was not another meeting until Tuesday, the 10th, at 3 o'clock, and at that meeting the President considered the various drafts of his communication to General MacArthur, his announcement to the press, my instructions to General Ridgway, as to taking over command.

There were some minor alterations, and those were accepted by the President; then also the instructions to the Secretary of the Army, Mr. Pace, who was then in Korea.

Then, that meeting broke up after about an hour, I presume, 4 o'clock, maybe longer, and the matter then passed into the hands of the White House as to the arrangements for any background or particular release to the press other than the documents I have referred to, and it was during that procedure that this matter of a threatened leak came to our attention, and it was in the interval between that and the preparation of whatever press release was going to be made that involved the action, including the neostyling, up to midnight; I was not in that, so I am just telling you that as it was told me.

Q.—All right. General, who initiated that first meeting? A.—The first meeting was initiated by the President.

Procedure in Timing Of Dismissal Questioned

Q.—Now, As I remember your testimony already, you said that MacArthur did not, in spirit or in letter, fail to carry out any military instructions issued to him as the Far Eastern commander, nor did he violate any military order. A.—That is correct.

Q.—All right. And I repeat, that in your testimony of May 7 you said, "What is new, what has brought about the need for MacArthur's removal is the wholly unprecedented situation of a local theatre commander publicly expressing his displeasure at and his disagreement with the foreign and military policies of the United States."

You agree that is the fact?

A.—I stated that.

Q.—All right.

The dismissal directing General MacArthur's removal was to take effect immediately upon receipt. Now some time elapsed before General Ridgway was notified of his appointment. Did anyone think that during this time a contingency might have happened that might have in the interval affected the security of the United States troops and the security of the United States, so that it might have been jeopardized?

A.—Very careful arrangements were made for the simultaneous notification of General Ridgway with that to General MacArthur. Specifically, the Secretary of the Army, Mr. Pace, was directed, he being in Korea, to arrange to have delivered to General Ridgway at the same time that he made an appointment to deliver the basic communication to General MacArthur, the fact of this relief and the message for his appointment.

General Hull, who is on the General Staff in the Army Department, was to be left in Korea by Mr. Pace, and with the time of Mr. Pace's meeting with General MacArthur, so that the two services would occur simultaneously. Now, so far as I know, the release and the notification of General Ridgway were approximately simultaneous; though, as I have referred to before, the message to Mr. Pace, which went through Pusan, failed to reach him because of a power failure in the radio set-up there.

Q.—It has been charged that the American troops in Korea are subject to the control of the United Nations and of our partners in Korea, in which we lost independence of military action in a war involving 350,000 of our men, which has resulted to date in over 65,000 casualties. Would you comment on that statement? A.—Will you read it again, please, Senator?

Q.—The gist of it is that with our arrangements and allies we have lost our independence of command over our own 350,000 troops. A.—I am sorry, I was looking down at this paper when you started this sentence there and I missed it again.

Q.—All right, I will read it over again, General.

It has been charged that the American troops in Korea are subject to the control of the United Nations and of our partners in Korea, in which control we have lost independence of military action in a war involving 350,000 of our men, which has resulted to date in 65,000 of our own casualties. Do you want to comment on that statement?

A.—Well, I think the figures as to our men are approximately accurate. The figures that I have here are 62,799 and you said 65,000, which included, according to these figures, 9,600 dead, and some 42,000 wounded. So that is a reasonably accurate statement in relation to these figures that you have just made.

Now the total casualties I understood you to say were three hundred and some thousand.

Q.—That is not the point. The point is by virtue of this arrangement we have virtually lost control of our own men. That is what I want to know. Our men amounted to 350,000, our own men in the field. A.—I would say that the causalties suffered by our troops on the ground—

Q.—It is not casualties— A.—Will you allow me to finish, Senator?

Senator Russell Demands Order

THE CHAIRMAN—Yes, let's proceed in order. The witness will not interrupt the questioner and the questioner will not interrupt the witness.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Beg pardon?

THE CHAIRMAN—I was merely observing that we would get along better if there was no interruption on the part of anyone.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I guess I am guilty of a couple of interruptions here, too.

THE CHAIRMAN—That the witness should wait until the questioner had completed the question and the questioner wait until the witness completed his answer. All right.

SENATOR WILEY—May I say, Mr. Chairman, that I do not want to interrupt. But I thought the general did not understand my question. I tried to make the point that it isn't a question of the number of casualties; it is a question of whether or not we, the American Government, have lost control of the 350,000 soldiers we have got in the field over there by virtue of our alliance with our allies. That is the question—control, not casualties. We have had evidence on casualties.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I would say we have not any more than we lost control of our troops in Europe though it was an American Allied commander, just as in this case it is an American Allied commander.

What I was leading on to say in relation to the casualty figure which has been introduced with this question is that the numbers of the casualties, I think, are very slightly affected, maybe not at all—but very slightly affected by the retrictions that have been imposed partly because of the feeling of our allies and partly because of our own feelings that to act otherwise in those limitations under the general conditions would possibly result in a very much larger casualty list.

Q.—General, do you nave any figures showing what the contribution of the other United Nations partners has been to date in the Korean affair?

A.—Yes, sir; we have that here. * * * (five lines deleted). I am sorry, I read one as of an October date, so please strike out that. I have got them on different dates.

I think it is in reply to a question made by Senator Knowland. I am sorry, I got into the wrong sheet.

Q.—If that is already in the record, give me the total. A.—At the present time, as of April 30, * * * (six lines deleted).

Q.—And what is our forces there, Army, Air and Navy? A.—Sorry to delay you here, but I have to get the right paper. I will have to get you the figure. We can't find it here right now.

Q.—Well, I use the figure 350,000 that was given to me before. Do you think that is approximately right? A.—I don't know, sir. I know it more in terms of divisions and tank units.

Q.—These figures that you gave us now are the total contributions made by our allies? A.—That is the present status of those contributions and does not include the men that have been evacuated as casualties.

SENATOR WILEY—I have a note saying that this is 3,000 less than the allies had contributed in June of 1950.

Figures on Contribution Of Allies Discussed

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Three thousand less than the Republic of China offered in June of 1950.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — That was 36,000.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Thirty-three thousand.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Thirty-three thousand.

SENATOR WILEY—Well, what I am getting at is could it not be said in the light of these figures that we are already going it alone?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I do not think so, sir. I haven't mentioned their ships, carriers, matters of that course, and also airplanes.

Q.—Are they included in the numbers? A.—As to personnel, but there is a large difference there as to the numbers when it is reflected in terms of a cruiser or reflected in terms of a carrier as compared to a company of infantry, we will say, or a battalion of infantry.

Q.—There was some statement that at the time of the withdrawal from the Yalu, that one of our allies refused to order their troops to fight at the Chosin Reservoir, is that correct? A.—Will you please read the question? (The reporter read back the last question.) I have never heard of that. I have here the matériel data if you wish to add that to my statement as to the individual contribution of the allies as to people.

Q.—I think it would be worthwhile, if it is not too long. A.—* * * (twelve lines deleted).

Q.—Do you know how much the war has cost us, in dollars and cents, to date? A.—I would have to have that calculated for you.

Q.—Are we providing all of the ammunition, the food, guns and so forth? A.—I don't think we are, sir; but the Chiefs of Staff can give you that very accurately.

Q.—All right, sir.

Now, General, the Colonial Office has announced that 120 tons of natural rubber were sold from British-controlled Malaya to Red China, in the nine months ending May 1, 1951. This is only one of many such transactions. What effort has the United States made to bring about an end to this traffic, so far as your knowledge is concerned, and with what success?

A.—I stated yesterday, that the complete economic blockade—that we were making—and there was an effort to obtain a United Nations cooperation with that; and that on May 7, two days ago, the United Kingdom and France indicated they were prepared to support a resolution introduced by the United States, for an international embargo against Communist China.

SENATOR CONNALLY — You meant the United Kingdom and France.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — The United Kingdom and France indicated they are now prepared to support a resolution introduced by us, for an international embargo against Communist China.

The support of the United Kingdom and France practically assures the adoption of the United States proposal. The imposition of such an international embargo would, of course, make the question of any such blockade of less importance.

Actually, the movement of such critical items throngh Hong Kong into China has been a matter of serious concern.

I say, it was recently exposed and debated in the British Parliament.

Wiley Summarizes MacArthur Program

SENATOR WILEY—Of course, General, we see here an evidence of one of the recommendations of General MacArthur coming about rather belatedly.

He wanted to blockade the coast and stop all this stuff from going in months ago; but now they come to a point where they are going to inaugurate an international embargo, and I think it must be acknowledged it will have little effect, so far as the Russian ports are concerned.

Whether or not it would be effective in Hong Kong is another thing.

But, slowly, it seems that the hands of the clock are turned around to some of these four recommendations that he made; including bombing, not conditionally, as you have got it now, of points north of the Yalu River, but bombing them outright, as nests of rats that have caused casualties to our forces.

Now, with your vast experience with this sort of problem, in two World Wars, you must realize the dilemma confronting a theatre commander in such a situation.

What would you have done, if you had been General MacArthur; what would you have done that he didn't do, or what would you not have done that he did do?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Well, that question, to use an expression I used the other day, pretty nearly covers the entire waterfront, and it is a hypothetical question.

I was not sitting in his chair, not under the pressures that he was, and my reply to that would have to be from the abstract, rather than from the concrete.

SENATOR WILEY—Mr. Chairman, I don't want to interrupt the witness, but I am calling now for specific, concrete acts that I called for before.

THE CHAIRMAN—I think we will make better progress if we let the witness answer in his own way, just as the questioner is permitted to propound his questions in his own way.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I think there is a Supreme Court ruling on the hypothetical and the problematical question.

However, I am willing to go ahead with my reply.

I would think, in the main, as I say, speaking from the abstract, rather than his concrete situation, that my struggle would have been with the Government, direct with the Government rather than with the public—the spread of the discussion so that it would reach the whole world.

Whether or not I would have reached the situation where I felt that the interests of my country demanded that I step from my responsibility and take the problem to the country is a problematical procedure. But in my own experience, I have had occasions where I had to think very carefully as to whether I should take up an issue which really would mean an opposition to the Government policy and which would necessitate, I felt, my own retirement.

Recalls Difficulties Of Other Commanders

I said in the record the other day that my own reaction was that it would be highly destructive as to the team and, therefore, not in the interests of the country.

There are minor cases where I never got in the point of thinking about retirement in order to clear my hand to speak more frankly, but in each instance, when I was pressing hard for something, and I was not getting it, I had to consider primarily the interests of the team which I thought were the primary interests of the country.

Now, as I say, I have to deal with this in the abstract; it is a hypothetical question, and I think that my answer is about the best that I could make under those conditions.

I have seen other difficulties of commanders and how they have handled them. I referred to one in relation to General Pershing yesterday or the day before, which I think is a very excellent example, in that he was deprived by a Government policy, which related to foreign relations, from even using the railroad to support his penetration of Mexico.

That was almost unheard of for a commander, you might say, that he could not use the river or could not use the railroad—in this case it was a railroad—and that was Mr. Wilson's reaction in the international complications as to our relationship with Mexico. Could this be an isolated operation towards Villa or would it be a war with Mexico?

There he accepted that, and it imposed the most difficult situation because we had no motor transport organization at that time, and there were very few roads.

That was certainly a limitation directly on his campaign. He did not appeal to the public, and when his whole expedition was canceled, as it were, and he was ordered to withdraw just as he thought he was going to accomplish his capture of Villa, he did not even inform his staff of the order of that withdrawal; he directed it, and it was carried out.

Now, there is one exhibition of a commander in the field being even denied his line of communications, and we know exactly what happened.

He had other difficulties in Europe, but it never went to the public. He was involved in Allied affairs that never went to the public. He was concerned there with the reactions of this Government in the way of foreign policy, there is nothing new to that.

The important aspect of the matter is there can be only one voice, there can only be one voice, constitutional and otherwise, it seems to me, in the decisions as to foreign policy at the time they are given out.

I don't mean by that that you don't debate them up here, because you come to the Foreign Relations and Foreign Affairs Committees; but you cannot have two voices.

SENATOR WILEY—Well, has the British Government or any other of the nations partners in Korea had a vocie in removing MacArthur?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — They did not. They were not advised, there was no suggestion that I know of, there was nothing of that sort whatever that I know of.

I know this: That in this matter I have mentioned the people that the President called in. I understand that he spoke to a few, maybe three or four, outside of Army, Defense Department, outside of the State Department.

I am not at liberty to say who they were, and I don't know but one specifically—two specifically—but outside of that, I don't know of anybody drawn into this discussion at the time, and certainly there was no influence that I know of other than the abstract way from discussions in the press of things abroad.

Sessions With President Declared Confidential

Q.—In the various discussions was there anyone that raised the voice in favor of General MacArthur? A.—I do not feel at liberty to discuss that aspect of these meetings with the President. It was a confidential relationship, and I would make no comment on that.

Q.—Who was the chief prosecutor? A.—I will make no comment on that, sir.

Q.—It has been alleged that the decisions of the President, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other high-ranking American officials, Defense officials, have been vetoed in secret by other governments. You say that isn't true.

A.—I would say that that is not true except as specifically stated, where the Chiefs of Staff brought forward a plan authorizing "hot pursuit," and that was disapproved by other governments refusing to concur. (Sixteen lines deleted).

Q.—Was General MacArthur fully informed about everything which affected his command? In other words, for example, was he informed on any friction that might have existed between the United States and its allies? A.—He was notified of the extremely delicate situation regarding a great many of these points.

Q.—You mean notified by the communiqués we have referred to in the cross-examination here? Any other way? A.—By cables from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or radios, and also by the President himself in a rather lengthy message in one case that I recall specifically.

Q.—Can we have copies of those? A.—All of them?

Q.—The ones that you think are material. A.—I understand that practically all of them are paraphrased in the papers of the Joint Chiefs which have been submitted here to the committee.

Q.—United States policy, at least at the present, opposes the seating of representatives of Communist China in the United Nations and turning over to Communist China Formosa. Yet if these were basic principles, why were we ready to negotiate them under the proposed cease-fire arrangements of the thirteen nations cease-fire proposal? Incidentally, was General MacArthur kept informed of these developments?

A.—He was kept informed of those developments because I recall that terms were sent out to him for his comment. However, the draft of the proposed armistice terms excludes any consideration of the Formosa question, and not any discussion, excludes the Formosa question and the seating of the Chinese Communists in the armistice terms.

The discussion of those two factors is a matter we don't control because you always have that in the United Nations and you can't avoid it.

The problem with us is how we handle it under our own terms, which are that Formosa must not be permitted to fall under the control of a Communist government or of a government that is dominated by the Soviet Government, nor must we be involved, must we permit, if it is possible for us to avoid it, an action which permits a nation to shoot its way into the United Nations regime.

Armistice Call Held Violation of Authority

Q.—I think you have already stated that you felt that MacArthur's statement in relation to a suggested armistice which is found on Page 183, was in violation of what you thought was his authority as a military commander. A.—The first half of the question, read it, please.

(The reporter read back the last question.)

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Now will you turn to that statement and show me where—on Page 183. That is one specific item probably we may get. A.—I read, as I recall, from this communication this paragraph:

"These basic facts being established, there should be no insuperable difficulty arriving at decisions on the Korean problem if the issues are resolved on their own merits without being burdened by extraneous matters not directly related to Korea, such as Formosa and China's seat in the United Nations."

There are other parts involved with that when he is talking of military weaknesses.

"Even under inhibitions which now restrict activity of the United Nations and the corresponding military advantages which accrue to Red China, it has been shown its complete inability to accomplish by force of arms the conquest of Korea.

"The enemy therefore must by now be painfully aware that a decision of the United Nations to depart from its tolerant effort to contain the war to the area of Korea through expansion of our military operations to his coastal areas and interior bases would doom Red China to the risk of imminent military collapse."

That involves reactions of our allies as to that phase of the matter. It involves, therefore, foreign policy. And the first paragraph I read is a more direct one, relating to membership in the United Nations and Formosa.

Q.—Now, then, you do not think that as a military commander that he had any authority in relation to seeking with the enemy an armistice or a cease-fire situation?

A.—I think under the instructions that he had received, that the President was in the midst of preparing for such a negotiatory effort and was clearing that with the nations involved with us in the fighting in Korea, that it should have been evident to him that that would very seriously complicate, if not terminate at that time, that particular effort by the executive agent of the United Nations.

Actually what happened was this matter had been cleared through most of the nations involved.

Q.—What matter? A.—Of the question of the President's negotiatory effort to bring about a termination of the fighting in Korea, and General MacArthur had been notified that that was in process.

Following hat notification, very shortly thereafter, he came out with this announcement which we have just been discussing, and which I just read portions of.

The result of that was that the agreement that was just about reached for he President to come forward, as the executive agent of the United Nations, with an effort which it is thought had a possible chance of terminating the fighting—that was dropped because we had spoken again with two voices—General MacArthur's out in the theatre and the President about to speak and in consultation with the other nations involved. It terminated immediately their reaction to what we were doing. As one characterized it—that particular move had now become an academic matter.

Q.—Mr. Chairman, I do not want to take a great deal more of the time of the committee. I have felt this matter very seriously, but I repeat that the statement just made by the General is a conclusion and that some witness should take that statement and get the facts.

I want to say definitely that in the message of March 20th, which is the one he talks about, and found on Page 183, the President does not tell him not to negotiate, does not tell him to stop. There is the very assignment that we are talking about.

I want to find out specifically, and I think it is very important, because to me it is getting more and more a question of sensibility, stepping on somebody's toes 10,000 miles away, which is not like stepping on somebody's toes at home, so I am going to leave that for somebody else to develop because to me that is very insignificant.

I will go on with a few prepared questions that I have.

I think it is very important—it may have been covered, General—how do you visualize the Korean conflict will be terminated?

A.—If it goes on in the manner that it has for the last two months, and particularly in the last two weeks, it would appear that the trained fabric of the Chinese Communist forces will be pretty well torn to pieces.

They must have—I know they must have—a decided limit in the development of trained troops and trained armies no matter how great their population or, we will say, the availability of manpower.

We have apparently been encountering their best troops, and this most recent encounter has involved tremendous casualties for them. * * * Four lines deleted.

Plight of Chinese Reds Is Believed 'Serious'

Now, the question is how long can they bring forth trained forces sufficient to present a very serious situation to us in Korea. How long under the conditions that have been developing during the last two months will they go along before they find it necessary in some way to reach an agreement? Those are matters that no one can foretell.

I would assume, and the Chiefs of Staff can give you much more detail as regards this than I can, that their situation is assuming very serious proportions, and it is not merely a question of a horde of manpower. That overwhelming force was confronting us when they first appeared in Korea, and General MacArthur had the battle to fight against his tremendously outnumbered United Nations forces.

The situation now has resolved itself into one where the Communist powers are being steadily limited by the extremely heavy losses they are suffering.

Whether or not they resort to other means, referring specifically to air operations, I do not know. * * * Eight lines deleted.

In any campaign there is always an uncertainty until you reach a successful conclusion. The problem here is what can we do to increase the chances for a successful conclusion without getting ourselves fatally involved in a world struggle.

Q.—Well, is there any way the enemy can be brought to the peace table? He came without announcement and began to fight. Supposing he slips across the Yalu without announcement and concentrates in force there without negotiating at the peace table. How do you visualize this conflict will end?

A.—That is, you are talking about later events, that he slips across the Yalu? He did slip across the Yalu without any announcement, and he introduced the fight which was so difficult to meet in December and January.

Now, do I understand from your question that you are asking me how a future arrangement might be carried out with the possibility of his slipping across the Yalu again?

Q.—My question involves this: That how are we going to terminate this war? I said that the enemy came without announcement, and he may depart without announcement. How are we going to get him to the peace table? Once we get him to the peace table, what is the peace worth?

Supposing he goes north of the Yalu again and without announcement concentrates up there without negotiating at the peace table? How do you visualize the conflict will end then?

A.—We always have the difficulty of whether or not agreements reached by negotiation with the Communist groups anywhere in the world can be depended upon and I think in each case where we struggle for negotiatory arrangements we must remain on guard until good faith is established. That would apply to Korea.

If an occasion, development, such as you have pictured should occur, then I would say we have to take up the most economical position in readiness that we can and that would apply to what we can do with the South Korean forces, for them on their own ground, what supporting troops we would have to leave in reserve, what we would leave in Japan in reserve.

Those are all military questions that I think can better be answered, if it is advisable, by the Chiefs of Staff themselves. They have been discussed at considerable length.

Reasons for Raid Ban At Rashin Outlined

Q.—Why was General MacArthur forbidden to bomb, I think, Rashin, a point thirty-five miles within the Korean border?

A.—That again is a detail which the Chiefs can give you more exactly than I can, but, in the rough, it was felt that the destruction of the stores at that depot would be accomplished, that immediate destruction, but they could do almost the same thing right over the Soviet border where we could not touch them and in doing the bombing we were running a certain risk as to the involvement of our people, involvement of us with the Soviet Government, because we had to consider the shipping, we had to consider the proximity to the border, and I don't contest General MacArthur's distance there, because we can determine that exactly from the messages, but it seemed to me it was closer than he mentioned.

But the main determining factor, I think—and the Chiefs of Staff can give you that exactly—was that we would only accomplish an immediate destruction of these particular stores and an equivalent arrangement could be set up just across the Soviet boundary.

Q.—I have looked at your testimony on Monday and heard your testimony this morning, general.

For my own benefit, if nobody else's I wonder if I could get what we in the law call a bill of particulars, showing specifically the language that violated what you think the responsibility of MacArthur was as a theatre commander.

I would appreciate getting that very much, because I think upon that analysis will depend the judgment of the people of this country if they ever take time to study it out.

A.—When you say "theatre commander," it is United Nations theatre commander, which is a little different from the normal.

Q.—I accept that amendment. Yesterday in answering Senator George's questions you seemed to have some reservation about Soviet intentions with regard to Korea. If I read the record correctly, those reservations would seem to apply to General MacArthur's statement that he did not believe that Soviet action would necessarily be meshed with our moves.

General MacArthur's estimate of what Russia plans to do in Asia coincides exactly with General Eisenhower's estimate of what Russia plans to do in Europe.

You will perhaps recall that General Eisenhower said in testimony before our committee:

"If Russia is going to find an excuse for aggression because the Allies have in France, Belgium and along the Rhine and up through Holland and Norway thirty or forty divisions, then they are going to attack anyway."

General Marshall, will you please explain why it is assumed that Russian intentions and planning may be so different in the Far East from those plans and intentions in Europe?

A.—There is actual fighting going on in the Far East, and Communist China is a very important factor to the Soviet Union in that it provides forces to carry out their aggression against our world, and the Soviets suffer no losses except in the way of the matériel they furnished.

Now whether or not the Soviet Government can afford to have China defeated decisively by the Allies and put in a position where the reaction of China toward the Soviet Government might be one of deep distrust because they were not fully supported, that introduces a factor in a current active situation that is not duplicated in Europe.

It is a problem of estimates, but it has to be considered against the background of at least in point of numbers a very important nation, certainly important to the situation of the Soviet Government in the Far East.

Secretary Is Questioned On Bids to MacArthur

Q.—I find in THE NEW YORK TIMES this statement in which it is said:

"What is new and what has brought about the necessity for General MacArthur's removal is the wholly unprecedented situation of a local theatre commander publicly expressing his displeasure and his disagreement with the foreign and military policy of the United States."

I think that substantially states what you have said formerly. Thank you, Mr. Secretary General Marshall, and thank all of you for the patience you have manifested.

THE CHAIRMAN—Before I turn it over to Senator Saltonstall, I have one question that grew out of yesterday's hearings that I am very curious to clear up.

You testified yesterday, Mr. Secretary:

"Incidentally, I thought it would have been immensely profitable if General MacArthur on his own motion had come over here, responded to the invitations to come over and talked to the President about a great many of these things and come in touch with reactions which didn't reach him except in a rather vague way in Japan."

What invitations if any did you have reference to?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I was under the impression that there had been suggestions before this Korean matter started through the past two or three years to General MacArthur to come over. I will have to have that checked very carefully.

Q.—Well, now I know of my own knowledge that committees of Congress have invited him to come here, but what I want to ascertain from you is whether or not you referred to those invitations or whether any invitations or suggestions were extended him by either you or by the President of the United States?

A.—I extended him no invitation, but my period of position in the Defense Department is only recent and in the middle of this battle.

Q.—I understand.

A.—His return from there during this fighting is quite another question, and I arranged with General MacArthur where he would meet the President in this Wake Island conference.

The question was whether he should come to Hawaii, which is a more convenient point for the President, or I proposed Wake Island if that took him too long away from his command, and he chose Wake Island rather than Hawaii.

That was at the time which was very critical in the conduct of operations in Korea, so that during the period that I have been Secretary of Defense, I would not apply that comment of mine, but General MacArthur had been abroad many years, since 1937, I think, and we find officers who have been out of the country one year or even two years get very much out of touch with conditions and with the problems of the old War Department, in my day there, and I think with the Defense Department in the present setup, so it is rather difficult to get the full view unless you understand the conditions back home.

I found in my own experience as Chief of Staff that it was difficult for me to get the proper reactions, and for that reason I flew here and there all over the United States and pretty much all over the world, I think some eight or nine hundred thousand miles.

I found recommendations to me from the Chiefs of Staff of which I was a member, from the working parties of the Chiefs of Staff, of which I was a member, that I didn't agree with when I arrived on the ground and talked to the people concerned.

Now, on way, we have had a great many trips by the Chiefs of Staff in person to Korea and to Japan to see General MacArthur. But one gets decidedly out of touch without being aware of it when he is completely removed from the conditions here at home in the United States and in Washington in particular. To that is what I have reference.

THE CHAIRMAN — General, with particular reference to the invitation, you do not know of any invitation that was extended by the President?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—No, I don't, but I will check that.

Q.—What date did you become Secretary of Defense. A.—I think it was late September. I think it was the 18th of September last.

Q.—The Korean conflict. A.—Started June 25.

Q.—Had been in progress for almost two months at that time—nearly three months. A.—July, August and most of September.

THE CHAIRMAN—Nearly three months.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Did you say Secretary of State in your question, Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIRMAN—I intended to say Secretary of Defense, and I think I said that.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Pardon me.

Marshall Proposes Different Action

SENATOR WILEY—There is one question that I neglected to ask. I might say that I said to you, General—if you had been in MacArthur's place, had the same conviction he had, what would you have done? And you said it was a hypothetical question.

Now, let me put a direct question. If you had been in MacArthur's place, and a representative of the Legislative branch of this Government wrote you a letter, and you had the same convictions that MacArthur had, would you have written your Senator or your Congressman?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I do not think I would have written it in the terms that General MacArthur employed. I have had many requests of members of Congress related to various disputed matters, but I don't think I have ever taken that line.

Q.—Were you a theatre commander? A.—No, sir, I was not.

Q.—Ten thousand miles away, not twenty miles like Sheridan. A.—I might say I suffered more from close proximity than he has suffered from it by distance.

THE CHAIRMAN—Senator Saltonstall.

SENATOR SALTONSTALL—Mr. Chairman, I have a very few questions.

The first thing I would like to clear up for the record this morning—which I think is very important, General Marshall, to clear up—you gave us an exact list of the number of men from other countries that were in Korea, and you stated you did not know the exact number of our men. But you did say that you knew it more by divisions. Can you make an estimate by the number of divisions, of approximately how many of our men are in Korea? I think it is very important that we know that. * * * (Five lines deleted).

Difference on Soviet Called Central Issue

SENATOR SALTONSTALL—Now, Senator Wiley has asked you about the background, and the facts leading up to General MacArthur's unfortunate and sudden dismissal.

Now, as I see it, there were two general categories of questions that we are involved in here, in this committee:

One is the question of his disobeyal of orders, that led to his dismissal; and, the other is the question of the differences of opinion with relation to policy in the Far East.

Now, I have listened to all of General MacArthur's testimony, all of yours, and it appears to me that the differences between the Administration's policy, as stated by you, and General MacArthur's opinion, really boils down to a clash of opinion as to the Soviet's intentions, and the Soviet's capabilities for waging war in the Far East. Do you agree that that is the basis of the difference in between you?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—That is the principal basis of the difference of opinion—as to what is the proper course to follow.

SENATOR SALTONSTALL—And that comes down to, really, a question of trying to interpret the Soviet's intentions, and trying to determine from our knowledge, through our intelligence, of his capabilities in the Far East for waging war, an aggressive war, rather than purely defensive, and as to his intentions of putting those capabilities to work; is that not about it?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Including his relations with the Chinese Communist regime, which is an important factor; but you mention the dominant factors.

Q.—So that, sitting as members of this committee, really we have—and trying to get the basic facts on which these opinions are based—that is the essential question that we have got to determine, is it not? A.—I would say so.

Q.—Now, another thing that is not clear in my mind, and has worried me with relation to these hearings, is, you have stated that the Administration's policy is one of resisting aggression in Korea.

Under such a policy how can we take the initiative in negotiating a cease-fire order? Must not any request for a cease-fire order come from the Red Chinese? In other words, must not they say "we have had enough?"

How can the United Nations or the United States, acting for the United Nations take the initiative?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—They are the aggressors very specifically. When we halt that aggression, when we destroy large portions of the armies of that aggression, I do not think it is out of the way for us, as a United Nations group, to ask them if they didn't have enough to bring to a halt this sacrifice of life, and find a basis for adjustment.

Q.—As General MacArthur stated to us, as I understood it, he advocated policies of action on our part that might lead us to be able to tell them:

"Now we are going to continue to go on unless you say you have had enough."

Now, the Administration's policy, on the other hand, is to try to kill off enough Red Chinese, when they come on us, so that they will say that they have had enough; isn't that about the difference? A.—I think that is about it.

Q.—So, it is very difficult for us to take the initiative, really, or more difficult. A.—Well, I don't know about that, Senator. If we are in a position of having inflicted terrific losses on them—not only done it once, but a number of times—and the trained fabric of their armies is being destroyed, I don't see any limitation, or I mean, any hesitation that would be imposed on us in trying to bring what they usually term as "this useless effusion of blood" to an end.

We have that basis always, because the part of this affair that touches us most deeply is this sacrifice of life. It is bad with us, but it is terrible with them.

Now, our effort throughout is to find a solution that is not an appeasement in any manner, but stops this sacrifice of life, and particularly that prevents it from extending itself over wider areas, and possibly, the entire world.

Saltonstall Asks About a Stalemate

Q.—In connection with what we have just been discussing, there is another possibility which you may rightly say is hypothetical, but really is quite realistic in my opinion.

Assuming for a moment that the Red Chinese simply leave substantial forces in Korea and make no attack upon us—they just stay there, which seems to me to be a real possibility—what do we do then if we have not got in Korea sufficient forces to put on an aggressive attack to drive them out?

Won't just a stalemate exist that may last for some years?

A.—We have considered that specifically and I would ask that this part of the record be kept clear of publication. * * * (seven lines deleted) We have studied that a great deal and what we might do under the circumstances.

Q.—Now, may I ask three or four detailed questions rather than questions of policy.

Admiral Hillenkoeter testified before the appropriations committee last June that the Department of Defense and the Department of State were repeatedly warned by the C. I. A. of build-ups of North Korean forces just above the Thirty-eighth Parallel, with a final warning given on June 17, I think was the date.

Is there anything in the records—I know you weren't Secretary of Defense at the time—is there anything in the records to show that these warnings went out to General MacArthur to give him or his staff information concerning this build-up?

A.—You would have to ask the Chiefs of Staff in regard to that Senator. I checked or had checked for me and the individual officers responsible brought to me to see if there was any doubt at all as to the information of that nature, that it was or was not transmitted to General MacArthur. I was assured that it was.

They checked over all the various things, particularly the information from the C. I. A., which was Admiral Hillenkoeter's responsibility at that time, but that check may have been limited to the period I was Secretary of Defense.

I don't think it was, but the Chiefs of Staff can answer that much more accurately than I can.

Q.—So far as you know—and I think you testified to this yesterday—the information that General Bedell Smith and his C. I. A. department were getting and evaluating was going to General MacArthur in the field. A.—It was going to General MacArthur's headquarters.

Q.—Now, Senator Wiley has suggested that I ask this question of you, sir, with relation to the questions that I had asked you.

It has been suggested that the Russian tactics are to get its stooges, the Red Chinese in this instance, so exhausted that it can easily take over the country if the Red Chinese are essentially weakened. Do you think that is a possibility in the minds of the Russians?

A.—I don't know. It is a consideration.

Message by President On War Policy Cited

Q.—Now, here is one thing that interests me very much, and I don't know that it has been asked you.

In the record of the Joint Chiefs of Staff there is a rather full statement—I refer by the records of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the records of the Joint Chiefs of Staff report for the Senate Committee on Korean operations—I refer particularly to page 87—in this record there is a rather full statement concerning the President's message of Jan. 13 to General MacArthur.

This was written the day after the statement of the Joint Chiefs of Staff of Jan. 12 on which the sixteen objectives were set forth. This message of the President states certain objectives that we wish—we, the Administration—wish to obtain.

Do you know anything about the circumstances surrounding the writing of this message and its purpose and were you consulted about it?

Now, I refer particularly to these several sentences:

"The President emphasized that pending the build-up of our national strength, we must act with great prudence in so far as extending the area of hostilities was concerned. Steps which might in themselves be fully justified, which might lend some assistance to the campaign in Korea, would not be beneficial if they would involve Japan or western Europe in large-scale hostilities.

"The President recognized that continued resistance might not be militarily possible with the limited forces available to General MacArthur. In any event, the United Nations forces must be preserved as an effectifve instrument for the defense of Japan and elsewhere. A successful resistance in Korea, however, would serve the following purposes."

And then goes on to suggest purposes from A to J. The first one is to demonstrate that aggression would not be accepted by the free world.

Now, I think it is very interesting to know that the President followed up the statement of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to General MacArthur, or the recommendations, by an apparent letter.

I wondered how that letter happened to be written and how it was delivered to General MacArthur.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I haven't the specific recollection of the incident and the Chiefs of Staff can give you this more accurately, but my possibly imperfect recollection of it is that in discussing the paper of the Chiefs of Staff of Jan. 12 the question came up as to whether there should be included in it definements of foreign policy and that in order to avoid any confusion in the matter this message, which covers the foreign policy aspects, the high governmental aspects, was made a separate message to General MacArthur.

At that time we were in a very difficult situation in Korea. General MacArthur was entertaining the possibility, which was approaching a probability, that we might have to withdraw from the country.

Therefore, it was felt very important to give him this intimate outline by the President himself as to what were the factors concerned at this time.

Meanwhile, the other message—that of the Chiefs of Staff with their tentative proposals—went to the Security Council for a careful working over, but also they went to General MacArthur for his information.

So he had those tentative proposals and he had this detailed statement by the President on the high policy basis of this Government.

Q.—In other words, the President wanted to give him the high policy purposes and the Joint Chiefs of Staff the military purposes. A.—Their paper of Jan. 12 was intended for the Security Council, but General MacArthur should have the benefit of that paper.

I stated yesterday I didn't recall exactly the manner of its being brought to General MacArthur's attention, but I was quite certain that General Collins went over it with him personally, because he arrived out there about the 13th, I think, in Tokyo.

Q.—Thank you. Now, I have just two more questions, General. Do I understand, from your testimony, that you do not approve of using the Chinese Nationalist troops, or forces in Korea, because you still consider them necessary for the defense of Formosa? A.—That is the view I am certain the Chiefs of Staff have.

Questioned on Calling MacArthur Home

Q.—Now, Senator Russell asked you this question, and I think this is not a reiteration of his question, I hope it is a little different from what Senator Russell asked, but—it seems to me that if this had been done, it might have avoided this very sad and unfortunate dismissal of General MacArthur. I ask it in this form:

You stated yesterday you felt MacArthur should have taken the initiative to come home and discuss his opinions with the authorities here in the Department of Defense, and with the President, and my question is—Why was he not requested to come home, by either the Joint Chiefs of Staff or yourself, or possibly the President, in order that these differences of opinion could have been discussed here, face to face, and his summary dismissal avoided?

A.—I thought I just answered that, Senator.

Q.—I think you did, sir, except for the fact that you said—you used the word "invitation," and I used the word "request."

A.—No. What I was referring to was that during actual fighting I doubted the advisability of General MacArthur coming back, because all during the fall, and up to the middle of January, the situation was terrible, and his direction and control might have to be exercised almost hourly; so I related to that the fact that the President undertook to meet him more than half way, and that I personally suggested that, got the President's approval to the suggestion that General MacArthur give his choice between Wake Island and Hawaii, so as not to take him away from Tokyo any longer than might be necessary.

Therefore, he selected Wake Island, rather than meeting the President in Honolulu. I think I said "Tokyo." I should have said "Honolulu."

So, that was my reaction to the actual fighting period out there; but there was a long period in which he was Supreme Commander in Japan where he had not been in the United States, and a much longer period when he had been in the Far East and had not been home at all; and his reactions were obtained merely from the papers, and from visitors.

Q.—May I say, most respectfully, and I hope I say this respectfully to you—I want to know—

General Eisenhower, during World War II, was brought home to this country one or two times, very secretly.

A.—He was brought home, I think, off-hand, once, when he was transferring from Africa to England, and an immediate action from England was not due for some time, some months, and we were the ones that would order that action.

Q.—May I ask this final question:

Do you not agree with me—assuming we both feel that General MacArthur's dismissal under the circumstances was most unfortunate, and that it stirred up the emotional feelings of the country to a tremendous degree—do you not think it could have been avoided, and the benefits of General MacArthur's knowledge and ability in the Far East continued, if there had been more face-to-face discussions of the points of view?

A.—We thought we were getting that in the meeting at Wake Island where it was face to face. I presume that if it had been practicable for him to leave his theatre of operations during these critical days and come back here and talk to the President personally and the Defense Department, particularly the Chiefs of Staff, that it would have been decidedly helpful, decidedly helpful, but many other reactions to be considered also, but the main point was that he was engaged in a very active operation and a very perilous one for a long period of time, and I personally thought, as I endeavored to explain, that he should not be drawn away from his command unless he elected himself to that arrangement.

Wake Island Proposed As Site for Discussion

The original proposal to the President was that he was to come to Hawaii, and I intervened with the President to say that I thought with conditions of affairs in Korea, that might be a very serious matter and would he have any objection if I also proposed Wake Island, and he said he had none, and I did it on that basis, but my purpose in doing it was to protect him from a long trip and being absent at a critical moment.

Q.—And to give him the opportunity to talk to his commander in chief? A.—Yes, and there was an opportunity and the length of that interview was largely decided by General MacArthur.

SENATOR SALTONSTALL—I thank you, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Smith.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, might I raise just a procedural question? I understand that we have had one quorum call to the floor of the Senate relative to the supplemental appropriation bill, and there is a matter dealing with civil defense which the Senator from Connecticut and myself as well as, I assume, all the other Senators have quite a vital interest in one way or the other. What is the intention of the Senator on procedure today?

THE CHAIRMAN—Well, due to the fact that this bill is pending on the floor, Senator Knowland, I had not planned to have an afternoon session, but unless there is some discussion which members of this committee are very intensely interested in, I would like to push along here for a while and see what develops.

I am not trying to hurry anybody. I have not made any statement here with respect to repetitious questions or anything else. Of course, the committee can recess at any time it sees fit.

My own view is that we should not undertake to have an afternoon session this afternoon. I don't know how long Senator Smith will take. He is a very keen student of international questions and a ranking member of the Foreign Relations Committee, but I thought we might start and see how far we go, and when we get down to the voting stage in the Senate, why we will, of course, recess until tomorrow morning. Is that agreeable to the Senator?

SENATOR KNOWLAND—That is agreeable. I just wanted to know so I could adjust myself accordingly.

THE CHAIRMAN—All right, Senator Smith, you may proceed

SENATOR SMITH — General Marshall—I say General and you are as well as Secretary—I want to open my questions by expressing to you my appreciation of your great services. And you recall well the support I gave you in your Marshall Plan in Europe and so forth, and my eagerness to cooperate in every way possible.

I am frank to say that I am very much troubled over this incident, as I assume you are, and I want to get for the record and my own satisfaction some facts here which I still don't find the answers to.

Let me start by saying this: General, in your opening statement I find what seem to me to be the two charges in which General MacArthur was summarily removed. First, I find on Page 700 of the record where you made this statement:

"General MacArthur, on the other hand, would have us on our own initiative carry the conflict beyond Korea against the mainland of Communist China, both from the sea and from the air. He would have us accept the risk involvement not only in an extension of the war with Red China, but in an all-out war with the Soviet Union. He would have us do this even at the expense of losing our allies and wrecking the coalition of free peoples throughout the world. He would have us do this even though the effect of such action might expose Western Europe to attack by the millions of Soviet troops poised in Middle and Eastern Europe."

I was present at all of the testimony MacArthur gave. I have tried to read every document that has a bearing on this, and I am frank to say that I can not find in any of that material documentation that would support this general statement you have made here. Can you support this with documentation? I will not delay it now. I would like to have that first paragraph on Page 700 supported by any statement that MacArthur may have made, took that position.

SECRETARY MARSHALL: I will endeavor to do so.

Smith Sees Implication MacArthur Courted War

Q.—Because he made it appear to us that he was just as anxious to limit the war to Korea as anybody else was, but he was trying to do something to draw off those troops, those Communist troops, who were pressing us so hard, and every suggestion he made was wtih the idea simply or drawing off those troops and relieving the pressure on our boys in Korea.

I think it is an unjust implication to General MacArthur, which has been carried in the papers all over the place, that he is trying to carry the war to Communist China and get us mixed up in an all-out war with Communist China and bring Russia in.

I just mention that in passing, but it seems to be an overstatement of General MacArthur's position if you examine the record.

The other matter was brought out by Senator Wiley this morning, and is on Page 800, and this seems to be the real reason for General MacArthur's removal. It has already been read, but I will read it again as I want to follow it up.

"What is new, and what has brought about the necessity for General MacArthur's removal, is the wholly unprecedented situation of a local theatre commander publicly expressing his displeasure at and his disagreement with the foreign and military policy of the United States."

You have indicated your reasons why you think General MacArthur did the things implied in this statement, but I think we can not emphasize too much that that seems to be the gist of the complaint against him. And this documentation which we had reference to this morning seems to be all that we have to carry this out.

Now I find in the documentation the three documents that are important.

One was the Presidential statement of Dec. 6, and which you said was aimed directly at General MacArthur apparently for some previous acts which he had done, and which we have no evidence whatsoever on.

A.—I read them in my statement the first day, sir.

Q.—How is that? A.—I outlined them the first day.

Q.—What previous actions were they? A.—It was statements that appeared in the press and interviews in answering questions of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Q.—Well, I did not get that. Is that all in the record? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Is that full documentation in the record. A.—Yes, sir; that is all in the record.

Q.—Let me ask you in that connection, in this statement of the President of Dec. 6, which was issued to MacArthur, but among others, as Senator Wiley brought out, that the general memo covered a large area of authorities and they would all apply to them; and the two sections you read were:

"No speech, press release or other public statement concerning foreign policy should be released until it has received clearance from the Department of State.

"No speech, press release or other statement concerning military policy should be released until it has received clearance from the Department of Defense."

I just wanted to ask you this question: I have noticed recently in the papers a number of statements by General Ridgway, apparently in line with his command.

Are you requiring him to check all those things here before he puts them out? Are they all cleared here?

A.—Whenever they apply to foreign policy, yes, to clear them.

Q.—Have any of General Ridgway's statements up to date been cleared? A.—I would have to check up on that. I don't think he has made any statement regarding foreign policy.

Had Specific Authority To Issue Communiques

Q.—I have had called to my attention—I don't recollect right now—— A.—He has the specific authority, just as General MacArthur had, the specific authority of making communiqués which related to the actual battle in Korea.

Q.—And you think that General MacArthur violated that in the statement you complained about? A.—No, sir; it was where he passed beyond that into matters that affected our foreign policy.

Q.—Well, is that particular statement of his of the 20th the particular reference you have in mind?

I have just had called to my attention in this connection statements by General Ridgway, which I wondered if they were cleared with the Department of State. This is in Look magazine of May 22.

A.—I will check on that for you, sir.

Q.—Well, it is a statement here which says: "There is no finer military team than the United Nations command which was organized by the brilliant, inspired leadership of its former commander in chief, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur." I assume there is no question on that.

Then it goes on to say:

"The deadly purpose of communism is unchanging. Nowhere is its menace more manifestly alive and potent than in Korea. Here its intent is implacable so that all can see. It has announced its intention, and every action supports that intention, of either driving United Nations' forces from the peninsula or destroying them in place. The Eighth Army is fully aware of this menace. It trusts that the peoples from whom it comes are likewise aware."

It seems to me that the language here is along the line of the language that General MacArthur's statements are criticized for, and I am just pointing that out because I am a little troubled by this attack on MacArthur in these statements.

I asked the question whether this has been cleared.

A.—I said I would have that checked.

Q.—This article by Ridgway, which is a very conclusive article, was cleared by the State Department, was it? If it was not, was this a violation of this regulation—by the Defense Department? A.—I will have that checked, Senator, but I might observe there is nothing in that article, so far as you read it to me, that is at all in contrast to our foreign policy.

Q.—I did not know what was in the statements that you complained of that General MacArthur made that was in contrast with our foreign policy.

All he said was that Formosa and the question of admission of Red China were not matters that should be brought to any discussion for a cease-fire. Certainly that is not foreign to our policy, is it? I thought we had said right along we were not going to let those two things come along in the cease-fire negotiation or discussion?

A.—The issue there, Senator, was he was bringing up those matters, and mentioning them and taking action just ahead of the time the President was going to come out with an announcement in accordance with the other thirteen allies that we have.

Secretary Supported Request for Opinion

Q.—Well, do you feel that the statement which you read here, which Senator Wiley read, was an adequate statement to ask MacArthur not to say anything about it? It seemed to me they asked him for his recommendations. They did not tell him not to enter into negotiations. I realize there is a difference of opinion; I realize that, but it seems to me that would not be a ground for summarily dismissing General MacArthur; that is a——

A.—Taking, first, your reference to that sentence for his reactions, that was largely on my initiative, because I thought that it was important that we have an opportunity to state whether the existing limiting factors and the instructions, particularly regarding the Thirty-eighth Parallel, in any way embarrassed him in trying to maintain the security position of his command, while the President was bringing about this negotiatory arrangement.

Now, it was put in the terms that the State Department then agreed that we would ask General MacArthur what he had to say about that. Did he want any specific authority other than what he already had in order to cover this time factor that I indicated there.

Q.—Well, did you think that was a warning to him not to say anything on the subject? A.—It was not intended as a warning at all. It was intended . . .

Q.—That is quite what my point is. A.—It was intended as an accommodation to him.

Q.—I am not quite clear. A.—His answer was not direct to the question, because he spoke of he did not want any more limitations. What we were asking him was did he need any extension of what he understood his present limitations were and we were thinking particularly of the 38th Parallel, because he was poised right along it at that time.

Q.—I would think, from the language of this message from the Joint Chiefs winding up with "your recommendations are desired," that it was not a violation of anything that I can read in here when he said he didn't want any more limitations on his operations.

A.—Well, it was not a violation. We just were trying to find out from him if he wanted some extension of what he thought his limitations were in relation to the Thirty-eighth Parallel, and that was always a very difficult thing to handle, because, on the one side, we felt it had no real significance; and on the other side, there was a feeling, particularly by certain foreign governments that it was of importance in relation to any movement of ours north of that parallel.

Q.—Well, I understand that. There may be a question of what your strategy was that was being discussed there. What I am getting at is where General MacArthur, by anything he did at that time, violated any of these directives you are talking about.

I am still in the dark on that, especially as it is called to my attention that the President in his press conference in January appeared "to this headquarters to specifically define General MacArthur's authority, but denied that there was any curb on his authority 'to speak freely on the Korean war.'"

That is the statement that General Whitney made as to what they understood in Tokyo was the interpretation of this document of December 6.

A.—Well, the President's statement, where he uses the term or the phrase "and the Korean war," presents a question of whether or not the war includes comments that go into the foreign policy in relation to that war.

I am quite certain that was not the intention of the President; but the issue there, I think, Senator, that is troubling you in particular, is that this message from which you have been reading was a message primarily of information to General MacArthur that the President was preparing to make an approach towards trying to bring to a halt the operations in Korea; and the message indicates that it had to be negotiated among our allies or with our allies engaged with is, in the fighting of Korea, and it would take us a certain possible period of time in which to do that.

Now it went on to add the questions you have been referring to which were for General MacArthur's convenience, we will say, that is in his military disposition.

What the issue in the matter is, that he himself stepped forward in an approach to a possible settlement with the Communist forces just in advance of the time he knew the President was going to do the same thing and was in communication with our allies to arrange a procedure that would be acceptable to all of them.

Q.—Well, you imply by that that General MacArthur jumped the gun, so to speak, and moved in before the President. Is that your implication? A.—That is what was done.

Q.—Well, I can say that the question that was discussed here in the testimony of General MacArthur will show that he denied it definitely. He had no such thought in any way, shape or manner like that. A.—I am merely talking about what happened.

Q.—There is doubt among us as to what these messages mean. It is strange that a man of his experience, of his character, of his being our conqueror in the war with Japan, winding that up, his wonderful record in Japan, should be fired summarily for that particular item. It is just beyond my comprehension. A.—He was not fired summarily for that particular item. It was an accumulation of things.

Q.—I am going to try to bring out, if I can, why he was fired. A.—Yes.

Q.—Now the other thing that you mentioned. General, was the letter to Joe Martin, to Congressman Martin.

General MacArthur testified here that that was a routine letter. He had many of them from Congressmen and Senators, and he always tried to write when he had an opportunity to.

He said when he was told that this had created a sensation here he forgot and had to look it up to see what it was all about. He forgot exactly what he had said.

I have tried in reading that letter to see what was so terrible about it. You state in your testimony here on Page 858:

"Shortly after General MacArthur's statement of March 24 Congressman Joseph Martin of Massachusetts released for publication a letter addresed to him by General MacArthur dated March 20."

Note that date. We brought out this morning that the letter from Representative Martin was dated March 8, I think. This answer is dated March 20, so this has no relation to this other statement you are referring to, nor did it have any relation to this notice that was sent about the President planning this next announcement. They were not related obviously.

SENATOR WILEY—The 24th.

Martin Responsible For Letter's Release

SENATOR SMITH — General MacArthur's statement was the 24th, but this statement of the Commander in Chief, from the Joint Chiefs to the Commander in Chief with regard to the Presidential announcement, that was dated March 20, but the letter, the routine answer that General MacArthur called it to the Martin letter, was dated March 20, and he wasn't responsible for publication. Representative Martin did that on his own responsibility.

I asked him why he did it, did he have any authority to, and he said he did not have any authority to, but he assumed it was all right to do it because he was not told not to, but I do not see how we can possibly blame General MacArthur for giving publicity to those views in writing a friend of this kind.

Does that mean from your statement—in my case I was out there with General MacArthur and I asked him a lot of questions. Should he not have answered them? What is your attitude toward those who are in the Congress trying to get facts? Aren't we entitled to be told what these leaders feel?

I talked to military men and naval men. I did not give any publicity to their answers, but I did talk with them very freely and I am just wondering whether it is the attitude of the Administration that we, members of the Foreign Relations Committee, can't go to Tokyo and can't get help from any source that has to do with our foreign policy.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — There is always the issue of the position of the military official in relation to his directives from his superiors and in relation to his testimony before the committees of Congress and in relation to his conversation with members of the committees of Congress.

That always is a very serious matter for consideration, and I think all the circumstances surrounding the procedure have to be taken under very careful thought, and in this particular instance I think those are the facts and the judgments will have to be made by you gentlemen.

SENATOR SMITH—Now, General, you said in your testimony here referring to the letter to Joseph Martin:

"In this letter which like the March 24 release had not been cleared in accordance with the President's directive of Dec. 6, General MacArthur dealt further with the question of whether or not to carry the war to China, whether to use the Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa, and whether to apply our maximum strength in Asia or in Europe."

Well, I have read that letter over and over again and I can't see how those conclusions could necessarily be drawn from it. He did agree generally with the views apparently that Congressman Martin had expressed to him, whatever he said. I don't know what Congressman aMrtin did say what Congressman Martin did say

SENATOR McMAHON—Would the Senator like that speech inserted in the record at this point?

SENATOR SMITH — Which speech?

SENATOR McMAHON — Martin's speech.

SENATOR SMITH—I don't care one way or the other. I have no objection to it.

SENATOR McMAHON—If the Senator doesn't object, I offer it for the record. (The document above referred to will appear as Appendix B at the end of this record. [to be published later by the committee].)

SENATOR SMITH—The point I am making is that in this letter which caused such a furore, I can't see what was said that would justify the summary dismissal of General MacArthur.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — That single letter I am quite certain, Senator, did not act to his dismissal. It was an accumulation.

Q.—That is what I want to get at. I am glad you said that. A.—I have referred to that several times.

Q.—That is exactly what I want to get at. I just assumed that this letter to Congressman Martin and this statement of the 24th by General MacArthur couldn't be the grounds for the summary dismissal.

A.—It was an accumulation, and the letter to Congressman Martin brought it to a head.

Letter to Martin Called Spark Plug

Q.—It probably was the spark-plug or something that set the engine off. That might have been.

I have another question here I think is relevant. Then I will go on to some others. I would like to ask you whether General Stratemeyer's interview with the United States News and World Report, which I read with great interest a week or so ago, and which had General Stratemeyer's view certainly, was that cleared with the State Department or the Defense Department?

A.—I do not think it was, sir, and I will have that checked for you?

Q.—Is the plan contemplated of dismissing General Stratemeyer because of that interview?

A.—That issue has not been brought up with the President. We didn't particularly appreciate the article at the time it came out, but we had enough of excitement in the air at the moment, and he was not a person in the prominent position of General MacArthur.

Q.—I would like to ask you this in connection with your testimony of yesterday, if I may. You said that with your testimony of yesterday, if I may, you said that you discharged one individual in the China theater approximately three days after you got there, because of his Communist leanings. I believe you also stated you discovered he was making changes in documents sent from Washington for distribution.

A.—I probably had better restate that because I don't get it very clearly in the words you have just read.

When I arrived in China it was, I think, about two or three days after the President's statement of policy was made public, and in the transmittal of that policy by the agency that we had in China, which was under the State Department, a member of that agency who directed the transmittal of this policy statement over the various communication lines for public information we had there, materially changed some of the wording so that it took the policy out of it which had been very carefully thought into it, so as not to give offense to the Generalissimo.

The Associated Press went ahead with its distribution, not changing any of the language whatsoever, and that fortunately got out, but there was a very unfortunate reaction which was immediately set up which would seem to have been the intention of the individual who did it to embarrass Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

When I was told of this immediately after my arrival — and I don't even recall the individual's name; I suppose they mentioned it to me—I found out what service he was in and I said, "Well, you ought to get him out of here right away," and they reported back that he had left within three days. That is what I know about it.

Q.—Since your statement yesterday, I have been trying to see who that individual was. A.—We are trying to find out. I know what service he was in.

Q.—Is it by any chance Mr. Benjamin Kaiser? A.—U. S. I. S. was the service.

Q.—Do you recall whether it was a man by the name of Benjamin Kaiser, K-a-i-s-e-r? A.—I wouldn't attempt to guess because that came and happened and was over in a few moments so far as I was concerned. He was in the U. S. I. S. which had been taken over by the State Department just a short time before in the dissolution of the O. S. S., that is Donovan's organization.

Q.—Now general, we were discussing this morning earlier this question of the dismissal. As Senator Saltonstall said, we have two things here. One is a difference of opinion on strategy and so on, and the other is the dismissal and the necessity for it.

I would like to ask you the question because I explored it before and I was quite shocked when I was out there at what I discovered. Did the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of State ever invite MacArthur to come to the United States and confer on these issues, or, on the other hand, did either of the Secretaries themselves ever go to the Far East since MacArthur has been there to confer on the Far East question?

A.—During my term of office I certainly did not, and I haven't been to the Far East during that period.

No Cabinet Invitation To MacArthur Recalled

Q.—Your visit was prior to being Secretary of State, of course, and Secretary of Defense? A.—That question——.

Q.—I say your visit to the Far East——. A.—I made no visit to the Far East since becoming Secretary of Defense, and I know of no invitation to General MacArthur by the Secretary of Defense, or by the Secretary of State for that matter, though I cannot be certain of that.

Q.—Could you give me any reason why he was left isolated out there? Was it because you had every confidence in his judgment in managing the difficult job he had?

A.—I didn't get the first part of that. (The reporter read back the last question.) So far as I personally was concerned, I had just taken over the Department of Defense, and we had a tremendous program of immediate build-up of our forces, and legislation which is still now pending before the Congress. I was involved in three different appropriations preparations, n billions. I was involved in appearing before committees up here; and I was attempting to adjust and set up procedures different from what had been, in the Department of Defense; and—a rather short period of time was involved.

However, prior to my becoming Secretary of Defense, my predecessor, Mr. Johnson, did go to Tokyo and talk to General MacArthur—the exact date I don't recall, I think he only went once.

The members of the Chiefs of Staff were out there frequently; and, at one stage, General Bradley and myself were conferring together as to our going, but we found our involvements here of such critical importance that it was not arrangeable, at least for me, to go with him, or for me to go alone.

Q.—Of course, since the outbreak of the Korean war, the Joint Chiefs have been out there a number of times; but prior to that, and since V-J Day, since the Japanese war closed, unless I was wrongly informed, no members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or the Joint Chiefs together, had been to the Far East to confer with MacArthur.

In other words, there wasn't a single member of the Joint Chiefs had been to the Far East until '49, when I got there and General Collins came.

A.—I will check up on that. I thought they had.

Q.—General Collins came when I was there in 1949, but I was told that prior to that time the Joint Chiefs had been so much occupied in other parts of the world they were not able to get out there and discuss the problems of the Far East, and MacArthur was left without the direct advice of his superiors.

I was quite upset about that, and I asked about it, and I would like to have it confirmed, one way or the other.

A.—In the first place, General Bradley and the Joint Chiefs can answer that directly.

In the next place, I will check with Mr. Johnson as to whether he made more than one visit, and the date of the visit I know he did make. I have answered as to myself.

Senator Reads Question Put to MacArthur

Q.—General Marshall, when General MacArthur was here, I asked him this question, I said:

"General MacArthur, prior to your abrupt dismissal, had you been called to Washington to confer with your superiors, or had the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or either of them, gone to Tokyo to discuss any possible disagreement with you, would it have been necessary to dismiss you summarily, or would you, on request, have turned your command over to General Ridgway?"

General MacArthur's reply was as follows:

"There isn't any possibility of my disagreeing with any order I might have received, whether I regarded it as good, bad or indifferent.

"What I was requesting was some directive. The lack of directives was what I was trying to bring to their attention and ask them for a decision.

"Had any decision whatsoever been reached, I would have, to the very best of my ability, carried it out.

"I resent, with every fiber in my body, any inference that can be drawn that I have been, in any degree insubordinate or disrespectful of the President of the United States, or the policies of this country, or even of the policies and directives of the United Nations.

"SENATOR SMITH—Then, had you been requested to turn over your command, by the request of the United States Administration, you would have done so, without it being necessary to dismiss you summarily, wouldn't you?

"GENERAL MacARTHUR—Of course I would. The slightest indication from higher authorities that they believed I should withdraw—I would have complied with.

"SENATOR SMITH—In that case then, you could have left your responsibilities in Japan as the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers to continue the negotiations with Senator Dulles or Ambassador Dulles, on the Japanese peace treaty.

"In other words, there was no connection between the S. C. A. P. job you had and other personal difference on Korean strategy?

"GENERAL MacARTHUR — There is no connection whatsoever, as far as I know.

"The two offices are entirely separate and distinct."

Now, my question is this, General. Assuming a difference of judgment on the Korean campaign strategy, what did that actually have to do with General MacArthur's position in Japan as Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers?

A.—In effect, Senator, it had this to do with having two high American authorities, one conducting a campaign, using all of Japan as a base, and the other in a very preeminent position and with a very conspicuous career, particularly in the minds of the Japanese people, being on the ground also where possible conflicts might arise.

We have had in connection with the possible basis for a peace treaty with Japan the complication of how we approach that portion which might under some terms take Japan entirely of the main control of the United States and while our troops are still engaged in fighting in Korea.

That would present a very serious consideration for the Commander of those troops because he would have to depend on Japan as a base and yet his authority over that would have been eliminated. There are also several other factors connected with the possible terms of that Japanese peace treaty settlement, and you would have the interim situation as to whether or not there should be a civilian representative of our Government in supreme authority on the ground while we had a military commander using all of the country necessarily as a base for an active operation in Korea. Now, in those ways the matters were interwoven.

Knowland Asks For Adjournment

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Might I just raise a query here? I don't want to certainly interrupt the able Senator from New Jersey, who is doing an excellent job bringing out points in which we are all vitally interested, but it is now past 1 o'clock, and I was wondering whether it would be any great inconvenience if we stopped at this point, because we do have a Supplemental Appropriations Bill involving vast sums on the floor, including civil defense and other matters of importance.

I am wondering whether it wouldn't be a good place to break off, to meet tomorrow, since the chairman had previously indicated we would run to 1 o'clock.

SENATOR SMITH—I am entirely willing to do that if that is the Chairman's wish, providing I can continue by interrogation tomorrow morning.

SENATOR MORSE—I move we recess until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

THE CHAIRMAN—Before I put that motion, I would like to state in view of my pleasantry this morning with regard to Senator Brewster, that I understand that he has now been confirmed by the Senate as a member of this committee and obtains the rights and matters that I mentioned.

SENATOR WILEY—May I say, Mr. Chairman, on behalf o fthe Republican branch of the Foreign Relations Committee, that we accept him with all that graciousness that one Republican or one Democrat can extend to another. With his fine ability I am sure he will contribute toward the constructive work in the Foreign Relations Committee.

SENATOR SMITH—I echo that sentiment for the record because I think we are very happy to have the distinguished Senator.

THE CHAIRMAN—Senator Saltonstall has advised me he thought perhaps the Secretary was in a position to make a more definite statement with respect to the number of American troops in Korea. I think it would be well to have it.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I have that data for you. Do you want me to read that into the record?

THE CHAIRMAN—Yes. (Four lines deleted.)

THE CHAIRMAN—There is another matter that I desire to introduce before this record is closed. There has been handed me from a reputable representative of the press what purports to be a dispatch which states as follows:

"While the Senate Armed Forces-Foreign Relations Committees pressed Defense Secretary George C. Marshall for the name of a Government employe whom he summarily fired during his 1945 mission to China, United Press Bureau Manager Victor Kendrick advised his home office from Hong Kong that he was the man.

"But Kendrick put the incident in a light considerably different from Marshall's."

I shall ask the reporter at this juncture to copy the text of this dispatch for the record that will be released, unless some member of this committee insist I read it all into the record.

Dispatch in Full Entered in Record

The dispatch reads in full as follows:

"While the Senate Armed Forces-Foreign Relations Committees pressed Defense Secretary George C. Marshall for the name of a Government employe whom he summarily fired during his 1945 mission to China, United Press Bureau Manager Victor Kendrick advised his home office from Hong Kong that he was the man.

"But Kendrick put the incident in a light considerably different from Marshall's. The Secretary was discussing before the committees yesterday his mission to China, which he visited in 1945 as President Truman's special representative, when the matter of the discharged employe came up.

"He said he fired one Government employe three days after arriving in China on charges of misrepresenting Mr. Truman's Dec. 15, 1945, policy statement seeking agreement between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists.

"'He had taken the announced policy of the President, sent out there, and, in its distribution through the various agencies of this Government and in China, and changed the terminology, changed the expressions of the President to create quite a different reaction; because he felt deeply on this thing, he did that,' Marshall said of the discharged employe.

"The point at issue apparently was whether Mr. Truman's policy was or was not to persuade the Chinese Nationalists to admit Chinese Communists into the Government.

"Marshall said many Americans in China had become so embittered against the Nationalists that they almost automatically sympathized with the Chinese Communists.

"'I don't know whether he (the discharged employe) was a Communist or not,' Marshall said, 'but I know the way he was talking was inimacable to good government, and he ought to get out.'

"Senators demanded the man's name, which Marshall said he could not remember. Again today Marshall said he had so far been unable to determine who it was, but that the search still was on.

"Bureau manager Kendrick learned of Marshall's testimony yesterday in the regular news dispatches received by his bureau for distribution to U. P. clients in the Hong Kong area. His communication to his home office was as follows:

"'General Marshall's Tuesday testimony mentions a Government employe whom Marshall fired in Shanghai in December, 1945, because he claimed the employe misrepresented President Truman's Dec. 15 policy statement urging the (Chinese) Nationalists to accept the Chinese Communists into the Government.

"'According to the U. P. report, Marshall said he did not remember the employe's name but told Senator Styles Bridges, R., N. H., he would try to find out.

"'Since I was the person involved, I wish to go on record and authorize you to issue a statement in my behalf in case my name is mentioned publicly.

"'At that time I held the job of news editor in the Shanghai Office of War Information with the principal function of trying to get O. W. I. news releases printed in Shanghai newspapers. Mr. Truman's statement arrived via O. W. I. radio in the form of bare text with no accompanying news story.

"'In accordance with accepted journalistic procedure, I rewrote the story so that the papers would have both text and story (news summary). Marshall, therefore, was incorrect when he claimed I 'changed the terminology of a Presidential statement.'

"'Mr. Truman's statement implied that the United States would quit giving the Nationalists further aid unless they accepted the Chinese Reds into the Government and that is precisely what my rewritten story said.

"'This is borne out by Mr. Truman's directive to Marshall of the same date wherein (the directive said):

"'In your conversations with Chiang Kai-shek and other Chinese leaders, you are authorized to speak with utmost frankness. Particularly, you may state, in connection with the Chinese desire for credits, technical assistance in the economic field and military assistance, * * * that a China disunited and torn by civil strife could not be considered realistically as a proper place for American assistance along the lines enumerated.

"'The public disclosure of something which was common knowledge among American officials and newsmen in Shanghai—that the State Department was trying to pressure Chiang into accepting Chinese Communists—may have embarrassed the State Department at that particular time, but it was the truth and Marshall knows it.''

THE CHAIRMAN—The motion is that the committee stand in recess until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Without objection, that will be so ordered.

(Whereupon, at 1:15 o'clock P. M., the committee adjourned, to reconvene at 10 o'clock A. M., [E. D. T.] Thursday, May 10, 1951.)

The paragraphs in which deletions were made on Pages 974 and 975 of the hearings for May 8, 1951, are reproduced in full hereunder:

"Finally, on May 7, last, the United Kingdom and France indicated that they were now prepared to support a resolution introduced by the United States for an international embargo against Communist China."

Page 975:

"Now that is quite a change there of the British Government and the French Government. The support of the United Kingdom and France practically assures the adoption of the United States' proposal. Imposition of such an international embargo will, of course, make the question of a naval blockade of far less importance, almost academic."

(750) MARSHALL HIGHLIGHTS

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-HIGHLIGHTS OF DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY TODAY BEFORE THE COMBINED ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE:

(THIS TESTIMONY IS TAKEN FROM A CENSORED RECORD OF THE HEARING, WHICH IS CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC, AND INCLUDES QUESTIONS AS WELL AS ANSWERS WHEN THE QUESTIONS ADD TO UNDERSTANDING OF THE SUBJECT)

SENATOR WILEY (R-WIS): I WANT TO KNOW WHAT POLICIES HE (GEN. MACARTHUR) CAN'T SUPPORT WHOLE-HEARTEDLY AND DIDN'T SUPPORT.

SECRETARY MARSHALL: THE POLICIES INVOLVED HERE RELATED TO THE CONDUCT OF THE OPERATIONS IN KOREA, OUR RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED NATIONS IN THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF THIS COUNTRY AS THE COMMANDER OF THOSE UNITS, THE RESOLUTION OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN RELATION TO THE MATTERS IN KOREA, OVER WHICH GEN. MACARTHUR WAS THE UNITED NATIONS COMMANDER.

WILEY: DO YOU MEAN TO SAY THAT A MAN IN GEN. MACARTHUR'S POSITION, WHO WAS THE CHIEF OF STAFF WHEN YOU WERE A COLONEL, HAD NO RIGHT TO DISCUSS OR ADVISE OR RECOMMEND TO YOU LEADERS IN WASHINGTON? IS THAT WHAT YOU MEAN IN VIOLATION OF POLICY?

MARSHALL: THERE WAS NO LIMIT WHATEVER ON HIS REPRESENTATIONS OF HIS VIEWS TO THE OFFICIALS IN WASHINGTON. THERE IS A GREAT DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THAT AND THE PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENTS.

WILEY: NOW, SOME ONE SAID "NO" TO HIS SUGGESTIONS. NOW, DID HE VIOLATE THAT "NO"?

MARSHALL: BY HIS PUBLIC STATEMENTS OR STATEMENTS THAT WERE MADE PUBLIC IN THE ORDINARY PRESS, HE SET UP A VERY SERIOUS REACTION AMONG OUR ALLIES, WHICH THREATENED OUR COLLECTIVE ACTION WITH THEM, AND WHICH THREATENED OUR POSITION IN THE WORLD IN RELATION TO THIS GREAT CRISIS, AND WHICH THREATENED TO LEAVE US IN A SITUATION OF GOING IT ALONE.

WILEY: THE ANSWER IS -- THAT MACARTHUR, ON THE GROUND, 10,000 MILES AWAY, HAD A DIFFERENT IDEA AS TO HOW THE BATTLE SHOULD BE CARRIED ON, THAT WHEN HE GAVE THOSE DIFFERENT IDEAS TO HIS SUPERIORS HERE IN WASHINGTON, AND THEY MUST HAVE GIVEN THEM TO THE ALLIES, THAT THEY DISAGREED WITH MACARTHUR'S IDEAS, YOU PEOPLE CAME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT HE WAS VIOLATING A DIRECTIVE OF SOME KIND, WHICH JUSTIFIED HIS REMOVAL?

A48WX

MARSHALL: I'LL SAY THIS, SENATOR. WAS CREATING A FEELING OF UNCERTAINTY WITH OUR ALLIES AS TO WHO WAS DIRECTING THESE AFFAIRS, -- THAT OUR CHIEF EXECUTIVE, AS THE EXECUTIVE AGENT FOR THOSE ALLIES, OR OTHERWISE. WHEN HE PROPOSED THE UTILIZATION OF THE CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS FROM FORMOSA HE WAS SETTING UP A VERY SERIOUS CONSIDERATION.

WILEY: IT HAS BEEN CHARGED THAT THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA ARE SUBJECT TO THE CONTROL OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND OF OUR PARTNERS IN KOREA, IN WHICH WE LOST INDEPENDENCE OF MILITARY ACTION IN A WAR INVOLVING 350,000 OF OUR MEN, WHICH HAS RESULTED TO DATE IN OVER 65,000 CASUALTIES. WOULD YOU COMMENT ON THAT STATEMENT?

MARSHALL: I WOULD SAY THAT WE HAVE NOT, ANY MORE THAN WE LOST CONTROL OF OUR TROOPS IN EUROPE X X X JUST AS IN THIS CASE, IT IS AN AMERICAN ALLIED COMMANDER.

WILEY: WELL, WHAT I AM GETTING AT IS, COULD IT NOT BE SAID IN THE LIGHT OF THESE FIGURES (ON ALLIED TROOP CONTRIBUTIONS IN KOREA; THE ACTUAL FIGURES WERE CENSORED) THAT WE ARE ALREADY GOING IT ALONE?

MARSHALL: I DO NOT THINK SO, SIR. I HAVEN'T MENTIONED THEIR SHIPS, CARRIERS, MATTERS OF THAT COURSE, AND ALSO AIRPLANES.

WILEY: WHAT EFFORT HAS THE UNITED STATES MADE TO BRING ABOUT AN END TO THIS TRAFFIC (OF BRITISH-MALAYAN RUBBER INTO RED CHINA) XXX?

MARSHALL: XXX TWO DAYS AGO, THE UNITED KINGDOM AND FRANCE INDICATED THEY WERE PREPARED TO SUPPORT A RESOLUTION INTRODUCED BY THE UNITED STATES (IN THE UNITED NATIONS) FOR AN INTERNATIONAL EMBARGO AGAINST COMMUNIST CHINA.

WILEY: OF COURSE, GENERAL, WE SEE HERE AN EVIDENCE OF ONE OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF GEN.MACARTHUR COMING UP RATHER BELATEDLY. HE WANTED TO BLOCKADE THE COAST AND STOP ALL THIS STUFF COMING IN MONTHS AGO XXX. SLOWLY, IT SEEMS THAT THE HANDS OF THE CLOCK ARE TURNED AROUND TO SOME OF THESE FOUR RECOMMENDATIONS THAT HE MADE. XXX WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE IF YOU HAD BEEN GEN.MACARTHUR XXX?

A49WX

MAY 10 1951

MARSHALL (AFTER A MILD PROTEST THAT THE QUESTION WAS VERY BROAD AND HYPOTHETICAL): I WOULD THINK, IN THE MAIN, AS I SAY, SPEAKING FROM THE ABSTRACT RATHER THAN HIS CONCRETE SITUATION, THAT MY STRUGGLE WOULD HAVE BEEN WITH THE GOVERNMENT, DIRECT WITH THE GOVERNMENT RATHER THAN WITH THE PUBLIC---THE SPREAD OF THE DISCUSSION SO THAT IT WOULD REACH THE WHOLE WORLD. WHETHER OR NOT I WOULD HAVE REACHED THE SITUATION WHERE I FELT THAT THE INTERESTS OF MY COUNTRY DEMANDED THAT I STEP FROM MY RESPONSIBILITY AND TAKE THE PROBLEM TO THE COUNTRY IS A PROBLEMATICAL PROCEDURE. XXXX THE IMPORTANT ASPECT OF THE MATTER IS THERE CAN BE ONLY ONE VOICE XXX CONSTITUTIONAL AND OTHERWISE, IT SEEMS TO ME, IN THE DECISIONS AS TO FOREIGN POLICY AT THE TIME THEY ARE GIVEN OUT.

WILEY: HAS THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT OR ANY OTHER OF THE NATION'S PARTNERS IN KOREA HAD A VOICE IN REMOVING MACARTHUR?

MARSHALL: THEY DID NOT. THEY WERE NOT ADVISED XXX

WILEY: IN THE VARIOUS DISCUSSIONS (WITH THE PRESIDENT ABOUT THE RECALL OF MACARTHUR) WAS THERE ANY ONE THAT RAISED THE VOICE IN FAVOR OF GEN.MACARTHUR?

MARSHALL: I DO NOT FEEL AT LIBERTY TO DISCUSS THAT ASPECT OF THESE MEETINGS WITH THE PRESIDENT. IT WAS A CONFIDENTIAL RELATIONSHIP XXX.

(400) MARSHALL-FIRING

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY IT WAS A STATE DEPARTMENT INFORMATION MAN HE SENT HOME FROM CHINA IN 1945 ON GROUNDS HE "CHANGED" A PRESIDENTIAL POLICY STATEMENT SO THAT IT CREATED A DIFFERENT IMPRESSION THAN INTENDED.

AT THE SAME TIME, SENATOR RUSSELL (D-GA) PUT INTO SENATE HEARING RECORDS A UNITED PRESS DISPATCH WHICH IDENTIFIED THE MAN IN QUESTION AS VICTOR KENDRICK, NOW MANAGER OF THE U.P. BUREAU IN HONG KONG.

THE DISPATCH INCLUDED A STATEMENT FROM KENDRICK DENYING HE HAD CHANGED THE LANGUAGE OF A PRESIDENTIAL TEXT. HE SAID HE WAS WORKING IN SHANGHAI AT THE TIME FOR THE OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION (OWI), ENGAGED IN TRYING TO GET OWI NEWS RELEASES PRINTED IN SHANGHAI NEWSPAPERS.

KENDRICK SAID HE PREPARED A STORY FROM THE PRESIDENTIAL TEXT BUT MADE NO CHANGE IN THE TEXT ITSELF. HIS STATEMENT ADDED:

"MR. TRUMAN'S STATEMENT IMPLIED THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD QUIT GIVING THE NATIONALISTS FURTHER AID UNLESS THEY ACCEPTED THE CHINESE REDS INTO THE GOVERNMENT AND THAT IS PRECISELY WHAT MY RE-WRITTEN STORY SAID. X X X

"THE PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF SOMETHING WHICH WAS COMMON KNOWLEDGE AMONG AMERICAN OFFICIALS AND NEWSMEN IN SHANGHAI -- THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT WAS TRYING TO PRESSURE CHIANG INTO ACCEPTING CHINESE COMMUNISTS -- MAY HAVE EMBARRASSED THE STATE DEPARTMENT AT THAT PARTICULAR TIME, BUT IT WAS THE TRUTH AND MARSHALL KNOWS IT."

MARSHALL FIRST MENTIONED THE INCIDENT YESTERDAY IN TELLING SENATORS ABOUT HIS 1945-46 MISSION TO CHINA. PRESIDENT TRUMAN SENT HIM THERE AS A SPECIAL AMBASSADOR TO TRY TO END THE CIVIL STRIFE IN CHINA.

MARSHALL RELATED THAT THREE DAYS AFTER HE ARRIVED HE HAD AN EMPLOYE SENT HOME, BUT SAID HE COULDN'T RECALL THE MAN'S NAME.

"I DON'T KNOW WHETHER HE WAS A COMMUNIST OR NOT," MARSHALL SAID, ADDING: "I KNOW THE WAY HE WAS TALKING WS INIMICABLE TO GOOD GOVERNMENT."

A79WX

HE WENT ON THEN TO SAY HE HAD FOUND OUT THE MAN, IN DISTRIBUTING A PRESIDENTIAL STATEMENT, "HAD CHANGED THE TERMINOLOGY, CHANGED THE EXPRESSIONS OF THE PRESIDENT TO CREATE QUITE A DIFFERENT REACTION."

SENATOR H. ALEXANDER SMITH (R-NJ) BROUGHT THE MATTER UP AGAIN WHEN MARSHALL WAS BACK BEFORE THE SENATORS TODAY.

SMITH ASKED: "DO YOU RECALL WHETHER IT WAS A MAN BY THE NAME OF BENJAMIN KAISER?"

MARSHALL SAID AGAIN THAT HE DIDN'T RECALL THE MAN'S NAME. RUSSELL THEN PUT THE UNITED PRESS DISPATCH INTO THE RECORD.

MARSHALL SAID THE MAN WAS "IN THE U.S.I.S. (UNITED STATES INFORMATION SERVICE) WHICH HAD BEEN TAKEN OVER BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT."

HE SAID THE GOVERNMENT AGENCY, IN DISTRIBUTING THE PRESIDENTIAL POLICY STATEMENT, "MATERIALLY CHANGED SOME OF THE WORDING SO THAT IT TOOK THE POLICY OUT OF IT WHICH HAD BEEN VERY CAREFULLY THOUGHT INTO IT, SO AS NOT TO GIVE OFFENSE TO THE GENERALISSIMO." MARSHALL ADDED:

"THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WENT AHEAD WITH ITS DISTRIBUTION, NOT CHANGING ANY OF THE LANGUAGE WHATSOEVER, AND THAT

TRUMAN LETTER

WASHINGTON, MARCH 9-(AP)-SENATORS DISCLOSED TODAY THAT IN THE UNITED NATIONS' DARKEST MILITARY HOUR IN KOREA LAST JANUARY, PRESIDENT TRUMAN WROTE GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR A LETTER OUTLINING THE PRESIDENT'S "HIGH POLICY PURPOSES."

PARAPHRASED EXCERPTS FROM THIS LETTER, READ INTO THE RECORD OF THE INQUIRY INTO MACARTHUR'S OUSTER, SHOWED THAT AT THAT TIME, JAN. 12, MR.TRUMAN "RECOGNIZED THE CONTINUED RESISTANCE MIGHT NOT BE MILITARILY POSSIBLE WITH THE LIMITED FORCES AVAILABLE TO GENERAL MACARTHUR."

THE PARAPHRASING WAS FURNISHED TO THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES AND SENATOR SALTONSTALL (R-MASS) READ THIS EXCERPT INTO THE RECORD:

"THE PRESIDENT EMPHASIZED THAT PENDING THE BUILD-UP OF OUR NATIONAL STRENGTH, WE MUST ACT WITH GREAT PRUDENCE INSOFAR AS EXTENDING THE AREA OF HOSTILITIES WAS CONCERNED.

"STEPS WHICH MIGHT IN THEMSELVES BE FULLY JUSTIFIED, WHICH MIGHT LEND SOME ASSISTANCE TO THE CAMPAIGN IN KOREA, WOULD NOT BE BENEFICIAL IF THEY WOULD INVOLVE JAPAN OR WESTERN EUROPE IN LARGE SCALE HOSTILITIES.

"THE PRESIDENT RECOGNIZED THE CONTINUED RESISTANCE MIGHT NOT BE MILITARILY POSSIBLE WITH THE LIMITED FORCES AVAILABLE TO GENERAL MACARTHUR. IN ANY EVENT, THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES MUST BE PRESERVED AS AN EFFECTIVE INSTRUMENT FOR THE DEFENSE OF JAPAN AND ELSEWHERE. A SUCCESSFUL RESISTANCE IN KOREA, HOWEVER, WOULD SERVE THE FOLLOWING

SALTONSTALL SAID THE LETTER LISTED 10 SUCH PURPOSES, THE FIRST OF WHICH WAS "TO DEMONSTRATE THAT AGGRESSION WOULD NOT BE ACCEPTED BY THE FREE WORLD."

MACARTHUR-FORTRESS (500)
BY G.MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-CAPITOL HILL IS STILL DEBATING WHAT GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR MEANT IN SOME PARTS OF HIS TESTIMONY LAST WEEK DEALING WITH THE "FORTRESS AMERICA" CONCEPT.
THE QUESTION: DID MACARTHUR WRITE OFF THE DEFENSE POLICY ADVOCATED BY FORMER PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER AND SOME REPUBLICAN SENATORS, INCLUDING WHERRY OF NEBRASKA, THE GOP FLOOR LEADER.
SENATOR KERR (D-OKLA) CONTENDED THE GENERAL NOT ONLY REPUDIATED IT, BUT RIDICULED IT.
WHERRY ARGUED HE DID NOT.
SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) PUT IT THIS WAY: "I SAW NO ENDORSEMENT BY THE GENERAL OF THE FORTRESS AMERICA IDEA."
"FORTRESS AMERICA" IS A TERM WHICH HAS BEEN APPLIED FREQUENTLY TO HOOVER'S PROPOSAL THAT THE UNITED STATES CONCENTRATE PRIMARILY ON DEFENSE OF THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE, THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC OCEANS AND IMPORTANT ISLANDS IN THOSE OCEANS.
HOOVER LAST DECEMBER SAID THIS COUNTRY SHOULD REFUSE TO SEND MORE MEN AND DOLLARS ACROSS THE ATLANTIC UNTIL WESTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HAVE BUILT A "SURE DAM" AGAINST COMMUNIST AGGRESSION.
IN FEBRUARY, THE FORMER PRESIDENT PROPOSED THAT THE UNITED STATES PUT PRODUCTION EMPHASIS ON AIR AND NAVAL STRENGTH AND MUNITIONS, RATHER THAN ON LAND ARMIES.
HERE ARE EXCERPTS FROM THE QUESTIONING OF MACARTHUR BY SENATOR LYNDON B.JOHNSON (D-TEX) WHICH PROVOKED THE CONFLICTING INTERPRETATIONS:
JOHNSON: "THERE IS A SCHOOL OF THOUGHT IN THE UNITED STATES WHICH BELIEVE THAT WE SHOULD CONFINE THE BULK OF ALL OUR GROUND FORCES TO THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES AND THAT WE SHOULD PROVIDE OTHER NATIONS WITH NOTHING BUT SEA AND AIR SUPPORT IN THE BATTLE AGAINST COMMUNISM.
"NOW I GATHER FROM YOUR STATEMENTS THAT YOU DO NOT EMBRACE THAT THEORY COMPLETELY, AND I AM JUST WONDERING IF I AM CORRECT IN THAT ASSUMPTION."
MACARTHUR: "I BELIEVE THAT IT IS THE GRAVEST POSSIBLE MISTAKE IN THE USE OF THE ARMED FORCES OF A NATION TO TRY TO DRAW THE LINES OF DEMARCATION BETWEEN GROUND TROOPS, AIR TROOPS AND NAVY TROOPS. THEY ARE AN INTEGRATED TEAM.
"AT ONE PLACE YOU MAY NEED THE PREPONDERANCE OF ONE ELEMENT OR THE OTHER, BUT THE FORCE THAT WE APPLY SHOULD BE BASED UPON THE COMPLETE INTEGRATION OF THE POTENTIAL OF THOSE THREE FORCES. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO MAKE SUCH A SIMPLIFICATION IN MY OPINION."
"I BELIEVE IN QUESTIONS OF THE UTILIZATION OF THE MILITARY POWER OF THE COUNTRY, WITHIN THE MISSIONS WHICH HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED BY THE GOVERNMENT, THAT THE CONGRESS WOULD DO WELL TO PAY THE CLOSEST ATTENTION TO THE PROFESSIONAL ADVICE THAT IS RENDERED BY THOSE SERVICES."
WHERRY TOLD A REPORTER: "I'M NOT SPEAKING FOR GENERAL MACARTHUR, OF COURSE. BUT HIS ANSWER WAS NOT RESPONSIVE TO THE QUESTION, COMPLETELY. HE DID NOT WRITE OFF FORTRESS AMERICA.
"WE'RE BOTH FOR A MOBILE ARMY, I THINK HIS TESTIMONY SHOWS THAT. BUT I DON'T UNDERSTAND THAT HE SAID HE WRITES OFF FORTRESS AMERICA."
SAID KERR: "HE REPUDIATED IT. AND HE RIDICULED, I BELIEVE, THE TAFT-WHERRY PHILOSOPHY OF GIVING OUR MILITARY AUTHORITIES AN ASSIGNMENT AND THEN IMPOSING RESTRICTIVE SPECIFICATIONS BY LEGISLATION."

MAY 10 1951

"AS I UNDERSTAND HIS WORDS," KERR ADDED IN AN INTERVIEW, "HE WAS JUST AS MUCH OPPOSED TO THE VIEWS OF THE ISOLATIONISTS WHO HAD EMBRACED HIM AS THEIR DARLING, AS HE WAS TO THE POSITION OF THE CHIEFS OF STAFF AND THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF WHO REMOVED HIM FROM HIS COMMAND.
"I THINK HE'S TRYING TO DISCREDIT THE DEMOCRATIC LEADERSHIP AND THE ACCEPTED REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP ALIKE."

MARSHALL-STRATEMEYER
WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL SAID TODAY "WE DIDN'T PARTICULARLY APPRECIATE" A RECENT INTERVIEW THAT LT.GEN.GEORGE E.STRATEMEYER GAVE TO A MAGAZINE.
STRATEMEYER IS COMMANDER OF FAR EAST AIR FORCES. AN INTERVIEW WITH HIM WAS PUBLISHED BY THE U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT IN ITS APRIL 22 ISSUE.
THE QUESTION OF WHETHER THIS INTERVIEW HAD BEEN CLEARED WITH THE STATE OR DEFENSE DEPARTMENTS WAS RAISED BY SENATOR H.ALEXANDER SMITH (R-NY) AT SENATE HEARINGS ON THE FIRING OF GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.
MARSHALL SAID HE DID NOT THINK STRATEMEYER'S INTERVIEW WAS CLEARED, BUT WOULD HAVE TO CHECK TO MAKE SURE.
"IS THE PLAN CONTEMPLATED OF DISMISSING GENERAL STRATEMEYER BECAUSE OF THAT INTERVIEW?" ASKED SMITH.
"THAT ISSUE HAS NOT BEEN BROUGHT UP WITH THE PRESIDENT," MARSHALL REPLIED. HE ADDED: "WE DIDN'T PARTICULARLY APPRECIATE THE ARTICLE AT THE TIME IT CAME OUT, BUT WE HAD ENOUGH OF EXCITEMENT IN THE AIR AT THE MOMENT, AND HE WAS NOT A PERSON IN THE PROMINENT POSITION OF GENERAL MACARTHUR."
IN THE COPYRIGHT INTERVIEW, A CORRESPONDENT OF THE U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT QUOTED STRATEMEYER AS SAYING "WE ARE ALMOST CERTAIN" THE REDS ARE BUILDING UP THEIR AIR POWER IN MANCHURIA, AND AS ADDING:
"YOU CAN'T STOP A DETERMINED AIR OFFENSIVE UNLESS YOU CAN GET AT THE FACILITY FROM WHICH IT ORIGINATES. AS YOU KNOW, GOING NORTH OF THE YALU RIVER IS NOT PERMISSIBLE, AND AS A CONSEQUENCE OUR STOPPING OF AIR ATTACKS CAN'T BE AIRTIGHT. X X HE CAN HIT ME WHERE I AM BASED, BUT I CAN'T HIT HIM."
AT THE TIME, THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ASKED THE PENTAGON IF THE INTERVIEW HAD BEEN CLEARED. A SPOKESMAN REPLIED ONLY THAT THE STATEMENTS MADE AND THE SITUATION STRATEMEYER MENTIONED HAD BEEN PRETTY WELL COVERED IN COMMUNIQUES.
IN A DISPATCH FROM TOKYO APRIL 13, THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HAD QUOTED STRATEMEYER AS SAYING IN AN INTERVIEW THAT A RED AIR BUILD UP APPARENTLY WAS UNDER WAY. HE ALSO TOLD THE AP CORRESPONDENT: "THE MILITARY SOLUTION TO SUCH AN AIR THREAT IS TO DESTROY THE ENEMY FIGHTER IN ITS NEST OR AT LEAST IN THE REAR AREAS. SUCH TECHNIQUE IS NOT PERMISSIBLE HERE X."

(220) MARSHALL CENSORSHIP
WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-A REPUBLICAN SENATOR ROSE ON THE FLOOR TODAY TO PAY "HIGH TRIBUTE" TO THE ADMIRAL WHO IS CENSORING THE MARSHALL-MACARTHUR HEARING TESTIMONY FOR POSSIBLE SECURITY LEAKS.
SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) SAID HE WAS "PERSONALLY SATISFIED" THAT VICE ADM.ARTHUR C.DAVIS, THE MILITARY CENSOR, HAS TAKEN A "BROAD-GAUGED" VIEW OF HIS JOB.
"I'M SURE HE'S TRYING TO MAKE AVAILABLE THE MAXIMUM AMOUNT OF TESTIMONY AND CUT OUT THE MINIMUM AMOUNT CONSISTENT WITH SECURITY," THE CALIFORNIAN TOLD THE SENATE.

KNOWLAND, A MEMBER OF THE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE, IS ON A SUBCOMMITTEE WHICH HAS BEEN CHECKING THE DELETIONS MADE BY DAVIS.

THE ISSUE WAS RAISED BY SENATOR MUNDT (R-SD) WHO SAID HE HAD BECOME CONCERNED ABOUT THE "INCREASING GAPS" IN THE TESTIMONY RELEASED TO THE PUBLIC SINCE DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL BECAME THE WITNESS.

KNOWLAND SAID THERE HAD BEEN MORE DELETIONS DURING MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY BUT ADDED THAT HE WAS SATISFIED NOTHING HAD BEEN CUT OUT THAT WOULD NOT VIOLATE MILITARY SECURITY.

HE POINTED OUT THAT IN SOME CASES IT HAD BEEN POSSIBLE TO RE-PHRASE THE MATERIAL AND GET IT RELEASED.

MUNDT ASKED ABOUT THE STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL, ADRIAN FISHER, WHO IS AIDING DAVIS.

KNOWLAND REPLIED THIS OFFICIAL HAD BEEN SUPPLIED AT THE REQUEST OF THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT TO HELP IN CHECKING MATTERS OF POLITICAL SECURITY.

FISHER HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR KNOCKING OUT ONLY ONE SENTENCE SO FAR, THE CALIFORNIAN REPORTED. HE ADDED HE HAD CHECKED THIS AND WAS SATISFIED THE SENTENCE SHOULD HAVE BEEN DELETED.

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL REFUSED TODAY TO SAY WHETHER ANYONE SPOKE OUT AGAINST DISMISSING GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR AT WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCES ON THAT QUESTION.

THE RECORD OF HIS TESTIMONY AT SENATE HEARINGS SHOWED SENATOR WILEY (R-WIS) ASKED WHETHER IN THE WHITE HOUSE DISCUSSIONS THERE WAS "ANYONE THAT RAISED THE VOICE IN FAVOR OF GENERAL MACARTHUR?"

MARSHALL REPLIED: "I DO NOT FEEL AT LIBERTY TO DISCUSS THAT ASPECT OF THESE MEETINGS WITH THE PRESIDENT. IT WAS A CONFIDENTIAL RELATIONSHIP, AND I WOULD MAKE NO COMMENT ON THAT."

WILEY: "WHO WAS THE CHIEF PROSECUTOR?"

MARSHALL: "I WILL MAKE NO COMMENT ON THAT, SIR."

IN PREVIOUS TESTIMONY, MARSHALL HAD SAID THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF MADE A UNANIMOUS RECOMMENDATION THAT MACARTHUR BE RELIEVED, AND THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S DECISION WAS MADE AFTER A CONFERENCE WITH HIM, SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON, GEN.OMAR BRADLEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS, AND W.AVERELL HARRIMAN, SPECIAL FOREIGN POLICY ADVISER TO MR. THE ORDER WAS DESIGNED TO SAVE AMERICAN LIVES, THE WISCONSIN SENATOR SAID.

MCCARTHY WAS REFERRING TO PART OF MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEES LAST WEEK. MACARTHUR HAD RELATED THAT AFTER HE BECAME CERTAIN THE RED CHINESE HAD INTERVENED IN THE FIGHTING AND WERE POURING ACROSS THE YALU RIVER, HE ORDERED THE BRIDGES BOMBED TO MID-STREAM.

"THAT ORDER WAS COUNTERMANDED FROM WASHINGTON," MACARTHUR TESTIFIED, "AND IT WAS ONLY WHEN I PROTESTED VIOLENTLY THAT I WAS ALLOWED TO CONTINUE MY ORIGINAL DIRECTIVE."

MCCARTHY RAISED THE POINT DURING A SPEECH BY SENATOR MUNDT (R-SD) ON FAR EASTERN POLICY.

HE ASKED MUNDT IF HE DID NOT AGREE THAT IN "ANY OTHER PERIOD OF HISTORY, OR UNDER ANY OTHER ADMINISTRATION WE EVER HAD, UNDOUBTEDLY SOMEONE WOULD HANG FOR HAVING COUNTERMANDED SUCH AN ORDER AND SIGNED THE DEATH WARRANT OF AMERICAN BOYS?"

2. SINCE WE ARE TRYING TO AVOID WAR WITH RUSSIA, WE MUST NOT DEFEAT RED CHINA.

NIGHT LEAD RIDGWAY

MAY 10 1951

BY ROGER D.GREENE

WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY PROMOTED LT.GEN.MATTHEW W.RIDGWAY, WHO SUCCEEDED GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR IN THE FAR EAST, TO BECOME A FULL FOUR-STAR GENERAL.

MR.TRUMAN'S RECOMMENDATION, SUBJECT TO SENATE CONFIRMATION, CAME JUST TWO DAYS SHORT OF A MONTH AFTER THE DRAMATIC OUSTER OF GEN.MACARTHUR LAST APRIL 11 AND THE NAMING OF GEN.RIDGWAY AS SUPREME COMMANDER IN THE KOREAN WAR.

THE SWIFTNESS OF RIDGWAY'S PROMOTION MATCHED HIS METEORIC RISE FROM VIRTUAL OBSCURITY TO FAME IN THE PRECEDING THREE MONTHS.

HE HAD SUCCEEDED THE LATE LT.GEN.WALTON H.WALKER AS COMMANDER OF THE U.S.8TH ARMY IN KOREA AFTER WALKER WAS KILLED IN A JEEP ACCIDENT AT THE FRONT LAST DECEMBER.

TAKING OVER AN ARMY IN RETREAT, RIDGWAY GALVANIZED IT INTO A SPIRITED OFFENSIVE FORCE THAT STEMMED THE CHINESE COMMUNIST HORDES AND DROVE THE ENEMY BACK TO THE NORTH.

NOW 56, A HARD-BITTEN, VIGOROUS CAMPAIGNER, RIDGWAY WAS GRADUATED FROM WEST POINT IN 1917.

DURING WORLD WAR II, HE COMMANDED THE FAMED 82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION AND JUMPED WITH HIS TROOPS ON D-DAY IN THE NORMANDY INVASION. HIS FAMILIAR TRADE MARKS--THE LIVE HAND-GRENADE AND FIRST-AID KIT TAPED TO HIS SHOULDERS--ARE HOLDOVERS FROM HIS PARATROOP DAYS.

THE NEW FOURTH STAR WILL MATCH HIS "FOUR HAT" JOB AS SUPREME COMMANDER, ALLIED POWERS (SCAP); COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, UNITED NATIONS COMMAND; COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, FAR EAST; AND COMMANDER GENERAL, U.S.ARMY, FAR EAST.

RIDGWAY IS THE SON OF AN ARMY COLONEL AND A NATIVE OF FORT MONROE, VA.

NIGHT LEAD MACARTHUR (430)
NEW YORK, MAY 9-(AP)-GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S AIDE SAID TODAY THE GENERAL'S VIEWS ON FAR EASTERN POLICY HELPED RATHER THAN HARMED MORALE OF AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA.

DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL YESTERDAY TOLD A SENATE INQUIRY MORALE WAS DAMAGED BY MACARTHUR'S EMPHASIS ON CASUALTIES AND HIS HINT THAT SUCH CASUALTIES WERE NOT JUSTIFIED.

MACARTHUR'S PERSONAL AIDE, MAJ. GEN. COURTNEY WHITNEY, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE:

"I WOULD BE INCLINED TO SAY THE CONTRARY. THE FACT THAT GEN. MACARTHUR HAS HAD THE COURAGE TO CALL FOR MEASURES DESIGNED TO PROTECT HIS FORMER COMMAND WILL REACT FAVORABLY ON THE MORALE OF THE TROOPS.

"THIS INDEED SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN THE CASE."

WHITNEY ALSO MADE THESE POINTS IN BEHALF OF MACARTHUR:

1. HE SAID MACARTHUR NEVER BUCKED ESTABLISHED ADMINISTRATION POLICY IN THE FAR EAST BUT TRIED TO GET A "DEFINITIVE" POLICY TO FILL A VACUUM AFTER CHINA ENTERED THE WAR.

2. HE SAW NO CONFLICT BETWEEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PLANS FOR A NEGOTIATED PEACE IN KOREA AND MACARTHUR'S PUBLIC CALL FOR A BATTLEFIELD TRUCE.

MARSHALL TOLD THE SENATE INQUIRY MACARTHUR'S CEASE-FIRE SUGGESTION UPSET MR. TRUMAN'S PLANS FOR A TRUCE.

"THERE WAS NO APPARENT CONFLICT BETWEEN ANY PLANS WHICH HAD BEEN COMMUNICATED TO GEN. MACARTHUR AND HIS CALL TO THE CHINESE TO SIT DOWN TO A PARLEY IN THE FIELD," WHITNEY SAID.

THE CALL, THE AIDE ADDED, WAS A MILITARY ACTION DESIGNED "TO STOP THE SHOOTING."

MARSHALL TESTIFIED THAT HE FELT A HIGH-RANKING OFFICER IN CONFLICT WITH HIS SUPERIORS SHOULD RESIGN.

"GEN. MACARTHUR WAS NOT ARGUING AGAINST ANY POLICY IN EFFECT," SAID WHITNEY IN REFERENCE TO THE POLICY SPLIT THAT LED PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO OUST THE FIVE STAR GENERAL. "AS HE CONSISTENTLY IMPLEMENTED ALL POLICIES AND DIRECTIVES TO THE BEST OF HIS ABILITY.

"WHAT HE WAS CALLING FOR WAS A DEFINITIVE POLICY TO FILL THE POLICY VACUUM LEFT IN THE WAKE OF CHINA'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR."

MARSHALL REFERRED TO THE DANGER OF WORLD WAR III BECAUSE OF RUSSIAN AIR AND TROOPS STRENGTH NEAR KOREA.

WHITNEY REPLIED THAT MACARTHUR CONSIDERS THESE SOVIET FORCES FROM THEIR NATURE AND THEIR DISPOSITION AS "DEFENSIVE."

"IF ANYONE ELSE BELIEVES THEM TO BE OFFENSIVE, IT IS A MATTER OF OPINION," HE ADDED.

WHITNEY AGAIN SAID MACARTHUR'S CONTROVERSIAL LETTER TO REP. MARTIN (R-MASS) WAS "NOT CONTRARY" TO A DEFENSE DEPARTMENT EDICT THAT FOREIGN POLICY STATEMENTS MUST BE CLEARED IN WASHINGTON.

MARTIN MADE THE LETTER PUBLIC AND PRESIDENT TRUMAN FIRED MACARTHUR SOON AFTERWARDS.

WHITNEY SAID MACARTHUR IS GETTING TRANSCRIPTS OF MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY BUT "HAS NOT READ A WORD OF IT." INSTEAD WHITNEY SAID HE WOULD BRIEF MACARTHUR ON THE DEFENSE SECRETARY'S TESTIMONY.

NEW YORK, MAY 9-(AP)-GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S INTEREST IN CONNECTICUT DOGWOOD HAS LED TO A LOT OF SPECULATION.

OR IS HE THINKING ABOUT BUSINESS?

THOSE WERE THE QUESTIONS ASKED TODAY AFTER MACARTHUR AND HIS WIFE MADE AN UNANNOUNCED TRIP YESTERDAY TO CONNECTICUT.

HIS AIDE, MAJ. GEN. COURTNEY WHITNEY, SAID MACARTHUR HAD READ ABOUT THE STATE'S SPRING DOGWOOD AND DECIDED TO "INSPECT IT."

IN BEHALF OF THE OUSTED FAR EASTERN COMMANDER, WHITNEY PRONOUNCED THE FLOWER "VERY LOVELY."

WHITNEY SAID THERE AS "NO TRUTH TO IT AT ALL" OF A REPORT THAT MACARTHUR HAD LEASED A 20-ROOM MANSION AND ESTATE ON CONTENTMENT ISLAND, OFF DARIEN, CONN.

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER REPORTS TODAY SAID MACARTHUR SAW THE DOGWOOD ON THE DARIEN ESTATE OF JAMES RAND, OF REMINGTON RAND, INC. MACARTHUR REPORTEDLY IS READY TO BECOME THE FIRM'S BOARD CHAIRMAN AT $100,000 A YEAR.

HOWEVER, NEWSPAPERS HERE QUOTED RAND AS SAYING THE MACARTHUR PARTY SPENT THE AFTERNOON WITH HIM. RAND, THE REPORTS ADDED, DESCRIBED THE VISIT AS SOCIAL AND SAID NO BUSINESS WAS DISCUSSED.

RAND ALSO SAID HE KNEW NOTHING OF MACARTHUR'S PLANS CONCERNING A HOME, ACCORDING TO THE NEWSPAPERS.

HONOLULU, MAY 9-(AP)-THE MAN WHO ONCE HEADED THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA) SAID TODAY HE BELIEVED IT WAS WASHINGTON'S RESPONSIBILITY

TO SUPPLY GENERAL MACARTHUR ANY AVAILABLE EVIDENCE ON CHONESE RED MOBILIZATION IN MANCHURIA.

CIA OPERATIONS HAVE FIGURED IN THE HEARINGS NOW IN PROGRESS IN WASHINGTON OVER THE REMOVAL OF MACARTHUR FROM HIS COMMANDS.

MACARTHUR HAS SAID WASHINGTON FAILED TO REPORT TO HIM ON THE SHIFT OF THE CHINESE THIRD AND FOURTH FIELD ARMIES FROM CHINA INTO MANCHURIA.

REAR ADM.ROSCOE H.HILLENKOETTER, HEAD OF CIA FROM JUNE, 1946 TO OCT.1, 1950, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW CIA WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR REPORTING SUCH STRATEGIC INTELLIGENCE AS CHINESE TROOP MOVEMENTS TO MANCHURIA.

NORMAL PROCEDURE, HE SAID, WAS FOR CIA TO REPORT TO THE PRESIDENT, THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL AND THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF. IT WOULD BE NORMAL FOR THE JOINT CHIEFS TO ADVISE MACARTHUR, HE ADDED.

HILLENKOETTER SAID HE DID NOT REMEMBER PRIOR TO OCT.1 ANY REPORTS OF CHINESE TROOP SHIFTS INTO MANCHURIA. AND HE ADDED HE KNEW NOTHING OF CIA OPERATIONS SINCE GEN.WALTER BEDELL SMITH, THE PRESENT CIA CHIEF, REPLACED HIM.

THE CHINESE REDS INTERVENED IN KOREA IN late OCTOBER.

HILLENKOETTER SAID THAT CIA HAD CORDIAL AND EFFECTIVE RELATIONS WITH MACARTHUR'S FAR EAST COMMAND UP TO THE TIME HE LEFT THE INTELLIGENCE POST.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE LAST WEEK THAT MACARTHUR HAD DENIED CIA OPERATIONS IN TOKYO UNTIL PERSUADED BY SMITH. MACARTHUR, IN NEW YORK, CALLED THAT "TOMMYROT."

HILLENKOETTER SAID CIA COULD NOT BE CALLED ON TO REPORT MORE THAN THE LOCATION AND ESTIMATE OF THE CAPABILITIES OF ANY CHINESE TROOPS IN MANCHURIA.

"TO PREDICT THE INTENTIONS OF THE ENEMY, REAL OR POTENTIAL, YOU WOULD NEED A CRYSTAL BALL," HE ADDED.

THE ADMIRAL HAD HEARD NOTHING OF REPORTS HE MAY BE CALLED TO TESTIFY IN THE PRESENT HEARING IN WASHINGTON OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES.

HE ARRIVED AT PEARL HARBOR ABOARD THE HEAVY CRUISER ST.PAUL. HILLENKOETTER COMMANDED CRUISER DIVISION ONE IN KOREA WATERS SINCE LAST NOV.2.

HE WILL PROCEED FRIDAY WITH THE ST.PAUL TO LONG BEACH, CALIF., WHERE THE CRUISER WILL BE OVERHAULED AFTER NINE MONTHS OF FAR EAST DUTY.

THE ADMIRAL WAS ASKED HIS OPINION ON THE FEASIBILITY OF A NAVAL BLOCKADE OF CHINA AS URGED BY MACARTHUR. HE REPLIED THAT SUCH A BLOCKADE WOULD BE RELATIVELY SIMPLE.

TOBIN DEFENDED PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S FOREIGN POLICY IN A PREPARED SPEECH AT A DINNER SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL LABOR COUNCIL OF THE "CITY OF HOPE," A LABOR-SUPPORTED MEDICAL CENTER AT DUARTE, CALIF.

WITHOUT MENTIONING GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S NAME, TOBIN LASHED OUT AT MEN WHO HAVE BECOME "PREOCCUPIED WITH THE FAR EAST" AND WOULD HAVE THE U.S. MAKE THE "DISASTROUS MISTAKE" OF THINKING ONLY IN TERMS OF THE FAR EAST.

HE SAID THE ADMINISTRATION'S FOREIGN POLICY AT FIRST WAS CHALLENGED "IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF POLITICAL RECRIMINATION, IN A MAZE OF TICKER TAPE, AND IN A SERIES OF COMMUNIQUES FROM THE WALDORF-ASTORIA TOWERS UPSTAIRS."

HE OBVIOUSLY REFERRED TO THE WELCOMING PARADE FOR MACARTHUR AND TO THE RESIDENCE OF MACARTHUR AND HIS STAFF IN A WALDORF TOWERS SUITE.

SAYING THAT SOME OF THE "HEAT AND EMOTION" HAD DIED DOWN BY NOW, TOBIN ADDED THAT THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION IS FOLLOWING A "STEADY AND LESS SPECTACULAR WAY THAN THE WAY PROPOSED BY ITS CRITICS."

NIGHT LEAD FOREIGN AID

BY WILLARD H.MOBLEY

WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND A BUSINESSMEN'S GROUP MADE ALMOST IDENTICAL PLEAS TODAY FOR FURTHER ECONOMIC AID TO WESTERN EUROPE.

THESE WERE THE BASIC ARGUMENTS:

FROM THE RESEARCH AND POLICY COMMITTEE OF THE COMMITTEE FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT (CED)--THE CONTRIBUTION IS NECESSARY TO HELP THE STRAINED ECONOMIES OF WESTERN EUROPE CARRY REARMAMENT; IF THAT REARMING EFFORT FAILS THIS COUNTRY WILL HAVE TO SPEND MORE ON ITS OWN DEFENSES.

FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT--REBUILDING OF DEFENSES THREATENS TO STRAIN EUROPE'S INDUSTRIAL SET-UP "BEYOND THE BREAKING POINT"; IF THAT HAPPENS EUROPE WILL BE "DEFENSELESS BEFORE SOVIET AGGRESSION" AND AMERICA'S OWN SECURITY WILL BE GONE.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S REPORT WAS PUT OUT ALONG WITH AN ANNOUNCEMENT THAT A NEW "MUTUAL SECURITY PROGRAM" WILL BE PRESENTED TO CONGRESS SOON. IT IS EXPECTED TO TOTAL ABOUT $11,000,000,000 (B), SOME OF WHICH WOULD GO TO COUNTRIES OUTSIDE WESTERN EUROPE.

THAT PROPOSAL, STILL BEING WORKED OUT IN DETAIL, WILL PROVIDE (1) WEAPONS, (2) ASSISTANCE IN TRAINING AND ARMS PRODUCTION AND (3) ECONOMIC DEFENSE AID IN THE FORM OF RAW MATERIALS, EQUIPMENT AND OTHER GOODS, TO HELP EUROPE'S FREE NATIONS REARM AND AT THE SAME TIME AVOID AN ECONOMIC SMASH.

THE PLAN IS EXPECTED TO BE SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN LATE THIS MONTH. IT WILL INCLUDE "POINT FOUR" MONEY FOR TECHNICAL AND OTHER SUCH AID TO UNDERDEVELOPED AREAS OF THE WORLD.

PRESENT THINKING WOULD ASSIGN ABOUT $9,500,000,000 (B) OF THE MONEY TO MILITARY ASSISTANCE AND ECONOMIC BACKING FOR THE DEFENSE EFFORT ABROAD. MORE THAN TWO-THIRDS OF THAT PORTION WOULD GO TO WESTERN EUROPE.

"OUR ASSISTANCE WILL BE GIVEN ONLY WHERE IT IS WANTED BY THESE GOVERNMENTS AND WHERE THEY CAN MAKE MAXIMUM USE OF SUCH AID IN ACHIEVING OUR COMMON GOALS," THE REPORT SAID.

THE DOCUMENT, ENTITLED "MUTUAL SECURITY FOR THE FREE WORLD," SAID WESTERN EUROPE'S PEOPLES "HAVE JUST MANAGED TO GET THEIR HEADS ABOVE WATER." IT WENT ON:

"THE ADDED EFFORT THEY MUST NOW EXERT--ARE EXERTING--COULD WELL PUSH THEM UNDER AGAIN."

THE COMMITTEE FROM THE CED ESTIMATED THAT THE NON-COMMUNIST NATIONS OF CONTINENTAL EUROPE FACE A DOLLAR DEFICIT OF AROUND $1,000,000,000 (B) DUE LARGELY TO DEFENSE EFFORTS. IT PROPOSED THAT THIS COUNTRY, BRITAIN AND CANADA MAKE UP THE SHORTAGE AS A MEASURE LARGELY FOR THEIR OWN PROTECTION.
THERE IS MORE TO SECURITY THAN MERE REARMAMENT HERE, THE GROUP SAID, EXPLAINING:
"IF THROUGH THE INADEQUACY OF U.S. AID, THE EUROPEAN REARMAMENT EFFORT WERE TO FAIL, THE U.S. PROBABLY WOULD HAVE TO INCREASE ITS MILITARY EXPENDITURES IN ORDER TO SAFEGUARD ITS OWN SECURITY WITHOUT COOPERATION OF THE COUNTRIES OF WESTERN EUROPE."
THE REPORT COVERED A STUDY OF MORE THAN A YEAR MADE BY A GROUP HEADED BY GARDNER COWLES, PRESIDENT OF THE DES MOINES REGISTER AND TRIBUNE AND COWLES MAGAZINES,INC.

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON SAID TODAY THE UNITED STATES HAS ABOUT COME TO THE END OF ITS ROPE IN NEGOTIATING WITH THE RUSSIANS ON TERMS FOR A BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS' MEETING. HIS WORDS IMPLIED THAT THE WHOLE PROJECT MAY FALL THROUGH.
THE RUSSIANS IN THEIR TALKS WITH AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH REPRESENTATIVES AT PARIS ARE IN EFFECT DEMANDING THAT THE WEST SUSPEND ITS DEFENSE PROGRAM, ACHESON SAID. HE DECLARED EMPHATICALLY THAT IS TOO HIGH A PRICE--A PRICE THE WEST CANNOT PAY--FOR A BIG FOUR MEETING.
THE AIM OF SUCH A MEETING WOULD BE TO EASE WORLD TENSIONS AND TRY TO MAKE SOME PROGRESS TOWARD REAL PEACE. ACHESON SAID THE UNITED STATES HAS PRESENTED PLANS FOR A CONFERENCE WHICH ARE THE ULTIMATE IN REASONABLENESS. BUT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' DEPUTIES, MEETING IN PARIS TO PAVE THE WAY FOR THE BIG PARLEY, ARE DEADLOCKED OVER WHAT ACHESON CALLED RUSSIA'S OUTRAGEOUS INSISTENCE ON ITS OWN KIND OF ARMS REDUCTION FORMULA.
ACHESON SAID ANDREI GROMYKO, SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER, HAS TAKEN THE ATTITUDE THAT THERE CAN BE NO BIG FOUR MEETING UNLESS HIS FORMULATION OF THE ARMS REDUCTION SECTION OF THE PROPOSED AGENDA IS ACCEPTED BY THE OTHER POWERS.
HE INSISTS ON THAT, ACHESON SAID, BECAUSE HE WANTS TO COMMIT THE GREAT POWERS TO A REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS PRIOR TO A FOREIGN MINISTERS MEETING WITHOUT REFERENCE TO EITHER THE GENERAL LEVEL OF ARMAMENTS OR THE REARMING OF THE COMMUNIST SATELLITE STATES.
THE WESTERN NATIONS HAVE CONTENDED THAT WHAT IS INITIALLY IMPORTANT IS THE LEVEL OF ARMAMENTS, BY WHICH THEY MEAN AN EXCESS OF RUSSIAN MILITARY POWER OVER THE MOBILIZED POWER OF THE WEST; ALSO THAT IN ANY CONTROL SYSTEM THE SATELLITE NATIONS MUST BE COVERED BECAUSE OTHERWISE THE RUSSIANS WOULD HAVE PUPPET ARMIES TO USE AGAINST RELATIVELY UNARMED FREE NATIONS.
IN AN EFFORT TO BREAK THE DEADLOCK ACHESON'S AGENT AT PARIS, AMBASSADOR AT LARGE PHILIP JESSUP, PRESENTED THREE POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS.
THE FIRST WAS THAT THE FOUR NATIONS AGREE ON AN AGENDA INCLUDING ARMS REDUCTION. IN THIS, ACHESON SAID, JESSUP WENT THE LIMIT IN MAKING CONCESSIONS TO THE RUSSIANS ON THE WORDING OF THE ARMS SECTION.

A205WX
THE SECOND POSSIBLE SOLUTION JESSUP PUT FORTH WAS THAT THE FOUR POWERS AGREE ON AN AGENDA EXCEPT FOR THOSE POINTS ON WHICH THEY ARE STUCK AND GO AHEAD WITH A FOREIGN MINISTERS SESSION. THIS WOULD LEAVE IT TO THE MINISTERS TO DECIDE HOW THEY WOULD GET AT THE ARMS PROBLEM.
AS A THIRD POSSIBILITY JESSUP SUGGESTED THAT THE BIG POWERS SIMPLY STATE IN GENERAL TERMS THE SUBJECTS THEY WOULD TALK ABOUT SO THAT THE MINISTERS COULD GO AHEAD WITH THE MEETING. THUS THEY WOULD SIMPLY LIST "GERMAN QUESTIONS" "AUSTRIAN QUESTIONS," AND THE LIKE.
ACHESON SAID THAT THE RESULT OF ALL THIS WAS TO PUT THE UNITED STATES--AND PRESUMABLY BRITAIN AND FRANCE SINCE THE THREE POWERS HAVE COOPERATED CLOSELY--IN THE POSITION OF SAYING "HERE IS WHAT WE ARE PREPARED TO DO. WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?" SOME REPORTERS THOUGHT THIS SOUNDED LIKE DIPLOMATIC PHRASING FOR THE MORE FAMILIAR IDIOM "PUT UP OR SHUT UP."

WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-NAMING "RELAXATION" AS THE COUNTRY'S WORST ENEMY AT THIS MOMENT, PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY ASKED INDUSTRY TO BUCKLE DOWN UNDER FEDERAL CONTROLS FOR "THE NEXT TWO OR THREE YEARS AT LEAST."
THE PRESIDENT TOLD 600 LEADERS OF THE OIL, POWER, FUEL AND MINING INDUSTRIES THAT IT IS "FOOLISH" AND "IMPOSSIBLE" TO TALK OF ABANDONING PRICE AND WAGE CEILINGS.
"YOU OUGHT TO BE ASKING CONGRESS FOR HIGHER TAXES," HE SAID. "BUT WHEN YOU DO THAT, BE SURE TO URGE THEM TO EXTEND PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS TOO."
ADDRESSING THE INDUSTRY ADVISORY COUNCILS OF THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT'S DEFENSE AGENCIES, MR.TRUMAN SAID HIS DEFENSE CHIEFS HAVE A "DEFINITE, CONCRETE" PLAN BOTH TO BUILD THE ARMED STRENGTH NEEDED TO DETER SOVIET AGGRESSION AND TO FIGHT ALL-OUT WAR IF THE KREMLIN IS "RECKLESS ENOUGH" TO START ONE.
THEN, LAYING ASIDE HIS PREPARED TEXT, THE PRESIDENT DELIVERED A LITTLE SERMON ON STICKING TO THE JOB. HE SAID:
"WE HAVE THREE ENEMIES TO OVERCOME--ONE OF THEM ABROAD AND TWO OF THEM AT HOME.
"AGGRESSION IS THE FIRST; WE'RE TAKING CARE OF THAT IN KOREA.
X X X THE SECOND IS INFLATION--THAT'S A HOME PRODUCT.
"NUMBER THREE IS THE WORST OF ALL. IT IS RELAXATION. YOU BUSINESSMEN CAN CURE THE TENDENCY TO RELAX EVERY TIME THERE IS A LULL IN HOSTILITIES. YOU CAN MEET THIS SITUATION HEAD-ON."
HE WENT INDIRECTLY INTO HIS CONTROVERSY WITH GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR WITH THIS BRIEF REFERENCE TO THE KOREAN FIGHTING:
"WE ARE TRYING TO KEEP THE CONFLICT LIMITED AND TO BRING IT TO A VICTORIOUS END, JUST AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE.
"BUT PEACE IN KOREA WOULD NOT PUT AN END TO THE GLOBAL DANGER OF SOVIET AGGRESSION. WE MUST BUILD UP ENOUGH MILITARY STRENGTH--ENOUGH MILITARY STRENGTH ACTUALLY IN EXISTENCE--TO CONVINCE THE KREMLIN THAT IT OUGHT NOT TO START A WORLD WAR."

THE STRENGTH TO MEET "ANY POSSIBLE THREAT TO OUR SECURITY." MEANTIME, HE ADDED, IT NEED NOT WEAKEN ITS "MAGNIFICENT CIVILIAN ECONOMY."

BUT THE FORMER PRESIDENT OF GENERAL ELECTRIC CORP. WENT ON TO SAY THAT THE POWERS REQUESTED IN MR.TRUMAN'S PROPOSED TWO-YEAR EXTENSION OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT ARE "ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL" TO SUCCESS.

"I DON'T LIKE CONTROLS ANY MORE THAN YOU OTHER ECONOMIC ROYALISTS," HE TOLD THE INDUSTRIALISTS, "BUT I BELIEVE THEY ARE ESSENTIAL."

THE CHIEF OF THE NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY, MANLY FLEISCHMANN, WHO WILL IMPOSE WAR-STYPE ALLOCATION CONTROLS ON DEFENSE INDUSTRY JULY 1, FORESAW AN "ENORMOUS PRODUCTION THIS YEAR AND NEXT OF ALL THE THINGS WE NEED AND MOST OF THE THINGS WE WANT."

BUT HE APPEALED TO THE PETROLEUM, COAL, GAS, POWER, AND MINING EXECUTIVES NOT TO DEMAND OR TAKE MORE METAL THAN THE MINIMUM THEY NEED UNDER THE ALLOCATION SYSTEM. IN SOME CASES, HE EXPLAINED, REQUESTS OF THE MILITARY AND OF "ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY" EVIDENTLY WILL TOTAL 140 PER CENT OF THE METAL SUPPLY IN PROSPECT, SO THAT REQUESTS MUST BE CHIPPED DOWN.

"THAT'S NOT A HAPPY PROSPECT FOR INDUSTRIES GEARED UP FOR A TREMENDOUS DEMAND," HE ADDED. "ALL I CAN SAY IS: FIRST, IT IS INESCAPABLE. SECOND, IT WON'T BE FOR LONG."

Text of Truman Address to Industry Advisory Group

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Following is the text of the address delivered by President Truman today to the Industry Council of the Department of the Interior:

Thank you very much. My first visit to this auditorium, Mr. Secretary was on a "Meet-the-Press" program, when I was a United States Senator, making some investigations in the second World War. It was not a very satisfactory meeting for me. I hope this one will be more satisfactory to you. It came out all right, though. They got me into more trouble than any man has ever gotten into in the history of the world.

Mr. Secretary, and gentlemen of the conference: I am glad to meet with you gentlemen here today.

I know that you are all ready to do everything you can to help out in this time of emergency—and I want to emphasize that statement: the country never has been in a greater emergency—and I know you will do a good job. You have a fine man to work with in Oscar Chapman. He is thoroughly familiar with the natural resources you gentlemen are here to advise us about, and we could not have a better man in charge of the mobilization of those resources for the defense effort.

Now, I want to say to you that every man that I have asked to help in this project has been a man of ability and patriotism, and don't let anybody tell you anything else.

I appreciate very much the fact that you are willing to come and help us with our mobilization problems. It shows that when our country has a big job to do people are ready to pitch in and help. And let me tell you now, our country does have a big job to do—just about the biggest and the hardest job in history.

Warns Against Relaxing

One of the worst difficulties we have to overcome is the feeling that we can relax because we are not in an all-out war. That is a terrible mistake. We can not afford to relax. We have three enemies to overcome, one abroad and two at home.

Aggression is the first one. We are shooting that one out in Korea, as we did in Greece and Berlin and other places.

Number two is inflation. That is a home product we are taxing and by controls curing inflation—we hope.

Number three is the worst of all, and that is relaxation. You can't cure the tendency to relax every time there is a lull in the hostilities.

The Secretary of the Treasury was talking to me at the Cabinet meeting recently, in which he said that every time it looks as if we are winning, either the fight against inflation or the fight against aggression, you can see the country relax as the crises, and securities and things of that kind go up and down. You must meet this situation head-on. And the thing that you gentlemen can do is to overcome the worst of our three enemies: relaxation.

Our mobilization problem is different in some ways from what it was in World War II, but it is just as urgent, and just as important to our national survival.

Today, the danger is worldwide, but the actual fighting is limited to a small area, where we are trying to keep it. We are trying to keep the conflict limited, and to bring it to a victorious end, just as rapidly as possible.

Strength Must Increase

But peace in Korea will not put an end to the global danger of Soviet aggression. We must build up enough military strength—enough military strength actually in existence—to convince the Kremlin that it ought not to start a world war.

We must prepare ourselves to mobilize quickly for war in case the Kremlin is reckless enough, in spite of everything, to plunge the world into a general conflict.

Our defense experts—both military and civilian—have developed a definite, concrete plan to do these two things. This plan provides for bigger active armed forces, and lays the foundation for complete mobilization, if that should become necessary. We must carry out that plan as rapidly as we possibly can. We want to reach our goal just as fast as the men can be trained, the plants built, and the equipment and supplies turned out.

During the next couple of years, while we are building up this military strength, we shall be diverting materials, converting plants, and disrupting normal life for business men and consumers. It will not be as drastic a shake-up as if we were in a global war, but whatever the situations calls for must be done. Our continued existence as a nation may depend on how well we carry out this program.

In the next year or two, the military production program is going to require extensive use of production controls and a good strong anti-inflation program. So far, we have only begun to feel the effect of military demands on our supplies of raw materials, manpower, and plant capacity. But we are going to feel this effect severely in the months to come. The largest part of the problem is still ahead of us. Now, I want to emphasize this: the largest part of the problem is still ahead of us.

Amount of Orders Placed

Since last June, about 26 billion dollars worth of orders have been placed for military equipment and construction. Only a small part of that has been delivered as yet.

Moreover, we still have about 58 billion dollars worth of orders to place, in the next fourteen months, under our present military plans.

You can easily see, therefore, that the demands of military production on materials and manpower will be going up month by month for a long time. That is why it is urgently necessary that the Congress continue for two years more the production controls authorized by the Defense Production Act.

It is also urgently necessary for the Congress to extend the authority for inflation controls—controls on prices, wages and credit, and rents. And by that I mean adequate authority to do the job—authority not crippled by a lot of special exemptions for special groups. This is absolutely vital for the future of this great nation of ours.

Most of you are business men, who understand the terrible effects that the inflationary spiral could have on our economy if it is not kept in check. Now you have got a leading business man in control of that very thing. You know how extremely important it is to hit inflation and hit it hard. To do that, we will have to use price and wage controls for the next two or three years at least.

There are some people who think we can now abandon price and wage controls and still stop inflation. They say that heavy taxes and other so-called indirect controls can do the whole job from here on. But as bigger and bigger military orders hit our economy, that will be clearly impossible.

Heavy Taxes Needed

Of course, heavy taxes are needed, and I'm doing my best to get the Congress to enact enough taxes to keep the budget in balance. I would be delighted if each one of you would urge your Congressman and Senators to raise taxes. I am serious about this; I think you ought to be asking the Congress for higher taxes.

But when you do that, be sure to urge them to extend price and wage controls, too. It all goes together, if we are going to meet this situation.

The plain fact is that when you expend production, as we are doing now in this country, people have more money to spend. And when that expanded production goes into military goods, there aren't enough civilian goods for people to spend the extra money on. This creates an inflationary gap. That is what is going to happen over the next year or two. There is no escaping it. It is going to get worse before it gets better. And those who are spreading the foolish notion that we can get through this period without price and wage controls are doing the country an immense amount of harm.

We hope that this period will not be long and that the time will come in two or three years when we can begin to take controls off. We are moving as rapidly as we can to expand the productive capacity of the country. Assuming that the Kremlin does not bring on a world war, we hope that our productive capacity will soon be great enough so that we can carry the defense program and still produce an ample supply of civilian goods. When that time comes, we should be able to do without controls.

If we are to bring that about, you gentlemen here must help us. You are particularly concerned with producing various types of raw materials and minerals, fuel and power. Increased capacity to produce these vital materials is basic not only to our defense, but to the kind of economy we want to have in the future.

I see no limit to the economic future of this country. I have said that time and again and have been called a dreamer and a visionary for doing it, but it is coming about.

Rate of Production

In the first half of this year, we are producing goods and services at an estimated annual rate of about 307 billions of dollars. This is about the same allowing for price changes, as the annual rate achieved in 1944—the peak production year of World War II. The present rate is almost 40 billion dollars higher than what we did in 1948. But we have not yet reached the ceiling. We have the resources and the technology to grow by about 5 per cent a year, over the next few years. In about three years, this would lift our output to about 350 billion dollars, measured in present prices. And we can go far beyond that.

That is the sort of picture I ask you gentlemen to keep before you during this emergency period. The world is in a dangerous condition, but we know what we must do about it. It will take patience and determination. It will take good solid American patriotism—the kind that puts the national interest ahead of the selfish interest.

The people of the United States, together with the people of the other free countries, can win a victory in the struggle with Soviet communism. I'm just as sure of that as I'm sure I am standing here.

What it will take is hard work by everybody in the country, willingness by everybody to carry his fair share of the load.

That is what we are asking of you gentlemen here. And I am very sure that you are going to do your part.

Thank you very much.

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-THE NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY (NPA) TODAY TOLD THE NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY THERE SHOULD BE NO NEED FOR FEDERAL NEWSPRINT CONTROLS IF NEWSPAPERS UNDERTAKE AN "AGGRESSIVE" PAPER SAVING CAMPAIGN.
THE NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY ADVISORY COMMITTEE, MADE UP OF A SCORE OF PUBLISHERS, AGREED UNANIMOUSLY THAT THE CONSERVATION EFFORT IS "THE MOST PRACTICAL AND EFFECTIVE" METHOD OF AVOIDING RESTRICTIONS.
THE PUBLISHERS WERE TOLD THAT IF DOMESTIC AND CANADIAN PRODUCTION CONTINUES AT THE PRESENT RATE, ABOUT 5,939,000 TONS WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR THE U.S. THIS YEAR. ALLOWING FOR AN ESTIMATED 6.5 PER CENT INCREASE IN CONSUMPTION, NPA PREDICTED THAT 5,889,000 TONS WOULD BE CONSUMED - A DEFICIT OF 55,000 TONS.
THE AGENCY SAID A VIGOROUS CONSERVATION PROGRAM COULD OFFSET THIS DEFICIT.
THE PUBLISHERS AGREED THAT ONE IMPORTANT METHOD WOULD BE TO LIMIT THE PRINTING OF EXCESS COPIES, NARROWING THE GAP BETWEEN THE PRESS RUN AND THE NET PAID CIRCULATION.
THE COMMITTEE UNDERTOOK TO SET UP A TASK GROUP TO RECOMMEND STEPS TO TAKE CARE OF NEWSPAPERS NEEDING EMERGENCY SUPPLIES. NPA OFFICIALS SAID SUCH HARDSHIP CASES HAVE BEEN FEW SO FAR, BUT SUGGESTED THAT THE PROCEDURE BE WORKED OUT FOR USE IN CASE OF FULL-SCALE WAR OR OTHER EMERGENCY.
THE PUBLISHERS RAISED THE QUESTION OF CONSTRUCTION OF NEWSPAPER PLANTS. UNTIL THIS WEEK NEWSPAPERS WERE EXEMPT FROM THE REQUIREMENT THAT THEY OBTAIN NPA AUTHORIZATION BEFORE BUILDING. IN LAST FRIDAY'S TIGHTENING OF BUILDING REGULATIONS, THE EXEMPTION WAS REMOVED.
NPA OFFICIALS SAID CONSTRUCTION STILL IS POSSIBLE THROUGH AUTHORIZATION AND THAT, WITH SUCH AUTHORIZATION, MATERIALS PROBABLY WILL BE MORE READILY AVAILABLE THAN IN THE PAST.
THE PUBLISHERS WERE TOLD ALSO THAT:
1. AN AMENDMENT IS BEING PREPARED TO MAKE IT EASIER FOR PUBLISHERS TO OBTAIN MAINTENANCE, REPAIR AND OPERATING SUPPLIES BY PRIORITY. RUEBER ROLLERS FOR PRESSES WIL

TO OBTAIN MAINTENANCE, REPAIR AND OPERATING SUPPLIES BY PRIORITY. RUBBER ROLLERS FOR PRESSES WILL BE COVERED BY THIS AMENDMENT.
2. THE SHORTAGE OF SULPHUR PROBABLY WILL BE THE MAJOR FACTOR AFFECTING NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION BUT SO FAR NEWSPRINT OUTPUT HAS NOT BEEN CUT BACK BY LACK OF THE CHEMICAL.

A81WX
3. NPA'S PROPOSED ORDER REQUIRING THAT "INTEGRATED MILLS"--THOSE PAPER MILLS WHICH PRODUCE THEIR OWN PULP--SET ASIDE A RESERVE OF PULP FOR EMERGENCY USE BY NON-INTEGRATED MILLS PROBABLY WILL NOT AFFECT NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION.
A STATE DEPARTMENT REPRESENTATIVE, HERMAN BARGER, TOLD THE COMMITTEE THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAS TENTATIVE PLANS TO HELP PROVIDE A MINIMUM OF NEWSPRINT FOR PAPERS IN FRIENDLY COUNTRIES, "PARTICULARLY THOSE IN THE SHADOW OF COMMUNIST DOMINATION."

(350) NIGHT LEAD TAXES
BY FRANCIS J.KELLY

MAY 10 1951

WASHINGTON,MAY 9-(AP)-A $3,000,000,000 INCREASE IN INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAXES, RAISING RATES ACROSS THE BOARD FOR EVERY TAXPAYER, WAS TENTATIVELY VOTED TODAY BY THE HOUSE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE.
THE PLAN, STILL SUBJECT TO HOUSE AND SENATE APPROVAL, WOULD RAISE THE RATES IN EACH SURTAX BRACKET BY THREE PERCENTAGE POINTS.
THAT WOULD BE CONSIDERABLY MORE OF AN INCREASE FOR MOST PEOPLE THAN IT MAY LOOK AT FIRST GLANCE. BASED ON TAXES PAID NOW, THE ACTUAL INCREASE WOULD RANGE FROM ABOUT 15 PER CENT IN THE LOW BRACKETS TO ABOUT 3 PER CENT FOR PEOPLE WITH HALF-MILLION DOLLAR INCOMES.
(A MAN WITH A HALF MILLION DOLLAR INCOME NOW PAYS OVER $400,000 TAXES. A MUCH BIGGER PROPORTION THAT THE LITTLE FELLOW).

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY SNYDER HAD URGED AN INCREASE OF FOUR PERCENTAGE POINTS, WHICH HE ESTIMATED WOULD BRING IN AN ADDITIONAL $3,600,000,000 A YEAR.
THE PROPOSED RATE INCREASE, FIRST BIG POSITIVE STEP TOWARD GETTING THE EXTRA MONEY NEEDED TO PUT THE PREPAREDNESS DRIVE ON A PAY-AS-WE-GO BASIS, WAS AGREED UPON AFTER ALL-DAY DELIBERATIONS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.
FOR A SINGLE PERSON WITH NO DEPENDENTS AND A NET INCOME OF $2,000 A YEAR AFTER DEDUCTIONS BUT BEFORE PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS, THE TAX WOULD GO UP $42, FROM $280 TO $322.
A MARRIED PERSON WITH NO DEPENDENTS AND AN $8,000 NET INCOME NOW PAYS $1,416. HIS OBLIGATION WOULD BE $1,620 UNDER THE COMMITTEE'S PLAN, AN INCREASE OF $204.
FOR A MARRIED MAN WITH TWO DEPENDENTS AND A $15,000 NET INCOME, THE INCREASE WOULD BE $378, FROM $2,900 TO $3,278.
THE LOWEST RATE BRACKET, COVERING THE FIRST $2,000 OF SURTAX NET INCOME, WOULD RISE FROM 20 PER CENT TO 23 PER CENT. THE $2,000-$4,000 BRACKET RATE WOULD RISE FROM 22 TO 25 PER CENT; $4,000-$6,000 FROM 26 TO 29 PER CENT, $6,000-$8,000 FROM 30 TO 33 PER CENT, $8,000-$10,000 FROM 34 TO 37 PER CENT, AND SO ON.
IN ANOTHER DECISION AFFECTING MANY INDIVIDUALS, THE COMMITTEE TENTATIVELY APPROVED SPECIAL TAX TREATMENT FOR UNMARRIED PERSONS WHO NEVERTHELESS ARE THE HEADS OF FAMILIES. SUCH INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING WIDOWS WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN LIVING UNDER THE SAME ROOF, WOULD BE GRANTED APPROXIMATELY HALF THE TAX ADVANTAGE NOW ENJOYED BY MARRIED PERSONS UNDER THE INCOME SPLITTING PROVISIONS OF THE 1948 TAX LAW.
DETAILS REMAIN TO BE WORKED OUT, BUT THE COMMITTEE APPROVED THE IDEA IN PRINCIPLE.
THE TAX-WRITERS DID NOT DECIDE TODAY WHEN TO MAKE THE GENERAL INCOME TAX INCREASE EFFECTIVE.
HOWEVER, IT APPEARS UNLIKELY THAT THE COMMITTEE WILL PERFECT THE BILL BEFORE EARLY JUNE, AFTER WHICH IT MUST BE CONSIDERED BY BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS. THUS THERE SEEMS LITTLE LIKELIHOOD THE INCREASE COULD TAKE EFFECT BEFORE MID-YEAR, OR MORE PROBABLY SOME TIME IN THE FALL.

WAGE BOARD

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-THE NEW WAGE STABILIZATION BOARD, IN ITS FIRST ACTION, TODAY LOOSENED THE REQUIREMENTS FOR SO-CALLED "TANDEM" WAGE INCREASES WHICH ARE ATTACHED TO THE INCREASES GIVEN OTHER GROUPS OF WORKERS.

THE RULING WILL IMMEDIATELY RELEASE 82 OF THE 1,100 WAGE CASES PENDING BEFORE THE BOARD WHEN ITS 18 MEMBERS WERE SWORN IN YESTERDAY.

TANDEM CASES ARE THOSE IN WHICH THE RAISES OF SOME EMPLOYEE GROUPS DEPEND ON THE NEGOTIATIONS OR AGREEMENTS OF OTHER EMPLOYEE UNITS IN A PLANT OR AREA.

FOR EXAMPLE, WHITE COLLAR EMPLOYEES OFTEN GET THE SAME PAY BOOST NEGOTIATED FOR PRODUCTION WORKERS BY A UNION IN A PLANT. WHERE THAT RELATIONSHIP CAN BE PROVED, THE BOARD SAID IT WOULD OKAY THE WAGE INCREASES AUTOMATICALLY.

ACHESON-MCCARTHY

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-SECRETARY STATE ACHESON TODAY BRANDED AS ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE A CHARGE BY SENATOR MCCARTHY THAT HE IS TRYING TO GET THE NAVY TO REINSTATE A SCIENTIST SUSPENDED AS A "SECURITY RISK."

MCCARTHY, WISCONSIN REPUBLICAN AND BITTER CRITIC OF ACHESON, MADE THE ACCUSATION IN THE SENATE YESTERDAY. MCCARTHY SAID "TREMENDOUS PRESSURE" MAINLY FROM ACHESON AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT IS BEING EXERTED TO RESTORE STEPHEN BRUNAUER AS A NAVY EXPLOSIVES EXPERT.

BRUNAUER WAS SUSPENDED APRIL 10. MCCARTHY DECLARED THE NAVY ACTED BECAUSE WAS IT LEARNED DURING THE ATOMIC SPY TRIALS IN NEW YORK, THAT BRUNAUER "WAS ONE OF THE FIGURES IN THE SPY RING."

MRS. ESTHER BRUNAUER, WIFE OF THE SCIENTIST AND A STATE DEPARTMENT EMPLOYE WAS SUSPENDED AT THE SAME TIME PENDING COMPLETION OF A LOYALTY INVESTIGATION OF HER HUSBAND.

ACHESON, ASKED AT HIS NEWS CONFERENCE ABOUT MCCARTHY'S CHARGE, SAID THAT ANY SUCH STATEMENT THAT HE HAS BEEN EXERCISING PRESSURE IS ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE IN EVERY RESPECT.

THE SECRETARY SAID HE PERSONALLY HAD HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THE CASE AGAINST BRUNAUER OR HIS WIFE. HE ADDED THAT NO ONE IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAS HAD ANYTHING TO DO WITH IT.

BRUNAUER HAS SAID HE IS A "COMPLETELY LOYAL AMERICAN."

ACHESON WAS ASKED ALSO WHETHER HE WAS "UNHAPPY" (CQ) THAT MCCARTHY HAS LOST HIS PLACE AS A MEMBER OF THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE WHERE HE DEALTH DIRECTLY WITH STATE DEPARTMENT REQUESTS. ACHESON REPLIED WITH A SMILE THAT THIS MATTER WAS NOT WITHIN HIS JURISDICTION.

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-FEDERAL JUDGE ALEXANDER HOLTZOFF TODAY UPHELD THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE FOREIGN AGENTS REGISTRATION ACT.

WITH THAT RULING HE REFUSED TO DISMISS AN INDICTMENT AGAINST THE "PEACE INFORMATION CENTER" AND FIVE OF ITS FORMER OFFICERS. THE CENTER DISTRIBUTED THE STOCKHOLM PEACE APPEAL, WHICH THE GOVERNMENT HAS BRANDED AS A COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA TRICK.

THE ORGANIZATION IS CHARGED WITH FAILURE TO REGISTER UNDER THE ACT AND THE FIVE INDIVIDUALS WITH FAILURE TO CAUSE IT TO FILE THE REGISTRATION WITH THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT.

TRIAL HAS BEEN SET FOR NEXT MONDAY.

THE JUDGE RULED THAT THE LAW DOES NOT VIOLATE EITHER THE FIRST AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OR THE FIFTH, AS THE DEFENDANTS HAD ARGUED.

THE FIRST AMENDMENT PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND ASSEMBLY. THE FIFTH REQUIRES "DUE PROCESS OF LAW" WHEN A PERSON IS TO BE DEPRIVED OF LIFE, LIBERTY OR PROPERTY.

THE FIVE FORMER OFFICERS OF THE "PEACE INFORMATION CENTER" ARE DR. W. E. DU BOIS (CAPS D AND B), 82-YEAR-OLD NEGRO EDUCATOR AND AUTHOR; MRS. ELIZABETH MOOS, KRYLE ELKIN, ABBOTT SIMON AND MISS SYLVIA SOLOFF.

NIGHT LEAD-WOOL PRICES (250)

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT TODAY SET DOLLARS-AND-CENTS CEILING PRICES ON WOOL, GENERALLY 65 TO 70 PERCENT HIGHER THAN BEFORE THE OUTBREAK OF THE KOREAN WAR LAST JUNE.

OFFICIALS SAID THE ORDER WILL PROBABLY RESULT IN HIGHER PRICES FOR WOOL CLOTHING THIS FALL AND NEXT SPRING.

THE ORDER, EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY, FORBIDS DEALERS AND MANUFACTURERS TO PAY MORE THAN $3.35 A POUND FOR AN AVERAGE BASIC TYPE OF WOOL. FOR AVERAGE TOP WOOL, THE CEILING PRICE IS $4.13 A POUND.

PRICES WERE ALSO SET FOR ALPACA AND MOHAIR AND VARIOUS GRADES OF THOSE FIBRES.

OFFICIALS OF THE OFFICE OF PRICE CONTROL SAID THE ORDER SHOULD RESULT IN INCREASED WOOL IMPORTS. THEY NOTED THAT WOOL IMPORTS HAVE BEEN LOW IN RECENT MONTHS BECAUSE WORLD PRICES ON WOOL WERE HIGHER THAN CEILING PRICES IN THIS COUNTRY.

THESE OFFICIALS SAID AMERICAN DEALERS AND MANUFACTURERS CAN NOW GO OUT AND BUY WOOL IN THE WORLD MARKET BECAUSE WORLD WOOL PRICES, WHICH SHOT UPWARD 210 PER CENT IN NINE MONTHS, HAVE DROPPED OFF SHARPLY SINCE EARLY APRIL.

OPS SAID EVEN HIGHER PRICES FOR SUCH ITEMS AS WOOL SUITS AND COATS NEXT SPRING MAY BE AVERTED IF WORLD WOOL PRICES CONTINUE TO FALL. THE WORLD PRICE HAS GONE DOWN 21 PER CENT SINCE THE APRIL PEAK.

THE PRICE AGENCY IS NOW WORKING ON A SEPARATE REGULATION FOR WEARING APPAREL AS A SEQUEL TO THE MANUFACTURERS' PRICING ORDER.

DETAILS ARE STILL BEING WORKED OUT, BUT OFFICIALS SAID INCREASED COSTS ABSORBED BY MANUFACTURERS WILL HAVE A DEFINITE EFFECT ON RETAIL CLOTHING COSTS IN THE FUTURE.

IN ITS NEW CEILING ORDER, THE OPS SAID IN A STATEMENT:

"THE PEGGING OF WOOL COSTS TO A FIXED LEVEL SHOULD BE INSTRUMENTAL IN PREVENTION OF FURTHER INCREASES IN PRICES OF WOOL ON WORLD MARKETS."

OFFICIALS SAID THE NEW CEILING PRICES ARE FOR DOMESTIC AS WELL AS FOREIGN WOOLS. THE CEILINGS APPLY TO THE DELIVERED COST OF IMPORTED WOOL.

THE REGULATION SETS UP A SCALE OF PRICES FOR ORIGINAL BAG GREASY MOHAIR, MOHAIR MATCHINGS AND MOHAIR TOP AND NOILS.

IT PROVIDES A CEILING OF $2.28 A POUND FOR ORIGINAL BAG KID AND $1.81 FOR ADULT.

PRICES FOR MOHAIR MATCHINGS RANGE FROM 71 CENTS FOR LOW OFFS (BURRY) TO $3.18 FOR 40S IN THE KID, AND FROM 71 CENTS TO $2.23 FOR 30S IN THE ADULT.

B22WX (WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-THE NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY TODAY ISSUED RULES TO PREVENT EXCESS BUYING OR HOARDING OF STEEL, COPPER, OR ALUMINUM WHEN THOSE METALS GO UNDER ALLOCATION JULY 1.

THE METALS ARE TO BE ALLOCATED UNDER A "CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN," KNOWN AS CMP.

PURCHASE ORDERS OF MILITARY CONTRACTORS AND FIRMS IN "DEFENSE-SUPPORTING" INDUSTRIES MUST BE FILLED WHEN CERTIFIED AS CMP ALLOTMENTS. THE NEW REGULATIONS ARE INTENDED TO PREVENT OVER BUYING BY THESE PREFERRED METALS USERS.

IN GENERAL FORM, THE NEW INVENTORY CONTROL LIMITATIONS ARE NOT MARKEDLY DIFFERENT FROM THOSE NOW APPLIED TO THE THREE BASIC DEFENSE METALS.

STARTING AT MID-YEAR, NPA RULED, MANUFACTURERS MAY NOT ACCEPT STEEL BEYOND A 45-DAY OPERATING SUPPLY OR A "PRACTICABLE MINIMUM WORKING INVENTORY," WHICHEVER IS LESS.

IN THE CASE OF FIRMS BUYING STRUCTURAL STEEL FOR BUILDINGS, BRIDGES AND OTHER PROJECTS FOR WHICH STEEL NORMALLY IS CUT TO SPECIFICATIONS, THE BUYER MAY NOT TAKE DELIVERY MORE THAN 45 DAYS BEFORE THE METAL IS TO BE FABRICATED OR ASSEMBLED IN THE PROJECT.

ON COPPER AND ALUMINUM NPA WILL ENFORCE A 60-DAY INVENTORY LIMITATION.

THE ORDER REMINDS BUYERS THAT METAL ACCUMULATED IN EXCESS OF THESE QUANTITIES IS SUBJECT TO REQUISITION BY THE GOVERNMENT.

THE AGENCY ALSO ANNOUNCED THE RULES WHICH WILL GOVERN DEALERS AND DISTRIBUTORS OF THE THREE METALS. DISTRIBUTORS WILL BE REQUIRED TO ACCEPT ALL AUTHORIZED CMP ORDERS, AS WELL AS THOSE BEARING PRIORITY RATINGS, BUT ONLY IN THE QUANTITIES SPECIFIED IN THE EXISTING "SET-A-SIDE" ORDERS. THE LATTER REGULATIONS PROVIDE THAT SUPPLIERS NEED NOT ACCEPT PRIORITY ORDERS ABOVE A CERTAIN PERCENTAGE OF THEIR TOTAL OUTPUT.

THE NEW REGULATION ALSO DIRECTS THAT A DISTRIBUTOR MAY REJECT AN OTPUT.

THE NEW REGULATION ALSO DIRECTS THAT A DISTRIBUTOR MAY REJECT AN ORDER FOR STEEL, COPPER OR ALUMINUM IF IT DOES NOT CALL FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY, OR IF HE DOES NOT HAVE THE ITEM IN STOCK.

SULPHUR

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-THE WESTERN WORLD TENTATIVELY DECIDED TONIGHT TO START ALLOCATING SCARCE SULPHUR IN AN EFFORT TO HALT THE GLOBAL SCRAMBLE FOR EXISTING SUPPLIES.

A 10-NATION COMMITTEE RECOMMENDED THIS STEP AFTER REPORTING IT EXPECTS A SULPHUR SHORTAGE OF MORE THAN 1,000,000 (M) TONS IN 1951.

SULPHUR THUS BECAME THE FIRST STRATEGIC MATERIAL TO BE RECOMMENDED FOR INTERNATIONAL ALLOCATION SINCE WORLD WAR TWO ENDED.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE COMMITTEE WHICH HAS BEEN MEETING HERE FOR THE PAST THREE WEEKS SAID IT HAS RECOMMENDED "A POSSIBLE METHOD OF EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION FOR THE BALANCE OF 1951."

DETAILS OF THE ALLOCATION PLAN WERE KEPT SECRET.

THE 10 MEMBER GOVERNMENTS WERE ASKED TO EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS BEFORE THE END OF THIS MONTH IN ORDER TO SPEED PLANS FOR ALLOCATION IF ADOPTED, AS EXPECTED.

SULPHUR IS ONE OF THE KEY RAW MATERIALS URGENTLY NEEDED BY WESTERN NATIONS FOR BOTH REARMAMENT AND CIVILIAN PRODUCTION.

BRITAIN ESPECIALLY IS REPORTED SERIOUSLY CONCERNED OVER AN EXPECTED ACUTE SHORTAGE WHICH MIGHT SLOW DOWN BRITISH PRODUCTION.

THE 10-NATION COMMITTEE WHICH PROPOSED ALLOCATION OF SULPHUR WAS HEADED BY PIERRE E.JASPAR OF BELGIUM. OTHER COUNTRIES REPRESENTED ARE, AUSTRALIA, BRAZIL, CANADA, FRANCE, ITALY, NEW ZEALAND, SOUTH AFRICA, THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE UNITED STATES.

OFFICIALS CONNECTED WITH THE COMMITTEE SAID THE PROPOSED "EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION" DID NOT INCLUDE POSSIBLE ALLOCATION TO COMMUNIST COUNTRIES. AVAILABLE SUPPLIES, THEY SAID, WILL BE DIVIDED NOT ONLY AMONG THE 10 NATIONS ON THE COMMITTEE BUT ALSO NON-MEMBER COUNTRIES OF THE WESTERN WORLD.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE STEP SAID:

D148WX

"IN APPROACHING THE PROBLEM, THE COMMITTEE CONSIDERED, SO FAR AS POSSIBLE AT THIS TIME, A NUMBER OF FACTORS WHICH MIGHT BE PRESUMED TO INFLUENCE THE RESULT, SUCH AS, THE BASE PERIOD TO BE TAKEN, THE END USE TO WHICH THE MATERIAL IS PUT, THE AVAILABILITY OF SULPHUR-BEARING MATERIALS OTHER THAN NATIVE SULPHUR, THE TREND OF CONSUMPTION IN THE VARIOUS COUNTRIES, THE CONVERSION PROGRAMS NOW UNDER WAY IN CERTAIN COUNTRIES AND THE PARTICULAR DEMANDS OF DEFENSE."

THE SULPHUR COMMITTEE WHICH TOOK THE ACTION IS ONE OF SEVEN SET UP BY 24 WESTERN NATIONS TO CONSIDER MEANS OF BOOSTING PRODUCTION OF SCARCE MATERIALS AND ALLOCATIONS WHERE NECESSARY.

THE COMMITTEE ALREADY HAS RECOMMENDED STEPS TO MEMBER GOVERNMENTS FOR INCREASING PRODUCTION, SUBSTITUTION AND ENCOURAGING CONSERVATION OF SULPHUR.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT ADDED:

"THE COMMITTEE RECOGNIZED, HOWEVER, THAT THESE MEASURES WOULD NOT PROVIDE A REMEDY FOR THE IMMEDIATE SHORTAGE AND HAS, THEREFORE, CONSIDERED METHODS OF EFFECTIVE INTERNATIONAL DISTRIBUTION OF AVAILABLE SUPPLIES OF SULPHUR."

ICELAND
BY ELTON C. FAY
ASSOCIATED PRESS MILITARY AFFAIRS REPORTER
WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-STRATEGIC ICELAND'S AIRFIELDS WILL BE ALMOST USELESS FOR MODERN AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS AND JET FIGHTERS UNTIL AND UNLESS THEY CAN BE REBUILT.
NONE OF THE RUNWAYS OF THE FOUR FIELDS CONSTRUCTED DURING WORLD WAR II ARE LONG ENOUGH FOR HANDLING FULLY-LOADED WARPLANES LIKE THE B-36 OR THE SWIFT JET FIGHTERS, A CHECK TODAY INDICATED.
BUT ICELAND--WHERE UNITED STATES ARMY, NAVY AND AIR FORCES HAVE LANDED UNDER AN AGREEMENT WITH DENMARK (OWNER OF ICELAND) TO HELP DEFEND THE ISLAND UNDER THE NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY PROVISIONS--HAS TWO OTHER MAJOR FUNCTIONS IN GUARDING AGAINST POSSIBLE SOVIET ATTACK ACROSS THE ARCTIC:
1. AS LOCATION FOR RADAR AIR RAID WARNING STATIONS.
2. AS A BASE FOR SUBMARINES AND SURFACE CRAFT PATROLLING THE HIGH ARCTIC LATITUDES ON WATCH FOR AIRBORNE ATTACKERS.
EXTENSIVE HARBOR FACILITIES, INCLUDING FUEL STORAGE DUMPS AND UNLOADING PIERS, WERE BUILT BY THE UNITED STATES DURING WORLD WAR II AND PRESUMABLY ARE STILL USABLE AFTER SOME REPAIR AND REHABILITATION WORK.
ICELAND, LIKE ITS BIG NEIGHBOR GREENLAND, COULD HAVE ANOTHER VALUABLE USE IN THE FUTURE -- AS A LAUNCHING BASE FOR LONG-RANGE GUIDED MISSILES. HOWEVER, IN ADDITION TO THE QUESTION OF WHETHER DENMARK WOULD WANT HER TERRITORIES USED FOR OFFENSIVE WARFARE THERE IS THE FACT THAT REALLY LONG-RANGE GUIDED MISSILES SO FAR ARE ONLY EXPERIMENTAL GADGETS AND NOT ACTUAL WEAPONS.
THE LONGEST RUNWAYS ON ICELAND ARE AT THE KEFLAVIK AIRPORT -- FOUR STRIPS OF ABOUT 6,600 FEET. JET FIGHTERS AND HEAVY BOMBERS, TAKING OFF WITH ANYTHING EXCEPT A LIGHT LOAD OF FUEL AND FEW OR NO BOMBS, NEED FROM 8,000 TO 10,000 FEET OF RUNWAY.
THREE OTHER FIELDS WERE BUILT IN ICELAND DURING THE WAR -- KASSOS, PATTERSON AND REYKJAVIK. SOME OF THOSE STRIPS WERE ONLY 2,500 FEET AND THE LONGEST WAS 5,200.
GREENLAND, THE SUBJECT OF A RECENT AGREEMENT SIMILAR TO THAT FOR ICELAND, HAD THREE FIELDS -- ALL OF THEM ON THE SOUTHERN OR WESTERN COASTS. THE LONGEST STRIP THERE (AND THE ONLY ONE NOW USED BY THE U.S.) IS THE 6,500-FOOT RUNWAY AT NARSARSSUAK, NEAR THE SOUTH TIP OF GREENLAND.
IN THAT SAME GENERAL AREA, THE NAVY STARTED IN 1947 TO CONSTRUCT AT GRONDAL A SMALL NAVAL OPERATING BASE. LITTLE WAS DISCLOSED AT THAT TIME ABOUT THE PROJECT -- AND LESS HAS BEEN SAID SINCE. SUCH A BASE, HOWEVER, OBVIOUSLY WOULD BE USEFUL IN FUELING AND PROVIDING LIGHT SERVICE FOR SUBMARINES AND OTHER SCOUT CRAFT.
THE INITIAL 200-MAN FORCE THAT HAS LANDED IN ICELAND IS ONLY A TINY FRACTION OF THE APPROXIMATE 50,000 THERE AT ONE TIME IN WORLD WAR II. OF THAT TOTAL PEAK STRENGTH, ABOUT 32,000 WERE ARMY PERSONNEL.

(400) TARIFFS
WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES HAS AGREED TO LOWER ITS TARIFF WALLS FOR NEARLY HALF A BILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF PRODUCTS A YEAR FROM 17 WESTERN COUNTRIES.
IN RETURN, THOSE COUNTRIES HAVE AGREED TO MAINTAIN PRESENT RATES OR CHARGE LOWER ENTRY DUTIES ON OVER A BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR OF U.S. PRODUCTS.
TTHE RECIPROCAL GAINS WERE MADE IN A SEVEN-MONTH PUT-AND-TAKE SESSION ENDED APRIL 21, AT TORQUAY, ENGLAND, ATTENDED BY 34 NATIONS WHO DO 80 PERCENT OF THE WORLD'S TRADE. IT WAS THE THIRD SUCH SESSION AT WHICH WESTERN NATIONS MADE A CONCERTED EFFORT TO WHITTLE DOWN THE TARIFF BARRIERS WHICH BLOCK INTERNATIONAL TRADE.
TARIFFS, FOOR THE MOST PART, ARE "PROTECTIVE." EACH NATION TRIES TO PROTECT ITS OWN INDUSTRIES BY CHARGING A DUTY--TARIFF-ON PRODUCTS FROM OTHER COUNTRIES. A U.S. RECIPROCAL TRADE ACT ALLOWS THE PRESIDENT TO CUT TARIFFS CHARGED BY THE UNITED STATES IF OTHER COUNTRIES AGREE TO LOWER THEIR TARIFFS AGAINST AMERICAN GOODS.
THE STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCED THE TORQUAY AGREEMENTS LAST NIGHT IN A 474-PAGE BOOK GIVING DETAILS AND HAILING THE MULTILATERAL PACT AS "A VERY SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCE IN THE . . . RELAXATION OF UNNECESS-ARTY RESTRICTIONS ON WORLD COMMERCE."

THE DEPARTMENT SAID THE U.S. MADE CONCESSIONS AMOUNTING TO $419,271,000 TRADE A YEAR, AND AGREED NOT TO RAISE DUTIES ON ANOTHER $59,305,000 WORTH OF IMPORTS.
THE 17 NATIONS WHICH GOT CUTS IN U.S. TARIFFS ON THEIR PRODUCTS AGREED TO LOWER THEIR DUTIES--OR NOT TO RAISE PRESENT ONES--ON $1,157,000,000 WORTH OF U.S. PRODUCTS A YEAR.
WESTERN GERMANY--PARTICIPATING FOR THE FIRST TIME--AND CANADA WERE THE CHIEF GIVERS AND TAKERS WITH THE U.S. THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID WESTERN GERMANY GRANTED CONCESSIONS ON $557,594,000 A YEAR OF AMERICAN GOODS. CANADA PROMISED LOWER DUTIES ON $290,049,000 OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS.
BY TERMS OF THE RECIPROCAL TRADE ACT CONCESSIONS GRANTED TO ONE NATION ON A PRODUCT ARE EXTENDED TO ALL OTHER NATIONS, SO THE CUTS GIVEN FOR PRODUCTS OF THE 17 NATIONS--NONE OF THEM COMMUNIST--WILL APPLY TO THE SAME PRODUCT WHEN SENT TO THE U.S. BY ANY OTHER NATION. BUT IN MOST CASES, THE 17 NATIONS ARE THE CHIEF SUPPLIERS. THE HOUSE HAS APPROVED AND THE SENATE IS CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN THE LAW WHICH WOULD FREEZE COMMUNIST NATIONS OUT OF THE BENEFITS.
INCLUDED AMONG U.S. CONCESSIONS ARE IMPORTS OF LEAD, ZINC, CANADIAN-TYPE WHISKEY, CIGARET LEAF TOBACCO, ALUMINUM, LONG-STAPLE COTTON, PRECIOUS AND SEMI-PRECIOUS STONES, LACES AND EMBROIDERIES, FLOWER BULBS, SUGAR (EXCEPT FROM CUBA AND THE PHILIPPINES), CHEESE AND SOME FISHES.
ALMOST EVERYTHING THE U.S. SENDS ABROAD WAS ON THE LIST OF CONCESSIONS GRANTED THIS COUNTRY. PRINCIPAL ITEMS WERE WHEAT, FLOUR, CORN, COTTON, LARD, MEAT PRODUCTS, DRIED, CANNED AND FRESH FRUIT, CHEMICALS, MACHINERY, ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT AND AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

BY MARGARET KERNODLE
WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-A TOBACCO-CHEWING SOUTH CAROLINA DEMOCRAT, JAMES PRIOLEAU RICHARDS, IS TAKING OVER AS CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE.
"I RECKON YOU'D CALL ME A FELLOW WHO'D LIKE TO STAY OUT OF WORLD RESPONSIBILITIES BUT REALIZES THE UNITED STATES CAN'T STAY OUT OF IT IF IT WANTS TO," HE DRAWLED TODAY.
"I'M CERTAINLY NOT AN ISOLATIONIST ALTHOUGH I'VE DIFFERED WITH THE ADMINISTRATION FROM TIME TO TIME ON SOME FOREIGN POLICIES. I DON'T THINK I'M AN INTERVENTIONIST."
RICHARDS HAS BEEN ACTING AS HEAD OF THE COMMITTEE MUCH OF THIS YEAR BECAUSE OF THE ILLNESS OF REP. KEE (D-WVA), THE CHAIRMAN, WHO DIED YESTERDAY.
ASKED IN AN INTERVIEW HOW HE FEELS ABOUT PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S FIRING OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR, RICHARDS REPLIED:
"IN VIEW OF THE CLASH BETWEEN MACARTHUR AND THE PRESIDENT AND JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, THE FIRING OF MACARTHUR WAS INEVITABLE. BUT I HATED TO SEE HIM GO BECAUSE HE PROVED A GREAT GENERAL AND A SUCCESSFUL ADMINISTRATOR.
"SO FAR AS MY VIEWS IN REGARD TO THE PACIFIC ARE CONCERNED, I FELT ALL ALONG WE MADE MANY MISTAKES BUT THE FACT REMAINS THAT THE PACIFIC IS NOT THE PRINCIPAL AREA OF CONFLICT WITH COMMUNISM.
"THE CENTER OF COMMUNISM IS STILL MOSCOW, NOT PEIPING. THE MOST IMPORTANT VALLEY CONTINUES TO BE THE RUHR, NOT THE YANGTSE.
"IF CONFLICTS COME WITH FORCES OF COMMUNISM, THE WORLD OVER, WE'VE GOT TO DEFEAT IT AT THE SOURCE OF ITS POWER. THAT'S EUROPE."
RICHARDS SAID HE HAS NO "ILLUSION ABOUT EVER TRYING TO GET ALONG WITH COMMUNISM AND THE RUSSIANS UNLESS WE ARE STRONG. WE MADE THE MISTAKE OF THINKING WE COULD GET ALONG WITH COMMUNISTS." HE ADDED:
"IF WE ARE GOING TO STAY OUT OF THE BIG FIGHT -- I MEAN OUT OF ANOTHER WORLD WAR, WE HAVE TO STAY STRONG.
"I'M FOR HELPING ANY NATION THAT IS SINCERE IN JOINING HANDS WITH US AND HELPING BY USING THEIR OWN RESOURCES. IF THEY DON'T DO THAT, CHARGE THEM OFF AS A LIABILITY, NOT AN ASSET. THERE ARE SOME SO-CALLED DEMOCRATIC NATIONS LIKE THAT."
AS FOR HIS PLANS AS COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN, RICHARDS SAID, "I'LL GO SLOW IN THE COMMITTEE. JUDGE KEE'S PLACE WILL BE HARD TO FILL. I HAVE NO CHANGES IN MIND."

NIGHT LEAD BEEF PRICES (410)
CHICAGO, MAY 9-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT'S NEW BEEF PRICE ROLLBACK PROGRAM WENT INTO EFFECT TODAY. THERE WERE SOME CUTS IN WHOLESALE PRICES BUT FEWER ANIMALS WERE SHIPPED TO MARKET.
HOUSEWIVES IN SOME CITIES MAY NOTICE A FEW MINOR REDUCTIONS IN BEEF PRICES STARTING MONDAY. HOWEVER, NO IMPORTANT RETAIL PRICE CHANGE IS EXPECTED UNTIL AUG. 1. RETAIL CEILINGS WILL BE ROLLED BACK FOUR TO FIVE CENTS A POUND THEN WITH ANOTHER FOUR TO FIVE CENTS SLASH DUE OCT. 1.
TODAY, DOLLARS AND CENTS PRICE CEILINGS WERE PLACED ON WHOLESALE BEEF PRICES. THAT MEANT RETAILERS BOUGHT THEIR BEEF AT OR BELOW A PRICE CEILING FIXED BY GOVERNMENT ORDER.
A SIMILAR PRICE CEILING FIXED BY THE GOVERNMENT WILL GO INTO EFFECT MONDAY IN RETAIL MEAT SHOPS. THESE PRICES WILL VARY SLIGHTLY IN THE VARIOUS GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATIONS AND IN THE TYPES OF STORES.
MEANWHILE CATTLE RECEIPTS AT THE COUNTRY'S 12 LEADING MARKETS LAGGED FOR THE THIRD DAY IN A ROW. THEY TOTAL 113,300 THE FIRST THREE DAYS OF THIS WEEK, COMPARED WITH 156,700 THE SAME THREE DAYS A WEEK AGO AND 140,700 A YEAR AGO. THE DECLINE FROM LAST WEEK AMOUNTS TO 28 PER CENT.
IN THE CHICAGO WHOLESALE MEAT MARKET, THE PRICES OF ALL CLASSES OF BEEF DECLINED FROM A WEEK AGO TO CONFORM WITH THE CEILING. GOOD TO PRIME BEEF WAS $1 TO $3 A HUNDRED POUNDS LOWER THAN A WEEK AGO WHILE COMMERCIAL GRADES WERE $5 TO $6 LOWER.
IN THE PHILADELPHIA MARKET, PRIME STEER BEEF WAS $1 TO $1.80 LOWER THAN YESTERDAY A HUNDRED POUNDS WHILE CHOICE AND GOOD GRADES DECLINED 55 CENTS TO $1. THE OPA PERMITTED A DELAY UNTIL FRIDAY FOR FULL COMPLIANCE, HOWEVER, AND FURTHER DECLINES WILL BE NECESSARY TO BRING PRICES TO CEILING LIMITS.
WHOLESALE PRICES WERE UNCHANGED IN THE NEW YORK MARKET.
TRADE SOURCES SAID THE CEILING GENERALLY WOULD PLACE WHOLESALE BEEF PRICES AT THE PRICE LEVEL EXISTING IN FEBRUARY BUT BELOW THOSE OF MARCH AND APRIL.

THIS IS THE SCHEDULE OF STEPS TO BE TAKEN UNDER THE GOVERNMENT'S BEEF PRICE ROLLBACK PROGRAM:

COLUMBUS, O., MAY 9-(AP)-ARE YOU TROUBLED BY WAR JITTERS AND INFLATION BLUES?
THEN LET THE LETTERS FROM A MARINE IN KOREA BOLSTER YOUR MORALE.
PFC.DANIEL D.DUFFEY OF COLUMBUS IS CONDUCTING A ONE-MAN CAMPAIGN THROUGH THE MAILS TO KEEP UP SPIRITS ON THE HOME FRONT. HIS MOTHER, MRS.RICHARD B.SHERTS (CQ), SAYS THE LETTERS HAVE BEEN COMING FOR EIGHT MONTHS.
SHE SAYS HE MAKES THE LETTERS CHEERFUL BY USING "HA, HA" PHRASES FOR PUNCTUATION MARKS.
ONE LETTER TOLD HOW A MARINE CALMLY WENT AHEAD GETTING HIS HAIR CUT DURING A NORTH KOREAN BANZAI (SUICIDE) CHARGE. DUFFEY WROTE:
"THE BULLETS WERE FLYING AROUND THIS GUY GETTING THE HAIRCUT. THEY DIDN'T BOTHER HIM, BUT THE GOOK (A CAPTURED NORTH KOREAN) WAS HACKIN' THE HECK OUT OF HIS HAIR BECAUSE HE WAS SO SCARED. HA, HA."
DUFFEY INJURED HIS HAND IN FEBRUARY WHEN HE FELL DOWN A MOUNTAINSIDE. THREE WEEKS LATER HE WAS BACK IN COMBAT. THEN HE WAS WOUNDED IN THE LEFT FOOT, NEAR CHUNCHON. HE NOW IS IN A NAVAL HOSPITAL IN JAPAN.
THE MARINE ONCE WROTE THAT IF EVERYONE BACK HOME WAS AS HEALTHY AS HE WAS, "YOU'LL PUT THE DOCS OUT OF BUSINESS."
HE HEARD ABOUT OHIO'S BATTLE LAST WINTER WITH BELOW ZERO TEMPERATURES AND ICE-GLAZED STREETS AND WROTE:
"WELL, YOU WATCH THOSE ICY STREETS. YOU'RE WORSE OFF THERE THAN I AM HERE."

"IT'S WONDERFUL," SAID THE 38-YEAR-OLD GENERAL, WHEN ASKED HOW IT FELT TO BE HOME AFTER 10 MONTHS FIGHTING IN KOREA.
HOW ABOUT THE FIGHTING IN KOREA?
"IT'S LIKE A YO-YO; UP AND DOWN."
THE LATE LT. GEN. WALTON H. WALKER, THEN COMMANDER OF THE U. S. EIGHTH ARMY IN KOREA, CALLED MICHAELIS, THEN A COLONEL, HIS "FIRE CHIEF."
WALKER SAID THAT MANY TIMES HE SENT MICHAELIS AND HIS 27TH INFANTRY REGIMENT WOLFHOUNDS TO CRITICAL SPOTS IN THE LINE AND THE WOLFHOUND "FIRE BRIGADE" ALWAYS DID THE JOB.
LATER, MICHAELIS WAS AWARDED THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS. WAS PROMOTED TO BRIGADIER GENERAL, AND LATELY WAS ASSISTANT COMMANDER OF THE U. S. 25TH INFANTRY DIVISION.
MICHAELIS SAID TONIGHT THE FIGHTING MAN IN KOREA IS TIRED, BUT "AS LONG AS WE ARE CONTINUING TO KILL CHINESE, IT'S WORTHWHILE."
"THE AMERICAN AIR FORCE IS ONE OF THE BIGGEST REASONS FOR OUR BEING ABLE TO STAY IN KOREA," HE SAID. "BUT IT'S NOT JUST THE AIR FORCE, IT'S NOT THE ARMY---IT'S ONE BIG TEAM."
MICHAELIS SAID THE TROOP ROTATION PLAN HAS BOOSTED MORALE AMONG THE FIGHTING MEN.

(ADVANCE)...NEW YORK, MAY 9-(AP)-THE IRON AGE, METALWORKING TRADE WEEKLY, SAID TODAY IT EXPECTS THE "FREE MARKET" SUPPLY OF STEEL WILL SHRINK TO ABOUT 25 PER CENT OF TOTAL OUTPUT BY THE FOURTH QUARTER OF 1951.
THE REST WILL BE GOVERNED BY PROVISIONS OF THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN (CMP) WHICH GOES INTO EFFECT JULY 1.
"FIRST HOPE OF ALL CONSUMERS IS TO GET THEIR METAL PROGRAMMED UNDER CMP," THE PUBLICATION SAID. "BUT THE WAY THINGS STAND NOW SOME KNOW THEY HAVEN'T A CHANCE. OTHERS WILL BE ON THE DOUBTFUL LIST FOR SOME TIME. THESE CONSUMERS KNOW THEY FACE TOUGH CUTBACKS ON THE AMOUNT OF STEEL THEY WILL BE PERMITTED TO USE--EVEN IF THEY CAN LOCATE IT IN THE FREE MARKET."
THE IRON AGE REPORTED THAT "BOTH CONSUMERS AND PRODUCERS GENERALLY FEEL THAT IF RESTRICTIONS ON USE ARE NECESSARY THEY SHOULD CONTINUE TO FOLLOW THE PRESENT PATTERN--THAT IS, TO CONTROL THE AMOUNT OF METAL WHICH MAY BE USED BUT NOT THE NUMBER OF UNITS WHICH MAY BE MADE FROM IT."
AUTOMOBILE PRODUCERS, IT SAID, ARE TOO BUSY LOOKING FOR ALLOY AND CARBON BARS, AND SPRING STEELS AND TESTING SUBSTITUTES, INCLUDING BORON TREATED STEELS, TO PAY TOO MUCH HEED TO THE FURTHER REDUCTION IN STEEL USE FOR AUTOS.
THE TRADE WEEKLY SAID: "ONE LARGE PRODUCER OF HEAVY FORGING ALLOY BARS REPORTS THAT ONLY 26 PER CENT OF ITS ORDERS BOOKED FOR AUGUST WILL BE 'FREE' TONNAGE. THEY SAY SPRING STEEL WILL BE ONLY A LITTLE BETTER. REQUIREMENTS OF 'ESSENTIAL' INDUSTRIES ARE ALMOST CERTAIN TO EAT INTO EVEN THIS SMALL PERCENTAGE OF UNCONTROLLED TONNAGE.
"IT WON'T MAKE MUCH DIFFERENCE HOW MUCH OTHER STEEL AUTO PEOPLE FIND, IT WON'T BE OF MUCH HELP TO THEM IF THEY CAN'T BREAK THESE BOTTLENECKS. COLD-ROLLED SHEETS ARE NOW BEING TRADED 2 FOR 1 FOR ALLOY BARS."
STEELMAKING OPERATIONS THIS WEEK WERE PLACED AT 104 PER CENT OF RATED CAPACITY, UNCHANGED FROM LAST WEEK'S RECORD PACE.

BY DON HUTH

TOKYO, FRIDAY, MAY 11-(AP)-FRESH RED FORCES STREAMED INTO BUILDUP AREAS ALONG THE WESTERN AND CENTRAL FRONTS TODAY. RESISTANCE AGAINST AGGRESSIVE ALLIED PATROLS STIFFENED GENERALLY ACROSS THE PENINSULA.

AN EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN REPORTED "A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT" OF RED MOVEMENT EAST OF MUNSAN, SOME 10 MILES BELOW PARALLEL 38 AND 20 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

AP CORRESPONDENT GEORGE MCARTHUR, ON THE WEST-CENTRAL FRONT, SAID ALLIED BOMBERS RAN INTO HEAVY ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE LAST NIGHT IN ATTACKS ON A BUILDUP IN THE KAPYONG AREA.

KAPYONG IS 12 MILES SOUTH OF THE PARALLEL AND 32 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. MCARTHUR REPORTED THE CHINESE EVIDENTLY HAVE SHIFTED EAST AFTER WITHDRAWING NORTH OF THE OLD KOREAN CAPITAL.

FIELD COMMANDERS EXPECT A RENEWAL OF THE BIG RED SPRING OFFENSIVE AT ANY TIME IN THIS BATTLE OF KOREA.

GEN. MATTHEW R. RIDGWAY SAID THURSDAY THE BATTLE MARKED A TURNING OF THE TIDE AGAINST WORLD COMMUNISM.

MAY 11 1951

THE STIFFEST RED OPPOSITION ALONG THE 120-MILE FRONT WAS REPORTED NORTH OF UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, AND NORTHEAST OF INJE, ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT ABOVE PARALLEL 38.

AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON, AT EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, SAID AN ALLIED TANK-INFANTRY PATROL WAS SLOWED BY MINEFIELDS AND HEAVY RED SMALL ARMS FIRE NORTH OF UIJONGBU THURSDAY.

THE RED BUILDUP EAST OF MUNSAN--BETWEEN THAT RUBBLED CITY AND UIJONGBU-- WAS A NEW ONE. AN ALLIED PATROL PUNCHED INTO MUNSAN THURSDAY AND FOUND THE REDS HAD WITHDRAWN. PLANES SPOTTED THE REDS TO THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST OF MUNSAN LATER.

ON THE WEST-CENTRAL FRONT, CHINESE WERE SPOTTED MOVING ALONG THE PUKHAN RIVER TO ASSEMBLY AREAS SOUTHEAST OF KAPYONG. EUNSON REPORTED IT WAS THE FIRST RED BUILD-UP OF ANY SIZE THERE SINCE THE RED OFFENSIVE BEGAN APRIL 22 AND FIZZLED OUT ABOUT 10 DAYS LATER.

"THE BUILDUPS CONFIRMED FIELD COMMANDERS' BELIEF THAT THE REDS' NEXT DRIVE WOULD COME IN TWO MOVES," EUNSON ADDED. "ONE, A HEAD-ON SMASH AT THE CAPITAL (SEOUL) AND THE OTHER AN ENCIRCLING MOVE EAST OF THE CITY."

ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT, SIX BRISK SKIRMISHES WERE REPORTED EAST OF INJE. INJE IS ABOUT FIVE MILES NORTH OF PARALLEL 38 AND SOME 25 MILES INLAND FROM THE EAST COAST.

REPUBLIC OF KOREA (ROK) TROOPS BATTLED THE REDS HAND-TO-HAND IN ONE SKIRMISH AFTER ARTILLERY FAILED TO DISLODGE THEM FROM THEIR BUNKERS, EUNSON REPORTED.

THE EIGHTH ARMY ESTIMATED 1,080 REDS WERE KILLED OR WOUNDED ON ALL SECTORS THURSDAY. SOME 213 PRISONERS WERE TAKEN AT THE FRONT AND AN ADDITIONAL 480 KOREAN RED PRISONERS CAPTURED IN VARIOUS SECTIONS OF SOUTH KOREA.

IN WASHINGTON, THE NOMINATION OF RIDGWAY FROM LIEUTENANT GENERAL TO FULL GENERAL WAS APPROVED BY THE SENATE SHORTLY AFTER THE UNITED NATIONS COMMANDED REVIEWED ALLIED SUCCESSES IN KOREA.

RIDGWAY SAID THAT, BECAUSE OF THOSE SUCCESSES, HISTORY MIGHT RECORD "THAT THE CREST OF THE COMMUNIST WAVE HAS BEEN BROKEN."

HIS MESSAGE WAS ADDRESSED TO LT. GEN. JAMES A. VAN FLEET, EIGHTH ARMY COMMANDER WHOSE ARMORED PATROLS PUNCHED INTO MUNSAN, 21 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL AND 10 MILES SOUTH OF THE PARALLEL.

VAN FLEET HAD CONGRATULATED RIDGWAY ON HIS NOMINATION TO FULL GENERAL BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN. RIDGWAY TOLD VAN FLEET IT WAS "QUITE POSSIBLE" HISTORY WOULD SHOW THAT THE FLOOD OF COMMUNIST AGGRESSION, "REACHING ITS HIGH MARK ON YOUR FRONT, THEREAFTER BEGAN ITS RECESSION."

VAN FLEET HAD SAID EARLIER THAT HE FELT MORE CONFIDENT OF WHIPPING THE REDS NOW THAN HE DID AT THE OUTSET OF THE CHINESE AND KOREAN RED OFFENSIVE APRIL 22. AFTER 10 DAYS AND LOSSES OF AN ESTIMATED 75,000 MEN, THE REDS BEGAN A WITHDRAWAL THAT--IN MOST SECTORS--STILL CONTINUES.

LT.GEN.EDWARD M.ALMOND, COMMANDER OF THE U.S. 10TH CORPS, OBSERVED THAT THE CHINESE ARMIES ALONG KOREA'S MID-SECTION WERE "WILTING ON THE VINE" FOR LACK OF SUPPLIES.

RED SUPPLY LINES HAVE BEEN HIT 'ROUND-THE-CLOCK BY ALLIED FIGHTERS AND BOMBERS. MORE THAN 650 SORTIES WERE FLOWN BY DUSK THURSDAY.

ALMOND CAUTIONED THAT THE REDS PRESUMABLY WILL TRY TO RENEW THEIR OFFENSIVE, HOWEVER.

THE TANK-INFANTRY COLUMN STABBED INTO MUNSAN AND WITHDREW THURSDAY AFTER SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS ERASED A THREAT BY 6,000 KOREAN REDS TO FLANK SEOUL FROM THE WEST.

AN EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID THE REDS WERE KILLED OR ROUTED IN THREE DAYS OF FIGHTING.

THAT ACTION WAS WEST OF THE SEOUL-MUNSAN ROAD AND SOME 20 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE OLD KOREAN CAPITAL. TO THE EAST, ANOTHER

NORTHWEST OF THE OLD KOREAN CAPITAL. TO THE EAST, ANOTHER ALLIED ARMORED COLUMN RAMMED AT LEAST EIGHT MILES NORTH OF UIJONGBU, TO WITHIN 10 MILES OR LESS OF THE 38TH PARALLEL.

THE PATROL HIT ONLY A RED SCREENING FORCE. IT KILLED AN ESTIMATED 20 COMMUNISTS. (FIELD DISPATCHES DID NOT MAKE CLEAR WHETHER THIS PATROL ALSO WITHDREW OR PROBED AHEAD, EVEN CLOSER TO THE PARALLEL.)

INCREASED RED RESISTANCE NORTHEAST OF UIJONGBU WAS REPORTED BY AP CORRESPONDENT GEORGE MCARTHUR. ALLIED PATROLS IN THE KAPYONG AREA WERE STOPPED BY COMMUNIST LAND MINES AND AUTOMATIC WEAPONS FIRE.

A209KX

MAY 11 1951

STIFFER OPPOSITION WAS REPORTED ALSO BY AP CORRESPONDENT JIM BECKER ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT. CENSORS KNOCKED OUT 19 LINES OF HIS FIELD DISPATCH WHICH REPORTED A FIVE-HOUR SCRAP WITH ABOUT 300 REDS NORTH-EAST OF CHUNCHON.

"THE ENEMY REMAINED DEEPLY DUG IN THEIR HILLSIDE POSITIONS," BECKER REPORTED.

CHUNCHON, EIGHT MILES BELOW PARALLEL 38, IS A KEY JUNCTION ON THE LATERAL ROAD TO SEOUL. ALLIED PATROLS HAVE RE-ENTERED IT SEVERAL TIMES SINCE THE RED WITHDRAWAL LAST WEEK.

FARTHER EAST, ALLIED PATROLS RE-ENTERED INJE--FIVE MILES NORTH OF THE PARALLEL--WITHOUT FINDING ANY REDS. U.N. FORWARD ELEMENTS ARE INSIDE RED KOREA AT SEVERAL PLACES BETWEEN INJE AND THE 25-AIR-MILE STRETCH TO THE EAST COAST.

ON THE EAST COASTAL FRONT, THE EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED MODERATE RED RESISTANCE.

IN FAR NORTH KOREA, F-86 SABRE JETS PATROLLED ABOVE THE SOUTH BANK OF THE YALU RIVER.

THE AMERICAN SWEPT-WING JETS SPOTTED RED PLANES IN THEIR MANCHURIAN SANCTUARY ACROSS THE BIG STREAM, BUT THE COMMUNISTS DIDN'T CHALLENGE. U.N. POLICY FORBIDS ALLIED ATTACKS ACROSS THE YALU.

THE U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE CONTINUED ITS STUDY OF PHOTOGRAPHS FROM WEDNESDAY'S 321-PLANE RAID ON SINUIJU AIRBASE FOR A MORE ACCURATE ESTIMATE OF DAMAGE.

IT WAS DESCRIBED AS THE BIGGEST SINGLE AIR STRIKE OF THE KOREAN WAR. SINUIJU IS IN NORTHWEST KOREA, JUST ACROSS THE

SECOND LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (120)
BY OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, FRIDAY, MAY 11-(AP)- ALLIED FORCES CONTINUED THURSDAY NIGHT TO ROLL BACK THE HARD-HIT REDS ON THE KOREAN FRONT-- A BATTLE WHICH LT. GEN. MATTHEW B. RIDGWAY SAID MAY HAVE STARTED THE DEFEAT OF COMMUNISM'S GRASP FOR WORLD POWER.
ARMORED PATROLS STABBED INTO MUNSAN, 21 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL, AFTER WIPING OUT A KOREAN RED THREAT TO FLANK THE RUBBLED REPUBLICAN CAPITAL. ANOTHER TANK COLUMN PUNCHED WITHIN 10 MILES OF PARALLEL 38 19 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL AND EIGHT MILES NORTH OF UIJONGBU.

GENERAL RIDGWAY, SUPREME ALLIED COMMANDER REPLACING GENERAL MACARTHUR, SAID HISTORY POSSIBLY WILL RECORD THAT THE U.N. ACTION IN KOREA HAS BROKEN "THE CREST OF THE COMMUNIST WAVE."

TANKS AND SOUTH KOREAN INFANTRYMEN HUNTED THROUGH MUNSAN WITHOUT OPPOSITION, THEN WITHDREW.
ELSEWHERE ALONG THE 100 MILE FRONT THE GREATEST OBSTACLES ENCOUNTERED BY PROBING TANK PATROLS WERE MINE FIELDS COVERED BY SMALL ARMS FIRE.
CHINESE ARMIES ARE "WILTING ON THE VINE" BECAUSE OF LACK OF SUPPLIES, SAID LT.GEN.EDWARD M.ALMOND, COMMANDER OF THE U.S. 10TH CORPS.
THE REDS HAVE WITHDRAWN TO KEEP OUT OF RANGE OF U.N. ARTILLERY. NEVERTHELESS, ALMOND CAUTIONED, THEY PRESUMABLY ARE PREPARING FOR ANOTHER ATTACK.
"WE ARE PREPARED FOR THEM," HE SAID. "WE ARE KILLING LARGE QUANTITIES OF THE ENEMY AND WILL KILL THEM IN THE FUTURE."

LT.GEN. JAMES A.VAN FLEET, U.N. GROUND COMMANDER, EMPHASIZED THE POINT. VAN FLEET SAID HIS MEN ARE IN EXCELLENT SPIRIT, AT THE HIGHEST PEAK OF DETERMINATION, AND "WE ARE READY FOR THE ENEMY NOW AND AT ANY TIME IN THE FUTURE."

AN EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID 6,000 NORTH KOREAN REDS WHO HAD THREATENED TO OUTFLANK SEOUL WERE EITHER KILLED OR ROUTED.
SOUTH KOREANS WERE MOPPING UP REMNANTS OF THIS FORCE THURSDAY WEST OF THE SEOUL-MUNSAN ROAD. AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH SAID REDS, FIGHTING A DELAYING ACTION, WERE FIRING DOWN ON THE REPUBLICANS FROM THE HILLS.
THE TANK-INFANTRY PATROL ON THE HIGHWAY RAN INTO NO OPPOSITION. ON A NEIGHBORING HIGHWAY BETWEEN UIJONGBU AND THE 38TH PARALLEL, ANOTHER ARMORED FORCE HIT A SMALL CHINESE SCREENING UNIT 19 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL.
OTHER ARMORED FORCES ROAMED THE CENTRAL FRONT, REENTERED CHUNCHON 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL, AND CLANKED INTO INJE ON THE EASTERN FRONT WITHOUT OPPOSITION.
THE FIFTH AIR FORCE REPORTED IT STILL WAS STUDYING THE RESULTS OF WEDNESDAY'S RAID ON SINUIJU AIR FIELD BY 312 U.N. PLANES BUT IT WAS CLEAR THEY INFLICTED "CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE."
EIGHT MARINE PLANES WERE HIT IN THE RAID, THE GREATEST AIR STRIKE OF THE WAR. BUT NOT A SINGLE RAIDING PILOT WAS SCRATCHED, THE AIR FORCE SAID.
AMERICAN F-86 SABRE JETS FLEW PATROL OVER SINUIJU THURSDAY, WITHIN SIGHT OF RUSSIAN-TYPE JETS PARKED ON AN AIR FIELD ACROSS THE BORDER IN MANCHURIA. THE RED PLANES REMAINED SAFELY ON THE GROUND.

THURSDAY 275 U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE FIGHTERS AND BOMBERS ROARED OUT BEFORE NOON TO STRIKE AT RAIL YARDS IN HALF A DOZEN NORTH KOREAN INDUSTRIAL CITIES.
IN GROUND ACTIONS WEDNESDAY THE RETREATING REDS SUFFERED 2,130 CASUALTIES, THE EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED.
SIMULTANEOUSLY THE RED RADIO AT PYONGYANG ASSERTED THE REDS KILLED OR CAPTURED 20,792 U.N. TROOPS BETWEEN APRIL 22 AND APRIL 30. THIS APPROXIMATED THE HEIGHT OF THE COMMUNIST SPRING OFFENSIVE. THE ALLIED COMMAND HAS MADE NO ANNOUNCEMENT OF ITS LOSSES FOR THAT PERIOD. THE U.S. DEFENSE DEPARTMENT HAS REPORTED 2,311 AMERICAN CASUALTIES FOR THE TWO WEEKS ENDED MAY 4. THIS DID NOT INVOLVE OTHER ALLIED LOSSES, INCLUDING A SOUTH KOREAN DIVISION THAT COLLAPSED OR A BRITISH BRIGADE THAT WAS BADLY CUT UP.
THE U.N. COMMAND ESTIMATED RED LOSSES FOR THE NINE-DAY OFFENSIVE AT 75,000 MEN.

A40FX
THE PYONGYANG BROADCAST SAID 81 ALLIED PLANES WERE SHOT DOWN DURING THE PERIOD, 4,161 RIFLES AND 498 AUTOMOBILES CAPTURED, 76 U.N. TANKS DESTROYED AND 39 OTHERS DAMAGED.
THE RED BROADCAST DID NOT MENTION CURRENT ACTIONS.
THE EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED RED RESISTANCE NORTHWEST OF SEOUL DWINDLED WEDNESDAY IN THE FACE OF A SOUTH KOREAN ADVANCE STARTED THIS WEEK. AN EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID THE REPUBLICAN TROOPS, BACKED BY AMERICAN ARTILLERY AND PLANES, HAD WIPED OUT A FLANKING THREAT TO SEOUL.
BUT REDS STILL HELD OUT EAST OF THE SEOUL-MUSAN HIGHWAY UP WHICH THE SOUTH KOREANS DROVE.
FIELD DISPATCHES SAID ALLIED ARTILLERY KNOCKED OUT 1,000 FIGHTING REDS NORTHWEST OF THE OLD SOUTH KOREAN CAPITAL.
FEW REDS WERE FOUND BY PATROLS ANYWHERE ALONG THE CENTRAL FRONT.
IN THE EASTERN SECTOR, SMALL COMMUNIST FORCES FOUGHT ADVANCING ALLIES SOUTHWEST AND NORTHEAST OF INJE FOR A BRIEF TIME, THEN WITHDREW. THE REDS FLED INJE AFTER U.N. FORCES HAD CUT THE HIGHWAY LEADING TO CHUNCHON.
COMMUNIST TRUCKS AND TRAINS STILL WERE TRYING TO RUN FRESH SUPPLIES DOWN BOMB-POCKED ROADS TO THEIR WITHDRAWING GROUND TROOPS. TRAFFIC DWINDLED BUT THE FAR EASTERN AIR FORCES REPORTED IT WAS STILL "MODERATELY HEAVY."
ROUND-THE-CLOCK ATTACKS ON HIGHWAYS AND TROOPS ARE IMPROVING WITH NEW RADAR BOMBING TECHNIQUES, THE AIR FORCE REPORTED. NIGHT-FLYING BOMBERS ALSO ARE USING 500 POUND FRAGMENTATION BOMBS WITH PROXIMITY FUSES WHICH EXPLODE NEAR THE GROUND. A SINGLE B-29 USING THIS TECHNIQUE, THE AIR FORCE SAID, CAN RAIN 600,000 PIECES OF FRAGMENTATION ON AN ENEMY TROOP CONCENTRATION.
IN WASHINGTON, PRESIDENT TRUMAN NOMINATED LT.GEN. MATTHEW B. RIDGWAY, SUPREME COMMANDER OF U.N. FORCES, FOR ELEVATION TO THE RANK OF FULL GENERAL. LT.GEN. JAMES A. VAN FLEET, U.N. GROUND COMMANDER IN KOREA, MESSAGED RIDGWAY:

RADAR BOMBING (160)
TOKYO, MAY 9-(AP)-IMPROVED RADAR TECHNIQUES ARE MAKING IT POSSIBLE FOR ALLIED NIGHT-FLYING BOMBERS TO HIT RED CONCENTRATIONS IN KOREA WITH NEARLY THE ACCURACY OF DAYLIGHT VISUAL BOMBING, LT. GEN. GEORGE E. STRATEMEYER SAID TODAY.
THE FAR EAST AIR FORCES COMMANDER SAID NIGHT-FLYING B-29 AND B-26 BOMBERS ARE CUTTING DOWN RED TROOP MOVEMENTS AT NIGHT BY GROUND-DIRECTED, CLOSE SUPPORT MISSIONS EMPLOYING A NEW RADAR TECHNIQUE AND PROXIMITY FUSES ON THER BOMBS.
POWERFUL FLARES ALSO HAVE IMPROVED THEIR EFFECTIVENESS.
THESE NEW PRACTICES, STRATEMEYER SAID, ARE DISCOURAGING COMMUNISTS WHO THOUGHT THEY COULD MOVE SAFELY IN DARKNESS. PRISONERS, HE SAID, TELL OF "AN INCREASING SENSE OF HELPLESSNESS AND FUTILITY AMONG

THE PROXIMITY FUSES EXPLODE 500-POUND FRAGMENTATION BOMBS NEAR THE GROUND. STRATEMEYER SAID THERE IS EVIDENCE SUCH BOMBS HAVE TAKEN A HEAVY TOLL. HE TOLD OF 1,400 ENEMY DEAD HAVING BEEN COUNTED IN TWO AREAS WHERE SUCH BOMBS HAD BEEN USED RECENTLY.

TOKYO, .-6 10-(AP)-CANADIAN NAVY LT. MICHAEL BARROW OF TORONTO, STRICKEN WITH ACUTE APPENDICITIS DURING OPERATIONS OFF KOREA, PROBABLY OWES HIS LIFE TO THE COMBINED EFFORTS OF WARSHIPS OF FOUR NAVIES.
BARROW WAS STRICKEN ON THE CANADIAN DESTROYER HURON DURING A CARRIE OFFENSIVE. A NAVY RELEASE SAID TODAY THE OTHER SHIPS THAT HELPED OUT WERE THE BRITISH LIGHT FLEET CARRIER GLORY, THE U.S. LIGHT CARRIER BATAAN AND THE AUSTRALIAN DESTROYER WARRAMUNGA.
TGE CANADIAN IS REPORTED IMPROVED IN A U.S. ARMY HOSPITAL.
AUTHORITIES RELEASED THIS STORY:
BARROW BECAME ILL WHILE THE HURON WAS IN A DESTROYER SCREEN FOR THE GLORY. THE HURON'S DOCTOR, SURGEON LT. WILLIAM COOKE OF TORONTO, DIAGNOSED ACUTE APPENDICITIS. HE RECOMMENDED BARROW'S REMOVAL TO THE GLORY, WHERE BETTER FACILITIES WERE AVAILABLE.
A RIGGING WAS SET UP AND THE PATIENT SENT ACROSS IN A STRETCHER TO THE GLORY. THERE, SURGEON LT. I. B. CRAWFORD OF MILL HILL, LONDON, OPERATED SUCCESSFULLY. TWO DAYS LATER BARROW SUFFERED A RELAPSE. HE BECAME DANGEROUSLY ILL.
THE GLORY'S PRINCIPAL MEDICAL OFFICER, SURGEON CMDR. J. H. MITCHELL OF ENNIS-CORTH CO., WEXFORD, FLEW IN A HELICOPTER TO THE BATAAN FOR CONSULTATION WITH LT. J. MC BRIDE OF ST.LOUIS, U.S. ARMY MEDICAL CORPS. THE TWO RETURNED TO THE GLORY AND RE-EXAMINED BARROW.
THEY DECIDED TO RUSH HIM TO A HOSPITAL ASHORE WHERE HE COULE BE GIVEN SPECIALIZED TREATMENT.
AGAIN BARROW WAS PLACED IN A STRETCHER. THIS TIME HE WAS TRANSFERRED TO THE WARRAMUNGA. THE AUSTRALIAN DESTROYER PROCEEDED TO BASE AT FULL SPEED. BARROW WAS REMOVED TO THE ARMY HOSPITAL.

TOKYO, FRIDAY, MAY 11-(AP)-THE MARSHALL-MACARTHUR TESTIMONY IN WASHINGTON GENERALLY GETS TOP FRONT PAGE PLAY IN MAJOR JAPANESE NEWS-PAPERS BUT HAS HAD TO YIELD NUMBER ONE SPOT TO THE RUSSIAN NOTE ON JAPANESE PEACE, PREMIER YOSHIDA'S REPORT ON THE DULLES MISSION, AND GENERAL RIDGWAY'S NOMINATION FOR FOUR-STAR RANK.
PLAY WAS SUFFERED SOMEWHAT SINCE THE BEGINNING OF JAPANESE DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME LAST WEEKEND. THIS BROUGHT THE OPENING OF THE MORNING SENATE COMMITTEE SESSION AFTER THE NORMAL MORNING PAPER DEADLINE. HOWEVER, DURING THE THREE DAYS OF GENERAL MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY, ALL MORNING DAILIES HELD THEIR FINAL EDITIONS FOR THE LATEST MACARTHUR STATEMENTS. SECRETARY MARSHALL'S TURN ON THE WITNESS STAND HAS FELT THE COMPETITION OF THE RUSSIAN NOTE AND YOSHIDA'S STATEMENT. ANYTHING ABOUT THE PEACE TREATY IS STILL THE NUMBER ONE STORY IN JAPAN.
EVENING EDITIONS USUALLY HAVE GIVEN TOP BILLING TO THE SENATE HEARINGS WITH THE LONE EXCEPTION THURSDAY, WHEN GENERAL RIDGWAY WAS NOMINATED FOR FULL GENERAL RANK AND WELCOMED MRS. RIDGWAY AND SON, MATTHEW, JR., TO TOKYO.
WHILE THE METROPOLITAN PAPERS HAVE NOT STUDIOUSLY AVOIDED COMMENT ON THE U. S. POLICY CONTROVERSY, EDITORIALS HAVE BEEN RELATIVELY FEW.
THE LIBERAL PAPER ASAHI COMMENTED ON GENERAL MACARTHUR'S REFERENCES TO RED MANCHURIA BASES, SAYING THAT "BOMBING OF MANCHURIA BASES MAY AGGRAVATE THE PRESENT FIGHTING X X X BUT THE SOVIET UNION, HOWEVER, IS NOT LIKELY TO DIRECTLY INTERVENE IN THE WAR, AT THE RISK OF PLUNGING INTO A THIRD WORLD WAR X X X X."
THE OUTSPOKEN EVENING PAPER JIJI SHIMPO SAID, "IF THE U.N. FORCES ARE DEFEATED (IN KOREA), IT MEANS A COMMON DEFEAT OF ALL FREE NATIONS OF THE WORLD. SHOULD ASIA FALL A PREY TO COMMUNISM, EUROPE WOULD BE IMMEDIATELY MENACED." JIJI THEREFORE SAW NO REASON FOR EITHER A EUROPE FIRST OR ASIA FIRST POLICY.
YOMIURI SAY THE FOREIGN DEBATE AS A "SPECTACULAR DEMONSTRATION OF DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES AT WORK."
THE FINANCIAL NIHON KEIZAI SAW A STRONGER U. S. POLICY TOWARDS ASIA, ADDING:
"THE MACARTHUR AFFAIR IS ALSO HAVING THE EFFECT OF STIFFENING THE FAR EAST POLICIES OF BRITAIN AND OTHER WESTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES."

HE WARNED THAT THE ENEMY PROBABLY WAS PREPARING FOR ANOTHER ATTACK, AND ADDED:
"IF THEY WANT TO KEEP ON COMING WE ARE PREPARED FOR THEM."

TOKYO, FRIDAY, MAY 11 (AP)-LT.GEN.MATTHEW B.RIDGWAY SAID THURSDAY THE UNITED NATIONS BATTLE IN KOREA MAY HAVE STARTED THE DEFEAT OF COMMUNISM'S EFFORTS AT WORLD DOMINATION.

THE U.N.COMMAND'S COMMANDER'S COMMENT WAS CONTAINED IN AN ANSWER TO LT.GEN.JAMES A.VAN FLEET, ALLIED FIELD COMMANDER, CONGRATULATING RIDGWAY ON HIS NOMINATION TO FULL GENERAL.
RIDGWAY SAID IT IS "QUITE POSSIBLE" THAT BECAUSE OF THE U.N. FIGHT, "HISTORY WILL RECORD THAT THE CREST OF THE COMMUNIST WAVE HAS BEEN BROKEN AGAINST YOUR ARMS AND...THAT THE FLOOD OF THIS MENACE, REACHING ITS HIGH MARK ON YOUR FRONT, THEREAFTER BEGAN ITS RECESSION.'

RIDGWAY PRAISED VAN FLEET'S EIGHTH ARMY AND THE SUPPORTING AIR AND NAVAL UNITS WHICH HE SAID HAD "SET STANDARDS OF PROFESSIONAL COMPETENCE, OF FIDELITY, OF LOYALTY, OF COURAGE AND OF SPIRITUAL STAMINA UNSURPASSED BY ANY ARMY OF ANY AGE."
HE DECLARED, "I BELIEVE IT IS QUITE POSSIBLE THAT HISTORY MAY SOME DAY RECORD THAT IT WAS THESE QUALITIES IN THIS ARMY WHICH CHALLENGED, MET AND HURLED BACK THE MOST VICIOUS FORCES THAT HAVE YET THREATENED MANKIND IN ITS AGE-OLD STRUGGLE FOR INDIVIDUAL DIGNITY AND FREEDOM.
"YOU AND YOUR UNITED NATIONS COMMAND ARE CONSTANTLY IN MY HEART AND PRAYER.

THIS REPORT WAS ON THE BASIS OF INCOMPLETE EVALUATION OF PHOTOGRAPHS AND INTERROGATION OF PILOTS. EFFORTS STILL WERE BEING MADE TO DETERMINE THE NUMBER OF ENEMY CRAFT DESTROYED OR DAMAGED IN THE ALLIES' BIGGEST SIMGLE AIR RAID OF THE WAR.

LAT LEAST 75 PER CENT OF THE BUILDINGS IN THE ATTACK AREA WERE BELIEVED DESTROYED AND THE ENEMY'S PERSONNEL LOSSES PROBABLY WERE HEAVY, OFFICERS SAID.

NIGHT ~~LEAD~~ RUBBER
BY TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON, MAY 10-(AP)-BRITAIN'S LABOR GOVERNMENT TODAY HALTED RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO COMMUNIST CHINA FOR THE REST OF 1951. AROUSED AMERICAN PUBLIC OPINION AND WHIP-SAWING ATTACKS BY WINSTON CHURCHILL'S CONSERVATIVES PROVOKED THE DECISION.

THE RUBBER BAN WAS ANNOUNCED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS A FEW MOMENTS AFTER CHURCHILL HAD THUNDERED A DEMAND FOR THE CHANGE AT ONCE "ON THE GROUNDS OF NATIONAL SAFETY AND EVEN SURVIVAL."

CHURCHILL ALSO ATTACKED BRITAIN'S MAINTENANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH RED CHINA, SAYING THESE TIES HAD BROUGHT NO ADVANTAGE TO BRITAIN OR THE UNITED NATIONS "AND THEY HAVE BECOME A REPROACH AGAINST US IN WIDE CIRCLES IN AMERICA."

A REVIVAL OF ISOLATIONIST SENTIMENT IN THE UNITED STATES, HE WARNED MIGHT LESSEN AMERICAN HELP FOR EUROPE, WHICH COULD LEAD TO THE RUIN OF "THE WHOLE FREE WORLD."

HE SAID THE LABOR GOVERNMENT SHOUD AVOID GIVING THE UNITED STATES THE IMPRESSION THAT, WHILE AMERICANS CARRIED THE HEAVIEST LOAD IN KOREA, BRITAIN "PULLED AT THEIR COAT TAILS AND READ THEM MORAL LESSONS IN STATECRAFT AND THE LOVE WE OUGHT TO HAVE FOR CHINA."

SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, SAID THE GOVERNMENT'S OPINION IS THAT CHINA ALREADY HAS IMPORTED ENOUGH RUBBER THIS YEAR TO FILL HER CIVILIAN NEEDS FOR ALL OF 1951.

THEREFORE, HE SAID, BRITAIN IS ASKING ITS COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS "TO ENSURE THAT THERE WILL BE NO FURTHER EXPORTS OF RUBBER TO CHINA FROM MALAYA OR THE OTHER BRITISH TERRITORIES INVOLVED THIS YEAR."

THE BRITISH BAN DOES NOT MEAN THAT COMMUNIST CHINA WILL GET NO MORE RUBBER. INDONESIA, FOR ONE, IS A SOURCE OF FURTHER SUPPLIES WHICH MIGHT GO TO CHINA.

THE ORDER ALSO DOES NOT APPLY TO INDIA AND CEYLON, BOTH MEMBERS OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH. GOVERNMENTS OF COMMONWEALTH MEMBERS MUST MAKE THEIR OWN DECISIONS ON SHIPMENTS. RUBBER ALSO IS PRODUCED IN BURMA, THAILAND, AND INDOCHINA, ALL OUTSIDE BRITISH CONTROL.

ANSWERING QUESTIONS, SHAWCROSS SAID HE DOES NOT THINK THAT LARGE RUBBER SHIPMENTS NOW ARE GOING TO RED CHINA FROM INDONESIA, INDIA AND CEYLON. HE CONCEDED THAT BRITAIN'S ACTION WILL NOT OF ITSELF BAR ALL RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO RED CHINA BUT EXPRESSED HOPE THAT BRITISH ACTION WILL PROMPT OTHER RUBBER-PRODUCING COUNTRIES TO "REFRAIN FROM PROVIDING ALTERNATIVE SOURCES OF SUPPLY WHICH MIGHT HELP BUILD UP CHINA'S WAR POTENTIAL."

SHAWCROSS TOLD COMMONS THAT BRITAIN AND HER COLONIES HAD SENT $357,000,000 WORTH OF GOODS TO RED CHINA IN THE NINE MONTHS AFTER THE FIGHTING BEGAN IN KOREA LAST JUNE, BUT HE INSISTED THESE GOODS WERE NOT OF STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE.

CONSERVATIVE A.C. BOSSOM ASKED WHETHER THE FIGURES "INCLUDED £1,000,000 ($2,800,000) WORTH OF RUBBER WHICH LEFT SINGAPORE FOR HONG KONG AND CANTON ON MAY 10." (AT CURRENT PRICES, SUCH A CONSIGNMENT WOULD BE ABOUT 1,900 TONS.)

"THE FIGURES DO NOT PURPORT TO INCLUDE TODAY, BUT I WILL LOOK INTO THE QUESTION," SHAWCROSS SAID.

SHAWCROSS NOTED THAT BRITAIN IS NOW SUPPORTING A UNITED STATES PROPOSAL IN THE UNITED NATIONS TO EMBARGO STRATEGIC MATERIALS SHIPMENTS TO THE CHINESE AND DECLARED:

"WE HAVE EVERY HOPE OF REACHING A FRIENDLY AGREEMENT ABOUT THIS MATTER." X X X

HE EMPHASIZED THAT BRITAIN DOES NOT INTEND TO IMPOSE A COMPLETE EMBARGO ON ALL GOODS TO CHINA.

SHAWCROSS REFERRED TO "ABNORMALLY HIGH" RUBBER IMPORTS BY COMMUNIST CHINA IN THE FIRST QUARTER.

THE GOVERNMENT'S OWN FIGURES SHOWED BRITISH TERRITORIES SHIPPED 45,000 TONS OF RUBBER TO RED CHINA FOR THE THREE-MONTH PERIOD ENDING IN MARCH--ABOUT TWICE THE TTOTAL IN ALL OF 1949.

LAST WEEK THE GOVERNMENT STRESSED THAT IT HAD IMPOSED CONTROLS ON RUBBER EXPORTS AS OF APRIL 9. OFFICIALS SAID THEN THE SHIPMENTS WOULD BE LIMITED TO AMOUNTS CONSIDERED SUFFICIENT FOR RED CHINA'S CIVILIAN NEEDS. THESE WERE FIGURED AT 2,100 TONS A MONTH.

A5

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT DID NOT QUIET THE UPROAR OVER RUBBER IN EITHER BRITAIN OR THE UNITED STATES. RECENT HEAVY CASUALTIES SUFFERED BY BRITISH TROOPS IN KOREA SHARPENED THE CRITICISM IN MANY OF THIS NATION'S NEWSPAPERS.

DEFENDING THE GOVERNMENT POSITION, SHAWCROSS TOLD THE HOUSE TODAY THAT BRITAIN HAD FOLLOWED A MORE RESTRICTIVE POLICY ON SHIPMENTS TO CHINA "THAN ANY OTHER COUNTRY APART FROM THE U.S."

"IN DRAWING UP OUR CONTROL LISTS, WE HAD EXCHANGED VIEWS WITH FRIENDLY COUNTRIES AND PARTICULARLY THE UNITED STATES," HE SAID. "MORE RESPONSIBILITY HAD BEEN CLEARLY THEIRS AND THEY STOOD BY THEIR DECISIONS.

"BUT I ASSURE THE HOUSE THAT WE HAVE NOT BEEN EXPORTING GOODS OF STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE AND I PROPOSE TO PUBLISH A STATEMENT SHORTLY OF THE KIND OF GOODS, THE EXPORTS OF WHICH WE HAVE ONLY PERMITTED TO ALLIED OR FRIENDLY POWERS."

HE STRESSED THAT THE GOVERNMENT WANTED TO DO NOTHING TO JEOPARDIZE AMERICAN-BRITISH FRIENDSHIP OR ENDANGER THE U.N. TROOPS IN KOREA.

SHAWCROSS MAINTAINED, AS HAD PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE IN EARLIER DEBATES, THAT THE RUBBER EXPORTS MADE THUS FAR HAD NO MATERIAL EFFECT ON THE MILITARY POTENTIAL OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

A97 WW424PED

LONDON, MAY 10-(AP)-A GOVERNMENT MINISTER SAID TODAY BRITAIN IS PERMITTING EXPORT OF 6,000 TONS OF RUBBER FROM SINGAPORE TO RUSSIA.

JOHN DUGDALE, MINISTER OF STATE FOR COLONIES, IN A WRITTEN REPLY IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS SAID THE EXPORT WILL BE PERMITTED "SINCE THE RUBBER IN QUESTION WAS SOLD BEFORE EXPORT CONTROL WAS INTRODUCED." ADDED DUGDALE:

"RESTRICTIVE CONTROL ON EXPORTS OF RUBBER WAS INTRODUCED IN AGREEMENT WITH THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT EARLY IN APRIL BUT IT WAS AT NO TIME ENVISAGED THAT A TOTAL EMBARGO OF EXPORTS SHOULD BE IMPOSED."

DUGDALE WAS REPLYING TO A QUESTION FROM CONSERVATIVE H.A.PRICE. PRICE ASKED IF DUGDALE WAS AWARE THAT THE RUSSIAN FREIGHTER, VILNIUS, HAD ARRIVED ABOUT THREE WEEKS AGO AT SINGAPORE TO TAKE ON 6,000 TONS OF MALAYAN RUBBER.

IN ANOTHER REPLY TO PRICE, DUGDALE SAID INFORMATION WAS NOT AVAILABLE ON HOW MANY TONS OF RUBBER WERE SOLD TO CHINA, EXCLUSIVE OF SHIPMENTS TO FORMOSA, BY BRITISH COLONIAL SUPPLIERS IN MARCH. DUGDALE ADDED:

"ABOUT 7,000 TONS OF RUBBER WERE, HOWEVER, EXPORTED FROM MALAYA TO CHINA IN MARCH, 1951, WHILE EXPORTS IN THE FOUR WEEKS ENDED APRIL 1, 1951, FROM HONG KONG TO CHINA AND FORMOSA TOTALLED APPROXIMATELY 7,600 TONS."

LONDON, MAY 10-(AP)-WINSTON CHURCHILL DEMANDED TODAY AN IMMEDIATE HALT OF ALL BRITISH RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO RED CHINA.

HE TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS DURING A DEBATE ON EXPORT OF STRATEGIC MATERIALS TO THE CHINESE REDS THAT THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S POLICY ON RUBBER AND OTHER MATTERS INVOLVING PEIPING IS IMPAIRING BRITISH-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

"WE SHOULD STOP AT ONCE--ABRUPTLY, PERMANENTLY AND DECISIVELY--EXPORTS OF RUBBER TO CHINA," THE CONSERVATIVE LEADER SAID.

"THIS WOULD CLEAR THE AIR. IT WOULD BE A STEP THAT EVERYBODY COULD UNDERATND THE MIGHT WELL BE THE PRELUDE TO A WHOLE-HEARTED AGREEMENT WITH THE UNITED STATES."

CHURCHILL SAID THAT BRITAIN'S RECOGNITION OF RED CHINA IN 1949 HAD "MUCH OFFENDED" AMERICA, AND ADDED THAT AS A RESULT BRITAIN IS "IN THE ILLOGICAL POSITION OF HAVING DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH A CHINESE GOVERNMENT FORMALLY CENSURED BY THE UNITED NATIONS, AND WHICH IS ENGAGED IN ATTACKING UNITED STATES SOLDIERS, UNITED NATIONS SOLDIERS AND ALSO OUR SMALL CONTINGENT IN KOREA."

PRIOR TO OPENING OF THE DEBATE SQR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, TOLD PARLIAMENT THAT BRITAIN AND ITS COLONIES HAD SENT $357,000,000 WORTH OF GOODS TO RED CHINA IN THE NINE MONTHS AFTER THE FIGHTING BEGAN IN KOREA.

LONDON, MAY 10-(AP)-A CONSERVATIVE MEMBER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS CALLED ON THE GOVERNMENT TONIGHT TO SEEK COMPENSATION FOR BRITSONS IMPRISONED BY THE JAPANESE DURING WORLD WAR II AND FOR DEPENDENTS OF THOSE WHO DIED IN CAPTIVITY.

KENNETH YOUNGER, MINISTER OF STATE, SAID THE GOVERNMENT WOULD SUPPORT THE PROPOSAL BUT ADDED "THERE IS VERY LITTLE CHANCE INDEED OF OBTAINING COMPENSATION FROM THE JAPANESE."

BRIG. J.G. SMYTH, WHO PROPOSED AND MEASURE, SUGGESTED THAT BRITISH DELEGATES AT THE PROPOSED JAPANESE PEACE CONFERENCE SEEK TO OBTAIN THE COMPENSATION FROM FROZEN JAPANESE ASSETS.

"WE INTEND TO HOLD THE JAPANESE RESPONSIBLE," HE SAID, "FOR THE DELIBERATE BRUTALITY EXERCISED ON OUR FAR EAST PRISONERS-OF-WAR AS A RESULT OF WHICH NO LESS THAN 10,000 OF THEM DIED IN CAPTIVITY. X X X

"IF THERE ARE NO ASSETS, WHY NOT LET THE JAPANESE WORK AN HOUR LONGER FOR THE NEXT YEAR AS THEY MADE OUR PRISONERS WORK WHEN THEY HAD THEM IN THEIR HANDS? DON'T LET US BE TOO SOFT."

GEORGE THOMAS, A LABORITE, SUPPORTED THE MOTION. HE SAID THE APPEAL WAS FOR JUST COMPENSATION FOR TREATMENT UN PARALLELED IN THE MILITARY HISTORY OF GREAT NATIONS.

"IN THE FAR EAST," HE SAID, "QUESTIONS OF FACE AND PRESTIGE ARE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE, AND WERE IT NOT FOR THE POINT OF VIEW OF THE MEN, IT WOULD STILL BE DAMAGING FOR BRITAIN IF THE FAR EAST FELT THEY COULD DO THIS TO OUR MEN AND GET AWAY WITH IT."

IN HIS DISCUSSION OF THE PROPOSAL, YOUNGER SAID THE GOVERNMENT IS CONSIDERING WHETHER, AFTER THE PACE TREATY, JAPANESE ASSETS IN BRITAIN MIGHT BE USED TO FURTHER THE WORK OF BENEFIT ORGANIZATIONS AND INSTITUTIONS HELPING THOSE WHO SUFFERED AS PRISONERS IN THE FAR EAST OR THEIR DEPENDENTS.

LONDON, MAY 10-(AP)-DEFENSE MINISTER EMANUEL SHINWELL CLASHED ANGRILY WITH CONSERVATIVE LEADER WINSTON CHURCHILL TODAY OVER JUST WHAT COMMENT SHINWELL MADE ON THE FIRING OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

CHURCHILL QUOTED SHINWELL AS SAYING:

"NOW, PERHAPS, THINGS WILL GO BETTER IN KOREA, NOW THAT GEN. MACARTHUR HAS BEEN REMOVED."

SHINWELL JUMPED TO HIS FEET AND SAID HE WAS BEING MISQUOTED BY CHURCHILL. HE DENIED EVER HAVING MADE THE STATEMENT. HE CALLED FOR PROOF.

"YOU OUGHT TO BE ASHAMED OF YOURSELF!" HE TAUNTED CHURCHILL.

CHURCHILL SAID HE WAS QUOTING FROM THE PRESS, AND LATER HANDED A NEWSPAPER ACROSS THE DEBATING ROSTRUM TO SHINWELL.

THE SPEAKER RULED THAT CHURCHILL WAS OUT OF ORDER BECAUSE IT IS AGAINST HOUSE RULES "TO HAND NEWSPAPERS ACROSS THE TABLE."

gave the European Consultative Assembly a preview of a possible British election battle over participation in the Schuman plan.

Britain, under the Labor government, chose not to join the plan for merging Western Europe's coal and steel industries.

At the assembly meeting, Harold MacMillan, a Conservative MP, threw hi party's support behind a partial "if not full" membership in the project. He told the assembly that the Schuman treaty in its final form is now "far closer to what might be acceptable to a British government."

Taking issue with MacMillan on behalf of the Labor Party, W. R. Blyton called the Schuman treaty "essentially supra-national" and said Britain co not join a supra-national authority. Referring to coal and steel as the foundation of British economy, Blyton said:

"The British Government is not prepared to submit the future of these industries to the decision of a body over which the British people exerci[redacted] no effective control.

MacMillan called for immediate talks by Britain with the six Schuman plan countries—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg—to see how far Britain could go in participating. He added th Britain then should begin formal negotiations as soon as the plan is ratified.

Calling on the six countries to ratify the treaty which has already been initialed by their foreign ministers, MacMillan said:

"Failure to do so would be a European disaster of the first magnitude.

NIGHT LEAD LOUWERS (170)

AMSTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS, MAY 10-(AP)-CZECHOSLOVAKIA FREED DUTCH BUSINESSMAN J. A. LOUWERS UNEXPECTEDLY TODAY AFTER HE HAD SERVED 14 MONTHS OF A 15-YEAR SENTENCE ON CHARGES OF ECONOMIC ESPIONAGE AND HELPING CZECHS FLEE THE COUNTRY.

HE ARRIVED IN AMSTERDAM BY PLANE, LOOKING MUCH THE SAME AS HE DID BEFORE HIS ARREST.

LOUWERS' CASE RESEMBLED THAT OF AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN ROBERT A. VOGELER, RELEASED BY HUNGARY APRIL 28 UNDER AN AGREEMENT NEGOTIATED WITH THE UNITED STATES.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA SAID IN A NOTE TO THE DUTCH LEGATION IN PRAGUE THAT LOUWERS' RELEASE CAME "AS A RESULT OF REPEATED REQUESTS BY THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT." THE DUTCH FOREIGN MINISTRX, HOWEVER, SAID THERE HAD NOT BEEN ANY DIPLOMATIC BARGAINING IN THE CASE.

UNLIKE VOGELER, WHO ARRIVED HOME THIN AND NERVE-SHATTERED AFTER 17 MONTHS IN A BUDAPEST PRISON, LOUWERS APPEARED FIT, COOL AND COLLECTED.

AS HE STEPPED OFF THE PLANE,HE TOLD REPORTERS HE HAD BEEN WELL TREATED. BUT HE WAS RELUCTANT TO TALK ABOUT HIS LIFE IN PRISON.

AT THE AIRPORT TO MEET LOUWERS WERE HIS WIFE, HIS PARENTS, GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND DIRECTORS OF THE DUTCH COMPANY FOR WHICH HE HAD WORKED AS A REPRESENTATIVE IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA BEFORE HIS ARREST.

AMSTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS, MAY 10-(AP)-GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER SAID TODAY IT IS UP TO THE PEOPLE OF HOLLAND TO DECIDE WHETHER THEIR DEFENSE EFFORT IS ADEQUATE. HE STEPPED GINGERLY AROUND A NATIONAL CONTROVERSY.

THE SUPREME COMMANDER OF ATLANTIC PACT FORCES WAS ASKED AT A NEWS CONFERENCE IF HOLLAND WAS DOING ENOUGH IN MILITARY PREPAREDNESS. AFTER HIS FIRST VISIT TO THE NETHERLANDS LAST JANUARY, EISENHOWER WAS REPORTED TO HAVE EXPRESSED DISMAY OVER INADEQUATE GOVERNMENT PLANS.

EISENHOWER TURNED ASIDE REPORTERS' QUERIES TODAY WITH THE STATEMENT:

"THERE IS ONLY ONE GAUGE OF ADEQUACY--FOR EACH NATION TO DO ITS UTMOST. THE ONLY JUDGE OF WHAT THEY CAN DO ARE THE PEOPLE OF THAT COUNTRY THEMSELVES. THEY KNOW HOW MUCH THEY VALUE THEIR FREEDOM AND INDEPENDENCE AND HOW MUCH EMPHASIS THEY WANT TO PUT ON THEIR SECURITY."

EISENHOWER SAID, AFTER A THREE-DAY INSPECTION OF DUTCH FORCES, HE WAS GRATIFIED OVER "THE FITNESS, ENTHUSIASM AND TECHNICAL INSTRUCTIO WHICH SEEMED VERY HIGH INDEED." HE ADDED:

"ALTHOUGH, THERE ARE MANY THINGS THEY NEED AND WANT."

HIS EARLIER CRITICISM ENLIVENED THE NATIONAL CONTROVERSY OVER REARMAMENT. LATER, GEN. HANS J. KRULS, VOCAL ADVOCATE OF INCREASED DUTCH MILITARY PREPAREDNESS WAS DISMISSED AS DUTCH CHIEF OF STAFF.

EARLIER TODAY, EISENHOWER FLEW TO NORTHERN HOLLAND TO INSPECT THE NATION'S LARGEST MILITARY BASE WHILE MRS. EISENHOWER VIEWED TULIP FIELD NEAR HERE. THE GENERAL AND HIS WIFE LATER DROVE TO SOESTDIJK PALACE FOR LUNCHEON WITH QUEEN JULIANA AND PRINCE BERNHARD.

BY BEN PHLEGAR

VIENNA, MAY 10-(AP)-OLYMPIC OFFICIALS PATTED THEIR OWN BACKS TODAY AT THEIR SUCCESS IN PRACTICING INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

IN THREE DAYS HERE, THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE--WITHOUT SQUABBLE--ADMITTED RUSSIA TO THE 1952 OLYMPIC GAMES, ORDERED EAST AND WEST GERMANY TO GET TOGETHER ATHLETICALLY AND RECEIVED FEELERS FROM MEMBERS LONG LOST BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN IN BULGARIA AND RUMANIA.

RUSSIA HASN'T COMPETED IN THE OLYMPICS SINCE 1912.

"WE BELIEVE THE IOC IS THE FIRST TRULY INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION TO MAKE SUCH PROGRESS IN BRINGING TOGETHER THE EAST AND WEST,"

SAID OTTO MAYER, CHANCELLOR OF THE IOC.

THE THREE-DAY MEETING WAS ATTENDED BY DELEGATES FROM 28 COUNTRIES, INCLUDING FOR FIRST TIME SINCE 1948 OFFICIALS FROM POLAND, HUNGARY AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA.

"WE GOT ALONG VERY WELL" MAYER SAID. "EVERYTHING WAS VERY FRIENDLY."

MAY 11 1951

IOC DELEGATES SEEMED ESPECIALLY OPTIMISTIC THE GERMANS WILL SETTLE DIFFERENCES, ATHLETIC DIFFERENCES.

WEST GERMANY'S OLYMPIC COMMITTEE WAS RECOGNIZED BUT IT WAS ASKED TO MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO COMBINE WITH A NEW EAST GERMAN COMMITTEE. AN HOUR'S SESSION BETWEEN THE TWO WAS HELD YESTERDAY. A FORMAL CONFERENCE IS SCHEDULED FOR LAUSANNE SWITZERLAND MAY 21 AND 22.

IF THEY DON'T GET TOGETHER THERE IS SOME QUESTION WHETHER GERMANY CAN ENTER THE 1952 OLYMPICS AT HELSINKI AND OSLO.

"WE ARE SO CONFIDENT," MAYER SAID, "THAT WE THINK AN AGREEMENT MAY BE REACHED BEFORE LAUSANNE CONFERENCE."

THE RUSSIAN BLOC APPARENTLY MADE ONE MOVE TO ACT TOGETHER BUT SEEMED TO GET NOWHERE WITH THE COMMITTEE.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT THE VOTE ON ADMISSION OF WEST GERMANY HAD BEEN UNANIMOUS. IRON CURTAIN COUNTRIES PROTESTED, SAYING THEY DID NOT REALIZE THEY WERE VOTING ON FINAL APPROVAL AND THAT IF THEY HAD KNOWN THEY WOULD HAVE VOTED AGAINST IT.

THE COMMITTEE HEARD THE FOUR MEN, THANKED THEM FOR THEIR EXPLANATION BUT MADE NO MOVE TO CHANGE THE DECISION OTHER THAN TO ANNOUNCE A PROTEST BEEN MADE.

VOTING IN THE IOC IS ON AN INFORMAL BASIS--A SHOW OF HANDS WITHOUT INDIVIDUAL VOTES BEING RECORDED.

THE COMMITTEE WAS DUE TO MEET FOR AN HOUR TODAY TO APPROVE MINUTES OF ITS THREE-DAY SESSION AND THEN WILL GET TOGETHER AGAIN AT THE WINTER AND SUMMER GAMES AT OSLO AND HELSINKI NEXT YEAR.

VIENNA, MAY 10-(AP)-RUSSIA HAS BROKEN OFF A JOINT INVESTIGATION WITH THE UNITED STATES INTO THE SLAYING OF AN AMERICAN MILITARY POLICEMAN IN VIENNA, IT WAS DISCLOSED TONIGHT.

MAY 11 1951

THE WALK-OUT OF THE SOVIETS BREW AN IMMEDIATE PROTEST FROM U.S.HIGH COMMISSIONER WALTER J.DONNELLY TO HIS RUSSIAN OPPOSITE NUMBER, LIEUT. GEN.V.P.SVIRIDOV.

DONNELLY INITIATED A JOINT INVESTIGATION INT THE KILLING OF CORPORAL PAUL GRESENS, OF ROCHESTER, NEW YORK, LAST WEEK AFTER THE SOLDIER DIED ON A VIENNA STREET OF NINE SLUGS FROM A RUSSIAN MACHINE PISTOL.

WITNESSES SAID ONE OF TWO RUSSIAN SOLDIERS FIRED FIRST ON GRESENS AFTER THE RUSSIANS WERE HALTED BY GRESENS AND ANOTHER AMERICAN ON DUTY IN VIENNA'S INTERNATIONAL SECTOR.

DONNELLY AND BRIG.GEN.WILLIAM T.FITTS, U.S.COMMANDER OF VIENNA MILITARY POST, HELD THREE MEETINGS WITH TOP SOVIET OFFICIALS.

WELL-INFORMED SOURCES SAID SVIRIDOV CONDONED THE BEHAVIOR OF THE SOVIET SOLDIERS INVOLVED.

SVIRIDOV SAID HE CONSIDERED A JOINT INVESTIGATION UNNECESSARY SINCE HE CHARGED THE TWO AMERICANS FIRED FIRST. HE ASSERTED THAT THE AMERICANS ACTED CONTRARY TO FOUR-POWER PORCEDURE IN VIENNA AND DEMANDED THAT AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE "BE DULY INSTRUCTED IN THE DISCHARGE OF THEIR PATROL DUTIES."

DONNELLY PROTESTED THE RUSSIAN ATTITUDE IN HIS NEW LETTER TO SVIRIDOV.

HE SAID SVIRIDOV'S LETTER "NOT ONLY PRESENTS AN ACCOUNT OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES COMPLETELY AT VARIANCE WITH ESTABLISHED FACTS, BUT MORE TO MY REGRET, EVIDENCES NO DESIRE ON YOUR PART FOR THAT COOPERATION WHICH IS THE FUNDAMENTAL BASIS OF QUADRIPARTITE RELATION IN AUSTRIA."

Budapest, Hungary, May 10-(ap)-The executive committee of the international organiz tion of journalists, a p ro-communist association, met here today for a three-day conference and was told that the western press is corrupt.

The criticism of the western press came from Derek Kartun, editor of the Communist London Daily Worker, chief speaker for the day, who said that both in the united states and britain, "corruption within our profession is very deep."

Many newsmen, said kartun, "have sold not only their pens, but their very souls to the warmongers." He singled out the Hearst newspapers and the "luce emp ire," (time, life, fortune) for bitter criticism.

Delegates from the soviet union, including pravda writer david zaslavsky and playwright konstantin simonov, and from other eastern european countries were present. The organization's secretary-general, Jiri Hronek of czechoslovakia, reported that "hundreds and thousands of western journalists are prevented from joining us freely, as they are afraid of losing their jobs. Nevertheless, they are in contact with us."

Hronek said jarry martin, president of the american newspaper guild who walked out of the iuj in 1948 after clashing with zaslavsky, "did not succeed in creating a counter organization of journalists."

NIGHT LEAD INDIAN (260)

BY SELIG HARRISON

NEW DELHI, INDIA, MAY 10-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER NEHRU SAID TODAY INDIA IS DEEPLY GRATEFUL FOR U.S. GOVERNMENT EFFORTS TO SUPPLY HER 2,000,000 TONS OF WHEAT AND HE SEES NO POLITICAL STRINGS ATTACHED TO THE FAMINE RELIEF BILLS IN CONGRESS.

THE BILLS BEFORE THE U.S. SENATE AND HOUSE "IN OUR VIEW HAVE NO POLITICAL OR DISCRIMINATORY CONDITIONS ATTACHED TO THEM AND THERE CAN BE NO OBJECTION ON THESE GROUNDS TO OUR ACCEPTING EITHER," NEHRU TOLD PARLIAMENT.

HIS STATEMENT OBVIOUSLY WAS INTENDED TO CLARIFY THIS DECLARATION HE MADE MAY 1: "WHILE WE WELCOME ALL THE HELP WE CAN GET FROM FOREIGN COUNTRIES, WE HAVE MADE IT CLEAR THAT SUCH HELP MUST NOT HAVE POLITICAL STRINGS ATTACHED TO IT, ANY CONDITIONS WHICH ARE UNBECOMING FOR A SELF-RESPECTING NATION TO ACCEPT, ANY PRESSURE TO CHANGE OUR DOMESTIC OR INTERNATIONAL POLICY."

MANY AMERICANS AND INDIANS ALIKE EXPRESSED BELIEF THE DECLARATION WAS AIMED AT THE CONGRESSIONAL BILLS. HOUSE ACTION WAS PROMPTLY SIDETRACKED.

NEHRU EXPLAINED TODAY: "SUCH CONDITIONS AS ARE ATTACHED TO EITHER BILL ARE THE USUAL TERMS OF UNITED STATES FOREIGN ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE."

X X X

NEHRU NOTED THAT THE SENATE VERSION PRODDED INDIA TO SUPPLY CERTAIN MATERIALS IN EXCHANGE FOR THE WHEAT.

"WE WOULD BE GLAD TO SUPPLY THE UNITED STATES SUCH MATERIALS AS WE HAVE AVAILABLE," HE SAID. "BUT IT IS A FUNDAMENTAL PART OF OUR FOREIGN POLICY NOT TO SUPPLY SUCH MATERIALS AS ARE MAINLY RELATED TO ATOMIC ENERGY PRODUCTION TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S ADMINISTRATION PROPOSED LAST WINTER THAT THE GRAIN BE GIVEN TO INDIA, AT A COST OF ABOUT $190,000,000. AS IT CAME FROM COMMITTEE, THE BILL WAS STRIPPED OF ITS GIVE-AWAY FEATURES AND PROVIDED, INSTEAD, FOR A STRAIGHT LOAN.

IN THE INTERVAL, INDIA IS GETTING SOME GRAIN FROM OTHER SOURCES.

THE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED TODAY RUSSIA HAS AGREED TO SELL 50,000 TONS OF WHEAT FOR CASH AND THAT RUSSIAN SHIPS ARE ALREADY ON THE WAY TO INDIA WITH PART OF IT. NEGOTIATIONS BEGAN WITH THE SOVIET EMBASSY HERE LAST WEEK ON A RUSSIAN OFFER TO SUPPLY 500,000 TONS. COMMUNIST CHINA IS TRADING INDIA RICE FOR JUTE.

NEW DELHI, INDIA, MAY 10-(AP)-FAMINE-THREATENED INDIA ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT SOVIET RUSSIA HAD AGREED TO SELL HER FOR CASH 50,000 TONS OF WHEAT--AND THAT RUSSIANS SHIPS ARE ALREADY ON THE WAY HERE WITH SOME OF IT.

A GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE AGREEMENT TO BUY THE 50,000 TONS WAS THE "FIRST RESULT" OF NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE SOVIET EMBASSY HERE, BEGUN LAST WEEK, ON A RUSSIAN OFFER TO SUPPLY 500,000 TONS.

EARLIER PRIME MINISTER NEHRU IN A SURPRISE ANNOUNCEMENT TO AN APPLAUDING PARLIAMENT SAID RUSSIANS SHIPS ALREADY WERE ON THE WAY TO INDIA WITH WHEAT CARGOES.

THE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE 50,000 TONS WOULD BE MOVED IN RUSSIAN SHIPS AND "DELIVERIES SHOULD BE COMPLETED BY THE END OF JUNE."

NEHRU ALSO TOLD PARLIAMENT THAT THE BILLS BEFORE THE U.S. CONGRESS TO SEND WHEAT TO INDIA "IN OUR VIEW HAVE NO POLITICAL OR DISCRIMINATORY CONDITIONS ATTACHED TO THEM AND THERE CAN BE NO OBJECTION ON THESE GROUNDS TO OUR ACCEPTING EITHER OF THESE TWO. WE PREFER THE TERMS OF THE HOUSE BILL BECAUSE THEY ARE SIMPLER," HE ADDED.

HIS STATEMENT APPEARED DIRECTED TOWARD CONCILIATING THE AMERICAN CONGRESS. INDIAN DIFFERENCES WITH AMERICAN POLICIES, ESPECIALLY IN KOREA, HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO A DELAY IN FINAL CONGRESSIONAL ACTION ON A GRANT OR LOAN OF 2,000,000 TONS OF WHEAT, WHICH INDIA ASKED FOR IN DECEMBER.

OBSERVERS SAY THE DELAY IN TURN HAS CAUSED A RISE OF ANTI-AMERICAN SENTIMENT IN INDIA. PARLIAMENT APPLAUDED, HOWEVER, WHEN NEHRU SAID INDIA IS "DEEPLY GRATEFUL" TO EFFORTS OF THE U.S. GOVERNMENT TO SUPPLY THE WHEAT.

THE STATEMENT OBVIOUSLY WAS INTENDED TO CLARIFY THE POSITION HE HAS TAKEN RECENTLY IN STRESSING INDIA'S REFUSAL TO ACCEPT OUTSIDE HELP TO WHICH POLITICAL STRINGS OR OTHER CONDITIONS ARE ATTACHED.

NEHRU EXPLAINED TO PARLIAMENT THAT "SUCH CONDITIONS AS ARE ATTACHED TO EITHER BILL ARE THE USUAL TERMS OF UNITED STATES FOREIGN ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE. MUCH, HOWEVER, WILL DEPEND ON THE MANNER OF IMPLEMENTATION OF THESE CONDITIONS."

THE PRIME MINISTER, NOTING THE CONGRESSIONAL SUGGESTION THAT INDIA PAY FOR THE WHEAT WITH STRATEGIC MATERIALS, INCLUDING MINERALS USED FOR ATOMIC PRODUCTION, DECLARED:

"WE WOULD BE GLAD TO SUPPLY THE UNITED STATES SUCH MATERIALS AS WE HAVE AVAILABLE. BUT IT IS A FUNDAMENTAL PART OF OUR FOREIGN POLICY NOT TO SUPPLY SUCH MATERIALS AS ARE MAINLY RELATED TO ATOMIC ENERGY PRODUCTION TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES."

DAMASCUS, SYRIA, MAY 10-(AP)-SYRIA HAS TURNED THUMBS DOWN ON A UNITED NATION'S STAFF REQUEST TO PULL BACK SYRIAN MILITARY FORCES FROM DEFENSIVE POSITIONS ALONG THE PALESTINE FRONTIER.
PREMIER KHALED BEY AZEM TOLD THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES YESTERDAY SYRIA IS DETERMINED TO MAINTAIN EFFECTIVE MEASURES CAPABLE OF REPELLING "THE AGGRESSORS."
THIS STAND CAME IN THE FACE OF A U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL ORDER TO SYRIA AND ISRAEL TO CEASE FIRE IN THEIR "BATTLE OF THE JORDAN."
THE PREMIER SAID SYRIA HAS "NO OBJECTION AGAINST THIS (CEASE-FIRE) RESOLUTION, WHICH IF SINCERELY APPLIED, PUTS AN END TO MASSACRES IN THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE, BUT WE DO NOT CONSIDER IT THE FINAL OR DECISIVE SOLUTION."
AZEM CITED A SYRIAN ARMY REPORT OF THE BOMBARDMENT OF THE ARAB VILLAGE OF SHAMLNEH IN THE ZONE EARLY YESTERDAY, AND ASSERTED "THIS IS A NEW EXAMPLE OF HOW THE JEWS RESPECT THEIR ENGAGEMENTS."
SYRIA REFUSES, HE ANNOUNCED, TO COMPLY WITH A NOTE FROM COL. BENNET DE RIDDER OF THE U.N. OBSERVERS STAFF ASKING THAT MILITARY FORCES BE PULLED BACK 500 YARDS FROM DEFENSIVE POSTS SKIRTING THE DEMILITARIZED AREA IN THE CENTRAL SECTOR.
HE ADDED THAT "WE UTTERLY REJECT" A DEMAND BY DE RIDDER FOR DISARMAMENT OF ARAB CIVILIANS REMOVED FROM THE AREA BY U.N. OBSERVERS.

IN TEL AVIV THE BORDER FIGHTING WAS REPORTED QUIETING DOWN YESTERDAY.
ONE ENGAGEMENT WAS REPORTED BY AN ISRAELI MILITARY SPOKESMAN WHO BLAMED IT ON SYRIANS ENTRENCHED IN THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE NEAR MUTEILA HILL, WHICH THE ISRAELIS HAVE HELD AGAINST A SCORE OF ATTACKS SINCE THE FIGHTING STARTED A WEEK AGO.
THE SPOKESMAN SAID ISRAELI TROOPS RETURNED THE FIRE, AND AFTER ABOUT 90 MINUTES THE EXCHANGE DIED DOWN.

RUBBER (450)
BY LARRY ALLEN
(ADVANCE) SINGAPORE, MAY 9-(AP)-THE RUBBER MEN OF MALAYA, MANY OF WHOM,

HAVE BEEN GETTING RICH QUICK OUT OF SOARING PRICES, ARE A LITTLE WORRIED OVER THE FUTURE--THEY DON'T KNOW JUST HOW MUCH PROFIT IT MAY HOLD.

THEY KNOW THAT THE HEAVY WORLDWIDE DEMAND FOR RUBBER, CAUSED MAINLY BY BUYING FOR MILITARY STOCKPILING, IS TAPERING OFF.

THE PRICE OF RUBBER HAS BEEN UP TO THE ALL-TIME PEAK OF STRAITS $2.36 (NEARLY 78 CENTS, U.S.). TODAY IT TUMBLED TO STRAITS $1.67--DIPPING BELOW THE U.S. CEILING FOR THE FIRST TIME.

A BIG FACTOR IN ALL OF THIS HAS BEEN THE STEP-UP OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER PRODUCTION IN THE UNITED STATES. THE AMERICANS LONG HAVE BEEN THE BIGGEST BUYERS OF MALAYAN RUBBER.

NOW, THE AMERICAN DEMAND HAS SLOWED DOWN.

ANOTHER BLOW FOR MALAYA'S RUBBER MEN HAS BEEN THE DECISION OF THE SINGAPORE AND MALAYAN GOVERNMENTS TO ENFORCE DESTINATIONAL CONTROL OF EXPORTS.

THIS MEANS THAT THE UNITED STATES, UNITED KINGDOM, CANADA AND OTHER "FRIENDLY" COUNTRIES ARE TO GET ALL THAT THEY NEED BEFORE SALES TO COMMUNIST COUNTRIES.

IT HAS BEEN THE DEMAND FROM SOVIET RUSSIA, RED CHINA, HONG KONG AND OTHER BUYERS WHICH HAS MADE IT POSSIBLE FOR RUBBER TO STAY AT A HIGH PRICE LEVEL.

MALAYA'S RUBBER PRODUCERS AND TRADERS WANT A FREE MARKET.

THEIR "ANTI-AMERICAN" FEELING IS RUNNING HIGH. THEY BLAMED THE UNITED STATES FOR DEPRESSING THE PRICE OF MALAYAN TIN WHICH WENT AS HIGH AS STRAITS $783 PER PICUL ON LAST FEB. 14.

(ONE STRAITS DOLLAR EQUALS 32 3/4 CENTS UNITED STATES. A PICUL IS 133 1/2 POUNDS).

RUBBER MEN SAY THE AMERICANS, HAVING TRIED TO "PUT THE SCREWS" ON THE TIN PRICE, NOW ARE WIELDING A BIG STICK AGAINST RUBBER.

THEY DECLARE THE DECISION TO ENFORCE DESTINATIONAL CONTROL OF RUBBER EXPORTS IS PURELY A RESULT OF AMERICAN PRESSURE UPON THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

C.THORNTON, PRESIDENT OF THE FEDERATED MALAY STATES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TOLD ITS ANNUAL MEETING:

"WE HAVE SEEN TO WHAT LENGTHS THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAS GONE TO FORCE DOWN THE PRICE OF TIN.

"IT APPEARS TO BE RUBBER PRODUCERS WILL HAVE TO BE ALERT TO AVOID BEING BLUDGEONED BY THIS ADDITIONAL WEAPON (EXPORTS CONTROL) GRATUITOUSLY OFFERED BY OUR GOVERNMENTS TO OUR LARGEST CONSUMER."

A LEADING RUBBER PRODUCER SAID:

"THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT BRITAIN WAS BEEN MADE TO AGREE TO AN ARRANGEMENT AT THE POINT OF A PISTOL."

STILL ANOTHER DOUBTED THAT AMERICA COULD PREVENT BIG RUBBER SUPPLIES GETTING TO RUSSIA AND RED CHINA BECAUSE "THEY CAN BUY FROM INDONESIA AND CEYLON."

A LONE VOICE--THAT OF H.H.FACER, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED PLANTING ASSOCIATION OF MALAYA--SUPPORTED EXPORTS CONTROL. HE SAID IT WAS INCONSISTENT TO SUPPLY RUSSIA WITH IMPORTANT SINEWS OF WAR AND ADDED HE HAS NOT WORRIED ABOUT AMERICA'S INTENTIONS.

NO MALAYAN RUBBER MAN HAS YET SAID WHAT HE CONSIDERS A "REASONABLE AND FAIR" PRICE FOR RUBBER. EVERY RUBBER PRODUCER AND TRADER SEEMS TO TAKE THE LINE THAT IS THE HIGHEST PRICE THEY CAN GET.

MALAYA'S RUBBER PRODUCERS AND TRADERS SAY THEY'VE EARNED THE RIGHT TO A GOOD PROFIT.

THEY POINT OUT THAT THEY CONSTANTLY HAVE TO BE ALERT TO REPEL ATTACKS BY COMMUNIST TERRORISTS.

MANY PLANTERS HAVE BEEN KILLED AND WOUNDED SINCE THE STATE OF EMERGENCY IN THE WAR AGAINST TERRORISTS WAS PROCLAIMED IN MALAYA JUNE 1, 1948. SOME RUBBER MEN ARE URGING THE GOVERNMENT TO DECLARE MARTIAL LAW IN MALAYA.

TENS OF THOUSANDS OF RUBBER TREES HAVE BEEN SLASHED BY THE REDS. THEY HAVE FIRED RUBBER ESTATES. DERAILED TRAINS. BLOWN UP BRIDGES, AND DONE EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO HALT RUBBER OUTPUT. THE HOME OF EVERY RUBBER PLANTER IS A VIRTUAL FORTRESS, PROTECTED BY SANDBAGS AND MACHINEGUNS.

YET THE RUBBER MEN PROUDLY POINT TO THE FACT THAT RUBBER EXPORTS FROM MALAYA IN 1950 TOTALLED 1,106,499 TONS--THE HIGHEST IN HISTORY.

HONOLULU, MAY 10-(AP)-A FORMER HEAD OF THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA), WHICH KEEPS TAB ON FOREIGN MILITARY HAPPENINGS, SAID TODAY IT WAS WASHINGTON'S JOB TO TELL GENERAL MACARTHUR WHAT IT KNEW ABOUT CHINESE TROOP MOVEMENTS TO MANCHURIA.

THE OPINION CAME FROM REAR ADM. ROSCOE H.HILLENKOETER. HE SAID HE DID NOT RECALL ANY WORD OF CHINESE TROOP MOVEMENTS TO MANCHURIA UP TO THE TIME HE LEFT THE CIA OCT. 1. CHINESE ENTERED THE KOREAN WAR IN LATE OCTOBER.

UNDER NORMAL PROCEDURE, HILLENKOETER SAID, THE INFORMATION WOULD BE RELAYED TO MACARTHUR BY THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF AFTER THEY RECEIVED WORD FROM THE CIA.

SECOND NIGHT LEAD MACARTHUR-MARSHALL (325)

BY DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON,MAY 10-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL INDICATED TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES SHOULD USE ITS VETO POWER IF NECESSARY TO BLOCK THE ENTRY OF RED CHINA INTO THE UNITED NATIONS.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE HAS HELD THAT RED CHINA'S ADMISSION TO THE U. N. IS A "PROCEDURAL" MATTER WHICH CANNOT BE VETOED IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL--EVEN THOUGH THIS GOVERNMENT IS REPORTED OPPOSED TO THE ENTRY.

THE SECRETARY GAVE SENATORS THIS VIEW AS HE DEFENDED--FOR THE FOURTH STRAIGHT DAY--THE ADMINISTRATION PROGRAM IN ASIA WITH ARGUMENTS WHICH PRESIDENT TRUMAN TOLD REPORTERS ARE THE EXACT TRUTH, WORD FOR WORD.

HE WILL RESUME HIS TESTIMONY TOMORROW AT 9 A.M., EST.

SENATOR SMITH (R-NJ) RAISED THE QUESTION OF A U. S. VETO OF RED CHINA'S ADMISSION TO THE U. N. BY SAYING:

"DO YOU B

CHINA'S ADMISSION TO THE U. N. BY SAYING:

"DO YOU BELIEVE, IN CASE THE QUESTION OF RECOGNITION COMES UP, THE UNITED STATES SHOULD DEFINITELY EXERCISE A VETO?"

MARSHALL REPLIED: "THAT IS THE VERY DECIDED IMPRESSION I HAVE, AT THE PRESENT TIME."

SMITH: "DO YOU THINK WE SHOULD EXERCISE IT?"

MARSHALL: "I THINK WE SHOULD X X X"

SMITH INTERRUPTED: "THAT WE SHOULD EXERCISE THE VETO?

MARSHALL: "I WON'T GO INT THE TECHNICAL PART OF THAT, BUT WE SHOULD CERTAINLY NEVER YIELD TO IT (RED CHINA'S ADMISSION)."

EARLIER, MARSHALL HAD SAID THE U.S. GOVERNMENT WILL FIGHT COMMUNIST CHINA'S ADMISSION TO THE U.N. AND WILL NOT PERMIT THE ISLAND OF FORMOSA TO FALL INTO RED HANDS.

SENATOR SMITH SAID IT WAS HIS UNDERSTANDING THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION GAVE BRITAIN "THE GREEN LIGHT" TO GO AHEAD AND RECOGNIZE THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS. HE ASKED MARSHALL WHETHER THAT WAS A FACT AND WHETHER THE ADMINISTRATION HAD IMPLIED THIS COUNTRY WOULD GO ALONG WITH THE BRITISH.

MARSHALL SAID HE DID NOT KNOW, AND SUGGESTED THE QUESTION BE TAKEN UP WITH SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON, WHO IS TO TESTIFY LATER.

30.24- 22819

MARSHALL'S STATEMENT ON THE VETO CAME AFTER HE DENIED THAT OLD PREJUDICES, GROWING OUT OF CLASHING VIEWS OVER THE CHINESE REDS COMING TO POWER, HAD PLAYED A PART IN THE OUSTER OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

HE SAID: "I DON'T THINK THAT HAD ANY CONNECTION WITH IT WHATSOEVER. HE HAS SAID MACARTHUR WAS FIRED BECAUSE HE WAS OPENLY OUT OF SYMPATHY WITH THE PRESENT U. S. POLICIES IN ASIA.

TOWARD THE CLOSE OF THE DAY, SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) NOTED THAT THE COMPLETE RECORD OF THE HEARINGS "PROBABLY AS A RESULT OF INADVERTENCE DID NOT INCLUDE A PARAPHRASE OF SECRETARY MARSHALL'S ENDORSEMENT ON THE JOINT CHIEFS' RECOMMENDATIONS" RELATIVE TO A SETTLEMENT OR CEASE FIRE ARRANGEMENT IN THE KOREAN CONFLICT.

PARAPHRASING OF SECRET DOCUMENTS HAS BEEN EMPLOYED IN THE HEARING TO PREVENT BREAKING OF MILITARY CODES.

THE JOINT CHIEFS HAD RECOMMENDED THAT IN ANY CEASE FIRE DISCUSSIONS THE MATTER OF U.N. MEMBERSHIP FOR RED CHINA AND THE QUESTION OF FORMOSA SHOULD NOT BE SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION.

MAY 2 1951

KNOWLAND SAID "GENERAL MARSHALL APPARENTLY SAID HE APPROVED OF EVERYTHING EXCEPT HE DID FEEL THAT THESE MATTERS COULD BE DISCUSSED."

IN ANSWERING, MARSHALL TOOK THE "TOP SECRET" LABEL OFF A LETTER WRITTEN BY ACTING SECRETARY OF DEFENSE ROBERT A.LOVETT, ON MARCH 31.

THIS LETTER EXPRESSED THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT'S VIEW THAT THE QUESTIONS OF FORMOSA AND CHINESE COMMUNIST MEMBERSHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS, QX X WOULD BE FITTING TOPICS IN THE CONSIDERATION OF BASIC TERMS OF SETTLEMENT OF THE KOREAN SITUATION AND MIGHT BE TAKEN UP IN DISCUSSIONS" BETWEEN THE DEFENSE AND STATE DEPARTMENTS.

EARLIER, MACARTHUR WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN READY IN 1945 TO MARCH ALLIED TROOPS AGAINST THE CHINESE RED ARMY UNLESS THE COMMUNISTS LAID DOWN THEIR ARMS AND AGREED TO A FREE ELECTION IN CHINA.

SENATOR SMITH SAID THIS REPORT CAME FROM "A PRETTY GOOD AUTHORITY" AND STATED THAT AFTER V-J DAY MACARTHUR TOLD THE WAR DEPARTMENT THE CHINESE RED FORCE WAS COMPOSED OF ONLY 125,000 TO 250,000 GUERILLAS.

"HE PROPOSED," SMITH SAID, "THAT WITH CHINESE GOVERNMENT AGREEMENT, AMERICA GUARANTEE THE PERSONAL SAFETY OF THE COMMUNIST LEADERS AND THEIR RIGHT TO PARTICIPATE AS A LEGAL POLITICAL PARTY IN FREE ELECTIONS, UNDER AMERICAN SUPERVISION, AFTER PEACE WAS RESTORED.

"FOR THIS, THEY WERE TO LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS. IF THE COMMUNISTS REFUSED TO AGREE HE (MACARTHUR) PROPOSED THAT HE SURROUND AND DISARM THEM BY FORCE."

SMITH SAID HE WAS TOLD "DOZENS OF OFFICIALS" OF THE ARMY, NAVY, AIR FORCE, MARINES AND OFFICE OF STRATEGIC SERVICES SAW THE MACARTHUR REPORT. BUT MARSHALL DECLARED HE HAD NO RECOLLECTION OF EVER HAVING SEEN IT. AT THIS TIME, MARSHALL WAS ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF AND MACARTHUR'S MILITARY BOSS.

SMITH GAVE THIS INFORMATION FROM A LETTER WHOSE AUTHOR REMAINED ANONYMOUS. THE LETTER WENT ON TO IMPLY THAT THE MACARTHUR PROPOSAL TO MARCH AGAINST THE REDS WAS SENT TO JOHN CARTER VINCENT, THEN "HEAD OF THE CHINA GROUP IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT," TO BE "POLISHED UP"--BUT IT CAME OUT "THE EXACT OPPOSITE" IN THE FINISHED REPORT.

VINCENT WAS ONE OF THE MEN SENATOR MCCARTHY (R-WIS) ASSAILED LAST YEAR IN HIS COMMUNISTS-IN-GOVERNMENT CHARGES. DEMOCRATS ON AN INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE CALLED THE CHARGES UNFOUNDED, LEADING MCCARTHY AND SOME OTHER REPUBLICANS TO CRY WHITEWASH.

TODAY'S TESTIMONY CROPPED UP AS MEMBERS OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES DUG INTO THE BACKGROUND OF THE LONG-DISPUTED U.S. POLICY IN ASIA AND THE MEN WHO HELPED FRAME IT.

AGAIN MARSHALL REJECTED THE PRESENT PROPOSALS OF GENERAL MACARTHUR TO BOMB CHINA INTO SURRENDER. MARSHALL DECLARED THIS WOULD RISK A WORLD STRUGGLE WITH RUSSIA FOR WHICH THE UNITED STATES IS NOT PREPARED.

"THE BEST MILITARY ADVICE I HAVE," HE SAID, "X X X IS THAT THE COURSE WE ARE NOW FOLLOWING IS THE ONLY PRACTICAL COURSE AT THE MOMENT WHICH WE FEEL CAN LEAD TO A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME OF THAT CAMPAIGN IN TERMINATING THE AGGRESSION X X X WITH THE LEAST LOSS OF LIFE AND WITH THE LEAST POSSIBILITY OF THE INTERVENTION OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT."

HE SAID THE UNITED STATES SHOULD "NEVER YIELD" TO ANY ARGUMENT FOR ADMISSION OF RED CHINA INTO THE UNITED NATIONS--AND HE REPEATED THAT THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION IS AGAINST GIVING THE ISLAND OF FORMOSA TO THE REDS.

SENATOR MORSE (R-ORE) ASKED MARSHALL IF HE THOUGHT A BLOCKADE OF PORT ARTHUR--AS PROPOSED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR--MIGHT INFLUENCE THE RUSSIANS ON WHETHER OR NOT THEY ENTER THE WAR.

"THAT IS CORRECT, SIR," HE REPLIED. "I THINK IT WOULD INTRODUCE THAT LIKELIHOOD."

MAY 11 1951

PORT ARTHUR IS A RUSSIAN-HELD NAVAL BASE IN MANCHURIA.

MORSE CONTINUED: "IN LIGHT OF HISTORY, HAVE WE NOT LEARNED THAT THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE HAVE USUALLY RALLIED TO THE DEFENSE OF THEIR COUNTRY WHENEVER THEY HAVE FELT THAT A FOREIGN POWER WAS ENCROACHING EITHER ON THEIR LAND TERRITORY OR UPON THEIR EXIT TO THE REST OF THE WORLD THROUGH A PORT?"

"I THINK THAT IS CORRECT, SIR," MARSHALL SAID.

MORSE: "THEREFORE, AM I CORRECT IN CONCLUDING THAT ONE OF THE REASONS FOR THE OPPOSITION OF THE DEFENSE ESTABLISHMENT X X X TO GENERAL MACARTHUR'S SUGGESTION X X X WAS THE FEELING OR FEAR X X X THAT IT MIGHT HAVE A VERY DIRECT EFFECT ON HASTENING THE TIME WHEN RUSSIA MIGHT ENTER A FULL SCALE WAR IN ASIA?"

MARSHALL: "THAT IS CORRECT, SIR."

THE SECRETARY ARGUED THAT A PORT ARTHUR BLOCKADE "WOULD HAVE THREATENED A BREAKDOWN OF THE WHOLE UNITED NATIONS PROGRAM FOR THE KOREAN WAR."

HE WENT ON TO SAY:

"WE ARE GATHERING OUR STRENGTH AS RAPIDLY AS WE CAN AND WE CERTAINLY DO NOT WANT TO BECOME INVOLVED IN A WORLD STRUGGLE AT THIS TIME, AND CERTAINLY NOT PRIOR TO THE TIME WE ARE REASONABLY PREPARED TO MEET IT."

SENATOR JOHNSON (D-TEX) SAID: "YOU DO NOT THINK THAT WE ARE PRESENTLY PREPARED TO MEET IT?"

MARSHALL: "I AM QUITE CERTAIN WE ARE NOT."

JOHNSON SAID MACARTHUR HAD TESTIFIED THAT IN 14 YEARS HE HAD NOT GIVEN "MUCH THOUGHT" TO SOME OF THE "IMPORTANT ISSUES OF THE DAY THAT WERE MENTIONED TO HIM."

HE ADDED: "DO YOU CONSIDER THIS SIGNIFICANT IN APPRAISING THE SOUNDNESS OF HIS PROPOSALS FOR THE KOREAN CAMPAIGN?"

MARSHALL REPLIED: "WELL, I THINK THAT IS MADE VERY CLEAR BY GENERAL MACARTHUR HIMSELF THAT THE GLOBAL CONSEQUENCES HAVE NOT BEEN ENTIRELY APPARENT TO HIM."

(630) MARSHALL HIGHLIGHTS

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-HIGHLIGHTS OF DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL'S FOURTH APPEARANCE BEFORE THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES TODAY (TAKEN FROM THE CENSORED RECORD OF THE PRIVATE HEARING):

SENATOR H. ALEXANDER SMITH (R-NJ): NOW, I WOULD LIKE TO ASK THE QUESTION WHETHER IN DETERMINING TO REMOVE GEN. MACARTHUR XXX MR. DULLES (A SPECIAL AMBASSADOR OF THE PRESIDENT'S AND REPUBLICAN ADVISER TO SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON) WAS CONSULTED, WHETHER THE POSSIBLE EFFECT ON THE (JAPANESE) PEACE TREATY WAS CONSIDERED AT ALL XXX

SECRETARY MARSHALL: MR. DULLES WAS NOT CONSULTED.

SMITH: DID THOSE WHO MADE OR CONCURRED IN THIS DECISION TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THE INEVITABLE ADVERSE RELATIONS WITH JAPAN IN THIS CRITICAL MOMENT?

MARSHALL: THAT WAS VERY CAREFULLY CONSIDERED.

SMITH: WHAT WERE YOU SUPPOSED TO DO IN CHINA (IN 1945-46)?

MARSHALL: I WAS SUPPOSED PRIMARILY TO BRING AN END TO THE FIGHTING. THAT WAS THE PRIMARY PURPOSE OF MY TRIP. I WAS NOT, EXCEPT IN AN INFERENTIAL MANNER, TO GO INTO THE POLITICAL FACTORS.

SMITH: GEN. WEDEMEYER WAS ON THE CHIANG KAI-SHEK NATIONALIST SIDE OF THE DEBATE AND WHAT I AM LEADING UP TO IS THAT I UNDERSTAND THAT GEN. MACARTHUR VERY DEFINITELY FAVORED THAT SIDE IN THIS DISCUSSION AND HE THOUGHT WE WERE MAKING A GREAT MISTAKE TO MOVE OVER INTO THE CHINESE COMMUNIST SUPPORT WHICH WAS ADVOCATED BY SO MANY OF OUR OWN STATE DEPARTMENT PEOPLE. I AM JUST TRYING TO BRING OUT WHETHER THAT BACK-GROUND HASN'T SOMETHING TO DO WITH THE PRESENT PREJUDICE OBVIOUSLY IN THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE AND THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE AGAINST GEN. MACARTHUR, HAS SOMETHING TO DO WITH THE CAUSE OF HIS REMOVAL.

MARSHALL: I DON'T THINK THAT HAD ANY CONNECTION WITH IT WHATSOEVER, SENATOR.

SMITH: DO YOU BELIEVE, IN CASE THE QUESTION OF RECOGNITION (OF RED CHINA IN THE UNITED NATIONS) COMES UP (IN A DISCUSSION OF KOREAN ARMISTICE TERMS) THE UNITED STATES SHOULD DEFINITELY EXERCISE A VETO?

MARSHALL: THAT IS THE VERY DECIDED IMPRESSION I HAVE, AT THE PRESENT TIME.

SENATOR LYNDON B. JOHNSON (D-TEX):

MAY 11 1951

JOHNSON: XXX I WANT TO KNOW WHETHER IT IS YOUR OPINION THAT THE PRESENT COURSE THAT THIS NATION IS FOLLOWING IN KOREA IS CALCULATED TO BRING US THE QUICKEST VICTORY FOR OUR OBJECTIVES WITH THE LEAST LOSSES OF LIFE.

MARSHALL: THE BEST MILITARY ADVICE I HAVE, IN WHICH I CONCUR WITH THE INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO ME, IS THAT THE COURSE WE ARE NOW FOLLOW-ING IS THE ONLY PRACTICAL COURSE AT THE MOMENT WHICH WE FEEL CAN LEAD TO A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME OF THE CAMPAIGN IN TERMINATING THE AGGRESSION, AND A VICTORY IN CONSEQUENCE, WITH THE LEAST LOSS OF LIFE AND WITH THE LEAST POSSIBILITY OF THE INTERVENTION OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT.

JOHNSON:: NOW, GENERAL, ARE YOU COMPLETELY SATISFIED IN THE LIGHT OF WORLD CONDITIONS AS WE MEET HERE THIS MORNING WITH THE PREPAREDNESS AND MOBILIZATION EFFORT THAT IS BEING MADE BY THIS COUNTRY AND THE RESULTS WE ARE OBTAINING?

MARSHALL: SPEAKING PURELY FROM THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT'S POINT OF VIEW, AND VERY FRANKLY, I AM NOT. WE ARE IN A SITUATION WHERE TIME IS OF IMPERATIVE IMPORTANCE AND WHERE OUR BASIC PLAN TO MEET THIS CRISIS IN A MANNER THAT CAN BE SUSTAINED WITHOUT TOO SERIOUS ECONOMIC INVOLVE-MENTS IS COMPLETELY HELD UP HERE IN CONGRESS. ALL OUR PLANNING HAS BEEN BASED IN GENERAL ON THAT MANPOWER PROGRAM. XXXX THE MAN-POWER PROBLEM, WHICH REALLY MEANS UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING AND SERVICE. XXX NOW IT HAS GOTTEN TO THE POINT WHERE I THINK I CAN SAY WITHOUT OVER-EMPHASIS THAT EVERY DAY OF DELAY IS UNFORTUNATE -- TO PUT IT VERY MILDLY.

JOHNSON: YOU DO NOT THINK THAT WE ARE PRESENTLY PREPARED TO MEET IT (A WORLD STRUGGLE)?

MARSHALL: I AM QUITE CERTAIN WE ARE NOT.

SENATOR MORSE (R-ORE):

IS IT YOUR OPINION, GEN. MARSHALL, THAT IF WE ADOPTED GEN. MACAR-THUR'S RECOMMENDATIONS FOR AN EXTENSION OF THE WAR IN ASIA, THAT JUST THE OPPOSITE OF THE EFFECT THAT HE BELIEVES WOULD BE THE CASE, NAMELY A REDUCTION OF CASUALTIES, WOULD IN FACT BE THE CASE, NAMELY AN INCREASE IN CASUALTIES?

A78WX

MARSHALL: THAT WAS OUR FEAR.

MORSE: ARE WE NOT, GENERAL, SHORT OF TRAINED MILITARY MANPOWER TO A VERY SEROUS DEGEE?

TT

MO

MORSE: ARE WE NOT, GENERAL, SHORT OF TRAINED MILITARY MANPOWER TO A VERY SERIOUS DEGREE?

MARSHALL: YES, SIR.

MORSE: AND IS IT NOT ALSO TRUE THAT WE ARE SHORT OF MODERN EQUIP-MENT AT THE PRESENT TIME TO A SERIOUS DEGREE INCLUDING PLANES, TANKS AND OTHER MILITARY EQUIPMENT?

MARSHALL: YES, SIR.

MORSE: IS IT NOT TRUE THAT OUR ALLIED STRENGTH IS IN EXACTLY THE SAME CONDITION OF INADEQUATE PREPAREDNESS AT THE PRESENT TIME?

MARSHALL: MUCH MORE SO.

Transcript of Fourth Day of Marshall's Senate Testimony on U. S. Policy in the Far East

MAY 11 1951

*WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Following is the censored transcript of today's hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into the Administration foreign policy (censorship deletions are indicated by * * ):

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL — The committee will come to order.

At the time the committee recessed on yesterday, Senator Smith was questioning Secretary Marshall. I understand you have not concluded your questions so you will proceed.

Testimony of Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall (resumed) accompanied by Felix Larkin, general counsel.

SENATOR SMITH—Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Secretary Marshall or General Marshall, there was a question that came to my attention this morning from something I saw in the morning paper on this. I will just diverge from my other line of questioning a minute to ask you this question:

Would you consider the question of whether we should settle at the Thirty-eighth Parallel as a political or a policy question or military question?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I would feel that as to the Thirty-eighth Parallel the security of the Army would be involved, as it was in the instructions given General MacArthur on the first return to the Thirty-eighth Parallel after the aggression started there, and more particularly recently, after the withdrawal from North Korea south of Seoul, to south of Seoul, and the return of the Fourth under General Ridgway to the vicinity of the Thirty-eighth Parallel.

There, there [sic] was a military factor of the security of that command, meaning that part of the command might have to move north of the parallel in order to furnish adequate protection against turning movements, for example.

There was also the general political factor as to whether we should renew a movement into North Korea, a limited movement into North Korea. That was a political factor.

Q.—What I am trying to get at is what kind of an issue is a military commander in the field justified in commenting on. We criticized General MacArthur for having said certain things. What brought this question to my mind was to read in Mr. Walter Lippmann's column this morning in commenting on something else, where he said:

"But General Ridgway, who did such extraordinary things in averting what looked like a military defeat, went on record two months ago saying that 'it would be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended with our forces in control up to the Thirty-eighth Parallel.'"

I am just wondering whether a statement like that was cleared with the Department of Defense or whether that was a statement that General Ridgway was justified in making without clearance?

A.—I am quite certain that that was not cleared with the Department of Defense.

Q.—Well, isn't that the type of statement which you criticized General MacArthur for?

A.—I don't think that there is a sufficient of a parallel there, Senator. We have for example had no general public discussions regarding the Thirty-eighth Parallel so far as the commanders in the field and the Government here in Washington.

There Ridgway was saying something to the encouragement of his forces as he did in a statement that was released this morning.

Q.—I recall that in our discussions yesterday the point was brought out that the President of the United States at the press conference in January appealed to the Tokyo headquarters at least specifically to define General MacArthur's authority but denied there was any curb on his authority to speak freely on the Korean war and that he has been criticized since for speaking on the Korean war, and yet it seems to me General Ridgway was doing the same. I admit it is a close line.

Opinion Is Sought On Ridgway Statement

I want to get the statements military men can make without being cleared with the Department of Defense, and the kind of thing that he would be reprimanded for if he didn't clear with the Department of Defense, but I won't labor the point. I just want to bring this incident to your attention to see whether you felt there was an indiscretion there by General Ridgway two months in making that sort of a statement. It begins:

"It would be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended with our forces in control up to the Thirty-eighth Parallel."

If that isn't a matter of policy, I don't see what could be. It doesn't say anything about the safety of the troops.

A.—That quite evidently was directed at this own troops and their morale, I would say. This is my own opinion.

Q.—Now, to continue my discussion of yesterday, General, I want to get clearly in my mind with regard to this other responsibility that General MacArthur had in Japan, and in the first place General MacArthur had as Supreme Commander of the allied nations in Japan. As I understand, it was very much concerned with the Japanese peace treaty. Mr. John Foster Dulles had just come back from Japan after having been in a number of negotiations on the peace treaty, both discussing it with Japanese leaders and with our allies in Australia, and New Zealand and so on, trying to get some overall understanding with regard to it; and supposedly General MacArthur was in on the whole discussion.

Now, I would like to ask the question whether in determining to remove General MacArthur from that position in SCAP, we will call it, whether Mr. Dulles was consulted, whether the possible effect on the peace treaty was considered at all by the groups that removed General MacArthur.

A.—Mr. Dulles was not consulted. I do not know whom the President spoke to other than the four officials I have mentioned—myself, Secretary of State, Ambassador Harriman and General Bradley. I know the President did speak to three or four others. I am quite certain Mr. Dulles was not among those four, but I can not be positive.

Q.—Does it not seem strange when the President asked Mr. Dulles to take that responsibility of carrying on those negotiations for the peace treaty, the possible effect on all that by the removal of General MacArthur—does it not seem strange Mr. Dulles was not asked what his views would be?

A.—I believe I explained yesterday that that matter of General MacArthur's relation to the peace treaty was discussed at considerable length. However, the Secretary of State was present to give his views in relation to that matter.

Q.—Was there any suggestion in any of the discussions of improper conduct on the part of General MacArthur in the exercise of these other commands other than the Korean command, in the decision to remove him as Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers? Did those who made or concurred in this decision take into account the inevitable adverse relations with Japan in this critical moment? Did they consider what might be the effect on Japan?

A.—That was very carefully considered.

Q.—Let me ask you this question; I think it was asked, in another form by Senator Bridges, yesterday:

Whether there is any other American whose personal prestige with the Japanese people and the Japanese Government was in any way equal to that of General MacArthur?

A.—I think it was generally recognized that this prestige with the Japanese people was not to be duplicated, certainly in a short time, by any other individual.

Q.—Well, I'm not quite clear, then, why all the haste was necessary.

Why wasn't it considered—I read to you yesterday the questions I put to General McArthur, whether he would have turned his command over to General Ridgway, if requested by his superiors.

Why wasn't it possible to send a member of the Joint Chiefs over to talk with him, or have him come here, and explore this with him, and request him to turn over his command, which he would have done—why was it necessary to humiliate him by his public discharge, without notice?

A.—That was the fault of the radio——

Sought to Avoid Division of Authority

Q.—Why was it necessary to humiliate him to the further extent of taking him out of the Japanese command, where it is conceded he has done one of the most outstanding jobs in history, with the Japanese people?

A.—Starting with the last phase of your question, first, Senator: I went into that the other day, and explained that it had been discussed at considerable length, and the feeling was, and decision finally was that it would be most unwise to have the possible confusion of conflict between General Ridgway, who was undertaking an extremely difficult job, under the circumstances, with all of the forces based in Japan, the utilization of Japanese facilities, and, I presume, of the Japanese people, and at the same time to have another American in authority in the same region, and it was felt that that would result in a divided authority which might open up many confusions.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that General Ridgway was General MacArthur's choice for the command in Korea? A.—I was not in Washington at that time. I don't know whether he sent the name in or it was proposed to him. But I know he highly approved.

Q.—General MacArthur testified here he would have suggested the name of Ridgway. It seems with the divided command, with General Ridgway in Japan and General Van Fleet in Korea, you have the divided command. A.—But General Van Fleet is under General Ridgway.

Q.—Sir? A.—He is subordinate to General Ridgway.

Q.—General Ridgway on every matter except Korean strategy could have been subordinate to General MacArthur. A.—I didn't understand.

Q.—You say General Van Fleet is subordinate to General Ridgway. A.—Yes.

Q.—You didn't think it was possible to have General Ridgway in command of Korea in the matter of strategy there and still have General Ridgway subordinate to General MacArthur so far as Japanese relationships are concerned, the peace treaty and those things he is so concerned with. I am frankly concerned because I am on the subcommittee of the Foreign Relations Committee. We have been considering this Japanese peace treaty for a long time, have been in constant talks with Mr. Dulles, and I feel very much frustrated by this development, because I don't know what our responsibilities are, how we carry through on them.

General Ridgway admittedly knows nothing about them, and Mr. Dulles may have to go out there with very little background and carry the load.

Is that what the group contemplated?

A.—You are going now into a detail which comes within the State Department and does not come within the Defense Department.

Q.—I thought that you, as one of those who participated in deciding that General MacArthur must go, must realize the importance of the Japanese situation. A.—All I can say is, as I explained, that it was discussed at length.

SENATOR SMITH—Now, Mr. Chairman, I would like very much to have it appear in the appendix—I think we have all these documents, but they ought to appear together—the documents which include the President's order dismissing General MacArthur and the supporting documents that were given to the press, so that the appendix will show those documents together—I want the documents together with the justification in the President's statement for General MacArthur's dismissal.

THE CHAIRMAN—Those documents have already been printed in the——

SENATOR SMITH—They are printed in this report.

THE CHAIRMAN—In the compilation that was arranged for the benefit of the committee, but I see no objection to having them reprinted again, and if no member of the committee objects, they will be printed in the appendix along with the other documents.

SENATOR SMITH—I would like them reprinted with some kind of a caption that these documents, including the President's order of dismissal, were the statements issued by the White House as the justification for the dismissal.

THE CHAIRMAN—Very well. If you will prepare the caption you desire, we will have it appear.

SENATOR SMITH—I thank the chairman, and I will take it up with our staff.

Now, General Marshall, I think we agreed yesterday that probably the documents we were considering were not the sole cause of General MacArthur's dismissal.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Correct, sir.

Marshall's Background In China Discussed

Q.—There were other causes. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—I want, if I can, to see if I can find out for the record and for our own information what the background causes were of General MacArthur's dismissal, and in doing that I want to go back and ask you a few questions about your experience in China.

You have testified, if I understood you correctly, that you went to China in Christmas of 1945. You came back once for a short trip but stayed there until January, 1947. A.—Correct, sir.

Q.—Now might I ask you this? Had you been to China before that trip or was that your first trip to China? A.—I was there from '24 to 1927.

Q.—'24 to '27. That is sometime back before the recent crisis. A.—That is the only other time. I had been in the Manchuria in 1914.

Q.—Well, now could I ask you this. What was the directive that you received for your trip to China in Christmas 1945? I would like very much to know what the general outline of that directive was. There have been different reports about it. A.—I haven't the actual directive, but I have a summation of it here. The objectives as stated in President Truman's instructions to me—

Q.—I would be satisfied if you are willing to put the directive in the record as one of our documents. A.—That is very simple to do that. I was trying to transpose the discussion here into the statement of the directive, and I can't do it very conveniently.

Q.—If we can do that, I would like to have it in the record.

(The document above referred to will be found in the appendix to the final printed record.)

Q.—Let me ask you your recollection of the broad reaches of that directive. What were you supposed to do in China? A.—I was supposed primarily to bring an end to the fighting. That was the primary purpose of my trip. I was not, except in an inferential manner, to go into the political factors.

Those were stated in the President's directive, and they had as their background previous meetings and discussions which had occurred, and particularly in which General Hurley, then Ambassador, represented this Government.

The principal factor in relation the President's directive was t there had been an agreement ...en all the parties in China, t... uomintang or Government pa... the Communist party and the ...nor parties to a meeting called a political consultative conference which had been agreed upon in October of 1945, and in December, about the 16th, 1945, the date was announced for that meeting of January 10, 1946.

I arrived under this Presidential directive just before Christmas in '45, and my job under that directive as I comprehended it and as you can read and form your own conclusions was to bring about a cessation of hostilities which were rapidly building up, and between the date of my arrival and the morning of Jan. 10 about thirty minutes before this general meeting with political purposes of the political consultative conference, there was a signed agreement between the representatives of the Communist regime as for their armies, and the representative of the Generalissimo as for the armies of the Nationalist Government which was an armistice and which it was left to me to implement and did that by establishing in Peiping an executive headquarters of our people, the government people and the Communist people.

General Was Trying To Effect an Armistice

Q.—You were trying to get them together, to cease fighting; that was the purpose of your trip? A.—I was trying to bring about an armistice.

Q.—Let me ask you this: When you did discover that you could not mix the two groups, you could not get them together, did you have any authority beyond that to make any recommendations with regard to our relationship with the Kuomintang Government or the Commies or anything else?

A.—I don't quite understand what you mean by "authority." I made recommendations back to our Government, to the President directly, to him.

But, Senator, I moved into another role immediately after that; this meeting took place, this political meeting took place, in which I did not participate, and they reached a signed agreement—all the parties involved.

THE CHAIRMAN—Who were the parties, just to clear up the record?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—The National Government delegates, the Communist regime delegates, the Democratic League delegates, the Young China party delegates; one other party called the Democratic Scientific Group delegates and delegates without any party affiliations.

In that conclusion that they arrived at were two important matters: One was that there should be a constitutional convention on May 5, 1946; and that there should be a committee set up to which I was to be the adviser for the purpose of demobilizing the tremendous forces then under arms, and amalgamating the Communist forces, as reduced, with the Government forces, as also reduced.

So, I sat as an adviser to that committee, and a working detailed agreement was arrived at—I have forgotten the date, but it occurred just the day before I left Chungking on my return to the United States in March of 1946.

Now, then, between that and the following fall occurred a great many events, and thereafter I became involved in the matter of the differences as to the political factors regarding which they could not reach an agreement which permitted them to have the constitutional convention on May 5, and to set up the interim state council, which was to act while they were getting ready to put a constitution into effect.

SENATOR SMITH—Do you recall who had a hand in the preparation of the directives that sent you to China?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—At that time, Senator—Mr. Byrnes was Secretary of State and I presume he had a hand in it; Mr. Acheson was under Secretary of State, and I presume he had a hand in it; John Carter Vincent was the head of the China group in the State Department—certainly, he had a hand in it. I do not know what others did.

On my part, General Hull, who is now on duty in the Army headquarters, and was the head of the Operations Division during the war for me, he represented my interests so far as I was concerned in that, together with a man from Time magazine forces, who had helped me briefly in the latter part of the war in the preparation of my final report, and who the directorship of Time loaned me to take to China with me, because he had been there throughout a good period of the war.

Secretary Saw MacArthur In Tokyo on Return

Q.—Did I understand you to say yesterday that you did not see General MacArthur on that trip to confer with him on the general Far East situation? A.—On the trip out I did not go through Japan, I went through the Philippines and In... China. On my return in March, I came back to Tokyo and saw ...eral MacArthur then.

Q.—Did you ... the Chinese situation with ... t that time? A.—I think I ... d yesterday—anyway, I st... t today, that I have no disti... t recollection of a conversation ... ith General MacArthur in regar... to China. I would assume we ta... ed it over because it was the for... ost thought in my mind. But I am quite certain there was not a form... al discussion of the matter.

Q.—You mentioned Time magazine. Can you tell us who it was on the magazine? A.—I just remembered his name—Mr. Shepley.

Q.—Would you spell it for the record? A.—S-h-e-p-l-e-y. I think it is James Shepley.

Q.—Now we are all aware, Secretary Marshall, that there were differences of opinion with regard to our whole China policy, and I want to ask you what part General Stilwell played in that whole picture in determining these policies. He was, as I understand, one of your advisers in that matter at that time. A.—He was the theatre commander.

Q.—Yes. I want to get the difference if I can. What I am after is the difference between General Stilwell's views and Wedemeyer's views because that, I think, has an important bearing on the subject.

A.—I think the reports will show, and they can be brought into this—I am going back into recollection—that General Stilwell's view, basic view, was very much the same as General Wedemeyer's. His methods of procedure would naturally have been quite different from those of General Wedemeyer because Stilwell was a very positive, impatient individual, and he had an extremely difficult role to perform.

Stilwell, as I recall this phase, was intensely desirous of bringing the Communist army forces and the Nationalist army forces together in coordinated operations against the Japanese. And I think the records will show that he felt that the Nationalist forces were inclined or too much involved in fighting the Communists rather than getting together in the operation against the Japanese.

General Wedemeyer at that time Nov. 20, 1945, stated that—"The Nationalist Government was completely unprepared for the occupation of Manchuria in the face of Communist opposition."

Chiang Told to Center Efforts on North China

On Nov. 20, 1945, General Wedemeyer reported, he being then the commander of our troops in China and the chief of staff to the Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek—reported, "Chinese Communist guerrillas and saboteurs can and probably will, if present activities are reliable indication, restrict and harass the movements of National Government forces to such an extent that the results will be a costly and extended campaign. Logistical support for National Government forces and measures for their security in the heart of Manchuria have not been fully appreciated by the Generalissimo or his Chinese staff. These facts, plus the lack of appropriate forces and transport, have caused me to advise the Generalissimo that he should concentrate his efforts on the recovery of North China and the consolidation of his military and political position there prior to any attempt to occupy Manchuria."

Among General Wedemeyer's conclusions at that time were the following:

"The Generalissimo will be able to stabilize the situation in South China provided he accepts the assistance of foreign administrators and technicians and engages in political, economic and social reforms through honest, competent civilian officials. He will be unable to stabilize the situation in North China for months or perhaps even years unless a satisfactory settlement with the Chinese Communists is achieved and followed up realistically by the kind of action suggested in the previous paragraph.

"He will be unable to occupy Manchuria for many years unless satisfactory agreements are reached with Russia and the Chinese Communists."

I have no specific recollection of General Stillwell's attitude regarding those matters because he was relieved of his command before we got to that particular phase.

What I do recognize was his desire to bring a concerted action against the Japanese, on the part of the Nationalist forces, and the Communist regime forces.

Q.—That report you read from was about 1945? A.—The date of that, from General Wedemeyer, was Nov. 14, 1945.

Q.—Just after V-J Day, wasn't it? V-J Day was in August, wasn't it, 1945? A.—V-J Day was in August.

Q.—Yes, I recall.

Now, General, I want to move from there to why General Wedemeyer was called back to a special mission in China in 1947.

You say, in your previous testimony, that you had suggested to the President that he be asked to go on a special mission.

A.—I decided, in an effort to find out what best could be done, that General Wedemeyer was the best available person for that purpose, as he had been in China for a considerable period, he had commanded our forces in China, and he had been Chief of Staff to the Generalissimo, and the Generalissimo had great confidence in him.

Wedemeyer Told To Write His Directive

As I recall the conversational arrangements at the time, General Wedemeyer felt that in order to pursue this in the most effective manner, he not only should have a certain group with him, to look at various aspects, including the economic, but he should have a directive from the President, which gave him a status which would make practicable the investigation on the level we wished it made.

I told him to write his own directive for the President's use, or at least, his consideration. I don't recall to what extent it was modified. I think I recollect no modifications.

In any event I took the matter to the President, with the draft of the directive for General Wedemeyer. The President thought it a wise thing to send him, and it was appropriate to have that directive. Then, he authorized its issue to General Wedemeyer.

Q.—Well then, when General Wedemeyer came back and made his report on both China and Korea, as you have testified, that report was suppressed for certain reasons having to do with the present trusteeship in Manchuria, but General Wedemeyer still, in that report, feels that we should support Chiang Kai-shek, and the Chinese Nationalists, and was opposed by the views of certain of the ople in the State Department, on ...e other side.

What I am trying to bring out here, it seems to me it was developing, and I get this from reading the White Paper, a conflict of views. There were certain of our representatives in the Far East who were urging the State Department to think in terms of the Communist movement as an agrarian-reform program, something we should hitch up to, and we should, slowly but decisively, throw over Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang; and I'd like to ask you, at that point, whether Mr. Owen Lattimore and Mr. John Carter Vincent were not two of the persons who were a good deal behind the thinking that led to that change of view in the State Department, and led to lining up some of your younger representatives out there, on that side of the fence?

A.—Mr. Lattimore was not in the State Department at the time I was Chief of Staff.

Q.—I know that. He was a very close adviser.

A.—This covers the period that I was Secretary of State. I said Chief of Staff. I meant Secretary of State. He did not come to my attention until a long time afterwards.

John Carter Vincent, who represented the Chinese phases in the State Department for a considerable period of time, had very definite views regarding the Nationalist regime, but I personally received no impression while I was in the State Department that they were talking about an agrarian Communistic regime quite remote from a Marxist-Soviet regime.

As I explained yesterday, I myself knew that the leaders were Marxist Communists because they asserted that time and again to me, and were very jealous of that characterization, so I do not know of this agrarian idea except as I explained yesterday, there were those undoubtedly who felt that the majority of the Communists in China were of the agrarian industries, because the Communist regime did not include any industrial areas of any importance.

Q.—Isn't it true, General, that there were two views developing as to the Chinese Communists and as to the Chinese Nationalists and that there was a school of thought here that was pressing hard to have the Communist taken over as our interests, so to speak, and give attention to their whole movement and to rapidly let the Nationalist Chiang Kai-shek go, despite the fact that Chiang Kai-shek had been our ally during the war?

General Wedemeyer, I think, always favored our continuing support of General Chiang Kai-shek with all his faults and with all his weaknesses. A.—What is that about General Wedemeyer?

Q.—General Wedemeyer was on the Chiang Kai-shek Nationalist side of the debate and what I am leading up to is that I understood that General MacArthur very definitely favored that side in this discussion and he thought we were making a great mistake to move over into the Chinese Communist support which was advocated by so many of our own State Department people.

I am just trying to bring out whether that background hasn't something to do with the present prejudice obviously in the Department of Defense and the Department of State against General MacArthur, has something to do with the cause of his removal. That is what I am trying to get at, frankly. A.—Will you read that? (The reporter read back the last question.)

A.—I don't think that had any connection with it whatsoever, Senator.

Q.—Well, I was studying this in '49 when I was here. I happened to be laid up with illness at the time, but I was able to do a lot of reading.

I read the White Paper through from cover to cover and I came to the conclusion that there were two schools of thought on this matter, the so-called—I don't think Stilwell was so much, although he was opposed I think to Chiang Kai-shek, Wedemeyer rather supported him, but the Lattimore-Vincent school and a number of our younger men like John Davis and others in the State Department service, they were opposed to our giving further aid to Chiang Kai-shek, and on the other hand I was convinced from having seen General Wedemeyer personally that he was in favor of the Chiang Kai-shek report and thought it was a wise policy.

Then I talked to Mr. Jessup about it. Mr. Jessup was appointed head of a special committee. Mr. Jessup obviously was in the Lattimore-Vincent group favoring later recognition and bring the Commies in and stopping the war by that route.

Then these things happened which gave a great deal of concern. Quite suddenly General Wedemeyer was removed from the Pentagon in Washington and sent out to California in command of the Sixth Army, which looked like a promotion, but really took him away from any further consideration of these policies.

His report was not published, and yet his report, as I read it, as subsequently published and the White Paper, indicates his support of the Chiang Kai-shek position and his feeling we should continue to support Chiang Kai-shek and the Nationalists as one of our allies against this Communist menace.

Then another thing happened which gave me concern, and that was this: Admiral Badger, who had been in charge of our Seventh Fleet and who in that capacity had responsibility for the mainland of China, as distinguished from General MacArthur, who had charge of our island defenses, Admiral Badger was removed and that gave me concern.

Admiral Badger came back; he met before our committee; we talked with him, and I talked with him privately, and I found he was distressed over the trend.

That is why, as a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, I asked permission of the Senate to go to the Far East, and I went to the Far East because of this concern.

Attempt to Strengthen Pro-Communists Seen

I came back with the feeling that we were in a very critical situation, and I made a report—I need not go into that now—but I came to the feeling that there was a very distinct issue of view between what you might call the MacArthur-Wedemeyer group, who felt we had made a serious mistake in our attitude toward the Nationalists and so-called letting them down, and the pressure on the other side, headed by the State Department—Dean Acheson and others—to build up the group sympathetic with recognizing the communies, and in fact I was told shortly after I got back that we had given the green light to Great Britain to recognize the Chinese Communists, though when I got back, the first thing I did was to urge on Secretary Acheson not to do that under any circumstances.

I was convinced that the movement in China was a conquest by Russia by a subversive method, and recognition of the Chinese Communists would simply mean we were conceding that China could go behind the Iron Curtain.

That is why I was so concerned. I was entirely sincere about it, no politics or anything else in it. It was just a desire to get the facts, and I would like to have very much, if I have made my position clear, your comment on that development, which gave a number of us a great deal of concern.

A.—Now, as to the facts, in the first place, regarding General Wedemeyer, General Bradley can testify to you in person regarding this, because he was Chief of Staff at the time.

He referred to his appearance in the press of the inmplication that General Wedemeyer was banished to San Francisco—this is hearsay now on my part—General Bradley stated that General Wedemeyer came to him and asked for relief here, and asked specifically for the assignment to the Army headquarters in San Francisco as his special desire, and that was considered a very favorable assignment.

So, his relief here, and his assignment there, were at his request. But General Bradley can testify to you in regard to that in person. I don't know anything of any of the factors surrounding the case of Admiral Badger, so I will have nothing to say about that.

As to the build-up of this divided view as to the policy to be followed in China, as related to the Nationalist Government regime, and Chiang Kai-shek, in particular, and the Communist regime: I was Secretary of State in 1947 and 1948. I ceased to function the first week in December, 1948.

Now, during that period, I know, so far as I was concerned as Secretary, and in so far as the efforts of those around me under my direction were concerned, we were trying to find how best we could help that situation.

I specifically was endeavoring to see what support could be given the Generalissimo, and by "support" I meant actual dollars and cents, on the one side, at least, and matériel, that his representatives came to me in regard to, though I was Secretary of State, in addition.

Our difficulty—my difficulty—was getting the necessary support from the various financial agencies of the Government with which I had to deal, and it took months to get the necessary agreements from the advisory board, which is the Secretary of the Treasury, the head of the Federal Reserve Board, the president of the Import-Export Bank, and a representative of the State Department.

It took months to get their agreements. It took a considerable period of time to get agreements through the Bureau of the Budget, because of their inability to find a factual basis for these funds; and you will recall that I finally came to Congress for $570,000,000, but that took a period of three or four months to clear through the necessary governmental channels in order to bring it to Congress.

The point I am making is that I was trying to bring it to Congress, and it was very difficult to do because of the views as to the lack of justification as to the funds themselves.

Now, throughout this time we were endeavoring to find some way effectively to get this situation under control in China.

There, the issue in my mind, as Secretary of State, was to what extent this Government could commit itself to a possible involvement of a very heavy nature in regard to operations in China itself.

The situation, the conditions as I understood them, and having been out there some time, and having officers under me pretty much all over North China reporting to me with frequency, the situation was such that we would literally have to take over control of the country in order to insure that the armies functioned with efficiency. We would have to make a very considerable initial contribution, and we would be involved in the possibility of very extensive continuing responsibilities in a very large area.

Our Military Position Called Weak

At that time, our own military position was extraordinarily weak. I think I mentioned the other day that my recollection is—but the Chiefs of Staff can give you the accurate information—we had one and a third divisions in the entire United States.

As I recall General Wedemeyer's estimates, about ten thousand officers and others would be necessary to oversee and direct those various operations.

In view of our general world situation, our own military weakness, the global reaction to this situation, and my own knowledge out of that brief contact of mine in China, we could not afford to commit this Government to such a procedure.

Therefore, I was not in agreement with undertaking that, nor were, as I think at that time, though they can answer the question directly, the Chiefs of Staff, because that was out of my bailiwick; that was in the War Department, the Navy Department of those days, and then finally, the Defense Department.

So, the real issue was how you would meet this situation without a tremendous commitment of this Government on the land area in Asia.

I knew of my own knowledge the very doubtful basis on which their operations and their governmental procedure rested. I knew the difficulties they would have in maintaining morale, and in maintaining their military force with any degree of fighting efficiency; and I had very decided professional military doubts as to the competence of the leadership that would have to undertake these operations.

Now, those were the problems that I was struggling with personally, while I was Secretary of State, rather than the feeling on the one side of bolstering up, we will say, the Communist procedure, and the feeling on the other side, in regard to the Nationalist forces.

The procedure of mediation, which was my principal role which I was out there, between Christmas, 1945, and early January, 1947, had been eliminated by the complete inability to gain any headway with that at all.

The Communists had openly proceeded in defiance of the Nationalist Government, and also openly in very bitter attacks against the United States, and against me personally.

It was no longer conceivable to proceed on any basis of mediation.

Q.—Then, you came to the conclusion that the directives you received could not be carried out? You came to that conclusion, but you were aware of these two schools of thought right in our own State Department at the time: there were those who favored the one point of view and the others who still favored the Nationalist Chinese?

A.—I was stating a generality there which was probably unwise, but within the State Department, the problem had become, on my return, one of what could we do to bolster up the Nationalist Government. That was the problem, and the complication of the problem was what we felt, as regards the foundation on which that Government had come to rest.

There was no longer at that time, certainly in my opinion, a possibility in the immediate future of dealing on a practical basis with the Communist regime.

Statement Reflects MacArthur Viewpoint

Q.—I had sent to me recently by a friend of mine a statement which I would like to read to you. It is not very long. It has a bearing on this because it reflects what apparently was General MacArthur's view on some of these things. And that is one of the reasons I was wondering whether the whole Chinese trouble had a bearing on this present decision to remove General MacArthur. I am quoting now from a communication I received from a friend of mine, and I think pretty good authority.

"Shortly after V-J day General MacArthur forwarded a report to the War Department evaluating the armed forces in China. He reported that the Chinese Communists had between 125,000 and 250,000 guerrillas badly armed. Under his command were 4,000,000 Chinese regulars and the American-Chinese Air Force.

"He proposed that with Chinese Government agreement America guarantee the personal safety of the Communist leaders and their right to participate as a legal political party in free elections, under American supervision after peace was restored. For this they were to lay down their arms. If the Communists refused to agree he proposed that he surround and disarm them by force." That is General MacArthur. "Dozens of officials of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and O. S. S. saw that report. General MacArthur's proposal was exactly in accordance with the Atlantic Charter and the Four Freedoms, for which we claim to be fighting.

"Decision on this report was postponed. The next month Ambassador Pat Hurley returned and resigned for reasons never made public.

"General Marshall was appointed and on Dec. 11, 1945, sat down with Dean Acheson to write out the instructions President Truman was to give him. According to General Marshall's testimony the rough draft was sent over to John Carter Vincent to be polished up. The instructions were the exact opposite of the Supreme Commander's, that is MacArthur's recommendations, they demanded practical control of the Government of China by the Communists without an election and while they kept their army."

That was a statement that was sent to me by a gentleman who says he gets from various sources that general picture—MacArthur recommended this for a program and Mr. Vincent and others took a crack at this and decided on different procedure, and that lead to your trip to China.

I think we ought to get the facts straight on this because there are so many rumors. And the same kind of things that have disturbed you disturbed me and led to my going out there and trying to find out what the truth was.

I couldn't help but feel after my trip there you had two schools of thought here and also on the ground, with MacArthur and Wedemeyer strong for the bolstering up as far as we could all the anti-Communist forces in that area, whereas there were others here who wanted more or less to appease them, which lead to the agitation in joining the British in recognizing the Chinese Communists.

I was told in Hong Kong by the British people there they would have to recognize the Communists or else they would lose Hong Kong. They knew that, and they had their trade. And when I got back here I was shocked to be told that Secretary Acheson had given the green light to the British and said, "Go ahead and recognize them and we will come along a little bit later."

Could you tell us whether we did approve the recognition of the Chinese Communists by the British and did imply we would go along with them?

MAY 11 1951

Marshall Refers Policy to Acheson

A.—You ask me that—

Q.—That is what— A.—I don't know as to that, and you will have to ask Mr. Acheson. But I have a reference to make to what you just read.

Q.—Yes. A.—In the first place I have not a recollection of that report of General MacArthur's, but I have a very decided recollection of the reference in there that I sat down in the State Department and drew up this policy. I did not.

SENATOR SMITH—I am very glad to get that.

THE CHAIRMAN — Just a minute.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I sat in this room for five or six days during that period, morning and afternoon, being investigated in regard to Pearl Harbor while this was going on and the drafting of the policy was taking place in the State Department.

On one or two days during the lunch period I had a chance to talk to Mr. Byrnes briefly in regard to it, and finally one morning—whether it was a Saturday morning or not I don't recall—I met with Mr. Byrnes, my own advisers that I have mentioned, Mr. Acheson and Vincent.

When the document was read through which had been drafted and which the men that were looking after my interests thought was all right, but I spent my time up here, and when I finished up here I was engaged, as you would understand, each night in trying to find what was the position I was to take the next day against the questioning around this same table, so my preparation for going to China was largely a matter in this room of the investigation regarding Pearl Harbor.

SENATOR SMITH—I thank you very much, General, for that. I did want to get that clear if I could.

SENATOR CONNALLY—Mr. Chairman, will the Senator from New Jersey tell us who this wise man is that advised him?

SENATOR SMITH—It isn't a wise man; just a letter I have from a friend of mine.

SENATOR CONNALLY—Tell us who he is.

SENATOR SMITH—I prefer not to do it.

SENATOR CONNALLY—I do not know how to weigh his testimony.

SENATOR SMITH—I am just perfectly willing to take General Marshall's statement he did not know anything about the first part of it, and the last part of it was untrue. That is perfectly clear. I am not questioning that at all. I just raised the question because it was brought to my attention.

Now, Secretary Marshall, I would like to turn for a moment to this question of Formosa. I think you have indicated that you agree that Formosa should not be allowed to get into the hands of an enemy of the United States. That has been the position of General MacArthur and of the Joint Chiefs and so forth.

What troubles me about the Formosa issue is that when I came back I talked to the State Department about it from my own observations and so the Chiefs of Staff, and I understood that was our position. That was our position in December of 1949, and yet on Jan. 5 a statement came out from the White House practically cutting off all further aid to Formosa, and so far as this policy was concerned it seemed to me they had ignored the position of the Joint Chiefs who I had been told were prepared to recommend that this position be taken and Formosa not be allowed to get into the hands of the enemy.

That has always confused me because there was a difference apparently between the White House. . . .

SECRETARY MARSHAL—Is that January the 5th, '49?

Joint Chiefs' Position Regarded as Sound

Q.—That was January the 5th statement. A.— '49?

Q.—No. '50, January 5th, '50, but I had been over there in '49 and everybody I had talked to felt that the Joint Chiefs' position was absolutely sound, we should not let it get in hostile hands.

We did not want the base for ourselves, but it would be very serious for our line of defense there if it got in hostile hands.

On Jan. 5th the President issued this statement practically taking the position that we would give no further military aid to Formosa, and a few days later the Secretary of State made an address to the press here at a press luncheon at which I was present in which he eliminated Formosa entirely in his description of what our western line of defense was.

It ran down from Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines, left out Formosa and left out Korea, those two questions, so I felt very much depressed, I am frank to say, after that statement because I felt that the Secretary of State had completely ignored the views of any of us who thought we were dealing with it on a bipartisan basis.

I was on the foreign policy committee and I talked about Formosa and the recognition issue, and then I was told after I inquired about this after I got back and when they were trying to determine that policy, the adviser they called in to tell them what to do was Mr. Owen Lattimore, at the very time when I was hoping I could get a hearing with this special group studying this thing.

I was not given any hearing or any attention paid to my recommendations, but Mr. Owen Lattimore did meet with this group and that is when it was said let Korea go, but don't let anybody know you are doing it.

Now do you know anything about that at all?

A.—I think that question has to go to the Secretary of State and the Chiefs of Staff. That is not in my period.

Q.—All right. Now, Mr. Secretary, I am going to be through in just a few minutes, but I want to ask you a few questions about the United Nations.

I am one of those, as you know, who have been a great supporter of the United Nations. I think it is the great hope of the world if it works out properly; and I was very much pleased when the United Nations acted originally in June of last year on the Korean crisis, and they recognized the North Koreasn promptly as aggressors; but later when the Chinese Communists came in, it took them three months to recognize the obvious fact that the Chinese Communists were aggressors in Korea.

Here was a situation where the Chinese Communists were defying the authority of the United Nations. General MacArthur, of course, was Commander in Chief of the United Nations forces. He was asking for directives—what should he do?

They appointed a committee of the United Nations to determine what sanctions should be applied in order to stop this aggression. The committee has been debating that ever since. That is, another three or four months passed.

As I understood General MacArthur's position from his testimony here, and talking to him personally, all he has ever asked for is to be told what to do. He made his suggestions, the Joint Chiefs made suggestions, of these various things which have been said later were more or less laid on the table because it didn't seem necessary to do it because conditions improved, but he was asking what to do and the United Nation apparently cannot come to an agreement, even for such what you might indicate as mild methods of sanctions provided by the Charter of an economic blockade or actual blockade of the China coast.

I just don't understand what we can do with the United Nations. I am just wondering whether you know how much pressure we have put on the United Nations to apply some of these sanctions.

Did we take a position on it that we did feel there should be an economic blockade, that we did feel there should be a blockade of the whole China coast, that we did feel that the Nationalist troops on Formosa should have the wraps taken off so they could make forays or at least be a threat that would pull back the pressure of those Chinese Communists from our troops?

Those are the issues I understood General MacArthur was raising. He wanted to have some way of pulling off that pressure.

A.—I think as to the pressure and procedure question that question should go to the Secretary of State; but I stated yesterday and also the day before as to the economic blockade. We gradually brought them around to the point where Great Britain and France will proceed to endorse our resolution to that effect. So we have made that much of a gain.

MAY 11 1951

Regards Naval Blockade As Academic Question

Q.—How recently was that? A.—May the seventh.

Q.—May seventh? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Just a few days ago? A.—Yes, Sir; so it makes the naval blockade an academic question.

Now, it isn't for me to give any opinions as to legislative and other general debates; but my own experience has been, it takes quite a time, sometimes, in very critical times, to reach a conclusion, and certainly when you are dealing with sixty nations, you have added immeasurably to the complications involved, but I am no authority on that.

Q.—There is just one more question I wanted to ask you. I think you agreed that a discussion of any immediate cease-fire or armistice questions with the Koreans, in that you would exclude the question of the recognition of Communist China in the United Nations?

A.—That it will be excluded by the Government.

Q.—And the question of turning Formosa over to them? A.—Yes.

Q.—That will be excluded? A.—Yes.

Q.—In event that question goes to the final settlement of the Korean question, as you pointed out, some other country may bring up the issue of recognition, and of Formosa. That is what I want to ask you: Do you believe, in case the question of recognition comes up, the United States should definitely exercise a veto? A.—That is the very decided impression I have, at the present time.

Q.—Do you think we should exercise it? A.—Think we should—— Q.—That we should exercise the veto? A.—I won't go into the technical part of that, but we should certainly never yield to it.

Q.—Never yield? I am glad to hear you say that, because I have been led to understand that if that came up in a meeting of the General Assembly, for example—I mean, of the Security Council, it would be a procedural question and we could not take a veto action because we took a position against veto procedures there; that this is virtually the conquest of China by an external power—we have a question of external power, which is very different from an internal revolution.

I want to make it clear, for the record, that I feel very definitely that we must stand firm against the recognition of Communist China, or else we will be giving up everything that the Korean struggle has been had for.

A.—I think that what has not been understood is that we can't avoid a discussion of the problem, and the problem has been as to how best to handle that discussion.

Red China's Admission To U. N. Is Opposed

Q.—Of course we will oppose it. The biggest question is whether, if the majority vote for it, we are going to apply our veto, as we have a right to do, in the Security Council.

That raises another question of consequence.

If it comes up in the Assembly, I am not sure of the legality of it, and I want to make it clear that with all my power, I am going to oppose the admission of the Chinese Communists who have defied that body, as a reward for the success they have had in their aggression, and I hope you share my view on that.

Thank you, Mr. Secretary. I regret I have taken so much of your time, but I felt that we should explore all those matters.

THE CHAIRMAN—At the risk of being misunderstood, I want to make a brief statement about these hearings.

I want to preface that statement by saying that I am not being critical of any member of the committee. I am not undertaking to apply any standards for the taking of this testimony.

We here have General Marshall before us for, I believe it is the fourth day.

We have a great many other witnesses who are to follow him, and I hope that we may be able to conclude the hearings before too much time elapses. I will not fix any time.

I know that all Senators are entitled to ask all the questions they wish, and there are certain reasons, at times, why a Senator would wish to ask a repetitious question, because it fits into the mosaic that he desires to develop; but it will be very helpful, if the Senators do not have that purpose in view, if they would cull over the questions they have had prepared, in order that we might not go over the same ground too much, or too often.

Sometimes I can understand why the Senators would like to go over the same ground, and I have no criticism, and I have no criticism of him if he does; but if, where we have long lists of questions, if we could cull out those that have been covered, I think that it would be very helpful.

Now, it would also be very helpful if the Senators would maintain the perfectly magnificent record of promptness in attending hearings that has been established during the first several days.

We have been able to get a quorum present here almost on the hour of convening, except on the last two days. That would be helpful and save us some ten or fifteen minutes, if we could get a quorum here promptly at 10 o'clock.

I do not want to cut anybody off, but it is confusing to me, and I think it must be confusing to the witnesses, and I have been here early myself, where we make too long prefatory statements to our questions.

I merely lay those matters before you for your consideration, not with any intent or idea of gagging any Senators, or preventing them from asking any questions that they might desire.

I also said, for the benefit of some of those Senators who do not sit here at the top of the table, who might have a long list of questions in the first instance, that could be culled; in the second place, they desire to have an opportunity to ask those questions.

I hope, Senator Johnson, since you are next in order, that you do not think I have directed this entirely to you.

Rounds of Questioning Of 30 Minutes Proposed

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, just thinking aloud, by way of suggestion—but we are going to have many witnesses before the committee, and I would like to make a suggestion that we follow the schedule of questioning where each man, on the first round, asks questions for thirty minutes, and then passes over; and, on the second round, for thirty minutes, and passes over, with the understanding that we will have as many rounds as are necessary to accommodate the full list of questions of each member of the committee.

THE CHAIRMAN — You have heard that suggestion, gentlemen. This examination, of course, is in the hands, wholly, of the committee.

SENATOR STENNIS — Mr. Chairman, may I observe, and there is no nature of complaint in this—I am down at the end of the table, and the subjects are very thoroughly exhausted before they get here.

That is entirely all right, but I believe that the committee, or the Chair, is going to have to adopt some rule of policy that will hasten the matter along.

With the number of witnesses to be examined, and with every Senator having unlimited time, I do not believe it will work. It will extend this matter for sixty days, if that can't be checked in some reasonable manner.

SENATOR JOHNSON — Mr. Chairman, if Senator Morse will make that a motion, I will be glad to second it, and we can get the wishes of the committee.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Mr. Chairman, just before the question is put, I doubt if I would take any more than a half hour, but it would seem to me that if we are going to invoke some of these rules, they should be invoked prior to starting around the table.

Now, this may be the last time that the Congress of the United States, and the American people, have an opportunity to develop some facts which have not yet been developed.

At Yalta, at the Yalta Conference, three or four of the participants of that conference have died and are no longer available, except in their writings, as to what took place.

The other day, all of us felt that the Senator from Oregon did an excellent job in his examination of General MacArthur, taking two days; and there was certainly no complaint, because I think he contributed a great deal to the hearings; but I do not personally consider it quite proper, when we get part way down the table, to invoke a rule which had not been invoked at the start.

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, the Senator from California completely convinces me that the application of my rule at this present time might be, in effect, discriminatory, and therefore I will not make the motion but will serve notice that with the next witness I will move that we follow a procedure where each member of the committee will be allowed to cross-examine for thirty minutes at a time, but with the distinct understanding that each member of this committee will be allowed sufficient time before a witness is excused to complete whatever questioning he feels he must ask.

THE CHAIRMAN — Well, the motion having been withdrawn, Senator Johnson, you are now recognized.

SENATOR McMAHON—I hope the spirit of it, Mr. Chairman, continues on.

SENATOR GREEN—Mr. Chairman, I have a suggestion I would like to make in that connection. I think it would shorten the hearings, and that is—that any questioner, when he reads statements or asks questions should claim responsibility for them. It seems to me he ought to make them his own, before he asks any questions.

THE CHAIRMAN — That is a question for the——

SENATOR GREEN—I think the chairman made some such suggestion at the beginning, did he not?

THE CHAIRMAN—Well, I think that that was discussed at some stage of the proceedings, Senator, but I don't know that it was adopted as any rule by the committee.

The committee has it within its power to take action in that direction, if it desires to do so.

Smith Says He Desires To Ask More Questions

SENATOR SMITH—Mr. Chairman, just in that connection, I think that I probably offended, but I want to call attention to the fact that I understood, when we started with General MacArthur, that we were going to take a round of two questionings all around, and I personally did not ask all the questions I had in mind because I wanted to give everybody a chance, but we seem to have broken away from that.

THE CHAIRMAN—The Senator had two opportunities.

SENATOR SMITH—One of our members took two hours with General MacArthur. I apologize, I didn't think I would take more than a half to three-quarters of an hour, but things developed from each answer.

I apologize for taking too much time. I think it was too long.

THE CHAIRMAN — I haven't criticized the Senator. He is wholly within his rights; but I do want to have the record clearly show that the Senator was not in any way cut off in his examination of General MacArthur, because we went around the table twice, and I called on each member, each Senator, and did not undertake to limit any Senator in any way; so, each Senator had two opportunities to ask questions.

SENATOR SMITH — I agree with that. I just wanted to make it clear that I imposed the limitation on myself to make progress.

THE CHAIRMAN—Oh, yes.

SENATOR SMITH—I feel that we had abandoned that rule because of the length of some of the examination that had taken place and, therefore, I felt entitled to go ahead.

SENATOR MOPSE—Mr. Chairman:

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Morse?

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, on the comment as to the procedure, I think the chairman has been exceedingly fair, and he has made clear to each member of the committee at all times that he has the right to ask questions for such period of time as he, in his judgment, wants to ask those questions.

I do not think the Senator from New Jersey has to apologize to anybody for his examination. He has been within his rights, and he certainly has conducted the examination, I think, in a very fair manner.

But I think, and the only suggestion I have tried to make, is that we ought to work out a rotation system here, because I am going to ask of each witness whatever questions I want to for a long a period as I want to, within such rotation system, and I am going to be my own judge as to what questions I should ask, and how long I should take in asking.

I think as long as we are in session, each member of the committee has that clear right, as the chairman has made so clear to the members of the committee, and that our responsibility to our colleagues, it seems to me, is only to go along with a fair rotation procedure so that we share the time. But I think now is the time to make perfectly clear, so far as the junior Senator from Oregon is concerned, that I am never going to agree to any procedure that is going to limit an exhaustive examination of a witness, whether it takes me a day or two or three; I am going to complete my examination.

Senator Johnson Seeks To Cover Three Phases

THE CHAIRMAN—Well, the Chair would be the last to suggest any limitation.

SENATOR MORSE—I understand.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Johnson.

SENATOR JOHNSON — There are three general areas that I want to cover with you. They are fields that you have gone over to some extent yourself in your previous testimony, and I realize that your answers are likely to be briefer than the questions, but I want them in the record to avoid any possible confusion.

Now, the areas that I want to cover with you, General, are, first, your opinion and the justification for the recall of General MacArthur; second, the wisdom of the program that we are carrying on in Korea, and, third, the preparedness and mobilization effort in this country.

Now, as I recall your testimony, General, I believe you said that you recommended the recall of General MacArthur because you believed that he did not favor and could not wholeheartedly support the policies of the Commander in Chief and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The question I want to ask you is this: in view of General MacArthur's statement to the Congress, and in view of his testimony to this committee, in your opinion, is there any doubt about whether he favored the present policy?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — There is none, sir.

Q.—And would you care to elaborate on that a little bit? A.—No, I think that covers the question.

Q.—In other words, it's your position that he made it abundantly clear upon his return to this country and his public appearances and his appearances before this committee that he did not favor and wholeheartedly support the program adopted by this Government.

A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—Now, General, I would like for you to put before you the committee print entitled "The Military Situation in the Far East" and turn to Page 178 of that committee print. Page 178 sets forth the December the sixth directive which has been discussed here at some length.

I will not read all of that directive, but I want to quote the ninth paragraph of that document and I want you to follow me very carefully as I quote it.

"Officials overseas, including military commanders and diplomatic representatives, should be ordered to exercise extreme caution in public statements, to clear all but routine statements with their departments, and to refrain from direct communication on military or foreign policy with newspapers, magazines or other publicity media in the United States."

I am merely quoting that paragraph, General Marshall, to serve as the basis for the next few questions that I want to ask you and I want your answers in the record.

I would like for you to turn to Page 181 of the same booklet where there is a statement by General MacArthur printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES of February the fourteenth. I wish you would please look at the fourth paragraph of that statement and I would like to quote a few lines of it, and I quote:

"The concept advanced by some that we should establish a line across Korea and enter into positional warfare is wholly unrealistic and illusory. It fails completely to take into account the length of such a line at the narrowest lateral, the rugged terrain which is involved and the relatively small force which could be committed to the purpose."

I want you to look at those lines, general, and I want you to look at the balance of the paragraph and the paragraph that follows, and then I should like for you to tell this committee if in your opinion those paragraphs comply with the directive of December the sixth as transmitted by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A.—I do not think they did.

Length of Service Of Witness Reviewed

Q.—Now remember, General, in asking these questions I am not necessarily adopting your view as to what does and what does not comply, but I am seeking to ascertain your views.

Your views should mean much to this committee because you have spent the major portion of your life in the military service, and would you tell the committee how many years you spent in the uniform?

A.—A little over forty-three years. I am stopping when I went to China.

Q.—And since then you have served as special ambassador, Secretary of State of this country and presently Secretary of Defense.

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—For a total of how many years of public service to your country?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — A little over forty-nine years, sir.

Q.—Now, General, I would like to direct your attention to the bottom of Page 182 and the top of Page 183 of the same booklet. It is a paragraph from THE NEW YORK TIMES of March 8, which reads, quoting General MacArthur, and I quote:

"Vital decisions have yet to be made, decisions far beyond the scope of the authority vested in me as the military commander, decisions which are neither solely political nor military, but which must provide on the highest international level an answer to the obscurities which now becloud the unsolved problems raised by Red China's undeclared war in Korea."

Tell me, General, in your opinion does that paragraph comply meticulously with the directive of Dec. 6?

A.—I do not think it did.

Secretary Is Questioned On MacArthur Statement

Q.—All right, General. Now I direct your attention to Page 184, which carries another statement by General MacArthur, printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES of March 24. The second complete paragraph on that page says in part and I quote:

"Even under inhibitions which now restrict activities of United Nations forces" — and so forth.

General, will you look at that whole paragraph and tell me whether in your opinion it complies meticulously with the directive of Dec. 6?

A.—I do not think it did.

Q.—Now, General, would you turn to Page 186 of the committee booklet which carries the March 20 letter written to Representative Joseph W. Martin, the minority leader in the House of Representatives.

The first paragraph on that page reads as follows, and I quote:

"Generally these views are well known and clearly understood, as they follow the conventional pattern of meeting force with maximum force, as we have never failed to do in the past. Your view with respect to the utilization of the Chinese forces on Formosa is in conflict with neither logic nor this tradition."

General, in your opinion, under all the circumstances, does that paragraph comply meticulously with the directive of Dec. 6?

A.—I do not think it does.

Q.—In other words, general, there are four instances here in which in your opinion General MacArthur failed to comply with the directive of Dec. 6? Is that correct? A.—I will have to ask to repeat that.

Q.—I have related four instances in which in your opinion General MacArthur did not comply with the directive of Dec. 6. Is that correct? A.—That is correct.

MacArthur Message Enters Discussion

Q.—Now, general, on page 186 of this booklet we find a brief message from General MacArthur to the editor of The Freeman Magazine. It is dated April 5. Would you read that message, general, and tell me whether in your opinion, and under all the circumstances existing, it complies meticulously with the directive of Dec. 6? A.—You are referring to General MacArthur's message of April 5?

Q.—I am referring to Page 186, dated April 5, General MacArthur's brief message to the editor of The Freeman Magazine. A.—That message involves a procedure to which I cannot give a categorical reply.

Q.—General, would you turn—

A.—I have not finished.

Q.—I beg your pardon. A.—It might be taken to imply that this was a political decision regarding which General MacArthur—or beyond General MacArthur's authority. It might be merely a way of expressing his compliance with the instructions of Dec. 6.

Under the circumstances, where this recommendation was followed in this matter, where it was brought to his attention by the Chiefs of Staff, and the arms and equipment available, and where he made a recommendation which they accepted, there is the possible implication that that created an impression that he was held remote from this question as to the arming of these additional Korean individuals. I don't know.

Q.—Now, General, I want to go into the second field of questioning as I outlined, and I think it is pretty simple. You and General MacArthur have agreed that there are three alternatives in Korea.

First, we can get out; second, we can continue our present course as planned, and third, we can adopt the recommendations made to this committee and to the country by General MacArthur.

General, I want to know whether in the light of the wealth of military experience that you have had and the outstanding service you have rendered this nation, and in view of the fact that I assume you have available to you today the best military advice in this country—I want to know whether it is your opinion that the present course that this nation is following in Korea is calculated to bring us the quickest victory for our objectives with the least losses of life.

A.—The best military advice I have, in which I concur with the information available to me, is that the course we are now following is the only practical course at the moment which we feel can lead to a successful outcome of that campaign in terminating the aggression, and a victory in consequence, with the least loss of life and with the least possibility of the intervention of the Soviet Government.

Q.—Now, General, are you completely satisfied in the light of world conditions as we meet here this morning with the preparedness and mobilization effort that is being made by this country and the results we are obtaining?

A.—Speaking purely from the Defense Department's point of view, and very frankly, I am not. We are in a situation where time is of imperative importance and where our basic plan to meet this crisis in a manner that can be sustained without too serious economic involvements is completely held up here in Congress.

All our planning has been based in general on that manpower program. We are being called upon to submit new legislation regarding the vitalization of the Reserves. Naturally that legislation has to be based on what comes from the Congress in regard to the manpower problem, which really means Universal Military Training and service.

Every day—it used to be every week of delay was a great embarrassment to us in our planning; now it has gotten to the point where I think I can say without overemphasis, that every day of delay is unfortunate, to put it very mildly.

Now, as to appropriations, I think the Congress has gone ahead very rapidly in such complicated matters. As to how the present budget proposals are going to be handled, that remains to be seen. But I certainly feel up to the present time that the Congress has gone ahead in an exceedingly complicated and embarrassing proposition with reasonable rapidity.

As to the developments in our preparedness program in other fields outside of the Defense Department, I wouldn't make a comment on that, sir. Mr. Lovett could do that better than I could because he is heavily involved in all of the questions of inflation and controls and matters of that sort.

Asked for Comment On MacArthur's Views

Q.—General Marshall, when General MacArthur was here, he testified to his belief that we should, and we were able to fight communism on two or more fronts, if that became necessary. He pointed out if it would be necessary for us to do this, it would be equally necessary for the enemy to meet the hardships and demands of a multiple front in a total war.

He regarded it, as I remember his statement to the joint session, as defeatist attitude to take another position. Would you care to comment on this particular point of view, and our ability to meet the challenges of the global problems as they may be presented?

A.—I think the consideration of the statement has to be very specially qualified with the understanding that we are not in a position now to take measures which, we will say, were characterized by General MacArthur the opposite of defeatist measures.

We are gathering our strength as rapidly as we can, and we certainly do not want to become involved in a world struggle at any time, and certainly not prior to the time we are reasonably prepared to meet it.

Q.—You do not think that we are presently prepared to meet it? A.—What is the question?

Q.—And you do not think that we are presently prepared to meet it? A.—I am quite certain we are not.

Q.—General Marshall, when General MacArthur was here he testified that his present knowledge of global problems was very general. He had been a theatre commander, and on some of the important issues of the day that were mentioned to him, he said he had not given them much thought in fourteen years. Do you consider this significant in appraising the soundness of his proposals for the Korean campaign?

A.—Would you repeat the question, Mr. Reporter?

(The pending question was read.)

A.—Well, I think that is made very clear by General MacArthur himself that the global consequences have not been entirely apparent to him.

Q.—In other words, you think it is quite likely that when General MacArthur or any other great general had been removed from the intelligence and diplomatic reports of the world for a long period of time, that he might very well arrive at the conclusion he has arrived at, so far as Korea is concerned. On the other hand, if he were here and looking at the whole world and the reports that were received on it, he might arrive at an entirely different conclusion? A.—I think that is quite possible.

Q.—General, have you been able to determine the occasions, if any, on which the President invited General MacArthur to come to the United States to discuss problems with him? A.—I have not gotten the data on that yet, sir.

Q.—Have you had an opportunity to check with General Bradley as to whether any members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff have been in the Far East to consult with General MacArthur between V-J Day and the visit of General Collins in 1949? A.—They are going through their files, I am told, and have not come up to me with the report yet.

SENATOR JOHNSON — Thank you very much, General.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Green.

MAY 11 1951

SENATOR GREEN — General Marshall, in all this discussion there was no mention of the treaty between Russia, Soviet Russia and Red China until yesterday in the questioning of you as a witness, and then it was treated as a matter of not the greatest consequence, I suppose because of the fact that many of us doubt very much whether Russia will feel any moral obligation to keep its treaties.

However, aren't there other reasons to give significance to that treaty? Hasn't it meant a great deal to Red China and the people of Red China? Would not there be a serious setback to Russian influence in China if after all the publicity given to this treaty Russia failed to live up to it in case of aggression against China?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I would say that that is the case. I believe I put forward yesterday some appreciation of that situation as to the possibilities of China, the Chinese Communist regime, feeling that the Soviets had let them down, which might have very disastrous consequences, and therefore they would be impelled to act possibly in advance of their previous decision.

Treaty Obligates Russia To Aid China in Attack

SENATOR GREEN—The treaty calls upon Russia to come to China's aid in case of attack either by Japan or any other nation, does it not?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, I have here the particular paragraph to which I had reference yesterday. The preamble notes that the signatories were, to quote:

"Filled with determination jointly to prevent by the consolidation of friendship and cooperation between the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics and the people of the Republic of China the rebirth of Japanese imperialism and a repetition of aggression on the part of Japan or any other state which should unite in any form with Japan in acts of aggression."

You will recall that the propaganda which is released from Russia and by the Chinese Communists talks continuously of our aggression, particularly of this country. Article I stipulates:

"Both high contracting parties undertake jointly to take all necessary measures at their disposal for the purpose of preventing a repetition of aggression and violation of peace on the part of Japan or any other state which should unite with Japan directly or indirectly in acts of aggression.

"In the event of one of the high contracting parties being attacked by Japan or states allied with it and thus being involved in a state of war, the other high contracting party will immediately render military and other assistance with all means at its disposal."

During the past six months the Soviet Government and Communist China have, as I have said, publicly called attention to that treaty in connection with events in Korea and in the alleged rearmament of Japan, and I might add to that it has enough there for them to twist any meaning they may so desire.

Q.—And that condition, meeting that treaty, would arise if we carried out a policy of bombing the coastal cities of China? A.—That was the fear and the thought of the Chiefs of Staff and others in the Government in connection with this particular matter.

Q.—So that if that policy were carried out, no matter what our motive might be, in a limited attack on China, it would call upon Russia to come to China's aid. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And the failure to do so would have great consequences not only to China, but on our whole program of global warfare? A.—Yes, sir.

The Two Policies Are Compared

Q.—After all, doesn't the difference between the policy of the Government of the United States and the policy proposed by General MacArthur come down to the difference between regarding this as a problem limited to the territory of Korea, or that part of Asia adjoining, on the one hand, and regarding it as a part of the great global warfare which is possible, on the other?

A.—I think that is correct, sir. I think that is correct.

Q.—There is one other minor question I would like to draw attention to.

Some of the questioners kept asking whether, if we did this or we did that—agreed to do this or agreed to do that—it wouldn't be giving up our independence.

Now, isn't any international agreement, in a certain sense, limited sense, giving up our independence?

A.—It is a limitation on our sovereignty.

Q.—It is a limitation on independence, if it is proper to use the strict meaning of the word. And so it is a question of degree. If we are not going it alone in all matters, we must give up a part of our independence, if you give the strict meaning of the word, but in the customary meaning of the word it is not giving up our independence.

So I think we ought to be careful, should we not, as to how we use that word "independence"?

A.—Yes, sir.

SENATOR GREEN—That is all; thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Morse.

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, I shall ask questions for thirty minutes, with the distinct understanding that I shall complete my examination on the second round.

THE CHAIRMAN — You may operate under any rule you seek to impose on yourself, Senator. The committee hasn't imposed any.

SENATOR MORSE—I thought the chair would be interested in the rule I have imposed on myself.

THE CHAIRMAN—I have no complaint to find.

SENATOR WILEY—Mr. Chairman, may I suggest that the Senator from Oregon, who on many occasions can let his voice ring out in the Senate, raise his voice here instead of being so subdued? It is very difficult to hear him over here.

SENATOR JOHNSON—I would like for the record to show that I have meticulously complied with the injunction of the chairman and made my questions brief and to the point.

THE CHAIRMAN—I don't know that they were injunctions, but the Senator's examination, in time and manner, met with my complete approval.

SENATOR JOHNSON — Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Effect of a Blockade Of Port Arthur Discussed

SENATOR MORSE — General, in my examination of General MacArthur I asked him if he would favor the blockade of Port Arthur and his reply was that he would; and I asked him in effect if he thought that might hasten the entrance of Russia into a full-scale war in Asia; and he replied, in meaning, that he didn't think it would: because of his view that he thinks they will come into the war if and when they are ready and want to, and that they are not, that their action will not be determined by any such specific event as the blockade of Port Arthur.

I would like to ask you a few questions about that blockade.

It is true, is it not, that Port Arthur is one of the principal Russian ports in the Pacific?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — That is their warm water port.

Q.—It is true, is not, that it is a great international port into which ships under many flags ply? A.—Dairen, not Port Arthur.

Q.—Yes. In your opinion, might the blockade of Port Arthur create such a state of international tension as to have an effect on the earlier entrance of Russia into the war than might otherwise be the case if the port was not blockaded? A.—That is correct, sir. I think it would introduce that likelihood.

Q.—In light of history, have we not learned that the Russian people have usually rallied to the defense of their country whenever they have felt that a foreign power was encroaching either on their land territory or upon their exit to the rest of the world through a port? A.—I think that is correct, sir.

Q.—Therefore, am I correct in concluding that one of the reasons for the opposition of the Defense Establishment, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to General MacArthur's suggestion concerning the type of blockade that he advocated, was the feeling or fear on the part of the leaders of the Defense Establishment that it might have a very direct effect on hastening the time when Russia might enter a full-scale war in Asia? A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—Is it not also true, General Marshall, that Great Britain has in the past, and we assume as long as it is an open port, probably would in the future, had various ships under the British flag going into Dairen? A.—I think they have been, but I am not clear on that.

Q.—Is it not a historic fact that one of the great policies of Great Britain, as far as international relations are concerned, has been to resist any interference with her shipping on the high seas in connection with any blockade? A.—That is correct sir. I must add, though, that they have been equally resistant to our penetrating their blockade when we were at peace with the nation concerned.

Q.—In other words, one of the great historic policies of Great Britain has always been to resist any interference with the Union Jack on the high seas as far as freedom of the seas is concerned? A.—That is correct, sir.

Considered Blockade Might Create Tension

Q.—If we blockaded Port Arthur and if that led to either the stopping of a British ship or a sinking of a British ship, and it would be a useless blockade if we didn't enforce it, would that not run the danger of creating a state of tension between the United States and Great Britain? A.—That was considered in deciding on the matter of the blockade.

Q.—That leads me then—and I summarize a great many questions in view of the answer that you have just given me—that leads me then to the general question as to the relationship of the proposal of General MacArthur to impose the type of blockade that he recommended, to our relations with our allies in the United Nations.

Is it true that it was felt in the Defense Establishment that General MacArthur's recommendation in this specific respect would weaken the relationships between the United States and her allies in the United Nations, rather than strengthen those relationships?

A.—It would have imperiled them.

Q.—There was a danger that it might have caused a complete breakdown of a united program in Asia in respect to the whole Korean war? A.—I think so.

Q.—Do you know whether or not it is true, General Marshall, that after General MacArthur served his notice on the Chinese Communist leaders, in which he proposed a willingness on his part to meet with them in the field and discuss surrender and warned them that failing to comply with his notice might result in further military action on the part of the United States, including bombing and the blockade proposal—following that notice by General MacArthur, do you know whether or not some of our United Nations allies, and particularly Canada, filed rather strong protests with our Government over that notice of General MacArthur?

A.—I cannot answer that specifically, Senator. I was told of the general reaction. Mr. Acheson can give you the details.

Q.—But, on the basis of hearsay, is it your understanding, and is it fair for this committee to draw the conclusion from that understanding, that General MacArthur's notice to the Communist military leaders did create a much more complicated situation between the United States and our allies in respect to trying to reach an agreement on what our future program in Korea should be?

A.—My understanding was that it created a very serious situation with our allies, along the line of their uncertainty as to just how we were proceeding; the President bringing something to their attention, and gauging their action to find agreement with him, and before that can be accomplished, the leader in the field comes forward with a proposition which terminates that endeavor of the Chief Executive of the United States, or the President, to handle the matter. So, apparently we had two voices speaking at the same time.

Q.—And it is your position, General Marshall, that because of our relationship with our allies in the United Nations, only one American voice can speak on foreign policy in Asia, and that must necessarily, under our Constitution, be the President of the United States, rather than an American military commander in the field? A.—That is my view, sir.

Possibility of U. S. Action Influencing Communists

Q.—General Marshall, is it your view that the course of action we follow in Asia can have a direct effect on Russia, in that that course of action may be such as to hasten an early entrance into a full-scale conflict in Asia by Russia? A.—I think it creates that possibility.

Q.—General MacArthur testified, in answer to a question that I put to him, that if the Chinese Communist leaders did not respond favorably to the ultimatum that he proposed, that we should issue to them, warning them in advance that if they did not agree to an honorable cease-fire order and stop their aggression in Korea, that he would favor the bombing of the Manchurian railroad, pointing out in his testimony that the Manchurian railroad was one of the principal channels of supply to the Chinese Communist forces.

Is it your understanding, General, that Soviet Russia has some arrangement with Red China whereby there is joint administration of at least segments of the Manchurian railroad?

A.—I assume there would be that arrangement because there already were treaty provisions between the original Nationalist Government in China and the Soviet Union.

Q.—Is it not true that the Manchurian Railroad is a very vital transportation line to the borders of Russia not only from China but from such important centers as Vladivostok as well as Port Arthur? A.—The northern portion of that line is.

Q.—In your opinion, General, do you think that the bombing of the Manchurian Railroad by the United Nations forces in Asia might have the effect of precipitating Russia into a full scale war in Asia? A.—We feared that.

Q.—Is that one of the reasons why the Defense Department advised against adopting General MacArthur's recommendations for extending the war in Asia? A.—Yes, sir.

Delay Declared Of Great Importance

Q.—Now, if Russia should come into the war on a full scale basis in the immediate future, am I correct in my understanding of your testimony that irrespective of the damage that the United States forces could impose upon her in the early stages of the war, in the early stages of such a war, that knowledge of her present massing of military strength is such that the Defense Department believes that she could inflict such great damage on our own forces in Asia because of their present position of vulnerability, that it is the opinion of the Defense establishment that we should do what we can to avoid an act that would bring Russia into the war at this time until our defenses in Asia are much stronger than they are at the present time?

A.—Certainly we should delay that eventuality as much as we possibly can, and of course in the end we hope to avoid it entirely.

Q.—In the course of his testimony as well as in his public statements, including his speech before the joint meeting of Congress, General MacArthur left us with the impression, and I dare say from my mail that he has has left many other Americans with the impression, that the adoption of his recommendations would result in reducing our casualties in Korea, in saving American lives and in a much quicker victory in Asia than will be the case if we do not follow his recommendations.

May I say that I think the American people are very much concerned about the heavy casualties in Korea, and therefore their reaction to General MacArthur's statement about this particular point is a most natural and understandable one, and if it is true that his recommendations would result in the saving of great loss of life, their question is why don't we follow his recommendations.

I think they are entitled to a specific answer to that question, and therefore I put it to you this way. Is it your opinion, General Marshall, that if we adopted General MacArthur's recommendations for an extension of the war in Asia, that just the opposite of the effect that he believes would be the case, namely a reduction of casualties, would in fact be the case, namely an increase in casualties?

A.—That was our fear.

Q.—And because the Defense Department feared that the program that General MacArthur has recommended for conducting the war in Asia would result in a greater loss of American life in the immediate future during that period of time that it is going to take for us to get strong enough to meet an all-out Russian offensive, the Defense establishment, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recommended against the adoption of General MacArthur's recommendations. Is that true?

A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—Now, yesterday—and I let the record speak for itself and express now my understanding of the implication of the questions of the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Saltonstall—I understood that he questioned you about the notice that General MacArthur served on the Communist Chinese leaders, and pointed out that General MacArthur had testified before this committee that the notice that he served has always been considered within the prerogatives, powers and authority of a commander in the field dealing directly with the military leaders of the enemy.

I listened to your answer, and I am not exactly clear as to your meaning, and therefore I wish to press that question a bit further.

My understanding of your answer was to the effect that although a military leader has the perogative and authority when in the midst of a military campaign to negotiate with the leaders of the enemy in the field, that in this particular case General MacArthur had received notice through his channel of superior command that the President of the United States was in the midst of preparing a statement on the basis of which negotiations with our allies in the United Nations would take place, and that even though General MacArthur had received a notice that such negotiations were in progress at the Executive level in this country, he nevertheless issued his notice to the Chinese Communist leaders that he would meet them in the field to negotiate terms of surrender, and then went beyond that to make a statement of policy as to what would happen if they did not negotiate with him. Is that a correct statement?

A.—That is a correct statement.

Q.—Of the meaning at least of your testimony of yesterday? A.—Yes, sir.

Recalls Instructions Given Commanders

Q.—Now, General—— A.—I might add in connection therewith that we had lengthy communications back and forth between our allied commanders and the Chiefs of Staff, * * * (more than ten words deleted) as to the very questions you are talking about—to what extent the commander could say anything. They were all under very careful instructions from the governments concerned as to just exactly what steps would be taken, and they did not move on their own initiative.

Q.—Now, General, is it your opinion that in view of the information which has been supplied General MacArthur prior to the statement that he issued to the Chinese Communist military leaders, that wise discretion and the exercise of good judgment on his part in view of all that had preceded in the operation of the Korean war and his relationships and exchanges with the defense establishment, that he should have known that the statement that he issued to the Chinese Communist leaders should have been cleared first with his superior chain of command?

A.—It would have seemed so to me, sir.

Q.—As you have testified, is it true his statement that he issued to the Chinese leaders with regard to which he did not seek clearance before he issued, created such difficulties within the group of our United Nations' allies that it became necessary for the President of the United States to drop at that point further negotiations with our allies in respect to proposals to be offered the Chinese in regard to terms for the settlement of the conflict?

A.—It created, I think specifically, a loss of confidence in the leadership of this Government.

Q.—On the part of the others? A.—Yes, sir, on the part of the Allies.

Q.—Would you say that in part the attitude of our allies could be summarized by their expressing the attitude that they would like to know who was in command of the foreign policy of the United States? A.—I would not undertake to answer that, but Mr. Acheson can tell you specifically.

Q.—At least, are you willing to say that they were so disturbed by the two voices on foreign policy in Asia that it created difficulties in further negotiations? A.—It suspended the efforts we were then making.

Discuss Division In State Department

Q.—Not only created difficulties, but the difficulties took the form of suspending the negotiations.

General, I followed very closely the examination of the Senator from New Jersey, Senator Smith, this morning, and I have been left in some doubt by your answer to one question he asked you as to the point of view that existed in the State Department at the time that you went to China in '45, from '45 to January, '47.

I understood the Senator from New Jersey to express the view that it had been reported to him and he had observed himself, that apparently there were two points of view within the State Department at that time—one group believing that this country should do everything it could to strengthen the hands of the Generalissimo and his Nationalist forces, and the other group being of the opinion that any support, further support, of the Generalissimo would be support of a hopeless cause, and that therefore steps ought to be taken by our Government to cooperate with the Communists in China.

My question is this: Is it true, in accordance with your own knowledge, that from '45 to January, '47, when you were on the China mission, you encountered any such division of point of view within the official staff of the State Department?

A.—No, sir, I did not. The views I generally encountered were that there was so much dissatisfaction with the operations of the then Government of the whole of China, the Kuomintang party, that they would be unable to make their case, and that they would lose by reason of the lack of a solid public following; while on the Communist side, which was highly organized, heavily indoctrinated and under strong discipline, a very serious attack, political as well as military, could be made against the existing Kuomintang Government.

The feelings were directed to lack of confidence in the ability of that particular Government to stand solidly with the people unless it engaged in very material reforms.

That was the question in all of this; and as in all such cases, the great problem was how we were to handle the attack of the Communist regime or the minority party, whatever you wish to call it, under those circumstances which gave them every opportunity to tear down to their own advantage.

Q.—General Marshall, when you were the head of the China mission from 1945 to 1947, and subsequently when you were Secretary of State, did you at any time find within the State Department any officials who were pro-Communist and who wanted the policy of this Government to be one supporting the Chinese Communists?

A.—No, sir, I did not. I am speaking in regard to those people with whom I came in contact.

Q.—That is what I am asking. I am asking within your knowledge. A.—I did not.

Q.—And the answer is you did not come in contact with any such persons? A.—No, sir.

Q.—And you knew of no such movement within the State Department during that period of service? A.—It never came to my attention, sir.

Policy Instructions For MacArthur Cited

Q.—In his able examination of you this morning, the Senator from New Jersey, Mr. Smith, made a point in one of his questions which I do not think the record shows you commented upon or answered; when he said, in effect—I am not and I do not quote him verbatim—that his understanding of General MacArthur's statements and testimony was that all MacArthur sought at any time was to be told what he was to do in connection with his command in Asia in relation to our Government's policy.

Do you know, General, of any time when General MacArthur did not have, in your opinion, full and adequate instructions as to what our policy in Asia was, and as to what he was to do in carrying

A.—I think he had everything this Government could give him at the time.

I must interject with reference to the previous testimony of mine, and the messages that have been read into this hearing, that at the period of the discussion of whether or not our troops should move north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel, and the United Nations were considering it, there came a period there of a very short time, we will say, a week, or maybe two weeks, where a positive attitude was difficult to find, but even there, he was informed that he could go ahead.

Later, when under General Ridgway's resumption of the initiative our troops approached the Thirty-eighth Parallel, the record shows that we were trying to obtain from the United Nations the necessary general understanding and concurrence in the matter, and he was kept informed of what was going on; and finally, the message of the President of Jan. 13 outlined the entire policy. I think it is possible that General MacArthur's references, in part, were directed to how we would bring the campaign to a conclusion, and there is where we arrived at differences of opinion and not differences of policy.

Q.—That deals with my very next question. Do you think that there is a possibility that the impression that General MacArthur left with some of us on the committee—and I may say he left with me the same impression he left with the Senator from New Jersey on this point—was an impression based upon the fact that he had disagreements with his superiors in his line of command rather than with any failure on the part of his superiors to give him adequate instructions as to what the policy of the Government was and what he should do about that policy?

A.—I think that is correct. I think he has given full information right along the line.

Q.—I think I have got about two more minutes of my half hour, and I do not want to get into another larger subject, but I want to cover a couple of minor points, here, General.

In his examination of you this morning, the Senator from New Jersey pointed out that the United Nations was some three months reaching any comity of opinion concerning Chinese aggression in Asia and reaching any general agreement as to what they should do in support of united action in meeting that aggression.

You have already testified that with sixty members of the United Nations in round numbers involved in this particular joint action in Korea, that it necessarily must take time, pointing out, I think, in your testimony that the legislative process itself is sometimes slow whether it is in Congress or in the United Nations organization. How long has the military manpower bill been before the Congress of the United States, General?

A.—I am told since the first week in January.

Possibility of Getting Overnight Action

Q.—Well, that is all of three months, which only bears out the fact that, when we are dealing with major problems even in our own country on the legislative basis, we can't get overnight action, is that not true? A.—The only time I ever heard of getting overnight action did actually occur with the United Nations in the Security Council on the aggression into Korea.

Q.—And that was on the main decision as to whether or not they would decree that there was aggression in Korea, that overnight action. A.—It was an action by the National Security Council that, in a sense, gave us a free hand to go into Korea and resist the aggression.

Q.—Yes, but based upon a recognition that the Chinese Communists were the aggressors. A.—But the final recognition did not come for a long time after that.

Q.—That is right.

Now, General, you spoke this morning in reply to the question as to whether or not you thought we were mobilizing fast enough. Is it true that our present state of mobilization and our present defenses is in such a condition of inadequacy at the present that that the head of our civilian defense program, Governor Caldwell, is correct in warning the American people that if World War III on a world-wide basis should break out in the immediate future, there is a serious danger that a considerable number of the enemy planes would be able to break through our defenses and deliver their bomb loads on American soil?

A.—I think that is correct, sir.

Q.—And is that danger another factor that was taken into consideration by the men in the Defense establishment when they advised against adopting General MacArthur's recommendation because of their fear that those recommendations might be the spark that would bring Russia into the war immediately? A.—That was one of many considerations along that line.

Q.—Are we not, General, short of trained military manpower at the present time to a very serious degree? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And is it not also true that we are short of modern equipment at the present time to a serious degree including planes, tanks and other military equipment? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—It it not true that our allied strength is in exactly the same condition of inadequate preparedness at the present time? A.—Much more so.

Q.—Therefore I conclude, Mr. Chairman, at this time with this question. In view of the answers that you have just given to the last few questions I have asked you on the state of American allied preparedness, is it not important in the opinion of our officials in the Defense establishment that we do what we can to keep the Asiatic war on a limited basis over a period in the immediate future until, through a united American people, we can devote our full energies to complete military mobilization and thereby strengthen our defenses so we can meet a Russian attack with some reasonable assurance of victory, if it comes?

A.—I would qualify, in relation to my answer to that, to this extent; that I would not wish to imply that the operation in Korea necessarily had to be continued for the length of time to reach our reasonable full-power development of military preparedness, but I do answer very specifically to the point that we should do everything in our power to limit the operations in Korea in a manner that will to the least create a possibility of a general war.

Q.—Mr. Chairman, I think I have taken thirty-one minutes. I will reserve the rest of my questions.

THE CHAIRMAN—I shall not quarrel wtih the Senator about one minute. Senator Hickenlooper.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

General Marshall, in your testimony on yesterday. With respect to the North Atlantic Pact, and the military assistance to European countries under that pact, I believe you said, in effect, that we had no choice there; that is, our best interests dictated that we had no choice other than to participate in the North Atlantic Pact, and its implementation by arms and troops. Am I correct in that assumption?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—You are correct, sir.

Basis for the Decision To Enter Korean Fight

Q.—By the same token, I believe—well, I should not assume this, but do you state, in your opinion, that we had no choice in connection with sending troops to Korea—by the same yardstick? A.—I was not in that decision, but it would seem so.

Q.—In the case of Europe, and under the assumption that we had no choice except to participate in the North Atlantic pact, in the North Atlantic defense area, and that is, for the purpose of the security of the United States, and the principles involved in what we call the free world, and resistance to communism, or aggression—I will use the word "aggression"—is that not true?

A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—In the case of Korea, I would assume, then, that the same reasoning would say that our intervention with troops in Korea, in the Korean war, is to serve generally the same purpose of resisting and putting down aggression, except this is an active, shooting war, whereas our activities in Europe are still in the nature of passive action, in building up our defenses?

A.—Yes, sir; to the extent that in Western Europe we met a blockade, if not aggression, by the Soviets, in connection with the airlift into Berlin; and as I said, we did that in the best way we could, to avoid a complete break, and in opposition to the contentions that we should make a break by forcing our entrance.

Now, when it comes to Korea, as I say, I wasn't in the decision. I came in and found a war in progress—there was the great issue of whether we, and the United Nations, appeared before the world, all of the weaker nations, in a position where we gave proof that we would resist aggression, or we would stand away and let the country be overwhelmed.

Q.—Now, in the Berlin airlift before it was started and while it was going on, there were very grave questions indeed as to whether or not it would precipitate active resistance by the Russians to the point where it might even cause a third world war? A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—In the case of the Berlin airlift, we were not only in direct contact with the Russians, but where we had to fly over ,and, in a way, if the Russians wanted to twist it, violate Russian-controlled territory—we did not hesitate to take that risk in the interests of preserving and establishing a principle, isn't that correct?

A.—That is correct, with this additional remark: We had no other recourse; saving the abandonment of Berlin to the Soviets, with all of the attendant changes of circumstances surrounding that.

Progress in Korea Discussed by Marshall

Q.—In the case of Korea our troops have been in there now, and I think everyone will admit that they have not brought the war to a conclusion, they are still fighting back and forth in the Korean peninsula, and from a military standpoint, I don't intend to put words in your mouth, but I suggest from a military standpoint purely, leaving out the political implications, but from a purely military standpoint, every military man in this country probably would agree that the strategy and tactics for a successful conclusion from a military standpoint now, or that action in Korea against the Reds would include, among other things, going over with our present air power and bombing the arsenals at Mukden and the installations at Harbin and the lines of supply which are enabling the Reds to go back and recoup themselves so they can attack again.

Now, I don't want to turn your answer in any way, shape, or form—I am speaking purely from the standpoint of a military campaign and the successful winning of the battle.

A.—At the present time, in the opinion of my military advisers and my own—that is, I concur with them—the ground forces have suffered in a rather remote way from our failure to do the bombing that you have just referred to.

They have not been subjected to air attacks of any moment whatsoever, and they have enjoyed a tremendous protection of our air and the knowledge of a tremendous development against the ground troops of the aggressor.

Also there has to be taken into consideration the fact that we started almost from zero in this Korean affair, first with our small air component there and the few naval ships available, and then with a single reinforced infantry battalion, and from that worked up to the present force. * * * (two and a half lines deleted.)

But there has been also the period of the desperate campaign to maintain that force. It has destroyed one army, that of the North Koreans, and a new rehabilitated North Korean force has come in; and it has undertaken, as General MacArthur very clearly stated, a campaign against troops sent in by another nation, which presented quite a new situation.

But even so, we have just now, in this current month, reached the point where that command is being vitalized by the fact that a man is given an opportunity to come back to his home, he doesn't fight on without any hope as to eventual relief, except through a casualty.

We have two more divisions in Japan, which changed the security aspect of that country quite a bit, and we have the basis of a continual flow of replacements and troops for rotation, and from those factors, the situation as to the allied command has greatly changed. Now, let us see what is going to happen next.

Secretary Cites Hazard In Attack on Supplies

Q.—Well, General, may I suggest, and I do not imply that you are suggesting this at all—may I suggest that that kind of an argument may appeal to some as saying that American lives are expendable in a holding action, when we have power to affirmatively hit the enemy where he produces his supplies to replenish himself.

A.—Well, if by hitting [illegible] supplies to replenish himself, which we do not think have vitally affected the campaign, we hazard a general war, then I think the American people are on the side that the Defense Department, the Chiefs of Staff and the civilian authority of the Government favor.

Q.—We did not—— A.—May I add a little to that?

Q.—Yes.

A.—In all of these things, as I referred to the other day, always there comes up the question of a stalemate, but each of these other times we have finally gotten through the stalemate against the criticisms and the opposition that always has arisen.

Here we are up against a proposition where the stalemate is characterized with great frequency. None of these things are going to be rapidly decisive, but I think the procedure we are following is in the interests of the American people, and is in the interests of minimum casualties, and in the interests of a successful solution.

Q.—General, I suggest to you that it has been pretty well bandied about as a statement in the world for a great many years that the British—and I do not say that it is true necessarily—that the British have lost every battle but the last one.

A.—You are thinking largely of Waterloo.

Q.—Whether that is true or not, it has also given rise to the famous British statement that the British somehow muddle through; that eventually there comes a time when they will win the last battle, which is the decisive one, and that is the one they want to win.

I believe, by the same token, that our military tactics and strategy in this country have always been of an aggressive nature; we believe in getting the thing over with; we believe in an aggressiveness rather than muddling through; and I wonder, is it not a true military statement that no one ever wins a real victory by merely sitting back on his haunches on the defensive? In other words, don't we have to at some time take the offensive in order to win a conclusive victory?

A.—That is certainly so; but I referred the other day to one of the most successful defenses in history, which really was the determining result in the breakdown of the Napoleonic regime, and that was the peninsula campaign, which was largely defensive, and year in and year out was under continuous attack in the Parliament, and the man they were attacking eventually came out of the defensive and went on the offensive.

Wellington's Tactics Of Defense Recalled

Q.—I heard that statement yesterday with great interest, General, and I do not by any stretch of the imagination want to be understood as posing my military history knowledge against, and I have very little, but I had read a number of things about the Napoleonic campaign, especially about Wellington, and it is my impression that Wellington fought in a defensive campaign because he did not have the tools to fight an offensive campaign with, and that as soon as and when he finally got the tools and the weapons to fight an offensive campaign with, he immediately took the offensive and thereby gained the eventual victory, and broke Napoleon's back.

A.—I think you will find there that that does not come clearly out. There were a great many other considerations involved in it. One was opportunity; one was the decimation of the Franch strength against him in faulty campaigns.

Q.—Yes. A.—And finally, the most destructive one was where he went into complete defensive positions in the famous Torres Vedras line, and the other command literally destroyed itself.

Q.—Yes, I understand all those factors are involved. A.—Well, they are very definitely involved, and they resulted in the basic decisions.

Q.—He fought a long defensive campaign. A.—But he did not receive great reinforcements for the finish of that campaign.

Q.—He fought a great defensive campaign, I believe, in the Iberian Peninsula, I believe for a great and long period of time, eventually defeating the French forces down there. A.—Well, he defeated one after the other.

Q.—Yes. A.—In the matter of their unsuccessful attacks; and their group finally wasted away and left themselves wide open for the action that was taken to carry that campaign to a successful conclusion.

Q.—Well, I might suggest another campaign which might be considered a victory on the theory of defense, and that was the battle of the Masurian Lakes at Tannenberg, in which, of course, very small, about a quarter of the number of Germans were in a defensive action, although there was some offense too, I believe, and succeeded in decimating the oncoming Russians, and they had no more trouble with them the rest of the time during World War I.

A.—You can come over here to this country and take Braddock's 13,000, or whatever the number was, which were completely washed out by the French and Indians.

Secretary Comments On Defensive Action

Q.—Those are particular battles.

A.—I was merely addressing myself to your comment that no war was ever won successfully by defensive action.

THE CHAIRMAN — At this point, Senator Hickenlooper, I would like to interrupt to take up a matter with the Armed Services Committee.

(Whereupon, a separate matter was discussed by the members of the Armed Services Committee.)

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Hickenlooper.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Mr. Chairman, I am perfectly willing to go over because I have a large number of questions and will be some considerable time and can not possibly finish today. But there is one question, in order to make it short, that I would like to ask General Marshall now in view of the questions I have asked him up to this point. And that is—why did we accept most serious risks in Europe, both in the question of the Berlin airlift and in the matter of arming under the North Atlantic Pact—why did we accept those risks in Europe in the interests of either resisting or pushing back communism and refuse to accept the risks which many will admit exist, refuse to accept the risks in this Korean war of bombing the sources of supply along the line of known and accepted military principles?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—In Western Europe, as I said the other day, we literally had no choice. Beginning with our European Recovery Program and later taking up the rearmament of Western Europe. It was a proposition of whether we simply let that be overrun by the Communist conquest, either political or military, to our calamitous disadvantage, but we had no choice in that means.

Now, in Korea I have stated that our command, in the opinion of my military advisers, and in my own concurrence, has not suffered to any material extent from the lack of bombing that you have specifically referred to. * * * (Three and one-half lines deleted.)

The consensus of opinion is that to do as you have indicated in your question involves a risk so great that it is not in the interest of the country, and not in the interest of that Army to take that risk.

That is a matter of opinion. That is a matter of judgment. But the unanimous judgment on this side of the water in connection with it, of the constituted authorities in connection with it, is that the risk is too great.

And this would be off the record, but I think it is pretty important. * * * (Twenty-four lines deleted.)

Assaults Across Yalu Are Discussed

Q.—At that point of the comparative damage which we have suffered, I would like to suggest, General, that there have been two great assaults by Chinese Communists across the Yalu and against our forces in which we have suffered thousands of casualties, those assaults being implemented and supplies by the bases in Manchuria.

Had we destroyed those bases, had we attacked them and bombed them, it seems perfectly reasonable to me to believe that they would not have had the equipment and the material to mount those two assaults as effectively and as vigorously as they did, and therefore I suggest that from my view we have suffered tremendously by not destroying their sources of supply and their lines of communication in the past, because it has enabled them to mount unrestrictedly two major assaults which came across the Yalu and which we knew were coming, so that my position is that we have suffered greatly by this policy of not going back and attacking and destroying their sources of supply and their marshaling centers and their lines of communication.

Now, I merely state that as my view. I may say this: That on yesterday I didn't talk to these lads myself but they are lads from this immediate territory who have just come back from Korea, and the story they tell of lying up in the hills and watching the Chinese form across the Yalu two or three miles away and of marching their equipment and their guns across the Yalu and being forbidden to call for artillery or for air support to destroy that very concentration that they could see building up and just sit there and wait to meet it, was a most discouraging thing and they suffered casualties as a result of it.

A.—The implication of your statement or their description is that we have artillery mounted along the Yalu. We had one regiment at one place well up towards the north. We had one regiment of an R. O. K. division midway down towards the south, but as to having artillery mounted to react across the Yalu near the main centers of approach, that was not the case.

I do say this in response to your outlines: that at the time of the entry of the Chinese Communist forces into North Korea, that is the end of October and the early part of November, notably around Nov. 6 I think, that there was a case where we were greatly hampered and our troops were affected by the fact that the movement of the Chinese Communist troops down the main artery to cross the Yalu near Sinuiju did affect that materially and that that was the time we brought up to our allies the question of "not pursuit" which was dropped not entirely because of the fact that all of them were solidly against it, but because the whole set-up of the campaign changed, and with the distance between our troops and the Yalu, there was a reasonable opportunity to act against their communications and against their planes when they came in.

Q.—Just one more question, and then I will close, Mr. Chairman. I hadn't anticipated asking so many at this moment. You stated that we were short of artillery along the Yalu. A.—Not short. It had not reached there.

Q.—We didn't have any, then, except token. A.—We had not reached the Yalu line.

Q.—We did have airplanes and fighters and bombers, which could very easily and quickly have crossed the Yalu and could have inflicted great damage on those lines of supply. A.—That is correct.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Well, Mr. Chairman, I think this would be a good place to stop.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, I have one procedural matter.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—I would like to go on tomorrow, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN—You don't lose your right of your position if the committee recesses.

Senators Bring Up Procedural Points

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, I have one procedural point.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — I have one procedural question. Senator Smith has one likewise.

SENATOR SMITH—I have been looking into the record on MacArthur's colloquy about the statement he issued March 24 and I find on Page 179 the reference to Sept. 24, which is obviously the same statement; and I just ask unanimous consent that the record be changed from September to March so that the reference to his statement will have the correct date.

THE CHAIRMAN—That is General MacArthur's testimony on Page 179, bottom of the page, changing General MacArthur's testimony. I assume General MacArthur would have no objection to correcting the date.

SENATOR SMITH—I may say, Mr. Chairman, a few pages earlier he made the same slip and corrected himself, saying he meant

March 24.

THE CHAIRMAN—If there is no objection, the permanent record will be altered accordingly.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—In the document furnished us by the Defense establishment of classified information, which is paraphrased, and directing General Marshall's attention to Pages 103 and 104 dealing with the recommendations of the Joint Chiefs regarding a settlement or a cease-fire arrangement and under what conditions it should be brought about, I called the attention of the committee the other day to the fact that what appears to be a complete record, probably as a result of inadvertence did not include a paraphrase of Secretary Marshall's endorsement on the Joint Chiefs' recommendations.

You will recall that they recommended that in any discussions the matter of U. N. membership and the matter of Formosa should not even be a subject of discussion and General Marshall apparently said he approved of everything except he did feel that these two matters could be discussed.

I think in order to get that booklet, which is supposed to be a complete record, that some paraphrase should be included in the booklet so the committee will have complete information.

Marshall Declassifies And Reads the Letter

SECRETARY MARSHALL — May I answer that?

I have here that letter of March 31, and it is classified as "top secret," but I can see no reason why it should not be in the record. I will take the responsibility for downgrading it, and giving it to the committee.

It is the letter of March 31. Do you wish me to read it?

THE CHAIRMAN—If you have declassified it.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — (Reading:)

"Dear Mr. Secretary," this is addressed to the Secretary of State—in 1951:

"With reference to our discussion regarding Korea on 19 March 1951 with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, I am transmitting herewith"—we had a general meeting—"for your information and consideration, a memorandum of 27 March 1951 from the Joint Chiefs of Staff on the United States position regarding an armistice in Korea. These views supersede those of the Joint Chiefs of Staff which were submitted to the National Security Council on 13 December 1950.

"I am in general agreement with the terms, conditions and arrangements enumerated in Paragraphs 6 and 7 of the Joint Chiefs memorandum. However, I believe that the questions of Formosa and Chinese Communist membership in the United Nations, as well as other general political and security factors referred to in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the memorandum of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, would be fitting topics in the consideration of basic terms of settlement of the Korean situation, and might be taken up in discussions between our two departments on the overall question of Korea."

That is signed by Robert A. Lovett, acting secretary.

THE CHAIRMAN—Is there anything further?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN—If not, the committee will stand recessed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

(Thereupon, at 1:12 o'clock, P. M. [E. D. T.] the committee stood in recess until the following morning, Friday, May 11, 1951, at 10 o'clock, A. M.)

B15WX (SEGQ)
K(550) CENSOR-MACARTHUR
BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-A NAVY OFFICER, ARMED WITH AN EDITOR'S BLUE PENCIL, APPEARS TO HAVE ESTABLISHED A FIRM NEUTRAL ZONE IN THE MIDDLE OF THE RAGING CONTROVERSY OVER THE FIRING OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

VICE ADMIRAL ARTHUR C. DAVIS SITS IN ON THE CLOSED-DOOR CONGRESSIONAL HEARINGS INTO MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL. HE HAS THE ASSIGNMENT OF READING ALL TESTIMONY AND DECIDING PROMPTLY WHAT MUST BE DELETED AS AFFECTING NATIONAL SECURITY AND WHAT HANDED ON TO THE PUBLIC.

DURING THE PAST WEEK HE'S PASSED ON SOME 200,000 WORDS CONNECTED WITH SOME OF THE WORLD'S MOST EXPLOSIVE CURRENT ISSUES. THE TESTIMONY HAS COME FROM BOTH SIDES IN THE GREAT CONTROVERSY. BUT THERE HAS BEEN RELATIVELY LITTLE CRITICISM OF DAVIS' WORK FROM EITHER SIDE.

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL (D-GA) OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE TODAY TOLD A REPORTER:

"THERE HAVE BEEN NO COMPLAINTS FROM THE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC PARTISANS FOR GENERAL MACARTHUR OR FROM HIS MOST RELENTLESS OPPONENTS. WHEN A MAN CAN STAND IN THE MIDDLE OF A CONTROVERSY AS BITTER AS THIS AND GET THAT, HE MUST BE DOING A GOOD JOB."

SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF), ONE OF MACARTHUR'S CHAMPIONS, SAID YESTERDAY IN THE SENATE THAT DAVIS WAS "DOING A VERY FAIR AND A VERY CONSCIENTIOUS JOB TO GET THE FACTS AND LET THE CHIPS FALL WHERE THEY MAY."

RUSSELL EXPRESSED SURPRISE AT A REPORTER'S SUGGESTION THAT DAVIS' SUBORDINATE POSITION IN THE ARMED FORCES TO SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL MIGHT MAKE IT SEEM IN EFFECT THAT MARSHALL WAS CENSORING HIS OWN TESTIMONY AS WELL AS THAT OF GENERAL MACARTHUR'S. DAVIS IS STAFF DIRECTOR OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.

"MARSHALL IS NOT CENSORING HIS OWN TESTIMONY AT ALL AND HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH CENSORING HIS OWN OR GENERAL MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY," RUSSELL SAID.

"THE COMMITTEES CAN OVERRIDE ADMIRAL DAVIS ON ANYTHING AND HAVE IN FACT DONE IT," RUSSELL ADDED. "I HAVE NOT AGREED WITH EVERYTHING HE HAD DELETED BUT I ALSO HAVE BEEN MILDLY SURPRISED AT SOME THINGS HE LEFT IN."

NEAREST APPROACH TO A COMPLAINT CAME FROM SENATOR MUNDT (R-SD) ON THE SENATE FLOOR YESTERDAY. HE IS NOT A MEMBER OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES OR FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES WHICH ARE CONDUCTING THE JOINT HEARINGS. MUNDT SAID HE WAS DISTURBED AT "GAPS WHICH ARE INCREASINGLY APPEARING" IN SECRETARY MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY.

MAY 11 1951

B16WX (SEGQ)
KNOWLAND QUICKLY DISAGREED WITH MUNDT. ANY DELETIONS, HE SAID, WERE AIMED AT PROTECTING NATIONAL SECURITY.

BOTH RUSSELL AND KNOWLAND POINTED OUT THAT THE COMMITTEES CAN AND HAVE OVERRULED THE CENSOR.

KNOWLAND AND SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN) ARE ACTING AS A SUBCOMMITTEE TO REVIEW ALL DELETIONS FROM THE PUBLIC RECORD OF TESTIMONY. IF THEY CANNOT REACH AN AGREEMENT, THE MATTER IS REFERRED TO THE JOINT COMMITTEES.

WHEN THE CENSOR REMOVED THE NAME OF THE NORTHEAST KOREAN TOWN OF RASHIN (NAJIN), WHICH GENERAL MACARTHUR SAID HE WAS DENIED PERMISSION TO BOMB, KNOWLAND AND RUSSELL HAD IT RESTORED TO THE TRANSCRIPT LATER.

ADMIRAL DAVIS WAS ASSIGNED TO THE CENSORSHIP JOB BY THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT. SENATOR RUSSELL SAID HE HAD ASKED THE DEPARTMENT FOR THE "BEST MAN THEY HAD WITH THE HIGHEST RANK" TO DO THIS WORK FOR THE COMMITTEES.

RUSSELL SAID HIS INSTRUCTIONS TO ADMIRAL DAVIS WERE TO TAKE OUT ANYTHING "THAT MIGHT ENDANGER THE SECURITY OF THE NATION" BUT NOT TO REMOVE TESTIMONY EVEN IF IT REFLECTED UPON ANY INDIVIDUALS OR ORGANI-ZATIONS.

RUSSELL ALSO NOTED HE INVITED BOTH MACARTHUR AND MARSHALL TO HAVE THEIR OWN PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE WORK ALONG WITH ADMIRAL DAVIS BUT BOTH DECLINED.
"I WILL OFFER THIS SAME OPPORTUNITY TO OTHER WITNESSES," RUSSELL SAID.
A STATE DEPARTMENT REPRESENTATIVE, ADRIAN FISHER, ALSO IS COMBING THE TESTIMONY FOR POSSIBLE DISCLOSURE OF DIPLOMATIC SECRETS. KNOWLAND SAID FISHER SO FAR HAS SUGGESTED DELETION OF ONLY ONE SENTENCE. KNOWLAND ADDED HE REGARDED THE REQUEST AS PROPER.

MACARTHUR-MARSHALL
BY JACK BELL
MAY 11 1951
WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) ACCUSED THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION TODAY OF ATTEMPTING TO CLAP "A COMPLETE GAG RULE" ON MILITARY FIELD COMMANDERS.
HIS CHARGE WAS MADE AS AN OUTGROWTH OF THE HEARINGS INTO THE OUSTER OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN. BRIDGES IS SENIOR REPUBLICAN ON THE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE WHICH, TOGETHER WITH THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, IS CONDUCTING THE HEARINGS.
SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL WAS CALLED BACK TODAY (9 A.M. EST) FOR HIS FOURTH HALF-DAY OF TESTIMONY. MACARTHUR, THE FIRST WITNESS, TESTIFIED FOR THREE FULL DAYS LAST WEEK.
IN EFFECT, MARSHALL HAD ALREADY DISCUSSED THE CHARGE OF A GAG.

IN EFFECT, MARSHALL HAD ALREADY DISCUSSED THE CHARGE OF A GAG. HE SAID YESTERDAY MACARTHUR WAS ALWAYS FREE TO ARGUE WITH WASHINGTON OVER KOREAN WAR POLICY. HE WAS FIRED, MARSHALL SAID, BECAUSE HE AIRED PUBLICLY HIS VIEWS, THUS RAISING THE ISSUE OF "WHAT VOICE SPOKE FROM THIS COUNTRY ON FOREIGN POLICY."
MARSHALL WAS ASKED TO TELL THE COMMITTEES TODAY WHETHER LT. GEN. GEORGE STRATEMEYER CLEARED IN ADVANCE STATEMENTS LAST MONTH THAT THE WAY TO STOP A BUILD-UP OF CHINESE RED AIR POWER IN MANCHURIA WAS TO HIT NORTH OF THE YALU RIVER -- A MOVE HE SAID WAS "NOT PERMISSIBLE."
MARSHALL SAID YESTERDAY THE PENTAGON "DIDN'T PARTICULARLY APPRECIATE" THIS STATEMENT BY STRATEMEYER, COMMANDER OF THE FAR EAST AIR FORCE, PUBLISHED IN THE MAGAZINE U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT. MARSHALL SAID HE DIDN'T THINK THE STATEMENT WAS CLEARED BUT WOULD CHECK AND REPORT TO THE COMMITTEES.
IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION BY SENATOR H. ALEXANDER SMITH (R-NJ), THE DEFENSE SECRETARY ADDED THE ISSUE OF DISMISSING STRATEMEYER FOR THE STATEMENT "HAS NOT BEEN BROUGHT UP TO THE PRESIDENT."
HE NOTED THAT STRATEMEYER IS "NOT A PERSON IN THE PROMINENT POSITION OF GENERAL MACARTHUR."
MARSHALL TESTIFIED THE SAME RESTRICTIONS ON PUBLIC STATEMENTS THE ADMINISTRATION TRIED TO APPLY UNSUCCESSFULLY ON MACARTHUR AFFECT HIS SUCCESSOR, LT. GEN. MATTHEW B. RIDGWAY, NOMINATED BY MR. TRUMAN YESTERDAY TO BE A FULL FOUR-STAR GENERAL.
WITH THIS AND MACARTHUR'S OUSTER IN MIND, BRIDGES TOLD A REPORTER HE SEES IN MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY AN EFFORT TO CUT OFF ALL EXPRESSIONS OF OPINION BY MILITARY COMMANDERS.
"THEY ARE TRYING TO ENFORCE A COMPLETE GAG RULE," THE NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATOR SAID. "I DON'T THINK THEY CAN GET AWAY WITH IT."

A13WX
MARSHALL TOLD THE COMMITTEES YESTERDAY THE PRIMARY REASON THE PRESIDENT FIRED MACARTHUR WAS THAT THE PACIFIC COMMANDER HAD RAISED THE QUESTION OF WHETHER HE OR MR. TRUMAN SPOKE WITH THE MOST AUTHORITATIVE VOICE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS. MACARTHUR'S STATEMENTS, HE SAID, THREATENED TO ALIENATE U.S. ALLIES AND FORCE THIS COUNTRY TO "GO IT ALONE" IN KOREA.

"BY HIS PUBLIC STATEMENTS HE HAD CREATED A FEELING OF GREAT UNEASINESS AMONG OUR ALLIES AS TO THE CONSEQUENCES OF HIS PROPOSALS," MARSHALL SAID OF MACARTHUR. HE ADDED:
"HE WAS CREATING A FEELING OF UNCERTAINTY WITH OUR ALLIES AS TO WHO WAS DIRECTING THESE AFFAIRS -- OUR CHIEF EXECUTIVE, AS EXECUTIVE AGENT FOR THOSE ALLIES, OR OTHERWISE."
MAJ. GEN. COURTNEY WHITNEY, MACARTHUR'S PERSONAL ADVISER, TOLD NEWSMEN IN NEW YORK YESTERDAY MACARTHUR HAD NOT ARGUED AGAINST ANY POLICIES ALREADY IN EFFECT.
"WHAT HE WAS CALLING FOR WAS A DEFINITIVE POLICY TO FILL THE POLICY VACUUM LEFT IN THE WAKE OF CHINA'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR," WHITNEY SAID.
MACARTHUR HAS URGED BROADER PROSECUTION OF THE WAR AGAINST COMMUNIST CHINA: BOMBING OF BASES IN MANCHURIA, A BLOCKADE OF THE CHINA COAST AND USE OF CHINESE NATIONALIST FORCES NOW NEUTRALIZED ON FORMOSA.
MARSHALL, FOR THE ADMINISTRATION, HAS ARGUED THE COURSE MACARTHUR ADVOCATED WOULD GREATLY INCREASE THE DANGER OF RUSSIAN INTERVENTION AND MIGHT TOUCH OFF A NEW WORLD WAR.
WHITNEY ALSO SAID IT IS NOT TRUE, AS MARSHALL HAD TESTIFIED, THAT TROOP MORALE IN KOREA MAY BE HARMED BY MACARTHUR'S STATEMENTS ABOUT HEAVY CASUALTIES AND HIS PREDICTION THE WAR WILL END IN A STALEMATE.
"THE FACT THAT GENERAL MACARTHUR HAS HAD THE COURAGE TO CALL FOR MEASURES DESIGNED TO PROTECT HIS FORMER COMMAND WILL REACT FAVORABLY ON THE MORALE OF THE TROOPS," WHITNEY SAID. "THIS INDEED SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN THE CASE."
IN HIS TESTIMONY YESTERDAY, MARSHALL ALLUDED TO A MARCH 24 STATEMENT IN WHICH HE SAID MACARTHUR "JUMPED THE GUN" ON A PROPOSED PRESIDENTIAL PRONOUNCEMENT OF TERMS ON WHICH THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES MIGHT BE WILLING TO TALK A CEASE-FIRE WITH THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN KOREA.
THE DEFENSE SECRETARY CONTENDED MACARTHUR HAD KILLED ANY CHANCE OF NEGOTIATIONS BY HINTING THAT UNLESS THE REDS TALKED PEACE THE U.N. MIGHT EXPAND THE WAR TO CHINA'S COASTAL AREAS AND INTERIOR BASES.
MARSHALL SAID MACARTHUR'S ASSERTION TRUCE TALKS SHOULD NOT BE "BURDENED" BY ANY DISCUSSION OF THE FATE OF FORMOSA AND A U.N. SEAT FOR RED CHINA "SET UP A VERY SERIOUS CONSIDERATION" BECAUSE IT INVOLVED "POSSIBLE POLITICAL CONSEQUENCE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE" TO U.S. ALLIES.
MAY 11 1951

A14WX
MARSHALL HAS MADE IT CLEAR THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION OPPOSES ANY MOVE TO GIVE FORMOSA TO THE REDS OR TO SEAT THEM ON THE SECURITY COUNCIL. BUT HE SAID THE UNITED STATES CAN'T AVOID HAVING SUCH PROPOSALS DISCUSSED BECAUSE OTHER U.N. MEMBERS WILL INSIST UPON IT.
SENATOR SMITH SAID HE COULDN'T SEE WHERE MACARTHUR'S STATEMENT CLASHED WITH ADMINISTRATION FOREIGN POLICY.
MARSHALL ENTERED HIS FOURTH DAY OF QUESTIONING, WHICH MAY LAST ALL WEEK, WITH REPUBLICANS STILL HAMMERING AWAY ON THE THEME THAT MACARTHUR WAS BADLY TREATED BY BEING SUMMARILY DISMISSED.
ON THE OTHER HAND, SENATOR KERR (D-OKLA) CHIDED REPUBLICANS FOR DEMANDING THAT MARSHALL DISCLOSE "A BLUEPRINT FOR VICTORY" IN KOREA. HE SAID THE ENEMY WOULD LIKE TO KNOW ABOUT IT.
THE OKLAHOMAN ACCUSED THE REPUBLICANS OF TRYING TO "CROSS-EXAMINE, BROWBEAT AND THREATEN" MARSHALL TO GET INFORMATION FROM HIM.
MARSHALL IS BEING QUESTIONED BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, AS WAS MACARTHUR. BUT THE COMMITTEES ARE MAKING PUBLIC A TRANSCRIPT OF THE TESTIMONY AFTER CENSORS DELETE INFORMATION THEY FEEL WOULD AFFECT NATIONAL SECURITY.
IN AN APPEARANCE OF MORE THAN THREE HOURS YESTERDAY. MARSHALL SAID:

MR. TRUMAN WROTE MACARTHUR LAST JANUARY OUTLINING THE FOREIGN POLICY ASPECTS OF THE KOREAN WAR SAYING, IN PART, THAT STEPS WHICH MIGHT BE JUSTIFIED TO WIN THE WAR THERE "WOULD NOT BE BENEFICIAL IF THEY WOULD INVOLVE JAPAN OR WESTERN EUROPE IN LARGE SCALE HOSTILITIES."

THE ADMINISTRATION'S POLICY IS "TO TRY TO KILL OF ENOUGH RED CHINESE, WHEN THEY COME ON US, SO THAT THEY WILL SAY THEY HAVE HAD ENOUGH."

WHETHER RUSSIA "CAN AFFORD TO HAVE CHINA DEFEATED DECISIVELY" IS A MATTER THAT MUST BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT IN JUDGING FUTURE EVENTS.

THE ANNOUNCED SUPPORT OF BRITAIN AND FRANCE "PRACTICALLY ASSURES" THE ADOPTION OF A UNITED NATIONS TRADE EMBARGO AGAINST RED CHINA, MAKING IT LESS NECESSARY TO BLOCKADE HER COASTS AS MACARTHUR HAD SUGGESTED.

AMERICAN ALLIES HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH MACARTHUR'S REMOVAL AND NONE OF THEM KNEW ABOUT IT IN ADVANCE.

(220) MACARTHUR-CONGRESS

WASHINGTON,MAY 10-(AP)-SENATOR TAFT (R-OHIO) TOLD THE SENATE TODAY THE ADMINISTRATION "HAS NOT HESITATED TO GIVE RUSSIA CAUSE FOR WAR" IN EUROPE AND SHOULD NOT HESITATE TO TAKE STEPS TO BEAT THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS AND END THE KOREAN WAR.

TAFT SPECIFICALLY URGED USE OF THE CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS NOW "NEUTRALIZED" ON FORMOSA. GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR PROPOSED THAT THOSE TROOPS BE LOOSED FOR ACTION AGAINST THE COMMUNISTS.

SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN) SUGGESTED TO TAFT THAT RUSSIA IS TRYING TO LURE THE U.S. INTO THE "TRAP" OF AN ALL-OUT WAR IN CHINA. IN REPLY, TAFT SHOUTED:

"WE HAVE FALLEN FOR IT. THIS ADMINISTRATION PUT US INTO IT."

HE DECLARED THAT "AMERICAN BOYS ARE DYING" IN THE KOREAN WAR AND THAT THE MAIN JOB NOW IS TO GET THAT WAR ENDED.

MCMAHON SAID ANY MOVES TO INTENSIFY THE WAR IN ASIA MIGHT BRING ON WORLD WAR THREE AND CASUALTIES IN ATOM-BOMBED AMERICAN CITIES WHICH WOULD FAR OUTSTRIP THOSE OF KOREA.

TAFT SAID THIS COUNTRY IS "PURSUING A POLICY OF CONTAINING RUSSIA AND COMMUNISM ALL OVER THE WORLD."

"WE HAVE REPEATEDLY DEFIED RUSSIA," HE SAID. "WE HAVE REPEATEDLY BROUGHT ABOUT CONDITIONS THAT MIGHT HAVE LED TO A WAR WITH RUSSIA.

"WE HAVE SAID IN EUROPE, 'CROSS THIS LINE AND YOU WILL BE IN A WAR.'

"WE HAVE NOT HESITATED TO GIVE RUSSIA CAUSE FOR WAR."

THE UNITED STATES NOW IS ENGAGED IN HELPING WESTERN EUROPE TO BUILD UP A FORCE OF 60 DIVISIONS WHICH EVEN COULD BE USED TO INVADE RUSSIA, TAFT DECLARED, ADDING:

"WE HAVE TAKEN FAR MORE RISKS IN EUROPE THAN WE HAVE BEEN WILING TO TAKE IN ASIA."

TRUMAN LETTER

WASHINGTON, MARCH 10-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN WROTE GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR A LETTER DEALING WITH KOREAN WAR POLICY LAST JANUARY WHEN CONDITIONS THERE WERE BLEAK FOR THE UNITED NATIONS.

SENATORS WHO REPORTED THIS YESTERDAY SAID THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER TOLD MACARTHUR THAT "STEPS WHICH MIGHT IN THEMSELVES BE FULLY JUSTIFIED "AND MIGHT HELP THE CAMPAIGN IN KOREA "WOULD NOT BE BENEFICIAL" IF THEY SHOULD RESULT IN SPREADING THE FIGHTING TO JAPAN OR WESTERN EUROPE.

PARAPHRASED EXCERPTS READ INTO THE RECORD OF THE INQUIRY INTO MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL SHOWED THAT MR. TRUMAN "RECOGNIZED THE CONTINUED RESISTANCE MIGHT NOT BE MILITARILY POSSIBLE WITH THE LIMITED FORCES AVAILABLE TO GENERAL MACARTHUR."

THE LETTER WAS DATED JAN. 13. UNITED NATIONS FORCES THEN WERE RAPIDLY BACKPEDALING BEFORE THE FIRST BIG ONSLAUGHT OF RED CHINESE.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER WAS FURNISHED TO THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES. SENATOR SALTONSTALL (R-MASS) SAID IT WAS SUPPLIED FROM RECORDS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.

SALTONSTALL READ THIS PARAPHRASED EXCERPT INTO THE RECORD:

"THE PRESIDENT EMPHASIZED THAT PENDING THE BUILDUP OF OUR NATIONAL STRENGTH, WE MUST ACT WITH GREAT PRUDENCE INSOFAR AS EXTENDING THE AREA OF HOSTILITIES WAS CONCERNED.

"STEPS WHICH MIGHT IN THEMSELVES BE FULLY JUSTIFIED, WHICH MIGHT LEND SOME ASSISTANCE TO THE CAMPAIGN IN KOREA, WOULD NOT BE BENEFICIAL IF THEY WOULD INVOLVE JAPAN OR WESTERN EUROPE IN LARGE SCALE HOSTILITIES.

"THE PRESIDENT RECOGNIZED THE CONTINUED RESISTANCE MIGHT NOT BE MILITARILY POSSIBLE WITH THE LIMITED FORCES AVAILABLE TO GENERAL MACARTHUR. IN ANY EVENT, THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES MUST BE PRESERVED AS AN EFFECTIVE INSTRUMENT FOR THE DEFENSE OF JAPAN AND ELSEWHERE. A SUCCESSFUL RESISTANCE IN KOREA, HOWEVER, WOULD SERVE THE FOLLOWING PURPOSES."

SALTONSTALL SAID THE LETTER LISTED 10 SUCH PURPOSES, THE FIRST OF WHICH WAS "TO DEMONSTRATE THAT AGGRESSION WOULD NOT BE ACCEPTED BY THE FREE WORLD."

FOLLOW WASHINGTON MARSHALL-MACARTHUR

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.,MAY 10-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS HAS TAKEN THE POSITION THAT THE SEATING OF RED CHINA IN THE U.N. IS NOT SUBJECT TO THE VETO, AND INFORMED QUARTERS SAID TONIGHT THE U.S. POSITION REMAINS UNCHANGED.

THESE QUARTERS WERE COMMENTING ON A STATEMENT BY DEFENSE SECRETARY GEORGE C.MARSHALL IN WASHINGTON THAT THE VETO SHOULD BE USED, IN HIS OPINION, TO KEEP THE PEIPING REGIME OUT OF THE WORLD ORGANIZATION.

DURING THE DEBATE LAST FALL OF CHINA'S REPRESENTATION, U.S. DELEGATE WARREN R.AUSTIN CONTENDED THAT THE ISSUE WAS A PROCEDURAL ONE AND, THEREFORE, NOT SUBJECT TO THE BIG POWER VETO.

THE ONLY SECURITY COUNCIL DELEGATE WHO TOOK ISSUE WITH THE U.S. POSITION WAS NATIONALIST CHINA'S T.F.TSIANG.

U.S. LEGAL ADVISERS MAKE THE DISTINCTION BETWEEN THE QUESTION OF SEATING ONE OF TWO RIVAL GOVERNMENTS AND THE QUESTION OF ADMITTING NEW MEMBERS TO THE U.N. THEY POINT OUT THAT CHINA ALREADY IS A MEMBER OF U.N. AND THAT THE QUESTION IS REALLY ONE OF DETERMINING WHO SHALL GET CHINA'S SEAT. UNDER THE U.N. CHARTER, THE QUESTION OF ADMITTING NEW MEMBERS IS CLEARLY SUBJECT TO THE VETO.

U.S. OFFICIALS HERE WERE PUZZLED BY GEN.MARSHALL'S REFERENCE TO POSSIBLE USE OF THE VETO TO BLOCK ADMISSION OF THE PEIPING REGIME, BYT THEY DECLINED TO COMMENT FOR PUBLICATION.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE U.S. DELEGATION REITERATED THAT THE AMERICAN POLICY IS TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE WITHIN THE TERMS OF THE CHARTER TO KEEP RED CHINA OUT OF THE U.N. OTHER U.N. DIPLOMATS OBSERVED THAT UNDER PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES THE SEATING OF RED CHINA IS VIRTUALLY RULED OUT BECAUSE OF THE STRONG U.N. FEELING AGAINST THE PEIPING GOVERNMENT AT THIS TIME.

A SPECIAL U.N. COMMITTEE WAS SET UP AT THE LAST GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO STUDY THE WHOLE QUESTION OF CHINA'S REPRESENTATION, BUT IT HAS MERELY BEEN MARKING TIME BECAUSE OF THE MILITARY SITUATION IN KOREA.

WASHINGTON,MAY 10-(AP)-RUMORS OF A NEW SECRET WEAPON WERE HEARD AT THE SENATE TODAY, BUT WERE WIDELY DISCOUNTED.

THE RUMORS DEVELOPED LIKE THIS:

TWO SENATORS SAID A THIRD SENATOR REMARKED AT AN APPROPRIATIONS MEETING THAT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL HAD REFERRED TO A NEW WEAPON IN SECRET TESTIMONY IN THE MACARTHUR HEARINGS.

30.24- 22831

BUT THE SENATORS ALSO SAID ARMY ORDNANCE REPRESENTATIVES WHO WERE PRESENT DENIED THE EXISTENCE OF SUCH A WEAPON.

SENATOR BYRD (D-VA), WHO HAS LISTENED TO MOST OF THE MARSHALL TESTIMONY, TOLD A REPORTER HE HAD HEARD NO SUCH TESTIMONY. SO DID SENATORS FERGUSON (R-MICH), BREWSTER (R-ME), SPARKMAN (D-ALA), MCCARTHY (R-WIS), GEORGE (D-GA), MUNDT (R-SD) AND YOUNG (R-ND).

SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) SAID HE RECALLED "SOME REFERENCE TO SOME SUCH SECRET PROJECT BUT GEN.MARSHALL SAID IT WAS CLASSIFIED AND SO MUST BE OFF THE RECORD."

ANOTHER SENATOR WHO ASKED NOT TO BE NAMED SAID MARSHALL HAD REFERRED TO A SECRET PROJECT WHICH IT WOULD BE "FATAL TO DISCLOSE" AT THIS TIME. BUT THIS APPARENTLY CAME DURING ENUMERATION OF 16 PROPOSALS MADE IN JANUARY BY THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF RELATIVE TO THE KOREAN WAR. THEY INCLUDED FOUR GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR ADVOCATED FOR STEPPING UP AGGRESSIVE ACTION.

TOP PENTAGON OFFICIALS SEVERAL TIMES HAVE PROJECTED PUBLICLY MORE POWERFUL ATOMIC WEAPONS, INCLUDING ATOMIC ARTILLERY SHELLS AND WATHEADS FOR GUIDED MISSILES.

FINALLY, TO CLEAR UP THE PUZZLE, BRIDGES EXAMINED THE UNCENSORED TRANSCRIPT AND TOLD REPORTERS HE FOUND "NO SPECIFIC RECORD AS TO ANY NEW DESTRUCTIVE WEAPON."

"GENERAL MARSHALL MENTIONED OUR ABILITY TO CHEW UP CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN KOREA BUT THAT WAS MADE PUBLIC," HE ADDED. "IT MAY HAVE GIVEN RISE TO OUTSIDE REFERENCES TO NEW WEAPONS."

BY D.HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON,MAY 10-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY GAVE EMPHATIC SUPPORT TO THE BEEF PRICE CEILINGS NOW BEING PUT INTO EFFECT.

HE TOLD HIS NEWS CONFERENCE THAT PROTESTS AGAINST THE NEW CEILING ORDERS BY PACKERS AND OTHERS WERE THE SAME OLD 1946 FIGHT OVER AGAIN. HE INDICATED HE WOULD NOT BE SWAYED BY THEM.

HE SAID HE APPROVED THE PRICE ORDERS OF ADMINISTRATOR MICHAEL DISALL AND THEY WILL BE ENFORCED.

RECALLING THE 1946 CONTROVERSY AND AGITATION WHICH LED TO THE REMOVAL OF MEAT PRICE CONTROLS EFFECTED DURING WORLD WAR II, MR.TRUMAN SAID CURRENT CRIES STEM FROM THE FACT THAT WHENEVER YOU TREAD ON THE TOES OF ANYBODY THEY HAVE TO SCREAM.

THE DISALLE ORDERS CALL FOR PROGRESSIVE REDUCTIONS IN THE PRICES PAID FOR LIVE CATTLE AND FOR A TOTAL REDUCTION OF 9 OR 10 CENTS A POUND AT RETAIL BY OCTOBER.

MR.TRUMAN SAID THERE WAS NO FOUNDATION IN FACT FOR RECURRING REPORTS THAT SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON WILL LEAVE THE CABINET IN THE NEXT FEW WEEKS OR MONTHS.

HE MADE THE SAME REPLY TO A QUESTION WHETHER AMBASSADOR WILLIAM O'DWYER WILL BE RECALLED FROM HIS MEXICO CITY POST. THERE HAD BEEN PUBLISHED REPORTS THAT THE FORMER NEW YORK MAYOR WOULD LOSE HIS DIPLOMATIC POST BECAUSE THE SENATE CRIME COMMITTEE SHARPLY CRITICIZED HIM AND BECAUSE A CLOSE FRIEND, JAMES MORAN, WAS CONVICTED OF PERJURY IN THE AFTERMATH OF THE SENATE INQUIRY.

THE PRESIDENT BACKED UP THE TESTIMONY OF SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL IN THE SENATE FOREIGN POLICY HEARING. HE SAID HE WAS VERY SATISFIED WITH MARSHALL'S STATEMENTS, ADDING THE SECRETARY HAD TOLD THE EXACT TRUTH WORD FOR WORD.

AT ONE POINT WHEN REPORTERS SEEMED TO BE RUNNING OF QUESTIONS, MR.TRUMAN GRINNED AND REMARKED THE SILENCE PROBABLY WAS DUE TO THE FACT THAT MOST QUESTIONS HAD BEEN ANSWERED EITHER MONDAY NIGHT OR BY GENERAL MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY.

HE APPARENTLY REFERRED TO HIS OWN SPEECH LAST MONDAY IN WHICH HE REAFFIRMED THE LIMITED WAR POLICY IN KOREA AND WARNED OF POSSIBLE SOVIET ATOMIC ATTACKS ON AMERICAN CITIES SHOULD STRONGER MEASURES BE TAKEN AGAINST THE RED CHINESE AS PROPOSED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR.

A199WX

MR.TRUMAN DECLARED FLATLY THAT KOREAN WAR VETERANS WILL BE ACCORDED THE PRIVILEGE OF VETERANS' HOSPITAL TREATMENT THE SAME AS OTHER WAR VETERANS, BUT THIS WILL REQUIRE A CHANGE IN PRESENT LAW.

HE WAS COMMENTING ON THE FACT THAT A KOREAN COMBAT VETERAN HAD BEEN DENIED TREATMENT AT A TUCSON,ARIZ., VETERANS' HOSPITAL BECAUSE UNDER THE PRESENT LAW THE KOREAN FIGHTING IS NOT CONSIDERED A WAR.

THE PRESIDENT SAID THE VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION WAS SIMPLY OBEYING THE LAW IN DENYING THE VETERAN TREATMENT, BUT IT WAS UP TO CONGRESS TO CHANGE IT.

THE KOREAN VETERAN OUGHT TO BE TREATED THE SAME AS OTHER VETERANS AND HE WILL BE IF IT REQUIRES A NEW LAW TO DO IT, HE SAID FIRMLY.

THE PRESIDENT SAID HE EXPECTS TO NAME A NEW CHAIRMAN FOR THE NATIONAL SECURITY RESOURCES BOARD TO SUCCEED W.STUART SYMINGTON, NOW RFC CHIEF.

A REPORTER RECALLED THAT WHEN MON C.WALLGREN, FORMER GOVERNOR OF WASHINGTON STATE, WAS PROPOSED FOR THE NSRB, OPPONENTS SAID HE WAS NOT CAPABLE AND WOULD BECOME A WARTIME POWER CZAR ALTHOUGH THE BOARD WAS INTENDED TO BE ONLY A PLANNING AGENCY. THE REPORTER APPARENTLY WAS LEADING UP TO A QUESTION WHETHER WALLGREN, WHO IS PLANNING TO RESIGN FROM THE FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION, WOULD NOW BE CONSIDERED FOR THE SYMINGTON VACANCY.

BUT MR.TRUMAN BROKE IN AND SAID THE NSRB WAS NEVER INTENDED TO BE ANYTHING ELSE THAN A PLANNING AGENCY AND IT WAS PART OF HIS OWN STAFF.

ASKED WHETHER HE WOULD PROMOTE MRS.PERLE MESTA, NOW MINISTER TO LUXEMBOURG, TO AN AMBASSADORSHIP, HE SAID HE HAD NOT THOUGHT ABOUT IT.

(150) THIRD NIGHT LEAD TRUMAN-VETERANS

MAY 11 1951

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-ONE DAY AFTER A VETERAN OF THE KOREAN FIGHTING WAS DENIED ADMISSION TO A GOVERNMENT HOSPITAL, CONGRESS TODAY PASSED LEGISLATION TO GIVE KOREA VETERANS THE SAME MEDICAL BENEFITS AS SURVIVORS OF OTHER WARS.

THE LEGISLATION WENT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN FOR HIS SIGNATURE LATE TODAY, ONLY HOURS AFTER HE HAD ASKED FOR A CHANGE IN THE PRESENT LAW. HE AND CONGRESS AGREED THAT MEN FIGHTING IN KOREA SHOULD NOT BE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST BECAUSE THEIR WAR IS AN UNDECLARED ONE.

UNANIMOUS VOTES IN THE SENATE AND HOUSE PUSHED THROUGH TWO SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT VERSIONS. THEN, TO SPEED MATTERS EVEN MORE, THE SENATE AGREED TO THE HOUSE VERSION AND THEREBY COMPLETED CONGRESSIONAL ACTION. THE AGREED-UPON VERSION WAS A LITTLE BROADER THAN THE SENATE'S ORIGINAL.

AS IT REACHED MR.TRUMAN, THE LEGISLATION PROVIDES THAT KOREAN WAR VETERANS ARE ENTITLED TO THESE WORLD WAR II PRIVILEGES:

1. MEDICAL, HOSPITAL AND DOMICILIARY BENEFITS; 2. BURIAL BENEFITS; 3. COMPENSATION AND PENSIONS FOR THE VETERAN AND HIS DEPENDENTS.

IT WAS ONLY YESTERDAY THAT EX-MARINE DAVID R.ARELLANO, 21, WAS DENIED TREATMENT AT A VETERANS ADMINISTRATION (VA) HOSPITAL AT TUCSON, ARIZ., BECAUSE HE HAD NOT SERVED IN A RECOGNIZED WAR.

WASHINGTON WAS QUICK TO RESPOND, IN THIS SEQUENCE:

1. PRESIDENT TRUMAN TOLD A MORNING NEWS CONFERENCE THAT THE LAW WHICH BARRED ARELLANO FROM TREATMENT AT FEDERAL EXPENSE OUGHT TO BE CHANGED. HE FOLLOWED UP WITH LETTERS TO THE HOUSE AND SENATE PRESIDING

OFFICERS.

2. WITH THE BI-PARTISAN BACKING OF SENATOR GEORGE (D-GA) AND TAFT (R-OHIO), THE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE WAIVED HEARINGS ON THE REQUEST AND THE SENATE PASSED BY VOICE VOTE A RESOLUTION GRANTING THE KOREAN VETERANS THE BENEFITS ENJOYED BY THOSE OF WORLD WAR II.

3. THE HOUSE, LIKEWISE BY VOICE VOTE, FOLLOWED SUIT.

THERE REMAINED THE NECESSITY OF WHIPPING THE TWO RESOLUTIONS INTO ONE BILL, BUT THERE WAS NO DOUBT THIS COULD BE DONE IN A HURRY. AN EVEN QUICKER SOLUTION--FOR ONE BRANCH TO ACCEPT THE OTHER'S IN TOTO--WAS A GOOD BET.

REPLYING TO NEWS CONFERENCE QUESTIONS, MR.TRUMAN SAID VETERANS OF THE KOREAN FIGHTING SHOULD BE GIVEN EVERY BENEFIT THAT IS AVAILABLE TO VETERANS OF OTHER WARS.

IT IS UP TO CONGRESS TO CHANGE THE LAW, MR.TRUMAN SAID. HE ADDED THAT THE VA HAD OBEYED THE LAW AS IT STANDS.

THE LAW RECOGNIZES WORLD WAR II AS THE LAST WAR THE U.S. HAS FOUGHT AND FOR PURPOSES OF VA HOSPITALIZATION, IT ENDED DEC. 31, 1946. WARTIME VETERANS ARE ENTITLED TO HOSPITALIZATION FOR NON-SERVICE CONNECTED INJURIES AND DISEASES IF THEY CANNOT AFFORD TO PAY FOR TREATMENT AND IF BED SPACE IS AVAILABLE. PEACETIME VETERANS--AND ARELLANO WAS SO CLASSIFIED--ARE ENTITLED TO HOSPITALIZATION ONLY IF THEY HAVE A DISABILITY DISCHARGE OR ARE DRAWING COMPENSATION FOR A SERVICE-CONNECTED DISABILITY.

MAY 11 1951

ARELLANO WAS OPERATED ON FOR A THROAT CANCER AT THE PIMA,ARIZ., COUNTY HOSPITAL AFTER HE WAS DENIED TREATMENT AT THE VA HOSPITAL.

SEVERAL BILLS ARE PENDING IN CONGRESS TO GIVE KOREAN VETERANS THE SAME ADVANTAGES THAT ARE PROVIDED FOR OTHER VETERANS. REP.RANKIN (D-MISS), CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE VETERANS COMMITTEE, INTRODUCED ANOTHER ONE TODAY AND SAID HE EXPECTS HOUSE ACTION WITHIN A MATTER OF WEEKS.

COL.J.E.GAINES, MANAGER OF THE VA HOSPITAL AT TUCSON, EXPRESSED SYMPATHY WITH EX-MARINE ARELLANO, BUT EXPLAINED:

"UNDER THE PRESENT SET-UP, NO RETURNED VETERAN FROM KOREA IS ELIGIBLE FOR HOSPITAL BENEFITS UNLESS HE HAS BEEN DISCHARGED FROM THE SERVICE BECAUSE OF A DUTY DISABILITY." (ARELLANO WAS WOUNDED IN KOREA BUT HIS DISCHARGE WAS FOR DEPENDENCY REASONS).

"WE AT THE VETERANS HOSPITAL ARE COMPLETELY SYMPATHETIC WITH THE PLIGHT OF THESE MEN. UNDER THE PRESENT STATUS WE ARE NOT AT WAR IN KOREA SO THESE MEN ARE NOT ELIGIBLE FOR TREATMENT.

"IF IT ISN'T A WAR, I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT THE HELL IT IS."

TUCSON,ARIZ.,MAY 10 (AP)-"KOREAN AND CHINESE RED TROOPS SHOT AT ME. SOME OF MY BUDDIES WERE KILLED. IF THAT ISN'T WAR, I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT THEY CALL IT."

SO SAID DAVID R.ARELLANO, JR., 21-YEAR-OLD DISCHARGED COMBAT VETERAN WHO WAS DENIED ADMITTANCE TO A VETERANS HOSPITAL BECAUSE HIS FIGHTING WAS NOT IN A RECOGNIZED WAR.

ARELLANO, HIS HEAD AND NECK BANDAGED AFTER HE UNDERWENT A THROAT OPERATION, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW FROM A COUNTY HOSPITAL BED TODAY:

"I WAS IN ACTION OFF AND ON FOR FIVE MONTHS IN KOREA. I WAS SHOT AT MANY TIMES. I SAW A LOT OF MY FRIENDS DEAD FROM BULLETS SHOT BY THE REDS. I WAS AMBUSHED ONCE WHEN THE TRUCK I WAS ON WENT OVER A MINE."

ARELLANO WAS PLEASED HIS CASE HAD PROMPTED PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO SAY CONGRESS SHOULD CHANGE THE LAW SO KOREAN WAR VETERANS WOULD HAVE THE SAME HOSPITALIZATION RIGHTS AS VETERANS OF DECLARED WARS.

"I THINK IT WOULD BE WONDERFUL IF THE LAW COULD BE CHANGED," HE SAID.

ARELLANO AND HIS 21-YEAR-OLD WIFE, DOLORES, AREN'T BITTER OVER THE REFUSAL OF VETERANS HOSPITAL CARE, BUT ARE CONFUSED.

"I DON'T THINK IT'S FAIR THAT THEY WON'T LET DAVE IN THE VETERANS HOSPITAL," DOLORES SAID, "ESPECIALLY AFTER THE LETTERS I RECEIVED FROM HIM IN KOREA TELLING ABOUT ALL THE FIGHTING."

THEIR TWO CHILDREN, DAVID, 19 MONTHS, AND EILEEN, 6 MONTHS, ARE BEING CARED FOR WITH FUNDS PROVIDED BY THE WELFARE OFFICE OF THE AMERICAN LEGION.

ARELLANO SAID HIS THROAT BEGAN SWELLING WHILE HE WAS IN KOREA. WHEN THE SWELLING FAILED TO GO DOWN AFTER HIS DEPENDENCY DISCHARGE, HE DECIDED TO GO TO THE VETERANS HOSPITAL HERE AND FIND OUT WHAT WAS THE MATTER.

AMERICAN LEGION OFFICIALS TOOK HIM TO THE VETERANS HOSPITAL YESTERDAY. X-RAYS AND A BLOOD COUNT WERE TAKEN, AND THE PRELIMINARY DIAGNOSIS WAS CANCER. THE HOSPITAL SAID THAT UNDER THE LAW IT COULD NOT ADMIT ARELLANO BECAUSE HIS ILLNESS WAS NOT SERVICE-CONNECTED.

A PRIVATE PHYSICIAN PERFORMED AN OPERATION AT THE COUNTY HOSPITAL LATER IN THE DAY. HIS DIAGNOSIS IS YET TO BE COMPLETED.

NIGHT LEAD TAXES

MAY 11 1951

BY FRANCIS J.KELLY

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-THE HOUSE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE VOTED TODAY TO LEVY AN ADDITIONAL $2,080,000,000 A YEAR TAXES ON CORPORATIONS, BY ADDING FIVE PERCENTAGE POINTS TO THEIR NORMAL TAX RATE.

THE ADMINISTRATION HAD ASKED FOR EIGHT PERCENTAGE POINTS, AN INCREASE WHICH SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY SNYDER ESTIMATED WOULD BRING IN AN ADDITIONAL $3,300,000,000 ANNUALLY.

ALTOGETHER, THE COMMITTEE HAS RAKED TOGETHER AN ESTIMATED $5,460,000,000 IN ADDITIONAL REVENUE DURING THE PAST TWO WEEKS DELIBERATIONS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS. THE BIGGEST SINGLE INCREASE, VOTED YESTERDAY, WOULD TAKE NEARLY $3,000,000,000 MORE FROM INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAXPAYERS. THE HIGHLY LUCRATIVE EXCISE TAX FIELD REMAINS TO BE TAPPED.

CHAIRMAN DOUGHTON (D-NC) EMPHASIZED THAT ALL THE DECISIONS ARE TENTATIVE AND ARE SUBJECT TO LATER RECONSIDERATION.

ALTHOUGH THE VOTE WAS NOT OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED, THE MOTION TO ADD FIVE PERCENTAGE POINTS TO THE CORPORATE RATE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SUPPORTED BY THE 15 DEMOCRATS ON THE COMMITTEE AND OPPOSED BY THE 10 REPUBLICAN MEMBERS.

HERE IS HOW TODAY'S DECISION WILL AFFECT CORPORATIONS, IF THE INCREASE IS UPHELD BY THE HOUSE AND SENATE:

THE NORMAL RATE ON THE FIRST $25,000 OF TAXABLE CORPORATE INCOME WILL GO UP FROM 25 TO 30 PER CENT. ON INCOME OVER $25,000, THE RATE WILL BE 52 PER CENT RATHER THAN THE EXISTING 47 PER CENT. ON INCOME SUBJECT TO THE EXCESS PROFITS TAX (30 PER CENT ON TOP OF THE COMBINED NORMAL AND SURTAX RATES) THE EFFECTIVE RATE WILL BE 82 PER CENT INSTEAD OF 77 PER CENT.

HOWEVER, CONGRESS HAS FIXED A CEILING ON THE TOTAL TAXES THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT CAN TAKE FROM A CORPORATION IN ALL KINDS OF INCOME TAXES. THAT CEILING, NOW 62 PER CENT OF NET INCOME, WOULD RISE TO 67 PER CENT.

AS AN EXAMPLE OF THE IMPACT OF THE PROPOSED INCREASE, A CORPORATION WITH A NET INCOME OF $10,000 A YEAR WOULD PAY $3,000 TAXES INSTEAD OF $2,500. FOR A $100,000 CORPORATION, THE INCREASE WOULD BE FROM $41,500 TO $46,500; FOR A MILLION-DOLLAR CONCERN, THE TAX WOULD BE $514,500 INSTEAD OF $464,500.

THE COMMITTEE HAS NOT YET DECIDED WHEN THE CORPORATE AND INDIVIDUAL RATE BOOSTS SHOULD TAKE EFFECT. ITS RECOMMENDATIONS ARE YET TO BE PASSED ON BY THE HOUSE BEFORE THE TAX LEGISLATION REACHES THE SENATE.

TREASURY REVENUE ESTIMATES, FURNISHED TO THE COMMITTEE ON APRIL 2, PUT AT $21,500,000,000 (B) THE EXPECTED TAX OBLIGATIONS OF CORPORATIONS UNDER THE PRESENT LAW FOR THE 1952 FISCAL YEAR WHICH BEGINS NEXT JULY 1.

IF THE CORPORATE TAX INCREASE WERE ASSUMED TO TAKE EFFECT ON JULY 1 (AND IT MAY BE LATER THAN THAT), THE $2,080,000,000 BOOST WOULD REPRESENT A 9.7 PERCENT INCREASE IN TOTAL CORPORATE TAX OBLIGATIONS. ACTUAL RECEIPTS, HOWEVER, COULD NOT BE EXPECTED TO APPROACH THAT FIGURE BECAUSE OF THE TIME LAG IN COLLECTIONS.

UNDER SIMILAR CONDITIONS, THE $2,900,000,000 NET INCREASE IN INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAXES PROPOSED BY THE COMMITTEE WORKS OUT TO A 10.5 PERCENT INCREASE OVER THE $27,528,000,000 PROSPECTIVE COLLECTIONS IN FISCAL 1952 UNDER PRESENT RATE.

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-THERE'S A LEGEND THAT ANYTHING FREE WILL DRAW A CROWD IN WASHINGTON.

THE LEGEND IS BELIED BY THE SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES CONTROL BOARD'S HEARINGS TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE COMMUNIST PARTY IS BOSSED FROM MOSCOW.

THE HEARINGS, WHICH BEGAN APRIL 23, SO FAR HAVEN'T ATTRACTED MORE THAN A HANDFUL OF SPECTATORS.

AT ONE POINT YESTERDAY A MARSHAL, WHOSE JOB IT IS TO SEE THAT OTHER PEOPLE DON'T DO SUCH THINGS, TOOK A NAP. HE TURNED OUT TO BE A SNORER OF GREAT VIGOR. NOBODY BOTHERED TO WAKE HIM.

THE HEARINGS, WHICH PROMISE TO DO ON FOR MONTHS, ARE PRELIMINARY TO A BOARD DECISION AS TO WHETHER THE COMMUNIST PART MUST REGISTER WITH THE GOVERNMENT UNDER THE 1950 INTERNAL SECURITY ACT, LIST ITS OFFICERS AND MEMBERS AND GIVE A FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING.

IF THE BOARD ANSWERS "YES," AS THE COMMUNIST PARTY PREDICTS IT WILL, THE WAY WILL BE CLEARED FOR THE BEGINNING OF A COURT BATTLE ON CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE ACT. LIKE THE HEARINGS, THIS IS EXPECTED TO GO ON FOR A LONG TIME.

BENJAMIN GITLOW, AN OFFICIAL IN THE COMMUNIST PARTY UNTIL HE WAS KICKED OUT IN 1929, HAS BEEN ON THE WITNESS STAND SINCE THE START OF THE HEARINGS. AND THE COMMUNIST PARTY'S LAWYERS, FORMER REP. VITO MARCANTONIO (ALP-NY) AND JOHN ABT, A FORMER GOVERNMENT ATTORNEY, HAVE GIVEN EVERY INDICATION HE WILL STAY ON THE STAND FOR QUITE A WHILE LONGER.

MARCANTONIO TOOK OVER THE CROSS-EXAMINATION OF GITLOW YESTERDAY. HE SAID IT MIGHT BE SEVERAL DAYS BEFORE HE GETS THROUGH.

IN HIS EIGHT DAYS OF DIRECT TESTIMONY, GITLOW SAID THE COMMUNIST PARTY TAKES ORDERS AND GETS FINANCIAL AID FROM THE COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL IN MOSCOW. AND, HE SAID, THE PARTY IN THIS COUNTRY MAKES REGULAR REPORTS TO THE INTERNATIONAL.

AMONG THE THINGS MARCANTONIO WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT WAS HOW MUCH GITLOW IS GETTING PAID FOR TESTIFYING. CITLOW SAID $50 A DAY, PLUS TRAVELING EXPENSES AND $9 A DAY FOR HOTEL AND FOOD WHILE IN WASHINGTON.

BUT, GITLOW EXPLAINED, IT'S THE FIRST TIME HE HAS RECEIVED ANY PAY FROM THE GOVERNMENT. FOR YEARS, HE TESTIFIED, HE HAS DEVOTED MUCH TIME TO GIVING ADVICE AND INFORMATION TO FBI AGENTS ABOUT COMMUNISM, ALL FREE.

(4 0) NIGHT LEAD WHEAT
BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON,MAY 10-(AP)-THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT REPORTED TODAY THAT DROUGHT AND INSECTS HAVE DESTROYED ABOUT A FOURTH OF THIS YEAR'S PROSPECTIVE WINTER WHEAT CROP. AS A CONSEQUENCE, SOME USERS ABROAD MAY HAVE TO GET ALONG WITH LESS.

LAST DECEMBER THE CROP WAS FORECAST AT 899,000,000 BUSHELS, BUT THE DEPARTMENT'S MAY ESTIMATE TODAY CUT PROSPECTS TO 682,196,000. THE LOSS IN APRIL WAS PUT AT 44,000,000 BUSHELS. PREVIOUSLY, THE AGENCY REDUCED ITS DECEMBER ESTIMATE BY 173,000,000,000 BUSHELS.

LAST YEAR'S WINTER CROP WAS 750,000,000 BUSHELS AND THE 10-YEAR AVERAGE 791,000,000.

UNLESS THERE IS A SHARP UPTURN IN THE CONDITION OF THE CROP BETWEEN NOW AND EARLY SUMMER HARVEST, IT IS QUITE LIKELY THAT THE COMBINED PRODUCTION OF WINTER AND SPRING WHEAT WILL BE THE SMALLEST SINCE 1943 AND THE FIRST CROP OF LESS THAN 1,000,000,000 BUSHELS SINCE THE SAME YEAR.

OFFICIALS ARE HOPING FOR A SPRING CROP OF AT LEAST 300,000,000 BUSHELS. NO ESTIMATE WAS GIVEN FOR THIS TYPE INASMUCH AS PLANTING HAS NOT BEEN COMPLETED.

A 300,000,000 BUSHEL SPRING CROP ADDED TO THE INDICATED WINTER CROP WOULD GIVE A TOTAL PRODUCTION OF ABOUT 982,000,000 COMPARED WITH THE GOVERNMENT'S DEFENSE-PROGRAM GOAL OF 1,150,000,000 AND LAST YEAR'S HARVEST OF 1,026,000,000.

EVEN THOUGH THE COUNTRY HAS A RESERVE OF ABOUT 410,000,000 BUSHELS FROM PAST CROPS, IT IS DOUBTFUL OFFICIALS WOULD PERMIT UNLIMITED EXPORTS IF THE HARVEST FALLS BELOW THE BILLION-BUSHEL MARK. MUCH OF THIS RESERVE IS STORED UNDER GOVERNMENT FARM PRICE SUPPORT PROGRAMS AND IS EARMARKED AS INSURANCE AGAINST A SEVERE SHORTAGE.

MOST OF THE WINTER WHEAT CROP DAMAGE HAS BEEN IN THE SOUTHERN GREAT PLAINS, EXTENDING FROM KANSAS INTO TEXAS. THE LATTER STATE IS HARDEST HIT, AS INDICATED BY THE FACT THAT ITS PRODUCTION IS FORECAST AT ONLY 14,000,000 BUSHELS COMPARED WITH ITS AVERAGE CROP OF 63,000,000.

TODAY'S REPORT WAS NOT WITHOUT ITS BRIGHTER SIDE. THE DEPARTMENT SAID THE GENERAL CROP OUTLOOK, WHICH HAD BEEN RATHER DISCOURAGING DURING MUCH OF APRIL, TURNED MORE FAVORABLE TOWARD THE END OF THE MONTH AND IN EARLY MAY.

IT SAID THAT OUTSIDE THE DROUGHT AREA, FARM WORK AND DEVELOPMENT OF CROPS, PREVIOUSLY RETARDED BY COOL, WET WEATHER, MADE RAPID PROGRESS WHEN THE WEATHER WARMED UP.

THE DEPARTMENT FORECAST RYE PRODUCTION AT 23,263,000 BUSHELS COMPARED WITH 22,977,000 LAST YEAR AND A 10-YEAR AVERAGE OF 30,173,000.

PLANTING AND DEVELOPMENT OF MOST SPRING COMMERCIAL VEGETABLE CROPS HAS BEEN RETARDED, AND THE ACREAGE WAS SAID TO BE 7 PERCENT LESS THAN LAST YEAR. NEVERTHELESS, IT IS POSSIBLE THAT PRODUCTION WILL BE 20 PERCENT ABOVE AVERAGE.

SLIGHTLY MORE THAN THE AVERAGE TOTAL QUANTITY OF FRUITS AND NETS IS IN PROSPECT, THE DEPARTMENT SAID. LARGE PEACH CROPS ARE EXPECTED IN CALIFORNIA, GEORGIA AND THE CAROLINAS. THE APPLE CROP MAY BE ABOUT AVERAGE.

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-COL. ROBERT R. MCCORMICK CALLED TONIGHT FOR A BLOCKADE OF COMMUNIST CHINA, DECLARING "I WANT ACHESON'S, MARSHALL'S AND TRUMAN'S SLAUGHTER OF AMERICAN BOYS STOPPED."

THE EDITOR AND PUBLISHER OF THE WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD AND THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE CONCEMNED THE WAY IN WHICH THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION HAS ORDERED THE WAR FOUGHT IN KOREA.

"WE ARE FIGHTING A WAR OF ATTRITION," HE SAID. "THE MORE CHINESE KILLED, THE LESS MOUTHS THEY HAVE TO FILL. OUR HEAVY LOSSES ARE TO NO AVAIL. I DO NOT CARE AT ALL THAT THEY KILL MORE CHINESE THAN THEY LOSE. THE PENTAGON CANNOT CONCEAL OUR LOSSES IN MEN, BUT IT HIDES THE COST IN MONEY.

"THE WAY TO FIGHT COMMUNIST CHINA IS BY BLOCKADE. WITHOUT ARMS FURNISHED THEM BY OUR ALLIES, THEY CANNOT FIGHT."

COL. MCCORMICK'S VIEWS WERE EXPRESSED IN AN ADDRESS PREPARED FOR DELIVERY AT A GENERAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING OF THE WASHINGTON BOARD OF TRADE IN THE MAYFLOWER HOTEL.

HE SAID IT IS "QUITE BEYOND OUR MILITARY POWER" TO KEEP THE RUSSIANS OUT OF GERMANY OR FRANCE OR THE BENELUX" (THE FEDERATION OF BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND LUXEMBOURG).

"YOU CANNOT EXPECT THE HALF-COMMUNIST FRENCH OR THE SOCIALIST BRITISH TO SERIOUSLY OPPOSE THE RUSSIANS IN EUROPE, ESPECIALLY THE ENGLISH WHO ARE SHIPPING ENORMOUS WAR SUPPLIES TO THE RUSSIANS AND THE RED CHINESE, AND ARE USING THEIR INFLUENCE OVER ACHESON TO HAND FORMOSA TO THE COMMUNISTS. THE BENELUX COUNTRIES HAVE SHOWN NO MILITARY EFFICIENCY IN A CENTURY X X X"

AT ANOTHER POINT IN HIS ADDRESS, COL. MCCORMICK SAID HE DID NOT WANT ANY AMERICAN SOLDIERS "SLAUGHTERED IN EUROPE AT THE BEHEST OF DEWEY AND OTHER TRUMAN REPUBLICANS".

COL. MCCORMICK ESTIMATED THAT THE UNITED STATES, CONTROLLING "THE WESTEN HEMISHERE, ALL THE OCEANS AND THE ISLANDS IN THEM,

COL. NIGHT LEAD APPROPRIATIONS
WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-THE SENATE VOTED TONIGHT TO CUT OFF ECONOMIC AID TO ANY NATION ~~WHICH PERMITS ITS CITIZENS TO TRADE WITH~~ COMMUNIST AREAS. WHICH PERMITS SHIPMENT OF ARMS OR OTHER WAR-USEFUL MATERIALS TO

IT WROTE THIS BAN INTO A $431,127,477 APPROPRIATION BILL, WHICH IT PASSED BY A VOICE VOTE. THE MONEY IS TO FINANCE SEVERAL GOVERNMENT AGENCIES IN WHAT REMAINS OF THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING NEXT JUNE 30.

THE MEASURE NOW GOES TO CONFERENCE WITH THE HOUSE, WHICH HAD PASSED THE MEASURE IN DIFFERENT FORM. THE SENATE ORDERED ITS CONFEREES TO YIELD NO GROUND ON THE BAN ON AID TO NATIONS TRADING WITH THE COMMUNISTS.

IT ACTED AFTER SENATOR WHERRY OF NEBRASKA, THE REPUBLICAN FLOOR LEADER, RECALLED THAT IN A SIMILAR SITUATION LAST YEAR, THE HOUSE BLOCKED IN THE CONFERENCE AN "IDENTICAL" PROPOSAL, AND INSISTED ON SUBSTITUTE LANGUAGE WHICH MERELY MADE SUCH A BAN PERMISSIVE.

HE DEMANDED, AND THE SENATE WENT ALONG WITH HIM, THAT THE CONFEREES THIS TIME REFUSE TO APPROVE "WATERED-DOWN, PERMISSIVE LEGISLATION."

SENATOR KEM (R-MO) LED THE FIGHT IN THE SENATE FOR THE OUTRIGHT BAM. HE LEFT NO DOUBT HE WAS AIMING AT GREAT BRITAIN PRIMARILY, ALTHOUGH HE SAID MANY OTHER BENEFICIARIES OF U.S. AID ALSO HAVE SHIPPED VITAL MATERIALS TO COMMUNIST NATIONS.

IN A RELATED DEVELOPMENT, A GROUP OF INVESTIGATING SENATORS DEMANDED TO KNOW WHY U. S. OFFICIALS HAVE NOT STOPPED "RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES FROM FREELY AND OPENING DRAINING WAR POTENTIAL MATERIALS FROM WESTERN GERMANY."

SENATOR O'CONOR (D-MD) ANNOUNCED HE HAS CABLED JOHN J.MCCLOY, U.S. HIGH COMMISSION IN GERMANY, INVITING HIM TO ANSWER THE QUESTION AS A WITNESS BEFORE A SENATE EXPORT CONTROLS SUBCOMMITTEE WHICH O'CONOR HEADS.

O'CONOR SAID IN A STATEMENT HIS GROUP HAS INFORMATION THAT "ILLEGAL TRADE" ACROSS THE WEST GERMAN BORDER HAS AMOUNTED TO MORE THAN $1,000,000,000 (B) SINCE V-E DAY IN 1945.

HE SAID THERE "ARE GRATIFYING INDICATIONS" THAT STEPS ARE BEING TAKEN NOW TO TIGHTEN THE CONTROLS.

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-OFFICIALS DISCLOSED TODAY THAT MORE THAN HALF OF THE NATION'S RECORD-SIZE OUTPUT OF STEEL MAY BE SET ASIDE FOR DEFENSE AND DEFENSE-SUPPORTING PROGRAMS IN JULY--AND STILL MORE IN AUGUST.

THAT WILL MEAN A 10 TO 15 PER CENT GREATER DEFENSE BITE INTO SUPPLIES OF THAT BASIC METAL AND, CONSEQUENTLY, A PROPORTIONATE REDUCTION IN THE AMOUNT OF STEEL AVAILABLE FOR PRODUCING CIVILIAN GOODS.

THE UPSHOT IS LIKELY TO BE A FURTHER CUT IN PRODUCTION OF AUTOS, REFRIGERATORS AND OTHER CONSUMER GOODS ALONG WITH ADDITIONAL CUT BACKS IN CONSTRUCTION FOR NON DEFENSE PURPOSES.

PRODUCTION OF DURABLE CONSUMER GOODS IN GENERAL IS ALREADY DOWN TO A RATE ABOUT 20 PER CENT BELOW THE LEVEL OF A YEAR AGO.

C7638PED

THE NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY (NPA) PREVIEWED THE JULY-AUGUST PICTURE FOR ITS STEEL PRODUCTS INDUSTRY ADVISORY COMMITTEE, COMPOSED OF MAJOR STEEL COMPANY EXECUTIVES, THEN ISSUED A STATEMENT SAYING:

"STEEL SET-ASIDES FOR DEFENSE AND DEFENSE-SUPPORTING PROGRAMS MAY EXCEED 50 PERCENT OF THE TOTAL OUTPUT OF INGOTS IN JULY. THIS PERCENTAGE MAY RUN MUCH HIGHER THAN 50 PERCENT ON SOME PRODUCTS SUCH AS PLATES, TUBES AND STEEL ALLOYS."

OFFICIALS SAID THAT COMPARES WITH SET-ASIDES NOW AMOUNTING TO ABOUT 35 TO 40 PERCENT OF TOTAL OUTPUT OF THOSE ITEMS. STEEL INGOT PRODUCT-

30.24- 22835

ION CURRENTLY IS AT A RECORD ANNUAL RATE OF MORE THAN 104,000,000 TONS.
THE STATEMENT SAID IT IS "EXPECTED THAT THE SET-ASIDE PERCENTAGE MAY BE INCREASED AGAIN IN AUGUST BECAUSE OF THE NECESSITY OF COMPLETING CONSTRUCTION ON NEW STEEL AND ALUMINUM PRODUCING FACILITIES AND MEETING HEAVY DEMANDS OF DIRECT DEFENSE ACTIVITIES."
THE STEEL COMPANY REPRESENTATIVES WERE PROMISED THAT NPA WILL ESTABLISH A PRODUCTIONDIRECTIIE SYSTEM IN ITS IRON AND STEEL DIVISION "TO ASSURE AN ORDERLY PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION OF STEEL UNDER THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN."
THE DIVISION WILL BE GIVEN THE JOB OF BALANCING PRODUCTION OF VARIOUS STEEL PRODUCTS AGAINST DEMAND AND ISSUING DIRECTIVES REQUIRING MANUFACTURE OF THE REQUIRED SHAPES AND FORMS.
NPA OFFICIALS SAID, HOWEVER, THEY DO NOT EXPECT THIS PROCEDURE TO BE COMPLETELY OPERATIVE BEFORE AUGUST OR SEPTEMBER.
THE INDUSTRY MEN REPORTED THE EXPANSION OF STEEL PRODUCTION FACILITIES FOR THE DEFENSE PROGRAM "IS, WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, PROCEEDING SMOOTHLY AND WITH NO SERIOUS BOTTLE-NECKS." NPA HAS ASKED THE INDUSTRY FOR A PROGRESS REPORT BY JUNE 1.

IT ALSO REVERSED ITS PURCHASE PRACTICE AND DECIDED TO BUY ONLY TUNGSTEN CONCENTRATES INSTEAD OF TUNGSTEN ORE AS WAS ANNOUNCED INITIALLY APRIL 21.
THE BASE PRICE WILL REMAIN THE SAME---$63 PER SHORT TON UNIT (DRY WEIGHT). A SHORT TON UNIT CONSISTS OF 20 POUNDS OF TUNGSTEN TRIOXIDE.
THE ORIGINAL TUNGSTEN PURCHASE PROGRAM PROVIDED FOR GOVERNMENT BUYING OF ONLY NEWLY DISCOVERED OR DEVELOPED ORES. THE CONCENTRATE UNDER THE NEW PROGRAM NEED NOT BE PRODUCED FROM NEW ORES, BUT MUST BE FROM DOMESTIC ORES.
THE GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION (GSA), IN ANNOUNCING THE CHANGES, SAID A FIVE YEAR PURCHASE PROGRAM HAS BEEN PLANNED.
ONE OFFICIAL SAID THE DECISION TO CHANGE TO BUYING CONCENTRATES RATHER THAN ORES WAS MADE BECAUSE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF ORE STOCKS PILING UP AT THE LIMITED CONCENTRATING PLANTS.
ANOTHER OFFICIAL SAID THAT PURCHASES BY MILITARY FORCES AND BY PRIVATE INDUSTRY ARE SO BRISK THAT IT IS UNLIKELY THERE WILL BE NEED FOR SUPPORT BUYING OF ANY APPRECIABLE QUANTITIES.
TUNGSTEN CONCENTRATES NOW SELL FOR $65.00 A UNIT FOR HIGH GRADE MATERIAL ON THE OPEN MARKET. SUB STANDARD GRADES RANGE IN PRICE DOWN TO AS LOW AS $38.00 AUNIT.

PSYCHIATRISTS (320)
BY FRANK CAREY
ASSOCIATED PRESS SCIENCE REPORTER
CINCINNATI,MAY 10-(AP)-BACKHOME FURLOUGHS FROM THE COMBAT ZONE AFTER 18 MONTHS SERVICE WERE SUGGESTED TODAY AS A POSSIBLE MEANS OF PREVENTING MANY MENTAL BREAKDOWNS AMONG AMERICAN FIGHTING MEN IN ANY WAR.
TWO AMERICAN DOCTORS WHO MADE A STUDY OF A GROUP OF WORLD WAR II PSYCHIATRIC CASUALTIES UNDER A NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL GRANT TOLD THE AMERICAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION:
"THE FACT THAT A LARGE NUMBER BROKE DOWN AFTER THEY HAD BEEN OVERSEAS FOR SOME TIME MAY INDICATE THAT WHENEVER IT IS FEASIBLE, THE ARMY SHOULD ATTEMPT TO RETURN SOLDIERS TO THE UNITED STATES AFTER SOME SET PERIOD OF TIME, SUCH AS EIGHTEEN MONTHS.
"KNOWING THAT THERE IS TO BE AN ESCAPE FROM THE STRAIN OF AN UNUSUAL SETTING, OVERSEAS AFTER A DEFINITE PERIOD OF TIME MAY SERVE AS A GOAL AND BE A STIMULUS TO ENDURING HARDSHIP."
THE DOCTORS WHO MADE THE REPORT WERE HERBERT S.RIPLEY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON AND STEWART G.WOLF OF CORNELL.
THEY DESCRIBED AN ANALYSIS OF 100 SOLDIERS SUFFERING FROM SCHIZOPHRENIA--"SPLIT PERSONALITY"--WHO WERE ORIGINALLY STUDIED IN THE PACIFIC WAR ZONE AND LATER FOLLOWED-UP FOR PERIODS UP TO EIGHT YEARS AFTER THEY WERE RETURNED TO THE STATES.
SOME OF THEIR FINDINGS:
1. MANY OF THE MEN WERE PROBABLY OF A SCHIZOPHRENIC TYPE IN CIVILIAN LIFE, BUT THEY PROBABLY WOULD HAVE GOTTEN ALONG OKAY IF THEY HADN'T ENTERED THE ARMY.
2. SOME SCHIZOPHRENICS MAY EVEN MAKE GOOD SOLDIERS BECAUSE (CAPS) OF THEIR MENTAL ILLNESS. UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS, THE EMOTIONAL "BLUNTING" EXPERIENCED BY SOME SUCH PEOPLE MAY MAKE THEM STAND UP UNDER A HIGH DEGREE OF COMBAT DANGER.
3. MOST OF THE MEN COULD HAVE MADE SOME HELPFUL CONTRIBUTION TO THE ARMY "IF THEIR ASSETS AND HANDICAPS HAD BEEN PROPERLY EVALUATED AND GIVEN CONSIDERATION IN PLACING THEM."
4. SOME UNDERSTANDING OF PSYCHIATRY BY THE GENERAL PHYSICIAN MAY BE OF VALUE IN TREATING AND PREVENTING PSYCHIATRIC CASUALTIES.
5. EIGHTY PER CENT OF THE MEN ARE STILL RECEIVING DISABILITY COMPENSATION--"WHEN THEY WERE DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMY THERE WAS GREATER CONCENTRATION ON EVALUATION FOR COMPENSATION THAN ON REHABILITATION."
6. THE MOST PROMINENT FACTOR WHICH SEEMED CONDUCIVE TO PROMOTING A GOOD ADJUSTMENT TO LIFE AFTER DISCHARGE FROM SERVICE WAS "A WARM, TOLERANT HELPFUL ATTITUDE ON THE PART OF A WIFE OR OTHER MEMBER OF THE FAMILY."

HAZLETON,PA.,MAY 10-(AP)-SEN. RICHARD M.NIXON (R-CALIF) TONIGHT PROPOSED MILITARY COMMANDERS BE GIVEN PERMISSION TO BOMB KOREAN BASES IF THE FLOW OF CHINESE TROOPS AND MILITARY EQUIPMENT DOES NOT STOP BY A DATE FIXED BY THE UNITED NATIONS.
NIXON, WHO LEAVES TOMORROW TO STUDY EUROPEAN MILITARY AND ECONOMIC CONDITIONS, ADDRESSED 500 PERSONS AT THE ANNUAL DINNER OF THE HAZLETON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
"WE MUST FACE THE SAME RISKS IN BOMBING MANCHURIAN BASES AS THE RISKS WE FACED IN ENTERING THE KOREAN WAR, SETTING UP THE BERLIN AIR LIFT AND BLOCKADING FORMOSA FROM RED CHINA," HE SAID. "OUR PEOPLE WANT A CLEAR CUT POLICY AND WE MUST PERSUADE OUR ALLIES THAT APPEASEMENT ONLY BROADENS OUR PROBLEM."

(ADVANCE FOR USE 11:30 A.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, TODAY, THURSDAY, MAY 10)

(ADVANCE) (UN) NEW ORLEANS, MAY 10-(AP)-WARREN R. AUSTIN, CHIEF UNITED STATES DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS, EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE TODAY THAT THE U.N. CAN WIN THE KOREAN WAR WITHOUT SACRIFICING THE UNITY OF THE FREE WORLD.

AUSTIN DID NOT MENTION GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR BY NAME, BUT HIS STATEMENT APPARENTLY WAS AIMED AT MACARTHUR'S DECLARATION THAT THE UNITED STATES SHOULD CARRY THE FIGHT TO RED CHINA EVEN IF IT MEANS GOING IT ALONE.

IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR DELIVERY AT TULANE UNIVERSITY, WHERE HE WAS TO BE PRESENTED A HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAWS, AUSTIN DECLARED THAT POLITICAL AND MILITARY CONSIDERATIONS WERE SO CLOSELY LINKED IN THE FIELD OF COLLECTIVE SECURITY THAT IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO SEPARATE THEM.

THE UNITED STAES WANTED THE STRENGTH THAT COMES WITH UNITY, AUSTIN SAID. "WE HAVE IT," HE ADDED, "WE ARE DETERMINED TO MAINTAIN IT."

MAY 11 1951

HE CITED THE UNITED NATIONS VICTORY IN GREECE AS AN EXAMPLE OF HOW MILITARY AND POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS MUST BE TAKEN TOGETHER. THERE, TOO, COMMUNIST TROOPS HAD OPERATED FROM A "PRIVILEGED SANCTUARY," HE SAID, BUT THE U.N.'S UNITY OF PURPOSE FORCED THE COMMUNISTS TO WITHDRAW.

"NO CEASE-FIRE ARRANGEMENTS WERE MADE," HE SAID, "NO TRUCE AGREEMENTS REACHED, NO TREATIES SIGNED. BUT, MILITARILY AND POLITICALLY, COMMUNIST IMPERIALISM WAS DEFEATED. MILITARILY AND POLITICALLY, THE UNITED NATIONS WAS VICTORIOUS."

AUSTIN SAID POLITICAL FORCES ARE NOW AT WORK IN COMMUNIST CHINA, WHICH MAY WELL BRING THE SAME REULTS.

"EVEN COMMUNIST MASTERS," HE SAID, "DARE NOT CONTINUE INDEFINITELY TO DRIVE HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF THEIR COUNTRYMEN INTO THE SLAUGHTER OF OUR SUPERIOR FIRE POWER. THEIR CASUALTIES HAVE BEEN TREMENDOUS. EVEN COMMUNIST SLAVE-DRIVERS CANNOT REMAIN IMMUNE FROM SUCH A CALAMITY."

HE ADDED:

"WE WILL NOT GIVE UP THE UNITED NATIONS PRINCIPLES FOR WHICH WE ENTERED KOREA. WE ARE NOT PANICKED BECAUSE THE SITUATION IS MORE DIFFICULT NOW THAN WHEN WE ENTERED. COMMUNIST IMPERIALISM WILL BE DEFEATED IN KOREA. WE ARE DETERMINED TO SEE THE STRUGGLE THROUGH TO VICTORY.

"THERE WILL BE NO APPEASEMENT. THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS KNOW THAT REWARDING AGGRESSION ENCOURAGES IT. THEY KNOW THAT SURRENDER LEADS TO SURRENDER. THEY KNOW TOO THAT FIGHTING ALONE DOES NOT INSURE THE VICTORY.

"FIVE YEARS AFTER OBTAINING UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER FROM ITS ENEMIES, THE WORLD IS STILL STRUGGLING TO ESTABLISH PEACE. THOSE YEARS HAVE TAUGHT US TO SEEK MORE THAN VICTORY UPON THE BATTLEFIELD. THOSE YEARS HAVE TAUGHT US THAT PEACE IS ALSO A POLITICAL PROCESS."

WASHINGTON,MAY 10-(AP)-BRIG.GEN.JOHN H.MICHAELIS CAME BACK FROM THE KOREAN WAR FRONT TODAY CONVINCED THAT COMMUNIST CHINA CAN NOT "STAND THE PACE" OF FIGHTING THE KOREAN WAR.

MICHAELIS, FORMER HERO LEADER OF THE FAMED 27TH WOLFHOUND REGIMENT AND LATER DEPUTY COMMANDER OF THE 25TH INFANTRY DIVISION, IS ON HIS WAY TO AN ASSIGNMENT WITH GEN.DWIGHT EISENHOWER IN EUROPE.

ASKED BY REPORTERS AT THE AIRPORT WHETHER HE SAW AN END TO THE KOREAN WAR.

"MY GUESS IS THAT THE RUSSIAN STOOGES--THAT'S THE CHINESE--WERE PUT IN THERE TO TIE US DOWN, NOT TO ANNIHILATE US."

"I DON'T THINK THE CHINESE ECONOMY CAN STAND THE PACE."
HE ADDED THAT MORALE AMONG U.S. TROOPS IN KOREA NOW IS "HIGHER THAN IT EVER HAS BEEN."
MICHAELIS WILL STAY IN THIS COUNTRY FOR 60 DAYS BEFORE GOING TO EUROPE. HE PLANS TO GO TO HIS LANCASTER, PA., HOME FOR ARMED FORCES DAY MAY 19.
EARLIER IN SAN FRANCISCO, MICHAELIS SAID U.N. TROOPS IN KOREA WERE MIGHTY TIRED OF THE SEE-SAW FIGHTING "BUT AS LONG AS WE CONTINUE TO KILL CHINESE IT'S WORTHWHILE."

ARTUKOVICH ENTERED THE UNITED STATES IN 1948 ON A VISITOR'S PERMIT AND WAS GRANTED EXTENSIONS.
MARSHAL TITO'S YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT HAS ASKED FOR HIS DEPORTATION AS A WAR CRIMINAL. CROATIA NOW IS A PART OF YUGOSLAVIA.
IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS ARRESTED ARTUKOVICH YESTERDAY ON THEIR OWN INITIATIVE. HE HAD GIVEN TESTIMONY AT A CLOSED HEARING LAST MONDAY ON HIS APPLICATION FOR PERMISSION TO ESTABLISH PERMANENT RESIDENCE IN THE UNITED STATES. CONGRESS WOULD HAVE THE FINAL SAY ON WHETHER HE COULD REMAIN.
HOWARD L.FIELD, ACTING REGIONAL DIRECTOR OF THE BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION, SAYS ARTUKOVICH'S ARREST DOESN'T MEAN HIS APPLICATION FOR PERMANENT RESIDENCE HAS BEEN DENIED.

NEW YORK, MAY 10-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER DAVID BEN-GURION SAID TONIGHT ISRAEL IS BUILDING A "FORTRESS OF DEMOCRACY" IN THE NEAR EAST WHICH WILL SERVE AS AN EXAMPLE TO THE ENTIRE WORLD.
HE ADDED THAT IT ALSO WOULD SHOW "OUR NEIGHBORS THAT THEY NEED NOT LIVE IN SLAVERY AND POVERTY."
BEN-GURION SPOKE TO A MADISON SQUARE GARDEN CAPACITY CROWD OF 19,000 PERSONS. SOME 10,000 OTHERS OUTSIDE MILLED ABOUT OR SURGED AGAINST POLICE CORDONS TRYING TO GET IN. LOUDSPEAKERS WERE PLACED OUTSIDE.
ABOUT 200 PICKETS WERE ON HAND, PROTESTING WHAT THEY CALLED A LACK OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN ISRAEL UNDER BEN-GURION'S SOCIALIST PARTY.
THE SPEECH LAUNCHED A $500,000,000 (M) BOND DRIVE IN THIS COUNTRY ON BEHALF OF ISRAEL.
THE WHITE-)HAIREE PRIME MINISTER SPOKE WITH PASSION ABOUT THE IDEALS OF THE NEW JEWISH STATE. AMONG OTHER THINGS, HE SAID:
"THE STATE OF ISRAEL WAS NOT ESTABLISHED FOR OURSELVES ALONE, BUT FOR THE LIVES, HOPES, SALVATION, DIGNITY AND SELF-RESPECT OF EVERY JEW IN THE WORLD."
BEN-GURION DEPARTED ALMOST ENTIRELY FROM AN ADVANCE TEXT IN WHICH IT WAS SAID THAT ISRAEL'S ARMY "WILL BE USED FOR DEFENSE AND DEFENSE ALONE."
HOWEVER, A SPOKESMAN SAID LATER THAT BEN-GURION STOOD BY EVERYTHING CONTAINED IN THE PREPARED TEXT.
IN THAT TEXT, HE WENT ON TO EXPLAIN THAT "WE DO NOT SEEK SELF-AGGRANDIZEMENT IN TERRITORIAL EXPANSION. WE DO NOT YEARN FOR THE SATISFACTION THAT COMES WITH THE POSSESSION OF THE EXTERNAL TRAPPINGS OF STATE SOVEREIGNTY. WE SEEK A HOME AND DIGNITY FOR THE JEWISH PEOPLE X X X."
THE RALLY ALSO MARKED THE THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF ISRAEL'S INDEPENDENCE.
HE CALLED THAT INDEPENDENCE "MERELY AN INSTRUMENT FOR THE ACHIEVEMENT OF JEWISH IMIGRATION AND SETTLEMENT IN ISRAEL."
"WE HAVE NOT YET ATTAINED IT," THE PRIME MINISTER ADDED. "OUR WORK IN ISRAEL IS STILL INCOMPLETE."
BEN-GURION SAID ISRAEL HAS TAKEN IN 600,000 JEWS IN THREE YEARS AND MUST TAKE IN AT LEAST THAT MANY MORE IN THE NEXT THREE YEARS.
"WE WILL CONTINUE TO ABSORB THESE PEOPLE," HE MAINTAINED.

FIRST LEAD MACARTHUR
NEW YORK, MAY 10-(AP)-GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S TOP AIDE SAID TODAY THE OUSTED PACIFIC COMMANDER ORDERED U.S. TROOPS IN KOREA TO ERASE THE WORD "EVACUATION" FROM THEIR DICTIONARY AFTER RECEIVING PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PERSONAL MESSAGE OF LAST JAN.13.
THE AIDE, MAJ.GEN.COURTNEY WHITNEY, SAID THAT MACARTHUR INTERPRETED THE TRUMAN LETTER AS AN IMPLICATION THE PRESIDENT WANTED UNITED NATIONS FORCES TO STAND FIRM IN KOREA.
WHITNEY REFERRED TO A LETTER MR.TRUMAN SENT MACARTHUR IN WHICH HE URGED THE NAR EAST COMMANDER TO USE "GREAT PRUDENCE" SO AS NOT TO WIDEN THE CONFLICT IN KOREA. PART OF THE LETTER, WHICH HAD NOT BEEN DIVULGED PREVIOUSLY, WAS READ INTO THE RECORD YESTERDAY WHILE DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL WAS TESTIFYING BEFORE THE JOINT SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES.
WHITNEY SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE MADE IT CLEAR THAT THE INSTRUCTIONS WERE NOT TO BE TAKEN AS A DIRECTIVE.
THE AIDE PREFACED HIS REMARKS WITH THE OBSERVATION THAT THE PURPORT AND TENOR OF THE JANUARY 13 MESSAGE SEEMED TO HAVE BEEN MISUNDERSTOOD BY THE PUBLIC. HE SAID HE BASED THE OBSERVATION ON HADLINES APPEARING IN CERTAIN NEWSPAPERS.
THESE PUBLISHED REPORTS, WHITNEY, SAID INDICATED MISTAKENLY THAT CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS WERE IMPOSED UPON MACARTHUR IN THE HANDLING OF HIS COMMANDS.
ACTUALLY, WHITNEY SAID, THE PURPOSE OF THE MESSAGE WAS TO OUTLINE TO MACARTHUR THE BENEFITS THAT WOULD ACCRUE TO THE U.N. CAUSE IF THE

30.24- 22839

CHINESE COMMUNISTS COULD BE RESISTED SUCCESSFULLY.
FAULTY PHRASING OF THE TEXT MAY HAVE CAUSED THE MISUNDERSTANDING IN THE PRESS, WHITNEY DECLARED. HE DID NOT ELABORATE.
THE AIDE SAID THAT AT A TOKYO CONFERENCE ATTENDED BY GEN.LAWTON COLLINS, CHIEF OF STAFF, AND GEN.HOYT VANDENBERG, AIR FORCE CHIEF, MACARTHUR MADE CLEAR HIS INTERPRETATION OF THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.
"IT IS CLEAR TO ME THAT THE PRESIDENT DESIRES US TO HOLD OUR POSITION IN KOREA INDEFINITELY AND SUCH WILL BE OUR COURSE OF ACTION," HE QUOTED MACARTHUR AS SAYING.
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S REPLY TO THE PRESIDENT WAS, "WE SHALL DO OUR BEST," WHITNEY DECLARED.

MAY 11 1951

A204
HE SAID THAT THE PACIFIC COMMANDER WENT TO KOREA AND SHOED THE MESSAGE TO GEN.MATTHEW RIDGWAY. IT WAS THEN, WHITNEY SAID, THAT MACARTHUR ORDERED THE WORD "EVACUATION" WIPED OUT OF THE DICTIONARY.
GENERAL WHITNEY SAID THAT PRIOR TO RECEIPT OF THE MESSAGE, IT APPEARED THE PREVAILING VIEW IN WASHINGTON WAS THAT OUR FORCES SHOULD BE EVACUATED FROM KOREA AS SOON AS U.N. DIPLOMATIC DISCUSSIONS, THEN UNDER WAY, HAD BEEN CONCLUDED.
HE CONTENDED THAT THE APPARENT BELIEF IN WASHINGTON THEN WAS THAT IF EVACUATION COULD BE CARRIED OUT AS THOUGH FORCED BY ENEMY PRESSURE SOME POLITICAL ADVANTAGES WOULD BE SERVED.
IN CONVERSATIONS WITH GENERAL COLLINS, WHITNEY SAID THAT GENERAL MACARTHUR REFUSED TO BE A PARTY TO STIGMATIZING THE EIGHTH ARMY BY HAVING IT WITHDRAW FROM KOREA UNLESS IT FORCED TO MILITARILY. HE SAID MACARTHUR WAS DETERMINED THAT THE EIGHTH SHOULD NOT BE A SCAPEGOAT.
WHITNEY SAID YESTERDAY THAT MACARTHUR SAW NO CONFLICT BETWEEN MR.TRUMAN'S PLAN FOR A NEGOTIATED PEACE IN KOREA AND HIS OWN PUBLIC CALL FOR A BATTLEFIELD TRUCE.
DEFENSE SECRETARY GEORGE C. MARSHALL ON TUESDAY TOLD A SENATE INQUIRY THAT MACARTHUR'S CEASE-FIRE SUGGESTION UPSET THE PRESIDENT'S PLANS FOR A TRUCE.
WHITNEY, A PERSONAL AIDE TO THE OUSTED FAR EASTERN COMMANDER, SAID YESTERDAY:
"THERE WAS NO APPARENT CONFLICT BETWEEN ANY PLANS WHICH HAD BEEN COMMUNICATED TO GEN. MACARTHUR AND HIS CALL TO THE CHINESE TO SIT DOWN TO A PARLEY IN THE FIELD."
WHITNEY SAID THE MACARTHUR PROPOSAL WAS A MILITARY ACTION DESIGNED "TO STOP THE SHOOTING."
WHITNEY ALSO TOOK EXCEPTION TO MARSHALL'S REMARK THAT MORALE WAS DAMAGED BY MACARTHUR'S EMPHASIS ON CASUALTIES AND HIS HINT THAT SUCH CASUALTIES WERE NOT JUSTIFIED.
"I WOULD BE INCLINED TO SAY THE CONTRARY," WHITNEY SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE. "THE FACT THAT GEN. MACARTHUR HAS HAD THE COURAGE TO CALL FOR MEASURES DESIGNED TO PROTECT HIS FORMER COMMAND WILL REACT FAVORABLY ON THE MORALE OF THE TROOPS. THIS INDEED SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN THE CASE."
THE GENERAL NEVER BUCKED ESTABLISHED ADMINISTRATION POLICY IN THE FAR EAST, WHITNEY SAID.
"GENERAL MACARTHUR WAS NOT ARGUING AGAINST ANY POLICY IN EFFECT," WHITNEY ADDED, "AS HE CONSISTENTLY IMPLEMENTED ALL POLICIES AND DIRECTIVES TO THE BEST OF HIS ABILITY.
"WHAT HE WAS CALLING FOR WAS A DEFINITIVE POLICY TO FILL THE POLICY VACUUM LEFT IN THE WAKE OF CHINA'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR."
WHITNEY SAID IT IS "A MATTER OF OPINION" WHETHER RUSSIAN AIR AND TROOP STRENGTH STATIONED NEAR KOREA CONSTITUTES AN OFFENSIVE MANEUVER WITH DANGER OF WORLD WAR III--AS MARSHALL CONTENDED IN HIS INQUIRY TESTIMONY.
MACARTHUR, WHITNEY SAID, CONSIDERS THE SOVIET FORCES IN THAT AREA AS "DEFENSIVE" UNITS.
THE AIDE ADDED THAT MACARTHUR IS GETTING TRANSCRIPTS OF THE DEFENSE SECRETARY'S TESTIMONY BUT "HAD NOT READ A WORD OF IT."
INSTEAD, WHITNEY SAID, HE WILL BRIEF MACARTHUR ON MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY.
WHITNEY AGAIN BROUGHT UP MACARTHUR'S CONTROVERSIAL LETTER TO REP. MARTIN (R-MASS.) WHICH, WHEN MADE PUBLIC BY THE CONGRESSMAN, AROUSED THE IRE OF MR. TRUMAN.
THE LETTER WAS "NOT CONTRARY" TO A DEFENSE DEPARTMENT ORDER THAT FOREIGN POLICY STATEMENTS MUST BE CLEARED IN WASHINGTON, WHITNEY SAID.

NEW YORK, MAY 10-(AP)-ENOUGH SPLIT RADIOACTIVE ATOMS FROM LAST WINTER'S NEVADA A-BOMBS FELL IN ANN ARBOR, MICH., TO BE A HAZARD TO INDUSTRIAL PROCESSES.
THE A-BOMB DUST DETECTED IN ANN ARBOR WAS 100 TIMES GREATER THAN THE NORMAL RADIOACTIVITY OF THAT SECTION. THIS WAS NOT NEARLY ENOUGH TO BE DANGEROUS TO HUMAN BEINGS, BUT SIMILAR RADIOACTIVE DUST FELL ALSO ON MANY OTHER SECTIONS EAST OF NEVADA.
THE SPLIT ATOMS AROUND ANN ARBOR WERE FOUND IN SNOW THAT FELL THREE OR MORE DAYS AFTER TWO NEVADA BOMBS OF JAN. 27 AND 28.
BUT NO FURTHER ATOMIC DUST WAS FOUND IN LATER SNOWS, AND THIS IS A CURIOUS FACT. BECAUSE ANN ARBOR HAD SNOWS SOON AFTER THE NEVADA

A-BOMBS OF FEB. 1, 2 AND 6. THE DIFFERENCES IN ANN ARBOR MIGHT HAVE BEEN DUE TO DIFFERENCES IN THE SIZES, AND CONSEQUENTLY ATOMIC DUSTS, FROM NEVADA BOMBS. DIFFERENCES IN SIZE WERE RUMORED. MORE LIKELY THE DIFFERENCE IN WHAT FELL AT ANN ARBOR CAME FROM DIFFERENCES IN THE UPPER AIR CURRENTS THAT CARRIED THE ATOMIC DUST EASTWARD ACROSS THE UNITED STATES.

THE ANALYSIS TELLING WHAT FELL IS ANNOUNCED TODAY IN SCIENCE, OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE, BY W. WAYNE MEINKE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT.

"MANY EASTERN LOCALITIES," THE REPORT SAYS, "HAVE ALSO REPORTED THE PRESENCE OF RADIOACTIVITY IN THEIR SNOWS AFTER THE LAST VEGAS EXPLOSIONS ALTHOUGH THE ACTIVITIES REPORTED IN ANN ARBOR IN NO WAY APPROACH DANGEROUS LEVELS FROM A HEALTH STANDPOINT, THEY COULD POSSIBLY BECOME THE SOURCE OF CONTAMINATION PROBLEMS IN SUCH WORK AS FILM PACKAGING OR LOW-BACKGROUND RADIOACTIVITY EXPERIMENTS."

SPLIT ATOMS THAT FELL IN OHIO RIVER WATERS AFTER THE FIRST A-BOMB IN NEW MEXICO ACTUALLY DID FOG SOME FILMS PACKED BY EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY IN STRAWBOARD MADE IN OHIO WITH WATER FROM A CONTAMINATED RIVER.

AMS BUDGET
DEWEY
(ADVANCE)...NEW YORK, MAY 10-(AP)-GOV.THOMAS E. DEWEY TONIGHT URGED AN "ABSOLUTE AND TOTAL" EMBARGO BY THE FREE WORLD AGAINST TRADE OF ANY KIND WITH COMMUNIST CHINA.

IT WAS ONE OF 11 PLANKS IN A GLOBAL POLICY WHICH HE SAID IS MOST URGENTLY NEEDED TO STOP RUSSIA FROM TAKING THE WORLD "BIT BY BIT."

IN THE FAR EAST ESPECIALLY, DEWEY ACCUSED THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION OF COURTING WARS BY "WEAK-KNEED WOBBLING" AND ADDED:

"I YUGGEST THAT NOW IS THE TIME FOR THE FORCE OF PUBLIC OPINION TO COMPEL OUR GOVERNMENT TO FORMULATE A POLICY FOR THE WHOLE FAR EAST--A POLICY THAT WILL STOP THE SPREAD OF COMMUNISM AND START TURNING IT BACK."

DEWEY BITINGLY CRITICISED THE "SHABBY MANNER" OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL AS FAR EASTERN COMMANDER. BUT HE DID NOT QUESTION PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S RIGHT TO GET RID OF MACARTHUR.

THE SPEECH--A MAJOR FOREIGN POLICY ADDRESS BY A TWO-TIME CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT--WAS PREPARED FOR THE THIRD ANNUAL DINNER OF THE NEW YORK STATE REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE. IT WAS BROADCAST NATIONALLY BY CBS.

DEWEY GRAVELY TOLD THE GOP DINERS: delivered

"WHILE THE PACE WILL CHANGE FROM TIME TO TIME, THIS WAR WILL CONTINUE THE REST OF OUR LIVES OR SO LONG AS COMMUNISM RULES RUSSIA."

HE ACCUSED THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION OF POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY WHICH HE CONFIDENTLY PREDICTED WILL MAKE THE WHITE HOUSE REPUBLICAN IN 1952.

BUT HE ADDED OF THE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION:

"IT CAN STILL REDEEM PART OF ITS FAILURES BY ADOPTING POLICIES IN ASIA AND ELSEWHERE WHICH OUR PEOPLE AND OUR ALLIES WILL UNDERSTAND AND SUPPORT."

INTO HIS 11-POINT POLICY DEWEY INCORPORATED THIS DEMAND:

"WE SHOULD IMMEDIATELY URGE," HE SAID, "THAT EVERY FREE NATION IN THE WORLD PLACE AN EMBARGO UPON THE SHIPMENT OF GOODS TO CHINA.

"I DO NOT MEAN AN EMBARGO JUST OF RUBBER OR OF STEEL OR MILITARY EQUIPMENT. I MEAN AN ABSOLUTE AND TOTAL EMBARGO AGAINST THE SHIPMENT OF ANY GOODS OR ANY TRADING WHATSOEVER WITH RED CHINA.

COUPLED WITH THIS, THE TWO-TIME REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL STANDARD BEARER DEMANDED THAT CHINA UNDER COMMUNIST RULE BE FOREVER KEPT OUT OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

A22

DEWEY'S 11 POINTS COVERING BOTH ASIA AND EUROPE WERE:

1. NO APPEASEMENT OR RETREAT FROM COMMUNISM ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD.
2. NO RECOGNITION EVER OF RED CHINA AND USE OF THE VETO IF NEEDED TO KEEP HER OUT OF THE U.N.
3. A FREE FORMOSA NEVER PERMITTED AT ANY TIME TO FALL INTO COMMUNIST HANDS.
4. MORE AID FOR CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S NATIONALISTS AND RELEASING HIS TROOPS FOR ANY USE HE WANTS TO MAKE OF THEM AGAINST THE CHINESE MAINLAND.
5. A TOTAL TRADE EMBARGO AGAINST RED CHINA.
6. CONTINUED BI-PARTISAN SUPPORT FOR A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY.
7. A POLICY AIMED AT AN EVENTUAL UNITED STATES OF EUROPE.
8. ADMITTANCE OF TURKEY, GREECE, SPAIN AND YUGOSLAVIA INTO THE NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY ALLIANCE.
9. A SOLID FRONT OF FREE NATIONS, GUARDED AGAINST ANY SOVIET ATTEMPT TO SPLIT THEM APART.
10. UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING AT ONCE.
11. A SPEEDUP IN PRODUCTION OF TANKS AND AIRPLANES NO MATTER WHAT IT COSTS.

MAY 11 1951

"THERE IS NO PRICE TAG ON FREEDOM," DEWEY SAID OF HIS 11TH AND FINAL POLICY PLANK.

IN SOME RESPECTS, DEWEY STOOD BESIDE MACARTHUR IN THE HOT DEBATE OVER AMERICAN POLICY IN THE FAR EAST.

LIKE MACARTHUR, DEWEY ADVOCATED MORE AID AND FREEDOM OF ACTION FOR CHIANG KAI-SHEK. AND LIKE MACARTHUR, HE PLACED GREAT EMPHASIS ON FORMOSA'S IMPORTANCE TO JAPANESE AND AMERICAN DEFENSE.

BUT DEWEY STOPPED SHORT AT MACARTHUR'S DEMNDS THAT CHINESE MANCHURIAN BASES BE BOMBED AND A NAVAL BLOCKADE PLACED AGAINST THE CHINESE MAINLAND.

"I AM NOT A MILITARY EXPERT AND I DO NOT HAVE ACCESS TO THE INTELLIGENCE REPORTS," HE SAID IN WITHHOLDING JUDGMENT ON THESE POINTS.

"BUT WE MUST FACE THE FACT THAT IF THE KOREAN WAR CONTINUES THE TIME WILL COME WHEN WE CAN NO LONGER ALLOW A DETERMINED ENEMY TO USE IMPORTANT BASES FREE FROM AIR ATTACK.

"AND THIS I DO KNOW: IF OUR GOVERNMENT REJECTS THE IDEA OF NAVAL BLOCKADE OF THE COAST OF CHINA, THEN IT IS UNDER HEAVY OBLIGATION TO ACHIEVE THE SAME END BY POLITICAL ACTION."

A23

DEWEY IS ON RECORD AS FAVORING GEN.DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER FOR PRESIDENT. HIS REMARKS ABOUT MACARTHUR WERE WORDED AS AN ATTACK ON THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION AND CONTAINED NO HINT OF HOW DEWEY FEELS ABOUT MACARTHUR'S POLITICAL FUTURE--IF ANY.

THE GOVERNOR SAID THE AMERICAN PEOPLE HAVE SUFFERED PATIENTLY UNDER THE ADMINISTRATION'S "MORE-POLITICS-THAN-EVER" ATTITUDE.

"BUT ONE THING OUR PEOPLE WILL NOT SUFFER PATIENTLY," HE WENT ON, "IS THE MIDNIGHT IDSMISSAL OF A GREAT AMERICAN WHO HAS SERVED HIS COUNTRY FOR 50 YEARS--WITHOUT NOTICE OF THE CHARGES AGAINST HIM AND WITHOUT EVEN A HEARING."

DEWEY, WHO CONFERRED IN PRIVATE WITH MACARTHUR A FEW DAYS AGO, CALLED THE OUSTED GENERAL AS BRILLIANT A SOLDIER AS EVER SERVED THIS COUNTRY.

THE GOVERNOR SAID THE SECRET OF GOOD GOVERNMENT IS TO ATTRACT AND

30.24- 22841

KEEP THE BEST MEN THERE ARE. DISAGREEMENTS WILL ARISE, HE CONCEDED, BUT MUST BE ARGUED OUT.

"IT MAY TAKE A DAY," HE CONTINUED. "IT MAY TAKE A WEEK. BUT IF THEY ARE GOOD, YOU DON'T FIRE THEM. X X X

"I DO NOT CHALLENGE THE POWER OR THE RIGHT OF THE PRESIDENT UNDER THE CONSTITUTION TO RELIEVE A MILITARY COMMANDER.

"I DO CHALLENGE THE WISDOM OF THE DISMISSAL AND THE SHABBY MANNER IN WHICH IT WAS DONE."

Text of Dewey's Address

Following is the text of the address of Governor Dewey, delivered last evening at the third annual dinner of the New York State Republican Committee, in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel:

I am grateful for this opportunity to thank each of you present at this magnificent dinner and the countless others who made possible the victory we celebrate tonight. Against a typical, unprincipled Democratic smear campaign of the lowest order your Republican Administration of the State of New York was re-elected by a majority of more than half a million.

We pledged the continuation of the clean, progressive government our people have had for the last eight years. I am proud to be able to report to you tonight that every single promise we made in the campaign last fall has already been passed by the Legislature and enacted into law.

I am also happy to be able to report to you that there are no Frank Costellos in your State Administration or any of their friends—that there never have been and never will be.

But this is no time for self-satisfaction. Our country is in great danger. I am deeply convinced that America can win through only if we are much stronger than we now are, much more united than we now are, and a whale of a lot better governed than we now are.

Tired of Blunders

The American people are sick and tired of the national Administration's blunders in foreign policy from Potsdam on one side of the world to China on the other.

Our people have suffered patiently under the Administration's politics-as-usual—or should I say its more-politics-than-ever, its frightening incompetence and its continued waste of billions of dollars every year through inefficiency or worse.

But one thing our people will not suffer patiently is the midnight dismissal of a great American who has served his country for fifty years—without notice of the charges against him and without even a hearing.

Our people and the whole free world owe a profound debt of gratitude to Gen Douglas MacArthur. He has been cast aside by his Government but the people have taken him to their hearts. No more brilliant soldier ever served this country, and no man ever did more to convert enemies into friends.

In five years General MacArthur converted 80,000,000 Japanese who were our enemies into 80,000,000 friends. In these same five years the present National Administration allowed 450,000,000 Chinese who were our friends to be delivered as 450,000,000 slaves to our enemies.

The secret of good government is to attract and keep the best men there are. If your top associates are any good, they will disagree with you. If they do not disagree, they are just rubber stamps. When they do disagree, it is the job of the boss to bring them in and argue it out. It may take a day. It may take a week. But if they are good, you don't fire them. The business of government is the patient conciliation of conflicting views and the fullest use of the best brains you can get.

I do not challenge the power or the right of the President under the Constitution to relieve a military commander. I do challenge the wisdom of the dismissal and the shabby manner in which it was done.

So, having lost one of the best brains in the service of our country, where are we? At home we are engaged in the bitterest controversy, the most venomous public dispute that has divided and confused our people in this century. Our relations with our allies are strained. Communist propaganda is having a field day.

Far East Policy Demanded

What do we do about it? I suggest that now is the time for the force of public opinion to compel our Government to formulate a policy for the whole Far East—a policy that will stop the spread of communism and start turning it back.

For the defense of the West we do have a policy in the North Atlantic Alliance. We have just finished the first phase of what has been called "The Great Debate." Instead of inviting the third World War by weakness and indecision, we have wisely committed ourselves to preventing that war by the building of overwhelming strength on the European continent.

We have no such policy for the Far East. Four years ago in this room I demanded that the Administration establish equally strong policies in the Far East to save China and Asia from falling into the hands of the Communists. The words are as timely today as they were four years ago when I said:

"The free world is now in the desperate position of a man who has gangrene in both legs—in Western Europe and in Asia. As a doctor, our Government is telling the world that we have a very good cure for gangrene, but we will apply it to one leg only while the gangrene in the other leg destroys the patient.

"As we take action to save the 275,000,000 people of Europe for the free world, it is the sheerest folly to abandon the 450,000,000 people of China."

For the first time now we have the Wedemeyer Report on China which said exactly the same thing. But in the face of plea after plea the National Administration could never rally itself to formulate a real policy for the Orient. It has not done so even today. At this moment America, the greatest power on earth, has nothing but little pieces of policy in the Far East—little pieces that do not fit together. As one result, the Chinese people have fallen into the hands of Communists who are using them to kill American boys in Korea.

Struggle in Survival Seen

The cold fact is that we are being warred against all over the world by a relentless, brutal, Communist enemy with headquarters in the Kremlin. As we make our decisions let's be perfectly clear on the fundamentals. We are not at peace. We are engaged in a desperate struggle for the survival of the United States of America and the whole idea of human freedom.

In every spot on earth Imperialist, Communist Russia is waging war with every sinister weapon from propaganda to sabotage and from treason to flaming military aggression.

They intend to take the world bit-by-bit, piece-by-piece. They want the industrial power of Germany and Japan so they will no longer have to fear the might of America. Then they intend to choke us to death by gobbling up Asia, Africa and South America and with them the uranium, the rubber, the tin and manganese without which our country would be totally defenseless.

Whether the aggression is by force of arms or by stealing elections in small nations, by Communist-led strikes or by revolutions, the war is being waged, fiercely, in every nation on earth.

One more fundamental: While the pace will change from time to time, this war will continue the rest of our lives or so long as communism rules Russia.

This does not mean that World War III cannot be avoided. It does not mean that we should ever for one moment think of starting a preventive war. It does mean that total war can be prevented only if we develop overwhelming strength to stay the aggressor.

It does mean that out of the present Senate hearings and the confusion and bitterness and tragedy through which we are now passing, we, as a people, should agree upon and insist that the Administration adopt clear and strong policies and press for their acceptaince by our friends and allies. That is the way to stop the Kremlin in its tracks. It is the way to stop the brutal Communist aggression and bring victory in Korea. It is the way to win the peace. These policies should include the following:

First: There will be no appeasement of communism—no retreat anywhere in the world.

Second: The United States will never recognize Red China. We will never vote to seat Red China in the United Nations and we will use the veto, if necessary, to keep her out.

Third: A free Formosa is essential to the defense of the United States and the free world. We will not permit it at any time to fall into the hands of the Communists.

'Weak-Kneed Wobbling' Scored

Today, while Chiang Kai-shek toils to build his army of half a million men on Formosa, our own Government still has no clear-cut policy that anyone can discover.

In January of last year our National Administration announced we would not defend Formosa. In June they said we would defend Formosa. In August they said we would not defend Formosa after the Korean war was over. In December they said we might defend Formosa after the Korean war was over. This is the very kind of weak-kneed wobbling that invited the war in Korea and will bring new wars unless it is stopped.

We should determine and announce that we will not risk the loss of Japan and the Philippines by losing Formosa and we will not risk having the defense of America pushed all the way back to the coast of California.

Fourth: Even at this desperately late hour we should accelerate the flow of supplies to the Chinese Government of Chiang Kai-shek. He heads the only Chinese Government we recognize. We have aided nearly every free government on earth but we abandoned Chiang after he had fought for twenty years against the invasion of China, first by the Japanese and then by the Communists. As I have said in twenty speeches over the last four years, Chiang was good enough for us during World War II and he should be good enough for us today when we are trying to prevent World War III.

The President should immediately withdraw the order he had no right to issue, prohibiting Chiang from aiding guerrillas on the mainland and using his own troops in any way he deems fit. When American boys are being killed we should stop being so fussy about who helps us kill our enemies.

It has also been proposed that we bomb Chinese bases in Manchuria and impose a naval blockade against all of Red China. These proposals involve strategic decisions by our government and our Allies on the basis of their intelligence reports from all over the world. These also involve technical military considerations and the military experts are in disagreement. I am not a military expert and I do not have access to the intelligence reports.

So I cannot claim to know the answers, but we must face the fact that if the Korean war continues the time will come when we can no longer allow a determined enemy to use important bases free from air attack. And this I do know: if our government rejects the idea of naval blockade of the coast of China, then it is under heavy obligation to achieve the same end by political action. So,

Fifth: We should immediately urge that every free nation in the world place an embargo upon the shipment of goods to China. I do not mean an embargo just of rubber or of steel or military equipment. I mean an absolute and total embargo against the shipment of any goods or any trading whatsoever with Red China.

A tragic blunder in the policy of the British Government is the continued British trade with Red China. It is good news that the British people are forcing their government to stop trading with the enemy.

Japanese Treaty Supported

Sixth: The work on the Japanese peace treaty should continue to have the fullest support. The only bright spot of genuine bipartisanship in the whole Orient is the brilliant job in negotiating that treaty which is being done by our own John Foster Dulles. With the full cooperation of both the Administration and General MacArthur and with the support of Republicans and Democrats, he has engaged in this difficult and thus far successful task. That treaty will advance the building of great economic and military strength out of which we may hope that Japan will become a bastion of freedom in Asia.

Seventh: Turning from Asia to Europe, American policy must be publicly committed to the creation of a United States of Europe. The North Atlantic Treaty is the cornerstone for military cooperation. The Schuman Plan, the Council of Europe, the customs unions are the foundations of economic unity for the 275,000,000 people of Western Europe. All that remains is political unity for Europe to become the greatest bulwark against communism in the world and we should press harder for its achievement.

Eighth: Turkey and Greece are fighting by our side in Korea. They have a right to be admitted to the alliance of the North Atlantic Treaty and they should be admitted now. We should welcome as allies every nation which is willing and able to array itself on our side. We should bring in Spain and Yugoslavia and do it now, whether we like their political leadership or not. When my country is in danger I want to know who has the divisions and who is on my side. Each of these countries has tough, fighting armies. Those armies should become a part of the vital forces Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is now building for the defense of the Western World.

Ninth: We must recognize and defeat Russia's primary objective —a split between our country and our allies. The simple truth is that no free nation in this world can survive without friends.

We must allow nothing to deprive us of the air bases from which we could drop the atom bomb on Russia. Those bases made available by our allies right now constitute our greatest insurance against all-out Soviet attack. Soviet Russia must not be permitted the triumph of a political split between us and our allies, which would deny to the free world, and most importantly to America, the air bases which are essential to the winning of the peace.

Tenth: Universal military training should be adopted by the Congress now so we'll never again be caught untrained, unprepared, and unarmed. I have two sons and I want them prepared to defend themselves. I want them prepared in the great company of a strong America and a free world powerful enough to prevent another world war.

Defense Output Speed Urged

Eleventh: The production of tanks and airplanes and the essential material for defense should be accelerated. This means great expense and real sacrifice for our people. But we must be ready for any emergency. There is no price tag on freedom.

It is my highest hope that out of the present bitterness and controversy good can come. We can, in fact, as a people, force our national Government to do something it has never done—adopt a real policy in Asia. We can bring about strength which we do not have. With an aroused public opinion we can greatly strengthen the cause of America and the free world.

And while we are debating in this country let's make it very clear to our friends elsewhere in the world that we are debating only methods, not objectives. It is through exactly this process of debate and controversy that free peoples decide how to achieve their agreed objectives. It is only the Communists who don't understand freedom and free discussion. It is time they learned that we may have a lot of family fights among ourselves but heaven help the Russian who thinks that means we won't unite to lick him in every fight he starts.

We will probably have some more family fights, which outsiders will not understand. The Democratic party has deliberately chosen political expediency as a way of life. It has failed miserably to measure up to the needs of these perilous times.

The confusion and bitterness in this country today are the result of the incompetence and petty politics of the Democratic administration and next year the people will throw it out. That overturn will put the destiny of the nation in firm Republican hands and will serve the cause of freedom everywhere.

We still have a year-and-a-half to go under the Democratic administration. It can still redeem part of its failures by adopting policies in Asia and elsewhere, which our people and our Allies will understand and support.

The Administration has a solemn duty to recognize the public demand for such a program and to atone for its errors by providing bette. leadership in its remaining days. To the extent that it does so, I am sure that its actions will be supported.

At best, the path ahead is not easy. We face years of trouble and sacrifice. But our cause is just and the peace can be won.

Through firm purpose and great strength a third world war can be prevented and human liberty, under God, will triumph once again.

SECOND NIGHT LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (600)

BY DON HUTH

TOKYO, SATURDAY, MAY 12-(AP)-CHINESE REDS MASSED TROOPS TODAY IN WEST AND CENTRAL KOREA UNDER COVER OF MAN-MADE SMOKE SCREENS, ONE 35 MILES LONG.

ALLIED FRONT LINE COMMANDERS IN THE WEST SAID THEY EXPECTED THE SECOND ROUND OF THE COMMUNIST SPRING OFFENSIVE TO BEGIN WITHIN TWO WEEKS.

THERE WAS BELIEF THAT IT MIGHT BE BACKED BY THE LONG WITHHELD RED AIR FORCE. ALLIED FORCES FOR THE FIRST TIME USED CAMOUFLAGE EXTENSIVELY.

SIMILAR SMOKE SCREENS PRECEDED THE FIRST ROUND OF THE RED DRIVE, WHICH OPENED APRIL 22. IT WAS STALLED 10 DAYS LATER AFTER THE REDS HAD SUFFERED MORE THAN 75,000 CASUALTIES.

THE LONGEST WALL OF SMOKE STRETCHED FOR 35 MILES FROM KUMHWA TO A POINT NORTH OF INJE. THE TWO TOWNS ARE NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL IN CENTRAL KOREA.

MAY 12 1951

A103KX

AIR OBSERVERS, HOWEVER, MANAGED TO SPOT RED TROOP MOVEMENTS SOUTHWARD IN THE AREA, PARTICULARLY AROUND HWACHON. IT IS 18 MILES SOUTHEAST OF KUMHWA AND SEVEN MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL.

ANOTHER RED FORCE GATHERED UNDER COVER OF SMOKE ON THE WESTERN FRONT ABOUT 12 MILES SOUTH OF 38. IT WAS MASSING SOUTHEAST OF MUNSAN, A HIGHWAY TOWN 27 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

THE REDS' FIRES BURNED ACROSS RIDGE TOPS. SMUDGE POTS SENT UP WHITE BLANKETS.

THE COMMUNISTS APPEARED TO BE CONCENTRATING THEIR POWER NORTH OF SEOUL IN THE WEST AND NORTH OF CHUNCHON IN THE CENTER.

CHUNCHON, A NO-MAN'S LAND TOWN, IS SEVEN MILES SOUTH OF THE 38TH ON A HIGHWAY LEADING DOWN FROM KUMHWA AND HWACHON. IT IS 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

ALLIED FLIERS SAID THEY SAW REDS MOVING DOWN THE HIGHWAY TOWARD THE WESTERN EDGE OF HWACHON RESERVOIR IN GROUPS OF TWO, SPACED ABOUT 50 YARDS APART.

"THEY WERE COMING DOWN THE ROAD FROM AS FAR TO THE NORTH AS THE PILOTS COULD SEE," A U. S. EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN TOLD AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON.

TWO OTHER RED BUILDUP POINTS HAD BEEN REPORTED FRIDAY. ONE WAS A PUPYONG, 15 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. THE OTHER WAS NEAR KAPYONG, 32 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

A104KX

THE BUILDUP SOUTHWEST OF KAPYONG WAS OBSERVED AGAIN. THERE WAS NO FURTHER WORD ON THE PUPYONG BUILDUP.

BUT ALLIED OBSERVERS RECALLED THAT THE CHINESE HAVE A WAY OF PRACTICALLY DISAPPEARING INTO THE GROUND DURING DAYLIGHT HOURS WHEN THEY ARE BUILDING UP FOR AN ATTACK.

IN THE WEST, RED UNITS BECAME AGGRESSIVE. THEY STRUCK OUT AT ALLIED PATROLS SOUTHWEST OF MUNSAN.

AN ALLIED TANK-INFANTRY PATROL WAS SET UPON BY A RED FORCE WEST OF UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL. THE REDS HURLED HAND GRENADES AT THE TANKS. THE REDS HOLD A MINE-RIMMED ARC NORTH OF UIJONGBU.

ON THE EASTERN FRONT, A REPUBLIC OF KOREA (ROK) FORCE COUNTER-ATTACKED A RED BATTALION WHICH HAD PUNCHED A HOLE IN THE U. N. LINES NEAR INJE. THE RED BATTALION WAS ROUTED.

INJE IS IN EAST-CENTRAL KOREA, FOUR MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL AND 75 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

ON THE EAST COAST, ALLIED WARSHIP GUNS BROKE UP A RED ATTACK ON ROK UNITS SOUTH OF KANSONG, 26 MILES NORTH OF 38.

EIGHTH ARMY ESTIMATED THAT 810 REDS WERE KILLED OR WOUNDED IN FRIDAY'S LIMITED GROUND ACTION AND 40 CAPTURED. IN ADDITION, ALLIED FLIERS CLAIMED THEY INFLICTED 300 RED CASUALTIES.

ALLIED EXPECTANCE OF RED AIR RAIDS CAUSED EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS. AIR RAID SIRENS WERE INSTALLED, KEY BUILDINGS WERE CAMOUFLAGED AND SHELTERS WERE SANDBAGGED.

SIGNS OF INTENSE PREPARATION FOR THE NEXT RED BLOW FIRST WERE NOTED FRIDAY.

ALLIED ARMORED PATROLS FELT THE PRESSURE OF GROWING ENEMY STRENGTH DURING THE DAY. MINEFIELDS, SPROUTED MORE THICKLY ON DUSTY ROADS AND TRAILS. TANK TRAPS WERE COVERED BY CONCEALED REDS FIRING FROM HILLS AND RIDGES.

ONLY ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT DID U.N. UNITS PROGRESS. THERE SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS ADVANCED MORE THAN THREE MILES AND OCCUPIED INJE AS THE REDS FELL BACK.

A211KX

TO BOLSTER APPARENTLY LAGGING RED TROOP MORALE IN THE EAST, THE CHINESE USED LOUDSPEAKERS TO TELL THEIR MEN TO HOLD FAST "AT ALL COSTS." THE BROADCASTS, DESCRIBED BY AP CORRESPONDENT NATE POLOWETZKY, SAID IN CHINESE "REINFORCEMENTS ARE ON THE WAY."

ON THE WESTERN FRONT THE CHINESE APPEARED ABSORBED WITH THEIR BUILDUP FOR THE TIME BEING. ONE ENEMY PATROL REACHED A POINT JUST SOUTHEAST OF UIJONGBU, BUT WAS CUT UP BY ALLIED ARTILLERY.

SOUTH KOREAN PATROLS IN THE EXTREME WEST SPEARED WITHIN THREE MILES OF THE IMJIN RIVER SOUTH OF MUNSAN.

SHARP RED SMALL ARMS AND AUTOMATIC WEAPONS FIRE TURNED BACK ALLIED TANK-INFANTRY TEAMS PROBING THE PUPYONG SECTOR EAST OF SEOUL.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SIX DAYS A U.N. TANK PATROL RUMBLING THROUGH CHUNCHON DREW FIRE--AT LEAST 100 MORTAR ROUNDS.

A TIP-OFF ON RED PREPARATIONS FOR ATTACK WAS REPORTED ON THE CENTRAL FRONT. THE CHINESE WERE USING SMUDGE POTS TO CLOAK THEIR MOVEMENTS IN THE "BIG BASIN" AREA. THAT IS EASTWARD FROM KUMHWA, 32 AIR MILES NORTH-WEST OF CHUNCHON, TO ABOUT 12 MILES NORTH OF THE HWACHON RESERVOIR.

THE EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED COMMUNIST CASUALTIES THURSDAY WERE 2,565. IN WASHINGTON AN ARMY SPOKESMAN ESTIMATED THAT COMBINED COMMUNIST CASUALTIES FROM THE START OF THE WAR THROUGH APRIL 30 TOTALLED 893,662--AN INCREASE OF 68,102 SINCE APRIL 21. THAT COVERED THE PERIOD OF THE FIRST SPRING OFFENSIVE BY THE REDS.

THE BREAKDOWN OF RED LOSSES SHOWED NORTH KOREANS SUFFERED 534,146 CASUALTIES AND THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS 359,516. U.N. LOSSES WERE NOT DISCLOSED BUT ROUGHLY NUMBER ABOUT 250,000 DEAD, WOUNDED AND MISSING.

IN CLEAR SKIES FRIDAY, ALLIED FIGHTERS AND FIGHTER-BOMBERS RIPPED INTO RED TROOP CONCENTRATIONS AND COMMUNICATION TARGETS WITH MORE THAN 600 SORTIES. A DOZEN B-29 SUPERFORTS DROPPED 90 TONS OF BOMBS ON NORTH KOREAN AIRFIELDS AT SINMAK AND SARIWON.

TOKYO,MAY 11-(AP)-UNITED NATIONS TROOPS SHOVED AHEAD THREE MILES ON THE EAST KOREAN FRONT TODAY. IN THE WEST THEY DUG IN TO MEET AN EXPECTED RED OFFENSIVE.

SOUTH KOREANS MADE THE EASTERN ADVANCE NORTH OF PARALLEL 38. THEY MET ONLY LIGHT OPPOSITION. ONE INFANTRY COMPANY MARCHED INTO INJE WITHOUT FIRING A SHOT.

ELSEWHERE THE FRONT WAS QUIET EXCEPT FOR RESTLESS, PROBING PATROLS. BUT THERE WAS CONTINUAL MOVEMENT BACK OF COMMUNIST LINES.

THE REDS WERE BUILDING UP FOUR SIZABLE POCKETS FOR A POSSIBLE TWO PRONGED DRIVE ON SEOUL. THEY APPEARED TO BE MASSING IN AN ARC NORTH AND NORTHEAST OF THE OLD SOUTH KOREAN CAPITAL.

ALLIED OUTPOSTS GOT SET TO MEET AN ASSAULT. THEY SANDBAGGED THEIR POSITIONS, BUILT BOOBY TRAPS AND STRUNG BARBED WIRE.

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE NARROWING NO-MAN'S LAND, REDS WERE MOVING UP BEHIND TANK TRAPS AND MINEFIELDS. AUTOMATIC WEAPON FIRE TURNED BACK SMALL ALLIED PATROLS PROBING TOO CLOSE TO SUSPECTED RED STRENGTH.

FRONT LINE DISPATCHES FRIDAY GAVE THIS PICTURE ACROSS THE FRONT FROM WEST TO EAST:

NORTH KOREANS SLIPPING THROUGH THE HILLS WERE CONCENTRATING ABOUT 20 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL BETWEEN MUNSAN AND UIJONGBU. COMMUNIST FIRE FORCED BACK A SOUTH KOREAN PATROL ON THE EXTREME WEST. OPPOSING PATROLS CLASHED NORTH OF UIJONGBU WHERE REDS PLANTED FUSED MORTAR SHELLS IN MINE FIELDS. ARTILLERY CUT UP A RED PATROL SOUTHEAST OF UIJONGBU.

MAY 12 1951

CHINESE TURNED BACK SMALL U.N. PATROLS PROBING THE NEWEST SUSPECTED RED BUILDUP 15 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. TANK TRAPS, GUARDED BY AUTOMATIC WEAPONS, BLOCKED THE APPROACH TO WOODED HILLS.

OTHER CHINESE MOVED DOWN INTO THE FORMER NO-MAN'S LAND NEAR KAPYONG, 32 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. HEAVY ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE MET RAIDING U.N. WARPLANES TRYING TO BREAK UP THIS CONCENTRATION.

COMMUNISTS FIRED 100 MORTAR SHELLS AT A U.N. TANK PATROL RUMBLING INTO CHUNCHON, 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. FOR THE FIVE PRECEDING DAYS ALLIED PATROLS HAD CLANKED THROUGH THE CITY UNOPPOSED.

REDS WERE BUILDING UP THEIR FORCES NORTHEAST OF CHUNCHON. AMERICAN OFFICERS EXPRESSED BELIEF REDS MIGHT LAUNCH A DIVERSIONARY ATTACK IN THIS AREA.

A123FX
FAR TO THE NORTH SMOKE POTS SCREENED THE COUNTRYSIDE. TROOPS PRESUMABLY WERE MOVING UNDER THE SMUDGE.

ALLIED PLANES RAIDED A RED CONCENTRATION SPOTTED SOUTHEAST OF YANGGU IN THE EASTERN SECTOR.

LOUDSPEAKERS BLARED ACROSS THE MOUNTAINTOPS URGING THE COMMUNISTS TO HOLD THEIR POSITIONS, TELLING THEM REINFORCEMENTS WERE ON THE WAY. BY ALLIED OFFICERS SAID THERE WAS EVIDENCE OF A GENERAL RED WITHDRAWAL BETWEEN YANGGU AND INJE. IT WAS IN THIS EASTERN SECTOR THAT THE U.N. LINE MOVED UP.

THE EIGHTH ARMY REVISED ITS ESTIMATE OF RED CASUALTIES THURSDAY TO 2,565.

AN AMERICAN F-80 SHOOTING STAR JET WAS SHOT DOWN OVER THE FRONT THURSDAY.

B-29S BOMBED AIR STRIPS AT SARIWON AND SINMAK FRIDAY ON THE RED SUPPLY LINE TO THE WESTERN FRONT FROM PYONGYANG, NORTH KOREAN CAPITAL. IT WAS THE SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE DAY OF RAIDS DESIGNED TO THWART A POSSIBLE RED AIR OFFENSIVE.

NORTH KOREAN AIR FIELDS HAVE BEEN BLASTED BY MORE THAN 1,000 TONS OF BOMBS SINCE THIS AERIAL CAMPAIGN OPENED 20 DAYS AGO.

BIGGEST STRIKE OF THIS CAMPAIGN, BY 312 PLANES WEDNESDAY AT SINUIJU IN NORTHWESTERN KOREA, DESTROYED AT LEAST 15 SINGLE-ENGINE RED PLANES CAUGHT ON THE GROUND, AIR OFFICERS REPORTED.

U.N. BOMBERS BEGAN BLASTING THE NEW CHINESE CONCENTRATION NEAR KAPYONG ON THE CENTRAL FRONT THURSDAY NIGHT AND CONTINUED FRIDAY. ATTACKING PLANES ROARED THROUGH UNUSUALLY HEAVY ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE.

EVERY PLANE WAS FIRED ON. COMMUNISTS EVEN SHOT AT UNARMED OBSERVER PLANES, WHICH THEY USUALLY IGNORED TO CONSERVE AMMUNITION.

A CHINESE PATROL, RECONNOITERING SOUTH OF KAPYONG EARLY IN THE DAY, FOUGHT BRIEFLY WITH A U.N. OUTPOST.

RED STRENGTH IN THE CENTER INDICATED THE CHINESE HAD BEEN ABLE TO SHIFT FROM THE WESTERN FRONT DESPITE ALLIED AIR COVER. ACTION IN THE WEST TENDED TO CONFIRM THIS, AP CORRESPONDENT GEORGE A. MCARTHUR REPORTED.

NORTH KOREANS WERE SLIPPING BETWEEN THE MOUNTAINS NORTH OF SEOUL IN WHAT U.N. OFFICERS CALLED A CONSIDERABLE MOVEMENT. AN EIGHTH ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID THIS FORCE EITHER WAS PART OF 6,000 REDS DRIVEN OUT OF THE EXTREME WESTERN SECTOR THIS WEEK, OR A NEW FORCE FILTERING IN FROM THE NORTH.

AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON REPORTED FROM EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS:

"THE BUILDUPS BY THE REDS NORTH OF SEOUL AND EAST OF KAPYONG CONFIRMED FIELD COMMANDERS' BELIEFS THAT THE REDS' NEXT DRIVE WOULD COME IN TWO MOVES--(1) A HEADON SMASH ON THE CAPITAL AND (2) AND ENCIRCLING MOVE EAST OF THE CITY."

KOREA CABINET CRISIS (PRECEDE PUSAN DAY) (350)
BY ROBERT EUNSON

TAEGU, KOREA, SATURDAY, MAY 12-(AP)-A CABINET CRISIS, BROUGHT ABOUT BY A FINANCIAL SCANDAL AND A MASS EXECUTION, IS THREATENING THE SOUTH KOREAN GOVERNMENT WHILE ALLIED FORCES BATTLE TO DEFEND THE REPUBLIC AGAINST THE REDS.

THERE IS SOME INFORMAL TALK OF IMPEACHING DR. SYNGMAN RHEE, 76-YEAR-OLD FIRST PRESIDENT OF THE U.N.-SPONSORED REPUBLIC, BUT HE APPEARS STRONG ENOUGH TO STAY IN THE SADDLE.

RHEE FIRED THREE CABINET MINISTERS RECENTLY AS AN AFTERMATH OF THE EXECUTION OF 187 VILLAGERS AT KOCHANG. CHARGED WITH COMMUNIST SYMPATHIES, THE VILLAGERS WERE CONVICTED BY A MILITARY COURT AND SHOT FEB. 12.

THE OPPOSITION PARTY, THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATS, CHARGED MEANWHILE THAT $2,000,000 IN DEFENSE DEPARTMENT FUNDS HAD DISAPPEARED. DURING AN ASSEMBLY DEBATE ON THIS MATTER ONE DELEGATE SANK HIS TEETH INTO A COLLEAGUE'S CHEEK.

IT IS THE WORST GOVERNMENT CRISIS SINCE THE OUTBREAK OF THE KOREAN WAR JUNE 25. THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT WAS REMOVED FROM SEOUL, THE BATTERED OLD CAPITAL, FOR THE SECOND TIME LAST DECEMBER, SHORTLY BEFORE THE CHINESE REDS ENTERED THE CITY.

IN THE MOST RECENT DEVELOPMENT, THE REPUBLIC'S 82-YEAR-OLD VICE PRESIDENT--LEE SEE YUNG--TRIED TO QUIT. HE SAID HE HAD NO POWERS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION.

FURTHERMORE, LEE ASSERTED THAT RHREE WAS LOADING THE GOVERNMENT WITH HIS FRIENDS. RHEE RESPONDED THAT HE DIDN'T CARE WHETHER LEE RESIGNED OR NOT. THIS LED TO SHOUTS OF "DICTATOR" AND IMPEACHMENT" IN THE CORRIDORS OF THE NATION ASSEMBLY.

THUS FAR, NO ONE HAS CALLED RHEE A "DICTATOR" ON THE FLOOR OF THE ASSEMBLY, HOWEVER. UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, THE PRESIDENT CAN DISSOLVE THE LAW-MAKING BODY AND CALLY FOR AN ELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS.

THE ASSEMBLY VOTED OVERWHELMINGLY--115 TO 1--TO REJECT VICE PRESIDENT LEE'S RESIGNATION.

REPORTS OF THE MASS EXECUTION AT KOCHANG HAD FILTERED DOWN FROM SOUTH-CENTRAL KOREA IN MARCH, BUT THE GOVERNMENT REFUSED TO CONFIRM THEM UNTIL LAST MONTH.

THEN THE HOME, DEFENSE AND JUSTICE MINISTERS, RESIGNED. RHEE SAID HE HAD ASKED THEM TO DO SO. A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID THE THREE CABINET MEMBERS WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INVESTIGATION OF THE EXECUTION.

AMONG THE NEW APPOINTEES, THE FORMER MAYOR OF SEOUL, LEE KEE POONG, WAS NAMED MINISTER OF DEFENSE.

IN THE FINANCIAL SCANDAL, THE OPPOSITION PARTY CHARGES THAT $2,000,000 EARMARKED FOR TRAINING ROK TROOPS VANISHED THROUGH FAKED PAYROLLS AND PHONY EXPENSE ACCOUNTS.

SEOUL, KOREA, MAY 11-(AP)-OPPOSITION LEGISLATORS TALKED INFORMALLY TODAY ABOUT IMPEACHING PRESIDENT SYNGMAN RHEE OF KOREA.

THERE WAS NO OPEN MOVE AND NO ONE WOULD BE QUOTED PUBLICLY.

IMPEACHMENT TALK AROSE AMONG SOME MEMBERS OF THE OPPOSITION NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY AFTER VICE PRESIDENT LEE SEE YUNG, 82, SAID RHEE DIDN'T HAVE A SINGLE "RIGHT MAN IN THE RIGHT PLACE" IN HIS CABINET.

LEE HAD TRIED TO RESIGN. HE SAID HIS JOB HAD NO REAL AUTHORITY. BUT THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY REFUSED TO LET HIM QUIT, VOTING 115-1 TO KEEP HIM.

RHEE DECLINED AN ASSEMBLY INVITATION TO JOIN THE DISCUSSION. HIS SUPPORTERS SAID HE WASN'T CONCERNED.

THESE SAME SOURCES SAID THE PRESIDENT WOULD ACT IF TALK OF IMPEACHMENT MATERIALIZED INTO ACTION. THEY SAID IN THAT CASE RHEE PROBABLY WOULD USE HIS CONSTITUTIONAL POWER TO DISSOLVE THE ASSEMBLY AND CALL A NEW ELECTION.

precede wellington day

A declaration by canberra, australia, may 11--(ap)--[illegible] the Washington (D.C.) Post that australia and new zealand are laggards in the korean war effort aroused indignation in the capitals of the two nations today. The charge was made thursday in a post editorial.

a high australian govt. spokesman said the post's comments demanding the two south pacific nations be nudged into greater contribution in korea were based on false impressions.

prime minister robert g. menzies told at a news conference that his newly appointed cabinet held its first meeting today to discuss "problems of forces in korea." but he would NOT reveal the nature of the discussions nor say whether the post editorial had been mentioned.

in wellington, new zealand's prime minister sidney g. holland also voiced deep resentment at the editorial and declared his country was one of the first to answer the call for forces in korea.

the post editorial listed australia and new zealand with south africa, sweden, mexico, brazil and india as "countries that with justice could be called laggard." it said australia and new zealand "in particular are disappointments."

"soon they will be joined by the united states in a pacific pact," said the editorial, adding, "for that reason alone, one would have thought they would put their best foot forward in korea. a nudge in the antipodean (the australia-new zealand area) direction is, we think, called for."

the australian government source said the post's impression was created by considering only the troops in the fighting line, ingoring the fact that occupation forces in japan provided a base for the forces in the field. he said the criticism also ignored australia's contributions of aircraft and warships which have been in korea since the beginning of hostilities.

30.24- 22847

in wellington, holland said new zealand has, since the first troops went to korea, ~~xxxx~~ "been asked to augment that strength and we have complied with every request made to us."

"our troops in korea rendered conspicuous service," holland said. "we had praise from the highest military authorities for our outstanding contribution in korea."

both countries whose population total less than 10,000,000 started recruiting volunteers for korea shortly after the war broke out. australia recruited some 6,000 men and sent ~~x~~ an infantry battalion to the front, along with one air force squadron and three warships.

new zealand sent an artillery regiment and two ~~xxxxx~~ warships to ~~xxxxxxxxxx~~ korea.

wellington, new zealand, may 11-(ap)-deep resentment was aroused here today by an editorial in the washington (d.c.) post yesterday describing australia and new zealand as laggards in their contributions to the korean fighting.

prime minister ~~xxxxxxxxxx~~ sidney g. holland said today that when he was in washington early this year everyone there expressed the highest praise for what new zealand is doing.

"new zealand," holland declared, "was one of the first, if not the first, to respond to the united nations call for forces in korea. we have since then been asked to augment that strength and we ~~xx~~ have complied with every request made to us.

"our troops in korea rendered conspicuous service," he said. "we had praise from the highest military authorities for outstanding contribution in korea."

NIGHT LEAD FORMOSA
BY TOM OCHILTREE
LONDON, MAY 11-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY HERBERT MORRISON TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY A KOREAN SETTLEMENT MUST PRECEDE ANY DECISION ON FORMOSA'S FUTURE.
HE ALSO SUGGESTED THAT A FINAL DECISION ON THE ISLAND NEED NOT HOLD UP THE CONCLUSION OF AN EARLY PEACE TREATY WITH JAPAN.
AS FAR AS BRITAIN IS CONCERNED, MORRISON EXPLAINED, HALTING THE FIGHTING IN KOREA IS THE MOST URGENT PROBLEM IN THE ORIENT.
"IT WOULD BE PREMATURE TO DISCUSS THE FUTURE OF FORMOSA WHILE OPERATIONS CONTINUE IN KOREA," HE SAID.
MORRISON'S CAREFULLY-WORDED STATEMENT CARRIED THESE IMPLICATIONS:
1--DESPITE DIFFERENCES IN BRITISH AND AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD COMMUNIST CHINA, BRITAIN WANTS TO AVOID STIRRING UP ANY ARGUMENT WITH WASHINGTON OVER FORMOSA.
2--COMMUNIST CHINA HAMPERS HER OWN CLAIMS ON FORMOSA BY HAVING HER SOLDIERS OPPOSE UNITED NATIONS FORCES IN KOREA.
FORMOSA IS THE ISLAND STRONGHOLD OF GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S CHINESE NATIONALISTS. THE GENERALISSIMO'S GOVERNMENT IS RECOGNIZED BY THE UNITED STATES. BRITAIN, ON THE OTHER HAND, RECOGNIZES THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.
BEFORE WORLD WAR II, FORMOSA WAS A JAPANESE POSSESSION. BOTH THE CHINESE NATIONALISTS AND THE COMMUNISTS AGREE FORMOSA SHOULD GO TO CHINA. THE QUESTION IS, WHICH CHINA.
MAY 12 1951
MORRISON RECALLED THAT THE THREE-POWER CAIRO CONFERENCE IN 1943 AGREED THAT FORMOSA SHOULD BE CHINESE. THAT CONFERENCE ALSO PROCLAIMED THAT KOREA "SHOULD BECOME FREE AND INDEPENDENT."
THE FOREIGN SECRETARY SAID THAT, UNTIL COMMUNIST CHINA SHOWS BY HER ACTIONS THAT SHE INTENDS TO FULFILL THE CAIRO DECLARATION CONCERNING KOREA, IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO SOLVE THE FORMOSA PROBLEM.
MORRISON POINTED OUT THAT PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE MADE THIS EXPLANATION OF POLICY IN THE HOUSE LAST DEC. 14 AND WHAT ATTLEE SAID THEN STILL STANDS.
MORRISON SAID BRITAIN AIMS TO SECURE AN EARLY PEACE TREATY WITH JAPAN "WITHOUT ALLOWING THE DIFFICULT ISSUE OF FORMOSA TO DELAY THESE NEGOTIATIONS AND WITHOUT ATTEMPTING, IN THE TREATY, TO FIND A FINAL SOLUTION TO AN ISSUE WHICH MUST BE GIVEN VERY CAREFUL CONSIDERATION IN THE GENERAL CONTEXT OF THE FAR EASTERN SITUATION."
PRESUMABLY SUCH A TREATY WOULD CONTAIN ONLY JAPAN'S RENUNCIATION TO CLAIMS TO FORMOSA WITHOUT ELABORATING ON THE ISLAND'S POLITICAL FUTURE.

LONDON, MAY 11-(AP)-BRITAIN ASSERTED TODAY THAT THE PEOPLE OF FORMOSA SHOULD BE GIVEN A SAY IN DECIDING THE FUTURE OF THE ISLAND.
FOREIGN SECRETARY HERBERT MORRISON TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS "IT IS CLEARLY DESIRABLE THAT THE WISHES OF THE INHABITANTS OF FORMOSA SHOULD BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT."
MORRISON ALSO IN EFFECT WARNED COMMUNIST CHINA THAT BRITAIN FEELS THE KOREAN CONFLICT MUST END BEFORE ANY DECISION IS MADE ON FORMOSA.
IN HIS STATEMENT, THE FOREIGN SECRETARY REITERATED BRITAIN'S POLICY TOWARD FORMOSA, A POLICY WHICH DIFFERS FROM THAT OF THE UNITED STATES.
THE ISLAND IS NOW UNDER CONTROL OF NATIONALIST CHINA'S GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK, WHOSE GOVERNMENT IS RECOGNIZED BY THE U.S. THE ISLAND ALSO IS CLAIMED BY RED CHINA, WHOSE GOVERNMENT IS RECOGNIZED BY BRITAIN.
BEFORE WORLD WAR II, FORMOSA WAS A JAPANESE POSSESSION.
MORRISON RECALLED THAT AT THE CAIRO CONFERENCE IN 1943, "THE UNITED STATES, CHINA AND OURSELVES AGREED THAT FORMOSA SHOULD, AFTER THE WAR, BE RETURNED TO CHINA."
"THE CAIRO DECLARATION ALSO PROCLAIMED THAT KOREA, IN DUE COURSE, SHOULD BECOME FREE AND INDEPENDENT AND EXPRESSED ACCEPTANCE OF TWO PRINCIPLES -- NONAGGRESSION AND NO TERRITORIAL AMBITIONS," MORRISON SAID.
HE NOTED THAT PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS LAST DEC. 14 THAT THE PROBLEM OF FORMOSA COULD NOT BE SETTLED "UNTIL CHINA SHOWS BY HER ACTIONS THAT SHE IS NOT OBSTRUCTING FULFILLMENT OF THE CAIRO DECLARATION IN RESPECT OF KOREA."
MORRISON SAID MANY NATIONS NOW WERE CONCERNED IN FORMOSA'S FUTURE, AND ADDED:
"IT IS NOT, HOWEVER, THE MOST URGENT OF THE PROBLEMS FACING US IN THE FAR EAST.
"THE MOST IMPORTANT IS KOREA AND IN OUR VIEW IT WOULD BE PREMATURE TO DISCUSS THE FUTURE OF FORMOSA WHILE OPERATIONS CONTINUE IN KOREA.
"THE QUESTION OF FORMOSA WILL, HOWEVER, COME UP IN THE CONTEXT OF THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY AND OUR AIM IS TO SECURE AN EARLY PEACE TREATY WITHOUT ALLOWING THE DIFFICULT ISSUE OF FORMOSA TO DELAY THESE NEGOTIATIONS AND WITHOUT ATTEMPTING, IN THE TREATY, TO FIND A FINAL SOLUTION TO AN ISSUE WHICH MAY BE GIVEN VERY CAREFUL CONSIDERATION IN THE GENERAL CONTEXT OF THE FAR EASTERN SITUATION."

THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN HAVE BEEN SEEKING EARLY AGREEMENT ON A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY.
SUCH A TREATY COULD PRESUMABLY CONTAIN ONLY JAPAN'S RENUNCIATION TO CLAIMS TO FORMOSA AND LEAVE TO A FUTURE SETTLEMENT THE ISLAND'S POLITICAL FUTURE.
MORRISON SAID BRITAIN BELIEVES FORMOSA'S FUTURE "CAN USEFULLY BE CONSIDERED BY THE UNITED NATIONS AT THE APPROPRIATE TIME."
MORRISON WAS ASKED IF HIS STATEMENT MEANT THAT BRITAIN HAS FAILED TO AGREE WITH THE UNITED STATES ON THE QUESTION.
"I THINK THE HOUSE IS FULLY FAMILIAR WITH THE VIEWS OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AND OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT WHICH HAS BEEN PREVIOUSLY EXPRESSED," REPLIED MORRISON.
"I DON'T THINK THERE IS NEED FOR ANYONE TO APPREHEND ACUTE FRICTION AT THIS STAGE."

LONDON, MAY 11-(AP)-THE ECONOMIST SAID TODAY BRITAIN IS READY TO USE FORCE -- IF NECESSARY -- TO HOLD ON TO ITS RICH OIL CONCESSION IN IRAN.
THE WEEKLY INDEPENDENT JOURNAL OF OPINION SAID "THE ISSUES AT STAKE FOR BRITAIN, THE ATLANTIC POWERS AND, INCIDENTALLY, PERSIA (IRAN) ARE SO GREAT THAT THE FOREIGN SECRETARY HAS --WITH CABINET APPROVAL-- DRAFTED A REPLY TO THE LATEST PERSIAN NOTE HINTING THAT IF THE TEHRAN GOVERNMENT ATTEMPTS TO TAKE OVER THE INSTALLATIONS ON THE PETROLEUM FIELDS OR THE REFINERY AT ABADAN, THEN THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL RESIST SUCH ACTION BY FORCE."
A BRITISH NOTE TO IRAN ON THE MIDDLE EAST COUNTRY'S NATIONALIZATION OF THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY IS EXPECTED TO BE SENT TO TEHRAN IN THE NEXT DAY OR TWO.

LONDON, MAY 11-(AP)-BRITAIN MAY ASK THE UNITED STATES TO BACK HER NEXT MOVE TO PREVENT NATIONALIZATION OF GIANT BRITISH OIL HOLDINGS IN IRAN.
A WEEKLY JOURNAL OF OPINION, THE ECONOMIST, SAID TODAY THE BRITISH CABINET IS READY TO TELL IRAN THAT BRITAIN WILL USE TROOPS, IF NECESSARY, TO HOLD THE OIL FIELDS AND THE ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY REFINERY IN SOUTHERN IRAN.
A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID A NOTE TO IRAN HAS BEEN DRAFTED, BUT THAT IT HAS NOT YET BEEN FINALLY APPROVED. HE HINTED AMERICAN SUPPORT WILL BE SOUGHT BEFORE THE NOTE IS SENT TO TEHRAN.
THE SPOKESMAN DECLINED TO SPECULATE ON THE CONTENTS OF THE NOTE, DECLARING:
"I CANNOT AFFIRM OR DENY ANY REPORTS ABOUT WHAT IT WILL SAY."
AMERICAN OFFICIALS HERE SAID THEY HAD NOT SEEN A DRAFT OF THE NOTE. WHEN IRAN FIRST THREATENED NATIONALIZATION OF THE ANGLO-IRANIAN COMPANY, BRITISH OFFICIALS FLEW TO WASHINGTON FOR TALKS WITH STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS.
THE ECONOMIST, USUALLY WELL-INFORMED ON FINANCIAL AND TRADE MATTERS, SAID BRITAIN "STILL BELIEVES FORCE WILL NOT BE NECESSARY, BUT IT HAS RIGHTLY DECIDED THAT UNLESS SOME FIRM ATTEMPT BE MADE TO CONTROL THE IRRESPONSIBLE NATIONALISTS NOW IN POWER IN TEHRAN THEY WILL NOT ONLY DESTROY THEIR OWN COUNTRY BUT INFLAME THE WHOLE OF THE ARAB MIDDLE EAST."

MACARTHUR, IN TESTIFYING BEFORE THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES IN WASHINGTON LAST WEEK, READ A LIST OF STRATEGIC MATERIALS BEING SHIPPED TO RED CHINA OUT OF HONG KONG FROM A REPORT WHICH HE SAID WAS RECEIVED FROM THE AMERICAN CONSUL GENERAL IN HONG KONG.
IN COMMONS, SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, SAID THE GENERAL APPARENTLY HAD BEEN QUOTING FROM A SECRET REPORT FURNISHED BY THE BRITISH IN HONG KONG TO U.S. AUTHORITIES EVERY TWO WEEKS "AS PART OF THE SYSTEM OF KEEPING A CAREFUL CHECK ON IMPORTS TO CHINA."
"BUT GENERAL MACARTHUR," SIR HARTLEY SAID, "IF CORRECTLY REPORTED, SEEMED NOT TO HAVE APPRECIATED FULLY THE NATURE OF THE INFORMATION.
"HE HAD REFERRED TO PETROLEUM, DIESEL OIL, FUEL OILS, GASOLINE, KEROSENE AND LUBRICANTS AS BEING IN THE LIST, A RECITAL WHICH NATURALLY CAUSED GREAT ANXIETY, BUT HE DID NOT APPEAR TO HAVE MENTIONED THAT THE LIST SHOWED NIL QUANTITIES WERE EXPORTED."

UNTIL TODAY, THE RATE ON SHIPPING INSURANCE AGAINST "WAR, STRIKES, RIOTS AND CIVIL COMMOTION" BETWEEN CANTON AND MANCHURIA--INCLUDING THE RUSSIAN PORTS OF PORT ARTHUR AND DAIREN--WAS ONE HALF OF ONE PER CENT. THE INCREASE PUTS IT UP TO FIVE PER CENT.

PARIS, MAY 11-(AP)-COMMUNIST STRONG-ARM MEN PUNCHED FRENCH "TITOIST" LEADER DARIUS LE CORRE TODAY AND NEARLY WRECKED HIS HEADQUARTERS.
LE CORRE ESCAPED BY JUMPING INTO AN ALREADY OCCUPIED TAXI, AND THE COMMUNISTS JAMMED RUSH-HOUR PARIS TRAFFIC IN VAIN PURSUIT.
ALL THIS BROKE UP A NEWS CONFERENCE BY LE CORRE ATTENDED BY A DOZEN REPORTERS, INCLUDING THIS ONE.
THE CONFERENCE BEGAN CALMLY WITH A LONG SPEECH BY LE CORRE ABOUT WHY HE OPPOSED BOTH "STALINISTS" AND "AMERICAN TRUSTS: HE HAD BEEN TALKING NEARLY HALF AN HOUR WHEN A YOUNG MAN IN A BLUE CORDUROY JACKET CAME IN, WALKED OVER TO LE CORRE'S DESK AND PUNCHED HIM IN THE EYE. HE TURNED AND RUSHED OUT BEFORE ANYONE COULD STOP HIM.
SAID LE CORRE TO THE REPORTERS, WITH A SMILE:
"IF THOSE ARE HIS MOST STRIKING ARGUMENTS....."
LE CORRE'S EYE AND TEMPLE REDDENED BUT HE WENT ON WITH HIS TALK.
LESS THAN 10 MINUTES LATER ABOUT 15 OTHER YOUNG MEN, WITH TWO GIRLS, PUSHED THEIR WAY INTO THE LITTLE OFFICE THAT SERVES AS FRENCH TITOIST HEADQUARTERS.
"ARE YOU LE CORRE?" ASKED ONE. "YOU'RE A LOUSE (SALAUD)!"
LE CORRE, A 47-YEAR-OLD EX-COMMUNIST DEPUTY AND WAR VETERAN, TRIED TO REPLY. THE COMMUNISTS WOULD NOT LET HIM.
"WE DON'T DISCUSS WITH PEOPLE WHO HAVE BEEN PUT OUT OF THE PARTY, WE SHUT THEM UP," SHOUTED A BLONDE GIRL OF ABOUT 20.

ONE BOY TORE DOWN A COLORED DRAWING OF LENIN. ANOTHER STRIPPED OTHER PICTURES FROM THE WALL. A THIRD SCATTERED TITOIST LEAFLETS AROUND THE CORRIDOR. LE CORRE PUT ON HIS HAT AND STARTED TO WALK OUT.
"WE'LL GO AWAYS WITH YOU," ONE OF THE COMMUNISTS CRIED OUT.
THEY FOLLOWED HIM DOWNSTAIRS AND ACROSS THE BUSY RUE LAFAYETTE TO A CAFE. SEVERAL STARTED TO HIT HIM. LE CORRE HIT BACK. TWO SIDEWALK TABLES WERE OVERTURNED BEFORE LE CORRE MADE HIS WAY TO THE CAB.
LE CORRE HAD CALLED THE CONFERENCE TO EXPLAIN HIS PLANS FOR THE COMING FRENCH ELECTIONS. HE HAS SENT AN OPEN LETTER TO COMMUNIST CANDIDATES ASKING THEM IF THEY WANT THE COUNTRY "RULED BY FREE AND INDEPENDENT FRENCHMEN, OR BY STALIN."
HE SAID HIS OWN CANDIDATES -- HE DIDN'T SAY HOW MANY -- WOULD RUN IN DISTRICTS WHERE THE REGULAR COMMUNISTS FAIL TO ANSWER SATISFACTORILY. "TITOIST" COMMUNISTS ARE THOSE WHO OPPOSE DICTATION FROM MOSCOW AND FAVOR NATIONAL COMMUNISM, AS DOES PREMIER MARSHALL TITO IN YUGOSLAVIA.

(ADVANCE FOR USE AT 7:01 P.M., (CQ) EASTERN STANDARD TIME, TONIGHT, FRIDAY, MAY 11)
BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
(ADVANCE)..GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, SATURDAY, MAY 12-(AP)-THE RESULTS OF THE SEVEN-MONTHS WORLD TARIFF CONFERENCE AT TORQUAY, ENGLAND, WERE PUBLISHED HERE TODAY IN A 1,200-PAGE VOLUME LISTING THE TARIFF CONCESSIONS GRANTED BY 34 NATIONS.
THE CONFERENCE WAS THE THIRD OF A SERIES OF MULTILATERAL TARIFF NEGOTIATIONS WHICH HAVE TAKEN PLACE DURING THE PAST THREE YEARS WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE GENERAL AGREEMENT ON TARIFFS AND TRADE CONCLUDED ORIGINALLY AT GENEVA IN 1947 IN A MAJOR EFFORT TO LOWER THE WORLD'S TRADE BARRIERS.
AUSTRIA, WESTERN GERMANY, KOREA, PERU, THE PHILIPPINES AND TURKEY JOINED THE 25 ORIGINAL MEMBERS OF THE AGREEMENT DURING THE TORQUAY CONFERENCE, AND MADE IMPORTANT TARIFF CONCESSIONS TO THE ORIGINAL MEMBERS IN RETURN FOR THE BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP.
UNDER THE MOST-FAVORED-NATION PRINCIPLE EMBODIED IN THE AGREEMENT, ANY TARIFF CONCESSIONS GRANTED BY ONE MEMBER OF THE AGREEMENT TO ANOTHER AUTOMATICALLY BECOMES APPLICABLE TO ALL THE OTHER MEMBERS.
THE NEW MEMBERS HAD TO GRANT SUBSTANTIAL CONCESSIONS TO BALANCE THE TARIFF CONCESSIONS PREVIOUSLY MADE BY THE ORIGINAL MEMBERS AMONG THEMSELVES.

30.24- 22851

TARIFF REDUCTIONS OR GUARANTEED BINDINGS WERE NEGOTIATED AT TORQUAY ON MORE THAN 8,000 ITEMS. TOGETHER WITH THE TARIFF CONCESSIONS NEGOTIATED AT THE PREVIOUS GATT CONFERENCES IN GENEVA AND ANNECY, THE DUTIES ON MORE THAN 80 PERCENT OF THE WORLD'S TOTAL IMPORTS AND EXPORTS ARE NOW FROZEN UNDER THE AGREEMENOLUNTIL JANUARY 1, 1954.

AFTER THAT DATE, ANY MEMBER NATION MAY APPLY FOR RE-NEGOTIATION OF ANY CONCESSION, ON THE UNDERSTANDING THAT IF THE TARIFF ON ANY ITEM OF TRADE IS INCREASED, THE INCREASE WILL BE COMPENSATED BY A TARIFF REDUCTION ON ANOTHER ITEM.

WITH THE ADDITION OF GERMANY, NEARLY EVERY MAJOR TRADING NATION IN THE WORLD NOW IS A MEMBER OF THE AGREEMENT. OUTSTANDING EXCEPTIONS INCLUDE ARGENTINA, MEXICO, CHINA AND THE SOVIET UNION.

THE ONLY SOVIET-BLOC MEMBER IS CZECHOSLOVAKIA, WHICH AUTOMATICALLY RECEIVES THE BENEFIT OF ALL THE CONCESSIONS NEGOTIATED AT TORQUAY.

THE 31 NATIONS PARTICIPATING IN THE TORQUAY CONFERENCE CONCLUDED 147 SEPARATE BILATERAL TARIFF AGREEMENTS, ALL OF WHICH WERE AUTOMATICALLY INCORPORATED IN THE MULTILATERAL AGREEMENT.

THE LARGEST NUMBER OF INDIVIDUAL TARIFF CONCESSIONS WAS GRANTED BY FRANCE, WITH A LIST OF 1,390 ITEMS. GERMANY LOWERED OR FROZE TARIFFS ON 1,290 ITEMS, ITALY ON 1,150, THE UNITED STATES ON 760 AND THE UNITED KINGDOM ON 200.

D133

ERIC WYNDHAM-WHITE, EXECUTIVE SECRETARY OF THE GATT ORGANIZATION, SAID THE TORQUAY CONFERENCE RESULTED IN A "SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCE" IN LOWERING TRADE BARRIERS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND "CONSOLIDATED THE PROGRESS MADE AT GENEVA AND ANNECY."

HE SAID THAT THE ADHESION OF WESTERN GERMANY MIGHT BE CONSIDERED AS THE MOST IMPORTANT ACHIEVEMENT OF THE TORQUAY CONFERENCE. IN THE ABSENCE OF GERMANY, MANY ITEMS OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE OF PRIMARY INTEREST TO GERMANY'S EXPORT MARKET HAD NOT BEEN COVERED BY THE AGREEMENT. MOST OF THE ORIGINAL GATT MEMBERS HAD BEEN UNWILLING TO NEGOTIATE TARIFF CONCESSIONS ON PRODUCTS OF WHICH GERMANY WAS THE MAIN SUPPLIER, PRINCIPALLY IN THE CHEMICAL FIELD, UNTIL GERMANY HERSELF COULD TAKE PART IN THE NEGOTIATIONS.

GERMANY'S ACCESSION TO THE AGREEMENT, WYNDHAM-WHITE DECLARED, THUS BROUGHT ALMOST THE ENTIRE WORLD TRADE OF CHEMICAL PRODUCTS WITHIN THE SCOPE OF THE AGREEMENT.

"IT WOULD HAVE BEEN MOST UNSATISFACTORY IF GERMANY HAD NOT BECOME A MEMBER," HE ADDED.

WYNDHAM-WHITE SAID MOST TARIFF REDUCTIONS ON CHEMICAL PRODUCTS WERE NEGOTIATED BETWEEN GERMANY AND THE UNITED STATES. THE UNITED STATES LIST OF CONCESSIONS INCLUDED A LARGE PROPORTION OF THE CONCESSIONS REQUESTED BY GERMANY, HE SAID, "ALTHOUGH NOT AS MANY AS GERMANY HAD HOPED."

WYNDHAM-WHITE DESCRIBED THE BREAK-DOWN OF TARIFF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE UNITED KINGDOM AS "ONE SERIOUS FAILURE" OF THE TORQUAY CONFERENCE.

HE SAID: "THE UNITED STATES HOPED THAT THE UNITED KINGDOM WOULD AGREE TO SUBSTANTIAL CUTS IN IMPERIAL PREFERENCES IN RETURN FOR CONCESSIONS FROM THE UNITED STATES WHICH WOULD HAVE HELPED BRITISH DOLLAR EARNINGS AND ESTABLISHED A MORE PERMANENT BALANCE OF TRADE BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

"THIS WOULD HAVE REQUIRED A FUNDAMENTAL CHANGE OF BRITISH TARIFF POLICY WHICH THE BRITISH DELEGATION WAS NOT PREPARED TO CONTEMPLATE AT THIS TIME IN RETURN FOR THE CONCESSIONS OFFERED BY THE UNITED STATES."

THE LIST OF UNITED STATES CONCESSIONS, NEVERTHELESS, INCLUDED MANY ITEMS NEGOTIATED WITH OTHER COUNTRIES WHICH WOULD BENEFIT THE BRITISH EXPORT TRADE. IN ADDITION TO THE EXTENSIVE LIST OF CHEMICAL PRODUCTS NEGOTIATED WITH GERMANY, THE UNITED STATES TARIFF CONCESSIONS INCLUDED PERFUMES, TILES AND BRICKS, CROCKERY AND KITCHENWARE, PORCELAIN, SCIENTIFIC AND ELECTRICAL APPARATUS, FIELD GLASSES, MONUMENTAL STONE, X-RAY INSTRUMENTS, CLOCKS, SWORDS, RIFLES AND REVOLVERS, SEWING MACHINES, CIGARS, WINE, FISH, FRUITS AND "HORSES UNLESS IMPORTED FOR IMMEDIATE SLAUGHTER."

THE BRITISH CONCESSIONS TO THE IMPERIAL PREFERENCE AREA INCLUDED MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, CLOCKS AND PHONOGRAPH RECORDS. THE BRITISH CONCESSION TO ALL THE MEMBERS OF THE AGREEMENT INCLUDED THE SAME ITEMS BUT WITH A HIGHER RATE OF DUTY.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, MAY 11-(AP)-NEWSMEN OF VARIOUS EASTERN AND WESTERN COUNTRIES, ADDRESSING THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF JOURNALISTS, CRITICIZED THE ACTIVITIES OF THEIR "REACTIONARY WESTERN COLLEAGUES" TODAY.

"THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH PRESS PLAYED THE DISGUSTING ROLE OF BLOODHOUNDS" IN THE KOREAN WAR, SOVIET DELEGATE DAVID ZASLAVSKY, EDITORIAL WRITER FOR THE MOSCOW COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER PRAVDA, SAID. HE CALLED COLUMNISTS DREW PEARSON, DAVID LAWRENCE AND [redacted] JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP BY NAME ASSERTING THAT THEIR WRITING REPRESENTS "A GREAT DANGER." PEARSON AND LAWRENCE ALREADY HAD BEEN BRANDED AS "WARMONGERS" BY THE IOJ IN 1948.

THE ATTACK WAS EXTENDED TO "THE BIG INTERNATIONAL NEWS AGENCIES OWNED BY CAPITALISTS" BY BELGIAN DELEGATE LUC SOMMERHAUSEN. THESE NEWS AGENCIES "PLAY A GREAT ROLE IN WARMONGERING AND SPREADING WAR HYSTERIA," HE SAID, AND DEMANDED THAT "THE LYING STATEMENTS OF THESE NEWS AGENCIES SHOULD BE UNMASKED" TO A GREATER EXTENT IN THE FUTURE.

A TELEGRAM WRITTEN BY "DEMOCRATIC NEWSMEN OF SAN FRANCISCO" WAS READ TO THE DELEGATES IN WHICH THEY COMPLAINED THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAD REFUSED TO GRANT THEM PASSPORTS. Prague, Czechoslovakia, May 11--(AP)--Two former Bulgarian cabinet ministers have been sentenced to long prison terms by the highest Bulgarian court on charges of having been members of the "plotting band of Traicho Kostov," the newspaper Lidova Democracie said tonight in a dispatch from Sofia.

(Kostov, former Communist deputy premier of Bulgaria, was hanged Dec. 16, 1949, for treason, spying and sabotage. During his trial in Sofia he defied his Communist accusers, denying any major guilt. The cases against those mentioned in the Prague paper have been under preparation for about a year and a half.)

The sentences were passed at the end of April, the paper said. Petko Kunin, former Bulgarian finance minister, was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment and Manol Sekelarov, former minister of road construction, to 10 years.

In another trial before a regional tribunal in Sofia, Ivan Maslarov, once a member of the Central Committee of the Bulgarian Communist Party, was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Peter Semerdzhiev, former a/reserve member of the Central Committee and former regional committee secretary for the Communists in Sliven, was sentenced to 12 years. Both were accused of having been members of Kostov's "band" and with having cooperated with Fascist police.

Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany, May 11--(AP)--Because her U.S. Air Force son wrote the best "letter to mom," Mrs. Lillie V. Sargent, 39, and 50 of Commerce, Okla, is being treated to a Mother's Day reunion with him.

Shy, red-haired Sgt. Clyde F. Davis, 20, welcomed his mother with a big kiss as she arrived at the U.S. Airbase here today in a plane piloted personally by Col. Robert L. Scott, of Macon, Ga., base commander. Scott flew to Frankfurt to pick up Mrs. Sargent when she missed her commercial plane connection to Munich after a flight from the United States.

On Mother's Day Sunday Mrs. Sargent will be adopted as "wing mother" by the 36th U.S. Fighter Bomber Wing stationed here. Then for the first time she will read the letter with which her son won the contest and a free trip for his mother to Europe.

"I am not a good writer, so I can't say all that I mean," Davis' letter said. "I have read all the Mother's Day cards at the PX (post exchange), but none of them say exactly what I want.

"You see it's very difficult for a son to find an appropriate word for a mother like you.

"All I can say is that I was the most fortunate of men when God gave me to you for a son."

MAY 12 1951

The Officers' Wives Club chose this letter for the grand prize.

Three other airmen won free Mother's Day telephone calls home. During her two weeks' stay, Mrs. Sargent will tour the Bavarian Alps. Then, with her son, she will visit Rome, hoping for an audience with Pope Pius XII.

NIGHT LEAD STRATEGIC GOODS
FRANKFURT, GERMANY, MAY 11-(AP)-CRACKING DOWN ON GERMAN SHIPMENTS OF STRATEGIC GOODS TO COMMUNIST COUNTRIES, AMERICAN AND GERMAN AUTHORITIES
TODAY TURNED BACK 4,000 TONS OF STEEL RAILS HEADED FOR HUNGARY.
THE ACTION WAS ANNOUNCED ONLY A FEW HOURS AFTER UNITED STATES
SENATORS HAD DEMANDED THAT U.S. HIGH COMMISSIONER JOHN J.MCCLOY
EXPLAIN WHY HE HAD NOT STOPPED "RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES FROM FREE-LY AND OPENLY DRAINING WAR POTENTIAL MATERIALS FROM WEST GERMANY."
THE RAILS--325 CARLOADS--HAD BEEN LEGALLY LICENSED FOR EXPORT BY GERMAN AUTHORITIES. HOWEVER, THEY WERE HALTED "BECAUSE THE SHIPMENT WAS DEEMED INADVISABLE," A U.S. HIGH COMMISSION ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

THEY WILL BE RETURNED TO THE WEST GERMAN SHIPPER.
HALTING THE SHIPMENT IS BELIEVED HERE TO SIGNAL THE OPENING OF AN INTENSIFIED DRIVE TO PLUG THE GERMAN BORDER LEAKS THROUGH WHICH AN ESTIMATED $1,000,000,000 (B) WORTH OF STRATEGIC GOODS HAVE SLIPPED BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN SINCE WORLD WAR II.
AMERICAN OFFICIALS SAID THAT LAX FRONTIER CONTROLS AND CARELESS EXPORT LICENSING BY THE GERMANS ARE PRIMARILY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SITUATION. THEY ADDED THAT STEPS ARE BEING TAKEN TO OVERCOME BOTH THESE WEAKNESSES. U.S. MILITARY POLICE CUSTOMS UNITS HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO WEST GERMANY'S EASTERN FRONTIER, AND AMERICAN AND GERMAN AUTHORITIES ARE COLLABORATING IN DRAWING UP NEW CONTROLS FOR EXPORT LICENSING.
COMMENTING ON THE DEMAND BY SENATE INVESTIGATORS FOR HIS EXPLANATION OF PREVIOUS LEAKS, MCCLOY SAID HE WOULD BE GLAD TO TESTIFY DURING HIS OFFICIAL VISIT TO WASHINGTON IN JUNE.

--DASH--

IN WASHINGTON, THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID FRIDAY THAT "IN NO CASE" HAS IT INTERVENED WITH AMERICAN OR FOREIGN OFFICIALS ABROAD TO ENCOURAGE SHIPMENTS OF STRATEGIC MATERIALS TO COMMUNIST COUNTRIES.
A DEPARTMENT STATEMENT ACKNOWLEDGED THAT MATERIALS OF RELATIVELY MINOR IMPORTANCE SOMETIMES WERE PERMITTED TO MOVE TO IRON CURTAIN COUNTRIES.
BUT, IT EMPHASIZED, THIS WAS PERMITTED ONLY WHEN WESTERN NATIONS RECEIVED IMPORTANT MATERIALS IN RETURN FROM THE COMMUNIST NATIONS.
AN OFFICIAL SAID, FOR EXAMPLE, HUNGARY WAS SHIPPING IMPORTANT TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT TO WESTERN GERMANY IN EXCHANGE FOR STEEL RAILS.
THE DEPARTMENT ISSUED THE STATEMENT COMMENTING ON DISTATCTLSNH

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, MAY 11-(AP)-U.S. HIGH COMMISSIONER JOHN J.MCCLOY SAID TODAY HE WOULD BE GLAD TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE AMERICAN SENATE EXPORT CONTROLS COMMITTEE ON WEST GERMANY'S TRADE WITH THE EAST.
MCCLOY'S STATEMENT, RELEASED BY THE U.S. HIGH COMMISSION'S PRESS OFFICE, CAME IN REPLY TO AN INVITATION CABLED HIM BY SEN. O'CONOR (D-MD), CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE.
"MR.MCCLOY REPLIED, STATING THAT WHEN HE IS IN WASHINGTON IN JUNE, HE WOULD BE GLAD TO APPEAR BEFORE THE COMMITTEE," THE STATEMENT SAID.
O'CONOR SAID IN A WASHINGTON STATEMENT HE INVITED MCCLOY TO EXPLAIN WHY U.S. OFFICIALS HAVE NOT STOPPED "RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES FROM FREELY AND OPENLY DRAINING WAR POTENTIAL MATERIALS FROM WEST GERMANY."
THE SENATOR SAID HIS GROUP HAD INFORMATION THAT ILLEGAL TRADE ACROSS THE WEST GERMAN BORDER AMOUNTED TO OVER $1,000,000,000 SINCE THE END OF THE WAR.
AMERICAN OFFICIALS HERE CONCEDED THAT SUCH TRAFFIC IS CONSIDERABLE, BUT THEY SAID THE LONELY FRONTIER BETWEEN EAST AND WEST GERMANY HAS BEEN THE BIG HOLE IN THE IRON CURTAIN THROUGH WHICH THESE STRATEGIC GOODS POUR. AND THEY STRESSED THAT STEPS ARE BEING TAKEN TO PLUG IT.
U.S. ARMY CUSTOMS OFFICIALS STATIONED ON WEST GERMANY'S CZECH AND AUSTRIAN FRONTIERS HAVE IN THE LAST YEAR STOPPED LARGE QUANTITIES OF ILLEGAL GOODS CONSIGNED TO COMMUNIST STATES, THEY SAID.
THESE OFFICIALS, WHO ARE IN A POSITION TO KNOW, SAID THERE HAD BEEN NO INTERVENTION FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT TO LET STRATEGIC MATERIALS MOVE BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN.
A TEAM OF STATE DEPARTMENT AND ECONOMIC COOPERATION ADMINISTRATION (ECA) OFFICIALS TOURED WEST GERMANY'S FRONTIERS LAST MONTH TO STUDY MEANS OF CHECKING UNDERCOVER SALES TO THE EAST.
SHORTLY AFTER THEY ARRIVED, AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE CUSTOMS UNITS WERE ASSIGNED TO THE EAST-WEST ZONAL FRONTIER IN A MOVE TO SEAL OFF ILLEGAL SMUGGLING OF CRITICAL GOODS.
AMERICAN AND WEST GERMAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS ARE NOW PLANNING NEW CONTROLS OVER LICENSING OF EXPORTS IN A FURTHER MOVE TO CUT ILLEGAL TRADE.

BERLIN, MAY 11-(AP)-WEST BERLIN CITY AUTHORITIES TODAY SEIZED GERMANY'S MOST FAMOUS SHIPBUILDING LABORATORY. IT HAD BEEN IN THE HANDS OF THE SOVIET SECTOR UNIVERSITY SINCE 1945.
SENATOR JOACHIM TIBURTIUS, DIRECTOR FOR EDUCATION AND TRAINING, PERSONALLY TOOK OVER CONTROL OF THE LABORATORY AND ITS 200-YARD-LONG CANAL AND ORDERED THE EAST BERLIN UNIVERSITY PEOPLE TO DEPART. THEY DID SO WITHOUT ARGUMENT.
THE LABORATORY AND CANAL LIE IN THE TIERGARTEN, WHICH IS IN THE BRITISH SECTOR. AS PART OF THE OLD BERLIN UNIVERSITY, IT REMAINED ATTACHED TO THAT EDUCATIONAL BRANCH AFTER THE WAR. AFTER THE EAST GERMANS COMMUNIZED BERLIN UNIVERSITY, WEST BERLIN ESTABLISHED ITS OWN SCHOOL OF HIGHER UNIVERSITY NAMED "FREE UNIVERSITY."
THE LABORATORY WAS ONCE THE PROPERTY OF THE STATE OF PRUSSIA, WHICH NO LONGER EXISTS. TITLE NOW MAY BE VESTED IN EITHER THE WEST BERLIN CITY GOVERNMENT OR THE FREE UNIVERSITY.
GERMAN OFFICIALS CONSIDER THE LABORATORY THE MOST IMPORTANT OF ITS KIND FOR THE FUTURE OF GERMAN SHIPPING. NOW THAT WEST GERMANY AGAIN IS PERMITTED TO BUILD OCEAN-GOING VESSELS, THE LABORATORY WILLIBE SWUNG INTO HIGH GEAR, IT WAS SAID. MODELS CONSTRUCTED IN THE LABORATORY ARE TESTED IN THE CANAL.
THE SEIZURE BROUGHT NO IMMEDIATE REACTION FROM THE RUSSIAN SECTOR. THE COMMUNISTS PROBABLY WILL PROTEST THAT THE LABORATORY IS A LEGAL PART OF THE BERLIN UNIVERSITY. WEST BERLIN OFFICIALS SAID IN ADVANCE OF SUCH A PROTEST THAT IT WOULD BE IGNORED.

NIGHT LEAD-RUBBER (630)
BY LARRY ALLEN
SINGAPORE, MAY 11-(AP)-MALAYAN RUBBER PRICES TUMBLED TODAY TO THEIR LOWEST POINT IN SIX MONTHS UNDER THE IMPACT OF BRITAIN'S EMBARGO ON RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO RED CHINA, THEN RECOVERED SLIGHTLY.
TRADERS EXPECTED MALAYA AND THE CROWN COLONY OF SINGAPORE TO FALL IN LINE WITHIN 36 HOURS WITH BRITAIN'S REQUEST THAT HER COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS "INSURE THAT THERE SHALL BE NO FURTHER EXPORTS OF RUBBER TO CHINA FROM MALAYA OR THE OTHER BRITISH TERRITORIES INVOLVED THIS YEAR." NEARLY ALL FORECAST STILL LOWER PRICES.
THE MARKET FOR FIRST GRADE RUBBER CLOSED TODAY AT THE EQUIVALENT OF 48 U.S. CENTS A POUND, A TWO-CENT DROP FROM THURSDAY AND EIGHT CENTS BELOW THE CEILING FIXED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT FOR ITS PURCHASES HERE. ONLY THREE MONTHS AGO, RUBBER WAS SELLING AT 78 CENTS. THE STRAITS DOLLAR IS USED IN SINGAPORE TRADE. IT IS VALUED AT 32.75 U.S. CENTS.
THE BRITISH REQUEST YESTERDAY TO STOP RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO CHINA WAS DIRECTED TO MALAYA, SINGAPORE AND BORNEO. A COLONIAL OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID ALL THREE GOVERNMENTS WILL COMPLY "AS A MATTER OF COURSE."
MALAYA IS THE BIG PRODUCER. THOUGH TROUBLED BY COMMUNIST-LED GUERRILLAS, SHE EXPORTED 1,106,483 LONG TONS IN 1950, PASSING THE 1,000,000-TON-A-YEAR MARK FOR THE FIRST TIME. THE UNITED STATES WAS THE BIGGEST CUSTOMER, IMPORTING 376,724 TONS. BRITAIN RECEIVED 197,577 TONS, RUSSIA 68,058, FRANCE 60,550 AND HONG KONG, A FUNNEL OF THE BRITISH CHINA TRADE, 44,367.
IT WAS A COLONIAL OFFICE DISCLOSURE MAY 2 THAT MALAYA HAD SOLD 120,000 TONS OF RUBBER TO RED CHINA AND 40,400 TONS TO RUSSIA IN THE FIRST NINE MONTHS OF THE KOREAN WAR THAT TOUCHED OFF THE FUSE TO CRITICISM IN BOTH BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES OF THE BRITISH TRADING POLICY. THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS, FIGHTING UNITED NATIONS TROOPS IN KOREA, HAD RECEIVED IN THOSE NINE MONTHS MORE THAN FOUR TIMES THE AMOUNT OF RUBBER THEY NORMALLY BOUGHT IN A YEAR.
SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, PRESIDENT OF THE BRITISH BOARD OF TRADE, TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS IN LONDON YESTERDAY BRITAIN AND HER COLONIES HAD SENT $357,000,000 WORTH OF GOODS TO CHINA IN THE NINE MONTHS. HE NOTED THAT BRITAIN IS NOW SUPPORTING A UNITED STATES PROPOSAL IN THE U.N. TO EMBARGO THE SHIPMENT OF STRATEGIC MATERIALS TO THE CHINESE, BUT EMPHASIZED BRITAIN DOES NOT INTEND TO EMBARGO ALL GOODS.

THE RUBBER BAN DOES NOT EXTEND TO INDIA AND CEYLON, WHICH ARE INDEPENDENT MEMBERS OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH. (NOR, BY COLONIAL OFFICE INTERPRETATION, DOES IT EXTEND TO NON-EMPIRE RUBBER REACHING HONG KONG OR SINGAPORE FOR TRANS-SHIPPING TO CHINESE CONSIGNEES. IT DOES AFFECT NON-EMPIRE RUBBER REACHING HONG KONG AND SINGAPORE FOR CONSIGNEES IN THOSE CITIES.) BURMA, THAILAND AND INDONESIA ALSO PRODUCE RUBBER.

AN INDONESIAN FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN, ZIRIM ZAINO, DECLARED IN JAKARTA THAT INDONESIA INTENDS TO CONTINUE SELLING RUBBER TO ANY COUNTRY-- INCLUDING RED CHINA-- WHICH CAN SEND HER THE GOODS SHE NEEDS. HE SAID HIS NATION DID NOT WISH TO ANGER THE WESTERN WORLD, BUT BOTH FOOD AND CAPITAL EQUIPMENT ARE REQUIRED URGENTLY. HE HINTED RICE MAY BE SOUGHT FROM CHINA.

A WAVE OF PESSIMISM AMONG SINGAPORE TRADERS AT THE FIRST NEWS FROM LONDON EASED SOMEWHAT AS WORD GOT AROUND THAT BRITAIN IS WILLING TO BUY UP ANY RUBBER ALREADY CONTRACTED FOR BY THE CHINESE.

THEORETICALLY, RED CHINA STILL HAS AN OPEN SOURCE OF SUPPLY FROM RUSSIA. RUSSIA COULD SEND THE CHINESE PART OF WHAT SHE GETS HERSELF. BUT DESTINATIONAL CONTROL OF RUBBER SHIPMENTS SINCE APRIL 9 WOULD LIMIT SUCH HELP. THE GOVERNMENTS OF MALAYA AND SINGAPORE HAVE ANNOUNCED THEY WILL SEE THE UNITED STATES, CANADA, BRITAIN AND OTHER FRIENDLY COUNTRIES GET ALL THEY NEED BEFORE COMMUNIST COUNTRIES' DEMANDS ARE MET.

WITH PRICES FALLING SINCE LAST WEEK, U.S. GOVERNMENT BUYERS HAVE BEEN BUYING SOMETIMES AS MUCH AS 4,000 TONS DAILY.

(INDIA ISN'T SELLING NOW TO ANY COUNTRY. PRIME MINISTER NEHRU'S GOVERNMENT HALTED FOREIGN SALES OF RUBBER ABROAD APRIL 16 TO CONSERVE THE SUPPLY FOR DOMESTIC NEEDS. INDIA PRODUCES ONLY 16,000 TONS ANNUALLY. A SPOKESMAN SAID, HOWEVER, THAT CHINA MADE APPRECIABLE PURCHASES HERE BEFORE THE BAN WAS INVOKED. CHINESE BOUGHT 12,600 SETS OF TIRES AND TUBES, MOSTLY OF BIG SIZES, IN THE 13 MONTHS THROUGH LAST JANUARY.)

SINGAPORE, MAY 11-(AP)-RUBBER PRICES SLUMPED IN SINGAPORE TODAY IN THE WAKE OF BRITAIN'S DECISION TO BAN SHIPMENTS TO RED CHINA. THEY MADE SOME RECOVERY LATE IN THE DATE AS TRADERS SHOOK OFF THEIR INITIAL PESSIMISM, BUT ALL PREDICTIONS WERE THAT PRICES WOULD GO EVEN LOWER.

THE GOVERNMENTS OF MALAYA AND THE CROWN COLONY OF SINGAPORE WERE EXPECTED TO IMPLEMENT THE BRITISH DECISION WITHIN 24 TO 36 HOURS. OFFICIALS WERE AWAITING OFFICIAL ADVICES FROM LONDON BEFORE TAKINGO

EXPECTED TO IMPLEMENT THE BRITISH DECISION WITHIN 24 TO 36 HOURS. OFFICIALS WERE AWAITING OFFICIAL ADVICES FROM LONDON BEFORE TAKING FORMAL ACTION.

MALAYA AND INDONESIA ARE THE WORLD'S PRINCIPAL PRODUCERS OF NATURAL RUBBER. CEYLON, BORNEO, INDOCHINA, THAILAND AND INDIA GROW CONSIDERABLE AMOUNTS, BUT NOT NEARLY AS MUCH AS MALAYA AND INDONESIA.

PRICES IN THE SINGAPORE MARKET CLOSED AT (STRAITS) $1.48 PER POUND, SIX CENTS UP FROM THURSDAY'S LOW. BUT THE U.S. CEILING PRICE IS (STRAITS) $1.71 AND THE PRICE WAS WAY OFF THE (STRAITS) $2.38 PER POUND OF FEB. 9. THE STRAITS DOLLAR IS WORTH ABOUT 33 U.S. CENTS.

DRYING UP OF THE SINGAPORE MARKET DOES NOT MEAN RED CHINA WILL BE DEPRIVED OF RUBBER.

INDONESIA, A MAJOR RUBBER PRODUCER, SAID SHE WOULD GO RIGHT ALONG SELLING RUBBER TO ANY COUNTRY THAT CAN SEND HER THE GOODS SHE NEEDS. INDONESIA NEEDS RICE AND IS HOPEFUL OF ARRANGING A SWAP WITH THE REDS.

BRITAIN WILL BUY UP ANY RUBBER IN MALAYA ALREADY CONTRACTED FOR BY RED CHINA. HER DECISION TO PUT THE EMBARGO ON RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO THE COMMUNISTS FOR THE REST OF THIS YEAR WAS FAVORABLY RECEIVED BY THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT. THE U.S. IS ASKING THE UNITED NATIONS TO APPROVE AN EMBARGO OF ARMS AND VITAL WAR SUPPLIES TO COMMUNIST CHINA, ALREADY BRANDED AN AGGRESSOR IN KOREA.

A WAVE OF PESSIMISM HIT ALL SECTIONS OF THE SINGAPORE MARKET. TRADERS FELT THAT THE UNITED STATES CAN NOW BUY ALL THE MALAYAN RUBBER SHE WANTS AT ALMOST ANY PRICE SHE AGREES TO PAY. THEY REGARDED AS CERTAIN THAT THE SINGAPORE AND MALAYAN GOVERNMENTS WOULD FOLLOW BRITAIN'S EMBARGO AGAINST RED CHINA, WHICH WOULD MEAN LOSS OF A LONGTIME BIG BUYER.

BRITAIN'S ACTION ALSO STIRRED UP FRESH ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING AMONG THE RUBBER PRODUCERS AND TRADERS, WHO ATTRIBUTED THE BAN TO U.S. PRESSURE. THEY HAVE LONG BLAMED AMERICA FOR "DESTROYING THE FREE MARKET" AND FORCING DOWN RUBBER AND TIN PRICES.

THE PRICES AT FINAL SALES LATE YESTERDAY REPRESENTED A TOTAL DROP OF 26 CENTS DURING THE LAST SEVEN DAYS. YESTERDAY'S QUOTATION WAS THE LOWEST IN MALAYA SINCE LAST FALL. RUBBER HAD JUMPED AS HIGH AS (STRAIGHTS) $2.38 PER POUND ON FEB.9.

EVEN BEFORE BRITAIN'S EMBARGO ACTION, RUBBER TRADERS HAD FOUND THEIR CONFIDENCE SEVERELY SHAKEN IN THE ABILITY OF THE SINGAPORE MARKET TO WITHSTAND PRICE DEPRESSING MANEUVERS FROM THE UNITED STATES. OVERSEAS SUPPORT HAD BEEN LACKING IN THE MARKET THE PAST FEW DAYS AND U.S. GOVERNMENT BUYERS HAD BEEN ABLE TO GET BIG QUANTITIES OF RUBBER AT PRICES EVEN LOWER THAN THOSE SET BY THE GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION.

THE BRITISH BAN DOES NOT MEAN THAT COMMUNIST CHINA WILL GET NO MORE RUBBER.

INDONESIA, FOR EXAMPLE, IS A MAJOR PRODUCER THAT MIGHT SUPPLY RED CHINA. LAST MONDAY, FOREIGN MINISTER ACHMAD SOEBARDJO OF INDONESIA SAID IN JAKARTA THAT HIS COUNTRY WOULD "SELL TO THE DEVIL IF THIS WOULD SERVE THE PEOPLE'S INTERESTS."

IT IS KNOWN THAT THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS HAVE BEEN TRYING TO OBTAIN RUBBER AND OTHER STRATEGIC GOODS FROM JAKARTA, BUT THUS FAR NO TRADE PACT HAS BEEN MADE BECAUSE PEIPING APPARENTLY IS UNABLE TO SUPPLY INDONESIA WITH NEEDED CONSUMER ARTICLES IN RETURN.

PRECEDE SINGAPORE RUBBER (A13)

JAKARTA, INDONESIA, MAY 11-(AP)-INDONESIA SAID FLATLY TODAY SHE INTENDS TO CONTINUE SELLING RUBBER TO ANY COUNTRY --INCLUDING RED CHINA -- THAT CAN SEND HER GOODS SHE BADLY NEEDS.

THE STAND OF THIS MAJOR RUBBER PRODUCER -- A MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS -- WAS EXPRESSED BY FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN ZIRIM ZAINO. HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT BRITAIN'S DECISION YESTERDAY TO BAN RUBBER EXPORTS TO COMMUNIST CHINA PROBABLY WILL BE DISCUSSED SOON BY THE INDONESIAN CABINET.

LAST MONDAY, FOREIGN MINISTER ACHMAD SOEBARDJO DECLARED HERE THAT INDONESIA WOULD "SELL TO THE DEVIL IF THIS WOULD SERVE THE PEOPLE'S INTERESTS."

IN SINGAPORE, THERE WERE REPORTS TODAY THAT THE SINGAPORE AND MALAYAN

GOVERNMENTS LIKELY WILL FOLLOW BRITAIN'S ACTION IN PLACING AN EMBARGO ON RUBBER EXPORTS TO THE COMMUNISTS IN CHINA.

DR. ZAIN, HEAD OF THE ECONOMIC SECTION OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTRY HERE, SAID INDONESIA DOES NOT WANT TO ANGER THE WESTERN WORLD, BUT THE YOUNG NATION SORELY NEEDS FOOD AND CAPITAL GOODS TO GET HER CHAOTIC ECONOMY IN SHAPE.

"THOSE WHO CAN SUPPLY US WITH WHAT OUR PEOPLE NEED CAN GET OUR PRODUCTS, INCLUDING RUBBER, IN RETURN," ZAIN DECLARED.

HE DISCLOSED THAT INDONESIA NEEDS 500,000 TONS OR RICE TO FILL ITS OWN SHORTAGES THIS YEAR. HE SAID BURMA AND THAILAND WILL PROVIDE 350,000 TONS OF THIS, AND HINTED THE REMAINDER MAY BE OBTAINED FROM THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

FOR THE PAST THREE MONTHS, THE PEIPING GOVERNMENT THROUGH ITS JAKARTA EMBASSY HAS TRIED TO NEGOTIATE A BARTER AGREEMENT FOR AN EXCHANGE OF INDONESIA RUBBER AND OTHER STRATEGIC GOODS FOR CHINESE RICE AND OTHER ITEMS. TO DATE, NO FORMAL DEAL HAS BEEN CONCLUDED, BUT ZAIN SAID "NEGOTIATIONS HAVE BEEN PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY."

INDONESIAN EXPERTS PREDICT THIS NATION WILL PRODUCE A RECORD 700,000 TONS OF RUBBER THIS YEAR. LAST YEAR'S TOTAL WAS 620,000 TONS, OF WHICH ABOUT 280,000 TONS WENT TO SINGAPORE FOR PROCESSING AND SELLING. LESS THAN ONE PER CENT HAS GONE USUALLY TO HONG KONG OR OTHER DESTINATIONS ACCESSIBLE TO THE COMMUNISTS, WHILE ABOUT 29 PER CENT IS SHIPPED TO THE UNITED STATES.

TOKYO, MAY 11-(AP)-OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES TODAY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT ITS REDUCTION OF PERSONNEL WAS "A LITTLE BIT HEAVY" AT PRESENT, BUT DENIED THAT "ANYTHING UNUSUAL IS GOING ON."

THE DENIAL WAS ISSUED BY BRIG. GEN. G. V. KEYSER, THE EXECUTIVE FOR ADMINISTRATIVE AFFAIRS AT SCAP TO QUIET RUMORS THAT THE OCCUPATION WAS TO END IMMEDIATELY AND GENERAL HEADQUARTERS BE MOVED TO OKINAWA.

SOME SOURCES, HOWEVER, SAID THEIR SCAP SECTIONS WERE TO BECOME SKELETONIZED BY THE END OF JUNE. THEY CITED SEPTEMBER AS THE TARGET DATE FOR COMPLETE LIQUIDATION OF THE HEADQUARTERS IN TOKYO.

UNVERIFIED REPORTS CIRCULATED THAT ALL SECTIONS OF THE OCCUPATION WERE ORDERED TODAY TO CUT DOWN PERSONNEL MORE SHARPLY THAN PREVIOUSLY.

GENERAL KEYSER SAID, "THE FACT IS, A FELLOW MUST SCALE DOWN AGAINST AN INDEFINITE FINISH LINE. NO ONE KNOWS WHEN IT WILL BE, BUT THE TERMINATION WILL BE GRADUAL."

HE SAID THAT EVEN IF A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY SHOULD BE CONCLUDED IN THE NEAR FUTURE, THERE STILL WOULD BE NO DATE FOR THE OCCUPATION TO WIND UP.

THE NEW SUPREME COMMANDER FOR ALLIED POWERS, GEN. MATTHEW B. RIDGWAY, ON MAY 1 REAFFIRMED THAT OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES AIMED TO TURN CONTROL OF DOMESTIC AFFAIRS BACK TO THE JAPANESE AS QUICKLY AS THEY WERE QUALIFIED TO HANDLE THEM.

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE C.MARSHALL SAID TODAY THAT ONLY THE "TERRIFIC SHOCK" OF THE ATOM BOMB FORCED JAPAN TO SURRENDER WITHOUT THE NEED OF A BLOODY INVASION.
TESTIFYING HERE TODAY BEFORE TWO SENATE COMMITTEES, GENERAL MARSHALL DECLARED "IT WAS THE OPINION OF THE CHIEFS OF STAFF AT THAT TIME THAT ONLY A TREMENDOUS PRESSURE ON JAPAN ITSELF HAD ANY HOPE OF TERMINATING THE ARMY DICTATION (OF JAPAN) X X X"
"THEREFORE," HE TOLD THE COMMITTEES, "OUR OWN CONCLUSION, THAT OF THE CHIEFS OF STAFF, WAS THAT WE HAD TO EITHER INVADE JAPAN OR BRING THIS TO A CONCLUSION WITH SHOCK ACTION, WHICH DEVELOPED THE ATOMIC BOMB."
MARSHALL TESTIFIED FOR THE FIFTH DAY IN THE HISTORIC HEARINGS INTO THE DISMISSAL OF GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR AND U.S.FOREIGN POLICY IN ASIA.

MAY 12 1951

HE SAID AN INVASION OF THE JAPANESE HOMELAND WOULD HAVE REQUIRED THE LANDING OF THREE ARMY CORPS. "WE HAD TO VISUALIZE VERY HEAVY CASUALTIES UNLESS WE HAD ENOUGH ATOMIC BOMBS AT THE TIME TO SUPPLEMENT THE TROOP ACTION, IF THE FUNCTIONING OF THE BOMB PROVED SATISFACTORY FOR THAT PURPOSE," MARSHALL TESTIFIED.
THE GRAY-HAIRED GENERAL OF THE ARMY MADE THESE OTHER POINTS IN SIX HOURS OF CLOSED DOOR, CENSORED TESTIMONY:
1. THE CHIEFS OF STAFF WERE "QUITE CERTAINLY UNANIMOUS" ON THE DESIRABILITY OF BRINGING RUSSIA INTO THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN. IT WAS, THE GENERAL SAID, "A VERY ESSENTIAL FACTOR IN BRINGING THE WAR TO AN EARLY TERMINATION."
2. HE HAD "NO RECOLLECTION" OF ANY PRELIMINARY OFFERS OF SURRENDER FROM JAPAN. SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) EARLIER HAD READ PORTIONS OF AN ARTICLE IN THE WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD OF AUG.19, 1945, WHICH CLAIMED THAT "THE FIRST JAPANESE PEACE BID WAS RELAYED TO THE WHITE HOUSE SEVEN MONTHS AGO." THE NEWSPAPER SAID THIS WAS TWO DAYS BEFORE THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT LEFT FOR THE YALTA CONFERENCE.
MARSHALL TESTIFIED THAT THE FIRST ATOMIC EXPLOSION AT HIROSHIMA FAILED TO KNOCK JAPAN OUT OF THE WAR. "THEY COULDN'T FIND OUT ABOUT HIROSHIMA FOR TWO OR THREE DAYS, BECAUSE ALL COMMUNICATIONS WERE OUT," HE ADDED. "BUT I THINK THEY JUST ABOUT FOUND OUT WHAT HAPPENED WHEN IN CAME THE NEWS OF NAGASAKI, AND THEY KNEW WHAT THAT MEANT."
OTHER TESTIMONY BROUGHT OUT THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN TOLD GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR, ETC., PICKING UP ORIGINAL NIGHT LEAD AT START AND EDITING TO CONFORM.

"X X X IN REACHING A FINAL DECISION ABOUT KOREA, I SHALL HAVE TO GIVE CONSTANT THOUGHT TO THE MAIN THREAT FROM THE SOVIET UNION AND TO THE NEED FOR RAPID EXPANSION OF OUR ARMED FORCES TO MEET THIS GREAT DANGER."
THE LETTER--IN PARAPHRASED FORM--WAS READ TO THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES BY SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL IN THE FIFTH DAY OF HIS DEFENSE OF ADMINISTRATION POLICIES IN ASIA.
IT WAS WRITTEN BY THE PRESIDENT AFTER GENERAL MACARTHUR HAD ADVISED WASHINGTON THAT HE MIGHT HAVE TO EVACUATE UNITED NATIONS TROOPS FROM KOREA UNLESS HE WERE PERMITTED TO BOMB RED CHINA, BLOCKADE THE RED-HELD COAST, AND USE CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS.
HIS PROGRAM WAS REJECTED BUT THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF PREPARED ON JAN. 12 A LIST OF POSSIBLE MILITARY ACTIONS TO BE TAKEN IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES AND THE TRUMAN LETTER WAS WRITTEN THE NEXT DAY TO SUPPLEMENT THE MILITARY VIEWS WITH THE POLITICAL THINKING AT THE TIME.

MACARTHUR HAS SAID THE ADMINISTRATION HAD "NO POLICY" IN THE KOREAN CONFLICT EXCEPT ONE OF ENDLESS STALEMATE--AND MARSHALL PRODUCED THE LETTER, WITH MR.TRUMAN'S APPROVAL, AS A REPLY TO THAT CHARGE.
MR.TRUMAN DECLARED THAT WAR MOVES IN KOREA MUST BE TAKEN IN A MANNER TO BIND TOGETHER THE UNITED NATIONS MEMBERS, WHOM HE SAID "WE WOULD DESPERATELY NEED TO COUNT ON AS ALLIES IN THE EVENT THE SOVIET UNION MOVES AGAINST US."
MAY 12 1951
THIS LETTER WAS WRITTEN AGAINST THE DARK BACKGROUND OF A POSSIBLE EVACUATION OF U.N. FORCES FROM KOREA IN THE FACE OF THE FIRST GREAT CHINESE RED OFFENSIVE.
THE PRESIDENT SPOKE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF WITHDRAWING ENTIRELY FROM KOREA. HE SAID:
"WE RECOGNIZE, OF COURSE, THAT CONTINUED RESISTANCE MIGHT NOT BE MILITARILY POSSIBLE X X X. IN THE WORST CASE, IT WOULD BE IMPORTANT THAT IF WE MUST WITHDRAW FROM KOREA, IT BE CLEAR TO THE WORLD THAT COURSE IS FORCED UPON US BY MILITARY NECESSITY AND THAT WE SHALL NOT ACCEPT THE RESULT POLITICALLY OR MILITARILY UNTIL THE AGGRESSION HAS BEEN RECTIFIED."

MARSHALL TESTIFIED FOR ALMOST SIX HOURS--THE LONGEST QUESTIONING HE HAS UNDERGONE---AND HE WILL RETURN TOMORROW AT 9 A.M., EST, FOR AN EXTRAORDINARY SATURDAY SESSION.
AFTER THE HEARING, KNOWLAND TOLD REPORTERS HE WANTED TO FIND OUT WHETHER THE U.S. GOVERNMENT HAS SWITCHED ITS STAND ON THE FATE OF FORMOSA AND THE ENTRY OF RED CHINA INTO THE UNITED NATIONS.
HE SAID MARSHALL HAD MADE IT CLEAR HE, PERSONALLY, IS OPPOSED TO GIVING FORMOSA----THE ISLAND STRONGHOLD OF THE CHINESE NATIONALISTS---TO THE REDS OR PERMITTING COMMUNIST CHINA TO ENTER THE U.N. BUT KNOWLAND INDICATED THERE WAS DOUBT ABOUT THE ADMINISTRATION'S POSITION.
THE CALIFORNIAN WANTS TO KNOW, ALSO, WHAT PEACE PROPOSALS THE ADMINISTRATION HAD IN MIND TO BE ANNOUNCED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN. MARSHALL HAS SAID THAT MACARTHUR'S MARCH 24 OFFER TO TALK PEACE WITH THE RED COMMANDER HAD DESTROYED THE CHANCES OF ANY WAR SETTLEMENT AT THAT TIME.
"OBVIOUSLY THE ADMINISTRATION MUST HAVE HAD SOME SPECIFIC PEACE TERMS FOR THE NEGOTIATON WHIH IT CLAIMS MACARTHUR KNOCKED INTO A COCKET HAT," KNOWLAND SAID. HE HAS SAID HE WILL TRY TO GET A COPY OF THESE TERMS FROM THE ADMINISTRATION.
MARSHALL ALSO TESTIFIED THAT LAST JANUARY WASHINGTON OFFERED TO SEND MACARTHUR ENOUGH SMALL ARMS FOR 200,000 TO 300,000 SOUTH KOREANS---AFTER THE SOUTH KOREAN GOVERNMENT ASKED FOR MORE WEAPONS.
HE SAID MACARTHUR WAS NOTIFIED THERE WERE AVAILABLE 160,000 RIFLES. 70,000 SUBMACHINE GUNS, 150,000 CARBINES AND 8,000 AUTOMATIC RIFLES. MACARTHUR INDICATED, MARSHALL ADDED, THAT THE WEAPONS COULD BETTER BE USED TO ARM JAPANESE POLICE RESERVES.
MARSHALL DECLARED THAT CORRESPONDENCE WITH MACARTHUR ON THIS SUBJECT HAD BEEN MADE PUBLIC BY THE WHITE HOUSE BECAUSE THE GENERAL HAD INDICATED IN JANUARY THAT "A MATTER INVOLVING FOREIGN POLICY" PREVENTED MMORE SOUTH KOREANS FROM BEING ARMED.

A37WX
AT ONE POINT, THE SECRETARY DECLINED TO DISCUSS THE U.S. POLITICAL OBJECTIVES IN KOREA. HE SAID THIS INFORMATION SHOULD COME FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND "I DO NOT THINK SHOULD BE ADVERTISED IN PART."
HE ADDED: "BECAUSE WHILE IT IS A POLITICAL POLICY, IT PERTAINS VERY DIRECTLY TO A MILITARY PROCEDURE."
EARLIER, MARSHALL HAD READ THE LETTER IN WHICH TRUMAN TOLD MACARTHUR THAT SUCCESSFUL RESISTANCE IN KOREA WOULD SERVE THE FOLLOWING PURPOSES:

"A. TO DEMONSTRATE THAT AGGRESSION WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED BY US OR BY THE UNITED NATIONS, AND TO PROVIDE A RALLYING POINT AROUND WHICH THE SPIRITS AND ENERGIES OF THE FREE WORLD CAN BE MOBILIZED TO MEET THE WORLDWIDE THREAT WHICH THE SOVIET UNION NOW POSES.
"B. TO DEFLATE THE DANGEROUSLY EXAGGERATED POLITICAL AND MILITARY PRESTIGE OF COMMUNIST CHINA WHICH NOW THREATENS TO UNDERMINE THE RESISTANCE OF NON-COMMUNIST ASIA AND TO CONSOLIDATE THE HOLD OF COMMUNISM ON CHINA ITSELF.
MAY 12 1951
"C. TO AFFORD MORE TIME FOR, AND TO GIVE DIRECT ASSISTANCE TO, THE ORGANIZATION OF NON-COMMUNIST RESISTANCE IN ASIA, BOTH OUTSIDE AND INSIDE CHINA.
"D. TO CARRY OUT OUR COMMITMENTS OF HONOR TO THE SOUTH KOREANS AND TO DEMONSTRATE TO THE WORLD THAT THE FRIENDSHIP OF THE UNITED STATES IS OF INESTIMABLE VALUE IN TIME OF ADVERSITY.
"E. TO MAKE POSSIBLE A FAR MORE SATISFACTORY PEACE SETTLEMENT FOR JAPAN, AND TO CONTRIBUTE GREATLY TO THE POST-TREATY SECURITY POSITION OF JAPAN IN RELATION TO THE CONTINENT.

A2WX
"F. TO LEND RESOLUTION TO MANY COUNTRIES NOT ONLY IN ASIA BUT ALSO IN EUROPE AND THE MIDDLE EAST WHO ARE NOW LIVING WITHIN THE SHADOW OF COMMUNIST POWER, AND TO LET THEM KNOW THAT THEY NEED NOT NOW RUSH TO COME TO TERMS WITH COMMUNISM ON WHATEVER TERMS THEY CAN GET, MEANING COMPLETE SUBMISSION.
"G. TO INSPIRE THOSE WHO MAY BE CALLED UPON TO FIGHT AGAINST GREAT ODDS IF SUBJECTED TO A SUDDEN ONSLAUGHT BY THE SOVIET UNION OR BY COMMUNIST CHINA.
"H. TO LEND POINT AND URGENCY TO THE RAPID BUILD UP OF THE DEFENSE OF THE WESTERN WORLD.
"I. TO BRING THE UNITED NATIONS THROUGH ITS FIRST GREAT EFFORT IN COLLECTIVE SECURITY AND TO PRODUCE A FREE WORLD COALITION OF INCALCULABLE VALUE TO THE NATIONAL SECURITY INTERESTS OF THE UNITED STATES.
"J. TO ALERT THE PEOPLES BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN THAT THEIR MASTERS ARE BENT UPON WARS OF AGGRESSION, AND THAT THIS CRIME WILL BE RESISTED BY THE FREE WORLD."
MR.TRUMAN OPENED HIS LETTER BY SAYING:
"I WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT THE SITUATION IN KOREA IS RECEIVING THE UTMOST ATTENTION HERE AND THAT OUR EFFORTS ARE CONCENTRATED UPON FINDING THE RIGHT DECISIONS ON THIS MATTER OF THE GREATEST IMPORTANCE TO THE FUTURE OF AMERICA AND TO THE SURVIVAL OF FREE PEOPLES EVERYWHERE."
AND HE ENDED IT WITH THESE WORDS OF PRAISE: "THE ENTIRE NATION IS GRATEFUL FOR YOUR SPLENDID LEADERSHIP IN THE DIFFICULT STRUGGLE IN

30.24- 22861

KOREA AND FOR THE SUPERB PERFORMANCE OF YOUR FORCES UNDER THE MOST DIFFICULT CIRCUMSTANCES."

MARSHALL READ THE LETTER AFTER A LONG DISCUSSION IN WHICH HE DECLARED THE ADMINISTRATION HOPES BY ITS KOREA POLICY TO DRIVE A WEDGE BETWEEN RED CHINA AND RED RUSSIA.

"HERE IS A SITUATION," HE SAID, "WHERE THE CHINESE CAN BE BROUGHT TO FEEL, BY CONTINUED HIGHLY DESTRUCTIVE LOSSES, THAT THE SOVIETS HAVE LET THEM DOWN."

BUT HE ADDED THAT BECAUSE OF THIS VERY REASON THE SITUATION "IS MORE DANGEROUS" THAN THE SITUATION IN WESTERN EUROPE.

EARLIER HE HAD SAID THE UNITED STATES HAS NO CHOICE BUT TO RISK WAR WITH RUSSIA BY BUILDING DEFENSES IN EUROPE--BUT THAT THE SITUATION WAS ENTIRELY DIFFERENT IN KOREA.

MAY 12 1951

A3WX

"THE QUESTION (IN KOREA) IS WHETHER OR NOT WE CAN EXTEND THAT ACTION WITHOUT DEVELOPING AN ENLARGED WAR ON THE CHINESE SIDE, OR A FULL WAR BECAUSE OF THE REACTIONS OF THE SOVIET UNION.

"X X X THE SITUATION X X X IS A MORE ACUTE ONE BY FAR THAN THAT IN WESTERN EUROPE X X X."

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA) DISPUTED MARSHALL'S VIEWS, SAYING: "IF WE CONTINUE AS WE ARE IN KOREA AND THE COMMUNIST CHINESE FACE WHAT MAY SEEM TO BE CERTAIN DEFEAT X X X BY THAT SAME ARGUMENT THE RUSSIANS ARE GOING TO COME IN ANYWAY TO SAVE THEM (THE CHINESE) FROM THAT DEFEAT.

"X X X I MEAN WE MIGHT JUST AS WELL TAKE AFTER THEM BACK IN MANCHURIA WITH OUR BOMBERS AND DESTROY THEIR BUILD-UP DEPOTS AND SOON, BECAUSE THE REASONING WOULD SEEM TO DICTATE THAT RUSSIA WOULD COME IN JUST AS QUICKLY ONE WAY AS THE OTHER."

MARSHALL REPLIED: "WELL, SENATOR, OF COURSE, THAT IS BOUND TO BE A MATTER OF JUDGMENT."

THEN THE SECRETARY DECLARED HIS VIEWS WERE BASED LARGELY ON THE THINKING OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF AND THEIR CHAIRMAN, GEN.OMAR N.BRADLEY, WHOSE EXPERIENCES HE PRAISED HIGHLY.

"I FRANKLY DOUBT," HE SAID, "THAT THIS GOVERNMENT WILL EVER BE SO FORTUNATE AS TO HAVE SUCH A COLLECTION OF EXPERIENCE AT ONE TIME IN THE CHIEFS OF STAFF."

THREADED THROUGHOUT THE TESTIMONY BY MARSHALL---INCLUDING THE LETTER BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN---WAS THE CONTINUING RIDDLE OF WHAT THE RUSSIANS MIGHT DO IF THE WAR IN KOREA WAS SPREAD AS GENERAL MACARTHUR PROPOSED.

MARSHALL CONCEDED THAT THE DECISION AGAINST BOMBING RED CHINA SUPPLY BASES WAS LARGELY A "POLITICAL DECISION" ALTHOUGH THERE WAS "A HEAVY MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN MAKING THE DECISION."

SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) SHIFTED THE QUESTIONING TO THE MACARTHUR OUSTER, AND MARSHALL SAID THE JOINT CHIEFS MET ON SUNDAY, APRIL 8, TO DISCUSS THE MACARTHUR SITUATION. THEIR RECOMMENDATION WAS THE GENERAL SHOULD BE DISMISSED, HE SAID, AND THREE DAYS LATER HE WAS.

EARLIER, MARSHALL HAD SAID THESE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE OUSTER HAD ANTICIPATED AN "EMOTIONAL WAVE" THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY AS BEING INEVITABLE. HE ADDED THE EXPECTATION WAS "THERE WOULD BE SOME SOBER THINKING" ONCE THIS WAVE SUBSIDED.

THEN KNOWLAND TURNED TO MACARTHUR'S MARCH 20 STATEMENT OFFERING TO TALK PEACE TERMS WITH THE RED COMMANDER IN KOREA. MARSHALL HAS CHARGED THIS STATEMENT BY MACARTHUR FORCED THE ADMINISTRATION TO DROP PLANS FOR A SETTLEMENT OFFER TO BE MADE BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

KNOWLAND PRODUCED A MEMORANDUM WHICH HE SAID WAS NOT AN OFFICIAL DOCUMENT BUT "A MEMORANDUM OF SOME OF THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS I HAVE BEEN GIVEN TO UNDERSTAND WERE THE SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION" IN CONNECTION WITH THE PRESIDENT'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

THIS MEMORANDUM SAID BRITAIN AND INDIA WERE SEEKING RUSSIA'S INTERVENTION TO PERSUADE RED CHINA THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS READY, IN EFFECT, TO PERMIT HER (CHINA'S) ENTRY INTO THE UNITED NATIONS BY A MAJORITY VOTE. (MARSHALL HAS SAID HE WOULD FAVOR USE OF THE VETO IF NECESSARY TO PREVENT CHINA'S ENTRY.)

AFTER A CEASE-FIRE ORDER WAS NEGOTIATED, THE MEMORANDUM SAID, THEN THESE STEPS WERE TO BE TAKEN:

"A. RED CHINESE TROOPS AND U.N. TROOPS TO BE EVACUATED FROM KOREA.

"B. DR.RALPH BUNCHE TO BE APPOINTED U.N. HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR THE WHOLE OF KOREA.

"C. A. U.N. MILITIA X X X FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF LAW AND ORDER IN KOREA, THE SOVIETS TO TAKE PART IN THIS ALONGSIDE OF THE OTHER U.N. COUNCIL POWERS.

MAY 12 1951

A50WX

"D. "X X X FREE AND UNFETTERED ELECTIONS TO BE HELD UNDER U.N. SUPERVISION."

"E. IN DEFERENCE TO AMERICAN SUSCEPTIBILITY, NOW THREATENED BY MACARTHUR'S VIEWS, EVERY EFFORT TO BE MADE TO LEAVE FORMOSA OUT OF THE PICTURE, AT LEAST UP TO THE TIME OF THE FINAL RESTORATION OF PEACE AND THE HOLDING OF KOREAN ELECTIONS. PRELIMINARY SOUNDINGS APPARENTLY MAKE NEHRU (INDIA'S PRIME MINISTER) HOPEFUL THAT PEIPING WILL NOT INSIST ON IMMEDIATE LIQUIDATION OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK IF SECRETLY ASSURED IT WILL FOLLOW IN THE COURSE OF TIME."

MARSHALL DECLARED HE DID NOT RECALL THAT THESE TERMS WERE INCLUDED IN THE PRESIDENT'S PEACE-SETTLEMENT PLAN.

SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN) ASKED IF THE MEMO WERE "A COMPENDIUM OF VARIOUS RUMORS."

KNOWLAND SAID: "A COMPENDIUM OF VARIOUS REPORTS."

MCMAHON REPLIED: "RUMORS AND REPORTS. THANK YOU."

KNOWLAND DELVED INTO EVENTS OF 1945 BEFORE RUSSIA'S ENTRY INTO THE PACIFIC WAR AND BEFORE THE JAPANESE SURRENDER. MANY CRITICS HAVE CONTENDED THAT JAPAN WAS ABOUT TO CAVE IN, AND THAT THE U.S. GOVERNMENT MADE A MISTAKE URGING RUSSIA TO ENTER THE WAR AND GRANTING CONCESSIONS TO MOSCOW.

GOING BACK TO THE 1945 YALTA CONFERENCE, KNOWLAND ASKED MARSHALL IF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION HAD INFORMATION AT THAT TIME INDICATING THAT JAPAN MIGHT SURRENDER EARLIER "THAN WE HAD ORIGINALLY CONTEMPLATED."

"NOT TO MY KNOWLEDGE, SIR," MARSHALL REPLIED. "IF THERE WAS ANY, IT WAS NOT CONVINCING TO US."

KNOWLAND THEN READ FROM AN AUGUST 19, 1945, STORY IN THE WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD WHICH SAID THE LIFTING OF CENSORSHIP MADE POSSIBLE THE DISCLOSURE THAT A JAPANESE PEACE BID HAD BEEN RELAYED TO THE WHITE HOUSE SEVEN MONTHS BEFORE.

"DO YOU HAVE ANY KNOWLEDGE, DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY, THAT THERE HAD BEEN PRELIMINARY OFFERS OF SURRENDER FROM JAPAN? ASKED KNOWLAND.

MARSHALL: "I HAVE NO RECOLLECTION OF ANY THAT WERE RECEIVED, WITH ANY DEGREE OF AUTHENTICITY WITH REGARD TO THEM.

MARSHALL SAID, HOWEVER,THAT TE U.S. DID OBTAIN COPIES OF MANY MESSAGES FROM JAPANESE AMBASSADORS IN EUROPE URGING TOKYO TO SURRENDER.

"SOME, AS I RECALL, DESCRIBED THE TERRIFIC RAVAGING OF EUROPE BY THIS CONTINUED DEFENSE," HE SAID.

A51WX

HOWEVER. THE SECRETA Y SAID THE REPLIES FROM THE PRIME MINISTER OF

JAPAN STRESSED THE DIFFICULTIES "OF CARRYING OUT SUCH A PROCEDURE WITH THE ARMY AND WITH THE PEOPLE."

THE MESSAGES FROM THE PRIME MINISTER CONVINCED WASHINGTON, MARSHALL SAID, "THAT THE ARMY WAS STILL LARGELY IN CONTROL AND THEY WERE PREPARING TO FIGHT TO THE BITTER END JUST AS THEY HAD DONE ON ALL OF THE ISLANDS UP TO AND INCLUDING OKINAWA WHERE I THINK WE HAD TO KILL 120,000 OF THEM."

KNOWLAND ASKED IF THE U.S. JOINT CHIEFS WERE UNANIMOUS AT THE YALTA CONFERENCE IN BELIEVING IT WAS DESIRABLE TO BRING RUSSIA INTO THE PACIFIC WAR.

MARSHALL REPLIED THE CHIEFS WERE "QUITE CERTAINLY UNANIMOUS". THE CHIEFS FEARED THAT JAPAN HAD A POWERFUL ARMY IN MANCHURIA AND WANTED RUSSIA TO HIT THE JAPANESE THERE AND IN KOREA, HE SAID.

ALSO, HE SAID, THE U.S. WAS PLANNING A LANDING IN JAPAN PROPER WHERE THERE STILL WERE 2,500,000 ENEMY TROOPS.

SOME PRESIDENTIAL ADVISERS WERE URGING THAT THERE BE NO LANDING IN JAPAN BUT THAT THERE SHOULD BE ONLY AN ATTEMPT TO ISOLATE THE HOME ISLANDS, THE SECRETARY TESTIFIED.

MARSHALL SAID HE PERSONALLY ASKED MACARTHUR FOR HIS VIEWS ON THE QUESTION AND THAT THE THEATER COMMANDER "CAME BACK STRONGLY, VERY COURAGEOUSLY, I FELT, IN FAVOR OF THE LANDING IN JAPAN RATHER THAN THE TEMPORIZING MEASURE."

THE LANDING PROVED TO BE UNNECESSARY BECAUSE JAPAN SURRENDERED UPON BEING STRUCK WITH ATOMIC BOMBS.

Transcript of General Marshall's

Testimony in His Fifth Day

MAY 12 1951

on Stand at Senate Inquiry

*WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)— Following is the censored transcript of today's hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into the Administration foreign policy (censorship deletions are indicated * * ):

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL—The committee will now come to order.

When the committee recessed yesterday, Senator Hickenlooper had not concluded questions, so we will now proceed with Senator Hickenlooper.

Testimony of Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall (resumed) accompanied by Felix Larkin, general counsel.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Mr. Chairman.

General Marshall, on yesterday a few questions which I had asked you at that time were directed I believe entirely at the theory of why we would accept a calculated risk in Europe which was generally agreed by everyone to be a calculated risk of the possible starting of a third world war, and now when we are in a situation of desperation, that is fighting and war and all those things, why we refuse to accept a similar calculated risk and not carry out the military activities of bombing bases of supply back in Manchuria where the Reds of China are actually fighting with us.

For the sake of the record this morning, would you care to emphasize that or discuss it any further?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, if you desire me to do so, Senator. I can only repeat largely what I stated the other day. First, that it was felt we had no choice in Western Europe but to proceed as we did, unless we allowed that region to go by default to Communist domination, and that that in our view was not similar to the present situation where we are in action and the question is whether or not we can extend that action without developing an enlarged war of the Chinese side, or a full war because of the reactions of the Soviet Union.

The principal difference that I see in the matter is that we have an issue there that is very critical to the Soviet Union in that they now are in complete accord with the Chinese Communist Government so far as we know, and they have a treaty of accord.

That is being imperiled, I would assume, and my associates have assumed, by what is happening to the Communist forces in Korea.

Therefore, the situation as to the possible actions of the Soviet Government is a more acute one by far than that in Western Europe because if they lose a close community of interests and cooperative arrangement with China at this time, that would be a very great loss to them of something they now possess.

Here is a situation where the Chinese can be brought to feel, by continued highly destructive losses, that the Soviets have let them down. Therefore, the situation is more dangerous. Now that is the general view we have taken.

Hickenlooper Denies Russian Motivation

Q.—I think I follow your statement, General, and still I want to say, without any disrespect, that I cannot agree fully with it. Because it seems to me that if the Soviet interest is so much in accord with that of the Communist Chinese, that that interest would dictate that they would see the victory in spite of anything. And if we continue as we are in Korae and the Comunist Chinese face what may seem to be certain defeat, under that policy, that by that same argument the Russians are going to come in anyway to save them from that defeat. Therefore, it would seem that there would be no more motivating influence for the Russians to come, or there would be just as much motivating influence, I should say, for the Russians t ocome in if the Chinese are facing defeat in Korea, as if they were facing disaster in results from our bombing of the bases in, let's say, Mukden and Harbin.

That is my view on that philosophy. So that we are doing nothing but losing. I mean we might just as well take after them back in Manchuria with our bombers and destroy their build-up depots and so on, because the reasoning would seem to dictate that Russia would come in just as quickly one way as the other.

A. — Well, Senator, of course, that is bound to be a matter of judgment.

Q.—Oh, yes.

A.—And on my part, particularly the reactions and the views of the Chiefs of Staff, there are decided technical involvements as to possibilities one way or the other, and there is the particular issue that you have just been discussing with me.

Now I say it is a matter of judgment. I was questioning several members of the Chiefs of Staff this morning to find out if my general statements to you yesterday were in accord with their views. We are talking now about the effect of not bombing on the build-up of the Communist forces in Korea and the effect of the bombing on the Chinese Communist forces in Korea. We are also discussing the reactions as affecting our forces and casualties.

I will go into that phase of it a moment later. But, first, I have said it is a matter of judgment. Well, whose judgment?

My reactions in this matter come very largely from the Chiefs of Staff, and I would like to recite to you gentlemen my opinion of them as an advisory agency.

General Bradley has had considerable fighting experience, and he has commanded the largest force of ground troops in history, ours or anybody else's, in the field; so he is not inexperienced; aside from being a very level-headed man, and one of great honesty of purpose.

General Vandenberg has commanded, I think, the largest pursuit or battle formation of planes, in contrast with bombers, of any man in history. That is a considerable experience.

Admiral Sherman has commanded ships in the Pacific. He had one submarined from under him, a carrier. He has been Nimitz' deputy chief of staff in the Pacific camapign. He is not, therefore, detached in his view of the Pacific. He has been in command of the Mediterranean Fleet, and knows the Mediterranean, and the principal people there from the Middle East to Gibraltar and Spain.

General Collins commanded a division which terminated the fighting in Guadalcanal. I believe he got out of a sick bed to redeem the temporary reverse we were suffering in the Russell Islands. He commanded a corps in landing on Utah Beach. He captured Cherbourg in the first large capture after Africa of Germans.

He conducted a classic battle, which received almost no publicity in this country, in destroying large portions of the two armies remaining of the Germans at Mainz in which I think his captures alone were about 23,000, and the destruction was considerably beyond that.

He captured Aachen, he captured Dusseldorf, Cologne, across the Rhine, when he arrived at the Elbe. There is a great deal of experience in that.

So, then, these men analyze these various questions, all of them, and talk out their various points of view, and bring them to me and to the President. I think it is a very formidable general opinion on affairs in the world; and I didn't mention that they had been to Japan quite frequently, and to Korea, frequently and recently; so, here is an opinion of quite a group.

I frankly doubt that this Government will ever be so fortunate as to have such a collection of experience at one time in the Chiefs of Staff.

When I was Chief of Staff, the first Joint Chiefs of Staff, I didn't have that experience at all, nor did Admiral King, nor did General Arnold; but these men have it and they have a world picture before them every day and therefore when I refer to the views of the Chiefs of Staff I think I am correct in saying that I am referring to a very vital opinion as to what is best to be done in connection with these various matters we are discussing. * * * (45 lines deleted.)

U. S. Not Awaiting Enemy Initiative

Q.—General, is there any substantial doubt in the minds of our military authorities that the Chinese Communists will not use air and use every weapon at their command before they would eventually capitulate? Won't they use all the force they have to prevent a defeat? * * * (13 lines deleted.)

Q.—The philosophy is for us to sit back and wait until they throw their full power against us and then retaliate rather than to use the tactics or the strategy or whatever mixed terms one might use to attempt to destroy them on the ground before they are able to inflict whatever damage the initial wave would inflict on us?

A.—That is one way of putting it, Senator. I would say we are not waiting for that. We are going ahead with our own maneuvers to produce the most advantageous situation we can. Let me add one further thing. I would feel, Senator, if I may say so, that this particular phase of the matter can be discussed with much more satisfaction I think to you directly with the Chiefs of Staff.

Q.—Well, I presume so far as details are concerned that is true, but yet this is a question of broad policy which probably goes beyond the, one might say, limited authority of the Chiefs of Staff. They are limited to purely military, which leads me to ask this question. If it is true, as I think it has been testified to, that normal military strategy, leaving out other implications, attitude of our allies and things of that kind, the normal conduct of a military campaign dictates purely as a military axiom that you hit the enemy where it hurts worst, stop his sources of supply. That is one of the great tactics of winning battles, et cetera.

Therefore, if we are not using our air power to go back and destroy before they can get off the ground their air power, or to destroy before they can re-supply their troops, to destroy the supplies which they will use to build up a new offensive, as I see in the paper they are doing today, that decision therefore must be a political decision and not a military decision, doesn't it follow.

A.—It follows to an extent, but there is heavy military involvement in making the decision.

Q.—I understand, but in the last analysis if it were purely a military matter, purely winning a campaign from a military standpoint those bases would be bombed. They were bombed in Europe, one of the great factors, probably the great factor, in our eventual success was that we disrupted the Germans' sources of supply and their ability to supply their troops and confuse their communication by strategic bombing and otherwise, and that contributed to the victory in battle.

A.—It was a very important factor in that battle.

Q.—It was one. I did not say it was entirely, but it was one of the important factors. Therefore, I suggest that the decision not to use that well-accepted and, I think, well-proven, tactic of destroying the enemy's sources of supply must be a political decision rather than purely a military decision. A.—However, in making that statement, Senator, you have had a preface that we were not to consider these other questions and allies and things of that sort.

Q.—I prefaced it for the purpose of saying if it were purely a military campaign, leaving out other considerations. A.—If I understand you correctly, it seems to me that would not be a political decision; that it would be just an ordinary battle decision.

Q.—Well, I understand. Apparently, I haven't made myself clear. I am attempting to get clear in my mind what seems to me to be the fact that the failure to use the power we have, which is among other things Air, deep in the enemy's territory at his sources of supply, must in the last analysis be a political decision, that is, it must be in the field of politics.

A.—Largely that, and may I read into the record, if it is agreeable to you, Senator, the President's message to General MacArthur on the policital attitude of the Government in this matter?

Q.—Yes indeed. A.—Which I have had paraphrased. It was referred to the other day. I have had it paraphrased so that it can be printed.

Asked to Paraphrase The Entire Document

THE CHAIRMAN—Is that the Jan. 13 document?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—That is the message, Sir.

THE CHAIRMAN—Will you furnish that in paraphrase in its entirety? I have been requested by members of the committee to secure that entire document.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—It's been declassified with the approval of the President, and in a manner that we do not think discloses any cryptographic information and things of that sort.

THE CHAIRMAN—All right.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—It is agreeable that I read this?

THE CHAIRMAN—Yes.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—It is with me, yes, Sir.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—This is from the Joint Chiefs of Staff on the 13th of January, addressed to General MacArthur in Tokyo, Japan, and it was sent on this date in order to give the political factors involved in a directive from the Chiefs of Staff that was dispatched the day before, the tentative proposals of the Chiefs of Staff to the Security Council of Jan. 12.

And, as I said yesterday, I believe, my understanding was, which I find now is correct, that the directive from the Chiefs of Staff to General MacArthur of Jan. 11 was without any political inclusions, and therefore it was thought desirable that the President should send a message to General MacArthur with the political factors and overall directives of the Government, though he didn't classify this as a directive.

[Editor's note: Mr. Marshall then read the paraphrased message from President Truman to General MacArthur. The text of the message as Mr. Marshall read it appears separately on this page.]

Q.—Now, General, with regard to the recommendations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff on the 12th of January, which was approximately the time—the day before—that document was issued, have the Joint Chiefs of Staff ever withdrawn their recommendations of that document containing, among others, the four points that were referred to here in General MacArthur's testimony and in your testimony? Have the Joint Chiefs of Staff ever formally withdrawn those recommendations?

A.—Will you read the first part of the question? (The question was read as directed.) The Joint Chiefs were of the opinion that with the radically changed situation in Korea it was not advisable to carry out certain of those tentative proposals and, therefore, that matter just passed to the consideration of the senior planners of the National Security Council. However, Senator, again I say they can speak much more specifically to you on that.

Q.—Yes; but the point of my question was this: on the 12th of January they issued a formalized recommendation; that is, they formalized it by putting it on paper, and issued it to various people, including General MacArthur's command. Have the recommendations contained in that document, so put on paper and formalized, ever been formally withdrawn by another recommendation formalized, as such?

A.—As to the formal transmittal of the proposal to withdraw those recommendations, I don't recall any such. As to the discussions in regard to them, I do recall a number of discussions by the Chiefs of Staff, and which were carried, through General Bradley and myself, to the Security Council. Those recommendations have been, I know, amalgamated with the general planning considerations that are continuous in the National Security Council.

Q.—Now, on yesterday, and the day before—— A.—May I add one other factor?

Q.—Surely. A.—As I said, they had sent a directive to General MacArthur on the previous day, and that was the reason for this statement of the President's which I have just read to you. This other was a planning paper and was taken to General MacArthur by General Collins personally.

Whether the Situation Became Stabllized Later

Q.—In that document of recommendations of the Joint Chiefs, of January the twelfth, I believe it said to prepare now for certain activities which have been gone over in the record, and which I shall not recanvass here; but to prepare now for certain activities in event of two happenings:

One, the necessity for the evacuation of Korea, if we evacuated Korea; or, when the situation became stabilized.

Now, the situation became stabilized, in fact, some time after that, did it not?

A.—Technically, no; because there has been considerable change in the situation since that time, in the movement of the troops, in the morale of the Army, which has a great deal to do with stabilization.

You are familiar with the advances beyond Seoul, and up beyond the Thirty-eighth Parallel; the recent maneuvers which moved south of it, and then they returned to some of the positions that had been previously evacuated.

At the time that paper was prepared and transmitted, through me, to the National Security Council, the position of our troops was well south of Seoul, I have forgotten what river it was along, and it has changed considerably since that; so I wouldn't say it is a stalemate; and I know, at the time, when they used the second word that you are referring to, in particular, it was a question of whether the Army was going to be able to produce a strong set-up in which it could face this overwhelming, as it was thought to be, attack by the Chinese Communist forces.

However, I will say again, Senator, these men submitted this as a planning study. There have been many submitted; and it has been considered in that way.

I stated that it has not been disapproved; it has not been vetoed; there has been no specific action taken by any other members of the Government concerned to block the procedure, because they have gone over, the Chiefs of Staff, each phase of it and have been satisfied with the decisions.

Again you can consult them and hear from them direct.

Q.—But, General, you are not using the term "stalemate" as synonymous with "stabilization," are you? A.—I was assuming somebody else might be, not meaning specifically you, Senator, but generally it has been used a great deal.

Q.—It would seem to me that stabilization of our situation in Korea would be when the confusion of a retreat or anything of that kind had been settled and we were integrated and morale had been restored and we were in a position where we were moving with some reliance. It would seem to me we long since stabilized our position in Korea.

Quotes Vandenberg On Tactical Air Power

Q.—You referred a moment ago to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who are very distinguished military men and have performed very fine service for our country. There is no dispute about that; and they are men in authoritative positions.

I would like to read to you a quotation from General Vandenberg referring generally to the Korean situation. He is quoted in The Air Force, the magazine called The Air Force, which is sponsored by a distinguished group of air officers, former air officers, and I think they are all former air officers and retired, but his statement contained in one of the national magazine sometime ago is quoted in this article on the use of air in Korea.

The article says, among other things, and I am quoting from the article now:

"Tactical air power is likewise under wraps, for, as General Vandenberg has explained"—and then quoting General Vandenberg—"'isolating the battlefield from reinforcements is the prime function of tactical air. Air power was rendered practically inoperative when the United Nations in an effort to avoid a diplomatic rupture with the Chinese Communists halted offensive action at the Yalu River.'"

That closes the quote from General Vandenberg. Then the article continues the paragraph and said:

"This means simply that the Air Force in Korea has been unable, due to diplomatic restrictions, to interdict the enemy at vulnerable points, especially during periods when the battle line was close to the Manchurian boundary, that the Air Force has not been able to conduct full-scale counter-air operations, since our planes have not been allowed to cross the diplomatic boundary line even in the air, and finally that the Air Force has not been able to eliminate enemy air fields over the boundary, air fields which have posed a constant threat of hostile air action."

I quote that and refer to it largely for the purpose of supporting the contention that from the military point of view such actions are necessary, that therefore the failure to do this must be of a political decision. That is, it must come from a political decision.

A.—Referring to that particular quotation and that particular article, I should suppose that it is written as of the period of the first entrance of the Chinese Communist forces into Korea when we were forced into a withdrawal clear into South Korea.

Now as I have said before, Senator, at that period we suffered very directly and very seriously from the fact that we could not carry our air beyond the Yalu River, and at that time the Chiefs of Staff brought forth a proposal that we should introduce as a first step hot pursuit, of which I was very emphatically in favor.

I explained to you what had happened with our allies with regard to that where we had a complete negation so far as they were concerned and they had troops on the ground with us, but by the time we had gotten their reactions, our forces were south of the thirty-eighth parallel, which means they were roughly 200 miles south of the Yalu, which changed the air situation very materially because, while further north we either had to bomb into Manchuria to check the movements forward; because they could reach us in a night, as I think General MacArthur has already covered, we were now in a position where we had 200 miles in which to deal with them and deal with supplies. * * * (Six lines deleted).

I am merely saying that we were in a very difficult position around the period of Nov. 6 and for a short time thereafter.

Joint Chiefs Agreed On Van Fleet Choice

Q.—General Marshall, was Van Fleet General Ridgway's personal selection for the commander of the Eighth Army? A.—No sir, I don' thing he was. He accepted it. The personal selection was mine. There was complete agreement on the part of the Joint Chiefs of Staff with that.

Q.—General Ridgway was not consulted about the assignment of General Van Fleet to the Eighth Army? A.—Yes, there was a communication back and forth on that.

Q.—Did Secretary Pace to your knowledge have any knowledge of the determination or the decision to relieve General MacArthur? I am not talking about his delivering the message to him, but did he have any knowledge in advance, either prior to his departure to the Orient or during his trip over there or at any time prior to the issuance, public issuance of the order did he have any knowledge of the decision to relieve General MacArthur?

A.—He had no knowledge of the decision until he reached Korea itself, and his knowledge then was the receipt of one message which directed him to inform General Ridgway of his appointment. The remainder of the instructions, as I have explained, never reached him, but he had no previous knowledge or his trip to Japan.

Q.—Well, then General Ridgway was aware of this prior to knowledge on the part of General MacArthur, is that correct? A.—No, Sir, but this is second-hand information I am giving you. Mr. Pace said that when he received this message, which he did not fully understand because he had not received the preceding message, he informed General Ridgway of it and they debated the surprising nature of the message when General Almond, the Chief of Staff of the Tenth Corps, and they were on his front, informed them it was already on the radio.

Q.—Now, General, getting to the question of the propriety of General MacArthur's statements, I want to read to you the policy as publicly announced by the Chief of Staff of the Army on or about the first part of February. I can't find the exact date of this particular testimony, but it is someplace between the 1st and 15th, probably the 1st of February. It can be ascertained.

Page 160 of the hearings before the Foreign Relations Committee and the Armed Services Committee on S. Con. Res. 8, that is the question of the troops to Europe business, this question was asked of General Collins by Senator Lodge, a member of this committee. Senator Lodge said as follows:

"'I would like to ask you this question. There has been a good deal of talk about there being a gag on officers in the armed services in so far as expressing their opinions before committees of Congress is concerned. Can you tell me is there such a gag?'

"GENERAL COLLINS — 'Definitely not.'

"SENATOR LODGE—'In other words, an officer is free to respond to an invitation by any committee of Congress to come up and say what he thinks?'

"GENERAL COLLINS — 'Completely so. So far as the Army is concerned, I can say without any reservation whatever that here in essence are the instructions that we have complied with for years. An officer called before a committee of the Congress must present the considered view of the Department of the Army or the War Department. I think that is a logical thing because then rather than getting mere individual opinions, the Congress has the benefit of something that has been carefully processed and evaluated by the staff and acted upon by the Secretary of the Army or the War Department itself. That rule still holds.

"'However, an officer is permitted in answer to queries complete and utterly unfettered personal views so long as he says "this is my personal view."'

"SENATOR LODGE—'So that is a protection to the public and to the member of Congress involved, is it not, so that he will know that the officer is expressing a personal view and not a view of the department?'"

General Collins Quoted On an Officer's 'Right'

I think perhaps to complete the record I will read all of it in. There are just two more paragraphs.

"GENERAL COLLINS—That is it exactly; and I think that distinction is very important because you gentlemen are entitled to know what, as I said earlier, the considered judgment of the department is. You are also entitled in my opinion, if you desire it, to have the views of any individual that you call on. And I can assure you that no Army officer is inhibited in any way from giving you his personal views so long as he makes it clear that they are his personal views.

"SENATOR LODGE—And if an Army officer comes up here and says, 'It is my personal view that we should have more armored divisions and less infantry divisions,' he has a right to say it, and it will not be held against him later; is that right?

"GENERAL COLLINS — Absolutely. He does say it right within our own department. In other words, if the day comes when we could get unanimity of opinion among our officers, then I would think there was something the matter with us."

There is some more colloquy along that line, but those are the important things. I would be glad to have the whole thing put in if anybody thinks it is necessary.

But there is a statement made publicly in an official capacity, I take it, by the Chief of Staff of the Army, who was General MacArthur's superior, and from whom General MacArthur received his orders and his directives, made publicly here, which says that an officer under the policy of the American Army has the most complete right to express his personal views so long as he says they are his personal views and it is clear that they are his personal views.

I will admit for the sake of the discussion which may follow, he says before a committee of Congress, but I submit that is only a technical distinction between a committee of Congress where an officer is testifying publicly and the officer expressing his personal views to a member of Congress who is an official of this branch of the Government.

In the light of that apparent policy, where is the grounds for the castigation or the recall of General MacArthur for expressing his personal views, for instance, in a private letter to Representative Martin?

I say, in the light of this apparent policy which says that our officers have the utmost freedom to express their personal views, so long as they make it clear they are their personal views, where can the criticism lie?

A.—That particular issue, of course, has been up many times. Without elaborating, I said virtually the same thing the other day. I have forgotten in connection with what it was.

Here I think, though, is quite a different situation. You say it is a technical point, that that is before a committee of the Congress. I think it is more than technical when you are considering releases to the press, to the whole world from the commander of the force putting himself before the whole world in various releases or statements in direct contradiction of the President of the United States, our Commander in Chief. That, I think, is quite a different situation, and I think you, yourself, would really have to agree with that.

Let me illustrate a little bit.

You are talking before a committee of Congress, and almost nine times out of ten or nineteen out of twenty, that is a member of the department here in Washington, the Navy Department, the Air Department or the Army Department.

This Issue Brought Before Entire World

Now, we are turning to a supreme commander of an international force who, in one way or another, is bringing before the entire world and all our allies, an issue of rather complete difference with his Commander in Chief, who is the executive agent of those allies of the United Nations and whose troops are in his armies.

Suppose, like was done during the Civil War, you call in the commander of an army which is engaged with the enemy, or rather you call in a commander of an army which is engaged with the enemy, and he brings out his differences of opinion before the Congress with his own army commander, and to that extent really discredits him as to his judgment in the handling of that army, and that becomes a public property, that information?

Well, I think we all must admit that that would have a very destructive effect on the morale of that entire force. It would certainly have a very weakening effect on that commander concerned. If we took the supreme commander in Tokyo and his commander in Korea, and he differs with him as to the strategic and tactical instructions he is receiving, and by statements of one kind or another of releases which go to the press he makes it well known that he is in disagreement with his supreme commander and that the casualties that they are suffering are not justified, well, you would not have very much of an army and, I think, he would be relieved almost instanto. I think he would have to be relieved.

So, it goes much further, Senator, than, I think, of coming before a committee of Congress; it goes much further. You are getting at the whole position of a soldier. You are not talking about technical things, do we have more ships of the carrier type or more battleships; do we have more tanks and less airplanes, if you are limited in funds, but you are dealing with an actuality, an army in the field, and with allies whose troops are in that army. I do not think that is comparable.

Q.—General, do you believe it is the duty of the Congress, which passes the laws of authorization, to inform itself, and the members of the Congress to inform themselves, or must the Congress just supinely take decisions that are built up in other departments of the Government, and follow them, without, in the long run being justified, or not? In other words, do not the members of the Congress have the obligation to inform themselves as much as they can?

A.—Under the Constitution, the Congress does not command armies, and an army is a very special entity.

I feel that our greatest long-term security, in our procedure, our Government, and our military force, lies in the fact that our representatives in Congress are in the middle, as it were, of the general plot, and the people of this country are kept as fully informed as it seems safe to do so.

Now, it is a very difficult line to draw; but it is a very important one.

We almost had tragedies, great tragedies, in the Civil War. We did have, undoubtedly, failures of armies because of a procedure that was highly destructive of discipline, particularly destructive of the individual commander who was being attacked from below by subordinates who were jealous of his position.

Contact With Congress On Atomic Energy Cited

What would you say, Senator, to this: Congress was not kept advised of our atomic developments. We couldn't. It would just defeat us entirely if we did that. We went a long time without any contact with Congress, and finally we did contact the top leadership, but even then we didn't explain just what we were doing.

There are considerations of strategy. You could carry, I think, your argument into the field that the American people had a right to determine the strategy of a battle, or something of that kind. You couldn't possibly hope to win a battle on a basis of something of that kind, we all recognize that, just as I feel that the individual officer, when he accepts a special position in relation to his Army, I don't mean in the general term that I am in the Army—but he is an entity in the Army, and there are great reservations as to his procedure, and you cannot, I believe, escape them with any hope of success.

Certainly you would have profound confusion.

I think there are other methods, there are other means of the Congress to deal with such situations, but I don't think the example there is comparable to the real incident that we are considering.

Q.—General, in connection with the examination of Senator Johnson from Texas on yesterday, if you care to refer to it and the document called the compilation of certain published information on the military situation in the Far East by this committee, to which he referred, and which contained a number of statements, on Page 181, document "E," statement of General MacArthur, Feb. 13, 1951, beginning with the fourth paragraph and continuing through the fifth paragraph of that document there, I believe that in answer to a question of Senator Johnson you stated that that was one of the objectionable statements that General MacArthur had made.

I have read those two paragraphs very carefully, and I see nothing in them that does anything except recite the factual situation at the time; and I see nothing that disagrees with any policy in that and yet that seemed to be an objectionable statement.

It does state that "the concept advanced by some that we should establish a line across Korea and enter into positional warfare is wholly unrealistic and delusory."

It would seem to me that is a statement that could be very properly made by a commander in the field. No decision had been made on it. He was expressing what a great many people believed to be true; and the whole discussion in those two paragraphs there would seem to me to be the expression of known fact.

Also on page 182 of that, the paragraph beginning at the bottom of the page with the words "vital decisions"—General MacArthur is quoted in the public press as saying, "vital decisions have yet to be made, decisions far beyond the scope of the authority vested in me as the military commander, which are neither solely political nor solely military, but which provide on the highest international level an answer to the obscurities which now becloud the unsolved problems raised by Red China's undeclared war in Korea."

I fail to see anything in that except an acknowledgment that he is subject to these decisions, which everyone apparently was aware had not finally been made, were in a state of flux at that time; and it seems to me to be perfectly factual, perfectly true, and certainly a noninflammatory statement. I merely register my objection at this time that I see nothing there that would be objectionable.

SENATOR JOHNSON—Would the Senator yield?

Hickenlooper Argues Point With Johnson

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—Yes; I am raising it now because I didn't care to interrupt the Senator at the time he was questioning on those points.

SENATOR JOHNSON—If the Senator doesn't desire to have me interrupt——

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—I was merely explaining why I am going into the question.

SENATOR JOHNSON—There is nothing in the question of the Senator from Texas to indicate he had objection to statements made by anyone and, as near as I can recall, there is nothing in the reply that referred to objection. The question merely was whether it was General Marshall's opinion that those statements were in conflict with the directive, and General Marshall testified that it was his opinion.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—I merely wanted to canvass them because I see nothing in any of them that could be so interpreted. That happens to be my own personal view, and as I say, at the time the questions were answered, I couldn't get into the discussion. Then on Page 184, in the second full paragraph on that page, to which the Senator from Texas referred, beginning with the word in the second sentence of that paragraph, "even under inhibitions"—I will read that:

"Even under inhibitions which now restrict activity of the United Nations forces and the corresponding military advantages which accrue to Red China, it has been shown its complete inability to accomplish by force of arms the conquest of Korea"—referring, I take it, to the Red Chinese inability.

It seems to me that is an utterly factual statement which violates no directive or which violates no particular policy.

Now, we turn again to the letter to Congressman Martin, his letter to General MacArthur being on Page 185 and the beginning of General MacArthur's reply at the bottom of that page, but the statements which were referred to in Senator Johnson's questioning are on 186 in the second paragraph, beginning with the second sentence of that paragraph, which says:

"Generally these views are well known and clearly understood, as they follow the conventional pattern of meeting force with maximum counter force, as we have never failed to do in the past."

Now, on that sentence, General, do you consider that an untrue statement—this is, a statement that is not supported by facts?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Senator, I consider the letter is an expression of views in one way or another practically in complete disagreement with the Commander in Chief; and as to the statement on Page 183 of March 24, the issue there was that that statement brought to a halt the efforts of our Commander in Chief and the executive agent of the United Nations in a procedure which was hoped might produce a halt, a stoppage of hostilities—in other words, a cease-fire basis for the beginning of some negotiatory settlement.

The evidence in that case, leaving out our own opinions, was that it did stop it, and it called a halt to the action of our allies, who were involved in it, and they dropped the consideration of the proposition that had been made to them by the executive agent of the United Nations forces, our Commander in Chief; that is a fact.

Message to Enemy Enters Discussion

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—I think we are talking about two different things.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I beg your pardon?

Q.—I think we are talking about two different things. I have not referred to the message of General MacArthur to the enemy. A.—I did not get your last statement.

Q.—I said, I have not referred to the message of General MacArthur to the enemy, that is, proposing—— A.—I thought you referred to one paragraph of it.

Q.—No, I believe not. A.—On 184, the second full paragraph, it says, "Even under inhibitions which now restrict," and so forth.

Q.—Well, I referred to that, but that is a statement of THE NEW YORK TIMES. A.—Well, that is the statement of his proposal to the Chinese Communist field commander.

Q.—Well, I do not get the connection. A.—That statement at the time was not referred back to Washington, and the wording of it came from this NEW YORK TIMES' issue of March 24.

Q.—Now, General, in connection with the capitulation or surrender or discussion of the settlement of the conflict in Korea with the Red Chinese, how was it proposed that we go about that? That is, what did we propose to do? Who were we going to talk to? Who were we going to have a conference with? How would the matter be settled?

A.—Suppose, Senator, you question the State Department on the exact terms of procedure rather than me.

Q.—All right. A.—The document concerned was cleared by the Chiefs of Staff, it was cleared by me and, of course, by the State Department with the President.

Q.—If you will bear with me for just a moment, Mr. Chairman, I will be able to shorten this up almost immediately. General Marshall, in view of the fact that, and I take it it is your view—I assume this—that the greatest possible unity of the American people is essential in any emergency action at this time—— A.—I think that is correct, sir.

Q.—(Continuing)—and that the unity and confidence of our allies, the United Nations, and the Japanese peeople, in view of their location in the Orient, and their confidence is very desirable, in view of that fact, and in view of what has happened since the relief of General MacArthur, if you had it to do over again, would you support the action that was taken and in the method by which that was taken?

A.—That is a hypothetical question, Senator, and I do not think it is a very fair one, but I would say, yes, this was foreseen.

Q.—So that the action was taken foreseeing great doubt and confusion would arise in the minds of the American people, and also with the knowledge that General MacArthur stood very high in the opinion and the confidence of the Japanese people. That is correct, is it? Those things were foreseen and calculated in advance of this decision?

Q.—That was foreseen, discussed, in advance of this decision. The decision came because it was felt it was unavoidable. It was also felt after the height of the emotional wave passed there would be some sober thinking.

SENATOR McMAHON—That is going on, General. Pardon me.

Difference Between Lull And Thinking Discussed

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER—That might be interpreted as an assumption that the American people would lull themselves into a situation of indifference after a period of time, also.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I think sober thinking and lull are not comparative terms.

Q.—One argument might support sober thinking, that philosophy, and the other might support the hope for a lull in public agitation. A.—I might add to what I said by stating it was felt a very regrettable, a very tragic state of affairs, but that the decision was inescapable.

Q.—Now just one other thing, or two, here. I want to ask whether General Bradley's story currently appearing in Life magazine has been cleared with the Department of Defense or any other proper Department.

A.—It was not cleared with me, and you will have to ask General Bradley, because I just began reading it in Life. I know this: That General Bradley was talking to me about his date of retirement, and I think he was considering the publication of the matter on his retirement.

Q.—In reading that—I shall not burden the record by going into a great deal of detail, but I think everyone will agree in reading that article. It contains a great number or a very substantial number of serious and, as I interpret them, quite sharp criticisms and many statements of discredit directed at Field Marshal Montgomery of one of our greatest allies—the British—and General Montgomery being selected as the Deputy Commander for the North Atlantic Pact ground forces, I believe now.

My question is: Should General Bradley be recalled for his very sharp criticisms of an Ally and a Commander who is second in command over whatever American troops will be sent to that Allied Army in Europe?

A.—I don't think so.

Q.—Is General Bradley any more authorized to speak frankly his mind which may give offense to our allies than General MacArthur? A.—The situation is quite different; General Bradley is talking about a past war.

Q.—But a present Commander. A.—He is talking about a past war and in his individual contacts with the various commanders concerned. In this case we are dealing with the present fight and the Supreme Commander and our allies.

Q.—Getting back for just a moment to the Russians, the Soviet program, do you believe, General, that the Russians would precipitate a third world war merely on the theory of supporting a treaty obligation which they had, as a matter of honor? A.—Not as a matter of honor, sir.

Q.—I agree with you thoroughly. In other words, do you believe that Russia, if she does, will precipitate a third world war when Russia is ready for that third world war or thinks she is ready for it? A.—Not entirely that, sir, and I explained the reaction I thought that was a possibility in the Far East as to China.

Q.—I understand that, but Russia has rolled with the punch a great many times when if they wanted to precipitate a third world war, they undoubtedly could have. A.—When you speak of rolling with the punch, you are involving now some 400,000,000 people.

Q.—In other words, I have the feeling that Russia will not engage in a third world war or start one until Russia believes the time is propitious and right and she is ready for it. A.—I would agree with you, I think that would be their governing motive in the matter.

Q.—And until Russia feels that that time is right, no particular incident short of actual attack by some country on the territorial integrity of Russia, that is their cities or something of that kind, can force Russia into a third world war. A.—She can't be forced into a third world war I do not think, but I don't agree with your conclusion of your statement because I return again to I think they might take action because of what they considered a great peril to their interests.

Q.—I have occupied a great deal of time, Mr. Chairman. I may have on the second round, if we ever have one, some more questions, but with apologies for taking so much time as I have, I will ask no more questions at this time.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Knowland.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, I just want to say on behalf of Senator Kefauver that he told me that he had to go to a Judiciary Committee meeting, some hearings, and expressed the hope that when he did return to the committee that he might have the opportunity to propound such questions as he wanted to propound to General Marshall. I told him I would express his desire in the matter and it is a matter for the committee to decide.

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, I would like to make a suggestion. If a member of a committee is not here to take his turn in cross-examination, no matter what the cause, that he at least not be allowed to interrupt a Senator who is in the process of examining the witness, not be allowed to ask his questions until the Senator examining at the time he returns completes his examination.

SENATOR McMAHON — Mr. Chairman, I would like to make this point. Senator Kefauver, if he was where, I would follow Senator Kefauver. Now it apparently means I am going to follow Senator Knowland.

THE CHAIRMAN—Oh no, I am not doing that. I am trying to have orderly procedure here and I am taking one Senator off of each of these committees in order.

I regret very much Senator Kefauver was called away, but I do not propose to return to the Armed Services Committee on the next question. It will be up to the committee to decide whether Senator Kefauver shall be permitted to ask his questions. Unless the chair is overridden, I am going to follow the policy I have adopted and call on the members of these committees alternately.

SENATOR McMAHON — All I can say is I am sorry Senator Kefauver is not here because by the looks of what I see over there my turn would come much quicker than it would if—

SENATOR KNOWLAND — I would say to the Senator from Connecticut he need not be disturbed by the material I have. It is just for reference and these are not all questions.

Knowland Denies Rift In American Thinking

THE CHAIRMAN—The Senator is recognized, and he will be permitted to conclude his questioning before any other Senator is called upon; and when he has concluded his examination, or questioning, I will then call upon the next member in order on the Foreign Relations Committee, who will be the Senator from Connecticut.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Chairman, first I would like to make a brief statement to Secretary Marshall.

It seems to me that what our combined committees are trying to do—we are seeking facts upon which a better informed Congress, and a public, may find a basis for a foreign policy in the Far East, as well as in Europe, that will have, and deserve, the substantial support of the overwhelming group of the American people.

I noticed in the press the other day that among the news agencies which had requested copies of our public transcript had been the Tass Agency of the Soviet Union.

So there be no misunderstanding to Tass, and those who may read the documents which they got, I think there should be no misinterpretation that this discussion which is going on represnts any fundamental cleavage in the American people's determination to help maintain a free world.

The American people were subject to some controversy before the attack on Pearl Harbor. When this attack took place, the American people united, as they have in all past circumstances of a similar character and as I believe they will in any future challenge to the American way of life and to our fundamental needs as a free nation in support of the free world.

So, I do not view these hearings with some of the misgivings that have been expressed in the press, and otherwise, that this may do damage to our basic national unity.

I feel that out of this will come a clearer determination that we do not intend to be pushed around by the Soviet Union, or any nation which is endeavoring to impose its will upon the free people of the world. Now, Mr. Secretary, I would like to ask this question:

Did the Joint Chiefs of Staff ever hold a formal meeting to recommend the summary removal of General MacArthur; and I refer you to Page 860 of the public record in which you start to outline the various steps which took place, starting on the 5th day of April which, as I understand, was the day that the Martin letter became public?

Did the Joint Chiefs of Staff ever hold a formal meeting to recommend the summary dismissal of General MacArthur?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—They held a meeting on the afternoon of that Sunday, the 8th, I believe, in which they came to certain conclusions which General Bradley can give you; and I noticed, and I presume you are referring to this, in the J. C. S. narrative, they used the expression "an informal meeting."

I asked them what the word "informal" meant, and they said that it meant that they didn't have the subsidiary members present, but the Chiefs of Staff, themselves, met and came to these decisions; but they used this word "informal" here, rather, it was used for them by those that prepared this paper; because the six or seven other subsidiary members of the staff were not present.

Q.—Were all of the Joint Chiefs of Staff present, including the non-voting chairman, General Bradley? A.—All were present, yes, sir; and they met, for, I think, two hours, from 2 o'clock until 4 o'clock.

Q.—That was on the Sunday—— A.—Sunday, the 8th.

Marshall Questioned On 'Purely Military'

Q.—Sunday the eighth. Now, calling your attention again to Page 860 of the public transcript, I note that this language appears:

"Later that afternoon the three Chiefs of Staff met with me and General Bradley and stated their recommendations in the matter based on purely military considerations."

What is the significance of that language that they furnished their recommendations "based on purely military considerations?"

MAY 12 1951
MAY 12 1951

A.—That was the direction of the President to me to secure the views of the Chiefs of Staff based on purely military considerations. He did not define them.

My assumption would be that he was considering the effect on the Army, of our operations there, of the transfer of command, and matters of that sort.

Q.—Well, what was the recommendation of the Joint Chiefs, based—and quoting again—"purely military considerations" to the summary dismissal of General MacArthur?

A.—Senator, I would much prefer that you ask that question of General Bradley, because he kept a note of it and I did not; and also when we came to the meeting the following day, on Monday, the 9th, I had General Bradley state those views—I did not state them—because he had sat with them and he had kept the note and I have not even got it myself now.

Q.—Well, the only reason—I do not like to press the point, Mr. Secretary, but you are the chief civilian head of the national defense establishment, and according to the testimony at that particular meeting where the joint chiefs were present, all of them, that is General Bradley, General Vandenberg, General Collins, and Admiral Sherman, their recommendations in the matter, based on purely military considerations, were presented to you as the chief civilian officer of the national defense establishment.

A.—That is correct, Sir.

Q.—And I would like to know, if you could recollect, just what they told you as to their views concerning the summary dismissal of the general.

A.—I repeat again, Senator, that General Bradley made a very careful note of them, and used this in his presentation to the President. They were satisfying to me, and they influenced my views in the matter, and I do not want to try offhand to recount them to you. You will have them the moment General Bradley steps in.

Q.—I will examine General Bradley when that time comes.

Now, Mr. Secretary, no one questions—at least no on that I have heard of, questions—the power of the President to change commanders. General MacArthur himself made very clear in his own testimony his viewpoint on this matter, and I would like to ask this question: Was the order from the President, the final order which led to the sending of the directive removing General MacArthur from his four Far Eastern commands, given to you as Secretary of Defense by the President as a written or a verbal order, or to whom was the order transmitted?

A.—As nearly as I can answer that question, as I understand it, the President gave no written directive. The President approved, with minor modifications that he stated, documents which were drafted for his consideration. On Monday morning the ninth, at 8:50 A. M., we had a meeting with the President, the same group of four——

Q.—That is of the same group of four being—was that Mr. Harriman, and the President— A.—Myself, Mr. Harriman, Mr. Acheson and General Bradley.

Q.—And General Bradley.

A.—And resumed the situation, as we saw it; and General Bradley stating the views of the Chiefs of Staff. The President orally stated that General MacArthur should be relieved, and he directed us to prepare the necessary papers for the method of relief, meaning the technical involvements and the commands, and the following day, at three o'clock, Tuesday, we met again, the same group with the President, and there submitted these drafts of his directive to General MacArthur for his relief, and of his statement, his public statement, thatw as to be made, and of the draft of the order that I was to issue to General Ridgway to take the command.

Again on the Method Used For Relieving MacArthur

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Now, I do not want to be repetitious on it, but I think it is a matter in which the committees and the country have some interest—again not challenging the President's right to do it or the decision which felt that it was necessary for them to make a command—but to a great many people, both those who had some service in the Army and those who had not, the method of relief seems to be so unusual that as soon as the general read the orders, as I understand it, he was relieved then and there, without the opportunity to turn over his command, to finish his business, or anything else—that seems to be such an unusual situation that I would like to ask when the President gave his directive to either you or General Bradley or to whomever it was given, did he say, in effect, "General, prepare the orders to General MacArthur summarily removing him," or did he merely say, "Prepare directives which will relieve General MacArthur of his command"?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—So far as I recall, he directed that we prepare the drafts of the directives for the relief of General MacArthur——

Q.—Forthwith?

A.—[Continuing] of his command. I am quite certain the word "summary" was not used, nor the word "forthwith," but he did consider the replacement of General Ridgway by General Van Fleet and questioned particularly how quickly General Van Fleet could be gotten under way.

Q.—Now, in the statements that were issued to the—that were issued subsequent to the relief of General MacArthur from the White House, my recollection is—and we can get the exact language—that it said that this matter had the approval of all the chief civilian and military advisers of the President.

Based on that statement, I would like to ask if among all of the top civilian and military advisers of the President if not a single individual raised the point on this summary dismissal and advocated that perhaps it could be done in the more normal way of permitting the general to turn over his command to his successor.

A.—It was a discussion of the method of presenting the relief to General MacArthur which took the line which should be done by a high official of the Government and it should be done at the Embassy and not at his office and that is where Mr. Pace, Secretary of the Army, came into the consideration I have already covered what happened in his case.

As far as I can recall there was no specific discussion as to the hour or immediacy of relief, that is, advance notice to General MacArthur before any press release or any directive was received by him.

Q.—Now, general, you have already testified to the effect that Mr. Secretary Pace, the Secretary of the Army, had had no advance notice of the removal of General MacArthur. Secretary Pace is the immediate civilian superior to any Army General, I would assume. Is it not somewhat of an unusual procedure that one of the chief commanders in the field would be removed without prior consultation with the Secretary of the Army?

A.—I think in this case it is a little bit different, Senator. In the first place, General MacArthur was the supreme commander; he had Army and Navy and Air under his comamnd, and he was in a very special status.

In the next place, Mr. Pace was out of the country when this came to its final issue, and there was no opportunity to bring him into it unelss there was a delay of action; and he was not General MacArthur's superior in the ordinary sense of the word. The Chiefs of Staff, as a group, were issuing the orders. General Collins was the executive agent of the Chiefs of Staff in handling these matters with General MacArthur. I would not have said that General Collins commanded General MacArthur because he did not. But the setup is a little bit different than that which is normally the case.

Q.—Now, General, on Page 795 of the public transcript, you state our position with regard to Formosa and Red China's membership in the United Nations. Did the Joint Chiefs recommend that these two issues not be subjects of discussion, which I understand was their recommendation at the time?

A.—Did the Joint Chiefs recommend that these two issues be not the subject of discussion?

General Redefines Joint Chiefs' Stand

Q.—Discussion in any cease-fire arrangement.

A.—They recommended as to the cease-fire that those phases be not included. They did not recommend that there would be no discussion of them in the final settlement.

I read in THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning that the submission yesterday of that letter of March 31, was the indication that the Joint Chiefs' recommendation had been disapproved. It had not at all. There was no recommendation by them that this should not be discussed. There was a recommendation by the Defense Department that this should be discussed between the State Department and ourselves.

Q.—Well, now just let me get that clear, General. I had understood from the earlier testimony—and if you can find the paraphrase in the documents before us, it might be helpful—I had understood that the Joint Chiefs had made a definite recommendation that in any cease-fire negotiation that the question of turning Formosa over to Communist China and the question of Communist China's admission into the United Nations should not be subject to discussion in those negotiations. Am I right or am I wrong? A.—That is correct.

Q.—Then I understood from your indorsement or letter which was put into the record yesterday, that as to the other things they had discussed, you approved them, but you disapproved their recommendation relative to these two matters being subject of discussion.

A.—No, they didn't recommend they be not subject to discussion. That memorandum really covered two different debates that were going on at the same time. One was with the State Department in relation to the negotiations that we were bound to get into in New York, and the other was connected with the terms of the armistice or cease fire.

Now the Chiefs of Staff emphatically recommended that those terms of the cease fire in no way include reference to Formosa and the entry of the Chinese Communists into the United Nations.

Q.—That is right—that is as I understand it.

A.—Now there was an additional discussion going on in meetings with them and the State Department representatives and also on a highel level regarding how we were going to handle these negotiations. I am not talking about the armistice terms; I am talking about the general proposition. We were not going to have this factor in the armistice terms, that is, from our point of view.

What was done in that second paragraph of the letter Mr. Lovett signed was to raise the point with the State Department that this should be discussed between us so that we'd have a clear understanding of how it is going to be handled and not any confused view of that matter. That is all that was.

There more properly could have been two letters because the second paragraph of that letter referred to other discussion that were going on.

Bases for an Armistice And a Solution Explored

Q.—So that your letter which you put into the record yesterday, reading:

"With reference to our discussions regarding Korea on 19 March, 1951, with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, I am transmitting herewith for your information and consideration a memorandum of 27 March, 1951, from the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the United States position regarding an armistice in Korea.

"Those views supersede those of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and were submitted to the National Security Council on 13 December, 1950. I am in general agreement with the terms, conditions and arrangements enumerated in Paragraphs 6 and 7 of the Joint Chiefs' memorandum. However, I believe that the questions of Formosa and Chinese Communist membership in the United Nations as well as other general political and security factors referred to in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the memorandum of the Joint Chiefs of Staff would be fitting topics in the consideration of the basic terms of settlement of the Korean situation and might be taken up in discussions between our two departments on the overall questions of Korea."

Now you refer in this letter specifically to the several paragraphs in the letter of the Joint Chiefs, do you not?

A.—That is correct. I have them right here.

Q.—And do you not in effect countermand their recommendations regarding Formosa and Communist China membership in the U. N.?

A.—Not in any respect whatsoever, sir. In March the Department of State inquired of the Department of Defense orally and informally as to the Department of Defense views on the relationship between the disposition of Formosa and a settlement of the Korean conflict in the light of the Far Eastern problems.

At about the same time the State Department asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff—the first one was with the Defense Department, you see—to review a prior Joint Chiefs memorandum containing recommendations for cease-fire arrangements. The answers to these two requests were combined in a study which included a set of specific armistice arrangements and a number of broad political and security considerations relating generally to a possible basis for an acceptable ultimate solution of the entire Korean problem following an armistice.

I was not there at the moment. It was over the week-end, and the State Department, as I understand it, was very anxious to get the draft of the armistice terms because they were having discussions with our allies preliminary to formal action in the United Nations Organization, so the reply had to be hurried to them.

Now the two things that I have just referred to were combined into the one memorandum; the first request of the State Department to the Defense Department as to the views of the Defense Department on the relationship between the disposition of Formosa and a settlement of the Korean conflict in the light of the Far Eastern problems. Now that was one thing.

The other was their request on the Joint Chiefs of Staff to review the armistice terms they had submitted last fall or December, and see if they were appropriate at the present time or required modification, and they modified them, not materially but specifically and forwarded them up with a specific statement that Formosa and the entry of the Chinese Communists into the United Nations should not be considered, should not be a part in any way of that armistice term, that is the cease-fire term.

Now then, this one memorandum answered both things to the extent that it suggested that we go ahead with the State Department in answer to this first request they had made of the Defense Department orally and informally as to the views of the Defense Department on the relationship between the disposition of Formosa and a settlement of the Korean problem. Now what was in the minds of people that drafted that letter, Mr. Lovett, and what had been in my own mind was that we must have a complete understanding as to just what the procedure was going to be because we don't conduct that with the United Nations. The State Department conducts that. They put both things in one letter, that's all.

I went over this morning with the Chiefs of Staff to find out if in their own communication, which I have here, there was any implication at all to the effect that you feared, and there was none.

Questions Persist On 'Differences'

Q.—Now, General, how do the recommendations regarding armistice negotiations differ between the Joint Chiefs' recommendations of March 27th or whatever the date was, and the 13th of December recommendations?

A.—How do they differ?

Q.—Yes. A.—In what particular effect?

Q.—Well, specifically, on the 13th of December had the Joint Chiefs recommended that the disposal of Formosa and the admission of Red China into the United Nations, had they recommended that that be excluded at that time?

A.—I will have to get the document.

Q.—Could you get that and make it available for the record?

A.—Yes. I can get the document and make the fact available for the record. The document I probably cannot.

Q.—Now, General, normally in the negotiations that are going on at Lake Success, is it customary before the United States makes a proposal or the State Department acting for this Government makes a proposal, to have full consultations with the defense establishment as to its strategic impact on the defenses of our nation?

A.—That has been the procedure since I have been Secretary of Defense, and as a matter of fact I instituted the procedure of our meeting with the State Department officials in the office of the Chiefs of Staff, as I described the other day where we all sit down together, and that has also been paralleled by similar meetings of lower level officials of both the State Department and the Defense Department, and they have been on both sides.

As I explained the other day, one thing I thought was important that was not going on at the time I took office was intimate discussions back and forth rather than the exchange of memorandums, so that has been carried to a very full degree in all of these matters.

Q.—Now since you have testified that there is a most intimate relationship and a full exchange of information, I assume that the Department of Defense was fully conversant with the fact that the United States representative, Mr. Austin at the United Nations in Lake Success, had been instructed to vote for the Indian proposal of Jan. 11 of this year, am I correct in that assumption?

United Nations Story Cited in Questions

A.—I will have to check the actual figures.

Q.—To refresh your memory, THE NEW YORK TIMES of January 12, an article by Mr. Walter Sullivan from Lake Success, states that the United States representative, Mr. Austin, voted for the Indian proposal at that time, which, among other things, provided that there would be a five-member nation group set up consisting of Communist China, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, the United States, and one other nation, to consider the cease-fire proposals and an armistice.

Now, three of those nations—namely the Soviet Union, Communist China, and Great Britain—had already publicly been on record in favor of the admission of Communist China into the United Nations and the turning over of the eight million free people on Formosa to the Chinese Communists.

So that when we consented to go into such a meeting, we went in with our eyes open, that we would be outvoted at least three to two and possibly four to one, depending on who the other nation might be. Now, in that same article, Mr. Sullivan says:

"United States circles indicated an expectation that the Chinese Communists would reject the plan presented today and implied that American support had been given with this expectation in mind."

As a former Secretary of State and a man of great experience in our Government, don't you think, if that is correct, that is a rather dangerous doctrine upon which this Government's foreign policies might be based? Because it was just possible that Communist China might have accepted the proposal.

A.—I recall now the incident that you have just described in detail, and I also recall part of the discussion as to the tactics to be applied to that particular situation; so I was aware of it. Now, as to the basis of the tactics, that is a question for the Secretary of State, but I was aware of it.

Q.—Now, in the same article it says this:

"One of the key points discussed by delegations afterwards was the possible outcome of talks between the great powers, including Communist China, on Formosa.

"Sir Benegal"—meaning Sir Benegal Rau, the Indian delegate—"indicated that in India's view, if today's proposal were carried out faithfully, Formosa would be turned over to China."

Your testimony is not, is it, Mr. Secretary, that we agreed to vote for this proposal in other than in good faith, and that if we go into a conference, is there not, at least, some moral obligation to be bound by the result of such a conference?

A.—I will have to get you to get the State Department to comment on that, to ask them regarding that maneuver. You are getting into another kind of maneuver which I was not completely invoved in, only partially.

Q.—The only reason I raise it at this point, Mr. Secretary, is that it appears that from the March memorandum of the Joint Chiefs, as modified by Mr. Lovett's letter put into the record yesterday, that we are getting around to the place where we again were expressing the point that, at least from the point of view of negotiation, we would consider, as we did on Jan. 11, to discuss the turning over of Formosa and the admission of Red China.

A.—Very specifically, there was to be no negotiation about Formosa and the inclusion of Communist China in the United Nations in connection with the cease-fire terms; that was excluded, and that was accepted on that basis by the State Department. But what we did want, and that is the reason this has gotten involved in semantics and things of that sort, what we did want was to have a very clear understanding of just what the procedure was going to be, which is just what you are talking about, and that is the reason we wanted to have this discussion with the State Department to decide specifically on how this was going to be met, because there were other parties who could bring up these negotiations, and we had to meet them in our handling of the matter, and we wanted no doubt about how that was going to be done.

State Department's View On the Role of Red China

Q.—But, Mr. Secretary, I assure you I am not interested in engaging in semantics. I am interested in the matter as a member of the Senate of the United States, in the fact that on Jan. 11 the representative of this Government voted for a proposal which might very well have led, had it been accepted by Communist China, to the very thing which I now find that, at least in March, if not in December, the Joint Chiefs had strongly recommended not even be a subject of discussion.

A.—When I referred to semantics, Senator, I was talking about the interpretation of what that second paragraph actually meant; that it actually meant that we wanted to have a meeting with the State Department to determine specifically how this procedure by the other countries who would be involved, who would be free to enter into the debate, was to be handled.

Q.—Now, Mr. Secretary, as far as these discussions are concerned, among other suggestions which have been made by both India and Communist China, and the Soviet Union, had been that they might sit in on the discussions of a Japanese peace treaty.

As I understand it, our State Department took—and I think quite correctly and should be commended for so doing—a very adamant position that as far as the discussions of the Japanese peace treaty were concerned, that Red China would not be brought into those discussions; so it is not a question of saying that anything that they want to discuss shall be brought into the negotiations.

My question to you now is if it were proper for the State Department to, in effect, exercise a veto on permitting Red China to discuss the Japanese peace treaty, why would it not also be perfectly reasonable for the State Department to follow out the advice of the Joint Chiefs and not even discuss the turning over of Formosa or the admission of Red China to the United Nations?

A.—The Chiefs of Staff did not advise against the discussion; they did state that those two considerations should have no part in the terms for a cease-fire.

Q.—Now, leaving that for a moment, and we will inquire— A.—May I add that I had them sit down with the document and read it and refresh their own minds and state to me whether they felt there was any implication there that they had recommended that there be no discussion, as a separate proposition, between the State Department and the Defense Department in regard to this matter. They stated, reading their own document, there had not been.

Q.—Well then, as the Secretary of National Defense, who is kept fully advised by the Department of State on the positions of the State Department in matters which may affect the interests of this nation—is the State Department now willing to discuss the question of turning Formosa over to the Chinese Communists, or admitting Red China into the United Nations?

A.—What we are trying to make clear is what the State Department should do in this matter, and that is the reason we want to have discussions with them in regard to it, so that there could be no doubts between the Defense Department and the State Department as to how the matter, the issue shall be met, because we will have to face the issue, and how will we meet it?

Knowland Praises Marshall Testimony

Q.—Mr. Secretary, I want to commend you very strongly for your statement of yesterday, I think you left no doubt, certainly in my mind, and I don't think in the minds of anybody who will read this record, that as far as you personally were concerned, and presumably speaking for the department which you head, you do not believe that Formosa should be turned over to the Chinese Communists, and you don't believe, as you put it, that Red China should be able to shoot her way into the United Nations.

I commend you for a forthright statement, one that is understandable to this committee, and to the Congress, and upon which there can be no misinterpretation.

Now, I am asking you, as the head of one of our great departments, the second ranking man in the Cabinet of the President of the United States, whether you believe the position which you have expressed is the position which the Department of State has expressed in this matter?

A.—That is my understanding; but I want to have these meetings so that we have completely developed exactly the procedure that this Government shall take. As a matter of fact, Senator, where apparently we have gotten in trouble with the understanding of this case,—it is doing the very thing you evidently imply you think should be done—that is, meeting with the State Department and settling in a very clear way just exactly how we shall proceed.

A.—Well, and I think that is a very commendable thing that it be done in conferences and not by paper work, but you, I think, will grant that we members of the Congress read for the first time in one of the great papers of this nation that our representative at Lake Success has voted for a proposal which might very well lead to the doing of things which you have testified might be very harmful to our nation's security.

We are concerned to know, basically, what is our policy in the Far East, and Korea, and to get as forthright an answer from the State Department as you have given this committee.

A.—Well, what I am concerned with is that you read that letter in the light of what is happening and what its purpose is, and it involves no disapproval whatsoever of the Chiefs of Staff's views.

Q.—I am glad to hear that, and I hope when the Secretary of State testifies before the committee he can give us as clear an understanding as to what the State Department views are in regard to this matter.

Now, you have testified, Mr. Secretary, that in your judgment the so-called March proposals of General MacArthur had upset the "apple cart," so to speak, in some delicate negotiations which were under consideration by this Government and possibly by us in negotiation with the other Governments. Am I correct in my understanding?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Do you know whether the actual formula of the so-called peace proposal which was under discussion, and which presumably was upset by the MacArthur statement, was ever submitted either for information or comment to the Supreme Commander in the Far East? A.—The actual text, I believe, was not.

Q.—Was there anything submitted to the Supreme Commander, General MacArthur, in the Far East other than the one message that went to him which you have previously mentioned? A.—Not that I know of, Senator.

Q.—Do you have that message? A.—Yes, sir, I have it right here.

Q.—Would you mind reading it into the record at this point?

A.—On the 20th of March, 1951, the Joint Chiefs of Staff dispatched the following message to General MacArthur:

"State"—meaning the State De-

partment—"planning a Presidential announcement shortly that with clearing of bulk of South Korea of aggressors, the United Nations now preparing to discuss the conditions of settlement in Korea. United Nations' feeling exists that further diplomatic efforts toward settlement should be made before any advance with major forces north of Thirty-eighth Parallel. Time will be required to determine diplomatic reactions and permit new negotiations that may develop.

"Recognizing that the parallel" —meaning the Thirty-eighth Parallel—"has no military significance, State has asked Joint Chiefs what authority you should have to permit sufficient freedom of action for next few weeks to provide security for United Nations' forces and maintain contact with the enemy. Your recommendations desired."

His recommendation in regard to this was he did not need any additional freedom of action but he did not want any further limitations on his action.

The MacArthur Statement And Its Consequences

Q.—And you interpreted that at least, even if General MacArthur did not, as preventing him as a field commander to suggest to the opposing field commander of the Communists that he might enter into negotiations for a cease-fire on the field?

A.—Yes; and also the fact that he had included reference to Formosa and entrance of the Chinese Communists into the United Nations, and matters of that sort. Because he was advised there that this thing was going to happen, and this was the executive agent of the United Nations that was going to make the public approach; and that they were in the midst of the negotiations.

As I stated, I think it had been completed with all but one or two nations, and the restraint there was merely a very minor consideration. They all dropped it instantly when his action occurred.

Q.—Now I take it that inasmuch as these March proposals had been submitted to all but two or three nations, that obviously the formula must have been pretty well agreed upon by the Government of the United States. Were you thoroughly familiar with the proposals that we were making?

A.—At the time I was because the first draft of the proposal was sent over to the Chiefs of Staff, and they went over it and discussed it with members of the State Department, part of their views were incorporated in it, and it went back to the State Department, who then returned with the document, as I recall, and there was an open discussion with Mr. Acheson, Mr. Lovett, and myself and the Chiefs of Staff in final regard to it. Then that was transmitted, so far as the Defense Department was concerned, by me to the State Department in the present terms that were acceptable.

Q.—Can you recall what the terms of that proposal were?

A.—I can't recall the detail. It is a rather lengthy document.

Q.—Could I read you a memo and see whether any or all of these might be included:

"1. Soviet Russia is being approached via England and India in an attempt to make her accept the following compromise solutions and to use her good offices to persuade Red China to agree to them.

"2. A meeting of the U. N. Council to be held, at which helpful allies of the U. S. will explain that

"A. The Korean war is a U. N. affair;

"B. It has become a war with Red China; therefore it can only be ended by negotiating with Red China;

"C. The presence of Red China in the U. N. thus becomes indispensable;

"D. Admission of Red China to the U. N. is a procedural matter precluding the use of the veto and requiring only a simple majority vote;

"E. It would not necessarily call for U. S. recognition of Red China, for, after all, there are precedents in the U. N. of nations sitting in and discussing problems with other nations without recognizing them. Cuba has no diplomatic relations with the Soviets or their satellites and Chile has severed hers;

"F. In this way the U. S., while perfunctorily protected against the seating of Red China, for internal reasons, will be enabled without any prejudices to accept the vote of the majority of the council on the seating of Red China.

3. As soon as this is done, a cease-fire to take place and a U. N.-Red China peace settlement to be negotiated on the following basis:

"A. Red Chinese troops and U. N. troops to be evacuated from Korea;

"B. Dr. Ralph Bunche to be appointed U. N. High Commissioner for the whole of Korea;

"C. A U. N. militia composed of men of various U. N. member nations to be placed at Bunche's disposal for the maintenance of law and order in Korea, the Soviets to take part in this alongside of the other U. N. Council powers;

"D. Under Bunche, supported by this international militia and other U. N. assistant commissioners, free and unfettered elections to be held under U. N. supervision;

"E. In deference to American susceptibility, now threatened by MacArthur's views, every effort to be made to leave Formosa out of the picture, at least up to the time of the final restoration of peace and the holding of Korean elections. Preliminary soundings apparently make Nehru hopeful that Peiping will not insist on immediate liquidation of Chiang Kai-shek if secretly assured it will follow in course of time."

Is there anything in that memorandum which——

A.—I am not familiar with that memorandum, sir. The State Department can bring it up here. It was a public announcement rather than a tactical political discussion.

Knowland Brings Up Preliminary Talks

Q.—Well, certainly before they made a public announcement, in effect a public notice to the Chinese Communists that they wanted to bring a cease-fire and enter into negotiations, there must have been some specific matters discussed as to what would be considered and how far our Government would be willing to go, would there not?

Q.—There was a discussion of the various terms included in the pronouncement.

SENATOR McMAHON—Would the Senator tell us, so we can follow his examination—is this a memorandum which the Senator from California wrote?

SENATOR KNOWLAND—This is a memorandum of some of the terms and conditions I had been given to understand were the subject of discussion, and I am trying to find out whether that is correct, and whether any of these proposals were, in fact, the subject of discussion with other nations relative to a possible cease-fire.

SENATOR McMAHON—I don't want to hold up the Senator, but I would like to ask this: is it an official memorandum?

SENATOR KNOWLAND — No, it is not an official——

SENATOR McMAHON—This is a compendium of various rumors?

SENATOR KNOWLAND — A compendium of various reports.

SENATOR McMAHON—Rumors and reports. Thank you.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—I understand you to say, in so far as you can recall, none of these various reports, so far as you know, were to be included in any cease-fire arrangement with the Communists.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, there were a good many you covered, Senator, but none of them awakened any memory of mine as to this specific communication, which was the terms and conditions we would propose to bring about a meeting with the representatives of the Communist China Government toward the cessation of hostilities.

Q.—Would it be possible for you to indicate what were some of the proposals we were willing to include in such negotiations? A.—I haven't the document here, but I should think that is something for the State Department. We concurred in this document. I haven't got it here, sir.

Q.—Now, let me understand that. You say you concurred in the document. Are you referring to the public announcement that was to be made by the President of the United States? A.—With the concurrence of our allies.

Q.—With the concurrence of other allies, to Communist China. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—All right, that is one document, and I understand you concurred in that. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—That is a public statement that you believe General MacArthur's statement might have upset the applecart on.

Now, certainly in our State Department and defense establishment, before we make arrangements to go into a meeting with another power, even if it is a potentially unfriendly one or an actual foe in a war that is now going on, we must have worked out some papers on the basis of just how far we were willing to go and what price we were willing to pay in order to bring the negotiations to a successful conclusion.

Was that phase of the problem discussed by the State Department with the defense establishment?

A.—I am quite certain that it was discussed with the Chiefs of Staff when they brought up their suggestions to me as to the handling of the document.

Cease-Fire Procedure In U. N. Discussed

Q.—But you do not at this time recall any of those fundamental principles which would underlie and be a directive to our negotiating officials as to how far they were authorized to go in order to bring such a meeting to a successful conclusion?

A.—Nothing, except the very broad principles that I have referred to regarding Formosa; regarding the entry of the Chinese Communists, the Chinese Communists Government, in the United Nations, and in regard to security arrangements that we must have. The whole procedure of how we would handle a cease-fire, how we could make it a safe proposition for us to go along with, all of that was worked out in detail and, of course, preceded by discussions.

Now, the matters that you have read to me in that paper seem to include the maneuvers we would have before the United Nations committee or whatever it was or whatever formal committee it should be. I cannot go into that phase of the matter; but there were specific things that were involved in this.

We were coming up with the proposal to the Chinese Communists that would place us in an awkward position that might weaken our position, not only at the moment in regard to security, but in the further final settlements, whatever they might be.

Now, those, and how we would handle the thing for the security of our forces to make this thing a practical proposition, those were all gone into, and I am fairly familiar with them. But the actual details of them will come very much better from the Chiefs of Staff.

Q.—Now, when you make a proposal to a government which is engaging you in fighting, in Korea in this particular case, they, of course, have certain objectives; they have publicly stated them.

When we agree to sit down and negotiate regarding some of those matters that they have publicly expressed their views on, do we not at least indicate that while we ourselves may vote against the turning over of Formosa and be very adamant about it, and we may vote against Chinese membership in the United Nations, and be very adamant about it, that if we enter into a committee of five or seven or thirteen and are outvoted, then what position are we in if we have agreed to discuss these matters?

A.—Well, an agreement to discuss is inevitably involved in any kind of negotiation in regard to matters pertaining to the United Nations, and the use of the word "agreement" hardly enters into it because that is a matter of course rather than a matter of agreement.

The method of controlling, delimitmg that agreement is, of course, something else.

Now, in this particular case there would be a great deal in the way of tactics in handling the matter which would have to be gone into, but there were certain things that were very definite regarding Formosa, regarding the entrance of the Chinese Communist Government into the United Nations, and that is a long-term proposition, because you look to the future as to when, if ever, they become a respectable government that can be treated as one of the family of nations.

Then Cites Concerns Of Defense Department

All that, of course, is part—part of the matter of State Department technique in the strategy and tactics which Mr. Austin, in certain measure, becomes highly involved in.

From the Defense Department, what we are concerned with is that nothing is done to endanger our immediate position at present, and nothing is done which is going to be an embarrassment to us in the long view.

Now, we come back to one of the moot points in this whole affair, which is Formosa.

Q.—Is what?

A.—Formosa. We are very clear on that, that Formosa must never be allowed to come under the control of a Communist government or of a government that is under Soviet Communist domination. Now, that is clear; however otherwise that might be handled is another matter which undoubtedly would be discussed one way or another.

The entry of the Chinese Communists into the United Nations is a matter right now we are adamant in regard to. Now, you have to take the long view into the future, and if you could conceive of that becoming, as I say, a respected government in the family of nations, then you have got a new consideration on your hands. What that will be and how far off in the future that will be, if it ever comes up, is something else.

Q.—But, General, you testified here, either yesterday or the day before, that in regard to this question of hot pursuit, that it was the unanimous recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, that it was approved by you as Secretary of National Defense, that it was, as I understood your testimony, approved by the President of the United States, and that the State Department, through its representatives, was directed to take the matter up with the United Nations members who are now allied with us by making contributions in Korea, and by a vote unanimously of thirteen members, they disagreed with the views which were apparently strongly held by this Government.

Now, in view of that testimony, I raise the same question regarding this situation on Formosa, and on the U. N. membership.

Supposing we are again outvoted 13-1, where does that leave us? You have testified that we reversed the best judgment of our Chiefs of Staff, the Secretary of Defense, the President of the United States, on this question of hot pursuit, because thirteen other nations allied with us voted "no," and we voted "yes."

Now, supposing in this meeting hat is proposed to go into negotiations with respect to a cease-fire we are outvoted 13-1 on the question of Formosa and U. N. membership?

A.—You are now, it seems to me, bringing up the question of our tactics and strategy in the diplomatic way in connection with our membership in the United Nations and our immediate obligations and responsibilities in the Far East, in Korea in particular.

I am not apprised at the present time of just what decisions this Government has taken in regard to certain policies involved in this matter. Specifically I am thinking now of the veto. There have been certain developments there.

I believe as they say there is a great field day for lawyers in regard to one part of it, but I believe at the present time that where on one side we will say the Security Council, the veto doesn't apply because they held it is a procedural matter, and you have got a technical word there on which they twist and turn, and on the other side that it come into the Assembly and you have a different picture.

I may have just reversed it, but anyway those matters are involved on which the State Department can talk with much more exactitude than I can.

Formosa to Be Kept From Red Control

Q.—But it becomes a very material fact, does it not, General, when the State Department has publicly announced that in the matter of the admission of Communist China that they specifically have stated they would not use the veto?

Now that means that if you do not use a veto, whether it is because they can't legally use it or because there is a difference of opinion and they have taken their stand based on one opinion, then it means that it is subject to the majority vote or whatever the vote is required on the admission of a government like Communist China.

A.—All I can say to that is, Senator, we have a very clear opinion that Formosa shall not fall under the control of the Communist Government or a dominated government by the Soviet Union, and the same as to the membership in the United Nations.

Now just how that is maneuvered, how that is maintained I think your questions apply more to the State Department than they do to me.

Q.—Might I ask just one more question on that point and then we will reserve the balance for the State Department.

On this discussion regarding the so-called March proposal, can you recall whether or not among the suggestions made was that in effect there should be a U. N. trusteeship set up over all of Korea under some trustee? Either Dr. Bunche or someone else?

A.—I don't recall that, sir. I must confess to considerable vagueness about a document that I read and passed on, but the document is available and can be, I presume, made a matter of at least confidential evidence before this committee.

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, may I ask the Senator from California a question or rather make a suggestion to him?

THE CHAIRMAN—If he will yield for that purpose.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—I will be glad to yield.

SENATOR MORSE—Is the Senator going to call during his examnation for the supplying of this committee with the document the Secretary of Defense says he concurred in at the time, because I think it goes to the heart of the line of questioning the Senator is now following and I would like to see that document.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — I would say that I was next going to ask of the Department of National Defense if they could supply, with the permission of the President or whoever's permission would have to be secured, the document which the State Department was upset about because of General MacArthur's appeal to the Communist leaders to surrender in March, and also if they could provide for the committee in either executive, if it is a highly classified document or otherwise, the general basis upon which these negotiations would be conducted.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, Senator, isn't that really for the State Department?

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Well, I thought, however, with your contacts with the department you might pass on to them that this question has been raised.

GENERAL MARSHALL—But it is a very clear statement——

THE CHAIRMAN—Submit a formal request for it, then Senator——

SENATOR KNOWLAND—I will submit, during the noon hour, a letter regarding it. Now, going back to the question of the relief of General MacArthur, in the manner in which it was done, but not in the least questioning the right of the President to do it, I would like to ask whether, during these conferences which took place on the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th of April, whether any thought had been given, or discussion had taken place relative to calling him back to the United States for consultations, temporarily turning over his command to General Ridgway, as was finally done, on a face-to-face basis, to see if they couldn't find an area of agreement such as we are trying to find in these combined committees?

GENERAL MARSHALL — I don't recall of any such discussion. I would assume that they thought an effort had been made by the President going out as far as Wake Island to see him.

Q.—Now, as the chief civilian head of the national defense establishment, as distinguished from the Joint Chiefs, do you know whether or not any or all of the Joint Chiefs of Staff have ever been to Formosa?

A.—I don't recall of such a visit, but I will have it looked up so as I can report to you; but, of course, they can tell you, also.

Johnson's Visit To Tokyo Recalled

Q.—Now, could you also check and, I think it took place prior to your taking over the office of Secretary of National Defense—my information had been to the effect that either one or several of the Joint Chiefs had given some consideration at the time I think Secretary Johnson went out to Formosa—to have one of them go down to Formosa, and that the matter was discussed with the Department of State and at least a considerable amount of cold water was thrown on the suggestion? Would you have any recollection——

A.—I don't know about that, sir; but you referred to Formosa, and I think you meant Tokyo.

Q.—When they went to Tokyo. If we might correct the record in that regard, that when Secretary Johnson went to Tokyo, you think some suggestion had been made?

A.—I don't know anything in regard to that, sir.

Q.—Now, Mr. Secretary, in June of 1950, shortly after the invasion took place, the aggression took place in Korea, which was the 25th of June, Korean time, and the 24th of June, Washington time, the first directive that had gone to the Far East Command, as I understand it, was that our planes and ships should not go north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel. Is that correct? I refer you to Page 8 of the Joint Chiefs of Staff report to the Senate committees on Korean operations.

A.—What you want to find out is——

Q.—What I want to find out—we now have restrictions against the Air Force going north of the Yalu River, and the reasons have been given. And while some people may differ as to the logic or the judgment in those restrictions, they nevertheless exist. An honest difference of opinion can exist and does exist between General MacArthur, on the one hand, and the President or the Government, on the other, as to the advisability of bombing north of the Yalu River.

Now, I am trying to bring out here—was it not a fact that in the opening phases of the aggression by the North Koreans against the Republic of Korea, when General MacArthur was given his first directives relative to assistance to the Republic of Korea, that he was restricted from using his air power and naval power north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel in the same way that he is now restricted, or was while he was still commander, from using it north of Yalu River?

A.—I have here a message of the 29th of June. Will that cover the date question?

Q.—I think the earlier message was the 26th of June. A.—I don't get anything on the 26th.

On Restrictions Last June To Bombing Beyond Parallel

Q.—I think if you look in your paraphrasing on Page 8 you will see it in both Subparagraph A and in Paragraph 14. What I am trying to bring out here is that there were restrictions at that time to the use by General MacArthur of either air or naval power north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel, in the same way that there is now restrictions against the use of air power north of the Yalu River. And I am trying to establish whether that is a fact or not.

A.—I am trying to find the message that has that in it. There is a message of the 29th here which is rather specific. I cannot find the other message.

Q.—Let me read the paraphrase to you, and I am reading out of this Joint Chiefs' memorandum—for the benefit of Admiral Davis, so he will know where it is coming from. And I read:

"In order to clear South Korea of Northern Korean military forces, all military targets south of the Thirty-eighth Parallel were cleared for attack by the Air forces engaged in aggression against South Korea without restriction in coastal waters and sea approaches south of the Thirty-eighth Parallel."

That was on the 26th.

Now, also on the 26th; apparently, in Subparagraph 14, appears the following:

"The instructions furnished Commander in Chief, Far East, by the Joint Chiefs of Staff of 26 June, 1950, provided for the employment of United States naval and air forces against North Korean units south of the Thirty-eighth Parallel only."

Now they are the messages of the 26th.

Now you say there was a message of the 29th?

A.—Well, I find here they have given me a brief of these first messages, but not the detailed messages. However, on the 29th there is a more specific message relating to that same thing. But as to this, of course, the Chiefs of Staff can give you a much more exact reply than I can. Except that I might say that this is the period when we were trying to clear our citizens and other people out of there by planes. The aggression started on the 25th, which was our 24th.

Q.—Yes, but all of our people were in South Korea, and, as I read this, our Air Force had all the authority they needed to bomb South Korea, which was our friend and ally and the victim of aggression, and in which our citizens resided; but they were restricted from bombing in the area of the North Koreans, who were the aggressors, who were making war upon this nation which has been established by the United Nations; and they, the aggressor, was off-limits in the same way that the Chinese aggressor is today off-limits north of the Yalu. Is that not correct?

A.—That is correct, sir; but, while they can give you the accurate condition of affairs under which this was done, my assumption would be—I am talking about a period when I was not in the play—that they were giving directives for bombing on the aggressors who themselves were south of the Thirty-eighth Parallel.

Quotes Early Message On Use of Forces

Q.—I understand that. Clearly that is right. A.—And they didn't have, I imagine, very much with which to do it; and they were trying to get these people out; and they didn't want any further involvements at that moment until they caught their breath and figured out what had best be done.

However, on the 29th here is a definite case where I have the message, which will have to be paraphrased or excluded from the testimony.

"In support of resolutions of the United Nations approved on the 25th of June and transmitted on the 28th, and the 27th of June transmitted"—as a certain reference—"you will employ naval and air forces available to the Far East Command to provide fullest possible support for South Korean forces by attack on military targets so as to permit these forces to clear South Korea of North Korean forces.

"Employment of Army forces will be limited to essential communications and other essential service units, except that you are authorized to employ such Army combat and service forces as to insure the retention of a port and air base in the general area of Pusan-Chinhae.

"By naval and air action you will defend Formosa against invasion or attack." I will skip that.

"You are authorized to extend your operations in Northern Korea against air bases, depots, tanks, farms, troop columns and other purely military targets, if and when this becomes essential for the performance of your mission, as given in a preceding paragraph, or to avoid unnecessary casualties to our forces. Special care will be taken to insure that operations in North Korea stay well clear of the frontiers of Manchuria or the Soviet Union.

"The decision to commit United States air and naval forces and limited Army forces to provide cover and support for South Korean troops does not constitute a decision to engage in war with the Soviet Union if Soviet forces intervene in Korea. Decision regarding Korea, however, is taken in full realization of the risk involved. If Soviet forces actively oppose our operations in Korea, your forces should defend themselves but should take no action to aggravate the situation, and you should report the situation to Washington."

Later on they came to successive moves where our ground forces were increased, and finally it developed into a general procedure of attack. But there was the release into North Korea on the 29th, which would I believe be the 30th.

Q.—Do you know whether or not the original directive that they would not go north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel was done at the instigation and suggestion of the Joint Chiefs or was that a suggestion that came out of either the United Nations or the State Department? A.—I can't answer that, sir, but I might say those preliminary directives in the first thirty-six or forty-eight hours were very hasty messages to General MacArthur, and the situation as to the employment of our troops developed very rapidly.

Q.—I might say, Mr. Secretary, that on the 29th of June, I wrote to the Honorable Louis Johnson, Secretary of National Defense, a communication which ended up with this paragraph:

"To permit the aggressor forces of Communist North Korea to be secure in their bases, depots and military installations north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel permits them to supply and re-supply their aggressive forces now south of the line of demarcation.

"In addition, it seems to me that the damage to military installations should not be limited to the territory of the victims of the aggression while the aggressor's installations are free from danger and fully available to him to try the same thing again if he is not successful in his present venture."

Principle of Keeping Reds in Lair Cited

It seems to me that that same principle relative to allowing the North Koreans to be secure is somewhat similar but, of course, broader in the situation of having the Chinese Communist safe in his lair.

Now, in the release, Mr. Secretary, to the American public relative to the removal of General MacArthur, there appeared some correspondence relative to the arming of the R. O. K. forces or Republic of Korea forces. Do you know how that particular exchange of correspondence happened to have been included for release and at those suggestion that was made?

A.—I don't recall the specific suggestion but there had been these factors leading up to it. In the debate on the floor of the House of Representatives the issue was brought up of our apparent failure to profitably employ some 500,000 South Korean young men, and the indications were that our manpower limits would be cut, would be reduced because of this acknowledged failure to profit by manpower that was not otherwise available to this country.

It thereupon became necessary in order to provide some basis for an answer to that, to be able to present a convincing statement to individuals rather than a general debate on the floor of the fact that we had considered that question.

As a matter of fact I had put it up to the Chiefs of Staff in December and they about the 5th of January had sent a proposal with a series of suggestions to General MacArthur and he had considered it at tht time as inadvisable for very specific reasons.

Now, therefore, nothing further was done about it and the weapons concerned I believe went over to the Japanese police reserve or whatever they call that.

Now on a Saturday, as I recall, the 7th of April, there was published in a small magazine in New York a reply by General MacArthur in relation to this same matter in which he said—I have forgotten the exact language, but you have it here—that this was a matter involving foreign policy and therefore he could make no statement on the question.

That was the reason for including, because in this particular exchange the deciding action had been General MacArthur's in that particular case, and for very definite reasons and I thought very excellent reasons, but the implication was in the minds of those who just read the message without any knowledge of the facts, that here was an opportunity to use 500,000 men, we will say, and for some Foreign Relations reason which he was under wraps, as it were, to disclose, that was not done.

That is the only reason I can give you for including that document in the release. I was not present during the decision as to documents to be released.

Q.—Mr. Secretary, on the message of Jan. 4 from the Joint Chiefs to the Commander in Chief, that was purely a tentative proposal upon which his comments had been asked, was it not? A.—That is correct.

Q.—And may I call your attention just to refresh your memory that on May the 8th you wrote a letter to Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, the second paragraph of which reads as follows. He had inquired about this situation, and I quote:

"The memorandum of January 4th, from the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the Commander in Chief, United Nations Command, was not a final determination upon the desirability of arming the Republic of Korea manpower, but represented the preliminary planning on which to obtain the comments of the field commander.

"I agree with you that circumstances have substantially changed since that time. Continuous consideration has been given to the problem since January, as well as before."

Now, my recollection of General MacArthur's testimony was that in January we were in a retrograde movement. No one was quite certain of how far back we might be pushed. We might be pushed back to the Pusan beachhead again, and that under those circumstances, and with the general conditions he was facing, as between arming 75,000 of the security force, or of the auxiliary police in Japan, and as between arming the Koreans, that probably, in his judgment at least—whether sound or unsound is not for me to say—in his judgment at least, those arms which were available could better be used in Japan, under the circumstances then existing. Is that substantially correct?

Many Deletions Made in Record

A.—I think that is approximately correct. (More than thirty lines deleted.)

(Two lines deleted.)

(Twelve lines deleted.)

Q.—I thought that phase of the matter, I don't know as it applies so directly to what we are saying, would be of interest here because the situation has not changed in that respect. (About thirty-eight lines deleted.)

(Five lines deleted.)

(Thirteen lines deleted.)

Q.—Your recollection may be clearer than mine on it, but my recollection of General MacArthur's testimony was that the reasons that he had stated on this retrograde movement, were that he did not feel it advisable to equip a large number of reinforcements; he stated that some of them had fought very well, and that some, because of lack of training and leadership, have not given as good an account of themselves, and he agreed, I think, with your observation that one of the great handicaps was the lack of an officer corps because the country has only been in existence as a republic for less than two years, and here we sent our officers to West Point and Command and General Staff. Schools and so forth, and they have had no opportunity to properly train and adequately staff a command set-up for the Korean Army.

A.—Here is the exact reference, which I am quoting here from the actual message, which would have to be paraphrased before it is issued. This is from General MacArthur on the sixth of January:

"Consider here that the influence of past and possibly future events is of importance equal to or greater than material availability in analyzing problem of arming additional R. O. K. manpower. * * * (Four lines deleted.)

"The type and quantity of weapons indicated by the Chiefs of Staff as being currently available would have equal application to equipment of the national police reserve in Japan.

"In view of * * * (One line deleted) the probable restricted size of the battlefront in which we may operate in the near future, and the high priority of police reserve, Japan requirements, the value of attempting to organize, train and arm additional R. O. K. units in the immediate future appears questionable."

They have omitted from this message his discussion of the significant portions, as he describes it, significant portions of the young Koreans that were—significant amounts of arms that have been issued to young Koreans, have brought little result in their defense of local districts in the rear of the battle line.

Q.—But presumably, Mr. Secretary, this question of the arming of the South Koreans must have assumed rather large proportions in the mind of the President and his chief civilian and military advisers, when considering all the correspondence that had flown back and forth between General MacArthur and Washington, that this particular item was picked out for the purpose of supporting his dismissal.

You now testify that presumably his judgment was correct, and yet the correspondence on it is included, presumably, as a basis for his dismissal.

A.—I think I explained, Senator, in relation to that, that his answer to this to the editor of The Freeman magazine said: "There is nothing I can add to the information therein contained." That is THE NEW YORK TIMES dispatch. "The issue is one determined by the Republic of Korea and the United States Government, and involves basic political decisions beyond my authority."

Requests for Equipment To Arm Korean Troops

Q.—Well, isn't that correct, Mr. Secretary? In other words, has not, as a matter of fact, the President of the Republic of Korea, Mr. Syngman Rhee, through our Ambassador, Mr. Muccio, in Korea, and through the Korean Ambassador in Washington, on several occasions pleaded for arms and equipment that would arm several hundred thousand of the youth group and others in Korea who, at least, the President of Korea feels would be available to resist aggression? Now, that is a fact, is it not?

A.—That is a fact, and they approached me as Secretary of Defense, and I addressed a memorandum to the Chiefs of Staff to see what could be done about it; and out of that came the Chiefs of Staff message to General MacArthur.

Q.—Now, as a matter of fact, Mr. Secretary, isn't it also true that when the Joint Chiefs sent their tentative memo of January, saying that X number of weapons could be furnished, that was just a small fraction of the amount of equipment which has been requested by the Government of the Republic of Korea for their forces, and that the reason that it could not be supplied, other than the advisability of supplying it, is because the weapons are not available due to our own requirements and the requirements of our North Atlantic Allies and other Allies under the M. D. A. P. program.

So does it become a fact when General MacArthur says this is a matter between governments and "is on an echelon higher than mine" ——

A.—It is a matter literally between the Chiefs of Staff and General MacArthur. If he accepted any of the suggestions made or had his own proposal as to the weapons, they were going to be sent that way. There wasn't any question about that.

Q.—But did General MacArthur have sufficient weapons or did the Joint Chiefs offer General MacArthur sufficient weapons to have two or three hundred thousand South Korean troops had he the desire to do so?

A.—They offered availability of 160,000 rifles, with spart parts of 50,000; 70,000 submachine guns; 150,000 carbines, 8,000 Browning automatic rifles. That is a pretty considerable number, because one man doesn't carry two kinds of rifles or a submachine gun and rifle.

Also ammunition supply for submachineguns, Browning automatic rifles, 100,000 Model 1903 rifles and 100,000 MI carbines is feasible. Of course, he had other ammunition out there, so the two had to be considered together.

Q.—That in your judgment as a military man might be sufficient to equip what you would call a constabulary force, but you wouldn't say that equipment would be sufficient to equip divisions to meet the type of aggression coming down from North Korea, would you? A.—It wasn't merely a question of divisions.

(Reading) "Based on availability of above weapons it appears that R. O. K. forces could be increased from 200,000 to 300,000 men, armed with rifles, auto rifles, carbines and submachine guns. However, unless used in part to form new divisions, which would be relatively ineffective due to lack of infantry supporting weapons and artillery, it is probable that only on the order of 75,000 can be effectively utilized initially, with an ultimate build-up to approximately 100,000 in the following type organizations:

"A. Augment the rifle strength" —that is, increase the rifle strength—" of the South Korean divisions and other U. N. forces.

"B. Form special units for guarding lines of communications and for operations against Communist guerrillas.

"C. Conduct guerrilla operations in Communist-held territory.

"3. Joint Chiefs of Staff are of the opinion that recruitment for new units should include, but not be limited to, the membership of the Korean Youth Corps and/or any other group in the R. O. K. Arms should be issued only to organized units under the control and discipline of the military authorities in Korea.

"4 Request your comment and recommendations to include:

"A. Total number of additional R. O. K. personnel that can be profitably employed.

"B. Method of employment, namely, new divisions, additional strength in current divisions, etc.

"C. Length of time required to organize and train additional manpower.

"D. Other points in connection with current problem."

Senators Vote Recess In Morning Session

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, I raise a procedural point with the Senator from California. It is now 1:10 and I was hoping and I suppose others did, that we were going to recess at 1 as usual, and I made a luncheon engagement in view of that assumption, and I wonder if we can't recess now and reconvene and have the Senator from California continue at the time we reconvene.

THE CHAIRMAN—I shall be happy to take that course if that meets with the pleasure of the Senator from California.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — It meets with my pleasure.

SENATOR RUSSELL — Very well, gentlemen, we will stand in recess until 2:30.

(Whereupon at 1:15 P. M. the hearing was recessed to reconvene at 2:30 P. M. this same day.)

30.24- 22871

Afternoon Session

(Afternoon session started at 2:30 P. M.)

THE CHAIRMAN—When the committee recessed, shortly after 1 o'clock, Senator Knowland was examining General Marshall, and had not concluded; so, you may proceed, now, Senator Knowland.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Mr. Secretary, we had completed, at the time of the recess, our discussion of the R. O. K. forces, insofar as our arming them was concerned. I would like to turn to a different subject.

A good deal has appeared in the press and on the radio to the effect that Red Chinese are using weapons of American manufacture against our troops that were originally furnished to Chiang Kai-shek's forces during the war against Japan or, subsequently, in the post-war period.

That has been the point that has been raised by some people also who have opposed giving additional supplies to the Republic of China.

I would like to ask you whether you have any figures available, to your own knowledge, or whether you could secure them for the committee, which would show what portions of the arms that are being captured from Chinese Communists at the present time, and North Korean Communists, are of American manufacture, as distinguished from German or Japanese or Russian or Chinese manufacture, in the arsenals at Mukden and otherwise?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I think I saw a statement of that. I will obtain it for you.

Q.—Now, is it true that during World War II, that the United States shipped considerable quantities of lend-lease supplies to the Soviet Union! A.—Yes, very material.

Q.—And it is quite possible that some arms or equipment of American manufacture could have been resupplied by the Soviet Union to the North Koreans, or to the Chinese Communists for the very propaganda purposes that they have made use of it for? A.—I suppose that is a possibility.

Q.—It is also true, is it not, General, that in the earlier stages of the fighting and in some of the retrograde movements both earlier in the Korean war right after the invasion and even more recently, that like all military units we have had to abandon some equipment ourselves even in this Korean war? A.—I believe that is correct.

Q.—I would like just for the record at this time to quote from the official booklet of the United States Department of Commerce, Foreign Transactions of the United States Government, basic data through Dec. 31, 1950, to show that the following materials were given to the several countries in the war periods:

France, $1,770,000,000; the British Commonwealth, $4,281,000,000; the Soviet Union, $10,769,000,000; China $1,247,000,000. That is the World War I period.

Now in the post-war period it shows that the British Commonwealth total grants and credits were $6,010,000,000; France $3,910,000,000, Germany, which was a former enemy country, $3,085,000,000; Italy, which was a former enemy country, $2,066,000,000; Japan, a former enemy country, $1,706,000,000, and China, $1,567,000,000, from the official reports of the United States Department of Commerce.

Now with reference to the assistance that had been given to the Republic of China, Mr. Secretary, and because of your intimate knowledge of the situation in that country, I want to direct your attention with reference to this aid to China to Page 691 and 692 of The United States Relations with China, a document issued by the Department of State, otherwise known as the White Paper, and in that—

A.—What page, please?

Truman Statement Cited by Knowland

Q.—691 and 692. In that is the statement issued by President Truman on United States policy towards China issued Dec. 18, 1946, and I call your attention—I am going only to read two paragraphs to lay a basis for some questions I desire to ask. At the bottom of Page 691 apepars this language, and I quote:

"Assistance took the form of goods and equipment and of services. Almost half the total made available to China consisted of services such as those involved in air and water transportation of troops.

"According to the latest figures reported, lend-lease assistance to China up to V-J Day totaled approximately $870 million. From V-J Day to the end of February, shortly after General Marshall's arriving, the total was approximately $600 million, mostly in transportation costs.

"Thereafter the program was reduced to the fulfillment of outstanding commitments, much of which was later suspended."

And then going down to the third paragraph of that page—and this is all I am going to read of the statement—

"China agreed to buy all surplus property owned by the United States in China and on seventeen Pacific islands and bases with certain exceptions. Six months of negotiations preceded the agreement finally signed in August. It was imperative that the matter be concluded in the Pacific, as had already been done in Europe, especially in view of the rapid deterioration of the matériel in open storage under tropical conditions, and the urgent need for the partial alleviation of the acute economic distress of the Chinese people which it was hoped the transaction would permit.

"Aircraft, all nondemilitarized combat material and fixed installations outside of China were excluded; thus, no weapons which could be used in the fighting of the civil war were made available through this agreement."

Now, Mr. Secretary, referring to your mission to China, when did the Administration in your judgment first realize the danger of Soviet or satellite aggression—at the time of the Greek-Turkish pact, the Berlin blockade or at some other time and place?

A.—It was the question, I think, Senator, of when and to what degree there would be an overt evidence of this. It was plainly apparent while I was in China that the Soviet Government by its representatives at Yunan was keeping very close touch with Mao Tse-tung's headquarters of his regime. The actions of the Soviet representatives in Nanking, before that in Chungking, with which I came in contact, indicated to me a very aloof procedure, though the Ambassador himself, rather his wife, made very pleasant approaches to Mrs. Marshall and myself.

The issue was to what extent they were prepared to go in the way of overt acts.

I endeavored throughout a long period of time in that year of 1946 when the fighting became pretty general, beginning largely in June of '46, to get positive evidence of Soviet equipment in the hands of the Chinese Communist forces, evidence that they were being supplied by the Soviet Government.

In the main I never received any evidence of any material quantities. There were many allegations, but from the officers I had in various parts of China—North China specifically—I never ran down any specific proof of material quantities of Soviet equipment being provided for the Communist, Chinese Communist, forces.

I would like this comment off the record. * * * (fifteen lines deleted.)

No more off the record.

Their first—your question was to the Soviets or to the Chinese Communists themselves?

First Signs of Aggression In Manchuria and China

Q.—No, to the Soviet Union and any of its satellites. When did we first get on notice that there was danger of aggression from that source?

A.—The first positive indication of that came out of the contacts in Manchuria leading up to the capture of Changchun, and there I felt that part of that had been a very serious misplay by the commander of the Nationalist forces in Manchuria.

He had needlessly endangered his command and had conducted operations in the hinterlands which were extermination, an effort to exterminate all Communists in that region, and they retaliated, of course, and very effectively.

The first aggressive reaction in North China developed with the attack on the marine convoy to Tientsin, which was deliberately planned and executed and was a stroke at us in which we lost Marine Corps lives.

Prior to that there were many contacts between the various forces that did not get into a full-fledged battle. We were still sparring back and forth to keep an armistice condition, but it was growing more difficult and more dififcult with each week, but until this affair outside of Peiping, there had not been a deliberate break which struck at us specifically, which means that they were taking measures against the Nationalist Government and ourselves all included, which is a very definite departure from what had been the status before.

Prior to that, particularly the latter part of June, there was a very aggressive Communist propaganda against us which came out of the renewed consideration in the last week of Congress for the military mission to China, which had never been concluded—it was on a temporary basis under the President's war powers—and the necessary Congressional action relating to the supplies and disposal of surplus property and matters of that sort, that was very aggressive, and it was as much, you might say, a hostile action as anything else; but it became apparent week by week after that time in June, and working up to it—

Q.—That was June of 1946 or 1945? A.—This is all 1946.

Q.—1946. A.—As we approached the fall that we were getting more and more into a situation where there was no longer any question of mediation, and where there was a defenite attack on the United States, either in propaganda as to public opinion, or as the case of this Marine Corps convoy near Peiping.

The Manchurian phase had a portion of its genesis in March, and I felt there that matters were precipitated largely by the manner in which the Nationalist troop commander proceeded in the case. But it was a gradual development from a greater willingness than the Nationalist Government displayed to get ahead with the political agreement on the part of the Communists, and then it developed from that into these sporadic fights, and then into a very flat defiance.

Q.—When you were in China, Mr. Secretary—and I realize you had so many problems that it might not be likely that you would recall the incident, but perhaps you might—do you recall our command over there mentioning the case of Capt. John A. Burch? A.—I recall that he lost his life there.

Q.—That is right. Do you recall the circumstances of his losing his life? A.—I don't recall them right now, sir.

Q.—Just to refresh your memory, he was an American officer from the state of our chairman, Senator Russell, and our other member Senator Walter George.

THE CHAIRMAN—A very fine young man from a splendid family.

Relates How Reds Slew U. S. Officer

SENATOR KNOWLAND—He met his death on the 25th day of August, 1945, which was after VJ-Day, when he had gone on a reconnaissance mission. He was shot in cold blood by the Chinese Communist officers over to whose command post he had gone in line of duty.

He and a Chinese officer who was with him were, after being shot, thrown into a ditch and left for dead. Burch was dead; the Chinese officer, however, was alive and that evening some friendly Chinese picked him up after the Chinese Communists had departed and sent him back to our lines.

At the time the announcement was made of his death it was merely reported that he had been killed along the railroad right-of-way, which might have almost indicated that he had been run over by a train.

I would say, Mr. Chairman, that that is a matter that I wrote you about yesterday. I have seen the confidential report on the whole circumstances leading to Captain Burch's death and I have asked that that be made available to us because I think that as early as 1945 there was a clear indication by an overt act on the part of the Chinese Communists that even preceded these circumstances of the attack on U. S. Marines, and so forth, mentioned by the general, their intentions. I will not pursue that any further except to say that we have requested it.

Now, Mr. Secretary, did this Government, so far as you know, and I realize that you were not Secretary of Defense at the time the hostilities opened, but to your knowledge, do you know whether the United States Government had had any indications of the danger of this overt aggression prior to the 25th day of June, Korean time?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I cannot answer that. I have heard various discussions but they have not registered with me sufficiently to remain on my mind, because that was water over the dam, as far as I am concerned.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—I might also state, Mr. Chairman, that I have also requested that the executive hearings of the committee on appropriations, held on the 26th, 27th and, I believe, the 28th of June, immediately following the Korean aggression, wherein we had testimony from Secretary Acheson, Secretary Johnson, certain Army officers and at a later meeting where Admiral Hillenkoeter appeared—the chairman may remember those hearings; and I believe that they contain some pertinent material which would be helpful to this committee, and I understand we have already officially requested of the Appropriations Committee that those files that are now locked up in the safe—be made available to us.

THE CHAIRMAN—I think that I was present throughout all of those hearings. I received the Senator's request and on the same day I forwarded it to the chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Senator McKellar.

I was told by Mr. Everard Smith, who is the clerk of that committee, that due to the nature of the testimony, the rules of the committee provided that the committee had to take action to release them; and the chairman would, at the first available time, have a committee meeting and provide for the release of that data.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Now, Mr. Secretary, were you familiar, either as Secretary of State, or subsequently, as Secretary of National Defense, with the Pauley report on reparations in Manchuria and Korea, as well as a report he made on Germany?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—He sent me a copy of the report. He talked to me about his findings in Manchuria while I was in Nanking.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—That report—

SENATOR SMITH—Might I ask the witness to speak a little louder? We cannot hear him clearly.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Sorry. I will do that.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—That report was made in his letter to the President in 1945, is that correct?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I think it must be '46.

Q.—Well, it was late '45, or—

A.—He talked to me about it at Nanking.

Q.—Or 1946. A.—That would be in the summer, almost of '46.

Q.—At any rate, it was prior to the Wedemeyer report on Korea, which was in 1947? A.—Oh, yes; that was in 1947.

Q.—Now, with reference to the Wedemeyer report on Korea, that report was made directly to the President, was it made to the President, through you? A.—Well, it was submitted to me and the President was furnished a copy, as I recall the affair. Anyway, he received the report.

Reads From Senate Record Of Wedemeyer Testimony

Q.—In 1947, on Wednesday, the 17th of December, there was a hearing before the Senate Committee on Appropriations. At that meeting, General Wedemeyer had been requested to appear and to testify. I will not read the entire proceedings into the record, but to lay a foundation for a couple of questions on this subject, I would like to read to you from the transcript of testimony.

Chairman Bridges had been discussing the so-called Wedemeyer report, which was made in September of that year, this being December.

"CHAIRMAN BRIDGES—General, do you have the report with you today?

"GENERAL WEDEMEYER—No, sir, I do not.

"CHAIRMAN BRIDGES—Are you prepared to make the report available to this committee for consideration in regard to the appropriations being discussed today?

"GENERAL WEDEMEYER—Mr. Chairman, I have given careful thought to this matter because as a soldier my Commander in Chief has directed me to maintain security on the report, and as a temporary special envoy, the Secretary of State and the President admonished me and asked me to insure that the members of my mission would maintain security with reference to the report. We have tried very carefully to carry out their instructions.

"Therefore I would be embarrassed if the committee asked me to reveal the contents of any report without the authority of the President or the Secretary of State.

"I thought perhaps I could help you this way, sir. I could give you my observations as a normal observer in that area and I would try to delineate in my mind between the information that I had received as a result of my special position as a special envoy, and the information I would have obtained had I been an ordinary observer going through those areas and talking to business men, the intelligentsia, the liberals and the individuals of various shades of political leanings. I feel that such information would be helpful to this committee and yet I would not be embarrassed by disobedience or disregard of instructions given to me by the President and the Secretary of State."

Now Mr. Secretary, I took the trouble to read that into the record in view of the examination this morning by Senator Hickenlooper wherein he had quoted from an earlier examination by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, merely to show what great difficulty at times responsible committees of the Congress, who also have a constitutional obligation, have in getting information which might be helpful to them in reaching this area of agreement to which we have referred.

I would like to ask, Mr. Secretary, if subsequent to the testimony given by General Wedemeyer any indication was given to him that he had either violated directives or had testiifed more than he should have before the Appropriations Committee?

A.—I don't recall any such advice or admonition. What I do recall is a somewhat later date and I am not very specific about this.

He had a discussion with the press which was brought to me by the press, which created an embarrassment to our procedure in the State Department, and that was brought to his attention, but I recall of nothing in relation to these hearings up here, and I might add, I think I should add that our problems there was one of going ahead with our efforts in regard to Communist procedure in Greece, and not having that confused with what we thought was highly impractical and which he had not yet caught up with due to his absence from the country and his drafting of the report in Hawaii.

The proposal to have a trusteeship with the Soviets or the carrying of this case to the United Nations would be a great embarrassment to us at that time in view of what was happening in Greece, and also it would, we felt, be a very decided embarrassment in relation to the Generalissimo.

The Generalissimo had stated to me very specifically not once but several times that he would have nothing to do whatsoever with any effort to settle the affairs out there which included the Soviet Government and included the British Government.

Wedemeyer Quoted On World Policy

Q.—Well, in response to questions by Senator Bridges and Senator Reed, at that time, General Wedemeyer seemed to me to have had a very good grasp on the situation, not only in the Far East but also in other sections of the world. This is what he testified to. He said:

"Therefore, a program for Europe should not be evolved disregarding a program for China or vice versa. The timing and the proportion of assistance that we give to China should be commensurate, first, with our ability to meet commitments all over the world as required by the situation. There is a bottom to our economic barrel."

A.—He is speaking of matériel there; I was talking about negotiations before the United Nations of a very delicate nature.

Q.—That is right. Then General Wedemeyer went on to testify to the following:

"The relevant and important facts are that the man has opposed—he is speaking of Chiang Kai-shek—"has opposed communism throughout his history, and he has also stayed on with us as an ally in the war, containing in China 1,500,000 Japanese soldiers who might have been employed against our men in the Pacific. It would have made our task more costly in lives and time in the Pacific. But, no, the Generalissimo chose to remain faithful to his allies."

Do you agree, General, with General Wedemeyer's estimate of the situation? A.—I think that is a correct statement.

Q.—That he performed a useful service in not making peace with the Japanese? A.—Very much so.

Q.—Then General Wedemeyer went on to say: "I personally think he is a fine character and that you gentlemen on this committee would admire him and respect him." That is all I am going to read. A.—I would like to add to that my own regard for the Generalissimo, who I thought was a very fine character, and I was really fond of him. The question of his handling of the situation and in direct relationship to his own people was another matter.

Q.—Now you testified within the last several days—you have been on here for quite a time—to the effect that you had not had the opportunity of sitting in on very many briefings prior to going out to China, that you were here, as I understood you to say, as a witness in the Pearl Harbor hearings; and except for perhaps at noontime, perhaps some other period, that you had not had much of an opportunity to go into the matter as fully as you otherwise might have done.

I did understand you to say that you had, you thought, conferred with Secretary Byrnes at one of the luncheon periods and also that Mr. John Carter Vincent had, you understood, participated in the drafting of the directives. Is that substantially correct?

A.—I said that as I recalled I had one discussion in the matter with Mr. Byrnes during the luncheon period between hearings up here, and that on another occasion I had had a meeting, I thought, on early Saturday morning, my dim recollection is, before coming up here for a continuation of the hearing, in which Mr. Byrnes was presiding. Mr. Acheson, as Under-Secretary, was present. John Carter Vincent was present. My special assistant for the moment, General Hull, was present, and my civilian helper, James Shepley, was present. That, I think, was about an hour and a half, but my time was almost exclusively occupied in this affair up here. So that any study of the general question was not a practical proposition for me.

I had a general understanding of events in China to the extent of the struggle they were getting to have the Generalissimo's forces and the Communist forces unite against the Japanese, and General Wedemeyer's expressions as to that which I read yesterday, and General Stilwell continued his fight to accomplish the same thing.

The transitions of government, the movement from a tutelage set-up, a single-party Government by Sun Yat-sen's conception—all that was new to me, I had to get into that, and I did most of it on my flight out to China.

Senator Cites Report On Arming of Reds

Q.—Would you say, Mr. Secretary, that this would be an accurate statement, as you understand it, and I quote:

"As the Communists entered"—that is, entered Manchuria—"they obtained large stocks of material from the Japanese Kwantung Army, which the Russians had conveniently abandoned." A.—That is correct, in my opinion.

Q.—That is a statement by Mr. Secretary Acheson in the foreword of the white paper, to which we have already referred. Now, reading another paragraph from this document, I quote:

"By the time General Marshall left China at the beginning of 1947, the Nationalists were apparently at the very peak of their military successes and territorial expansion. The following year and a half revealed, however, that their seeming strength was illusory and that their victories were built on sand."

Do you substantially agree with that statement? A.—I agree with that, sir. I might give an example. The fact that they were keen on capturing cities and occupying cities and automatically becoming involved in longer and longer lines of communications, which represented a perfect opportunity for Communistic operations against them.

In other words, it was a complete over-extension and in a manner that imperiled the whole procedure. So that the seeming success was in reality, in our opinion—and we so informed the Generalissimo time after time—a great weakness.

Q.—General, how far did your instructions suggest that you should go in suggesting to the Government of the Republic of China that they should form a coalition government?

A.—I did not have to make any suggestion of that nature, because they had agreed on the meeting before I arrived in China in late December, 1945, and I was immediately engaged in finding out the facts and conditions and circumstances of the hostilities then in progress, with only a brief period of days in which to develop an agreement to a cease fire. As I stated the other day, I remained aloof from the political discussions because that was a Chinese affair.

Our Government had represented its interests in the development of a two-party government, and beyond that I did not touch the matter at all, except to furnish the Generalissimo confidentially our Bill of Rights and a possible interim set-up while they were reaching formal constitutional status.

I think that was prepared by Dr. Fairchild, I think he is from Yale, who was out there. But that did not enter into their political adjustments in this matter.

I merely received the result of that which, first, required me at their request to be an adviser to the committee for the demobilization of the Nationalist Army, to a large extent, and the Communist armies, and their amalgamation.

It was not until we reached the end of April, on my return, that I became more directly involved in the political factors, and those consisted of an effort to find some way to break down the differences between the two sides in carrying out the policies adopted by the political consultative conference.

Marshall Asked if Scope Of His Mission Was Limited

Q.—Now, am I to understand, General, on that anshwer—because it gives me a little different concept of your mission there I heretofore had—that primarily your mission was more or less limited to getting the armies consolidated on some, what you felt, equitable basis, but the political features of a coalition were not under your immediate supervision or direction or responsibility?

A.—I would have said that my directives, in general terms, gave me enough authority to have moved into that if I had thought it advisable. But our Government had presented its views, what it thought was desirable procedure, and these people, culminating their various steps from the initial statement of the Generalissimo in 1937, and the specific one in 1941, had moved into the adjustments by themselves, which seemed to be the highly desirable way to do it; and as I was a mediator in connection, first, with determining the basis of a cease-fire, and then its execution, which is the more difficult part of it, it seemed to me highly desirable that I remain aloof from the political development.

Of course, when that conference came to a close, I then moved into that plain military aspect of it, and then returned here to get money and to get equipment and to get ships, and things they needed.

Now, when I returned to China in the latter patr of April and found this complete impasse had developed in regard to the constitutional convention, the fight was in regard to the number of delegates, which they had left to be settled by a committee and, of course, the committee was not able to settle it, there, I moved in definitely in connection with the political set-up, not as to the general types of the government, but as to how to get them together in the matter of delegates, particularly the state council which remained the argumentative basis for months there.

It, of course, was—those efforts were dominated all the way through by the increasing evidence that we were going to have a breakdown of the cease-fire and armistice terms; and I was struggling both ways, one, to preserve the cease-fire that we had in force, and the other was to try to find some way to get them together on their generally agreed policy; but with the specific failure to implement it, largely—almost entirely—over the matter of delegates, either to the constitutional convention or to the membership of the State Council, or to any introduction of Communists in the Cabinet.

Q.—Well, while your immediate objective might not have been the political coalition phases, it is a fact, is it not, General, that through our State Department and our representatives in China, both the regular ones and the special ones who had been sent out there, that we had rather clearly indicated long before your mission took place that it was the best judgment or the desire, as you might want to put it, of the Government of the United States that the Communist forces should be brought into a coalition. A.—If you mean by a coalition a two-party government, that certainly was the case.

Q.—Well, General—— A.—Where I got into the discussion of coalition related to whether it was a practical proposition to have a coalition Cabinet, but I didn't——

White Paper Quoted On Wallace and Chiang

Q.—Let me read you from Page 549 of the China White Paper. "The summary of the notes on conversations between Vice President Henry A. Wallace and President Chiang Kai-shek, June 21 to 24, 1944." Now, that was a year before your mission—a year and a half—and in that, according to the notes, in addition of Mr. Wallace there were present at the conference President Chiang, Vice President Wallace and Dr. T. V. Soong, translator, and I quote:

"Mr. Wallace said that President Roosevelt had talked about the Communists in China. President Roosevelt had assumed that inasmuch as the Communists and the members of the Kuomintang were all Chinese they were basically friends, and nothing should be final between friends. President Roosevelt cited the Bryan Treaty and it quoted Al Smith and Charles Francis Adams to support his point. President Roosevelt had indicated that if the parties could no get together they might call in a friend, and had indicated that he might be that friend."

Wouldn't you say, Mr. Secretary, that that indicated that at least, according to Mr. Wallace's version of what his conversations with the President had been, that he indicated that the Communists should be taken into the Government as early as 1944?

A.—I think that is very clearly the case.

Q.—Now I would like to read this paragraph from the following page to lay a foundation for some questions, and I am reading from Page 550:

"However, after discussing the matter with Mr. Vincent"—I take it that that is John Carter Vincent—"that evening, Mr. Wallace made it clear to President Chiang the next morning before breakfast that President Roosevelt had not suggested acting as an 'arbiter' between China and the U. S. S. R., and that whereas he felt that the United States would be quite willing to use its good offices to get the U. S. S. R. and China together, it could not undertake the role of middleman in negotiations between the U. S. S. R. and China or become a party or guarantor of any agreement reached between China and the U. S. S. R."

And I think that that would have some significance when we get on to the Yalta conference and the later agreements between the Soviet Union and China.

Now I want to call your attention to Page 551. The conversations continue, and this was on June 22 at 4:30 P. M. Present: President Chiang, Madam Chiang, Vice President Wallace, Dr. T. V. Soong, Dr. Wang Shih Chieh, Messrs. Vincent, Lattimore and Hazard. This is about halfway down:

"President Chiang then referred to his conversation with President Roosevelt at Cairo. He said that President Roosevelt had promised an all-out campaign in Burma early in 1944 but that, at Teheran, President Roosevelt had reversed his decision, indicating that the necessary amphibious landing craft would not be available for such a campaign."

Mr. Secretary, you were the Chief of Staff of the United States and in a position with the Combined Chiefs at that time. Do you feel that the necessities required a change in the agreements which had been reached at Cairo? Do you have any independent recollection of that?

A.—Yes, I recall very clearly. As a matter of fact the military discussions in Cairo were largely occupied with the utilization of twenty-seven LST's, that is a landing craft, and the final decision at Cairo was that a certain number of these, it not all, would be employed in amphibious landing by the British on the shores of Burma. The British were not much inclined to make this landing.

The Generalissimo felt that unless this landing was made, his forces could not cooperate in the campaign then being planned, and out of this grew the decision that the landing craft should be sent there.

Now after they had gotten most of the way—I have forgotten to what point, but that is to be looked up—they were recalled, and I am a little dim in my memory as to the exact reason that they were recalled, but it was, I think, a British reason, because they had been reluctant in the first place, but I can obtain that accurately for you by looking into the records, which makes it rather simple, I think, to know what that was.

Points Made by Wallace On China and the U.S.S.R.

Q.—Now, Mr. Secretary, one more quotation from these hearings that were held. This is on June 23d, at nine in the morning.

"Present: President Chiang; Vice President Wallace; Dr. Hollington Tong, translating; Dr. Wang Shih Chieh; Mr. Lattimore, assisting in translating; and Mr. Vincent."

And, I am reading from Page 556.

President Chiang said: "I am confident that what President Roosevelt stands for is good for China, and for the furtherance of the war; but," he said, "one of the things we are fighting for is the maintenance of order. Please tell President Roosevelt that I will follow his advice, but I must insist on the maintenance of law and order and upon the observance of discipline.

"Mr. Wallace again stressed a point that there should be no situation in China which might lead to a conflict with the U. S. S. R. President Chiang said that the Chinese Government had gone far out of its way to come to an agreement with the Communists in order to avoid a conflict with the U. S. S. R., and added that anything not detrimental to the sovereignty of the Chinese Government would be done to avoid a conflict with the U. S. S. R.

"At that point Mr. Wallace again said that the United States could not be expected to be a porty to negotiations between China and the U. S. S. R. He also said that President Chiang's formula for settlement with the Communists might prove transitory unless China reached an understanding with the U. S. S. R. He referred again to Ambassador Harriman's discussion with Mr. Stalin as indicating the necessity for an agreement with the U. S. S. R."

Now, in reading this in cold type, and some years after the event, it appears that even before Yalta, we were indicating to the Chinese through the voice of Vice President Wallace, Vice President of the United States, and presumably going over as emissary of the President of the United States, with Mr. John Carter Vincent and Mr. Owen Lattimore, who was on the official staff, we were indicating to President Chiang that he had better come to some agreement with the Soviet Union; and we were also indicating to him that he would have to do his negotiating alone, and we would not use our good offices.

Is that a fair interpretation of that paragraph?

A.—That would seem so; but may I observe, Senator, that you are getting into a lot of State Department things which, certain parts of which you have been questioning me about, I have a first rate knowledge of; but all of this, I have not.

Q.—I was just wondering whether or not, prior to going on your mission to China, whether you had been briefed in this regard, or whether or not you had had made available to you the report of Vice President Wallace to the President of the United States?

I might say, at that point, that for some five—well, for more than that—for some six years, members of Congress had endeavored to get a copy of this Wallace report and it wasn't until, I believe, Senator O'Conor of Maryland, through some method, had either written to Mr. Wallace, or Mr. Wallace had written to him, that finally a report had been made available.

Letter Is Quoted On Ship Transfers

Q.—Now it would seem to me since this presumably was an officially sponsored State Department mission it would have been an essential part, in fairness to you, of your briefing before going over there on this mission which they asked you to undertake. A.—Well, my briefing, of course, was exceedingly brief.

Q.—Now I asked earlier as to the amount of—I do not like to use the word "pressure"—but the amount of suggestion which was used by the Government of the United States in urging the Government of the Republic of China to have this coalition.

I would like to read to you a letter, which is a photostat that I have, on the letterhead of the Department of State, Washington, dated Oct. 2, 1946. I presume that was during the period of time that you were still there. It is addressed to Admiral W. W. Smith, Chairman, United States Maritime Commission, Washington, D. C.

"Dear Admiral Smith: I refer to your letter of Sept. 5, 1946, asking the views of the State Department with respect to the extension of the Maritime Commission of a credit to China of $76,000,000 for the purchase of 159 war-built vessels under the Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946.

"The Department of State has no objection to the negotiation and conclusion of a credit for the above purpose. Such an arrangement would be in line with the general policy of this Government to assist in the rehabilitation of essential aspects of the Chinese economy.

"In accordance with general policy towards credit assistance to China, however, the department requests that any transfer of war-built commercial-type vessels to China on a credit basis be subject to the following provisos:

"'It is the desire of the United States Government that these commercial-type vessels be destined for a united and democratic China under a coalition government. It is, therefore, understood by the Chinese Government that if it appears to be in the best interests of the United States, the latter may discontinue the transfer of these vessels.'

"The Department of State will promptly inform the Maritime Commission if at any time it appears to be in the best interests of the United States to terminate or suspend such transfers and requests that it be kept currently informed of the status of transfers of ships being purchased.

"The department is also interested in developments concerning the terms of such credit arrangements as may be negotiated with China."

Now, Mr. Secretary, speaking as a layman, I can not help in reading that letter but get the very strong impression we were saying to the Government of the Republic of China:

"Any aid we give you has a string attached to it, not in the sense of cleaning up your Government so there is no corruption or improving your armed services so they are more efficient, but the proviso is that you must establish a coalition Government."

And I think it is pretty well documented that coalition meant that the Communists must be taken into the Government.

Now what would be your interpretation of that letter?

A.—I think that would be approximately my interpretation. I have a paper here, some notes, along the general line of this development regarding which you have been questioning me.

Now the initiation of the movement for the Chinese Communists to be absorbed in their Government was the statement by the Generalissimo in 1937, which was plainly to that effect.

That came to a head more in 1943 on Sept. 13, when he stated to his Central Executive Committee:

"I am of the opinion that, first of all, we should clearly recognize that the Chinese Communist problem is a purely political problem and should be solved by political means."

In that same year of '44 General Hurley became involved that fall in connection with an effort to find a basis for a meeting and understanding between the Government and the Chinese Communist regime.

The first U. S. official suggestion—these are the notes I have here—the first U. S. official suggestion of the desirability of Communist participation in the Chinese Government was made by Ambassador Gauss in August, 1944, when he suggested to the Generalissimo the possibility of a war council of all parties or groups to make plans for the then existing crisis during the war against Japan.

This was endorsed by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull. The first United States official participation in the Kuomintang-Communist negotiations was that of General Hurley, as I have said, who undertook active measures of mediation in November, 1944, with the direction and advice of the Generalissimo and members of his Cabinet and on the invitation of the Communist party.

Now, that leads into the later developments of which we have been talking. The earlier part, the part that I have been reading these notes from, of course, is something that Mr. Acheson can talk very much more to the point than I can.

Chinese 'Pumpkin Papers' And a Top-Secret Paper

Q.—I am trying to limit my questions to you dealing with the period immediately preceding your mission to China for the purpose of getting as much clarification as we can on the subject, because it is difficult from merely reading the cold print sometimes to know the background.

But I want to call your attention to a top-secret memorandum, Number C-62-7 of 10 November, 1945, of Wedemeyer to Chiang Kai-shek.

I might say, just for the benefit of the committee, that this document had apparently been stolen in a Chinese equivalent of a "pumpkin papers" situation and was published by a Communist magazine in Hong Kong in, I believe, 1949 or 1950, and came to me, someone sent it, and I in turn turned it over to official Government agencies to be translated and made copies available to the several interested departments.

Then I requested that a copy of the document be furnished so that we could compare it to see if in translation there had been any errors made.

I will address a letter to the chairman this afternoon, requesting that this document be made available, so there may be some minor errors in it in translation, but I want to call your attention to these paragraphs.

General Wedemeyer had come back to this country and then he went on back to China and he tells about his conferences with the President and with the Secretary of State and the Joint Chiefs.

Now, I wish you would pay particular attention to this language.

SENATOR SALTONSTALL — What is the date?

SENATOR KNOWLAND — 10 November, 1945.

"3. Conference with Secretary of State.

"A. He repeated the President's words promising support to you and the Nationalist Government, but he also declared the President's instructions that the U. S. positively should not participate in China's military clashes nor could any facilities be furnished for the Central Government's actions against rebellious military elements within Chinese territory."

Now, the first part of it I thoroughly understand. We didn't want to get the American troops at that time embroiled in what we thought then perhaps was purely a civil war without necessarily being a Russian background to it.

But the second part of it, as I read it, saying, "nor should any facilities be given for the Central Government's action against rebellious military elements within Chinese territory," indicates that any of the help that we might give to the Government coud not be used for putting down rebellion.

Now, I call your attention to the second page, and he says this—this has to do with the subsection, "Conference with the Joint Chiefs of Staff," and I am reading from Sub-paragraph D:

"They"—meaning the Joint Chiefs of Staff—"they declared plainly American military aid to China will cease immediately if evidence compels the U. S. Government to believe that any Chinese troops receiving such aid are using it to support any Government which the U. S. cannot accept, to conduct civil war, or for aggressive or coercive purposes. The degree to which China has obtained political stability and security under a unified government completely representative of the people will be regarded as a fundamental condition governing the United States' economic, military, and other forms of assistance. The U. S. Government will from time to time consider the degree to which China has met the aforesaid fundamental conditions as a standard according to which to decide whether or not to continue aid. It was further emphasized that China must strive to reduce its military forces to fifty divisions and to see that air transport equipment is provided to facilitate their movement."

Mr. Secretary, as I read that now, it seems to me that we are saying that unless they set up a government of a coalition, including the Communists, they will not get economic aid, as indicated by the letter from the State Department to the Maritime Commission, and there is other documentation that can be made, but I don't want to encumber the record with it.

Then, on the military sphere, we say aid will not be given, and it may be withdrawn unless you establish a government more or less on the specifications that we have laid out.

Now my specific question to you, Mr. Secretary, is this. We seem to have been bringing a great deal of influence to bear if not pressure upon the Government of the Republic of China to make a deal with the Communists. What pressure were we bringing on the Communists or what pressure could we bring on the Communists to make a deal that would be satisfactory to the Nationalist Government of China?

The Communists, according to the White Paper, were in Manchuria where the captured Japanese stocks of arms and material were being turned over to them, so they were relatively unconcerned on that score.

We were in a position to either help or withhold help to the Government of the Republic. All of our pressure seemed to have been on the Government of the Republic to make a deal with the Chinese Communists. It seems to me that that put them at considerable disadvantage, particularly if, as we now know, the Chinese Communists undoubtedly had ample notice that we were exercising that influence upon the Government of the Republic.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—In the first place, Senator, the development in Manchuria occurred later than that. That occurred largely during March of '46, I believe, at the time I returned to the United States.

Next, undoubtedly this Government was influencing the Kuomintang Nationalist Government to bring about a more general people's government than was in existence at that time.

Also the general instructions we had in the intent of all the movements, the decisions of the Chiefs of Staff so far as they were approved were to avoid in every way we could being engaged in a civil war in China.

Now as to the Communists themselves, you are correct when you say there was very little influence would could bring to bear upon them, unless you undertook to increase the efficiency of the Chinese forces by not only additional equipment, but more particularly we will say leadership and advice of the officers from our Government who had been with their divisions during the fighting against the Japanese.

It was a continuous effort at that time to keep clear of the involvement of a civil war, and that, of course, was related to our demobilization procedure and the fact that we could not do these things very effectively, but it is to avoid civil war in China.

I repeat again that you are quite correct, in my opinion, when you state that the forces that we could bring to bear upon the Communists were very restricted unless we in an all-out manner tried to build up the effectiveness of the Chinese Nationalist Army.

Cities Seized to Bar Occupation by Reds

We did, however, do a great many things which were severely attacked by the Communists. One was we moved the Nationalist forces by plane in to seize various cities like Peiping, Tientsin and so forth, Tsingtao, in our planes before the Communists could take over those cities.

We moved their troops to Manchuria through Chinwangtao and that section by ships in order to get them up there, and those measures in part were very severely attacked by the Communists, who tried to discourage us from doing more.

I think those were very proper moves to make and we found a basis of agreement which the Communists could only deny in propaganda on their own part to this movement into Manchuria, because that was in the terms of the general settlement in the cease-fire that we had established.

But to go back to your first question and repeat what I have said, compress what I have said in regard to that, we did deliberately make every effort to avoid participating in a civil war in China, and I think undoubtedly our Government exercised its influence towards the establishment by the Nationalist Government of a people's government which would include the Communist regime.

Q.—Now, in Greece, where civil war was going on, and the President of the United States enunciated the so-called Truman Doctrine, civil war was, of course, going on in that country against Communist forces.

Now, it is true that Greece is a much smaller nation, but the fact of the matter is, is it not, Mr. Secretary, that we sent a mission under General Van Fleet, with officers and enlisted men, for the purpose of supervising the training and the aid of the Greek Government forces for the purpose of overcoming the Communist opposition.

We did not suggest to the Government of Greece that they make a settlement by taking Communists into a coalition government.

A.—No, I am quite certain that we did not.

The situation in Greece, however, Senator, I think, was a little different from that in China, because of the proximity of the satellite states which were almost openly supporting this operation, which we knew were equipping it almost entirely, and which also were protecting these Communist forces, guerrilla forces, by permitting them to retreat across the border and be rearmed and re-equipped and returned to the fight.

Q.—Wasn't that— A.—It was very much as the North Koreans moved into Manchuria, were reconstructed and brought back into the fight.

How Far Our Officers Could Go in Greece

Q.—That is just the point I am raising. Is it not the equivalent of the situation of going north of the Yalu River, where the Greek guerrillas could retire north of the river, regroup, re-equip themselves, and come back in, and it was not until Yugoslavia finally closed its border with Greece that at least that source of re-equipment was cut off, is that not correct?

A.—That is correct; but I think you would have to qualify that by stating that the procedure we followed, at least did not set up a reaction in Yugoslavia which encouraged them never to have any relationship with us on the basis that is now apparently developing.

However, in the procedure in Greece, there was another factor. We did not at first allow our officers to be out with the troops. We provided training in the rear and in the use of the equipment that we were offering.

On that, later on when the situation got into a very dangerous condition, we did extend the authority under General Van Fleet, who went out there in the last phase to see if he could not improve the situation by better direction or advice to their troops; but we forbade our officers to be involved in it at all in the fighting fronts, in the beginning in this struggle to keep this thing and hold this affair in a manner that would not involve us in the actual business of the operations.

I say, later we changed that to permit our officers to go forward because we not only had a serious situation, but we had a condition in the Greek Government that we felt made it safe to follow such a procedure.

Q.—Well, in other words, while we did not have actual troops firing on the enemy in Greece, after a time when we felt that the original method of training was not sufficient, we did enable our officers, I believe, to go down, I believe, to battalion level—maybe to a lower level—to give such advice as they might be able to, to the Greek officers and the Greek Government forces. That is my understanding.

A.—That is correct.

Now, in China in the spring of 1946, I had General Wedemeyer who was then in command of our troops out in China, and they had not then been entirely evacuated, set up under the President's temporary war authority the military mission to China.

It never was confirmed by the Congress. The naval mission was confirmed. The military mission was not confirmed; but it continued in existence under the war powers of the President.

I had that set up, I think, in April of 1946 as a means of building up the efficiency of the Chinese Government forces, and it was a very large mission.

Q.—Directing your attention to the postwar period in China, and not the wartime period, when they were fighting allies, who, you have testified and General Wedemyer testified before the Appropriations Committee, had probably kept occupied a million and a half or so Japanese soldiers—but directing it exclusively to the post-war period, is it not correct that when General Barr was sent out to head the so-called Barr mission to China, he was under specific instructions that his officers and enlisted men should not be assigned to the combat units of the Nationalist forces?

A.—I think that is correct, sir.

Questioned on Missions To Greece and China

Q.—So that is a great difference between the latter stages of the Van Fleet mission to Greece and the so-called Bar mission to China? A.—That is correct; but later on his authority was extended so that he in a measure could send his people forward.

Q.—But—and this is a very important point, and I wish that you would bring it to the committee—my information is that though the instructions may have been modified, permitting him to send people forward, that, as a matter of fact, no such instructions were issued by General Barr to put American officers or enlisted men with the lower units of the Chinese National Army.

A.—I can't answer that.

Q.—If you could check up on that I would appreciate it. A.—Yes.

Q.—Now, is there not this additional difference between the situation in Korea and the situation in Greece?—— In Greece with the possible exception of an incidental casualty that might have taken place, and I do not recall that there were any, though there might have been one or two casualties, or perhaps a few more, in the Korean situation we do have this casualty list which is approaching the 65,000 mark. Now it is your professional judgment as a soldier, is it your professional judgment as a soldier that the ability of the North Korean Communists and the Chinese Communists to make war upon us is increased or decreased by having Manchuria in Communist hands?

A.—Is the ability of the North Korean and the Communist Chinese increased or decreased?

Q.—Yes. A.—I would say that it is increased.

Q.—And you would say that it was substantially increased, having a common frontier over which they pass for regrouping, re-equipment and reinforcement? A.—I don't know that I would say substantially increased, but it is increased. And the discussion I had this morning, particularly yesterday afternoon, with Senator Hickenlooper was related to what that really involved us in in the way of casualties.

Q.—Now I don't think you get—perhaps I did not make myself clear, general. What I am now trying to get does not particularly relate to this situation on casualties and the desirability or lack of desirability of attacking the arsenals, depots, airports and so on in Manchuria. I am now merely raising the question whether in your professional judgment as a military man the capacity of the North Korean Communists to make war upon us in substantially increased by their having a common frontier with another Communist power, namely Red Manchuria. A.—I think that is correct, sir.

Q.—Now, Mr. Chairman, very briefly I would just like to turn to the question then of the Yalta conference, at which some believe at least the Communists got a foothold in Manchuria. Mr. Secretary, do you recall off hand those who constituted the group of the advisers of the President of the United States at Yalta?

A.—I know, of course, Mr. Stettinius was one, Freeman Matthews, as I remember, was one. I learned afterwards that Hiss was one. I don't remember the names of the others.

Q.—Well, could I read the list and see if this is the group that you might recall?

For the United States of America—Edward R. Stettinius, Secretary of State. Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, U. S. N., Chief of Staff to the President. A.—That is correct.

Q.—Harry L. Hopkins, special assistant to the President. Justice James F. Byrnes, director, Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. A.—Yes.

Q.—General of the Army George C. Marshall, U. S. A., Chief of Staff, U. S. Army.

Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, U. S. N., Chief of Naval Operations and Commander in Chief, U. S. Fleet.

Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, Commanding General, Army Service Forces.

Vice Admiral Emory S. Land, War Shipping Administrator.

Maj. Gen. L. S. Kuter, U. S. A., Commanding General, U. S. Army Air Forces.

W. Averell Harriman, Ambassador to the U. S. S. R.

H. Freeman Matthews, Director of European Affairs, State Department.

Alger Hiss, Deputy Director, Office of Special Political Affairs, Department of State.

Charles E. Bohlen, Assistant to the Secretary of State—together with political, military and technical advisers.

Is that the list of the principal advisers as you recall them?

A.—Yes, sir. I thought your original question was directed to the political end rather than the military end.

Q.—It was directed to both because some of the questions will apply to both. A.—That is the group as I recall it.

Q.—Now, Mr. Secretary, I take it that on the military phase of the situation that you and Fleet Admiral King were the senior military advisers to the President there; apparently General Arnold, I understand, was not well or for some reason did not go and sent Lieut. Gen. or rather Maj. Gen. Kuter there in his place; and Lieut. Gen. Somervell was dealing, I assume, with logistic problems. But the three that I have mentioned heretofore were the senior military advisers.

Now at Yalta, to the best of your recollection, did the American delegation have information which indicated that the Japanese might surrender earlier than we had originally contemplated?

A.—Not to my knowledge, sir. If there was any, it was not convincing to us.

May I add to your summary there that Admiral Leahy was almost entirely engaged in the political discussions. He went with the President. The military discussions were with myself, Admiral King and General Kuter, and I was chairman for the Chiefs of Staff in practically all of them. Admiral Leahy, as I say, attended all the political sessions and was not sitting in except maybe on rather rare occasions with the Chiefs of Staff.

Japanese Proposals To Surrender Cited

Q.—One of the difficulties we have, Mr. Secretary, is that sometimes there is a very fine line between the political discussions and the military; and when we seek information—I am not now speaking of this testimony, because you have frankly been answering all of the questions of the committee during the several days that you have been here—but I am making the general observation that sometimes we ask for information and the State Department will say that is military information, and the military may quite properly say that it is political; and it is hard to draw a clear-cut line.

A.—Sometimes, Senator, we say that to each other, right now, when they are dealing with each other. That isn't exclusively for the Congress.

Q.—For the purposes of clarification, because I think that if we can clarify as much as possible it may help us reach that common area of agreement that I hope the committee sessions may develop, there was an article which appeared in The Times-Herald of Washington on Sunday, Aug. 19, 1945, which I will just read a couple of paragraphs from, to refresh your memory to see whether you can throw any light upon them. It says:

"Release of all censorship restrictions in the United States makes it possible to report that the first Japanese peace bid was relayed to the White House seven months ago.

"Two days before the late President Roosevelt left, the last week in January, for the Yalta Conference with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin, he received a Japanese offer identical with the terms subsequently concluded by his successor, Harry S. Truman.

"The Japanese offer, based on five separate overtures, was relayed to the White House by General MacArthur in a forty-page communication. The American commander, who had just returned triumphantly to Bataan, urged negotiations on the basis of the Jap overtures.

"The offer, as relayed by MacArthur, contemplated abject surrender of everything but the person of the Emperor. The suggestion was advanced from the Japanese quarters making the offer that the Emperor become a puppet in the hands of American forces.

"Two of the five Jap overtures were made through American channels and three through British channels. All came from responsible Japanese, acting for Emperor Hirohito. * * * "

Do you have any knowledge, directly or indirectly, that there had been preliminary offers of surrender from Japan?

A.—I have no recollection of any that were received, with any degree of authenticity with regard to them. That particular communication from General MacArthur I will have checked and inform the committee in regard to that. I would say this: that during the early months of 1945 there were a series of communications between Japanese ambassadors or ministers in Europe—I think notably from Berlin, before they closed in on Berlin; from Moscow, before the Soviets declared war on Japan; from Madrid, I think it was either Madrid or Lisbon; and from Stockholm, I think; and also, I believe, from Switzerland.

Now, in these communications which we were reading, they were, it appears, largely from those ambassadors to the Prime Minister of Japan, to proceed immediately to obtain a surrender. Some, as I recall, described the terrific ravaging of Europe by this continued defense.

As I recall, the replies from the Prime Minister of Japan were in the nature of discussions and a reiteration of the difficulty of carrying out such a procedure with the army and with the people.

So, in our own minds, we had the evidence that the representatives of the Japanese Government in Europe, seeing what was occurring in Europe, were hopeful of seeing the struggle brought to a close.

I remember now, as I am talking, that the point, as made by them, was the endurance of the empire. They were thinking in terms of fifty years, as I recall some of them put it very plainly—the army was thinking of the army, because the survival of the empire was their interest—the army's intention was—what the honor of the Army today is, meaning 1945.

From these messages, specifically those from the Japanese Prime Minister, it was evident to us that the army was still largely in control and they were preparing to fight to the bitter end, just as they had done on all of the islands up to and including Okinawa, where I think we had to kill 120,000 of them.

Therefore it was the opinion of the Chiefs of Staff at that time that only a tremendous pressure on Japan itself had any hope of terminating the army dictation, and later, that despite the horrible bombing of Tokyo, some 100,000 lives sacrificed there in flames and explosions, that nothing less than a terrific shock would produce a surrender, particularly a surrender that was carried throughout the Japanese interests from Burma, China, Indonesia down in New Guinea where we had left them behind, and of course further north.

Our great struggle there was to precipitate that general surrender so that we would not be involved with various holdout commands in various parts of the Far East. Therefore our own conclusion, that of the Chiefs of Staff, was that we had to either invade Japan or bring this to a conclusion with shock action, which developed the atomic bomb.

The most convincing evidence that I recall that it had to be that, was the failure of that terrific destruction in Tokyo to produce any definite results. As to these leads toward surrender, particularly those you say that went to the White House, I will check up on that, but certainly I was not conscious of such a thing and my associates on the Chiefs of Staff with all of this information of these messages we had deciphered and all were not conscious of such an immediate prospect of a surrender.

General Is Asked To Check Records

Q.—Could you have your records checked to see whether any such message had come in from General MacArthur and make it available if it did, or from any other source? A.—I am quite certain we would have seen that if it had been sent in by General MacArthur.

Q.—Now, at the Yalta Conference, the question arose I assume in the military meetings with the senior military officers as to the desirability of the Soviet Union being brought into the war in the Far East. Could you tell us what the discussions were and what your recommendations were relative to the desirability or need for the Soviet Union to enter the war in the Far East?

A.—The Chiefs of Staff were quite certainly unanimous, for that was a very essential factor in bringing the war to an early termination. We anticipated a very powerful influence from the Kwantung army in Manchuria and probably the portions that were in Korea.

Later we were to find it possible to isolate them, but not before they had transferred a very considerable portion of the Kwantung army to Kyushu. It was the opinion of the Chiefs of Staff that it was highly important that the Soviets carry out the campaign against Manchuria and against Korea.

Q.—Were the chiefs unanimous in that viewpoint? A.—I think they were unanimous. We can ascertain that, but I am quite certain they were unanimous because I never recall any other debate on the question, and one must remember I think in that connection that we were having a terrific fight on every island we touched where we had to exterminate every Japanese, a most remarkable state of affairs.

It carried to the Philippines until I think every member of the infamous Eighteenth Division that had conducted the Death March after the surrender of Bataan was killed in the fight in Leyte, so there was nobody left in enough position to really try them in regard to that, and that division was the troop unit that was most involved.

So we were considering a landing in Japan where there were supposed to be and actually were, I believe, about two and a half million troops that had not yet been engaged in battle unless they were recovered wounded.

We had seen how they fought at Saipan, the Philippines, at Leyte, and later on Guam and particularly in Okinawa. We were confronted with the necessity of making a landing of three Army corps, that is, three different places—on Kyushu in the fall, and tremendous forces north of Tokyo, in the Tokyo plain, the following spring, presumably about the first of March.

We had to visualize very heavy casualties unless we had enough atomic bombs at the time to supplement the troop action, if the functioning of the bomb proved satisfactory for that purpose. It was considered for a time—rather, for a time there was consideration as to whether or not we should attempt to isolate Japan and not land on Japanese shores.

That decision was finally taken not to do that, I think along about July, but it is very easily ascertained, because I sent a radio to General MacArthur and told him what the conception was on the part of some reaching the President, that there should be no landing in Japan, but there should be an encirclement.

We felt—I am speaking now for General Arnold and myself—we felt that we would become involved in many ways and it would be a far more expensive procedure and we were not settling the surrender we wanted in China, Burma, Indonesia, and so on.

So I sent a radio to General MacArthur reciting the facts and asking for his reaction, as he would be the commander. He came back strongly, very courageously, I felt, in favor of the landing in Japan rather than the temporizing measure.

I mention these things because they showed that these assumptions that all we had to do was stand aside and we would have gotten the surrender were quite different in their effect on the Chiefs of Staff. We didn't get that at all, and yet we saw all the information.

Along with the same arguments, I read sometimes some members of the Air Corps think ordinary bombing—I do not think so. We had the demonstration of that, which I thought was horrible, much worse than Hiroshima, much worse than Nagasaki, because that was an instantaneous thing and the other was a horrible night of a hundred thousand people losing their lives.

That seemed to make very little impression, but a tremendous shock action ended the affair, and the first one didn't do it. They couldn't find out about Hiroshima for two or three days, because all communications were out. Everybody thereabouts was semi-paralyzed, but I think they just about found out what happened when in came the news of Nagasaki, and they knew what that meant. How many more bombs there were they had no way of knowing. (One line deleted.)

Now, up to that time we had no assurance that we could get a surrender in the opinion of the Chiefs of Staff who presumably were the best informed in our Government, other than the President, we will say.

Yalta Preparations Subject of Question

Q.—Now, in the preparation for the conference at Yalta, before the military and civilian advisers went out there, did they contact the Supreme Commander in the Far East, General MacArthur, and Admiral Nimitz, who, I believe, was handling another area in the Pacific, as to their views on the advisability or desirability of having the Soviet Union enter the war? A.—I don't recall that, but we can check up and find out, sir.

SENATOR SMITH—Mr. Chairman, might I ask who were the Joint Chiefs of Staff at that time you were speaking of now?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Admiral Leahy, Admiral King, General Arnold and myself.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Now, it was not until June 15 of 1945 that the Generalissimo was notified of the Yalta agreement, according to the White Paper, relative to that situation on the Manchurian understanding.

Do you know at what time General MacArthur had been notified of the Manchurian provisions of the Yalta agreement?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I will have to check that up, sir; I don't recall.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—My recollection is that Secretary Byrnes, who was apparently at Yalta, in his book, "Speaking Frankly," indicated that the particular features dealing with Manchuria had not been known to him until after he became Secretary of State. Were you familiar at Yalta with the Manchurian provisions of giving Dairen and the rights on the Manchurian railroad and Port Arthur to the Soviet Union?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I do not think I was, sir.

Q.—You were not. Was that made in the political—— A.—Yes.

Q.—(Continuing) Committee? A.—Those were entirely separate from the military.

Q.—They were separate from the military? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Well, didn't they have a considerable amount of military significance, as, of course, we have hindsight now, which we didn't have then, but didn't those decisions have a considerable amount of military significance? A.—As to the future, yes, sir.

Q.—And that feature of it was not discussed with the three chiefs? A.—Not to my recollection, Senator.

Q.—With the exception of the Manchurian-Chinese feature of the Yalta agreement, on the other phases of them, were there any conferences where the entire American delegation got together and discussed, for instance, the Polish terms on holding free elections, or the—— A.—Not with the military.

Q.—Not with the military. You devoted primarily your attention to working out the final phases of the military features? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—I noticed with reference to the Potsdam agreement that in Senate Document Report Number 1440 made by Mr. Vandenberg for the Committee on Foreign Relations to accompany S. Resolution 213, calling on the President for information concerning the Potsdam agreements and violations thereof by Soviet Russia, I call your attention to the following section of the committee report on page two:

"Senate Resolution 213 also asked full information concerning any undisclosed Potsdam obligations to which the Government is committed. The State Department's response to this inquiry is as follows"—and this is the matter to which I referred earlier on the difficulty of getting information.

"'All political agreements concluded at Potsdam to which this Government is a party are matters of public record; the only agreements which have not yet been disclosed were military agreements concerning the conduct of military operations in the Pacific.'"

A.—What is the date of that?

Says He Questioned State Department

Q.—This report to the Senate was made on June 2, 1948; made by Senator Vandenberg, then chairman of the committee. I might say prior to this next question that as one who has studied a number of these documents, I have been under the impression that with the situation relating to the Soviet Union, there were still some undisclosed agreements.

I have inquired of the State Department relative to the Moscow meetings, and categorically asked them whether there were any undisclosed agreements at Moscow. I received a categorical answer that everything had been published, I have made inquiries as to Yalta and Teheran, and have been given the same assurances. I had not, however, asked about this Potsdam meeting until I ran across this situation in this committee report.

Do you know to what military agreements relating to the Far East mentioned by the State Department in this communication to Senator Vandenberg, which up to 1948, three years after the war, this relates which still had not been published, and would you know why they would not be available to the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations?

A.—Is that the Potsdam——

Q.—That is Potsdam. A.—I will have to look it up; I don't recall.

Q.—I will say, Mr. Chairman, that that is one of the other documents which I have both communicated with the State Department and the Defense Establishment, and I think sent copies of the communications to you in the early phases of getting the committee set up here.

THE CHAIRMAN—I think—I am not sure—they have been submitted formally by the chairman of this committee to the defense establishment. I am advised by General Mudge that is the fact.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — All right.

THE CHAIRMAN—I regret very much having taken more time than I had intended. There is still information I would like to go into. I do not want to consume all the time. I have tried to the best of my ability not to cover ground which has been covered before. I think the information is important if we are to reach a common understanding as Americans, and I have tried to pursue this in that spirit.

I merely want to call the Secretary's attention to an article which appears in The Washington Daily News of this evening under the heading "Morrison Would Give Islands to Reds. Britain and U. S. Split on Formosa."

I will just read three paragraphs of the story, which says:

"Britain still favors handing Formosa to Red China, but only after peace has been restored in Korea, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told Commons today.

"Mr. Morrison's speech followed by only a few hours testimony by U. S. Defense Secretary George C. Marshall, who told a Senate committee yesterday that the U. S. should refuse to discuss turning over Formosa to the Reds.

"Senator H. Alexander Smith (R., N. J.), had asked General Marshall if the question of transferring Formosa to Communist hands should be excluded in any cease-fire negotiations for Korea with the Chinese Reds.

"'Yes, the general had replied.'

"Mr. Morrison told Commons that the Government still subscribes to the Cairo declaration of 1943 awarding Formosa to the 'Republic of China' after World War II.

"But, he said, the first step was to obtain a Korean peace settlement. Then the U. N. might 'usefully' consider the Formosan dispute at 'the appropriate time,' he said."

Now, that brings us back to the questions this morning relative to these documents that we were discussing as to just what, if any—the proposal we had discussed—were the other U. N. nations with regard to this question of Formosa, and U. N. membership for Red China?

Five Governments On the Committee

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I have not had an opportunity to go into that in detail, Senator, since you questioned me this morning. However, I did find out this much in relation to your statement of what had occurred.

I think, in January, was it, I found out that it was not a five-man committee, but those five particular Governments were to be members of a committee which would have others involved. Now, beyond that, I have no additional information.

THE CHAIRMAN—I think that this committee can testify you have had mighty little opportunity to gain much information.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I had about ten minutes.

SENATOR KNOWLAND—That is all, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN—Senator McMahon.

SENATOR McMAHON — General, have you ever been a candidate for any political office?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—No, sir.

Q.—As far as you know, has General Bradley ever been a candidate for any political office? A.—Not that I know of, sir.

Q.—Admiral Sherman? A.—Not that I know of.

A.—The same.

Q.—And General Collins? A.—The same.

Q.—General, we have had a very interesting exploratory session here this afternoon into history in the light of hindsight which is always instructive and entertaining. What date did the Japanese war come to an end? A.—Aug. 13, I think, 1945.

Q.—The policy in China before that date, I presume, was certainly designed to further the security of the United States troops? A.—It was particularly to bring about a coordination of effort of the Nationalist forces and the Chinese Communist forces against the Japanese.

Q.—And the Japanese at that time were the main enemy, were they not? A.—They were, yes, sir.

Q.—General, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley preceded you as the Ambassador, and I believe you said made the first formal proposals for the bringing together of these two forces in China for the purpose of avoiding a civil war? A.—It was Ambassador Gauss.

Q.—I beg your pardon, it was Gauss, and when did Hurley come into the picture? A.—Just a short time thereafter. Gauss in 1944 and Hurley also in 1944, and I think within a short time of each other.

Q.—Mr. Hurley was the Secretary of War in Mr. Herbert Hoover's Cabinet, was he not? A.—Yes, sir.

Hurley Statement Quoted On Chinese Communists

Q.—Perhaps at this time in the record it would be a good thing if I were to read in a press conference which Mr. Hurley had on Monday, April 2, 1945. This was a press conference that General Hurley held in China, and I quote:

"You gentlemen"—meaning the gentlemen of the press—"should know, I believe you all do know, that it is a matter of common knowledge that the Communist party of China supports the principles of Dr. Sun Yat Sen. That was generally referred to as the People's Three Principles of China. The three principles are Government of the people, by the people and for the people. All the demands that the Comumnist party has been making have been on a democratic basis. That has led to the statement that the Communist party in China are not in fact real Communists. The Communist party of China is supporting exactly the same principles as those promulgated by the National Government of China and conceded to be objectives also of the National Government."

General, when you got over there, you didn't believe that, did you?

A.—Well, I was in an inquisitive mood, I will say that, when I arrived.

SENATOR CONNALLY — Who said that, Hurley?

SENATOR McMAHON — Hurley. Here is a man now asking Hurley a question:

"Sir, I am not sure that I understood that last sentence. You said the Communist party is supporting the same principles as the National Government of China?

"Answer—Yes.

"Question—Could you tell us what is the divergence between them? How do they differ?

"Answer—Well, as a matter of fact the divergence between the parties of China seems to be not in the objectives desired, because they both assert that they are for the establishment of a government in China that will decentralize authority and conduct itself along democratic lines employing democratic processes. The divergence between them is the procedure by which they can be achieved.

"To go a little further, the Communist party would like for the National Government to inaugurate certain reforms immediately and to do this they have suggested a bipartisan coalition government. The National Government, that is, the Kuomintang party, has stated that it has a program outlined by the liberator of China, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, whereby the authority of the Government of China is to be returned to the people of China under a constitution and not through an aggregation of political parties.

"The National Government of China contends that it is now in the process of a meeting being held on the fifth of next month, a program whereby it will return control of the government to the people.

30.24- 22877

"The National Government claims that it would not be justified in turning over the authority of government to any organization or political parties or any coalition of politicians but that it is the attitude of the National Government to return the control of China to the people and let the people select their own leaders.

"Question—What is the relative difference between the Chinese Communists in China and the Communists in America, Britain and elsewhere?

"Answer—Well, I know the difference between the Republicans and Democrats in Oklahoma, but you are getting too deep for me when you are trying to make me outline the difference between foreign political parties.

"Question—Is this Communist delegate who has been appointed to the Chinese delegation really a Communist as far as you know?

"Answer—I think he is. I do know that he was their representative at Chungking and that he is now in Yunan, and I have had many conferences with him. Now to say whether he is a real Communist as you understand communism, I would not say that. I don't know, because there was a question whether any of the Chinese Communists are real Communists, but I do say this: that he does belong to the Communist party and does cooperate with and serve that party. How to determine what is the degree of communism and what kind of communism it is I could not give you a definition of that."

Do you remember reading that press interview, General?

GENERAL MARSHALL—I was aware of it.

Q.—Do you remember when Hurley went up to see Stalin when he was engaged in his mission? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Do you remember what he said when he came out of the interview to the press? A.—I don't recall that.

Hurley Is Quoted On Stalin's Plans

Q.—I will refresh your recollection by pointing out that he said he believed Stalin had no designs on China. Now, General, when you came back here after your mission, which, of course, took place after the cessation of hostilities, you came up and made a report to the Foreign Relations Committee, did you not? A.—I think I did, sir.

Q.—I have tried to ascertain if there was a record of that conference and unfortunately there was not. I have a list of the members of the Foreign Relations Committee——

SENATOR CONNALLY—Let me interrupt. That was when you came back for a month or so and then went back to China?

GENERAL MARSHALL — I think so. I don't recall a second conference. There may have been one, but there would be a record of that in the State Department.

SENATOR CONNALLY—I am speaking about the conference you had with us when you first went out there, and then you came back and reported to us, and then you went back to China.

GENERAL MARSHALL—That is very definite. I had a conference with the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate and with the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House.

SENATOR McMAHON—Now, as I understand it, there was no record of that conference, but on the Foreign Relations Committee at the time were the following Senators: Senators Vandenberg, Capper, White, Wiley, Smith, Hickenlooper and Lodge; Connally, George, Wagner, Thomas, Barkley and Hatch.

I do not know whether or not—— the question is withdrawn. Senathe Hickenlooper has just called my attention to the fact that this was during 1947 and the conference that I am talking about, of which there was no record, took place during April, I think it was, of 1946, when you came home and reported up the Foreign Relations Committee.

SENATOR LODGE—Will the Senator permit me to say I was not a member of the Senate at that time?

SENATOR McMAHON—That is right.

SENATOR SMITH—And I was not a member of the committee.

SENATOR McMAHON—I cured that by withdrawing the question and pointing out that this was during the spring of 1946.

Now, general, you reported to this committee as to your findings in China at that time. I have only hearsay to go on. I have made some inquiries. Is it true that you met with a general acceptance and approval of the way you had carried out your mission?

GENERAL MARSHALL. There was no expression, formal expression of opinions. I got the impression that I was being supported.

Q.—General, I think it would be worthwhile to clear up the difference, if there is a difference, between our political objectives in Korea and our military objectives in Korea. I think it is important that we have that in the record. Would you please do that for me, sir?

A.—Our military objective in Korea is to resist this aggression and in general to secure the situation. That may mean the advance into Northern Korea, as it did at one stage, or our holding South Korea safe from aggression.

The advance into North Korea as a military proposition was the destruction of the North Korean forces. At the present time the military objective is dominated by the factor that the security of our forces is the preeminent requirement because we are so much outnumbered in Communist China strength.

But in the general terms, it remains the same—to resist the aggression, which carries with it the implication that we not only resist the aggression but within our means we try to terminate the possibility of a continuation of aggressive threats.

As to the political requirements or policies governing the situation, I must ask you to question the State Department on that, because it involves information that, first, ought to be very accurate for the benefit of you gentlemen, and, in the next place, I do not think should be advertised in part. Because while it is a political policy, it pertains very directly to a military procedure.

General Not Surprised By MacArthur's Views

Q.—General, I don't wish to pursue, intermittently, the subject of the reasons for General MacArthur's recall; but I do think that there are one or two matters that might be adverted to so that we would have the record more complete on that subject.

There can be no doubt in the minds of the American people today, sir, that General MacArthur is completely out of sympathy with the Government's policy in the Far East, growing out of his testimony before this committee, and out of his address to the Congress.

Do you not agree with that statement? A.—I think that is a correct statement.

Q.—His views, as expressed here before this committee, and in the address to the Congress, in the main, did not come as any surprise to you, did they? A.—No, sir.

Q.—And the reason they had not come as a surprise to you was because you had read his views in the public press, isn't that true? A.—In part.

Q.—In part? A.—Yes.

Q.—And the "in part" basis of your answer, I will ask you if it does not rest on a series of events, Aug. 6, 1950, "a 'reliable source' reported from Tokyo that General MacArthur felt the United States should take more aggressive action against communism, not only in Korea, but elsewhere in Asia."

On Aug. 27, 1950, is this a part of the basis to your belief that he had openly and completely expressed his views that were in divergence with those of the Government, when he said, on Aug. 17, 1950, without prior knowledge of the President, yourself and the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Department of State—suggesting unilateral action by the United States on Formosa?

This message came at a time when the President and Ambassador Austin were negotiating with the United Nations on the status of Formosa. You remember that message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the President's order to him to withdraw that message?

He did withdraw that statement, but it was printed in United States News and World Report, if you will remember.

On Aug. 28, on the same day that the President ordered him to withdraw the message, the President stated that in the field of foreign relations there can be but one voice stating the position of the United States—that of the President.

Do you remember that statement, General?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—On Dec. 6, 1950, a directive to Cabinet members and other officials, which was transmitted to General MacArthur, specified that statements, speeches and press releases concerning foreign policy or military policy should be cleared in advance with the Department of State and the Department of Defense. That has been adverted to many times in this hearing. You are familiar with that directive.

Now, General, I want to refer to Feb. 7, 1951, where an Associated Press dispatch from Tokyo stated that:

"Gen. Douglas MacArthur is believed to have recommended to Washington that Chinese Nationalist troops be used against the Red Chinese forces in Korea and elsewhere."

This story noted that the U. N. commander has asked in at least three public statements for authority to bomb what he calls "the privileged sanctuary of Manchuria."

Letter From Martin To MacArthur Recalled

On March 7, 1951, General MacArthur complained of "abnormal military inhibitions" and said "a military stalemate seemed inevitable."

I will skip the business of the Joint Chiefs of Staff telling General MacArthur about the planned announcement of the President on March 20, which has been referred to so many times, and now comes to the Joseph W. Martin—Congressman Martin—incident.

I would like to call your attention on Page 185 to Martin's letter to General MacArthur, in which he stated in the last paragraph:

"I would deem it a great help if I could have your views on this point, either on a confidential basis or otherwise."

I will ask you if there is any indication in the reply of General MacArthur to Mr. Martin that it was to be regarded by Mr. Martin as confidential?

A.—I see none.

Q.—I would like to call your attention to some of the statements that were made in the speech of Congressman Martin, which speech got the wholehearted endorsement of General MacArthur, and let's see what Martin was talking about. I have had the speech inserted, at least that portion of it on the Far East, inserted in the Appendix to Volume 6, on pages, beginning on 1151, and it is a full and complete presentation of the so-called MacArthur viewpoint on how we should conduct our operations in the Far East.

I will challenge anyone to deny that statement. I will not take the time of the committee, of course, to read the whole thing, but let me quote what General MacArthur endorsed. Said Mr. Martin:

"But I protest, with every resource at my command, the formulation of any over-all strategy which virtually ignores the focal point of our trouble today in Asia. I might add that Republicans in countless numbers, myself included, have been protesting such a policy, such a strategy, for years. Again, if we really want to take the pressure off our forces in Korea, if we want to diminish the threat of a Soviet sweep across Europe, why, may I ask, do we not employ"—get this figure—"the eight-hundred-thousand anti-Communist Chinese troops on Formosa?"

I call your attention on Page 1155—"What could be sounder logic," said Mr. Martin, "both strategically and militarily, than to allow the anti-Communist forces of the Generalissimo on Formosa to participate in the war against the Chinese Reds. Why not let them open a second front in Asia?"

And then the Congressman went on to give his strategic reasons, which are largely General MacArthur's reasons, as to why this militarily would prove a valid adventure.

Then later on in the speech, Mr. Martin said this:

"The answer is that we do have military people who favor the employment of the anti-Communist forces of the Republic of China. There is good reason to believe that General MacArthur favors such an operation. There is good reason to believe that there are people in the Pentagon who favor such an operation."

Now, I call attention to the fact that in General MacArthur's reply to Mr. Martin, he says, on Page 186:

"Your view with respect to the utilization of the Chinese forces on Formosa is in conflict with neither logic nor this tradition."

He did not add, what is in conflict with the President's, and my Commander in Chief, but I will ask you if that implication isn't plainly in the letter?

A.—I think it is.

Q.—General, I think the American people would appreciate it if you could assure them that the strategy that has been adopted by the Government, as I understand it, with the united backing of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and with yourself, with the backing of the President of the United States, is the strategy which you have adopted after looking at the global picture and weighing what might be termed the global considerations. A.—That is correct, sir.

Estimates Made Of Soviet Power

Q.—I presume the global considerations are of a great number, and of a great variety. I presume that you have looked at the consequences of the Soviets taking over Western Europe? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You have examined—and by "you" I mean the top command, both the President of the United States and the military establishment—you have examined and weighed the state of our civil preparedness in this country? A.—To a certain extent, yes, sir.

Q.—You have weighed and considered the atomic program and its implications? A.—Very closely, sir.

Q.—What was that? A.—Very closely, sir.

Q.—You have weighed the state of our mobilization in this country? A.—With exactitude.

Q.—You have made an estimate of the potentialities of the Soviet Union? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You have carefully weighed the intelligence of which you are possessed, bearing upon the intentions of the Soviet Union? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Have I omitted any major, what might be called major factors, General, which you have weighed? A.—I don't recall any at this moment.

Q.—And as a result of weighing these factors, are you now prepared to tell the people of the United States that it is the unanimous judgment of the top command of this Government that our nation's security is best furthered and best protected by the policy we are pursuing in the Far East. A.—Exactly that, sir.

Q.—I presume, General, that you have taken into consideration not only casualties that we are suffering in Korea today, but also the casualties that we might suffer as a result of precipitant headlong and unwise military adventures? A.—We have considered all those factors, sir.

SENATOR McMAHON—That is all.

SENATOR CONNALLY—May I suggest that in the matter you submitted to the general a while ago, the factors, that you did not mention our relations with our allies.

SENATOR McMAHON—Thank you.

SENATOR CONNALLY — I think that should be inserted.

SENATOR McMAHON—I think the general would certainly like that inserted.

GENERAL MARSHALL — Yes, sir.

SENATOR McMAHON — Because I assume, General, that the possession of certain—not the possession but the use, the co-use with our allies of certain portions of the geography of the earth is of the utmost importance to a defense of the United States of America. A.—I would think so absolutely, sir, and that is the principle of collective security, which is the only principle that we think can carry us to a peace.

SENATOR McMAHON — Thank you very much.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Cain, I believe you are next. It was my intention to recess about five-fifteen. I do not want to stop in the middle of your questioning. I will leave it up to you whether you wish to proceed, or I will declare a recess at this stage.

SENATOR CAIN—I am completely at your service and that of General Marshall. I presume if you recess now, I might be so fortunate as to ask some questions of the general tomorrow.

THE CHAIRMAN—If you have been reached in the regular order, and if we recess at this period, I should think you would be the first questioner tomorrow.

SENATOR CAIN—Then whatever your convenience, mine is the same.

make a brief statement. We will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. I have been advised by Senator Byrd, I have not discussed it with the Secretary, that they are having a great day in honor of General Marshall as the leading, most outstanding alumnus of Virginia Military Institute, starting Monday evening—is it, General?

GENERAL MARSHALL—Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN—We will have a session tomorrow and if we can not get through with the examination of the General tomorrow, I understand you will be available Monday morning.

GENERAL MARSHALL — Yes, sir.

SENATOR LODGE—Are you planning a meeting, Saturday afternoon?

THE CHAIRMAN—I do not know any reason why we should not.

SENATOR LODGE — I just wanted to know.

THE CHAIRMAN—We met last Saturday. I do not know any reason why we should not meet this Saturday afternoon. If we can not conclude by Monday, you will not be available here until Wednesday; is that right?

GENERAL MARSHALL — Wednesday morning, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN—I fervently hope, and I am quite sure it is at least shared by Secretary Marshall, that we will be through examining him by noon Monday.

But in the event we are not, it has been thought that perhaps before we started with General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, that we would return to Secretary Marshall, but it would be a little more in order to have Secretary Pace of the Department of the Army up on Tuesday when Secretary Marshall could not be here. I do not imagine his examination will take an extremely long time, and that would not break the order of the examination as it would to proceed to General Bradley.

I lay that before you, gentlemen.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Might I ask a question on procedure? As I understand it, tomorrow if it is convenient, Senator Cain will proceed with his questioning.

Now as I understand the procedure which you have outlined, if General Marshall is not finished, then Secretary Pace will come up. When the Joint Chiefs come up, might I suggest the Joint Chiefs come up individually rather than en masse?

THE CHAIRMAN—We will follow the order as I designated.

SENATOR LONG—Mr. Chairman, might I make a motion for the future? The other day when we were about halfway around the table Senator Morse made the motion that on the first round of examination of witnesses that each person could ask questions for the first half hour. That would include the answers, and then that on the second round the same procedure would be followed.

I would like to move, because we have gone two-thirds of the way down the line by now on General Marshall's testimony, although I can assure you that General Marshall will not have to take more than a half hour to answer my questions, but with the future witnesses I would like to move that we allow each person on the committee, each Senator a half hour the first round and that after that on the second round they can take as much time as they care to.

THE CHAIRMAN—I understand the parliamentary situation, Senator Long. Senator Morse has made a motion to that effect, and before we start the examination of any other witness, there will be a vote on that motion.

15-Minute Limit Asked For the First Round

SENATOR LODGE—Mr. Chairman, I would like to say I think we ought to be able to do it in fifteen minutes rather than half an hour. I think that if members really prepare themselves carefully and study hard and get their questions carefully phrased, that just as much could be developed in fifteen minutes as in half an hour, and with all the different witnesses we have got to hear, I do not know when we are ever going to get through if we consume time at the rate that we have been consuming it.

From the standpoint of public education and public presentation, you make a much better record if the questions and the answers are much more concise. That is just my opinion.

THE CHAIRMAN—Well, it, of course, will be in order for you to offer a substitute to Senator Morse's motion or an amendment there to strike out "30" and insert "15."

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Mr. Chairman, might I ask just for clarification so the record will be complete, is the Senator from Massachusetts suggesting that there be a time limit of fifteen minutes on each Senator on the questions that are asked?

SENATOR LODGE — No. The Senator from Massachusetts has been here too long to make such a proposal as that. The Senator from Massachusetts is proposing that on the first round that there be a fifteen-minute limit, but that everybody gets a second crack so there is no censorship or no suppression or anything of that kind. This is an effort to have everybody be concise, which I think is in the interests of the public.

Ifirst proposed the five-minute rule. We had our organization meeting and I didn't get very far with that. I do not know that I am going to get very far with the fifteen-minute rule, but I am going to just have that little speech.

THE CHAIRMAN — Very well, we now stand in recess until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

(Whereupon at 5:05 o'clock P. M. [E. D. T.] the hearing was adjourned to reconvene on Saturday, May 12, 1951, at 10 o'clock A. M. [E. D. T.].)

Message to MacArthur

MAY 12 1951

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Following is the paraphrased version of a message sent by President Truman Jan. 13 to General MacArthur, as read into the record today in the Senate committees' hearing on our policy in the Far East. The original text of the message was paraphrased to protect the United States' codes:

The following message from the President to General MacArthur is transmitted:

I want you to know that the situation in Korea is receiving the utmost attention here and that our efforts are concentrated upon finding the right decisions on this matter of the greatest importance to the future of America and to the survival of free peoples everywhere.

I wish in this telegram to tell you of my views as to our basic national and international purposes in continuing the resistance to aggression in Korea. We need your judgment as to the maximum effort which could reasonably be expected from the United Nations forces under your command to support the resistance to aggression which we are trying rapidly to organize on a world-wide basis.

This present telegram is not to be taken in any sense as a directive. Its purpose is to give you something of what is in our minds regarding the political factors.

I

Successful resistance in Korea would serve the following purposes:

A. To demonstrate that aggression will not be accepted by us or by the United Nations, and to provide a rallying point around which the spirits and energies of the free world can be mobilized to meet the world-wide threat which the Soviet Union now poses.

B. To deflate the dangerously exaggerated political and military prestige of Communist China which now threatens to undermine the resistance of non-Communist Asia and to consolidate the hold of communism on China itself.

C. To afford more time for, and to give direct assistance to, the organization of non-Communist resistance in Asia, both outside and inside China.

D. To carry out our commitments of honor to the South Koreans and to demonstrate to the world that the friendship of the United States is of inestimable value in time of adversity.

E. To make possible a far more satisfactory peace settlement for Japan, and to contribute greatly to the post-treaty security position of Japan in relation to the Continent.

F. To lend resolution to many countries not only in Asia but also in Europe and the Middle East who are now living within the shadow of Communist power, and to let them know that they need not now rush to come to terms with communism on whatever terms they can get, meaning complete submission.

G. To inspire those who may be called upon to fight against great odds if subjected to a sudden onslaught by the Soviet Union or by Communist China.

H. To lend point and urgency to the rapid build-up of the defense of the Western World.

I. To bring the United Nations through its first great effort in collective security and to produce a free world coalition of incalculable value to the national security interests of the United States.

J. To alert the peoples behind the Iron Curtain that their masters are bent upon wars of aggression, and that this crime will be resisted by the free world.

II

Our courses of action at this time should be such as to consolidate the great majority of the United Nations. This majority is not merely part of the organization but is also the nations whom we would desperately need to count on as allies in the event the Soviet Union moves against us.

Further, pending the build-up of our national strength we must act with great prudence in so far as extending the area of hostilities is concerned. Steps which might in themselves be justified and which might lend some assistance to the campaign in Korea would not be beneficial if they there-by involved Japan or Western Europe in large-scale hostilities.

We recognize, of course, that continued resistance might not be militarily possible with the limited forces with which you are being called upon to meet large Chinese armies. Further, in the present world situation your forces must be preserved as an effective instrument for the defense of Japan and elsewhere. However, some of the important purposes mentioned above might be supported if you should think it practicable and advisable by continued resistance from offshore islands of Korea, particularly from Cheju-do, if it becomes impractical to hold an important portion of Korea itself.

In the worst case it would be important that if we must withdraw from Korea, it be clear to the world that that course is forced upon us by military necessity and that we shall not accept the result politically or militarily until the aggression has been rectified.

In reaching a final decision about Korea, I shall have to give constant thought to the main threat from the Soviet Union and to the need for rapid expansion of our armed forces to meet this great danger.

I am encouraged to believe that the free world is getting a much clearer and realistic picture of the dangers before us and that the necessary courage and energy will be forthcoming. Recent proceedings in the United Nations have disclosed a certain amount of confusion and wishful thinking but I believe that most members have been actuated by a desire to be absolutely sure that all possible avenues of peaceful settlement have been fully explored.

I believe that the great majority is now rapidly consolidating and that the result will be an encouraging and formidable combination in defense of freedom. The entire nation is grateful for your splendid leadership in the difficult struggle in Korea and for the superb performance of your forces under the most difficult circumstances.

(600) MARSHALL HIGHLIGHTS

WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-DEFENSE SECRETARY MARSHALL MADE HIS FIFTH CONSECUTIVE APPEARANCE BEFORE THE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE TODAY.

HERE ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CLOSED HEARING, TAKEN FROM A CENSORED TRANSCRIPT MADE AVAILABLE TO THE PRESS:

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA): XXX YESTERDAY XXX I ASKED YOU XXX WHY WE WOULD ACCEPT A CALCULATED RISK IN EUROPE XXX OF A THIRD WORLD WAR, AND XXX WHY WE REFUSE TO ACCEPT A SIMILAR CALCULATED RISK AND NOT CARRY OUT THE MILITARY ACTIVITIES OF BOMBING BASES OF SUPPLY BACK IN MANCHURIA WHERE THE REDS OF CHINA ARE ACTUALLY FIGHTING WITH US. XXX WOULD YOU CARE TO XXX DISCUSS IT ANY FURTHER?

SECRETARY MARSHALL: XXX THE SITUATION AS TO THE POSSIBLE ACTIONS OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT IS A MORE ACUTE ONE BY FAR THAN THAT IN WESTERN EUROPE BECAUSE IF THEY LOSE A CLOSE COMMUNITY OF INTERESTS AND COOPERATIVE ARRANGEMENT WITH CHINA AT THIS TIME, THAT WOULD BE A VERY GREAT LOSS TO THEM XXX. HERE IS A SITUATION WHERE THE CHINESE CAN BE BROUGHT TO FEEL, BY CONTINUED HIGHLY DESTRUCTIVE LOSSES, THAT THE SOVIETS HAVE LET THEM DOWN. THEREFORE, THE SITUATION IS MORE DANGEROUS.

HICKENLOOPER: XXX IT SEEMS TO ME THAT IF THE SOVIET INTEREST IS SO MUCH IN ACCORD WITH THAT OF THE COMMUNIST CHINESE, THAT THAT INTEREST WOULD DICTATE THAT THEY WOULD SEE THE COMMUNIST CHINESE THROUGH TO VICTORY IN SPITE OF ANYTHING. XXX WE MIGHT JUST AS WELL TAKE AFTER THEM BACK IN MANCHURIA WITH OUR BOMBERS AND DESTROY THEIR BUILD-UP DEPOTS AND SO ON, BECAUSE THE REASONING WOULD SEEM TO DICTATE THAT RUSSIA WOULD COME IN JUST AS QUICKLY ONE WAY AS THE OTHER.

MARSHALL: WELL, SENATOR, OF COURSE THAT IS BOUND TO BE A MATTER OF JUDGMENT. MY REACTIONS IN THIS MATTER COME VERY LARGELY FROM THE CHIEFS OF STAFF XXX. I FRANKLY DOUBT THAT THIS GOVERNMENT WILL EVER (AGAIN) BE SO FORTUNATE AS TO HAVE SUCH A COLLECTION OF EXPERIENCE AT ONE TIME IN THE CHIEFS OF STAFF.

HICKENLOOPER: GEN.MARSHALL, WAS VAN FLEET (LT.GEN.JAMES A.VAN FLEET) GEN.RIDGWAY'S PERSONAL SELECTION FOR THE COMMANDER OF THE 8TH ARMY?

MARSHALL: NO, SIR, I DON'T THINK HE WAS. HE ACCEPTED IT. THE PERSONAL SELECTION WAS MINE. THERE WAS COMPLETE AGREEMENT ON THE PART OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF WITH THAT.

MAY 12 1951

A69WX

HICKENLOOPER: GEN.MARSHALL, IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT XXX THE GREATEST POSSIBLE UNITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE IS ESSENTIAL IN ANY EMERGENCY ACTION AT THIS TIME, AND THAT THE UNITY AND CONFIDENCE OF OUR ALLIES, THE UNITED NATIONS, AND THE JAPANESE PEOPLE, IN VIEW OF THEIR LOCATION IN THE ORIENT, XXX AND IN VIEW OF WHAT HAS HAPPENED SINCE THE RELIEF OF GEN.MACARTHUR, IF YOU HAD IT TO DO OVER AGAIN, WOULD YOU SUPPORT THE ACTION THAT WAS TAKEN?

MARSHALL: THAT IS A HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION, SENATOR, AND I DO NOT THINK IT IS A FAIR ONE, BUT I WOULD SAY, YES, THIS WAS FORESEEN.

HICKENLOOPER: SO THAT THE ACTION WAS TAKEN FORESEEING GREAT DOUBT AND CONFUSION WOULD ARISE IN THE MINDS OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, AND ALSO WITH THE KNOWLEDGE THAT GEN.MACARTHUR STOOD VERY HIGH IN THE OPINION X X X OF THE JAPANESE PEOPLE?

MARSHALL: THAT WAS FORESEEN, DISCUSSED, IN ADVANCE OF THIS DECISION. THE DECISION CAME BECAUSE IT WAS FELT IT WAS UNAVOIDABLE. IT WAS ALSO FELT AFTER THE HEIGHT OF THE EMOTIONAL WAVE PASSED THERE WOULD BE SOME SOBER THINKING.

HICKENLOOPER: IN OTHER WORDS, I HAVE THE FEELING THAT RUSSIA WILL NOT ENGAGE IN A THIRD WORLD WAR OR START ONE UNTIL RUSSIA BELIEVES THE TIME IS PROPITIOUS AND RIGHT AND SHE IS READY FOR IT.

MARSHALL: I WOULD AGREE WITH YOU, I THINK THAT WOULD BE THEIR GOVERNING MOTIVE IN THE MATTER.

SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) (IN A STATEMENT PRECEDING HIS INTERROGATION OF MARSHALL): I NOTICED IN THE PRESS THE OTHER DAY THAT AMONG THE NEWS AGENCIES WHICH HAD REQUESTED COPIES OF OUR PUBLIC TRANSCRIPT HAD BEEN THE TASS AGENCY OF THE SOVIET UNION. SO THERE BE NO MISUNDERSTANDING TO TASS, AND THOSE WHO MAY READ THE DOCUMENTS WHICH THEY GOT, I THINK THERE SHOULD BE NO MISINTERPRETATION THAT THIS DISCUSSION WHICH IS GOING ON REPRESENTS ANY FUNDAMENTAL CLEAVAGE IN THE AMERICAN PEOPLE'S DETERMINATION TO HELP MAINTAIN A FREE WORLD. XXX I FEEL THAT OUT OF THIS WILL COME A CLEARER DETERMINATION THAT WE DO NOT INTEND TO BE PUSHED AROUND BY THE SOVIET UNION, OR ANY NATION WHICH IS ENDEAVORING TO IMPOSE ITS WILL UPON THE FREE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD.

BULLETIN

MARSHALL-SOUTH KOREANS

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL TESTIFIED TODAY THAT WASHINGTON OFFERED LAST JANUARY TO SEND GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR ENOUGH SMALL ARMS FOR 200,000 TO 300,000 SOUTH KOREANS.

THE DEFENSE SECRETARY SAID MACARTHUR INDICATED HE BELIEVED SUCH ARMS COULD BE BETTER USED TO ARM A NATIONAL POLICE RESERVE BEING BUILT UP IN JAPAN.

SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) RAISED THE POINT AT THE HEARING OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS AND ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEES ON MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL.

THE CALIFORNIAN WANTED TO KNOW WHY THE WHITE HOUSE, AT THE TIME MACARTHUR WAS FIRED, RELEASED SOME CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN THE PENTAGON AND MACARTHUR ON ARMING OF MORE SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS.

MAY 12 1951

A226WX

MARSHALL SAID THE EXCHANGE WAS MADE PUBLIC BECAUSE MACARTHUR IN APRIL, BEFORE HIS DISMISSAL, HAD INDICATED MORE SOUTH KOREANS WERE NOT ARMED BECAUSE OF "A MATTER INVOLVING FOREIGN POLICY."

MARSHALL SAID THE SOUTH KOREAN GOVERNMENT PLEADED FOR MORE ARMS AND THAT THE PLEAS WERE BROUGHT TO HIM AS DEFENSE SECRETARY. HE SENT A MEMORANDUM TO THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, THE SECRETARY TESTIFIED, AND THEY NOTIFIED MACARTHUR LAST JAN. 4 THAT THESE WEAPONS COULD BE SUPPLIED:

160,000 RIFLES, 70,000 SUBMACHINE GUNS, 150,000 CARBINES, AND 8,000 AUTOMATIC RIFLES.

MARSHALL SAID MANY QUESTIONS HAD BEEN RAISED IN CONGRESS AS TO WHY AVAILABLE SOUTH KOREANS WERE NOT BEING ARMED AND USED WITH THE U.N. FORCES IN KOREA.

MACARTHUR'S JANUARY DECISION WAS THAT THE JAPANESE POLICE HAD PRIORITY ON THE WEAPONS, AND MARSHALL SAID MACARTHUR HAD HAD "VERY EXCELLENT REASONS" FOR HIS DECISION.

BUT THE SECRETARY SAID "THE DECIDING ACTION HAD BEEN GENERAL MAC-ARTHUR'S."

KNOWLAND SUGGESTED THE WEAPONS MARSHALL LISTED MIGHT BE ALL RIGHT FOR A CONSTABULARY FORCE BUT WOULD NOT BE SUFFICIENT FOR COMBAT DIVISIONS.

IN REPLY, MARSHALL READ FROM A DOCUMENT, APPARENTLY THE JOINT CHIEFS' MESSAGE TO MACARTHUR JAN. 4, WHICH SAID THE ADDITIONAL SOUTH KOREANS COULD BE USED TO AUGMENT THE RIFLE STRENGTH OF EXISTING DIVISIONS, TO GUARD COMMUNICATIONS OR TO MAKE GUERRILLA RAIDS.

KNOWLAND SAID MACARTHUR CONTENDED THE QUESTION OF ARMING SOUTH KOREANS WAS "ON AN ECHELON HIGHER THAN MINE."

MARSHALL SAID IT WAS "A MATTER LITERALLY BETWEEN THE CHIEFS OF STAFF AND GENERAL MACARTHUR," ADDING:

"IF HE ACCEPTED ANY OF THE SUGGESTIONS MADE OR HAD HIS OWN PROPOSAL AS TO THE WEAPONS, THEY WERE GOING TO BE SENT THAT WAY. THERE WASN'T ANY QUESTION ABOUT THAT."

(450) MARSHALL-WALLACE AT THE DIRECTION OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL AGREED TODAY THAT GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS INDICATE HENRY WALLACE PRESSED CHIANG KAI-SHEK IN 1944 TO TAKE THE COMMUNISTS IN HIS CHINESE NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT.

WALLACE WAS VICE PRESIDENT AT THE TIME.

THE MATTER WAS RAISED WHILE MARSHALL WAS BEING QUESTIONED BY SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) AT SENATE HEARINGS ON THE OUSTER OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR FROM HIS FAR EASTERN COMMANDS.

KNOWLAND READ FROM A 1949 STATE DEPARTMENT "WHITE PAPER" ON CHINA REFERENCES TO CONVERSATIONS WALLACE HAD WITH CHIANG ON JUNE 21-24, 1944. THE VICE PRESIDENT WAS IN CHINA ON A MISSION FOR THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

IT QUOTED WALLACE AS SAYING THAT ROOSEVELT HAD "ASSUMED THAT INASMUCH AS THE COMMUNISTS AND THE MEMBERS OF THE KUOMINTANG (NATIONALIST) WERE ALL CHINESE THEY WERE BASICALLY FRIENDS, AND NOTHING SHOULD BE FINAL BETWEEN FRIENDS."

IT ALSO SAID THAT WALLACE HAD TOLD CHIANG THAT ROOSEVELT HAD INDICATED THAT IF THE PARTIES COULD NOT GET TOGETHER THEY MIGHT CALL IN A FRIEND, AND HAD INDICATED THAT HE MIGHT BE THAT FRIEND."

AFTER READING THESE QUOTATIONS FROM THE WHITE PAPER, KNOWLAND ASKED:

"WOULDN'T YOU SAY, MR.SECRETARY, THAT THAT INDICATED THAT AT LEAST, ACCORDING TO MR.WALLACE'S VERSION OF WHAT HIS CONVERSATIONS WITH THE PRESIDENT HAD BEEN, THAT HE INDICATED THAT THE COMMUNISTS SHOULD BE TAKEN INTO THE GOVERNMENT AS EARLY AS 1944?"

"I THINK THAT IS VERY CLEARLY THE CASE," MARSHALL REPLIED.

FROM HIS HOME AT SOUTH SALEM, N.Y., WALLACE ISSUED A STATEMENT TONIGHT SAYING "THERE WAS NO DISCUSSION OF BRINGING COMMUNISTS INTO THE GOVERNMENT OF THE GENERALISSIMO."

THE FORMER VICE-PRESIDENT ADDED:

"ROOSEVELT WAS NOT INTERESTED IN MAKING OVER THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT. WHAT HE WAS INTERESTED IN WAS SEEING THE CHINESE FROM ALL TYPES OF POLITICAL FAITHS DOING A GOOD JOB OF FIGHTING THE JAPANESE.

"AS TO WHAT ANY AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE GENERALISSIMO AND THE COMMUNISTS WOULD CONSIST OF, WAS NOT INDICATED BY ROOSEVELT OR BY ME. ROOSEVELT'S POINT THAT HE WANTED MADE AGAIN AND AGAIN WAS THAT ALL GROUPS SHOULD GET AROUND THE TABLE AND TALK MATTERS OUT AND TO THAT END HE WAS WILLING TO OFFER HIS OWN GOOD OFFICES.

"ROOSEVELT, IN TALKING TO ME IN THE SPRING OF 1944, SAID HIS NUMBER ONE PURPOSE IN SENDING ME TO CHINA WAS TO GET THE CHINESE FIGHTING UNDER THE GENERALISSIMO AND THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS TO THINKING MORE ABOUT FIGHTING THE JAPANESE RATHER THAN EACH OTHER."

WALLACE SAID PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT "WAS TREMENDOUSLY INTERESTED IN A STRONG, INDEPENDENT, TRULY DEMOCRATIC CHINA, AND TO THAT END WANTED ALL OUTSTANDING DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CHINA AND RUSSIA SETTLED BEFORE THE WAR CAME TO AN END."

KNOWLAND ALSO DECLARED IT APPEARS THAT EVEN BEFORE THE 1945 YALTA CONFERENCE, "WE WERE INDICATING TO THE (NATIONALIST) CHINESE, THROUGH THE VOICE OF VICE PRESIDENT WALLACE X X X THAT HE (CHIANG KAI-SHEK) HAD BETTER COME TO SOME AGREEMENT WITH THE SOVIET UNION."

KNOWLAND SAID IT FURTHER APPEARED "WE WERE INDICATING TO HIM (CHIANG) THAT HE WOULD HAVE TO DO HIS NEGOTIATING ALONE, AND WE WOULD NOT USE OUR GOOD OFFICES."

MAY 12 1951

A29WX

THE CALIFORNIA SENATOR ASKED WHETHER THAT WOULD SEEM TO BE A FAIR INTERPRETATION, AND MARSHALL REPLIED: "THAT WOULD SEEM SO."

KNOWLAND SAID WALLACE WAS ACCOMPANIED TO CHINA BY JOHN CARTER VINCENT AND OWEN LATTIMORE.

BOTH VINCENT AND LATTIMORE FIGURED IN THE QUESTIONING OF MARSHALL YESTERDAY WITH RESPECT TO WHETHER THEY HAD DISPLAYED A SYMPATHY FOR THE POSITION OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

VINCENT HEADED A STATE DEPARTMENT CHINA DESK IN THE EARLY 1940S. LATER HE WAS U.S. MINISTER TO SWITZERLAND AND RECENTLY HE WAS NAMED POLITICAL REPRESENTATIVE AND CONSUL-GENERAL IN TANGIERS.

BOTH HE AND LATTIMORE, FAR EASTERN AFFAIRS EXPERT AND SOMETIMES ADVISER TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT, WERE TARGETS LAST YEAR OF THE COMMUNISTS-IN-GOVERNMENT CHARGES OF SENATOR MCCARTHY (R-WIS).

THE DEMOCRATS ON A SENATE COMMITTEE WHICH LOOKED INTO MCCARTHY'S CHARGES SAID THERE WAS NO BASIS FOR HIS ACCUSATIONS AGAINST VINCENT AND LATTIMORE. MCCARTHY RETORTED "WHITEWASH" AND WAS JOINED BY SOME OTHER REPUBLICANS.

KNOWLAND HAD BEEN QUESTIONING MARSHALL EARLIER ABOUT WHETHER HE HAD TRIED TO BRING ABOUT A COALITION GOVERNMENT BETWEEN THE NATIONALISTS AND THE COMMUNISTS ON HIS 1945-46 MISSION TO CHINA.

MARSHALL SAID THAT WHEN HE ARRIVED IN CHINA LATE IN DECEMBER,1945, HE "DID NOT HAVE TO MAKE ANY SUGGESTION OF THAT NATURE" BECAUSE THE OPPOSING SIDES ALREADY HAD ARRANGED FOR A MEETING TO TRY TO WORK OUT A SETTLEMENT.

HE SAID THAT HE WAS TRYING TO GET A CEASE-FIRE AGREEMENT IN THE CIVIL WAR, ADDING THAT "I REMAINED ALOOF FROM THE POLITICAL DISCUSSIONS BECAUSE THAT WAS A CHINESE AFFAIR."

MARSHALL SAID THAT "OUR GOVERNMENT HAD REPRESENTED ITS INTERESTS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF A TWO-PARTY GOVERNMENT, AND BEYOND THAT I DID NOT TOUCH THE MATTER AT ALL, EXCEPT TO FURNISH THE GENERALISSIMO CONFIDENTIALLY OUR BILL OF RIGHTS AND A POSSIBLE INTERIM SET-UP WHILE THEY WERE REACHING FORMAL CONSTITUTIONAL STATUS."

MARSHALL SAID THAT IT WAS NOT UNTIL THE END OF APRIL "THAT I BECAME MORE DIRECTLY INVOLVED IN THE POLITICAL FACTORS, AND THOSE CONSISTED OF AN EFFORT TO FIND SOME WAY TO BREAK DOWN THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE TWO SIDES IN CARRYING OUT THE POLICIES ADOPTED BY THE POLITICAL CONSULTATIVE CONFERENCE."

HE ALSO TESTIFIED THAT THE CHINESE "HAD MOVED INTO THE ADJUSTMENTS BY THEMSELVES, WHICH SEEMED TO BE THE HIGHLY DESIRABLE WAY TO DO IT."

"AND," HE ADDED, "AS I WAS A MEDIATOR IN CONNECTION, FIRST, WITH DETERMINING THE BASIS OF A CEASE-FIRE, AND THEN ITS EXECUTION, WHICH IS THE MORE DIFFICULT PART OF IT, IT SEEMED TO ME HIGHLY DESIRABLE THAT I REMAIN ALOOF FROM THE POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT."

WHEN HE FOUND LATE IN APRIL AN IMPASSE HAD DEVELOPED IN REGARD

30.24- 22881

TO THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, HE SAID, "I MOVED IN DEFINITELY IN CONNECTION WITH THE POLITICAL SETUP, NOT AS TO THE GENERAL TYPES OF THE GOVERNMENT, BUT AS TO HOW TO GET THEM TOGETHER IN THE MATTER OF DELEGATES, PARTICULARLY THE STATE COUNCIL WHICH REMAINED THE ARGUMENTATIVE BASIS FOR MONTHS THERE."

MARSHALL-JOINT CHIEFS(350)

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL TODAY PRAISED THE MEN WHO ADVISED HIM AND PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON MILITARY MATTERS.

"I FRANKLY DOUBT THAT THIS GOVERNMENT WILL EVER BE SO FORTUNATE AS TO HAVE SUCH A COLLECTION OF EXPERIENCE AT ONE TIME IN THE CHIEFS OF STAFF," MARSHALL TOLD SENATORS LOOKING INTO THE FIRING OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA) HAD SAID THE DECISION NOT TO LET MACARTHUR BOMB RED CHINA WAS "A MATTER OF JUDGMENT."

"WELL, WHOSE JUDGMENT?" MARSHALL REMARKED.

MAY 12 1951

"MY REACTIONS IN THIS MATTER COME VERY LARGELY FROM THE CHIEFS OF STAFF."

THEN HE GAVE HIS OPINION OF THE MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS:

"GENERAL (OMAR) BRADLEY (JCS CHAIRMAN) HAS HAD CONSIDERABLE FIGHTING EXPERIENCE, AND HE HAS COMMANDED THE LARGEST FORCE OF GROUND TROOPS IN HISTORY, OURS OR ANYBODY'S ELSE'S IN THE FIELD; SO, HE IS NOT INEXPERIENCED; ASIDE FROM BEING A VERY LEVEL-HEADED MAN, AND ONE OF GREAT HONESTY OF PURPOSE.

"GENERAL (HOYT) VANDENBERG HAS COMMANDED, I THINK, THE LARGEST PURSUIT OR BATTLE FORMATION OF PLANES, IN CONTRAST WITH BOMBERS, OF ANY MAN IN HISTORY. THAT IS A CONSIDERABLE EXPERIENCE.

"ADMIRAL (FORREST) SHERMAN HAS COMMANDED SHIPS IN THE PACIFIC. HE HAD ONE SUBMARINED FROM UNDER HIM, A CARRIER. HE HAS BEEN (ADM.CHESTER W.) NIMITZ'S DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF IN THE PACIFIC CAMPAIGN. HE IS NOT, THEREFORE, DETACHED IN HIS VIEW OF THE PACIFIC. HE HAS BEEN IN COMMAND OF THE MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, AND KNOWS THE MEDITERRANEAN, AND THE PRINCIPAL PEOPLE THERE FROM THE MIDDLE EAST TO GIBRALTAR, AND SPAIN.

"GENERAL (J.LAWTON) COLLINS COMMANDED A DIVISION WHICH TERMINATED THE FIGHTING IN GUADALCANAL. I BELIEVE HE GOT OUT OF A SICK BED TO REDEEM THE TEMPORARY REVERSE WE WERE SUFFERING IN THE RUSSELL ISLANDS. HE COMMANDED A CORPS IN LANDING ON UTAH BEACH. HE CAPTURED CHERBOURG IN THE FIRST LARGE CAPTURE AFTER AFRICA OF GERMANS.

"HE CONDUCTED A CLASSIC BATTLE, WHICH RECEIVED ALMOST NO PUBLICITY IN THIS COUNTRY IN DESTROYING LARGE PORTIONS OF THE TWO ARMIES REMAINING OF THE GERMANS AT MAINZ IN WHICH I THINK HIS CAPTURES ALONE WERE ABOUT 23,000, AND THE DESTRUCTION WAS CONSIDERABLY BEYOND THAT.

"HE CAPTURED AACHEN, HE CAPTURED DUSSELDORF, COLOGNE, ACROSS THE RHINE, WHEN HE ARRIVED AT THE ELBE. THERE IS A GREAT DEAL OF EXPERIENCE IN THAT.

"SO, THEN THESE MEN ANALYZE THESE VARIOUS QUESTIONS, ALL OF THEM, AND TALK OUT THEIR VARIOUS POINTS OF VIEW, AND BRING THEM TO ME AND TO THE PRESIDENT, I THINK IT IS A VERY FORMIDABLE GENERAL OPINION ON AFFAIRS IN THE WORLD; AND, I DIDN'T MENTION THAT THEY HAD BEEN TO JAPAN IS AN OPINION OF QUITE A GROUP."

(320) MARSHALL-KNOWLAND

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) READ TO SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL TODAY A LIST OF TERMS AND CONDITIONS HE SAID HE "HAD BEEN GIVEN TO UNDERSTAND" WERE BEING DISCUSSED IN CONNECTION WITH A POSSIBLE EFFORT IN MARCH TO SETTLE THE KOREAN WAR.

INCLUDED WERE ASSERTIONS THAT (A) SINCE THE KOREAN FIGHTING HAD BECOME A WAR WITH COMMUNIST CHINA, THE PRESENCE OF RED CHINA IN THE UNITED NATIONS WAS THUS "INDISPENSABLE,"(B) THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT NECESSARILY HAVE TO RECOGNIZE THE PEIPING REGIME AND (C) INDIAN PRIME MINISTER NEHRU APPARENTLY WAS HOPEFUL PEIPING WOULD ACCEPT SECRET ASSURANCES OF THE EVENTUAL "LIQUIDATION OF CHIANG KAI SHEK."

MARSHALL SAID THE DOCUMENT HAD NOT "AWAKENED ANY MEMORY OF MINE."

KNOWLAND BROUGHT UP THE MATTER IN QUESTIONING MARSHALL TODAY AT THE SENATE INQUIRY INTO THE DISMISSAL OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR FROM HIS FAR EAST COMMANDS. HE REFERRED SPECIFICALLY TO THE ADMINISTRATION'S CLAIM THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAD PLANNED TO ANNOUNCE IN MARCH THAT THE U.N.WAS ABOUT READY TO DISCUSS TERMS OF POSSIBLE SETTLEMENT IN KOREA.

MARSHALL HAD TESTIFIED THAT MACARTHUR WAS NOTIFIED MARCH 20 OF THOSE PLANS, AND THAT FOUR DAYS LATER HE MADE A PUBLIC STATEMENT TO THE ENEMY COMMANDER IN CHIEF IN THE FIELD DECLARING HE WAS READY TO DISCUSS ARMISTICE TERMS CONSISTENT WITH THE OBJECTIVES OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

MARSHALL HAD SAID THAT ACTION BY MACARTHUR WIPED OUT ANY CHANCE OF A KOREAN SETTLEMENT AT THAT TIME.

TODAY KNOWLAND ASKED MARSHALL WHAT THE TERMS OF THE PRESIDENT'S PEACE PROPOSAL WERE. MARSHALL SAID HE COULD NOT RECALL THE DETAILS, SO KNOWLAND READ HIS MEMORANDUM.

WHEN HE FINISHED SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN) ASKED WHETHER IT WAS AN OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM.

KNOWLAND: NO, IT IS NOT AN OFFICIAL--

MCMAHON: THIS IS A COMPENDIUM OF VARIOUS RUMORS?

KNOWLAND: A COMPENDIUM OF VARIOUS REPORTS.

MCMAHON: RUMORS AND REPORTS. THANK YOU.

WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL TOLD SENATORS TODAY THAT IN 1945 GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR "VERY COURAGEOUSLY" URGED AN AMPHIBIOUS ASSAULT ON JAPAN RATHER THAN A NAVAL BLOCKADE.

HE SAID AT THE TIME THERE WERE 2,500,000 ENEMY TROOPS IN JAPAN PROPER AND SOME OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S ADVISORS WERE URGING JAPAN BE ISOLATED RATHER THAN ATTACKED.

MARSHALL ASKED MACARTHUR HIS VIEWS AND THE GENERAL "CAME BACK STRONGLY, VERY COURAGEOUSLY, I FELT, IN FAVOR OF THE LANDING IN JAPAN RATHER THAN THE TEMPORIZING MEASURE."

THE UNITED STATES WAS PLANNING THE ASSAULT WHEN JAPAN SURRENDERED.

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL SAID TODAY HE, NOT GEN.MATTHEW B.RIDGWAY, PICKED LIEUT.GEN.JAMES A.VAN FLEET AS COMMANDER OF THE 8TH ARMY IN KOREA.

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA) ASKED MARSHALL WHETHER VAN FLEET WAS RIDGWAY'S PERSONAL SELECTION."

"NO, SIR, I DON'T THINK HE WAS," MARSHALL REPLIED. "HE ACCEPTED HIM. THE PERSONAL SELECTION WAS MINE. THERE WAS COMPLETE AGREEMENT ON THE PART OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF WITH THAT."

HICKENLOOPER--GENERAL RIDGWAY WAS NOT CONSULTED ABOUT THE ASSIGNMENT OF GENERAL VAN FLEET TO THE 8TH ARMY?

MARSHALL--YES, THERE WAS A COMMUNICATION BACK AND FORTH ON THAT.

MARSHALL-BRIDGES

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) SAID TODAY HE WILL "CHALLENGE" SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL'S STATEMENT THAT HE HAD NO PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE OF ANY PRO-COMMUNIST OFFICIALS IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN 1947-48.

MARSHALL WAS SECRETARY OF STATE DURING THOSE YEARS.

"I PERSONALLY RECALL TALKING TO THE GENERAL WHEN HE WAS SECRETARY OF STATE ABOUT A CONFIDENTIAL LIST OF BAD SECURITY RISKS," BRIDGES TOLD A REPORTER.

BRIDGES IS SENIOR REPUBLICAN ON THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEES. TOGETHER WITH THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, IT IS QUESTIONING MARSHALL ABOUT THE FIRING OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR AND RELATED POLICIES.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN, SENATOR MORSE OF OREGON, YESTERDAY ASKED MARSHALL IF, WHILE HE WAS SECRETARY OF STATE, HE FOUND WITHIN THE DEPARTMENT "ANY OFFICIALS WHO WERE PRO-COMMUNIST AND WHO WANTED THE POLICY OF THIS GOVERNMENT TO BE ONE OF SUPPORTING THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS."

MARSHALL REPLIED:

"NO, SIR, I DID NOT; I AM SPEAKING IN REGARD TO THOSE PEOPLE WITH WHOM I CAME IN CONTACT."

MORSE THEN ASKED: "AND YOU KNEW OF NO SUCH MOVEMENT WITHIN THE STATE DEPARTMENT DURING THAT PERIOD OF SERVICE?"

"IT NEVER CAME TO MY ATTENTION, SIR," MARSHALL REPLIED.

BRIDGES WAS CHAIRMAN OF THE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE IN 1947 WHEN REPUBLICANS CONTROLLED THE SENATE. WHILE HE HELD THAT POSITION, HE SAID, "A CONFIDENTIAL LIST OF BAD SECURITY RISKS WAS PREPARED AND WE DISCUSSED THIS WITH SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL HERE AT THE SENATE."

"SOME OF THESE EMPLOYEES SPOKE IN TERMS OF CONDEMNATION OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND CHIANG KAI-SHEK AND WERE VERY SYMPATHETIC TO THE CHINESE COMMUNIST CAUSE," THE SENATOR SAID.

"I DON'T CHARGE THEY WERE PRO-COMMUNISTS BUT THEY CERTAINLY WERE STUPID OR NAIVE. WE MENTIONED THEIR NAMES WHEN WE TALKED WITH MARSHALL."

BRIDGES SAID MARSHALL'S CONTACTS "MUST HAVE BEEN VERY LIMITED IF HE DID NOT CONTACT THESE PEOPLE."

HE SAID HE INTENDS TO QUESTION MARSHALL ABOUT THE MATTER LATER IN THE HEARINGS.

BRIDGES SAID THE LIST OF PERSONS DISCUSSED WITH MARSHALL NEVER WAS MADE PUBLIC AND THAT THE RECORD OF THE HEARINGS WAS NOT PUBLISHED.

MACARTHUR (210)

NEW YORK, MAY 11-(AP)-GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THAT RECENT DEVELOPMENTS OFFER HOPE THAT A "REALISTIC POLICY" ON THE CONDUCT OF THE KOREAN WAR MAY BE EMERGING UNDER PRESSURE OF PUBLIC OPINION AND THE CONGRESSIONAL HEARINGS.

MAJ.GEN.COURTNEY WHITNEY, THE DEPOSED PACIFIC COMMANDER'S CHIEF AIDE, SAID MACARTHUR HAD EXPRESSED PLEASURE OVER GEN.MARSHALL'S STAND AGAINST YIELDING ON THE ISSUES OF FORMOSA AND CHINA'S U.N.SEAT.

"THIS SEEMS TO REFLECT A COMPLETE CHANGE IN GEN.MARSHALL'S VIEWPOINT AS RECORDED ON MARCH 31," GEN.WHITNEY SAID.

GEN.MARSHALL TOLD THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES YESTERDAY THE UNITED STATES WOULD "NEVER YIELD" TO THE ENTRY OF COMMUNIST CHINA INTO THE UNITED NATIONS OR TURNING FORMOSA OVER TO RED CHINA AS CONDITIONS FOR A CEASE-FIRE IN KOREA.

"AS GEN.MACARTHUR TESTIFIED BEFORE THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES," GEN.WHITNEY SAID, "THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF IN LATE MARCH, IN FORMULATING CONDITIONS FOR A CEASE-FIRE AGREEMENT IN KOREA, RECOMMENDED AGAINST INCLUSION OF EITHER OF THESE SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION.

"GEN.MARSHALL OVERRODE THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, HOWEVER, AND RECOMMENDED TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE THAT DISPOSITION OF FORMOSA AND CHINA'S SEAT IN THE U.N. WERE APPROPRIATE FOR DISCUSSION IN A CONFERENCE ON A KOREAN SETTLEMENT."

MAY 12 1951

"GEN.MACARTHUR IS PLEASED TO NOTE THE REPORTED HARDENING OF THE BRITISH ATTITUDE AGAINST CONTINUANCE OF THE PRESENT SUPPLY OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS THROUGH HONG KONG AND CHINESE PORTS," GEN.WHITNEY SAID IN A STATEMENT.

"HE BELIEVES THAT IF THIS TENDENCY RESULTS IN AN EFFECTIVE EMBARGO ANOTHER OF THE GREAT ANOMALIES OF THE KOREAN WAR WILL HAVE BEEN CORRECTED.

"HE REGARDS ALSO AS A HEALTHY SIGN THE STEPPING UP OF MILITARY AID TO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S FORCES ON FORMOSA.

"THE GENERAL ALSO FEELS THAT SUCH TRENDS ARE ENCOURAGING AND OFFER HOPE THAT A REALISTIC POLICY ON THE CONDUCT OF THE KOREAN WAR MAY NOW BE EMERGING UNDER THE PRESSURE OF THE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION AND AN AROUSED PUBLIC OPINION."

REFERRING TO MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY YESTERDAY, WHITNEY SAID:

"GEN.MACARTHUR THIS MORNING EXPRESSED PLEASURE TO ME OVER AN APPARENT ORIENTATION OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY TOWARD HIS BASIC VIEWS ON THE FAR EAST AS HE EXPRESSED THEM TO CONGRESS. HE IS PARTICULARLY PLEASED AT THE PUBLIC STAND GEN.MARSHALL HAS NOW TAKEN AGAINST YIELDING ON THE ISSUES OF FORMOSA AND CHINA'S SEAT IN THE U.N."

WHITNEY CHALLENGED MARSHALL'S STATEMENT THAT HE RETURNED FROM HIS MISSION TO CHINA BY WAY OF TOKYO.

"GEN.MARSHALL'S MEMORY SADLY BETRAYED HIM IN AT LEAST ONE INSTANCE," WHITNEY SAID. "HE TESTIFIED THAT HE HAD RETURNED FROM HIS CHINA MISSION BY WAY OF TOKYO AND THAT HE BELIEVED HE HAD INFORMALLY DISCUSSED CHINA WITH GEN.MACARTHUR.

"THAT IS ENTIRELY ERRONEOUS. GEN.MARSHALL, ON COMPLETION OF HIS MISSION TO CHINA, DID NOT RETURN VIA TOKYO, BUT, INSTEAD, TOOK THE SOUTHERN ROUTE. HE DID NOT SEE GEN.MACARTHUR AND NEVER HAS DISCUSSED THE CHINESE SITUATION WITH GEN.MACARTHUR, EITHER DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY."

A194

WHITNEY SAID MARSHALL WAS MACARTHUR'S GUEST OVERNIGHT ON THE

30.24- 22883

WAY TO CHINA, BUT THE SUBJECT OF HIS MISSION WAS NOT DISCUSSED. HE SAID IT HAD BEEN HOPED IN TOKYO THAT MARSHALL WOULD RETURN TO DISCUSS THE SITUATION.

REFERRING AGAIN TO KOREA, WHITNEY SAID:

"NEITHER THE SECRETARY OF STATE, NOR THE UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE, NOR THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE IN CHARGE OF FAR EASTERN AFFAIRS, NOR THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE, NOR ROBERT A.LOVETT, UNDERSECRETARY OF DEFENSE, NOR GEN(OMAR) BRADLEY (CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF) HAS EVER SEEN FIT TO VISIT KOREA DURING THE COURSE OF THE PRESENT CONFLICT, IF, INDEED, ANY OF THEM EVER VISITED THAT AREA AT ANY TIME."

NEW YORK, MAY 11-(AP)-GENERAL DOUGLAS MAC ARTHUR'S SPOKESMAN REITERATED TONIGHT THE OPINION THAT RUSSIA WILL NOT "PROJECT THE WAR" IN THE FAR EAST UNTIL IT FEELS IT HAS SUPERIOR FORCES THERE.

RUSSIA DOES NOT FEEL THIS TO BE SO AT THE PRESENT TIME, MAJOR GENERAL COURTNEY WHITNEY, MAC ARTHUR'S CHIEF AIDE, ADDED.

WHITNEY WAS ASKED BY NEWSMEN TO COMMENT ON DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SENATE INQUIRY INTO FAR EASTERN POLICY AND MAC ARTHUR'S OUSTER AS FAR EASTERN COMMANDER.

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE MARSHALL TODAY TOLD THE HEARING THAT DANGER OF WAR WITH RUSSIA IN THE FAR EAST IS "MORE ACUTE BY FAR" THAN IN EUROPE.

WHITNEY SAID TONIGHT:

"THE GENERAL (MAC ARTHUR) HAS OFTEN SAID THAT WHEN IN THE OPINION OF THE SOVIETS THEY HAVE SUPERIORITY OF FORCE, ONLY THEN WILL THEY PROJECT THE WAR.

"NOTHING WE CAN DO WILL INFLUENCE THE SOVIETS BEYOND THE POINT THE SOVIETS FEEL THE RELATIVITY OF FORCE TO BE IN THE SOVIETS' FAVOR."

ASKED IF THAT MIGHT BE THE CASE NOW, WHITNEY REPLIED:

"AT THE PRESENT TIME, IT IS NOT SO."

AS FOR WHETHER MAC ARTHUR WOULD APPEAR AGAIN AT THE HEARING AFTER THE ADMINISTRATION STATES ITS CASE, WHITNEY SAID:

"THE GENERAL IS QUITE WILLING TO STAND ON THE RECORD."

WHITNEY ADDED THAT MAC ARTHUR WOULD "RESPOND TO ANY REQUEST" FROM THE SENATE.

EARLIER IN THE DAY WHITNEY SAW A HOPE THAT A "REALISTIC POLICY" ON THE KOREAN WAR EMERGING FROM THE SENATE'S PROBING AND THE PRESSURE OF PUBLIC OPINION.

HE SAID MAC ARTHUR HAD EXPRESSED PLEASURE OVER MARSHALL'S STAND AGAINST SEATING COMMUNIST CHINA IN THE UNITED NATIONS OR GIVING IT FORMOSA AS CONDITIONS OF A KOREAN CEASE-FIRE.

"THIS," WHITNEY ASSERTED, "SEEMS TO REFLECT A COMPLETE CHANGE IN GEN. MARSHALL'S VIEWPOINT AS RECORDED ON MARCH 31."

HE REPORTED MAC ARTHUR'S PLEASURE, TOO, ON "THE REPORTED HARDENING OF THE BRITISH ATTITUDE AGAINST CONTINUANCE OF THE PRESENT SUPPLY OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS THROUGH HONG KONG AND CHINESE PORTS."

STEPPING UP OF MILITARY AID TO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S NATIONALIST CHINESE FORCES ON FORMOSA WAS TERMED BY WHITNEY "A HEALTHY SIGN."

NEW YORK, MAY 11-(AP)-THE NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE SAYS BOARD OF EDUCATION OFFICIALS ARE "CONSIDERING ACTION" AGAINST A MANHATTAN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER WHO REFUSED TO ESCORT HIS CLASS TO THE MACARTHUR DAY PARADE APRIL 20.

THE NEWSPAPER SAYS THE TEACHER'S IDENTITY WAS NOT DISCLOSED BY SCHOOL OFFICIALS OR BY THE TEACHERS UNION, LOCAL 555, UNITED PUBLIC WORKERS (INDEPENDENT), OF WHICH HE IS A MEMBER.

THE NEWSPAPER SAYS THE TEACHER, A WORLD WAR II VETERAN, MADE A STATEMENT TO SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT WILLIAM JANSEN SAYING HE REFUSED TO ATTEND THE PARADE BECAUSE IT WAS "A POLITICAL DEMONSTRATION FOR AN INDIVIDUAL WHOSE POLICIES WOULD LEAD TO PRECIPITATION OF A GENERAL WAR."

IN THE STORY, THE TEACHER WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT "A TEACHER SHOULD NOT BE COERCED INTO TAKING PART IN AN ACTIVITY WHICH VIOLATED HIS CONSCIENCE AND CONVICTIONS."

MAY 12 1951

THE TEACHER ALSO NOTED, THE NEWSPAPER SAYS, "THAT HE HAD SERVED IN THE PACIFIC DURING THE WAR AND HAD SMALL LIKING FOR HIS FORMER COMMANDER."

THE HERALD TRIBUNE STORY SAID THAT AUTHORITIES AT THIS STAGE ARE MERELY GATHERING FACTS AND THAT THE TEACHER HAS BEEN INTERVIEWED BY ASSOCIATE SUPERINTENDENT ELIAS LIEBERMAN, IN CHARGE OF THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL DIVISION.

THE NEWSPAPER QUOTES DR. LIEBERMAN AS SAYING:

"TO US AT HEADQUARTERS IT SEEMS THE MAN, FOR IDEOLOGICAL OR PERSONAL REASONS, FAILED TO DO HIS DUTY AS A TEACHER."

ONCE THE FACTS ARE GATHERED, DR. LIEBERMAN WAS QUOTED AS SAYING, "DR. JANSEN MAY WISH TO TAKE FURTHER ACTION BASED ON THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE ASSOCIATE SUPERINTENDENT--IN THIS CASE MYSELF--AND PERHAPS OF THE LAW SECRETARY."

THE HERALD TRIBUNE SAYS THAT A RESOLUTION WAS ADOPTED LAST FRIDAY AT A DELEGATE ASSEMBLY MEETING OF THE TEACHERS UNION PROTESTING "COERCION OF TEACHERS INTO ATTENDING THE MACARTHUR DAY PARADE" AND URGING SCHOOL AUTHORITIES TO SEE THAT NO PUNITIVE MEASURES WERE TAKEN AGAINST THE TEACHER CONCERNED.

SPECIFICALLY, THE LEGISLATION EXTENDS THE BENEFITS TO ALL PERSONS SERVING IN THE ARMED FORCES BETWEEN JUNE 7,1950 AND A DATE TO BE PROCLAIMED LATER BY THE PRESIDENT OR CONGRESS. IT THUS WOULD APPLY TO ALL SERVICE MEN,WHETHER THEY ARE IN KOREA, IN THIS COUNTRY, OR IN EUROPE.

SERVICE MEN,WHETHER THEY ARE IN KOREA, IN THIS COUNTRY, OR IN EUROPE.
REPORTS REACHED HERE OF A 21-YEAR-OLD DISCHARGED KOREAN VETERAN WHO WAS DENIED ADMITTANCE TO A VETERANS HOSPITAL BECAUSE HIS FIGHTING WAS NOT IN A DECLARED WAR. HOSPITAL OFFICIALS SAID THERE WAS NO LAW TO COVER HIS CASE.
THERE SHOULD BE SUCH A LAW, PRESIDENT TRUMAN SAID AT HIS WEEKLY PRESS CONFERENCE. HE FOLLOWED THROUGH WITH LETTERS TO THE HOUSE AND SENATE PRESIDING OFFICERS.
AND BY NIGHTFALL, BOTH HOUSES HAD ACTED TO EXTEND WAR COVERAGE TO KOREAN VETERANS.
THE BILL, AS IT REACHED MR.TRUMAN'S DESK, ENTITLES KOREAN VETERANS TO THESE WORLD WAR II PRIVILEGES:
1. MEDICAL, HOSPITAL AND DOMICILIARY BENEFITS; 2. BURIAL BENEFITS; 3. COMPENSATION AND PENSIONS FOR THE VETERAN AND HIS DEPENDENTS.
THIS SWIFT SEQUENCE WAS TOUCHED OFF BY EX-MARINE DAVID R.ARELLANO. HE WENT TO A VETERANS ADMINISTRATION HOSPITAL AT TUCSON, ARIZ., WEDNESDAY.
THE PRELIMINARY DIAGNOSIS WAS CANCER BUT THE HOSPITAL SAID THAT UNDER THE LAW IT COULD NOT ADMIT ARELLANO BECAUSE HIS ILLNESS WAS NOT SERVICE-CONNECTED AND HE WAS NOT A VETERAN OF A DECLARED WAR.
"KOREAN AND CHINESE RED TROOPS SHOT AT ME. SOME OF MY BUDDIES WERE KILLED. IF THAT ISN'T WAR, I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT THEY CALL IT."
THAT WAS ARELLANO'S REACTION, EXPRESSED TO A REPORTER. WHEN INTERVIEWED, HE WAS A PATIENT IN A COUNTY HOSPITAL AT TUCSON WHERE A PRIVATE PHYSICIAN HAD OPERATED ON HIS THROAT.
ARELLANO SAID HIS THROAT BEGAN SWELLING WHILE HE WAS IN KOREA. "I WAS IN ACTION OFF AND ON FOR FIVE MONTHS," HE SAID. THE SWELLING FAILED TO GO DOWN AFTER HE WAS DISCHARGED TO SUPPORT HIS WIFE DOLORES AND THEIR TWO CHILDREN, DAVID, 19 MONTHS, AND EILEEN, 6 MONTHS.

(400) NIGHT LEAD TROOPS FOR EUROPE

BY C.YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-THE ALERTING OF THE SECOND ARMORED DIVISION TODAY FOR SERVICE IN EUROPE [redacted] (INCREASED THE PROSPECTS) THAT GEN.DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER WILL HAVE FROM 12 TO 14 READY-TO-FIGHT DIVISIONS BY THE END OF THIS YEAR.

SIX OF THOSE DIVISIONS WILL BE AMERICAN. THE FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION AND THE CONSTABULARY FORCE, WHICH IS CONSIDERED THE EQUIVALENT OF A COMBAT DIVISION, ARE ALREADY IN GERMANY. THE FOURTH INFANTRY DIVISION IS IN THE FINAL STAGE OF PREPARATION TO SAIL FOR EUROPE, NEARLY ONE MONTH AFTER IT RECEIVED ALERT ORDERS AT FORT BENNING, GA.

TODAY THE SECOND ARMORED, BASED AT FORT HOOD, TEX., WAS NOTIFIED TO BE READY FOR OVERSEAS DUTY.

THE TWO DIVISIONS BEING PREPARED FOR EUROPE ARE NOT AT FULL STRENGTH AND WILL NEED MORE TRAINING BEFORE THEY ARE COMBAT WORTHY. BOTH THEIR STRENGTH AND THEIR TRAINING, HOWEVER, ARE EXPECTED TO BE BUILT UP AFTER THEY REACH EUROPE.

THE ARMY HAS NOT REVEALED THE DESIGNATION OF THE TWO ADDITIONAL DIVISIONS THAT WILL BE SENT TO EUROPE. THE ACTING CHIEF OF THE NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU, MAJ.GEN.RAYMOND H.FLEMMING, SAID EARLIER THIS WEEK THAT MORE GUARD DIVISIONS, IN ADDITION TO THE TWO ALREADY IN JAPAN, MAY SOON GO OVERSEAS.

AFTER THE DEPARTURE OF THE SECOND ARMORED AND FOURTH INFANTRY DIVISIONS, THE ARMY WILL HAVE FOUR REGULAR DIVISIONS AND FOUR NATIONAL GUARD DIVISIONS IN THE U.S. IN VARYING STAGES OF TRAINING. TEN ADDITIONAL TRAINING DIVISIONS ARE NOW OPERATING IN THE HOME ZONE, BUT THESE ORGANIZATIONS CONCENTRATE ON THE TASK OF PREPARING RECRUITS FOR EVENTUAL ASSIGNMENT TO COMBAT UNITS, BOTH THOSE AT HOME AND THOSE IN ASIA AND EUROPE.

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S WESTERN EUROPEAN DEFENSE FORCE HAS REASONABLE ASSURANCE OF BETWEEN 12 AND 14 DIVISIONS BY THE END OF 1951. IN ADDITION TO THE SIX U.S. DIVISIONS, HE IS EXPECTED TO HAVE THREE BRITISH DIVISIONS AND FROM THREE TO FIVE FRENCH.

THE SUPREME COMMANDER IN EUROPE ALSO HAS HOPES OF OBTAINING OTHER DIVISIONS BY THE END OF THE YEAR. BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS, DENMARK, NORWAY AND PORTUGAL HAVE ALL SAID THEY MAY BE ABLE TO PROVIDE ONE DIVISION EACH. ITALY HAS MANPOWER, BUT LACKS EQUIPMENT.

A48WX

EISENHOWER'S SHORT TERM GOAL IS 40 DIVISIONS. WHEN THAT FORCE WILL BE ORGANIZED AND READY TO FIGHT WILL DEPEND LARGELY UPON THE SPEED WITH WHICH IT CAN BE EQUIPPED AND TRAINED IN MODERN TECHNIQUES.

AFTER THE LAST OF THE SIX U.S. DIVISIONS REACHES EUROPE THERE WILL BE ABOUT 200,000 AMERICAN TROOPS THERE. NEARLY HALF THIS NUMBER ARE NOW IN GERMANY AND AUSTRIA. THE TOTAL INCLUDES MORE THAN 30,000 COMBAT TROOPS IN THE FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION AND THE CONSTABULARY FORCE. THE REMAINDER ARE SUPPORTING AND SERVICE TROOPS.

WHEN THE ADDITIONAL FOUR DIVISIONS REACH EUROPE AND ARE BUILT TO COMBAT STRENGTH OF ABOUT 18,000 EACH THERE WILL BE AROUND 108,000 FIGHTING SOLDIERS AND 92,000 MEN IN SUPPORTING CAPACITIES.

WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-THE POLISH COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT HAS INFORMED THE UNITED STATES THAT BISHOP JOSEPH PADEWSKI, AN AMERICAN CITIZEN, DIED IN A POLISH PRISON AFTER FOUR MONTHS INTERNMENT.

BISHOP PADEWSKI WAS A PRELATE OF THE POLISH NATIONAL CATHOLIC CHURCH OF THE UNITED STATES.

HE WAS ARRESTED JANUARY 19, BY POLISY SECURITY POLICE ON A CHARGE OF VIOLATING POLISH CURRENCY REGULATIONS.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID THE POLISH FOREIGN OFFICE IGNORED "REPEATED REPRESENTATIONS" AIMED AT PERMITTING AMERICAN DIPLOMATS TO SEE HIM.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE INFORMED THE DEPARTMENT IN THE PAST FEW DAYS, IT WAS SAID, THAT THE BISHOP DIED OF "AN INTESTINAL INFECTION."

THE FOREIGN OFFICE THAT PROMISED A COPY OF THE AUTOPSY REPORT WOULD BE GIVEN THE EMBASSY LATER.

BISHOP MISIASZEK, HEAD OF THE POLISH NATIONAL CHURCH WITH HEADQUARTERS IN SCRANTON,PA., SAID BISHOP PADEWSKI WAS NAMED ADMINISTRATOR OF THE CHURCH IN POLAND IN 1932. HE WAS ELECTED BISHOP IN WARSAW IN 1935 AND CONCENTRATED THE FOLLOWING YEAR IN SCRANTON. HE WAS 58 YEARS OLD.

A NATURALIZED AMERICAN CITIZEN, HE WAS IMPRISONED FOR TWO YEARS BY THE NAZIS AFTER THEIR INVASION OF POLAND.

BISHOP MISIASZEK SAID HIS CHURCH IS REQUESTING THE BODY BE RELEASED AND BROUGHT BACK TO SCRANTON FOR BURIAL.

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES TODAY REJECTED AS A "PRETEXT" A COMPLAINT BY COMMUNIST-RUN POLAND THAT THE POLISH TRANS-ATLANTIC LINER BATORY WAS SUBJECTED TO MISTREATMENT ON TRIPS TO NEW YORK CITY.

POLAND RECENTLY CANCELLED FURTHER SERVICE TO NEW YORK BY THE MOTOR SHIP. THE POLISH GOVERNMENT PROTESTED AGAINST STRICT INSPECTIONS BY FEDERAL CUSTOMS AUTHORITIES AND AGAINST THE ACTION OF NEW YORK CITY DENYING FURTHER USE OF MUNICIPALLY-OWNED PIERS IN THE PORT.

THE U.S. IN A NOTE DELIVERED TODAY IN RAWSAW REJECTED BOTH THESE CONTENTIONS AS BASELESS. AT THE SAME TIME IT DENOUNCED AS "PROPAGANDA" A LARGE PART OF THE POLISH PROTEST OF APRIL 18 WHICH WAS MADE AFTER SERVICE WAS DISCONTINUED.

DECLARING THAT THE POLISH GOVERNMENT" DID NOT WISH, FOR OTHER REASONS," TO CONTINUE THE SERVICE THE NOTE SAID: "IT IS THUS APPARENT THAT THE POLISH GOVERNMENT WAS SEEKING A PRETEXT IN THE ACTION OF THE NEW YORK MUNICIPALITY FOR WITHDRAWING THE M.S. BATORY FROM NAVIGATION TO NEW YORK WHEREBY IT COULD SEEK TO PLACE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THIS DECISION ON THE U.S. ITSELF."

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SENATOR THYE (R-MINN) URGED SECRETARY ACHESON TODAY TO CONTINUE MAKING "THE STRONGEST REPRESENTATIONS" TO THE CZECHOSLOVAKIAN GOVERNMENT TO WIN RELEASE OF WILLIAM OATIS, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT.
AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT, OFFICIALS SAID "OUR EMBASSY AT PRAGUE IS TAKING EVERY FEASIBLE STEP IN BEHALF OF MR.OATIS."
OATIS' ARREST BY CZECH POLICE WAS MADE KNOWN APRIL 26. IT WAS ANNOUNCED OATIS WAS BEING HELD ON CHARGES THAT HE USED CZECH EMPLOYES OF THE AP PRAGUE BUREAU TO OBTAIN "CERTAIN SECRET REPORTS" FOR ACTIVITIES AGAINST THE COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT OF THE SOVIET SATTLITE.
THYE TELEPHONED ACHESON AFTER RECEIVING A TELEGRAM FROM MRS.OATIS, WHO IS LIVING IN ST.PAUL, ASKING THE SENATOR'S AID. THYE'S MESSAGE TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID:
"YOU RECOGNIZE THE SERIOUS IMPORT OF ACTION BY PRESUMABLY FRIENDLY NATION AGAINST AMERICAN CITIZEN AS WELL AS ISSUE OF PRESS FREEDOM.
"I URGE THAT THE STRONGEST REPRESENTATIONS CONTINUE TO BE MADE TO THE CZECHOSLOVAKIAN GOVERNMENT CONCERNING THIS MATTER."
STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS TOLD NEWSMEN:
"IN SPITE OF OUR REPEATED REPRESENTATIONS TO THE CZECH GOVERNMENT, BOTH ORAL AND WRITTEN, IT HAS NOT BEEN POSSIBLE FOR AN EMBASSY REPRESENTATIVE TO VISIT HIM (OATIS) OR FOR ARRANGEMENTS TO BE MADE FOR HIS DEFENSE BY AN AMERICAN LAWYER.
"THE DEPARTMENT'S GREAT CONCERN IN THIS MATTER IS CONSIDERATION FOR THE WELFARE OF MR.OATIS AND FOR WHATEVER MAY OFFER THE BEST HOPE OF ASSISTANCE TO HIM."

(ADVANCE) CHICAGO, MAY 11-(AP)-ADM.WILLIAM H.P.BLANDY, RETIRED, SAID TODAY THAT THE MIDWEST WOULD BE AN EASIER ATOM BOMB TARGET FOR RUSSIAN PILOTS THAN EASTERN CITIES.
HE SAID IN A TALK PREPARED FOR THE EXECUTIVES' CLUB THAT EAST COAST CITIES ARE BETTER PROTECTED BY POTENTIAL FIGHTER INTERCEPTION FROM OUTLYING BASES THAN MIDWEST CITIES. HE SAID:
"THE MIDDLE WEST COULD BE REACHED OVER THE NORTH POLAR REGIONS AND CANADA, VAST PORTIONS OF WHICH ARE UNPROTECTED WASTELAND. BY SUCH A ROUTE, MURMANSK IS ONLY 3,600 MILES FROM CHICAGO, WHEREAS A SOUPED UP B-29, SUCH AS THE RUSSIANS ARE KNOWN TO HAVE, CAN DO 4,400 MILES."
BLANDY, PRESIDENT OF THE HEALTH INFORMATION FOUNDATION, SAID AMERICANS SHOULD STRENGTHEN THEMSELVES PHYSICALLY AND EMOTIONALLY AGAINST THE THREAT OF ATOMIC WAR.
THE MAN WHO COMMANDED THE ATLANTIC FLEET BEFORE HIS RETIREMENT LAST YEAR, ASKED: "WHAT GOOD IS IT TO BE STRONG AS AN OX IF WE ARE AS SCARED AS RABBITS?"

SECOND NIGHT LEAD CONTROLS
WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT TODAY SLASHED ABOUT 12 CENTS A POUND OFF THE NEW CEILING PRICES ON SOME CHUCK STEAKS AND POT ROASTS.
AN ORDER ISSUED BY THE OFFICE OF PRICE STABILIZATION ALSO CUT THE CEILING PRICE ON RUMP ROAST BY 5 TO 6 CENTS A POUND.
THE REDUCTIONS ARE EFFECTIVE NEXT MONDAY WHEN DOLLARS-AND-CENTS CEILING PRICES ON BEEF MUST BE POSTED ON MEAT MARKET COUNTERS ACROSS THE NATION.
TODAY'S ACTION HAS NO CONNECTION WITH THE PROJECTED GENERAL ROLLBACK WHICH IS SCHEDULED TO REDUCE ALL BEEF PRICES BY ABOUT 10 CENTS A POUND BY NEXT OCT. 1.
THE ORDER SIMPLY AMENDS MONDAY'S CEILING REGULATIONS TO ALLOW FOR "INEQUITIES" AND TO PROVIDE OTHER ADJUSTMENTS IN THE ORIGINAL ORDER ISSUED ON APRIL 29.
HERE IS WHAT THE NEW ORDER DOES:
IT SETS THE SAME PRICE FOR STEAKS AND POT ROASTS OF THE VARIETIES KNOWN AS CHUCK ARM AND CHUCK BLADE, BONE IN.
ARM CHUCKS WERE ABOUT 13 CENTS A POUND HIGHER THAN CHUCK BLADES IN THE ORIGINAL APRIL 29 BEEF ORDERS. ON MONDAY, THE CEILING ON ARM DUCKS WILL DROP 12 CENTS AND THE CEILING ON CHUCK BLADES WILL GO UP 1 CENT.
OPS OFFICIALS SAID THE CHANGES WERE MADE BECAUSE MOST CONSUMERS CANNOT READILY DISTINGUISH BETWEEN THE TWO CUTS.
THE ORDER ALSO CUTS 5 TO 6 CENTS A POUND OFF THE PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED CEILING PRICE ON CHOICE AND GOOD GRADE RUMP ROATS, BONE IN. OFFICIALS SAID IT WILL SELL FOR ABOUT 79 CENTS A POUND INSTEAD OF 84 CENTS.
OPA SAID THE PRICE OF CHOICE AND GOOD BONELESS RUMP REMAINS AT $1.12 A POUND.
OFFICIALS SAID THE CEILING PRICE OF BONE-IN CUTS WAS REDUCED IN RECOGNITION OF THE COST TO BUTCHERS OF BONING MEAT AND THE LOSS IN WEIGHT IN SELLING BONED MEAT COMPARED TO BONE-IN CUTS.
MEANWHILE, OPS POSTPONED THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF RETAIL KOSHER BEEF PRICE CEILINGS FROM NEXT MONDAY TO MAY 21.
ELSEWHERE ON THE CONTROLS FRONT:
ECONOMIC STABILIZER ERIC JOHNSTON URGED THE NATION TO MAKE A GREATER EFFORT TO PRODUCE FOR DEFENSE AND COMBAT INFLATION.

"NOTHING COULD PLEASE JOE STALIN MORE THAN TO SEE RUNAWAY INFLATION IN THIS COUNTRY," HE TOLD THE HOUSE BANKING COMMITTEE.
THE COMMITTEE AND ITS SENATE COUNTERPART ARE CONSIDERING PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PROGRAM FOR TIGHTER ECONOMIC CONTROLS TO FOLLOW EXPIRATION OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION LAW IN JUNE.
AS PART OF THAT PROGRAM, JOHNSTON'S OFFICE IS TRYING TO STABILIZE PRICES AND WAGES THROUGH CONTROLS. HE SAID THE AIM IS TO ESTABLISH A LINE AND HOLD IT AGAINST THE PRESSURES THAT ARE PUSHING UP THE COST OF LIVING.
"WE HOPE TO HAVE (PRICE) ROLLBACKS IN A GREAT MANY ITEMS," HE SAID, BUT "TRYING TO PUSH ALL PRICES BACK TO PRE-KOREA DAYS WOULD BE LIKE TRYING TO PUSH TOOTHPASTE BACK INTO A TUBE."
THE OFFICE OF PRICE STABILIZATION (OPS), ONE OF THE AGENCIES UNDER JOHNSTON, TODAY ISSUED A SPECIAL PRICING ORDER REQUIRING BARBER SHOPS, BEAUTY PARLORS, LAUNDRIES, PARKING LOTS, ETC., TO POST CEILING PRICES.
THIS ORDER, EFFECTIVE MAY 16, REQUIRES THAT THE POSTED CEILING PRICES BE THOSE WHICH WERE LAID DOWN IN THE GENERAL PRICE FREEZE, BASED ON CHARGES MADE IN THE DEC. 19-JAN. 15 PERIOD.
ALSO INCLUDED ARE CHARGES FOR AUTO, RADIO AND HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCE REPAIRS, DRY CLEANING AND TAILORING, SHOE REPAIR, FILLING STATION SERVICES, CHECKING ACCOUNTS, BOWLING ALLEY, SKATING RINK AND GOLF COURSE FEES, AND ADMISSIONS TO AMUSEMENT PARKS.
ALTOGETHER THESE SERVICES RUN INTO BILLIONS OF DOLLARS ANNUALLY.
JOHNSTON, IN ARGUING FOR VIGOROUS ACTION TO HOLD DOWN THE COST OF LIVING AND THE COST OF DEFENSE, DEPLORED ANY SENSE OF COMPLACENCY. HE SAID:
"DESPITE THE LULL, DESPITE THE SEEMING IMPROVEMENT IN THE SITUATION, DESPITE THE SLOWDOWN IN THE PRICE RISE AND THE TURNDOWN IN SOME PRICES, ALL THE FACTORS WHICH MAKE FOR A RIP-ROARING INFLATION ARE PRESENT."
AND IN A PLEA THAT ALL PARTS OF THE PUBLIC ACCEPT THE BURDENS OF PREPAREDNESS, HE SAID:
"THERE ARE NO CONTROLS ON DYING IN KOREA; THERE IS NO PARITY FOR A MOTHER WHO HAS LOST HER SON; THERE IS NO ESCALATOR CLAUSE FOR A LITTLE GIRL WHOSE FATHER IS NOT COMING BACK FROM OVERSEAS."
HE THUS TOUCHED ON BUSINESSMEN'S OBJECTIONS TO CERTAIN CONTROLS; ON FARMERS' DEMANDS THAT THERE BE NO TAMPERING WITH PARITY, THE SYSTEM THAT TIES THE PRICE OF THEIR PRODUCTS TO THE COST OF THINGS THEY BUY; ON LABOR UNIONS' BACKING OF ESCALATOR CLAUSES THAT PERMIT WAGES TO RISE WITH THE RISE IN LIVING COSTS.

A203WX
JOHNSTON SPECIFICALLY BACKED: PLANS TO FIX PARITY PRICES ONCE

A CROP SEASON RATHER THAN MONTHLY, THE OPS ORDER ROLLING BACK CATTLE PRICES, STIFFER PRICE CONTROL ENFORCEMENT, AND RENT CONTROL FOR COMMERCIAL AS WELL AS RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY.

ARGUMENTS FOR TIGHTER CREDIT CONTROLS CAME FROM WILLIAM MCCHENSNEY MARTIN,JR., CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD. HE TOLD THE SENATE BANKING COMMITTEE THAT PRESENT CREDIT CONTROLS ON NEW HOUSING AREN'T DOING THE JOB THEY WERE EXPECTED TO.

ARMISTICE

BY ELTON C.FAY

ASSOCIATED PRESS MILITARY AFFAIRS REPORTER

MAY 12 1951

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-WHAT IS AN ARMISTICE AND WHO SHOULD PROPOSE IT?

SOME THOUSANDS OF WORDS ON THIS QUESTION HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN THE SENATE HEARINGS ON THE OUSTER OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

BUT SO FAR, NO ONE HAS NOTED THAT THERE EXISTS A LONG-ESTABLISHED AND REASONABLY DEFINITIVE SET OF INTERNATIONAL GROUND RULES ON THE FORMS AND MANNER OF ARRIVING AT TRUCES. THEY APPEAR IN THE "RULES OF LAND WARFARE," WHICH MOST NATIONS HAVE USED FOR DECADES AS A HANDBOOK ON BATTLEFIELD BEHAVIOR.

THE ADMINISTRATION HAS SAID ONE OF THE FACTORS CONSIDERED WHEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN FIRED THE FAR EAST SUPREME COMMANDER WAS MACARTHUR'S PROPOSAL TO THE MILITARY COMMANDER OF THE COMMUNIST FORCES FOR AN ARMISTICE.

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL HAS TESTIFIED THAT WHAT DISTURBED PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT WAS THAT MACARTHUR'S PROPOSAL WAS MADE JUST AS THE GOVERNMENT HERE SAID IT WAS READY TO COME FORTH WITH ITS OWN PROPOSAL.

IN HIS TESTIMONY ON WEDNESDAY, MARSHALL QUOTED MACARTHUR AS SAYING LAST MARCH 24 THAT "'I STAND READY AT ANY TIME TO CONFER IN THE FIELD WITH THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE ENEMY FORCES IN AN EARNEST EFFORT TO FIND ANY MILITARY MEANS WHEREBY THE REALIZATION OF THE POLITICAL OBJECTIVES OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN KOREA, TO WHICH NO NATION MAY JUSTLY TAKE EXCEPTION, MAY BE ACCOMPLISHED WITHOUT FURTHER BLOODSHED.'"

TO ADMINISTRATION CONTENTIONS THAT MACARTHUR'S ANNOUNCEMENT UPSET THE DIPLOMATIC APPLECART, THE GENERAL HIMSELF TESTIFIED HE WAS EXERCISING THE RIGHT OF ALL FIELD COMMANDERS. HE SAID HE WAS ONLY TRYING TO ARRANGE A CEASE-FIRE AND WAS NOT INTERESTED IN A PEACE AGREEMENT.

WHAT ISN'T QUITE CLEAR IS WHICH OF TWO FORMS OF ARMISTICE MACARTHUR WAS PROPOSING.

THE "RULES OF LAND WARFARE," WHICH ARE BASED ON THE VARIOUS TREATIES AND CONVENTIONS SIGNED EARLY IN THE CENTURY AT THE HAGUE AND AT THE GENEVA CONFERENCES, SAYS THIS ABOUT THE FORMS OF TRUCE:

"GENERAL ARMISTICE--GENERAL ARMISTICES ARE OF A COMBINED POLITICAL AND MILITARY CHARACTER. THEY SUALLY PRECEDE THE NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE, BUT MAY BE CONCLUDED FOR OTHER PURPOSES. DUE TO ITS POLITICAL IMPORTANCE, A GENERAL ARMISTICE IS CONCLUDED BY THE GOVERNMENTS CONCERNED OR BY THEIR COMMANDERS IN CHIEF, AND IS SUBJECT TO RATIFICATION BY THEIR GOVERNMENTS IN EVERY CASE. GENERAL ARMISTICES ARE FREQUENTLY ARRANGED BY DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVES.

"LOCAL ARMISTICE--A LOCAL ARMISTICEUSPENDS OPERATIONS BETWEEN CERTAIN PORTIONS OF THE BELLIGERENT FORCES, OR WITHIN A DESIGNATED DISTRICT OF THE THEATER OF OPERATIONS. A LOCAL ARMISTICE MAY BE CONCLUDED BY THE MILITARY FORCES ONLY, OR BY NAVAL FORCES ONLY, OR BETWEEN A LESS NUMBER THAN ALL THE BELLIGERENTS AT WAR."

BY STERLING F.GREEN

(WX) HOT SPRINGS, VA., MAY 11-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT TODAY MADE A BID TO 90 LEADERS OF INDUSTRY FOR SUPPORT OF A TWO-YEAR EXTENSION AND TIGHTENING OF CONTROLS OVER PRICES, WAGES AND PRODUCTION.

IN COMING MONTHS, MOBILIZATION DIRECTOR CHARLES E.WILSON REPORTED, CIVILIAN GOODS PRODUCERS WHO NOW FIND SLACK DEMAND AND OVERLOADED STOCKS WILL FACE AN UPSURGE OF BUYING POWER AND SEVERE SHORTAGES OF MATERIALS.

HIS ADDRESS WAS DELIVERED TO A CLOSED MEETING HERE OF THE BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE. PERSONS ATTENDING THE THREE-DAY MEETING AT THE HOMESTEAD HOTEL HERE GAVE AN ACCOUNT TO REPORTERS.

WILSON RECALLED HIS OWN OPPOSITION TO CONTROLS AS FORMER PRESIDENT OF GENERAL ELECTRIC CORP., BUT DECLARED HIMSELF NOW CONVINCED THEY WILL BE ABSOLUTELY VITAL UNTIL 1953 TO PREVENT RUNAWAY INFLATION.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE SAWYER, WHO ADDRESSED THE CORPORATION EXECUTIVES TONIGHT, TOLD REPORTERS HE COULD PROMISE THAT FEDERAL CONTROLS---AS FAR AS HIS OWN DEFENSE AGENCIES ARE CONCERNED---WOULD BE WIPED OFF THE BOOKS AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT.

SEAMEN-DRAFT

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-THE MARITIME INDUSTRY IS EMBARKING ON A PLAN TO STRAIGHTEN OUT SOME TROUBLESOME DIFFICULTIES BETWEEN LOCAL DRAFT BOARDS AND MERCHANT SEAMEN.

HEREAFTER, SELECTIVE SERVICE ANNOUNCED TODAY, THERE WILL BE A CONCERTED EFFORT TO:

1. MAKE SURE THAT ALL SEAMEN PROVIDE THEIR DRAFT BOARDS WITH FULL INFORMATION, INCLUDING FACTS ON THEIR SEA EXPERIENCE, RATINGS, ETC.

2. TRY TO SIGN UP FOR SHIPS' CREWS ONLY THOSE SEAMEN WHO ARE NOT SUBJECT TO THE MILITARY DRAFT.

THE GOVERNMENT IS COOPERATING THROUGH SELECTIVE SERVICE AND THE MARITIME ADMINISTRATION; MARITIME UNIONS ALSO WILL HELP THEIR MEMBERS IN THE SITUATION.

MANY SEAMEN HAVE BEEN REPORTED TO THE FBI AS DRAFT DELINQUENTS SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY FAILED TO NOTIFY THEIR DRAFT BOARDS THEY WERE GOING TO SEA.

MANY INLAND DRAFT BOARDS WITH NO SPECIAL KNOWLEDGE ABOUT THE MARI-

TIME SITUATION HAVE DECLINED TO GIVE MERCHANT SEAMEN ANY PARTICULAR CONSIDERATION.

DRAFT DIRECTOR LEWIS B.HERSHEY SAID HE HAS SENT TO ALL DRAFT BOARDS COPIES OF A REPORT BY VICE ADMIRAL E.L.COCHRANE, MARITIME ADMINISTRATOR, ON THE MERCHANT MARINE'S MANPOWER PROBLEMS.

HERSHEY EXPRESSED THAT THE REPORT IS INTENDED SOLELY FOR THE GUIDANCE OF LOCAL BOARDS IN CONSIDERING THE ELIGIBILITY OF INDIVIDUALS, WITH ESSENTIAL RATINGS AS MERCHANT SEAMEN, FOR OCCUPATIONAL DEFERMENT FROM THE DRAFT.

COCHRANE, DESCRIBING THE MANPOWER SITUATION IN THE MERCHANT MARINE AS "CRITICAL," SAID THAT ON MARCH 1 THERE WERE 1,619 VESSELS UNDER THE U.S. FLAG.

[redacted]. THEY EMPLOYED 88,782 SEAMEN, OF WHOM 20 PER CENT WERE LICENSED OFFICERS. HE ADDED THAT A RECENT SURVEY SHOWED THAT THERE ARE 5,100 SKILLED SEAMEN WHO ARE UNMARRIED AND BETWEEN THE AGES OF 18 THROUGH 25, AND LIABLE FOR THE DRAFT.

COCHRANE SAID THAT SINCE AUGUST 1950 AN AVERAGE OF 50 SHIPS A MONTH HAVE BEEN TAKEN FROM THE RESERVE FLEET AND REACTIVATED, REQUIRING THE HIRING OF MORE THAN 2,500 ADDITIONAL SEAMEN EACH MONTH.

COCHRANE SAID THE PLAN IS TO RECRUIT NEW CREWS FROM AMONG EX-SEAMEN WHO NOW HAVE SHORESIDE JOB. HE ADDED:

"IF THE U.S. MERCHANT MARINE IS UNABLE TO MEET REQUIREMENTS FROM THIS SOURCE, THEY WILL THEN REQUEST LOCAL BOARDS TO DEFER THOSE DRAFT-LIABLE SEAMEN WHO POSSESS LICENSES OR CERTIFICATES."

HERSHEY SAID THAT SEAMEN IN THE PAST HAVE GENERALLY FAILED TO PROVIDE LOCAL BOARDS WITH THE INFORMATION REQUIRED FOR THEIR PROPER CLASSIFICATION.

HE SAID MANY SEAMEN HAVE BEEN CALLED BY THE DRAFT WHILE AT SEA AND INFORMED ON THEIR RETURN THEY HAD NO APPEAL RIGHTS--THE 10 DAY LIMIT FOR APPEAL HAVING LONG SINCE EXPIRED. NOW, THE PLAN IS TO KEEP THE LOCAL BOARDS FULLY INFORMED BY POST CARDS SENT BY THE SEAMEN AND COUNTERSIGNED BY A UNION, COMPANY OR GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVE.

PSYCHIATRISTS
BY FRANK CAREY
ASSOCIATED PRESS SCIENCE REPORTER

CINCINNATI,MAY 11-(AP)-MENTALLY-ILL WAR VETERANS ARE BEING TALKED OUT OF THEIR "TERROR DREAMS"--BY A LOUDSPEAKER AND THE POWER OF SUGGESTION.

THIS WAS REPORTED TO THE AMERICAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION TODAY BY A VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION DOCTOR WHO DESCRIBED USE OF A RECORDED "SUGGESTION" TREATMENT WHILE PATIENTS SLEEP.

"I CAN (CAPS) RID MYSELF OF ANY SYMPTOMS, COMPLETELY AND IN LESS THAN A MINUTE," IS THE TYPE OF RECITATION THAT IS REPEATED OVER AND OVER IN A MONOTONOUS TONE IN THE OTHERWISE QUIET HOSPITAL ALL THRO THE NIGHT.

"I'M NOT OVERLY DEPENDENT ON MEDICINES OR DOCTORS" IS ANOTHER--AND EVERY ONCE IN AWHILE, THE LOUDSPEAKER DRONES: "MIND A BLANK, RELAXING MORE."

DR.ERNST SCHMIDHOFER OF VA'S KENNEDY HOSPITAL AT MEMPHIS TOLD ABOUT IT AND SAID THE TREATMENT ALSO INCLUDED A MUCH SHORTER DAYTIME BROADCAST. HE REPORTED THESE RESULTS:

"MOST PATIENTS HAVE REPORTED GRATIFYING RESULTS WITHIN TWO TO FOUR WEEKS AFTER ADMISSION. SOME HAVE STATED THAT THEY ARE ABLE TO TAKE DAYTIME NAPS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THEIR LIVES. OTHERS SAY SLEEP BECOMES LESS FITFUL AND MORE REFRESHING.

"TERROR DREAMS ARE REPORTED AS BEING REPLACED BY MORE PLEASANT ONES AND THE FREQUENCY OF DREAMS OF ALL SORTS IS ALLEGEDLY REDUCED."

HE SAID THERE WERE INDICATIONS OF A GENERAL DECREASE IN THE AMOUNT OF AWAKENING DURING THE NIGHT--"THERE IS LESS ARISING TO SMOKE, TO PACE ABOUT RESTLESSLY...."

THE PATIENTS GET THE "SLEEP PROGRAM" FROM 10 P.M. UNTIL 7 A.M.--EVERY NIGHT IN THE WEEK.

DOCTOR SCHMIDHOFER, INDICATING SUCH A SET-UP PREVAILS IN SOME OTHER HOSPITALS, SAID THAT WHENEVER IT'S FIRST INTRODUCED THE PATIENTS KICK TO BEAT THE BAND.

NURSES AND AIDES ARE ALSO INDIGNANT AND INCREDULOUS, HE SAID, ADDING THAT THEY SOMETIMES TELL THE PATIENTS THE WHOLE THING IS RIDICULOUS.

FINALLY, HE DECLARED, HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATORS AND TRUSTEES PUT IN THEIR TWO CENTS' WORTH OF OPPOSITION--THEY "NEARLY ALWAYS EXPRESS GREAT CONCERN THAT THE REPUTATION OF THE HOSPITAL MAY BE PLACED IN JEOPARDY."

BUT THE DOCTOR REPORTED THAT IT'S HIS IMPRESSION THAT AVERAGE HOSPITAL STAYS ARE SHORTENED AND FEWER MEDICINES ARE REQUESTED AND PRESCRIBED AS A RESULT OF THE "SELF HELP" PROGRAM OF SUGGESTION.

EHRLICH TOLD NEWSMEN HE WOULD ARRANGE IT.

IN THE PRESENCE OF THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY, THE JUDGE DIRECTED WEINBERG TO ANSWER FOUR QUESTIONS:

DID HE KNOW IN 1943 DAVID BOHM, A UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PROFESSOR "SUSPECTED OF CONNECTIONS WITH COMMUNIST PARTY ACTIVITIES," AND KENNETH MAY, IDENTIFIED IN HOUSE UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS AS A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY; WHETHER IN 1943 HE LIVED IN CALIFORNIA AND HAD RESIDENCE AT 2427 BLAKE ST., BERKELEY.

AFTER WEINBERG CLAIMED HIS CONSTITUTIONAL PRIVILEGES TO REFUSE TO ANSWER ON GROUNDS OF SELF-INCRIMINATION, THE JUDGE ORDERED HIM HELD FOR ACTION ON A CONTEMPT OF COURT CHARGE.

FRANK CUNNINGHAM, JUSTICE DEPARTMENT ATTORNEY, HAD REQUESTED THAT WEINBERG BE REQUIRED TO ANSWER CERTAIN OTHER QUESTIONS--AMONG THEM, WHETHER HE WAS ACQUAINTED WITH CLARENCE HISKEY, ALSO A KEY FIGURE IN THE HOUSE COMMITTEE'S ATOMIC ESPIONAGE INVESTIGATION.

BUT JUDGE HOLTZOFF SUSTAINED WEINBERG'S PRIVILEGE IN ALL BUT THE FOUR INSTANCES. HOWEVER, HE WITHHELD A RULING ON THE HISKEY QUESTION PENDING RECEIPT OF A TRANSCRIPT OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE'S HEARING.

THE COURT HELD THAT THOSE QUESTIONS TO WHICH ANSWERS WERE DIRECTED HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN ANSWERED BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

IN ITS REPORT ON ATOMIC ESPIONAGE AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA A-BOMB LABORATORY, THE HOUSE COMMITTEE QUOTED REPORTS OF INTELLIGENCE AGENTS THAT WEINBERG WAS DIRECTED BY THE COMMUNIST PARTY TO FURNISH ATOMIC SECRETS TO STEVE NELSON, A COMMUNIST PARTY ORGANIZER.

"THE INFORMATION FURNISHED NELSON BY WEINBERG WAS TAKEN DOWN IN THE FORM OF NOTES BY NELSON," THE REPORT STATED.

A31WX
SCIENTIFIC INFORMATION COLLECTED IN BERKELEY WAS TRANSMITTED TO THE SOVIET CONSULATE IN SAN FRANCISCO, IT WAS STATED.

WEINBERG WAS CALLED BEFORE THE COMMITTEE TWICE, AND ON BOTH OCCASIONS DENIED SPECIFICALLY HAVING FURNISHED NELSON INFORMATION ON THE ATOMIC BOMB.

THE COMMITTEE, HOWEVER, REPORTED TESTIMONY THAT INTELLIGENCE AGENTS HAD "DEFINITELY FIXED" THE SCIENTIST X OF ATOMIC ESPIONAGE "AS WEINBERG."

IN 1949, THE COMMITTEE CONFRONTED STEVE NELSON WITH JOSEPH WEINBERG. NELSON, HOWEVER, REFUSED TO SAY IF HE KNEW WENBERG ON GROUNDS THAT TO ANSWER WOULD INCRIMINATE HIM.

MROGGE-NEGLECT (370)
BY CHARLES MOLONY
WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-O.JOHN ROGGE, ONE-TIME HEAD OF THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT'S CRIMINAL DIVISION, WAS CHARGED TODAY WITH INEXCUSABLE NEGLECT IN LOOKING OUT FOR THE INTERESTS OF A CLIENT UNDER CRIMINAL SENTENCE.

THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS, WHICH MADE THE CHARGE, CITED ROGGE FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION BY THE GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE OF THE BAR HERE. THE GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE HANDLES DISBARMENT AND LESSER CASES.

THE CLIENT ALLEGEDLY NEGLECTED IS HAROLD CHRISTOFFEL, WHO IS UNDER A TWO TO SIX YEAR SENTENCE FOR FALSELY SWEARING BEFORE THE HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE HE WAS NEVER A COMMUNIST.

CHRISTOFFEL, FORMER HEAD OF A CIO-UNITED AUTO WORKERS LOCAL IN MILWAUKEE, WAS SENTENCED IN MARCH, 1950.

THE COURT HELD THAT ROGGE WAS INEXCUSABLY NEGLECTFUL IN FAILING TO FILE CERTAIN MOTIONS IN TIME TO ASSURE THAT CHRISTOFFEL'S APPEAL FROM HIS CONVICTION WOULD BE CONSIDERED.

REPLYING TO THE CHARGE, FROM HIS HOME AT STAMFORD, CONN., ROGGE SAID "I DID EVERYTHING THAT A LAWYER COULD DO."

ROGGE SAID THE COURT'S "DECISION IS NOT ONLY WRONG; ITS ACTION ALSO IS WROG."

THE ONE-M

ALSO IS WRONG."
THE ONE-MTIME JUSTICE DEPART

ALSOIS WRONG."
THE ONE-TIME JUSTICE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL SAID HE STANDS READY TO "DEFEND MYSELF BEFORE THE GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE."

CHIEF JUDGE STEPHENS, IN A 4,000 WORD OPINION FOR THE THREE-JUDGE APPELLATE COURT, RULED THAT CHRISTOFFEL WILL NEVERTHELESS HAVE FULL RIGHTS OF APPEAL.

"TO DISMISS THE APPEAL AND THEREBY TO SUBJECT (CHRISTOFFEL) TO IMPRISONMENT WITHOUT CONSIDERATION OF THE SUBSTANTIAL QUESTIONS IN THE CASE WOULD BE A MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE WHICH SHOULD NOT BE PERMITTED TO OCCUR," THE COURT DECLARED.

FOR ROGGE, NOW A PRACTICING ATTORNEY IN NEW YORK, THE DEVELOPMENT MEANT ANOTHER TURN IN A CONTROVERSIAL CAREER.

HE WAS IN THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE FROM 1939 TO 1946. IN THAT TIME, HE GAINED NOTICE FOR PROSECUTIONS OF THE HUEY LONG POLITICAL MACHINE IN LOUISIANA. HE ALSO PROSECUTED A MASS SEDITION TRIAL HERE.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TOM CLARK, NOW ON THE SUPREME COURT, EVENTUALLY FIRED ROGGE FOR "VIOLATING REGULATIONS" BY MAKING A NUMBER OF SPEECHES FIGHTING THOSE HE CALLED "AMERICAN FASCISTS."

A67WX.
IN 1948 HE BECAME ACTIVE IN THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY AND HELPED TOWARD ITS NOMINATION OF HENRY WALLACE FOR THE PRESIDENCY IN 1948.

ROGGE AND WALLACE BOTH CONTENDED FOR A TIME THAT IT WAS POSSIBLE TO WORK WITH COMMUNISTS TOWARD THE OBJECTIVE OF PEACE, BUT BOTH LATER PRONOUNCED THEMSELVES DISILLUSIONED ABOUT PEACEFUL INTENTIONS OF THE COMMUNIST WORLD MOVEMENT.

ROGGE HAD PRESENTED THE COURT OF APPEALS A LONG LIST OF EXCUSES FOR NOT FILING THE REQUIRED RECORD OF APPEAL FOR CHRISTOFFEL IN PROPER TIME OR. ALTERNATIVELY, ASKING FOR "AN EXTENSION OF TIME FOR CAUSE SHOWN."

AMONG OTHER THINGS, HE SAID THAT HE HAD BEEN IN EUROPE MUCH OF THE TIME BEFORE THE APPEAL DEADLINE LAST MAY 29; ALSO, HE TURNED THE FILING JOB OVER TO A LAW PARTNER, BUT THE LATTER'S ATTENTION WAS DIVERTED BY PREMATURE BIRTH OF HIS FIRST CHILD, AND BY THE "PRESS OF PROFESSIONAL OBLIGATIONS."
THE APPEALS COURT DECLARED THE EXCUSES INSUFFICIENT.

HOLLYWOOD, MAY 11-(AP)-REP.JOHN S.WOOD (D-GA), CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE, HAS CONCLUDED A SHORT AND SECRET HEARING IN THE MOVIE CAPITAL.
CHAIRMAN WOOD, AS A SUBCOMMITTEE OF ONE, AND TWO INVESTIGATORS QUESTIONED A NUMBER OF SUBPOENAED WITNESSES IN A ROOM IN THE DRAKE HOTEL YESTERDAY ON THE MATTER OF COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN THE FILM INDUSTRY.
THE CONGRESSMAN DECLINED TO SAY HOW MANY PERSONS ANSWERED COMMITTEE SUBPOENAS, WHO THEY WERE OR WHAT THEY SAID. HE DID TELL NEWSMEN "NOT ALL OF THEM WERE COOPERATIVE."
"THE GREATEST SINGLE SERVICE THE MOVIE INDUSTRY COULD RENDER THIS COMMITTEE IS TO STATE WHERE IT STANDS ON THIS COMMUNIST INVESTIGATION," WOOD TOLD A REPORTER. "IF THEY WOULD SAY THAT THEIR EMPLOYES WOULD NOT BE PENALIZED, IT WOULD BE A GREAT INCENTIVE FOR OTHERS WHO HAVE DROPPED OUT OF THE (COMMUNIST) PARTY TO COME FORTH AND TESTIFY."
HE PRAISED ACTORS LARRY PARKS AND STERLING HAYDEN WHO TOLD THE COMMITTEE OF THEIR ONETIME MEMBERSHIP IN THE COMMUNIST PARTY. PARKS LOST HIS MOVIE JOB MONDAY. HIS STUDIO, COLUMBIA, ANNOUNCED THAT HIS CONTRACT HAD BEEN TERMINATED BY "MUTUAL CONSENT."
"THERE ARE MANY OTHER EX-COMMUNISTS, PERSONS WHO WERE MEMBERS ONLY FOR SEVERAL WEEKS, WHO COULD GIVE US VALUABLE INFORMATION, BUT THEY ARE AFRAID THEY WILL LOSE THEIR JOBS," SAID WOOD. "AND SOME ARE MAKING AS MUCH AS $2,000 A WEEK."
WOOD, WHO IS RETURNING TO WASHINGTON TODAY, SAID SOME OF YESTERDAY'S WITNESSES WILL BE CALLED TO WASHINGTON TO TESTIFY AT THE COMMITTEE'S OPEN HEARINGS WHEN THEY RESUME TUESDAY. THE CHAIRMAN SAID THAT SOMETIME THIS SUMMER, AFTER THE END OF JUNE, SOME MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE MAY COME TO HOLLYWOOD FOR HEARINGS HERE.

BOULDER, COLO., MAY 11-(AP)-THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO REGENTS VOTED 4-1 TODAY TO RETAIN ON THE FACULTY AN ADMITTED ONETIME COMMUNIST, PHILOSOPHY PROFESSOR DAVID HAWKINS.
THE ACTION FOLLOWED RECOMMENDATIONS OF A FACULTY COMMITTEE ON TENURE WHICH CONDUCTED A TWO-MONTH INVESTIGATION OF THE CASE.
HAWKINS, 37, TOLD THE HOUSE UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE IN WASHINGTON LAST DECEMBER THAT HE HAD BEEN A COMMUNIST PARTY MEMBER FROM 1938 TO 1943.
WHEN THE WASHINGTON TESTIMONY WAS MADE PUBLIC, UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT ROBERT L. STEARNS PREFERRED SEVEN CHARGES AGAINST HAWKINS TO DETERMINE HIS FITNESS AS A TEACHER. STEARNS ACTED AT THE REGENTS' REQUEST.
THE FACULTY COMMITTEE SAID HAWKINS WHO CAME HERE IN 1947 APPARENTLY SEVERED RELATIONS COMPLETELY WITH THE COMMUNIST PARTY WHEN HE WITHDREW.

(550) THIRD NIGHT LEAD MACARTHUR MARSHALL

BY DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL DECLARED TODAY "WE ARE MOVING TOWARD SUCCESS" IN ENDING RED CHINESE AGGRESSION IN KOREA, BUT WARNED THAT RUSSIA IS THE "REAL OPPONENT" WHO COULD PLUNGE THE WORLD INTO WAR.

ON THE SIXTH DAY OF HIS MARATHON TESTIMONY IN THE SENATE'S MACARTHUR HEARINGS, DECLARED THE RED CHINESE ARE "LOSING MANY THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE WITH EACH OPERATION."

"WE ARE DESTROYING THEM, IN ONE SENSE, DAY BY DAY," HE SAID.

BUT HE DECLARED THAT RUSSIA MIGHT MARCH AGAINST WESTERN EUROPE AT ANY MOMENT. AND HE STUCK STEADFASTLY TO THE ADMINISTRATION THESIS THAT THE RISK OF PROVOKING RUSSIAN INTERVENTION IN ASIA FORBIDS THE HIGH COMMAND TO FOLLOW THE STRATEGY ADVOCATED BY GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

MACARTHUR WAS DEPOSED FOR DISAGREEING WITH THE ADMINISTRATION AND PUBLICLY ADVOCATING SUCH STEPS AS A BLOCKADE OF RED CHINA, BOMBING OF MANCHURIAN BASES AND THE USE OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S NATIONALIST TROOPS. THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS AND ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE ARE INQUIRING INTO THE WHOLE MOMENTOUS ISSUE.

MARSHALL TOOK THE WITNESS CHAIR MONDAY AND IN THE PAST SIX DAYS AN ESTIMATED 200,000 WORDS HAVE ENTERED THE OFFICIAL RECORD. WHEN HE FINISHED TODAY, HIS VOICE WAS FALTERING. HE WILL RESUME MONDAY AT 9 A.M., E.S.T.

SENATOR LONG (D-LA) POSED TO MARSHALL THE GREAT OVERSHADOWING QUESTION WHETHER THIS COUNTRY AND ITS ALLIES COULD WIN A WAR WITH RUSSIA IF IT STARTED NOW. MARSHALL REPLIED:

"I DON'T WANT TO TALK ABOUT IT ON THE RECORD, AND I WOULD RATHER HESITATE TO TALK ABOUT IT OFF THE RECORD."

THE OFFICIAL TEXT, RELEASED AFTER CENSORSHIP, BORE NO EVIDENCE THAT MARSHALL WAS PRESSED TO GIVE HIS VIEWS EVEN OFF THE RECORD.

BUT HE DID SAY AT ANOTHER POINT THAT THE ADVANTAGE AN AGGRESSOR GAINS BY LAUNCHING A SURPRISE ATTACK IS OUTWEIGHED IN THE LONG RUN BY "A MUCH GREATER DISADVANTAGE."

"IT SHOULD BE APPARENT BEFORE THE WORLD," HE SAID, "THAT IF THEY DO SEIZE THIS ADVANTAGE, THEY ARE GOING TO PAY A TERRIBLE PRICE, ABSOLUTELY AND CERTAINLY."

SENATOR LONG DEVELOPED MARSHALL'S VIEWS AS TO THE OUTCOME IN KOREA, IN A SERIES OF QUESTIONS.

"SO FAR," LONG SAID, "WITH REGARD TO THE BERLIN BLOCKADE AND THE POLICY THAT WE FOLLOWED IN GREECE, WE HAVE HAD THE PREVIOUS SITUATIONS WHERE THERE APPEARED TO BE STALEMATES, AND THAT WERE ENORMOUSLY EXPENSIVE TO THIS NATION; AND IN THOSE PREVIOUS OCCASIONS WHAT THEY CALLED THE STALEMATE PROVED TO BE THE DAWN JUST BEFORE THE DAYBREAK, DIDN'T IT?

MAY 13 1951

AG4WX

MARSHALL: YES SIR.

LONG: AND THAT IS WHAT YOU ARE HOPING THIS SITUATION IN KOREA WILL BE?

MARSHALL: VERY MUCH SO.

LONG: A PRELUDE TO A VICTORY FOR WHAT WE ARE TRYING TO ACCOMPLISH.

MARSHALL: YES, SIR.

LONG: AND SO, ALTHOUGH IN ONE SENSE IT WOULD APPEAR TO BE A STALEMATE, YOUR JUDGMENT IS THAT ACTUALLY WE ARE WINNING, AT LEAST WE ARE DAY BY DAY REACHING WHAT WE COULD REGARD AS A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME OF THIS VENTURE TO RESIST AGGRESSION?

MARSHALL: WE ARE MOVING TOWARD THAT.

LONG: MOVING TOWARD --

MARSHALL: A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME.

LONG: ORIGINALLY WE STARTED OUT, I BELIEVE, IN YOUR LANGUAGE, TO REPEL AN ATTACK, OR REPEL AN AGGRESSION AND TO DESTROY THE AGGRESSOR. NOW, WE ARE NOT TRYING TO DESTROY THE CHINESE AGGRESSORS, AS A NATION, I TAKE IT, OR AS A GOVERNMENT?

MARSHALL: THE AGGRESSOR IN KOREA WE WOULD DESTROY, IF WE COULD, IF THAT WERE A PRACTICAL MILITARY OPERATION AT THE MOMENT. WE ARE DESTROYING THEM, IN ONE SENSE, DAY BY DAY.

LONG REMARKED THAT "EVEN GENERAL MACARTHUR HAS NOT RECOMMENDED THAT WE ATTEMPT TO ACTUALLY DESTROY THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT; SO IN SO FAR AS DESTROYING THE AGGRESSOR, WE WERE AT ONE TIME ATTEMPTING TO DESTROY THE NORTH KOREAN GOVERNMENT AS AN AGGRESSOR, BUT WE ARE NOT TRYING TO DESTROY THE CHINESE COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT, AS A --".

"WE ARE TRYING TO DESTROY THE NORTH KOREAN WARMY, AND PACIFY KOREA," MARSHALL INTERRUPTED.

AS FOR POSSIBLE WAR WITH RUSSIA, LONG SAID: "OF COURSE WHAT YOU ARE HOPEFUL OF "IS THAT WE WILL BE ABLE TO PREVENT A WAR; THAT SOONER OR LATER WE WILL BE ABLE TO WORK IT OUT WITHOUT ANY WAR AT ALL--THAT IS OUR REAL OBJECTIVE?"

MAY 13 1951

"THAT IS CORRECT," MARSHALL TOLD HIM.

MARSHALL DECLARED THAT MOSCOW COULD MAKE THE CHINESE REDS CALL OFF THEIR AGGRESSION "IN A MOMENT" IF IT DESIRED -- AND THAT THE CHINESE COULDN'T FIGHT WITHOUT THE DIRECT SUPPORT OF THE RUSSIANS.

QUESTIONED BY SENATOR LODGE (R-MASS), MARSHALL SAID THE BULK OF RED CHINA'S WAR MATERIAL IS COMING FROM RUSSIA. AND HE ADDED: "THE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCES WOULD BE UTTERLY UNABLE TO MAINTAIN THEMSELVES WITHOUT A VERY DIRECT SUPPORT BY THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT."

HE TESTIFIED HE BELIEVES THE UNITED NATIONS ALLIES NOW ARE CONTRIBUTING AN INCREASED NUMBER OF TROOPS TO THE KOREAN FIGHT AND "I THINK WE HAVE GOOD PROSPECTS FOR FURTHER INCREASES."

PREVIOUS TESTIMONY HAS INDICATED THE U.N. MEMBERS HAVE ABOUT 30,000 TROOPS IN KOREA WHILE THE UNITED STATES MAY HAVE SOME 350,000 IN THE ENTIRE THEATER. BUT CENSORS DELETED ABOUT 80 WORDS OF MARSHALL'S REMARKS AFTER HE SPOKE OF THE PROSPECT OF TROOP INCREASES.

MARSHALL REPEATED THAT HE FEARED THE PROGRAM PROPOSED BY GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR---TO WIDEN THE WAR AGAINST RED CHINA WITH BOMBING, BLOCKADE AND USE OF CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS---WOULD RISK A THIRD WORLD WAR.

BUT HE SAID WHILE A FULL-SCALE WAR WITH RUSSIA IS "A VERY DANGEROUS POSSIBILITY" --HE DOES NOT THINK IT "IS INEVITABLE."

SENATOR STENNIS (D-MISS) SAID: "WELL, IT BOILS DOWN, AFTER ALL, IN A VERY BROAD WAY TO THE QUESTION OF WHAT WILL RUSSIA DO? OR WHAT IS GOING TO BE HER POSITION? THAT IS THE MAIN ARGUMENT, AND THAT IS WHERE THE REAL DIFFERENCES OF OPINION COME ABOUT, IS IT NOT, GENERAL?"

MARSHALL REPLIED: "IN GENERAL, YES. I THINK WE FEEL THAT OUR GREAT OPPONENT IS THE SOVIET UNION."

EARLIER, HE INSISTED THERE IS GREATER DANGER OF RUSSIA GOING TO WAR IN ASIA THAN IN EUROPE.

MARSHALL'S REFERENCE TO RUSSIA AS "OUR REAL OPPONENT" DIFFERED SHARPLY WITH THE TESTIMONY OF MACARTHUR WHO INSISTED THAT COMMUNISM EVERYWHERE--NOT JUST RUSSIA--IS THE REAL ENEMY.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT (D-ARK) TOUCHED ON THIS ISSUE BY SAYING: "YOU DO

NOT LOOK UPON THIS AS SORT OF A CRUSADE AGAINST COMMUNISM EVERWHERE AND IN ANY FORM; BUT IT IS BECAUSE IT IS AN AGGRESSIVE FORCE, AND HAS TAKEN ON THE POWER OF THE RUSSIAN STATE, IS WHAT CONCERNS YOU?

YES, SIR," MARSHALL REPLIED.

HE AGREED WITH FULBRIGHT THAT YUGOSLAVIA'S COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT LOGICALLY CAN GET AMERICAN AID BECAUSE TITO REGIME DOES NOT TAKE ORDERS FROM MOSCOW.

FULBRIGHT SAID: "WHAT WE ARE REALLY CONCERNED ABOUT IS THE THREATENING FORCE OF ARMS DIRECTED BY MOSCOW, IS THAT CORRECT?"

MARSHALL SAID: "THAT IS CORRECT, WITH THE RESULTS THAT WOULD FOLLOW."

AND THEN MARSHALL INDICATED THAT THE UNITED STATES MIGHT NOT INSIST ON UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER AS THE BASIS FOR A SETTLEMENT OF THE KOREAN STRUGGLE.

FULBRIGHT REFERRED TO MACARTHUR'S STATEMENT THAT THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR VICTORY. THEN HE ADDED THAT THE UNCONDITIONAL DEFEAT OF JAPAN AND GERMANY HAD NOT BEEN "ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY."

"SO IT LOOKS AS IF WE ARE JUSTIFIED IN EXAMINING THAT IDEA OF UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER?" FULBRIGHT ASKED.

"YES, SIR," MARSHALL SAID.

AS FOR EUROPE, HE SAID "I GO ON THE BASIS MYSELF THAT RUSSIA MAY STEP INTO THE AGGRESSION AT ANY MOMENT."

SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH) ASKED: "IS IT NOT GENERALLY AGREED THAT AMERICA AND HER WESTERN EUROPEAN ALLIES WOULD BECOME IMMEDIATELY INVOLVED IN WAR IF ANY AGGRESSOR OCCUPIED BERLIN OR ANY PART OF WESTERN EUROPE BY FORCE?"

MAY 13 1951

MARSHALL REPLIED: "I WOULD ASSUME SO."

HE SAID THIS COUNTRY MUST PREPARE FOR A POSSIBLE WAR "EVEN THOUGH IT MAY TAKE TWO OR THREE YEARS" TO BUILD UP DEFENSES.

"IN OTHER WORDS," HE SAID, "WE DON'T SIT IMPOTENT AND SAY RUSSIA CAN ACT AT ANY TIME AND THEREFORE WE DO NOTHING. THAT IS THE SENSE OF THE EUROPEAN SITUATION, AND THOSE ARGUMENTS CAME UP IN CONNECTION WITH THE REARMAMENT PROPOSALS."

MARSHALL GAVE THESE ESTIMATES OF THE DANGERS OF WAR DURING HIS SIXTH STRAIGHT DAY OF TESTIMONY IN THE SENATE INQUIRY INTO AMERICAN POLICY IN THE FAR EAST AND THE FIRING OF GENERAL MACARTHUR.

WHILE HE TESTIFIED, THE DEPOSED FAR EAST COMMANDER--WEARING CIVILIAN CLOTHES FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 14 YEARS--WAS WATCHING IN NEW YORK THE FIRST BASEBALL GAME HE HAS SEEN SINCE HE LEFT HOME IN 1937.

CAIN DEVELOPED THE FACT THAT THE THREE CIVILIAN HEADS OF THE ARMY, NAVY AND AIRFORCE HAD NOT BEEN CONSULTED IN THE MACARTHUR OUSTER AND HE CALLED IT "A GREAT PITY" AND A "BAD PROCEDURE."

CAIN SAID: "NONE OF THE CIVILIANS WERE CONFERRED OR CONSULTED WITH OR HAD ANY PART TO PLAY IN A GREAT QUESTION WHICH INVOLVED BASICALLY THE NATIONAL SECURITY OF OUR COUNTRY. I THINK IT IS A BAD PROCEDURE, SIR."

HE SUGGESTED THE CIVILIAN SECRETARIES WOULD HAVE ASKED "PRESSING QUESTIONS" ABOUT TAKING SOME OTHER ACTION AND HE ADDED: "IT IS A GREAT PITY IF NOT TRAGEDY IN MY VIEW THAT SUCH A PROCEDURE WAS NOT FOLLOWED."

BUT MARSHALL---WHO HAS SAID HE AND THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF WITH THEIR CHAIRMAN, GENERAL OMAR BRADLEY, AGREED WITH MR.TRUMAN---COMMENTED: "I AM SUPPOSED TO BE THE CIVILIAN SECRETARY OF DEFENSE. OUT OF MY PAST I WAS A SOLDIER. MY ANSWER WOULD BE THAT I AM THE SUPPOSED CIVILIAN REPRESENTATIVE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE X X X."

A192WX

MARSHALL GAVE MEMBERS OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES HIS ESTIMATES OF THE WAR THREAT IN ANSWER TO A QUESTION BY CAIN.

THE SENATOR ASKED MARSHALL FOR HIS "FUNDAMENTAL REASONS FOR ASSUMING THAT AN AGGRESSION WILL NOT TAKE PLACE IN WESTERN EUROPE UNTIL WE ARE BETTER PREPARED TO MEET IT, WHILE SEEMINGLY YOU BELIEVE THAT RUSSIA WILL ENTER THE KOREAN CONFLICT IF WE BOMB AND DESTROY MILITARY INSTALLATIONS POSSESSED BY THE RED CHINESE?"

MARSHALL GAVE HIS VIEWS AND THEN WENT ON TO SAY THAT INTELLIGENCE REPORTS INDICATE A CONTINUOUS SOVIET BUILD-UP IN WHICH THE RUSSIANS ARE SHIFTING TROOPS DISPOSITIONS IN EUROPE AND IN THE FAR EAST.

"THE IMPRESSION FROM THE REPORTS THAT WE GATHER FROM MANY SOURCES THERE," HE SAID, "HAS BEEN A CONTINUOUS BUILD-UP X X X PARTICULARLY IN ARRANGEMENTS, SPECIFICALLY IN THE SATELLITE STATES, AND IN REGARD TO DISPOSITIONS OF SOVIET TROOPS IN WESTERN EUROPE, AND AS TO SOVIET INCREASES IN STRENGTH, AS WE UNDERSTAND THEM, IN THE FAR EAST."

HE WENT ON TO SAY THERE IS A SPECIAL SITUATION IN THE FAR EAST IN THE RUSSIA-RED CHINA RELATIONSHIP WHICH CREATES THE GREATEST WAR RISK.

MAY 13 1951

HE EXPLAINED IT THIS WAY: "RUSSIA POSSESSES A VERY VALUABLE ALLY IN CHINA. THAT (CHINA) YOU MIGHT SAY IS A RUSSIAN PROTECTORATE IN A SENSE, BUT ONE WHO IS PAYING A GREAT BILL OF HUMAN LIVES AND OTHER THINGS IN ORDER TO FULFILL THAT ROLE.

"NOW IN VIEW OF THEIR TREATY WITH THE CHINESE COMMUNIST REGIME OR GOVERNMENT, IF IT APPEARS THAT THEY (RUSSIA) HAVE FAILED TO SUPPORT THAT GOVERNMENT IN ITS FIGHT IN KOREA, WE HAVE A VERY SPECIAL SITUATION BECAUSE IT AFFECTS EVERY OTHER SATELLITE OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT."

HE SAID IF THE CHINESE BEGIN TO FEEL THEY HAVE BEEN "SOLD DOWN THE RIVER," THEN RUSSIA IS IN A TOUGH SPOT "AS TO WHAT IT DOES IN RELATION TO THE FAILURE TO THE PRESENT TIME OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCES TO DRIVE US OUT OF KOREA."

IN REPLY TO CAIN'S QUESTIONS, MARSHALL SAID RUSSIA ALREADY HAS CALLED ATTENTION TO HER TREATY WITH RED CHINA AND THE SOVIET MAY BE DOING THIS TO "SET THE STAGE FOR THE VERY ACTIONS WE HAVE BEEN CONCERNED ABOUT."

HE WAS REFERRING TO HIS PREVIOUS WARNING THAT THE RUSSIANS MAY THROW DIVISIONS INTO THE KOREAN FIGHT AT ANY TIME.

CAIN ASKED IF THE UNITED STATES AND HER WESTERN ALLIES ARE NOW ASSUMING THAT A RUSSIAN ATTACK IS UNLIKELY BEFORE THE ALLIES HAVE BUILT UP DEFENSES IN EUROPE.

MARSHALL REPLIED: "TO THAT I WOULD SAY CERTAINLY, SO FAR AS THE OFFICIALS INVOLVED IN THIS MATTER IN THIS GOVERNMENT ARE CONCERNED, OUR PRESENT CONCEPTION IS THAT WE CAN NEVER TELL AT WHAT MOMENT THE REACTION FROM RUSSIA MIGHT COME.

A193WX

"YOU HAVE TO EVALUATE OR GUESS THE RUSSIAN APPRECIATION OF OUR POWER ATOMICALLY, HOW MUCH OF A DETERRENT THAT IS, AND OTHER FACTORS WITHIN RUSSIA ITSELF WITH WHICH WE ARE NOT SUFFICIENTLY FAMILIAR."

TURNING TO THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN MACARTHUR AND HIS SUCCESSOR, LT.GEN.MATTHEW B.RIDGWAY, MARSHALL SAID THAT MACARTHUR HIMSELF HAD ASKED RIDGWAY'S APPOINTMENT TO HEAD THE EIGHTH ARMY AND THE MILITARY CHIEFS HAD CONCURRED.

CAIN BROUGHT UP THE MATTER AND SAID: "GENERAL MARSHALL, I HAVE STRESSED THIS POINT BECAUSE I AM NOT GOING TO BE A PARTY TO A MOVEMENT WHICH IS AFOOT IN THIS COUNTRY TO DISCREDIT GENERAL MAC-ARTHUR BY AN IMPLICATION THAT BAD BLOOD EXISTED BETWEEN GENERAL MACARTHUR AND GENERAL RIDGWAY--AND THAT GENERAL RIDGWAY WAS SENT TO KOREA IN ANTICIPATION OF THE REMOVAL OF GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR X X X."

30.24- 22897

MARSHALL REPLIED: "I WILL GO FURTHER THAN THAT TO SAY THAT ANY SUCH IDEA IS EXTRAORDINARILY INCORRECT."

CAIN: "I THINK THAT STATEMENT IS VERY GOOD FOR OUR COUNTRY AND I PERSONALLY AND OFFICIALLY APPRECIATE IT."

CAIN SUGGESTED THAT RIDGWAY HAD BEEN HANDICAPPED IN THE MACARTHUR OUSTER BECAUSE HE WAS GIVEN OCCUPATION AND ADMINISTRATION DUTIES IN JAPAN JUST WHEN HE WAS SET IN KOREA TO REPEL A RED OFFENSIVE.

MARSHALL DECLARED RIDGWAY HAD THE CHOICE OF KEEPING HIS 8TH ARMY COMMAND WITH LT. GEN. JAMES A. VAN FLEET AS HIS DEPUTY--OR TURNING THE COMMAND OVER TO VAN FLEET IMMEDIATELY.

"HE CHOSE TO TRANSFER THE COMMAND IMMEDIATELY," HE SAID.

AT POINTS, PARTS OF MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY WERE DELETED BY THE CENSORS WHO HAVE THE TASK OF PREVENTING ANY SECURITY LEAKS IN THE TRANSCRIPT WHICH IS MADE PUBLIC.

ONCE CAIN ASKED THE REASONS WHY "THE UNITED NATIONS FAILED SO COMPLETELY IN 10 MONTHS OF WAR X X X TO SATISFY THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE WAR IN KOREA."

PREVIOUS TESTIMONY HAS INDICATED THE U. N. ALLIES HAVE ONLY ABOUT 30,000 TROOPS IN KOREA WHILE THE AMERICAN FORCES IN THE THEATER MAY TOTAL 350,000.

CAIN SAID HE WAS IN EUROPE LAST SUMMER AND COULD FIND NO EVIDENCE THE UNITED STATES WAS ENCOURAGING MORE ALLIED TROOPS FOR THE KOREAN WAR.

"THERE WAS LIKEWISE LITTLE EVIDENCE," HE SAID, "THAT THESE GOVERNMENTS WERE EVEN THINKING ABOUT THE QUESTION."

MARSHALL'S 140 WORDS IN ANSWER WERE DELETED BY THE CENSORSHIP.

DUSCUSSING COMMUNISM, MARSHALL SAID HE IS "ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN" ITS OBJECTIVE IS COMPLETE WORLD DOMINATION.

"MY OWN REACTION IS," HE SAID, "THAT THE CHINESE COMMUNIST LEADERSHI IS IDENTICALWITH TH SOVIET COMMUNISTS AND THESE GROUPS IN AMERICAN."

CAIN THEN REFERRED TO AN ADMINISTRATION BILL BROUGHT TO CONGRESS IN JUNE, 1946 (BUT NEVER PASSED) WHICH HE SAID WAS DESIGNED "TO AMALGAMATE THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS AND NATIONALIST ARMY." HE ASKED MARSHALL WHY HE HAD "STRONGLY URGED" PASSAGE OF THE BILL.

MARSHALL AT THAT TIME HAD RETURNED FROM A TRIP TO CHINA AS PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S REPRESENTATIVE IN WHICH HE TRIED TO BRING ABOUT AN END TO THE WAR BETWEEN THE REDS AND THE NATIONALISTS. THE BILL PROVIDED FOR A U.S MILITARY MISSION TO AID CHINA IN MODERNIZING ITS ARMED FORCES.

MARSHALL SAID THE BILL'S PURPOSE WAS TO GET LEGAL AUTHORITY FOR A MISSION TO AID IN THE REDUCTION AND AMALGAMATION OF THE OPPOSING ARMIES

MAY 13 1951

A40WX

"THE WHOLE THING, THE WHOLE PROCEDURE," HE SAID, "WAS IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS AGREED PROGRAM BETWEEN THE NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT AND THE COMMUNIST REGIME AS TO THE EXACT PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED IN REDUCING THE TROOPS."

CAIN DECLARED THE BILL "SIMPLY MEANT THAT IN 1946 THERE WAS NO DEEP-SEATED RECOGNITION ON OUR PART THAT YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT MIX COMMUNISTS AND FREE LEADERSHIP. WE THOUGHT IT WAS POSSIBLE."

THEN HE SAID: "IF THIS PROPOSITION WERE PRESENTLY BEFORE US. OR WAS BEFORE US IMMEDIATELY BEFORE THE KOREAN CONFLICT (WOULD THERE) HAVE BEEN ANY DESIRE ON OUR PART TO ENCOURAGE AN AMALGAMATION OF NATIONALIST AND CHINESE COMMUNIST ARMIES IN CHINA?"

"NO, SIR," MARSHALL REPLIED. "WE REACHED THE POINT WHERE--WELL, YOU COULDN'T MEDIATE: THAT IS THE REASON I LEFT (CHINA)."

AT ONE POINT, MARSHALL DECLARED THAT "IN THE LIGHT OF EVERYTHING THAT HAS HAPPENED" IN KOREA HE BELIEVES GENERAL MACARTHUR'S DRIVE LAST FALL TO THE MANCHURIAN BORDER WAS "UNFORTUNATE."

HOWEVER, HE POINTED OUT IT IS "AWFULLY EASY TO TELL WHAT IS THE RIGHT THING THE DAY AFTER."

THE SECRETARY INDICATED THAT IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN BETTER HAD THE GENERAL STOPPED AT THE "NARROW WAIST" OF KOREA AND NOT FANNED OUT HIS FORCES ALONG KOREA'S NORTHERN FRONTIER, A MOVE THAT WAS CRITICIZED AFTER THE REDS DROVE THE U.N. TROOPS INTO RETREAT.

BUT MARSHALL SAID THE NOVEMBER OFFENSIVE WHICH FAILED DID DESTROY THE NORTH KOREAN ARMY AND IT DISCLOSED THE CHINESE REDS PLANS.

"THERE IS THE FACTOR," HE SAID, "WE DETERMINED WHAT THEY HAD AND, AS GENERAL MACARTHUR PUTS IT, WE UPSET THEIR PLANS AND PRECIPITATED THEIR ACTION AND MADE IT KNOWN TO US."

IN REPLY TO QUESTIONS BY SENATOR STENNIS, MARSHALL SAID THERE WAS ONLY ONE NATION -- OBVIOUSLY HE MEANT RUSSIA -- "THAT IS COMPLETELY PREPARED X X X AND SHOWS EVERY INDICATION OF ACTION COMPLETELY AGAINST OUR INTERESTS."

DISCUSSING PRESENT U.S. MILITARY, HE SAID:

"WE HAVE A MUCH MORE POWERFUL SETUP THAN IS APPARENT TO THE PUBLIC."

THEN HE DISCLOSED THAT IN THE NEXT THREE OR FOUR WEEKS THE ARMED SERVICES WILL BE ABLE TO SEND REPLACEMENTS INTO KOREA AT THE RATE OF 20,000 A MONTH, IN ADDITION TO CASUALTY REPLACEMENTS.

"THAT IS MORE THAN A DIVISION A MONTH," HE SAID. "THAT CREATES A TREMENDOUS POWER THAT HAS HERETOFORE BEEN LACKING. X X X THAT WILL HAVE A TREMENDOUS EFFECT AND WE ARE GETTING THE BENEFIT OF THOSE MEN WHO COME BACK HERE WITH THEIR WAR EXPERIENCE IN ALL OF THE UNITS."

SENATOR LODGE SAID: "THOSE MEN WHO HAVE COME BACK WILL BE THE SEED CORN FOR THE NEW ARMY, WILL THEY NOT?"

MAY 13 1951

MARSHALL: "THEY WILL BE THE EXPERTS ON HOW YOU ACTUALLY DO IT TODAY."

SOME HINT OF WHAT THE ADMINISTRATION MAY HAVE IN MIND IN A KOREAN ARMISTICE OR SETTLEMENT TERMS CAME FROM MARSHALL UNDER QUESTIONING BY SENATOR FLANDERS (R-VT).

FLANDERS SUGGESTED THAT THE U.S. REPRESENTATIVE TO THE UNITED NATIONS, WARREN AUSTIN, (1) CALL ATTENTION TO "THE IMMENSE LOSS OF LIFE" IN KOREA, "THE IMMENSE COST AND SUFFERING, BOTH OF THE ARMIES AND THE CIVILIAN POPULATIONS X X X";

(2)"PROPOSE A CEASE-FIRE, CREATION OF A COMMISSION TO ADMINISTER IT, AND WITHDRAWAL OF OPPOSING FORCES;"

(3) "HAVE READY A UNITED NATIONS FORCE X X X TO MAINTAIN CIVIL ORDER, AND THEN X X X X ALLOW THREE YEARS OF GOVERNMENT UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS, TO BE FOLLOWED BY A FREE ELECTION X X X."

MARSHALL SAID: "WELL, I THINK CERTAIN PHASES OF THAT HAVE ALREADY BEEN CONSIDERED. X X X."

QUESTIONING OF MARSHALL ENDED FOR THE DAY AT 4:30 P.M. EST. THE SECRETARY WILL RETURN AT 9 A.M., EST., MONDAY.

A REPORTER ASKED MARSHALL IF IT HAD BEEN A TOUGH WEEK.

"WELL, I CAN SAY IT HAS NOT BEEN A RESTFUL ONE," MARSHALL SAID WITH A SMILE.

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL (D-GA) SAID HE HOPED THAT THE COMMITTEE COULD COMPLETE QUESTIONING OF MARSHALL BEFORE NOON MONDAY AND THEN CALL EITHER SECRETARY OF ARMY PACE OR GENERAL OMAR BRADLEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.

REGARDING THE OUTLOOK IN KOREA, MARSHALL SAID:

"I DO NOT THINK THE SITUATION IS SO DUBIOUS AS HAS BEEN EXPRESSED HERE A GREAT MANY TIMES, AND I AM GETTING AN INCREASING CONFIDENCE TOWARDS THE POSSIBILITY OF A SATISFACTORY CONCLUSION. WHETHER OR NOT

IT WILL BE A MILITARY TRIUMPH OR NOT, I DON'T KNOW HOW YOU WOULD CHARACTERIZE IT.
"IT WOULD BE A TRIUMPHANT DEMONSTRATION, I THINK OF OUR MILITARY POWERS IN PROPORTION TO THE PEOPLE ENGAGED X X X."

*WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP) — Following is the censored transcript of the morning session of today's hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into the Administration's foreign policy (censorship deletions are indicated by * * ):

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL — The committee will be in order. Just as the committee recessed on yesterday, we had reached Senator Cain. He was given assurances that his position would be maintained on today. Senator Cain, you may proceed.

Testimony of Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall — (Resumed) accompanied by Felix Larkin, general counsel.

SENATOR CAIN — Thank you, sir. General Marshall, good morning. If I did not believe that the free world through the U. N. has failed to keep its own promises and has failed to carry out its mission in Korea, because of these failures the free world is headed from my point of view for trouble of a far more serious character than confronts us at this perilous time, I would not bother, sir, to consume a minute of your time or ask you a question, but because I do believe deeply on this matter, I have a number of questions, but they have been so designed as to permit of the briefest kind of answer.

During the extended course of your testimony, General Marshall, you have not suggested how long the Korean war is likely to continue or what additional methods and means and strength may be employed to conclude that war.

It is because of this uncertainty that I seek information at the outset concerning the agencies of authority which consider the policies involved in the Korean war, but before beginning that inquiry, General Marshall, may I ask if you have had The Washington Post of this morning called to your attention?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I read a copy myself.

SENATOR CAIN—It is against that paper, sir, that I would like to ask you several questions. You testified yesterday that the message of the President of Jan. 13 was sent to General MacArthur in order to give the political factors involved in a directive from the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the Security Council of Jan. 12.

Is it not a fact, sir, that the Jan. 12 communication was dispatched by mail so that it cannot have been in General MacArthur's hands when he received the President's telegram of Jan. 13?

GENERAL MARSHALL — The directive I referred to was of January the 11th. January 12th was not a directive. It was a proposal to the National Security Council and it was shown to General MacArthur by General Collins in addition to being mailed out.

President's Message To MacArthur Cited

Q.—Do you know, General Marshall, the contents of the message which General MacArthur sent and to which the President's message of Jan. 13 was a reply? I have been advised that the message of Jan. 13 was in response to a request for advice from General MacArthur, and if that is a fact, it has not thus far been mentioned in these hearings.

A.—In several of General MacArthur's communications, once the Chinese Communist forces had developed in Korea, he stated that this had changed the character of the war and it required a consideration of a change of policy on the highest government level.

The message you refer to from the President to General MacArthur developed from the fact that a directive was prepared by the Chiefs of Staff, and the question was whether that should include in it other than purely military terms. It was decided that it was better to send the directive on a purely military basis and then have the President himself send the message of Jan. 13.

Q.—If I have understood you, then, sir, correctly, you have stated it to be a fact that the Jan. 13 message of the President to General MacArthur was a direct reply to a specific inquiry from General MacArthur asking for instructions because his previous instructions were not clear. And did not then General MacArthur ask specifically whether he was to evacuate immediately or to attempt to stay on in Korea for a limited time or to hold out indefinitely? That is my understanding of the chronological facts in the question, General Marshall.

A.—As I stated before, there were numerous references by General MacArthur to the decisions of this Government once the Chinese Communist military effort had developed in Korea. Various messages in reply were sent as to the status of affairs and as to the governmental considerations, notably in the effort to obtain an action by the United Nations to declare the Chinese aggressors in Korea.

Now, this message of Jan. 13 to General MacArthur was in an endeavor to make clear to him the position in which we stood from the President, because the message in the form of a military directive had been sent him on the eleventh at a very critical time in the progress of military events in Korea.

Q. — General Marshall, do you know it to be so that General MacArthur, before receiving the communication from the President of Jan. 13, had stated that in his opinion he could hold on in Korea for any length of time up to the complete destruction of his own forces, if political considerations or political factors dictated such a course? A.—I think that is included in one of his replies.

Q.—I think you have told us that General MacArthur stated in previous messages that the decisions required involved questions of a highest national and international importance, above and beyond that which could be made by a theatre commander on his own responsibility? A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—Do you not know it to be so, sir—at least I was so advised from a news dispatch of yesterday coming out of New York, which quoted General Whitney as saying—that General Collins and General Vandenberg, two members of the J. C. S., were present with General MacArthur and his senior staff officers when the Jan. 13 message arrived from the President? A.—I think it will be better, Senator, to ask them directly.

Q.—Thank you, sir. Have you been advised that during that meeting, which was attended by General MacArthur, General Collins and General Vandenberg and others, that General Vandenberg or General Collins said he thought it, the message, meant evacuation after a limited period in which it would appear that our troops were being forced out of Korea by military pressure?

A.—I do not recall at the moment the exact account that General Collins gave us of his interview, but he can testify to that.

Marshall Defines Message Purposes

Q.—I thank you, sir. Do you know whether or not it is so that General MacArthur interpreted the Jan. 13 message clearly to mean that there would be and should be no evacuation, and that General Vandenberg expressed himself as inclined to agree with General MacArthur's interpretation of the message? A.—The message distinctly said it was not a directive.

Q.—I hope you will not misunderstand this question. Why were not the messages from General MacArthur to which the President was replying on Jan. 13 made available to this committee yesterday so that the whole of the matter concerning the circumstances of the President's reply might have been made available to this committee and the nation at the same time? A.—I don't quite get the point, Senator.

Q.—The point I seek to establish, sir, is that from my point of view—and I stand to be corrected—the message of the thirteenth of January was not sent on the President's initiative; it was sent primarily in response to one or more messages seeking advice from General MacArthur in the field.

A.—I couldn't answer that specifically yes or no. As I have repeated, there were a number of questions from General MacArthur along this general line. There were messages from the Chiefs of Staff which involved military factors and called to his notice political factors.

In this particular case—and the Chiefs of Staff can testify to you directly themselves — in drawing up their directive to him the question was whether or not any mention or whether or not they should inject into that both the military and the political, and it was decided it would be far better to make a complete separation, and that was the genesis of the President's message, to the best of my understanding.

Q.—I thank you, sir. Would you tell us as precisely as you can, General Marshall, how the Jan. 13 message of the President contradicts or modifies or clarifies the Jan. 12 recommendations of the J. C. S? A.—They were two quite different things. One was a series of possible actions in a great dilemma to be considered by the National Security Council because of their involvement. The message by the President, as I think he states in there in so many words, was to bring General MacArthur into complete understanding of the attitude of this Government as expressed by the President himself.

Q.—I think I have understood you to say that the Jan. 13 message was sent to General MacArthur for a number of reasons, one of which was to throw some light on the Jan. 11 directive, to which you made reference yesterday; is that correct? A.—The expression "throw some light," I don't think is quite accurate to the point in this case. It was to avoid complicating the directive of Jan. 11 with political factors and to have them go to General MacArthur as a distinct statement.

Q.—Ma, I ask, sir, why did the Jan. 13 message of the President state precisely in the language of the President—"the present telegram is not to be taken in any sense as a directive"—when it had a relationship to a directive of two days before? Why was one a directive and the other merely an expression of opinion? A.—In other words, I am quite certain the Chiefs of Staff can, I think, give you a very direct answer on this, although probably it is in the State Department bailiwick.

In order to avoid any confusion in regard to the directive they sent him—I might state for myself, that I found it desirable never to write a letter to a commander in the field—I had learned that early in the war, because it either watered down, or gave some other possibility of interpretation to the directive. I expect that is the reason that I was not involved in that particular drafting.

Question Seeks Views On Making of Policy

Q.—I thank you, sir. General Marshall, you referred in your previous testimony to two voices in our Government, in a matter of American policy. Your reference was obviously made to the voice of the State Department, or our Administration as a whole, or General MacArthur; but at this time I wish to ask you this question:

Do you take the view that the Congress of the United States, a coordinate branch of the Government, should have no part in the making of American policy in the world?

A.—No, sir. I would not put it that way; but the President has a constitutional power in stating our foreign policy, and I am talking about stating it, not discussing it.

Q.—Is it not true, sir, that under the Constitution, the power to declare war and the power to make peace is a function of the Congress, and that our Constitution, therefore, calls for two voices in the making of American policy and the taking of American action? A.—I think there you have a difference, that you get into, pretty legalistic for me, between a statement to the world on a policy, and an action, legalistically, under our Constitution, by both the Congress and the President.

Q.—I am seriously interested in your view, sir.

My next question is: Since the Constitution states that Congress shall have the power, and I quote, "To make rules for the Government, and regulations of the land and naval forces," do you wish your testimony of recent days to stand, that no commander of high rank should furnish to a member of Congress, and particularly to a minority leader of the House of Representatives, information that may be sought from that commander?

A.—I would have to qualify that to the extent of saying that you had a very special situation here, in which the views of the supreme commander in the field were in direct contrast to that of the Administration, and had, in various ways, been given public notice, to our embarrassment in our relations with our allies and in the development of fears among those allies.

Now, I think the answer has to be directly related to that statement.

I had to answer that at considerable length yesterday, in relation to an article, or an answer by General Collins, the chief of staff, to the Foreign Relations or the Foreign Affairs Committee.

I took the view there, and I think it is a correct one, that when we were involved in the special position of a man, and particularly in regard to military operations, there it is not at all the procedure that would be followed by a member of the War Department, a member of the Defense Department, coming before committees of Congress, and also statements before committees of Congress after the event.

Here was a world position of the supreme commander of United Nations forces and here was the President of the United States as the executive agent for those United Nations forces, and the declarations one way or the other by that supreme commander have to be very intimately related to that.

As I recall—the letters will show—Mr. Martin asked whether this should be treated confidential or not, and there was no reference to that in General MacArthur's reply.

Q.—Certainly both of us are in agreement that the question itself is very troublesome, and the question has given rise to most of the inquiry in which all of us are and have been engaged for some time.

May I suggest, General Marshall, that if you consider that you have previously answered adequately to your satisfaction any question I may ask you this morning, if you would merely say so, that will be quite sufficient for me.

A.—Thank you.

Marshall Denies Withholding Data

Q.—Because then I can retrace my steps and get the substance of your answer. This is a question which appears to be pressing, but I just want your own view of it. Did you, General Marshall, withhold from this joint committee any information or comment because it might seem to reflect upon the Democratic Administration in power which you have called the constituted authority?

Isn't that the plain implication of your statements here that Army officers and members of the military service in command positions must not give any information which could be the basis of criticism of our differences as to the manner in which the armed forces of the United States were being employed?

A.—That was not my intention whatever and I don't think I can recall anything that I have withheld along that line. I am having particular reference in all of this to leadership in the field of the going operation and a developing situation.

Q.—General Marshall, if you will help me now, sir, understand the nature and position of those authoritative sources that have the management of the Korean war in their hands, I will appreciate it. You testified on Page 804 of the hearing several days ago that proposals pertaining to directives which are issued from week to week or sometimes from day to day are forwarded from the J. C. S. to yourself as the Secretary of Defense, and by yourself to the President. Is my understanding correct, sir? A.—That is correct, to a limited extent because in certain cases it goes direct to the National Security Council.

Q.—I wanted to ask you about that in a minute, but I wanted to know more than I presently know of the nature of the directives that by-pass the National Security Council. A.—They are of a nature that do not develop changes of policy and matters of great serious moment. The President requires that he see all the instructions from the executive agent of the Chiefs of Staff, who is General Collins, before they go to General MacArthur, or General Ridgway. And for convenience I would either take those to the President but as a rule General Bradley does in connection with his morning appointment.

Now if it is a very important thing and yet not one that seems to be a general policy consideration in a large way, I would take that personally to the President myself. But that has been seldom the case. But when a measure or proposal such as that of Jan. 12 came up, that went directly to the National Security Council as a matter of course.

Security Council Law Entered Into Record

Q.—Because it involved high—

A.—Very major decisions.

Q.—and fundamental national policy. A.—Exactly.

Q.—General Marshall, you testified on Page 804 of the hearings that basic directives flow from the J. C. S. to the Defense Secretary to the National Security Council to the President; is that correct, sir? A.—Yes, sir, and that is a statutory requirement.

Q.—You have stated that the National Security Council is composed of the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense and the chairman of the National Security Resources Board; is that correct? A.—That is correct.

Q.—Will you briefly outline the functions of the National Security Council? A.—Pardon my delay in answering this.

Q.—Certainly, sir. These questions are not only of interest to me but several of my colleagues have said since the hearings began that they had never heretofore understood the importance of the National Security Council, and I think the nation ought to understand its relationship to other activities.

A.—In the first place, it is a statutory organization and the law reads:

"There is hereby established a council to be known as the National Security Council, hereinafter in this section referred to as the council. The President of the United States shall preside over the meetings of the council, provided that in his absence he may designate a member of the council to preside in his place.

"The functions of the council shal be to advise the President with respect to the integration of domestic, foreign and military policies relating to the national security so as to enable the military services and the other departments and agencies of the Government to cooperate more effectively in matters involving the national security. The council shall be composed of the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, and the chairman of the National Security Resources Board, and the secretaries and under-secretaries of other executive departments and of the military departments, the chairman of the Munitions Board, and the chairman of the Research and Development Board when appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to serve at his pleasure.

"In addition to performing such other functions as the President may direct for the purpose of more effectively coordinating the policies and functions of the departments and the agencies of the Government relating to the national security, it shall, subject to the direction of the President, be the duty of the council:

"1. To assess and appraise the objectives, commitments and risks of the United States in relation to our actual and potential military power in the interest of national security for the purpose of making recommendations to the President in connection therewith; and,

"2. To consider policies on matters of common interest to the departments and agencies of the Government concerned with the national security, and to make recommendations to the President in connection therewith.

"(C) The council shall have a staff to be headed by a civilian executive secretary who shall be appointed by the President, and who shall receive compensation at the rate of $10,000 a year. The executive secretary, subject to the direction of the council, is hereby authorized, subject to the civil-service laws and the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, to appoint and fix the compensation of such personnel as may be necessary to perform such duties as may be prescribed by the council in connection with the performance of its functions.

"(D) The council shall, from time to time, make such recommendations, and such other reports to the President as it deems appropriate or as the President may require."

Q.—I thank you, sir. General Marshall, do we then rightly conclude from what you have just read that the National Security Council is with respect to national and global security matters in which this country has a definite interest, and the war in Korea, by all odds the most important policy-making body in the United States? A.—That is right, sir.

Q.—It, therefore, goes without question that its members ought to be individuals possessed of high capacity and of names which call forth confidence to the extent possible from the American people. Mr. Secretary, what is your relationship and acquaintance with Mr. Robert J. Smith? A.—I may know him, but I don't recall.

Q.—He is the vice chairman of the National Security Resources Board, sir. What is your acquaintance and relationship with Mr. Jack O. Gorrie?

SENATOR LODGE — What is that name?

SENATOR CAIN—Jack O. Gorrie.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I may know him, but I don't recall the name.

Secretary Questioned On Council Meetings

Q.—He is, sir, the executive assistant of the National Security Resources Board. General Marshall, will the acting head of the National Security Resources Board, for Mr. Symington, its secretary, resigned some weeks ago, attend meetings of the National Security Council — will the acting head? A.—I presume so, sir.

Q. — Will you state, sir, how often the National Security Council meets, and are minutes taken of those meetings? A.—Usually it meets Wednesday afternoons. At one time it was meeting twice a week.

Q. — General Marshall, are you quite familiar with the basic functions of the National Security Resources Board? A.—I have read the directive and I have attended some of the meetings.

Q.—I thank you, sir. Has the opinion of the National Security Board been requested by the President of the United States concerning the selection of a new chairman for the National Security Resources Board? A.—I don't know, sir.

Q.—Has the question of who ought to replace Mr. Symington as the chairman of the National Security Resources Board — for that replacement will become automatically a member of the National Security Council—been discussed by the National Security Council since the resignation of Mr. Symington? A.—I recall no such discussion.

Q.—May I ask if the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur was discussed by the National Security Council? A.—It was not.

Q.—May I ask, General—for I think this question is very important—why it was not, when I bear in mind what you have just read to this committee, a part of which charges the National Security Council with advising the President of the United States with respect to the integration of domestic, foreign, and military policies relating to the national security so as to enable the military services and other departments and agencies of the Government to cooperate more effectively in matters involving the national security.

It is my interpretation of the statute—and I seek not to go backward and to get any change in the decision to remove General MacArthur—that there was every reason to believe that the National Security Council was required to consider the question of General MacArthur's removal in the interests of national security. I may be wrong.

A.—I think that is a matter of opinion, sir. I do not think so.

Q.—I have understood you, General Marshall, to testify that the Secretary of the Army was directed to notify General MacArthur in Tokyo that General MacArthur was to be removed.

I have understood you to say that the Secretary of the Army did not fulfill this mission because of a breakdown in communications.

I have understood you to say that the Secretary of the Army was not informed before he left the United States for the Far East that General MacArthur was to be relieved. Is my understanding correct, sir?

A.—That is correct, sir, except that the matter of his making the delivery to General MacArthur was prevented not only by a breakdown of power, but by a later decision of the President to proceed immediately with the relief.

Queried on Decision To Relieve General

Q.—I thank you, sir. Would you give us in just a sentence or two the primary functions of the Secretary of the Army? Well, perhaps that isn't necessary. I seek to save the general as much as I possibly can of his time. Let me ask my next question.

THE CHAIRMAN—I have here another copy of the National Security Act of 1947.

SENATOR CAIN—I know, General Marshall, that the Secretary of the Army is responsible for the discipline and morale of the Army of the United States. Would you tell me how a decision would be reached to relieve General MacArthur without consultation by the J. C. S. and others in high authority with the Secretary of the Army?

A.—In the first place, the Secretary of the Army was not here, and in the next place, as I endeavored to explain yesterday, General MacArthur was not serving under the Secretary of the Army; he was serving not only as a commander of the United States air, naval, and army forces in Korea, but also as the commander of the United Nations forces in Korea. Therefore, it would not, in my opinion, be the function of the Secretary of the Army to enter into the matter of his relief or retention on duty.

Q.—I may appear, General Marshall, to be even more curious than some of my colleagues, but I am endeavoring to anticipate the requirements of the future, and I want to know before I get through, with your help, if I can, by exactly what means our supreme commander in the Far East was removed, so I will know whom to question should there be a recurrence in some other theatre in years to come. General Marshall, were the views of either the civilian Secretary of the Navy or the civilian Secretary of the Air Force requested in connection with the dismissal of General MacArthur? A.—Not to my knowledge.

Q.—General Marshal, I am advised that the Secretary of the Army is a member of the Armed Forces Policy Council, which advises the Secretary of Defense on matters of broad policy relating to the armed forces. Was the question of General MacArthur's dismissal referred to that policy board. A.—It was not.

Q.—I thank you, sir. I have gathered then from your answers—and I want to be very certain if I am right—that no civilian within the Department of Defense or the Department of the Army was consulted or had any influence in the dismissal of General MacArthur. Is that correct, sir?

A.—I am supposed to be the civilian Secretary of Defense. Out of my past I was a soldier. My answer would be that I am the supposed civilian representative of the Department of Defense. I recall your action in connection with clearing the way for my nomination as to the importance of having a civilian as Secretary of Defense.

Q.—It is not my intention or desire to embarrass you, General Marshall. I have and have had a very real respect for your military knowledge. I address you as general because old soldiers never die, and you are and will remain, for as long as you live, sir, a five-star general.

I just want our people to know—and it is without any criticism of you whatsoever—that we created through the National Security Act of 1947 a defense establishment which was designed to have at its head as the Secretary of Defense a civilian. It was designed to have at the head of each one of the three services a civilian.

Under the circumstances which pertain, though the Chief of Staff of each of the services is in himself subordinate to the civilian head of each of these three services, none of the civilians were conferred or consulted with or had any part to play in a great question which involved basically the national security of our country. I think it is a bad procedure, sir.

General Marshall, will you please relate any conversations you had with Admiral Sherman, with General Vandenberg, with General Collins either individually or collectively covering, (a) the question of replacing General MacArthur in his several commands, and (b) the method to be followed in replacing the general.

A.—I had no personal discussions with any one of the three officials that you have mentioned in the matter. General Bradley carried the questions to the Chiefs of Staff and came back with the information desired which was largely one of procedure so far as military command relationships were concerned, not the political aspects, not the public aspects.

After the Chiefs of Staff had had a meeting on Sunday afternoon, the ninth, I believe, of several hours, they came to my office with General Bradley and they each stated respectively their views, and the common view of the three.

I, as I recall, did not discuss the matter with them. I heard what they had to say. General Bradley—there must have been some discussion. I don't crystallize it in my mind now because it lasted from 4 o'clock until 6, but I think it related to procedure which would be followed in the event of General MacArthur's relief in order to protect the interests of the Army. That is my recollection.

Wisdom of Move Went Unquestioned

Q.—But as you recall, sir, during that conversation no Chief of Staff of any of the three services reflected in your presence on the method, the wisdom or lack of wisdom in peremptorily relieving General MacArthur of his command? A.—I don't recall any such other than I think entirely the discussion on Mr. Pace.

Q.—As to how Mr. Pace was to be employed in this question? A.—If and how.

Q.—By indirective I have served under your command across the seas, so you know that I seek not to embarrass you at any time, but the reason I have asked some of these questions is that it would not have been possible for a conversation of that character to have taken place if those three civilian secretaries had been present at such a meeting, because in being civilians they would not be content with a staff officer's rapid evaluation of the situation.

Those civilian secretaries would have asked pressing questions concerning aren't there other alternative courses which we might follow. It is a great pity if not tragedy in my view that such a procedure was not followed.

General Marshall, you have repeatedly stated that General MacArthur was relieved of all of his commands on receipt of orders because of your desire to free General Ridgway, General MacArthur's successor, of any embarrassment. I am unable to——

A.—Embarrassment or complications?

Q.—I am unable to understand what you have meant. May I ask if General Ridgway was not sent to Korea at the direct request of General MacArthur? A.—I was not in the department at the moment that that decision was taken; but my understanding is that General MacArthur either made the request, or specifically confirmed it, but that can be looked up and the information furnished.

Q.—General MacArthur testified that General Ridgway did come to Korea at his direct request.

I have understood, and I can easily understand this, that it was the view, or the wish, casual, probably, of the Defense Department to send a general other than General Ridgway, to Korea, but that the Defense Department immediately concurred in General MacArthur's personal request that General Ridgway come to him.

I think there is some small measure of importance in that question of mine, and in your answer. I want, in my own right, now, to take just one or two seconds to have the record show again that General MacArthur has publicly said to this committee, and the country, that he and General Ridgway had a mutual and high respect for each other.

General MacArthur testified:

"General Ridgway was my selection and recommendation as the commander of the Eighth Army after the unfortunate death of that very magnificent soldier, General Walker.

"I have known General Ridgway for thirty years. I don't think you could have a more admirable selection in the Far East than General Ridgway. I hold him in the highest esteem, not only as a soldier but as a cultured gentleman and one of the most magnificent characters I have ever been acquainted with."

I asked General MacArthur a question as to whether or not from the moment General Ridgway went to Korea, he was not under General MacArthur's direct command, and the general's answer is this:

"That is absolutely correct, and I don't know how there could have been any more complete cooperation, devotion and loyalty than between General Ridgway and myself."

General, given this information, may I ask you again how did you and your associates conclude that it would embarrass General Ridgway if General MacArthur was given time in which to personally turn over his several commands to General Ridgway.

A.—I have already stated my views to that. Do you wish me to state them again?

Q.—No, sir. If you think you have stated them adequately, that is sufficient for me. A.—I think I have, sir.

Recalls Decision To Visit Island

Q.—General Marshall, I have stressed this point because I am not going to be a party to a movement which is afoot in this country to discredit General MacArthur by an implication that bad blood existed between General MacArthur and General Ridgway, and that General Ridgway was sent to Korea in anticipation of the removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur; and your observations have helped in clearing away any possible uncertainty that exists on that question.

A.—I will go further than that to say that any such idea is extraordinarily incorrect.

Q.—I think that statement is very good for our country, and I personally and officially appreciate it. General Marshall, you have stated many times, sir, that it was not advisable to order General MacArthur back to this country for discussions with the J. C. S., with yourself, and perhaps with the National Security Council and the President, which might easily have resolved or found an adequate answer for the differences between General MacArthur and those in higher authority in this country, because of the critical situation in Korea. I do not understand, sir, your stated reasons when I consider that General Ridgway took command of the Eighth Army last December.

Would you tell us, please, why the situation would have become more critical if General MacArthur had been brought home for consultation? I call your attention to the fact that General MacArthur was relieved of his commands in the face of what the President announced to the country was a pending offensive by the enemy.

Q.—I do not, I think, imply that the situation would have been made the more critical by General MacArthur's return to Washington, but that his return to Washington seemed inadvisable in view of the critical situation. I have gone into this before, but I will do it again Senator.

General MacArthur theretofore at various times—I will refer to some of the dates here if you wish me to—has indicated a reluctance to come to this country in connection with various factors relating to the Far Eastern question, and at this time, as you say, a pending offense, an advance of his troops, was just about to take place. And when the President consulted me and then instructed me regarding his having an opportunity to discuss with General MacArthur the various factors, and with others at the same time the President would take with him, and with the Ambassador of ours to Korea, he stated that he, the President, would go that far, and that would not take General MacArthur away from Tokyo for an undue length of time at such a critical period.

And I suggested to the President that in view of the circumstances, it seemed to me that if the President was willing to go to Wake Island, he should give General MacArthur the chance to decide for himself what to do; and I put the question up to General MacArthur—Hawaii or the President's willingness to go as far as Wake Island—and General MacArthur replied, "Wake Island."

There was an example, at least, of my own feeling as to the critical importance of his being on the ground at that time.

Now, as to his relation to the offensive procedure that was going on in Korea, at the time of his relief, his relief brought about another commander, so that there was no question about who was in control of the situation, and that commander came directly out of Korea; that is directly out of Korea, and intimately familiar with every stage of the military fight in that region. In fact, he was largely the director of it, and I would state that if it had been found necessary to succeed General MacArthur with somebody other than General Ridgway, I don't know exactly how I would have appraised that situation, but it would have been quite different, because of the fact that an entirely new man was being put into the position; whereas the great issue was the battle, and General Ridgway was intimately familiar with every phase of it.

Q.—May I ask how much prior warning General Van Fleet had that he was going to take over command of the Eighth Army in the face of an offensive which, presumably, was even beginning to move as of the time General Van Fleet was brought into Korea?

A.—General Van Fleet had been on twelve hours' alert for some time—I think a matter of one or two months, because they felt that General Ridgway was taking some risks in the way he was moving about in his theatre, and flying up to the advance posts there, and in the light of what had happened to General Walker, that we must have another man immediately available in case General Ridgway met with some accident or became a casualty.

Actually, Van Fleet was in Florida at the time, and his interpretation was that he could fly back by air in three or four hours, so that he was in the status of an alert, and he was immediately ordered back to Washington to get under way to go to Japan. I have forgotten whether his instructions were sent Monday or in advance of the decision. I don't think it was; I think it was sent after the decision Monday mornng.

Ridgway Transferred Command Immediately

Q.—You certainly know the attitude of mind of General Ridgway. A.—I did not quite understand, Senator.

Q.—I say you certainly know the attitude of mind of your great commander, General Ridgway, who can cover more ground more rapidly and more effectively than any person I have ever previously known.

My own view is that one of his handicaps as supreme commander in the Far East, is that he has occupational and administrative duties in Japan, which will keep him from doing what he would most like to do, which would be to lead his troops into action.

A.—I might add that we gave him the freedom to make his own decision as to when he transferred the actual command to the Army; that is, if he wished to make Van Fleet his deputy during a period of this fight, so that he could go to Tokyo and come back, and be in a clear status of the Army commander, or transfer the command immediately. He chose to transfer the command immediately.

Q.—Well, you had, sir, no other course to pursue, did you? I mean, with the removal of General MacArthur and with imposing two different commands on his successor, General Ridgway, you had to leave it up to the discretion of General Ridgway as to where he could be of the greatest amount of service to his responsibility, and at the time he took command of not only the commander—not only the continued command of or was then in command of the Eighth Army, but was going to be supreme commander in the Far East. A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—One fact seems to remain before me. General Ridgway had imposed upon him new responsibilities at the very moment when he was straining every effort to defeat the offensive of the enemy.

General Marshall, so far as I know, General MacArthur has probably turned more swords into useful plowshares than any military figure in history.

All of us recognized General MacArthur to be an outstanding world military leader, and one of the great Americans of all time.

We likewise know that leadership is the crying need of the world at this time.

Against this background this question: Did you, sir, or others in your presence, appreciate and understand that the method you and others had in mind for removing General MacArthur would destroy his usefulness as a national leader within the Administration in this continuing day of crisis? Was that one of the considerations before you and other serious-minded people?

A.—The serious considerations that were discussed within my recollection related to the immediate reactions that would flow from his relief, and which I think we had a correct estimate of, and very particularly the reactions of his Army, which was the most important reaction of all to be considered. Beyond that, I do not think the disoussion went.

Russell Wasn't Consulted On MacArthur Removal

Q.—General Marshall, one last question about the MacArthur question, please: Was either the chairman of the Senate or the House Armed Services Committees consulted regarding the MacArthur removal?

A.—I cannot answer that. As I said before, I got the impression, if not the statement, of the President, that he had seen several—I think he mentioned four—important leaders, and discussed that with them on Sunday, the ninth. Who they were, I do not know, except one case, and I would not state that.

Q.—Well, may I ask you this—

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Cain, will you pardon me just a moment?

SENATOR CAIN—Certainly, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN—I should like to state in this connection that I had no knowledge whatever that this matter was even under consideration. Since you involved me in that question, I state further that I happened to be out of the city at the time, and I knew nothing about it until the final order came to me that action was taken.

SENATOR CAIN—General Marshall, on the basis of your testimony, we know that the J. C. S. discussed the General MacArthur question. We know that the President did; we know that the Secretary of State did; we know that Mr. Harriman did; we know that you did. So far as we know, no one else was consulted.

I think it very important for us to determine, if we can, the names and portfolios of every single American who had anything to do with this question.

My question to you is to whom might we turn for information regarding those members or those citizens in or out of the Congress whose views were requested or who were consulted about the removal of our Far Eastern commander?

GENERAL MARSHALL — Certainly not the Secretary of Defense, because I don't know, in the first place, and it isn't my role, in the second, to describe just what the President does. I should think the President himself was the individual concerned.

Q.—I thank you, sir. General Marshall, I should like very briefly to refer to the relationship between Western Europe and the Far East. Is it not generally agreed that the defense establishment of our allies in the North Atlantic Treaty is several years away to be prepared to effectively resist any large scale aggression in Western Europe? A.—I will not—I do not wish to answer the question as to several years away, Senator; but——

Q.—They are not immediately prepared? A.—They are not immediately prepared.

Both Recall Protest On Berlin Airlift

Q.—I thank you, sir. General Marshall, are the United States and our allies in Western Europe not proceeding on the assumption that an aggression is not likely to take place in Western Europe until the allies have created an adequate defense establishment? A.—To that I would say certainly, so far as the officials involved in this matter in this Government are concerned, our present conception is that we can never tell at what moment the reaction from Russia might come. You have to evaluate or guess the Russian appreciation of our power atomically, how much of a deterrent that is, and other factors within Russia itself with which we are not sufficiently familiar.

Q.—Is there any reason to believe, on the basis of your intelligence reports, that an aggressor is presently threatening to invade Western Europe? A.—The impression from the reports that we gather from many sources is there has been a continuous build-up and not necessarily in strength, though it may be, but particularly in arrangements, specifically in the satellite states, and in regard to dispositions of Soviet troops in Western Europe, and as to Soviet increases in strength, as we understand them, in the Far East.

Q.—General Marshall, is it not generally agreed that America and her Western European Allies would become immediately involved in war if an aggressor occupied Berlin or any part of Western Europe by force? A.—I would assume so.

Q.—I seem to recall, General Marshall, that Russia publicly protested against our sending American divisions to join the North Atlantic Treaty international army. Did the Russians not state that this act by us increased the possibility of war in Europe? A.—I do not recall the exact wording of the statement, but I think that was the general effect.

Q.—My memory seems to tell me that Russia protested the establishment of our airlift to Berlin. A.—Very specifically.

Q.—Has Russia, General Marshall, to your knowledge ever protested against our considering the need for bombing military installations which are being employed by our present enemy, Red China, in Manchuria or China? A.—I do not recall that specific allegation or statement in regard to that, but I think there has been a great deal that has come out through Pravda and others as to American aggression, imperialistic effort.

Q.—But as the Secretary of Defense you know of no official protest that Russia has lodged either with our Government or with the United Nations? A.—I don't recall such.

Q.—General Marshall, you have gone over this ground quite a number of times. If you care to recapitulate in just a sentence or two, I would appreciate it.

What are your fundamental reasons for assuming that an aggression will not take place in Western Europe until we are better prepared to meet it, while seemingly you believe that Russia will enter the Korean conflict if we bomb and destroy military installations possessed by the Red Chinese?

I ask this question in part because it has seemed apparent to me for some time that Russia could presently, today, defeat any forces which might be opposed to her in Western Europe.

A.—In regard to Western Europe, first, I go on the basis myself that Russia may step into the aggression at any moment. Also that that is no argument that we do not do our best to prepare for it even though it may take two or three years.

In other words, we don't sit impotent and say Russia can act at any time and therefore we do nothing. That is the sense of the European situation, and those arguments came up in connection with the rearmament proposals.

They came to me in some cases direct because I was called in to testify, though I was not then in the Government in respect to specific office.

I felt that we could never follow any such course as that, to just say we can do nothing because they can intervene, and again you had other involvements, other possibilities to consider which I have already referred to.

Now I will try to be brief again in regard to the difference I think in the situation in the Far East, and it is this in the main: That Russia possesses a very valuable ally in China. That you might say is a Russian protectorate in a sense, but one who is paying a great bill of human lives and other things in order to fulfill that role.

Now, in view of their treaty with the Chinese Communist regime or Government, if it appears that they have failed to support that Government in its fight in Korea, we have a very special situation because it affects every other satellite of the Soviet Government.

They get their example from that, and to use the common expression in this country, they have been sold down the river after a great sacrifice of life, so it has seemed to me and my associates and advisers that we are confronted by a Soviet Government in a very difficult position itself as to what it does in relation to the failure up to the present time of the Chinese Communist forces to drive us out of Korea.

Soviet Policy Discussed In Light of Treaty

Q.—I thought, sir, the other day you testified with reference to the treaty that you did not know very much about it? A.—I read into the record the two pertinent sections.

Q.—My interpretation of that treaty was that it ran between Russia and China and was directed at a militaristic Japan in the future, or an imperialistic Japan in the future. A.—It ran directly to what?

Q.—To the Japanese question and not even by implication, as I read it, to the Korean question.

A.—It uses the expression "or any other nation or people."

Q.—Allies, yes, sir, assisting Japan. A.—Assisting Japan. Now, if you recall, they alleged several times that we had introduced Japanese into Korea.

Q.—I do so recall. A.—And we felt that that was for the very purpose—

Q.—Of setting the stage? A.——setting the stage for the very actions we have been concerned about.

Now here are the exact—it uses the word "rebirth of Japanese imperialism"; that is in it. But "violation of the peace," and they say we have violated the peace, that it was not aggression or invasion of Korea. But we are all familiar with that business.

But it has a very pertinent relation to the possible Soviet interpretation of this treaty, certainly the instructions to their own people.

(Reading) "The violation of the peace on the part of Japan or any other state which should unite with Japan directly or indirectly in acts of aggression."

That gives them a very wide latitude in view of some of their perversions of the facts in the past.

Q.—Yes, sir. You do not then put very much credence in the belief held by some that Russia might be very strongly inclined to let China and the United States wage war against each other to the further weakening of both powers, and by that means leaving Russia in a far stronger position even than she is today. A.—I would qualify that as to the weakening of China, but I would say that the Soviet Government would be perfectly ruthless in its relationship to China in this matter if the Chinese could continue to embroil us in a general action out there which would weaken our general position.

Our Defense Is Stronger But Not Fully Developed

Q.—Thank you, sir. As a result of your testimony on Thursday I read a large headline in The Washington Daily News, which went like this—"U. S. Not Strong Enough to Risk War—Marshall." Does that reasonably well represent your view, Mr. Secretary? A.—Well, we certainly do not wish to risk war at any stage, and now in particular when we haven't yet developed our strength.

Q.—General Marshall, are we and our Allies not stronger today than we were last June when the Korean conflict began?

A.—Certainly we are materially stronger, because in the period of six months we doubled the strength of personnel in the Army alone in that time, and that is a very rapid development. But we haven't had an opportunity for this all to crystallize into the means to be employed, nor have we been able to obtain the material which is an essential part of our defense.

Now, as to allies, they have moved at a very slow pace until our reaction to the Korean affair, and that stimulated and accelerated, brought to a head in an effective manner the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Q.—I understand, sir, that since V-J Day we have spent roughly a hundred billion dollars for our own defense and that of our allies. I do not know how much money or what amount of material and arms we have provided our North Atlantic Allies with since the Korean war begun. It must, however, be a very large figure and amount of supplies.

Do you know to what extent our assistance in Western Europe in the last ten or eleven months has added to the state of defense preparation of our Allies in Western Europe?

A.—I would have to get you the data. I remember the last paper I looked at about a month ago showing that about 50 per cent of the product of the first appropriation in the rearmament had been shipped in goods to Europe. The others were more long-term items and there was a question, once, in one particular instance which I would not care to publicize, where the thought was—that the demands exceeded the capacity to digest it.

Q.—General Marshall, have you reason to know that there are today more combat divisions among our Allies in Western Europe than there were ten months ago? A.—I will have to get you the actual figures on that.

Q.—Thank you, sir. A.—I know what it was to be——

Q. But you do not know whether it has so become? A.—Well, it is a question of how you evaluate the particular unit, whether you call it really an effective division, or not; and that is what General Eisenhower has been in the process of determining, and he has not yet reported to us in detail.

Q.—I can think of no more important answer, because it is against that answer that we, in the Congress, must devise plans for the future.

General Marshall, please, if you will, sir, define the hazards and the risks which are present today, with reference to Korea, that were not present and recognizable last June?

This question is predicated on the fact that Russia and China are geographically situated today where they were last June; and that our defense establishment, and a good many of us in the Congress, were completely aware, last June, that Red Chinese forces were situated in considerable strength in Manchuria, and that other Red forces could easily be transported to that area. What about the risks, today, that were not recognized last June, when we entered this conflict?

A.—Well, of course I would have to very carefully evaluate what we thought last June, because I not only was not in that, but was very remote from it.

Q.—I am going to get into that question, sir, because I seek to find out, as an American citizen, whether we thought, last June——

A.—The Chiefs of Staff can answer you as to that, sir. Q.—Thank you, sir. General Marshall, we have been told in the press that there are far more than a half-million Red Chinese deployed today in North Korea. Would you tell us from what areas these troops are being supplied? A.—I would have to question the Chiefs of Staff on that. I can give it to you roughly, but I don't think it would be accurate. Q.—Thank you, sir. General Marshall, in a colloquy with Senator Hickenlooper on Thursday, the subject of bombing Red Chinese bases came up. You said this: "At the present time, in the opinion of my military advisers, and my own, the ground forces of the Allies have suffered in a rather remote way from our failure to do the bombing that you have just referred to."

I fail, sir, to see either logic or reason in this reply. If those supply depots had been destroyed by bombing, how would the Chinese Reds now be maintaining more than a half-million troops in North Korea?

A.—The destruction of those supply bases, and all, would depend, in its effectiveness, on the keeping interrupted the railroads and all, coming down from Manchuria, across the Yalu, into Korea.

Now, we have been bombing the bridges and the tunnels in Korea, and the supplies come on down the road. Where unlimited manpower is available, there is a very quick repair in such matters; but when you are——

Q.—What do you mean by that, "When limited manpower is available"? A.—Unlimited manpower.

Q.—I beg your pardon, sir.

A.—The repairs are very quickly made. I remember, in discussing the bombing of airfields in China, by us, during the war, they said it was hardly worth the effort, that the hordes of Chinese were carried in by the Japanese, and all the holes filled up in a matter of an hour or two, and things were back to where they were before, and it was a question of whether this particular effort was justified, except as a momentary interruption.

However, in reference to my reply to Senator Hickenlooper, as to the remote way——

Q.—That phrase.

A.—It is a two-way road there, which I had in mind, because we have been spared a great deal because we haven't set up a bombing air war.

Now, I stated my own intense interest, and the recommendation of the Chiefs of Staff, for air action across the Yalu at the time of this very serious build-up of Chinese Communist forces in Korea, which General MacArthur very graphically pictured as the way they were rolling down the road and coming across the bridges of the Yalu, and our close distance from the Yalu gave our planes almost no room in which to operate.

Now, we dropped the pressure on the issue when the situation entirely changed, and when we were far back, several hundred miles from the Yalu.

Chiefs Opposed Risk Of Retaliatory Bombing

Q.—Do you mind if I interrupt? You say we dropped the pressure when we were——A.—I am talking about the hot pursuit.

Q.—When we had retired. A.—When we got within about two hundred miles back and we had that distance in which to operate against their communications.

Q.—Yes, sir.

A.—But in relation to the period when we were aggressively trying to force our allies into an agreement, we—meaning the Chiefs of Staff — got into other discussions which were rather opposing this procedure for the reason that we didn't want any risk of retaliatory bombing on our bridgehead, beachhead, or the northeastern coast of Korea, where our losses might have been terrific in shipping and evacuation. * * * (Ten lines deleted.)

We had a very compact target, the ships tied up to the docks, a very vulnerable target, and we could have been done considerable harm.

We went ahead with our effort to get action to meet the situation on the Yalu, but we realized as we talked about it that we might get into deep trouble in this beachhead where we were evacuating. It is on the northeastern coast. * * * (Twelve lines deleted.)

Q.—I hope, sir, you will not think I am burdening the record or you. I do not pretend to be a soldier of any capacity, but I have spent many days in the field, and I am asking these questions in an effort, a deep effort, to understand what we are doing. A.—I may suggest, Senator, that you can get very direct responses to these from the Chiefs of Staff, because they did the elaborate discussion, and they came in with the recommendations.

Q.—But the theory and the subject of logistics is one over which you have been an acknowledged authority for a good part of your life, sir.

General Marshall, it seems to me logical to assume that thousands and thousands of enemy forces have been maintained in Korea because they have been supplied from Rashin. General MacArthur said of Rashin:

"It is the great central distributing point from Manchuria down the east coast of Korea. Its usefulness to the enemy is self-evident. Great accumulations, depot accumulations, were made there." End of his quotation.

Now, I am just assuming that is a military estimate of a situation made in a theatre of operations by officers who were on the ground. How, then, do you reconcile this military estimate, which was concurred in by General Stratemeyer, with your statement of the other day that our ground forces have suffered in a rather remote way from our failure to bomb enemy supply sources?

A.—Senator, if you will propound that question to the Chiefs of Staff they will tell you exactly why they came up with the recommendation that we should not bomb Rashin.

Q.—Thank you, sir. General Marshall, my understanding of the requirements of a military campaign is that forces cannot fight without being supplied in the field with weapons, food, ammunition, and clothing. If the Chinese Reds were prevented from supplying their forces in the field, to my mind, the war in Korea would soon be over.

Against this truism, have I not understood you to testify that you have been, and are today, strongly in support of an effective naval and economic blockade of China? A.—Correct, sir.

Q.—General Marshall, you have testified that you could only comment on the effectiveness of our economic blockade of China. You said that you knew very little about what other nations were doing to establish an economic blockade of Red China. Did I understand you correctly? A.—I think I added to it something in regard to the supplies going to the port of Hong Kong, specifically rubber.

Q.—Yes, but you said you were not very familiar with what steps our Allies were taking to impose an economic blockade of their own on Red China. A.—I was not familiar with what steps they were taking because they weren't taking the steps that we thought were necessary.

Q.—What we are trying to get at is: Who in our Government is driving in hope that our Allies will take the same sort of steps that we are taking, because of your testimony that an effective naval and economic blockade of China would result possibly in the end of the war and certainly in minimizing the loss of life to which our forces are exposed every day in the week.

A.—That is carried on through the State Department, and I also added in my statement the other day here, on May 7 we had gotten the agreement with the British and the French, which was the most important agreement to get through the necessary resolution to the United Nations.

'A Change of View' By Britain and France

Q.—Thank you, sir. Here is a question which perhaps you will suggest I should ask of the Secretary of State. I will be glad to do it, but want to post it to you.

You have said in your testimony that Great Britain is giving some present consideration to joining with us to impose an economic and naval blockade on China. I have reason to believe that this is a contrary position to one the British have held for months. I must read this short passage.

On Monday, April 9, only a little over a month ago, Sir Gladwyn Jebb, Britain's chief representative to the United Nations, spoke before a large American audience in San Francisco on a day when I was there. In that speech Jebb warned against the danger of any military action, air raids or naval blockades against China as inevitably leading to unlimited war, nor, he said, did he favor imposing sanctions on China for fear they might be dangerous, double-edged or merely useless. End of the reference to Jebb.

It seems fantastic to this American, General Marshall, that a chief representative of one of our chief allies should so firmly oppose, before an American audience, your views as given to this committee as Secretary of Defense and as a member of the National Security Council.

Please tell us again what positive steps are being taken today to get Great Britain and the rest of our Allies in agreement on the need for a complete economic and naval blockade of Red China.

A.—Well, as you suggested, that is a question for the State Department, but they have been pressing in every way. They have to get an action, formal action by the United Nations, in connection with it, and as I just said, on May 7 the United Kingdom and France indicated they were now prepared to support a resolution introduced by the United States for an international embargo against Communist China. There has been a change of view.

Q.—Thank you, sir. General Marshall, I suppose we agree that the Allied Forces have been confronted by two different kinds of wars since our forces were first committed in Korea.

As I understand it, the first war began in June against the North Korean aggressor, and ended in late November when the Chinese Reds committed their forces across the Yalu River. The second war finds us at war with the North Koreans and with the Red Chinese.

Will you explain for the benefit of this committee what we are doing to win the second war that we did not do and employ in practically winning the first war? What I am getting at is, is our general plan today what it was when we were confronted with an entirely different situation last June?

A.—I would say it is not, for the reason that at that time we possessed forces of sufficient strength and of competence to destroy the North Korean army, and General MacArthur did destroy it. * * * (Eight lines deleted.)

Q.—Thank you, sir. On March 28, 1951, THE NEW YORK TIMES said this:

"General Marshall declared today that he was astonished at the relaxation in public and Congressional support for a long-term defense effort. Deploring emotional reaction to day-to-day events, General Marshall observed that the Soviet Union's activities covered the globe. In his opinion, he said, the world situation was now more serious than last November."

You did not at that time, sir, clarify your remark about how the world crisis had worsened. I wonder if you would care to do so now, and I will appreciate your opinion as to whether the world situation is more serious or less serious than it was last March. A.—Last March?

Q.—That is when you made this comment, sir, in a news conference, the first, I think, you held after you became the Secretary of Defense. A.—Are you referring, when you say last March, to the change of the situation between last March and now? My statement was made in March.

Q.—Yes, sir. A.—In reference to November——

Q.—And you said that the world situation was in March worse than it was in last November. A.—That is correct, sir.

Question of Estimate Of Military Situation

Q.—And I wonder, in your opinion—— A.—And just a few minutes ago I answered that.

Q.—I thank you, sir. General Marshall, you have suggested that no request was made of the Department of Defense or of the Far East command for an estimate of the military situation before the United Nations resolved to employ military force to stop the aggressor in Korea. Is my impression concerning this a correct one? A.—I will have to ask you to state it again, because I don't recall——

Q.—Thank you. Read rapidly in the hope that you may have time saved, sir, thereby.

You have suggested in all of your testimony, which began last Monday, that no request was made of the Department of Defense or of the Far East Command for an estimate of the military situation before the United Nations resolved to employ military force to stop the aggressor in Korea.

Q.—I didn't recall that I stated that, sir, because I was not connected with the department at that time, and the exact maneuvers, diplomatic and otherwise, that took place in regard to the decision to go into Korea, I only knew from reading the messages from General MacArthur.

Q.—That is to say, General Marshall, in your capacity as Secretary of Defense, you do not know whether a military opinion was requested of either our defense establishment or of General MacArthur's command in the Far East prior to the decision of the United Nations to commit American forces in Korea? A.—I would say, Senator, that I could look into the records and see, but I was not an actor at the time.

Q.—Thank you, sir. I had better ask those several questions then, directly, of one or more of the J. C.'s. General Marshall, in your opinion, are there today any considerable number of Communists in the officer corps of our Army, Navy or Air Force? A.—I don't know of any, sir.

Q.—What action would you take if you found Communists within our armed forces, particularly in its officer corps? A.—I think there is a prescribed action in connection with loyalty tests and matters of that sort, which I cannot quote off-hand.

Q.—Well, you are certain, sir, that if Communists were found among the officer corps, that they would summarily be dismissed from the service? A.—Within our recourse to law in the manner of doing it.

Q.—Do you, General Marshall, out of your wide experience, see any difference between Russian, Chinese and American Communists? A.—My own reaction is that the Chinese Communist leadership is identical with the Soviet Communists, and these groups in America, as far as I obtain from the press, and what I got while I was Secretary of State, have the same objectives and employ different means, according to the circumstances.

Q.—Are those objectives the total destruction of free institutions and control of them on the face of the earth? A.—I am not quite so certain as to that, but I do feel absolutely certain it is the complete domination——

Q.—Of the world? A.—(Continuing)—of the world.

Q.—General Marshall, would you explain to the committee what you had in mind in June of 1946 when you strongly urged the passage of H. R. 6795, which was designed to amalgamate the Chinese Communists and Nationalist army, in a letter supporting this bill, where you said, "without passage of the bill the President and myself would lack authorization to carry out a phase of American policy toward China which appears vital to the success of our announced policy. The President, under the terms of the bill, will have the authority to proceed at his discretion in accordance with the situation toward the establishment by the Chinese of unified or national defense forces to include in its leadership both Communists and leadership."

A.—What was the bill?

Q.—The bill, sir, was this: "A bill to provide military advice and assistance to the Republic of China; to aid in the modernizing of its armed forces for the fulfillment of obligations which may devolve upon it." A.—I understand what the bill is.

Q.—The date of this testimony, at which your letter was read, was June 14, 1946. Just what were we trying to get at when we in America, were insisting that Communist and Nationalist Chinese leadership be amalgamated within the future armies of China? A.—The bill, as I recall, referred to the establishment of an Army mission to Japan, isn't that correct?

MAY 13 1951
MAY 13 1951

30.24- 22903

SENATOR CONNALLY—China.

SENATOR CAIN — Did he say Japan? He meant China. This is what the Secretary of State said in support of your letter with reference to the bill. He was answering a question apparently by Mr. Eaton.

SENATOR LODGE—What is the date of that?

SENATOR CAIN — June 14, 1946, Senator. (Reads): "What General Marshall was asked to do, and agreed to do, and what is necessary to be done, is that when the plan for the amalgamation of the two armies is accepted and begins to go into effect, those units of the Communist army which are going to be amalgamated within the Nationalist army will receive a period of training from sixty to ninety days before they march out to join their opposite numbers in the other army."

GENERAL MARSHALL—I recall now what the issue is.

Q.—Yes? A.—Under the political consultative conference recommendation, which was agreed to by all concerned, there was to be a demobilization of the Nationalist army from some 400 divisions, more or less, to fifty, and on the Communist side, from a million and a half troops to ten divisions —in other words, sixty divisions in all.

Now it was found in this committee, to which I was the adviser by reason of this arrangement which the Chinese had entered into among themselves, that when we tried to establish a rate of demobilization—and it had to be a comparative rate — between the Nationalist divisions and the Communist divisions, that we had no measure of organization or set-up in a very formal way in connection with the Communist forces. They did not have definite divisional organizations; they had very little artillery; they had no specific unit except in a few cases that was a division. And they were unwilling to accept any set up of comparative demobilization rates, we thought, because they had no organized unit of that character as the basis of such a procedure.

Now it was thought that with the setting up of this military mission of ours to the Nationalist Government in China that one of its subsidiary functions would be to try to get this force of the Communists in such a shape that we could amalgamate the units and demobilize the rest.

Roughly, at a certain stage, which was about a year later than the initiation of the maneuver, there were to be two Nationalist divisions and one Communist division in certain armies, they call them—we call them army corps—and in others there were to be two Communist divisions and one Nationalist division. That amalgamation would not have occurred for about a year.

Now in the first place, this was the normal request to get legal authority other than the President's war power to set up this mission, which the Navy had already gotten; and at the same time we wanted to have it so written that we could bring in these additional men which we needed for about sixty days or something like that to get this Communist group in a form that we could bring them in and amalgamate them with the others.

The whole thing, the whole procedure, was in accordance with this agreed program between the Nationalist Government and the Communist regime as to the exact procedure to be followed in reducing the troops.

Change in the Motives Of Korean War Discussed

Q.—Well, I think it is just a statement of fact that all of us have learned a very great deal in recent years with reference to the general subject and objectives of communism. A.—I think you have to have in mind that we had the Soviets as our Allies during the war, and we have now a question of something—whether it was a civil war or whether it was something more far-reaching.

Q.—This bill which did not become law, and which was supported strongly by our Government, simply meant that in 1946 there was no deep-seated recognition on our part that you simply cannot mix Communists and free leadership. We thought it was possible.

Is it fair to ask you, sir, that if this proposition were presently before us, or was before us immediately before the Korean conflict, that there would have been any desire on our part to encourage an amalgamation of Nationalist and Chinese Communist armies in China? A.—No, sir. We reached a point where—well, you couldn't mediate; that is the reason I left. And later on we did away with our executive headquarters there for the conduct of cease-fire procedure and abandoned any effort along that line.

Q.—I ask that question not as any point of criticism but to show how rapidly this world is moving.

THE CHAIRMAN — Did you complete your statement, General?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I think I will drop it. Yes.

SENATOR CAIN—General Marshall, have we reason to believe that the Allied mission in Korea is a different mission today than it was for several months after war began last June?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I am sorry, I can't answer that offhand. I should be able to, but I can't.

Q.—Permit me to help if I may. You testified the other day—I have the words down somewhere—that our mission in Korea when we undertook it—A.—I recall that.

Q.—Was to make of Korea, I use the phrase, free, united and self-controlled. I think you used independent, unified and democratic. A.—Yes.

Q.—Has that original mission been changed? A.—That is what I am sorry I can't give you the answer to.

Q.—Do you think, sir—I offer this without criticism but I want to get the facts—that the following comment from the President of the United States on Oct. 10, 1950, is a correct statement of fact?—the President said with reference to General MacArthur: "His mission has been to repel aggression and to restore international peace and security in the area as called for by the United Nations."

In your opinion, is that a correct statement of fact?

A.—I think it is, sir.

Q.—Thank you. Do you think this comment from Ambassador Austin, offered to the General Assembly of the United Nations, on Oct. 6, 1950, is a correct statement of fact? — "In June and July of this year the Security Council gave all the necessary military authority to the United Nations commander to repel the aggressor army and restore peace in Korea." A.—I think he is referring to movements north of the Thirty-eight Parallel, and I do not think he is referring to air bombing.

Q.—No, sir. He is referring, as I understand it, to General MacArthur having possessed sufficient authority to win the first war against the North Koreans, which was concluded as of the time the Chinese Reds entered a new conflict. My own impression is that that is a correct statement as of the time he gave it in October of 1950. A.—I should think so.

Authority of Commander Of United Nations Army

Q.—General Marshall, does the United Nations commander presently possess "all the necessary military authority to repel the aggressor army and restore peace in Korea?" A.—Except as to air action. * * * (one line deleted).

Q.—It would include a sufficient number of troops within that authority to carry out his mission to repel the aggressor, sir? A.—The authority is not a question of the number of troops. The shipment of troops to him doesn't change the policy.

Q.—General Marshall, if the United Nations commander does not now possess the necessary military power to carry out his stated mission to repel the enemy in Korea, must we not then logically conclude that the Korean mission has been changed? That is to say, we no longer presently [are] attempting to force the aggressor out of Korea; we have changed our posture. In other words, we are now resisting, where for a long time we were determined to repel attack.

A.—For a long time our purpose was to halt the aggression and to destroy the cause of the action, which was the North Korean army.

Q.—Right, sir. A.—At the present time the method of destroying the cause of it has changed.

SENATOR CAIN—I thank you, sir.

SENATOR SALTONSTALL — Senator Cain, would it be possible to have read General Marshall's answer to your previous question on that subject?

SENATOR CAIN — Certainly, sir. (Whereupon the record was read by the reporter.)

SENATOR CAIN—General Marshall, I hope you will reflect on the following paragraph which the President used in a speech before the General Assembly on Oct. 24. The title of his speech was "A New Page in History." In it the President stated these things as being true, and to me this is the crux of the whole dilemma which surrounds the free world right now:

"In uniting to crush the aggression in Korea these member nations have done no more than the Charter called for. But the important thing is that they have done it, and they have done it successfully.

"They have given dramatic evidence that the Charter works. They have proved that the Charter is a living instrument backed by the material and moral strength of members both large and small."

In your opinion why did the President—make no reference to him as a person, that is not intended—say these things last October when they are so totally contrary to the facts of today? And I draw particularly your attention to these two comments:

"United to crush the aggressor," and that "contributions both moral and material are being provided by all the free members of the United Nations." And those comments were made last October.

Witness Asked to Comment On the President's Views

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Will you read the first part of your question? A.—I don't mean the present statement.

Q.—In your opinion why did the President say these things last October with such conviction when these things are so totally contrary to the facts of today? A.—They were evidenced by the facts of the period of which he was talking about, and in the language of the messages from General MacArthur, an entirely new situation had developed, in one way which had developed and in another way which had not.

It was another effort to do the same thing, first by the North Koreans that failed, now by the Chinese Communist forces.

Q.—Well, there was a great hope and a great inspiration in what our Chief Executive said last October. How very, very far we have slid backwards on the basis of the facts from what we thought was possible to be true just a few short months ago.

General Marshall, in thinking about Korea and about possible and likely future acts of aggression, I ask you, if you will, to comment briefly on the following quotation from the same speech in which the President said:

"To maintain the peace, the United Nations must be able to learn the facts about any threat of aggression. It must be able to call quickly upon the member nations to act if the threat becomes serious. Above all, the peace-loving nations must have the military strength available when called upon to act decisively to put down aggression."

Have you any solid reasons to offer on or off the record—I care not which—why the many members of the United Nations failed so completely in ten months of war, and against that beautiful declaration of the President four months after the war began, to satisfy the requirements of the war in Korea?

(* * * approximately 900 words deleted).

SENATOR CAIN—Mr. Secretary, I wrote this question, and therefore I will read it as I wrote it, but I think now, against what you have just said, part of it is not necessary.

It seems clear to me that either the United Nations or the United States can be charged with a serious lack of leadership in the last ten months. After ten months of war, fourteen out of fifty-five free nations have contributed any forces to Korea.

I spent, sir, all of last August and July in Europe, last summer; I wanted to get an answer as to why people weren't contributing more to a war which belonged to them as well as to my country.

There was no evidence during that period of any kind—and I went to every official source in every country in Europe—that our American Government was encouraging the governments of our Allies to participate in the Korean war. There was likewise little evidence that these governments were even thinking about the question.

You are about as well qualified as anyone I can think of to reflect on the question of why we have done, collectively, so little in ten months, to crush an enemy who is determined to crush and destroy our forces.

* * * (Fourteen lines deleted.)

SECRETARY MARSHALL— * * * (One line deleted.)

I could not give you any answer that you couldn't get out of the information you generally have, in the press from these various countries, as to their feelings, their all agreeing to the principles of collective action, and afraid, here and there, of this consequence or that consequence; and also of their political, we will say, inability to meet the issue.

I imagine that is a very great factor in various countries.

Whether the United Nations Realized Its Undertaking

Q.—It is, sir. A.—We had some tragic examples of that, particularly when Mr. Stimson was Secretary of State; and we had the birth of the first World War, and the political repercussions; general public support or influence discredited, practically, what he was proposing, and that applied to some of the greatest countries in the world at that time.

Q.—Thank you, sir. Against what you have just said concerning political uncertainties throughout the world, and particularly among some of our Allies, and about fear in general, let me ask this question—purely personal:

MAY 13 1951

I see no reason, Mr. Secretary, why we should fail to face up to mistakes, and refuse to recognize mistakes when they are made. It seems to me that it is reasonable to believe and admit, publicly, so that we can get on a more positive course of action, that the United Nations had absolutely no understanding of what it was undertaking when it resolved to crush the Korean aggressor last June.

Against everything you have said, there couldn't have been any evaluation of what was likely to happen, or else the United Nations simply weren't prepared to undertake it. We have undertaken something that, up to date, is beyond our capacity to master, or so it seems to me.

A.—Well, I get the implication from the form of the question that unless we could see the way clear to the end, at the very start, we should do nothing. I cannot agree with that. Also, I think everyone must recognize that when you once start a military action, it sets up a chain of reactions, and it is pretty difficult to tell exactly where that is going to end. We have had a great many examples of that in history.

Q.—That is why I asked that question some few minutes ago: What are the hazards present today that were not recognized last June; because, to me, the trap we found ourselves in was an obvious possibility from the very moment on the 25th of June that our Government committed American forces to that area of conflict.

A.—As I have said before, I was not an actor in the Government at that time, but I should say you were faced with a situation where you just established before the world that you would not protect any country which has set up a really and truly democratic country, under our assistance and attendance, at the accouchement, and let all the world see, and the smaller nations in particular, that they would sink without any support from us.

Q.—General Marshall, it is my own view that the choice of decision lies much more fully with our enemies today than it lies with us. A.—That is very much the case.

Q.—As a military man of great experience, you have testified that we should not authentically tell the enemy anything. I enjoyed your use of the word "authentically." I remembered it sufficiently well to write it down. May I ask you, sir, if the Department of Defense wrote any part of the President's speech of April 11 in which he advised the enemy that the free forces have no intention of bombing Manchuria or China or permitting the Chinese Nationalist troops to be engaged against their countrymen, who are our enemies?

A.—I don't recall, sir. We generally are called upon to send somebody from the Defense Department to the White House to see—to participate in, at least, the revision or the drafting of any speech.

Q.—As a military man of great experience, do you approve of the declarations of intention which the Chief Executive stated to the enemy on April 11 in which he advised the enemy of what we were not going to do in the future? A.—That is a question of judgment as to what result they were attempting to get at in connection with that matter. That is a considered statement, and not an accidental disclosure, and just exactly what was the purpose of that, I have not discussed with the President, so I cannot answer it.

Q.—Your answer is interesting to me, because you are the chief military adviser to the President of the United States, and that the President, now or in the future, should decide to advise the enemy of adopting a military course of action without consultation with his Secretary of Defense is completely beyond my comprehension, sir. A.—I stated that we had a representative, I assume, at the White House at the time that speech was drafted, to bring——

Q.—You so stated, sir, but you did not state that whoever your representative was took up the question of the advisability of such a declaration being made to our enemy. A.—Well, he came back undoubtedly from the White House to consider with our people in the Defense Department; I don't recall the specific issue being brought to me personally.

Wisdom of Declaration By U. N. Questioned

Q.—Thank you. General Marshall, the United Nations has repeatedly stated its determination to put out any fire of aggression which is started by any aggressor anywhere. As the Secretary of Defense, as a military man, do you approve of offering this sort of advice to our potential enemies? A.—I would rather not comment on that, sir.

Q.—All right, sir. I think it is important because we have set up a determination in terms of words which, in terms of fire power, we have not been able to accomplish in the first test of our determination.

It seems to me, sir, that this type of declaration has added substantially to the enemy's power of decision. Do you not think that these declarations permit an enemy to choose his own time and place for an aggression? I think you can answer that one, if you will, sir.

A.—Well, I would say that they don't restrict his choice of the time and place. He is aware of most of those, in the first place, and he is now being told in this particular instance that we will resist in any region. How we'll resist is another matter, of course.

For example, we have the Communist effort to dominate Indo-China. Now, how do we participate there? The French are carrying out the main resistance; we are providing matériel; we are providing planes and transportation to that extent, and we have other provisions that I cannot mention.

Q.—General Marshall, these are two brief questions. Perhaps, you will think they are repetitious, in which event you will just pass them by. Do you not believe as a military rategist that it is unwisest, for the free nations, to say that they are going to stop aggression unless they are prepared to do so? A.—You are now, I think, Senator, getting involved in or involving me, rather, in a debate as to——

Q.—I have no intention of doing that, sir. A.—I mean involving me in a debate as to the wisdom of certain procedures and declarations, and to their possible effects. It may be a very deliberate intention to create a certain impression, and I would have to sit down and analyze each one with some care.

Q.—Now, I would prefer to ask that question when the Secretary of State comes here. A.—These all amount to a phase of psychological warfare. Maybe it is not a wise phase; maybe you don't agree with that, but I could not offhand reply.

Q.—Well, we Americans of both parties at this table are trying, with the help of so many distinguished and qualified witnesses, to determine what is the wise course of action to pursue in the future. From my limited background and knowledge, brainpower, I think the free nations are on very unsound grounds in some of the declarations they have made, because they have not, in practice, been able to live up to their declarations.

You testified, General Marshall, the other day, that you only know of our atom-bomb strength through what you read in the press.

A.—No, I don't think I said that, sir.

Q.—I understood you to say that. A.—That certainly would not be the case. Now, what is the question, sir?

Q.—I merely said that you testified that you know only of our atom-bomb strength through what you read in the press. I was merely going to ask you to whom should this committee turn for the fullest possible information we are entitled to have? A.—I think there must be some misunderstanding of the statement. I don't recall that——

Witness Explains Delay In Report of Casualties

Q.—I would withdraw the question easily. General Marshall, as we move as rapidly as we can to a conclusion, how would you characterize the conflict in Korea? Is it, in your opinion, a police action or a war, and if it is a war, would you define it to be a large or a small war? A.—I would characterize it as a limited war, which I hope will remain limited.

Q.—General Marshall, I read daily in the press that our forces can practically calculate to the individual how many casualties they inflict on the enemy.

In a couple of newspapers in front of me, there are fifty-one chances out of fifty-two, that I could open it up and see where on yesterday some authoritative source in the Far East said that we killed 5,000 or 4,083. They are very specific.

No reference has been made, however, in recent weeks to my knowledge, to American or allied casualties.

Would you tell us, as a military man, how we can be so accurate with reference to the enemy, while taking so much time to evaluate our own losses? I believe, sir, that my nation would be more anxious about the Korean war and treat it much more realistically if our casualties, rather than those of the enemy, were in the headlines of every American paper every day.

A.—As to the delay, Senator, the first factor is we wait until the next of kin have been notified.

Q.—Notified. A.—As to the—I think there are pretty regular announcements of casualties.

Q.—Well, I personally have not seen them in the daily press recently.

A.—There are weekly announcements in detail.

As to accuracy, I will say this: while the snow was on the ground it was a comparatively easy matter to check. The aviator or an artilleryman or even the infantryman gave his estimates of what he had done, and then they went over the ground, if they didn't actually take it over by conquest, with these small planes, and actually counted the casualties.

For example, I know—I am just thinking of various instances when I was concerned with the same problem, in my mind as to the accuracy of the statement where, in one case, there was a battalion, or there was an action and it was fought, and it was thought that it was taken against some 3,000-odd of the enemy, and they felt they had inflicted 1,100 casualties.

When they took over the ground they found 2,800 casualties.

They had another case that I can recall now at the moment of where in another battalion we had seven killed and twenty-two wounded, and when they took over and counted, they had 300 enemy casualties.

They had another case where the Navy bombarded Wonsan, a port on the East Coast of China [of Korea] and later on they landed a group the way they do from time to time, and they counted either 3,800 or 4,800 dead as a result of their catching these fellows in buildings. It was a concentration point.

Now, there we had exact figures, and there we had a confirmation of the previous estimates, and in most cases, the estimates were below what actually was discovered.

Now, here very recently in the last few days we had a highly exaggerated estimate by pilots as to the number of planes destroyed in one bombardment at Sinuiju. I think they said thirty-five planes; actually, the report finally came back to us from the photographs and others that one plane was destroyed and one damaged.

Well now, there is the check—all the point I am trying to make is——.

Q.—Yes, sir.

A.—There is the check; and I think that the casualties inflicted have been far—have been considerably under the estimates for the reason that we don't pick up the wounded. We don't get that part. They are all drawn off, as a rule, so under the old schedules of probabilities, which is not the case now—I don't know what the probability scale is now—it was four wounded to one killed.

Well, of course, if that were true, it would be a tremendous casualty list. I don't think that holds any more. I think it is probably almost one to one or two to one.

How the Casualty Rate Has Changed Since 1950

Q.—I raise the question partly because it seems to me we place an undue emphasis for public consumption on how many we are killing of the enemy, when I individually as an American, am much more concerned with how many Americans are being killed by the enemy. A.—Well, there is a release that comes out every week. There is no holding back on that.

Q.—I did not so mean to imply. A.—I have been very much interested, as an important question, with respect to the comparative rate of casualties from January, February, March and April, as compared with the previous period of six months, if you consider the small June involvement as part of that period, although they had the heaviest proportions of losses incurred in those early days at the end of June.

Q.—Have our casualties, General Marshall, before the recent counter-offensive—

THE CHAIRMAN—General, did you finish that statement about casualties?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I have something else. The rate of casualties per hundred men per week in the last two months is one-quarter the rate during the period of June-August and one-half the casualties of November and December.

SENATOR CAIN—What is the date from which you are reading, sir?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Through May 4. This is a percentage rate which doesn't appear to me much because it is a little difficult to understand.

I was trying to get a clear statement because it is not only of profound interest as to casualties, but it is of equally profound interest as to the extent to which we can conduct this operation against the Chinese without too serious an attrition on our own part.

Now the casualties per week per 100 starting back in June, is June 25-Aug. 25, were 1.2 per cent. In other words, the casualties of 100 men per week at that rate were 1.2 per cent, and that of course includes large numbers in those days who were absent, unaccounted for, prisoners presumably.

From the twenty-fifth of August to the twenty-third of September the casualties per 100 per week were 1.4 per cent. September to October, one month, nine-tenths of a per cent; October through Nov. 17, three-tenths of a per cent per 100 per week.

Now the seventeenth of November through the fifteenth of December, there were six-tenths of one per cent. You see, it is considerably lower than it was in June and August, but it is going up in connection with those heavy operation of that period.

From the fifteenth of December through the twelfth of January there was seven-tenths of a per cent out of 100 men per week. The twenty-fifth of January to the nint . of February, two-tenths of one per cent. That happened to be that very critical period, but it was critical in the sense that we had gotten into a position and they had not caught up with that position.

Q.—Those are all battle casualties, sir? A.—Yes, sir, these are battle casualties.

Q.—You are not referring to theatre illnesses and things of that character?

A.—No. From the ninth of February through the ninth of March, five-tenths of a per cent for every 100 men. From the ninth of March through the sixth of April, three-tenths of one per cent, and the sixth of April through May 4, three-tenths of one per cent, so we have had an average really from January through April of about three-tenths of a per cent per 100 per week.

Sickness Not Part Of Casualty Totals

Q.—General Marshall do you consider a casualty to be any individual who is killed or wounded or sick or hurt or lost in the combat area? A.—That is in terms of killed or wounded or missing, of course. Now what I had them go back and check carefully was whether the eliminations by serious frostbite were involved there, and they have yet to tell me, but they thought they were not in these figures.

Q.—That was the question that we had in mind. A.—When it comes to the sick out of the campaign, I think they have always exceeded the casualty rate, but in most instances those men go back because it is a temporary situation, except that during the winter campaign those that were casualties by reason of frostbite, frozen feet in particular, and those that were casualties by reason of pneumonia, they did not go back because that would render them continuously susceptible to a return of the previous difficulty.

Q.—Well, when you get an answer to your question as to whether or not the frostbite and other sickness cases are included— A.—I know the other sickness cases are not. I heard it was a possibility that maybe the frostbite was in this.

Q.—If it would not be inconvenient, I would appreciate your advice on this thing. Just a few more questions, sir. The Senator from California has asked me to ask a question which I think is pertinent. Do these figures refer to the combat area or to the communications zone as well? A.—This is the combat area.

Q.—That would be restricted to Korea itself? A.—Korea itself, and I have not given you comparative casualties. I know at one state when I was checking up on the casualties of a month here rather recently, there were 99 per cent Army and 1 per cent combined Navy and Air.

THE CHAIRMAN — Where do you place the Marine Corps?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Army and Marine Corps—ground troops.

SENATOR CAIN—I have never been in Korea, sir. You have testified that we should give no consideration to withdrawing from Korea because in part it would expose the Koreans to assassination and destruction.

I share that view of yours that we shouldn't get out unless we have to. However, if we long continue our present policy of what appears to me to be containment in Korea, will the free forces, through the use of their air, naval, and artillery power, not largely destroy all of North Korea and the civilians who live in that tragic piece of real estate?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I lost the question, part of it at the end.

Q.—If we stay where we are in Korea without forcing a decision by military arms, is it not likely, or is it not logical to assume, that a few more months of this procedure will destroy the future usefulness of all of North Korea?

A.—Well, of course, that is a factor in this matter, particularly as we have had to be ruthless in destroying buildings which shelter the enemy and conceal them from our view.

As to the hydroelectric plants and installations of that character, we have kept, we haven't bombed them out in most instances because their relation to it was not immediately so direct as to demand that destruction, and they always remained a possibility in negotiations, but here recently, when they blew out the gates of the reservoir, that affects that very directly; but that was unavoidable; that had to be done.

What Modern-Day Factors Require War Declaration?

Q.—As just a citizen, I am concerned about civilians everywhere. Military necessity has required us to do things in this Korean war that we have never had to do before, at least, so far as I know, in protecting the integrity of our own troops. As I understand it, we have had to pursue a scorched-earth policy in front of our operations just to give our own people a chance to live. A.—That is correct.

Q.—You have been known to me nearly all my life, General Marshall, as a man of the highest moral character. You will agree that we started out last June, in concert with our friends in the United Nations, to crush the enemy and to restore Korea to a united, independent, and democratic position.

You will probably agree—I think you have already so stated—that the free forces have waged war for months against the North Koreans and the Red Chinese.

Please just satisfy my deep-seated curiosity and tell me what modern-day factors require a formal declaration of war against our enemies. That is an important question, General Marshall.

A.—Not only a moral question, but it certainly bears a very direct relation to our democratic processes.

Q.—Right. A.—Reference had been made here to the constitutional right of the Congress.

Q.—I made those references, sir.

A.—That is the law, and it is inconceivable that we could have a surprise attack and gain the advantages of such a sudden procedure. With the debate in Congress that can't be done. So under our constitutional set-up that cannot be done.

Now my own reaction to it is that there is an immense advantage on the part of the nation that can move into the conflict in a moment without any formal declaration, and I think there is a much greater disadvantage in the long term as a result of having done so. So that we have to face the tremendous disadvantage of being put under attack in a moment—we don't know where. And the world knows that we cannot do that ourselves. We cannot and we would not.

Now, as I say, I have sat in a seat where I feel probably more vulnerable to the disadvantage than most people would, because you just can't tell where the event is going to break out. And yet I do feel that our great strength before the world lies in the fact that we would not do such a thing as that.

In a sense it's rather an academic discussion because our Constitution forbids it, and we are certainly not going to change the Constitution to a more violent form of action. It goes contrary to all of our feelings.

But I would say this: when you are considering that there are a great many other considerations that should come into play, and the principal one is that it should be apparent before the world that if they do seize this advantage, they are going to pay a terrific price absolutely and certainly. And that means a state of preparedness in some way that we can maintain without its destructive effect on our economy and without its unfortunate effect on our young men.

Witness Notes Problems Of Collective Action

Q.—Is this a fair question, the answer to which in my opinion could be completely off the record if that is your wish? It seems to me if we were not associated with others—and I am among those who think we ought to be associated with others—that it would be inconceivable to believe that the United States of America would be at war for ten months against ruthless enemies without the Congress recognizing that state of war officially and declaring war upon our enemy. Am I right or wrong in my anxiety over this question of morality, General?

A.—Well, there you are getting a little beyond the question of morality. You are getting around very directly, not beyond but you are getting around, it seems to me, very directly to the question of the complications of collective action. I might say that the reactions to these troublesome problems that grow out of collective action are much more emphatic among those who are trying to direct the military effort. But we have to come before the public, and we have to in a very careful manner, and we have to restrain ourselves in our dealings with our allies if we hope to be able to pursue on the basis of collective action.

Q.—General Marshall, my next question has a relation to what you have just stated.

Perhaps we have reached a state in the development of the world where official war is a thing of the past. Perhaps the best we can look forward to is an age of aggression which will never formally be recognized as being war and which will generally reach no positive decisions. Do you share any of my apprehension on this subject?

A.—I don't quite believe that, sir. Certainly some very peculiar things have gone on in these years—notably the state of what amounted to an actual war in China with the Japanese for a long period of time, which we did not recognize as a war. Of course, there were certain reasons for that, legal and others, in connection with what we might do to help in the situation, but it lead to that precedent with regard to the matter you have just questioned me on.

Q.—General Marshall, if we are to carry out our stated mission, which is to make Korea free, but remain satisfied with a war which may reach no final decision for years, will we not injure our ability to wage a larger war if it comes, and will we not indicate or run a risk of indicating to the free citizens of the world that their governments—there being a distinction I make between a citizen and his government—will we not indicate to the free citizens of the world that their free governments are unable to collectively get together to crush aggression, Korea being the first example?

A.—I believe you used the plural in there when you said "years?"

Q.—Yes, sir. A.—Well, I would say that if the Korean situation prolonged itself into years, then we are in a very difficult, very dangerous situation.

Q.—I used the word plurally because there has been no evidence yet submitted by anyone that gives any indication of when it is to be concluded.

A.—I think I referred to examples of that before, which came before committees of Congress, as to our policy in Greece and as to our policy in the Berlin blockade and other policies.

MacArthur Analysis Held 'Over-Emphasis'

Q.—Thank you, sir. Will you state what reasons you may have as to how we might reach a reasonable and lasting settlement of the Korean war without convincing the Chinese Reds that they will be decisively defeated on the field of battle? A.—I will say this—that our attitude in the matter in December was one thing, we were in a very weak position; and our attitude now is quite another.

Q.—General Marshall, General MacArthur testified and did so at some length in front of a map, that if Formosa is occupied by an enemy, that the first line of defense for the United States would logically move back to the West Coast of America. May I ask to what extent do you agree with this military estimate of that situation? A.—I think that is an over-emphasis—when you put it that way—as to the result; but I think it would be a highly dangerous business for the United States to have Formosa pass into unfriendly hands.

Q.—Thank you, sir. Two more questions. A very great deal has been said on what General MacArthur did and did not recommend either to the J. C. S. or to the public. Will you state if there is any truth whatsoever in the following comment which was recently offered about General MacArthur by a prominent person? I ask this question directly and pointedly because, to the extent we can, we seek to have fair play for every person who appears as a witness before this committee—or at least I do.

The quotation: "We are in a far better position in Korea to meet the added force of Red China with the Allied powers who are with us there than we would be in if we had to continue with what we are doing in Korea and at the same time commit the monumental folly which MacArthur said is necessary of sending an independent additional armed force from this country to the mainland of China."

I think you have testified that General MacArthur never violated a military order, and I ask you if you have ever known him to suggest or recommend committing an American ground force to the mainland of China.

A.—I recall no recommendations of that character of his.

Q.—General Marshall, I wish only to express my real appreciation for this opportunity to ask you a number of questions which are and have been of very great concern to me.

THE CHAIRMAN—General, I have one or two questions I wanted to ask while Senator Lodge is returning. I have been sitting here listening to this testimony, and I am one member of the committee that has heard practically every word that has been testified. As I understand it, North Korea borders both on Manchuria and on Soviet Russia.

GENERAL MARSHALL—That is correct.

Q.—It has been stated that this Rashin was an important distribution center for supplies that come in from Soviet Russia. How could we completely interdict the supplies that are coming from unfriendly sources to our enemies in North Korea by merely bombing in Manchuria? Would it not be necessary also to bomb communications and bases in that portion of Soviet Russia which adjoins Korea to absolutely interdict those supplies?

A.—Are you talking specifically in regard to Rashin or the whole proposition?

Q.—I am talking about the whole proposition—of the fact that Korea adjoins both Manchuria and Soviet Russia. If we bomb the bases in Manchuria, would that, even if it were completely successful—— A.—The source of supply that comes from Russia is in their industrial area, which is far back from the Manchurian frontier.

Q.—How do they bring it into Korea? Do they not have to come in through Soviet Russia? A.—Yes, sir; it comes in from Soviet Russia, goes into Manchuria and comes down on the Eastern Manchurian Railroad. What I am trying to explain, Senator, is that the source of supply comes from far back in the Soviet Union where it has its industrial set-up.

Now the bombing that has been referred to here, I believe, relates to destroying the supply accumulations that you have, depots, after it is brought down near the frontier—notably Mukden, and I presume other points to the southeast of Mukden toward Antung. Quite certainly they would have dispersed their supply depots against the possibility of air attack.

Also, I presume that they have depots that are north of Mukden—Chanchung, for example. To what degree they would have established and organized supply depots, I don't know; but the bombing genrally, I believe, that has been referred to here pertains largely to between Mukden and the Yalu frontier, and to Rashin. That is inside Korea, but very close to the frontier.

Q.—What prompted the question was your statement here the other day that if they bombed Rashin, and incidentally I believe it has been bombed on one occasion, that they would remove their supply bases a short distance away, across the frontier—and if they moved those bases across the frontier, would they be on Soviet territory, or Manchuria? A.—In that case they would be in Soviet territory.

Q.—Would be within Soviet territory? A.—However, I would like to add, Senator, that I was speaking from recollection and the Chiefs of Staff can answer that with precision, because they were the ones concerned over the matter and made the final recommendation, and they can give you the distances and facts and railroad connections which are related to the bombing, for instance, and destroying of Rashin; but as to the renewal of the same service across the boundary in Eastern Siberia——

Q.—Well, is it possible to bring supplies from Eastern Siberia directly into Korea? A.—It is, by way of Rashin.

Q.—Do the Soviets have any supply depots in Eastern Siberia? A.—Well, I presume they have—with relation to Vladivostok, and their troops on that portion of the frontier.

Q.—Well, if supplies were moved from Vladivostok to the Korean border, do you know how they would be handled? Would they be brought over Soviet territory, or would they through North Korea——

A.—That portion of the Korean border, they would be brought from Soviet territory.

Q.—The point I want to make is: Is it possible to, even if you destroy the bases in Manchuria, to completely shut off all sources of supply beyond the North Korean border, without also bombing the territory of Soviet Russia? A.—It would be possible to work considerable damage to the supplies coming down in by way of the main arteries, down through Mukden, and to the southeast, and across the Yalu River.

I would have to turn to the Chiefs of Staff to give you the exact railroad set-up, as to leading into Rashin, whether it would be a return of stores from the Vladivostok district, up to the northwest, and then into Rashin, or whether it would be supplies coming from the west, down to Rashin—I cannot answer that accurately, Senator.

Q.—I will take that up with the Joint Chiefs of Staff. All right, Senator Lodge.

SENATOR LODGE — Before I begin, Mr. Chairman, when I made the suggestion yesterday evening, I had in mind that it would shorten the initial round of questions. I certainly am not criticizing any of the members of the committee, and I think there has been very good feeling all the way around.

I simply wanted to indicate a way to a democratic and orderly procedure that might tend to shorten somewhat the proceedings, or shorten the time necessary.

Now, Mr. Secretary, if there is any question that I ask you that you would rather I would ask somebody else, I hope you will tell me; and if there is anything you want off the record, I hope that you will say so. I will begin with a few isolated questions, and then I have one or two points I would like to develop.

In response to Senator Cain, you stated that the casualty rate had been falling in Korea; and I wondered how it compared with the last six months, let's say, with the casualty rate in World War II in Europe. Do you have any idea what such a comparison would show?

A.—I don't know how we would get at that unless we took a certain phase of that war when there was a general troop advance or defense. You could take a casualty rate in the Battle of the Bulge, for example, and get a very definite rate, and there, I think, the rate of casualties was much heavier.

At the present time the casualty rate is, considering combat, very low. In the latter part of June and July and in August it was high, particularly in terms of missing. I don't know how I could answer that, Senator. I will have to look at the records and see if we can just take one piece that is comparable to the Korean action.

Q.—Yes. Would you have any idea of the ratio of American casualties to enemy casualties in this Korean war as compared with the war against the Germans? A.—I will have to get that information for you, sir.

Why Chinese Nationalists Are Not Used in Korea

Q.—I have been asked to ask you this question. Why do we still reject the use in Korea of 33,000 troops offered by the Chinese Nationalists? Do we still? Why do we still reject the use in Korea of 33,000 troops offered by the Chinese Nationalists?

A.—I think I have answered that before, but I will do it again. In the first place, the 33,000 number has rather gone out of the picture because that was the first proposal of the Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, and to which there was an unfavorable reaction both from General MacArthur and from the Chiefs of Staff reaction and the global effects.

Then later in November to 60,000 that General MacArthur, I think, expressed a desire for, and the view of the Chiefs of Staff as to that were, first, that the primary hazard there is the defense of Formosa, and in the next place, that the report that they had received, which General MacArthur's Fox committee of some thirty-seven men, indicated a state of readiness which didn't seem to be conducive of successful action by those troops, and more in particular from the record it appeared that if they were taken out and they were the best-equipped and the chosen troops, it would greatly weaken that garrison.

Q.—Is that still the position today? A.—But the main consideration, of course, was the possible effect on our relations with our allies and development of an enlarged war.

Q.—Is that still the position today? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Using hindsight, do you think it would have been better for all concerned if our military effort had stopped at the waist of Korea in the general neighborhood of the line Pyongyang-Wonsan instead of spreading out all along the northern frontier?

A.—Well, in the light of everything that has happened, yes, but I don't know as that is a fair statement.

In the first place, the movement north of the parallel by the original effort worked out to the destruction, almost complete destruction, of the North Korean army, which would seem to be a very important factor in establishing the security of the South Korean Republic and making possible a general unification of all of Korea.

Later an entirely different question was posed as to the advance of our force when there were indications of the possibility of a Communist build-up of Chinese troops, and in the light of after-events it was, I think, unfortunate.

There is the factor we determined what they had and, as General MacArthur puts it, we upset their plans and precipitated their action and made it known to us.

You have another situation, of course, in northeast Korea where the Tenth Corps was deployed over a wide area. That deployment, of course, came out of a period when General MacArthur was attempting to unify the country, t set up a basis for elections and matters of that character.

Then you come to the Monday quarterbacking on the very first moves that would be made in regrouping the entire command in the light of what was happening on the western flank directly south of the river and down towards the Thirty-eighth Parallel. I don't like to answer the question because it is awfully easy to tell what is the right thing the day after.

Q.—On March 31 THE NEW YORK TIMES published a dispatch stating that the South Korean Government was being forced to release 120,000 men [Reserves] because it lacked the means to rearm or to feed them, and it quoted President Syngman Rhee of Korea as saying that he had told the United Nations that he is prepared to supply 500,000 men in addition to the 250,000 South Koreans who are now fighting. He repeatedly asked for guns to arm at least 100,000 and hasn't been able to get them.

Do you know what the facts are about that?

A.—I have described that in some detail in relation to the approach to me by the Ambassador of the South Korean Government to the United States, and my request on the Chiefs of Staff to look in on the matter.

Their message to General MacArthur and General MacArthur's reply to them, and later communications, one within the last week, in connection with what is the advantageous use of these men, to what extent is it profitable to arm them, to what extent we can afford to arm them.

I would rather not get on the record in that matter at the present time because General Ridgway's detailed report of the last ten days presents a very complicated picture. * * * (Fourteen lines deleted.)

Bombing of Bases in China An 'Unnecessary Risk'

Q.—Thank you. You stated on Monday that the bombing of Chinese bases might, and I quote, "expose Western Europe to attack by the millions of Soviet troops poised in Middle and Eastern Europe."

Would you care to say what is the basis for the belief in that possibility?

A.—Of the effect of our bombing attack or the poised troops in——

Q.—On the fact that the bombing of these Chinese bases might result in an attack on Western Europe.

A.—Because we felt that carrying the bombing into China would certainly enlarge the struggle, enlarge the activities and might develop a situation that would be much more difficult to meet in view of the possible Soviet intervention in order to protect China.

The implication, of course, in that is that if we could eliminate the Chinese effort by bombing, that it would be a very powerful consideration in the end. But the general feeling has been that in the opinion of the Chiefs of Staff and myself and the other agencies of the Government, if we restrain our activities, restrict our activities to the Korean border and the seas alongside, that we can possibly carry on to a successful termination a limited war and more particularly one in which we hold our allies with us.

If we had no other reaction than the fact that our allies think that that would provoke a Soviet reaction, we would have to consider very, very seriously whether we just disagree with that and go ahead, the more so when we have to consider their troops on the ground serving with us and whether they would continue in such service.

However, the view is not only that of our allies but it is our own view, that it is an unnecessary risk to the situation in Korea.

Q.—Is that the principal ground, would you say, on which our allies oppose the policy of delivery of an ultimatum against the Chinese Communists, to be followed by bombing? A.—Will you repeat it, please?

Q.—Do you consider that the principal reason that actuates the allies in opposing General MacArthur's policy of an ultimatum against the Chinese Communists, to be followed by bombing, that fear that it will spread the war and result in Western Europe being invaded? A.—My hesitation is in relation to whether it is only Western Europe, but I will say it is the fear of the invasion of Western Europe.

Q.—Because they know there was a time, was there not, when there was a fear that the strength of the West might get sucked into the Orient to an undue degree, but it is definitely established now, is it now (sic), that we will not permit the major part of our forces to be engulfed in the Orient; isn't that true? A.—That is our hope.

Three Policies Called Simultaneous Need

Q.—Certainly, it is true, is it not, that our allies, generally speaking, have as great an interest as we have in success in Korea? A.—I would say certainly that and maybe more, because many of them are very close to the principal enemy, or opponent.

Q.—And our allies have, have they not, just as great an interest as we have in establishing the authority of the United Nations? A.—I would say that is a fact.

Q.—And I believe it is true, is it not, that when the aggression in Korea occurred last summer, the allies applauded our decision to resist aggression in Korea very enthusiastically. A.—I think it had a tremendo s effect all over Europe.

Q.—And, in fact, it restored the confidence in Europe in the possibility of avoiding a war, didn't it?

So it certainly seems reasonable to expect, does it not, that a really skillful and persuasive American diplomacy should be able to hold our allies together as regards a sound policy in Asia?

A.—That would be my assumption.

Q.—Must we not do three things simultaneously—we have to keep faith with our own troops, carry out the anti-aggression policy, and retain our allies—do all three. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Now, Senator Cain spoke of the contributions that the members of the United Nations were making to the fighting in Korea, which struck a responsive chord with me, because when Senator Sparkman and I were at the United Nations, it became very evident that the contributions of some nations were going to be disappointing, and I issued a statement in September, I think, saying that there wasn't anything that could shake American confidence in the United Nations more than a failure on the part of the members to put up manpower in proportion to population.

With that as a background, let me ask you: Is it not true that some nations have military commitments in addition to their commitments toward Korea, so that they are not completely free to do whatever they might like to do with regard to Korea? Isn't that true?

A.—That is true.

(* * * Twenty-four and one-half lines deleted.)

Q.—Is it not true that the contribution of other nations to the fighting in Korea is steadily increasing albiet rather slowly. A.—I think it is increasing. I think we have good prospects for further increase.

(* * * Eleven lines deleted.)

Q.—Yes. Would you say that the fighting in Indo-China had a fairly direct strategic relationship to the fighting in Korea? A.—I think it has a very direct relationship, and I think the operations in Korea in the destruction that has been effected on the Chinese Communists' supposedly picked troops has quite probably restrained action by the Communist Chinese forces on the Indo-China frontier.

Q.—Would you not say that it was vital for the Allies at least not to hamper the operations of troops by sending war materials to the enemy, even though some of them are not sending troops themselves? A.—I quite agree with that, sir.

Marshall Favors A 'Strict Embargo'

Q.—It is true, is it not, that in some cases we are obtaining valuable articles in exchange for the shipment of war materials? Do you not understand that to be the case? A.—I understand that to be the case. However, when you speak of war material, I don't think there should be any question about their not permitting any actual material. I think it is in the raw materials that we get into trouble, and some materials of a special kind. I think the time has not only come, but arrived some time back, for the Allies to enforce absolutely a strict embargo.

Q.—Upon all finished goods that have a military potential? A.—Finished goods that are directly military, and raw materials and material of that kind that can have an effect on the fighting of the Army, and there, of course, you come to the problem of endeavoring to provide materials that will only be used by the civil population, which you know full well that the civil population will certainly not get it if the Chinese Communist armies need it.

Q.—Yes. A.—So, while you have a compassionate interest in the civilian population you cannot control the Communist procedure.

Q.—I am glad to hear you make that statement. In addition to the many other ways in which allies are helpful, is it not actually essential for us to have bases in Western Europe from which our Strategic Air Force can operate against the Soviet potential in case of trouble? A.—I think that is vital.

Q.—Yes. And, therefore, we cannot make maximum use of our air power without such bases in Western Europe? A.—That is correct. We would be greatly limited.

Q.—Do you think the Kremlin has enough influence over the Chinese Communists to call off the Korean aggression if they wanted to do so? A.—My assumption would be they could do it in a moment.

Q.—So, they are really the real opponent, are they not? A.—That is our opponent.

Q.—Do you think the Russians are helping the Communist Chinese much at the present moment? A.—They are certainly providing them with the bulk of their war-making material. They have provided apparently large numbers of planes, which have not been yet brought into use, and so far as we can ascertain, they have been providing the training of the personnel that would employ these planes. To what extent they are involved in the rehabilitation and build-up of North Korean units, I don't know. They provide a very solid background in front of which the Communist Chinese forces operate. I think it might be put this way: That the Chinese Communist forces would be utterly unable to maintain themselves without a very direct support by the Soviet Government.

Q.—That is a logistical support, is it not? A.—Logistical support in terms of the actual material, war material, and tremendous moral support that they are standing behind them.

Q.—Do you think they are in a position to increase their help very materially, or do you believe that they are so far away from the main base of Russian military strength that they could not do much more even if the conflict were to broaden? A.—They could do quite a little bit more.

(Here about 800 words were deleted by the censor.)

Q.—My question is a limited question aimed at keeping faith with the troops in Korea, regardless of the American public at home, and regardless of allies or anything else, and it is aimed to get the answer to the question as to whether the decision not to bomb the Chinese bases is directly in the interests of the actual American troops in Korea.

A.—I will answer that, Senator, saying to a certain extent it is, and to a certain extent it is not, and the question is on which side the percentage would favor our troops against the restrictions as to the operations.

* * * (Eleven lines deleted).

But I must say this: That you have got to consider very carefully the situation at the time. Now, the situation about Nov. 6—no, we will say Nov. 6 to the end of the month—was one where our troops were at a tremendous disadvantage, because of the processes of the rapid build-up of the Chinese Communist forces in Korea.

There is no question in my mind but freedom to bomb across the Yalu River would have been greatly to the advantage of our troops.

Now that they are 200-and-some miles south of the Yalu, the situation is quite different.

Q.—In other words, the question of whether you bomb, or whether you don't bomb, changes constantly with the factors of time, circumstance and geography, doesn't it? A.—That is right.

Q.—And you cannot lay down an arbitrary rule that is good for all conditions, can you? A.—You cannot; and right under the present considerations, it has seemed that we derive advantages from the fact that no air operations, no hostile air operations are against us.

Q.—I am drawing to my close. It is said that the services of our men in Korea is buying time, or gaining time, for us here in the United States. Are you satisfied that we are making the best possible use of this time, in so far as creating a big enough Army, Navy and Air Force is concerned?

A.—I made a statement the other day that I was much concerned over the delay in getting the necessary legislative action to enable us to go ahead with the various measures that are concerned in the build-up of our forces and that, I think, is a delay that is regrettable and serious.

As to the production of munitions, I think that the time we need there is to allow that to go through the necessary processes; and I believe, so far as I can ascertain, that we are proceeding there with reasonable rapidity; when you get into the effect of inflationary reactions and limitations of raw materials—the withdrawals of raw materials from civil production—I am not well enough informed to answer that except that I know the inflationary reaction is serious to us because we lose the power to buy the material that was the basis of the original estimate on which the appropriation was made.

Q.—When you referred to legislation you have particularly in mind, have you not, universal military service and training, is that right? A.—Exactly that, sir.

Tactical Air Strength In Europe Brought Up

Q.—I remember that you said on Friday, in reply to Senator Johnson, that in your opinion we were not getting ready fast enough; and in connection with that, I would like to ask you whether you think the Air Force today has got enough tactical strength to provide us with a two-to-one superiority in Europe? That is, tactical aviation? A.—I will not attempt to answer that. General Vandenberg can answer that directly. He has all the numbers at his disposal.

Q.—Maybe you would not want to answer this question, either, and you can say so, of course, if you don't½ whether you think that the proposed total of ninety-five air groups which has been the Administration's proposed figure, is big enough or whether it should not be 150 air groups?

A.—My reaction to that has been that we will have time, under the present set-up that is being made, for the production of planes, to increase that, along with the situation as it appears to us as we get a little further along, because the important thing now is the rapid turnout of planes up to the ninety-five groups—that is the first thing; and the next thing is a set-up of industry in relation to that, in such a manner that they can very quickly increase production if we find that to be a necessary procedure.

I think we have that set-up well under way, and as we—— I have forgotten the date when the ninety-five groups was to come into being. Maybe you have it there?

Q.—I wasn't talking about the construction and development that has been authorized as of the end of the current fiscal year; I was talking about for the next fiscal year ending June 30, 1952.

The information that I have is that we are tremendously outnumbered in tactical aviation; that air defense is very inadequate; and in order to build up the tactical force and do the other things we need to do, we ought to have an objective, for June 30, 1952, of 150 groups, rather than 95.

A.—I wouldn't reply to that, off-hand. In these meetings on the budget, in which the Air brought forward their proposals; and all that was very lengthily discussed, and my understanding of that is, and Mr. Lovett, who presided at each of the meetings, he could answer that directly—that there was a general agreement that the set-up as proposed, was suitable to the situation—of course assuming that our outlay in additional facilities would permit a very rapid rate of increase over and above the original estimates.

Q.—Well, I always understood that the broad tactical theory of the defense of Western Europe presumed that the western nations would not have a superiority in ground forces, and that their chance of being successful lay in having mobile and highly trained ground troops who could force the enemy to channelize into certain lines where we could then strike him with overwhelming tactical air power.

Isn't that roughly correct?

A.—That is roughly correct.

Witness Questioned About Army Strength

Q.—And I have further been led to believe, and I made some rather conspicuous statements about it that nobody has challenged, that in so far as that tactical aviation is concerned, we not only do not have any superiority, but we are in a very flagrant inferiority, and that is why I asked the question. Do you consider that the proposed Army strength of eighteen divisions and eighteen regimental combat teams is big enough?

A.—At the moment it is big enough, in the sense that it is about all we can get ready hurriedly in an efficient and effective manner. There may be further increases necessary, and we have the means now of making them in a more effective manner than the original increases, which consisted of entirely new divisions and the National Guard divisions in a very limited state of training.

Now, particularly if this manpower bill is finally confirmed, we have the means of doing with considerable rapidity what we haven't done up to the present time.

I don't want to disclose at this moment just exactly what the thinking is, but there has been a very careful calculation in the matter. All I would say is that we are trying very hard to see that these things are effective, and that we don't proceed faster than we can produce the effective result. But we set up the machinery like the additional facilities—I am talking about in relation to industry—that makes it possible to make these increases very quickly in an effective manner when we feel we just must do it.

Q.—Do you not feel that we did demobilize too much and too rapidly at the end of World War II? A.—Oh, yes, sir.

Q.—And that we thereby gravely weakened our diplomatic initiative and power for peace by so doing?

A.—Yes, sir. But I would say there that the important thing was to firmly set up a system that had some chance of enduring, and the failure to do that was the most serious error of all.

Maintaining a very large force, well, I do not think it is a practical political question. But I do think the confused and tumultuous demobilization was very injurious, and I feel more strongly that the failure to establish a very definite procedure for maintaining our defensive posture was a very serious error, just as I think now is the time to do this.

'I Don't Think We Are Dragging Along'

Q.—Well, do you not think, then, we ought to, given—this is a very broad question but, after all, we have to face broad questions—given the intensity of our national tempo, we are not phlegmatic like some peoples are, and given our political institutions and our economic institutions, do you not think it would be better for us to rapidly build up our military strength and regain the diplomatic initiative we have lost, and organize the peace, and try to do it in a hurry rather than to drag along half in and half out for ten years?

A.—I don't think we are dragging along, sir. I think we are getting this thing in such a way there is some possibility that we will not suffer from these periods of indifference which seem to come so quickly and react against us very directly.

When you build up a force, the major consideration is the system under which you do it. Now, we labored, and you were a participant in the labor of developing, effective troops at the time of the last war. However, your experience was a special one because you were under an unusual driver, as man, and you were in a unit that was in no way affected by past conditions of that unit. It was a new unit, and you suffered from none of the limitations that were inherent in another system of development.

So that we went into these preparations and we had a long, unduly prolonged, period of carrying the burden of the force and not getting the advantage of it as a force.

Now I think that is a great error because you carry an immense burden. You have withdrawn manpower from industry, and you have not only withdrawn manpower from industry, but we could not get the manpower to set up the special training that was needed to replace the casualties.

You saw some of the effect of reduced units, which is a very fatal effect.

So that while it appeared to the public, maybe, that we had all these divisions on active duty, actually we were limited by the numbers. Under the conditions, if we could have set up what we have been struggling to do now, and I think are doing very successfully at the present time, this basic condition which enables us rapidly to do something effectively, it is very much better than getting a great many units on active duty when they are going to be longer, much longer, in being brought to a state of fighting efficiency.

Now that is my experience. I was forced in many ways—I say "I"; I was Chief of Staff of the Army—in going along with the immediate calling out of the entire National Guard. I wanted to delay even the way we came into the Selective Service. I was told politically that was not possible; I had to do it right now or it wouldn't work, we couldn't carry it through.

Well, that was wrong. That didn't accelerate our preparation, that almost limited it for the time being, and made the procedure one of embarrassment. We were submerged under complications, under lack of equipment, under all sorts of conditions adverse to a speedy development of efficiency. I think now we have a setup that has been very rapidly developed to enable us to do these things efficiently and effectively.

Now when do we make the next step in increases is something else that I don't want to go into right now, but I think we have a much more powerful set-up than is apparent to the public, a much more powerful set-up than is apparent to the public, and I think also we have a set-up that will enable us, I think, to maintain military strength without the shock of having appropriations cut to an extent that causes the collapse of that strength.

Now I have been criticized for talking too much about collapses, but I have seen a good many of them and I saw a very recent one, and where the criticism was not enough is being done, at the same time I couldn't get things done and there was talk of asking for too much.

Now that's all in a period of about two months. We are never going to change, so we must have something that is a workable procedure. I think we have got it.

I think the power we have developed now is far beyond the comprehension of the general public or they would bring tremendous pressure to bear I think to pass this manpower bill into an effective law as quickly as possible.

I am talking at considerable length, but I feel very strongly about it and I am almost absolutely certain I am right. I apologize for my emphasis.

Marshall Stresses Great New Power

Q.—Well, that is very, very interesting and just the kind of——

A.—The application right now to this Korean situation. Here we are going into this month where certainly in the next three or four weeks we get up to the point of 20,000 men outside of replacements for casualties can go into that force. That is more than a division a month. Well, that creates a tremendous power that has heretofore been lacking.

Q.—It means you are going to get some real rotation in Korea, doesn't it? A.—When you put in 20,000 fresh men in addition to replacement of casualties a month and the prospect of 25,000 without too long a delay, you are putting in there the equivalent of over a division. Actually that would be 7,000 men more than a division once a month. That will have a tremendous effect, and we are getting the benefit of those men who come back here with their war experience in all of the units. Now that I think is getting at an effective basis of progression.

Q.—Those men who have come back will be the seed corn for the new army, will they not? A.—They will be the experts on how you actually do it today.

SENATOR MORSE—Mr. Chairman, I would like to raise a procedural point by way of a motion to recess.

SENATOR LODGE—Will you just let me finish? I have listened to everybody else and I would like to just have a chance to finish. I won't be long.

So you think that the objective of the Army is high enough now?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—At the present moment.

Q.—One final question. Is it now true when you have American troops actually overseas such as we will have in Europe, that it is just as vital for them to have tactical aviation in support of them as it is to have artillery or machine guns or anything else? A.—Tactical aviation is absolutely essential.

Q.—And so if we haven't got the tactical superiority in Europe, we certainly ought to go ahead and get it, oughtn't we? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Thank you very much, General. A.—I am sorry I took up so much of your time.

SENATOR LODGE—I am glad you did. I think it is very valuable.

THE CHAIRMAN — Just one moment. Senator George had a question to ask. Before he does, I want to find out if any member of the committee wishes us to have the security room manned on Sunday?

SENATOR GEORGE—I don't believe we should open it up.

THE CHAIRMAN—If no one suggests that they want to use it tomorrow, why, General Mudge, will you advise the officer in charge to that effect? Senator George, you wanted to ask the general a question.

Who 'Vetoed' the Proposal On Pursuing Enemy Planes

SENATOR GEORGE—I wished to ask the general this. I asked for the initial estimate of the number of our forces and character that would be required to repel the aggression in Korea, the initial estimate, and I am not quite sure you said you would get it or that the Joint Chiefs——

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I think I recall the question, Senator George. Of course the record will show it. I called on the Joint Chiefs to give me that information.

Q.—I merely wished to know, General—— A.—I recall the question. Mr. Larkin [Felix Larkin, general counsel, Department of Defense] tells me that it went to the Chiefs of Staff.

Q.—Now I wish to ask one additional question but merely for the purpose of asking whether the facts are in the record already. You have spoken of this proposal to pursue the planes that may attack in Korea. You referred to it as the hot pursuit program, suggestion or recommendation which was vetoed by, I believe you said, thirteen nations. A.—Thirteen nations.

Q.—Did you put into the record the names of those nations? A.—They were the nations who have troops fighting with us in Korea. Those are the only ones we polled on that.

Q.—And that is in the record. They could be identified from the record already? A.—Their names, I believe, are in the record, Senator.

Q.—You think they are already in the record? A.—I gave you the name of every country that had a contribution to our forces in Korea.

Q.—And those were the ones that vetoed the hot pursuit recommendation? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Also, General, I don't know whether the record discloses the period of when that veto was taking place, over which it was taking place; is that in the record? A.—I do not think it is. We will obtain the actual dates, though the State Department can give you that accurately and can give you the reactions of the nations.

Q.—And the period of time over which you were conferring with the nations? A.—Yes.

Q.—The State Department can furnish it? A.—They were the ones who conducted the negotiations.

Q.—Very well. A.—That is one specific date in the Defense Department. That is the recommendation of the Chiefs of Staff and then the State Department went to work on the nations involved to get their acquiescence.

THE CHAIRMAN—There are a number of matters in this same status as those referred to by Senator George. I had a list of them I had asked to have prepared—haven't been able to locate them in this voluminous mass of matter I have accumulated. I had assumed, Mr. Larkin, that you or someone else was keeping a list of that. When will you be ready to respond to those questions?

MR. LARKIN—We are continually gathering the material, Mr. Chairman, and some of it is difficult to obtain or at least it takes time. I think we have responded to a majority of your written requests. There are a number of verbal requests from members which we are still working on.

THE CHAIRMAN — Among them there was one by Senator Knowland on the percentage of arms captured from the Chinese Reds that were of American manufacture as distinguished from Chinese, Russian, and German; and also Senator Knowland wanted to be informed as to whether General Barr ever insisted upon having instructions for American officers and enlisted men to go to the forward units of the Chinese Nationalist army; as to whether or not General MacArthur in January of 1945 forwarded a communication to the White House to the effect that the Japanese were contemplating complete surrender of everything but the person of the emperor; whether in the preparation for the conference at Yalta military and civilian advisers contacted General MacArtheur and Admiral Nimitz as to their views on the advisability of having the Soviet Union enter the war in the Pacific; as to whether General MacArthur was first notified about the Manchurian provisions contained in the Yalta agreement; and also by Senator Knowland, to ascertain whether the Joint Chiefs in their memorandum of Dec. 13, 1950, recommended that the armistice proposal then being considered not include any reference to the admission of Red China to the United Nations or the disposition of Formosa.

I have those listed, and I hope that the department will see that that information is furnished at the first possible date.

Correction in Record Asked by Knowland

SENATOR KNOWLAND — I have a correction in the record that won't take half a minute, If I might call it to the attention of the committee.

THE CHAIRMAN—What page?

SENATOR KNOWLAND—1415.

THE CHAIRMAN—That is in yesterday's transcript?

SENATOR KNOWLAND—Yesterday's record, on the fourth paragraph down, where I was giving basic data from the United States Department of Commerce on the amount of aid to certain countries during the war years, it read, "France, $1,770,000,000." The British Commonwealth should have read $23,904,000,000. Then the Soviet Union, $10,769,000,000; China, $1,247,000,000. That is the World War II period. Either I inadvertently picked up a wrong column here, and read Great Britain, $4,281,000,000 when it was $23,904,000,000.

THE CHAIRMAN—I made a notation here to check on that because it was inconceivable to me that that included everything.

SENATOR LODGE — I would like to request that some time in the proceedings we hear Mr. George Kennan or his estimates of the Russian intentions.

THE CHAIRMAN — Under the procedure we adopted, if you will drop me a note giving me Mr. Kennan's name and saying you want to hear him on just what you stated there, I will be very glad to proceed with it. When we proceed further with the hearings, I shall bring to the attention of the committee an entire list of all those that have been requested, and we will evolve some procedure for determining the suggested lengths to which we will go in hearing these people.

The full committee will have an opportunity to participate but I want members to please let me have them in writing and I can bring them all and have them before the committee at the proper time.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — May I make a comment?

THE CHAIRMAN—Yes, sir.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I recall in the answers I gave to Senator Cain he coupled the naval blockade with the economic blockade.

SENATOR CAIN—Yes, sir.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—My reply would indicate that I was applying it to both naval and economic. The answer applied to the economic.

SENATOR CAIN—Would you care to respond to the question as to whether or not you are in support of a naval blockade as well as an economic blockade, General?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Not at the present time, sir, not in support at the present time.

THE CHAIRMAN—The committee will now stand in recess until 2:30 this afternoon.

(Whereupon, at 1:35 P. M. [E. D. T.] the committee recessed to reconvene in the same room at 2:30 P. M. [E. D. T.].)

(370) MARSHALL SUMMARY

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL SAYS THE CHANCES OF WAR WITH RUSSIA ARE "MORE ACUTE BY FAR" IN THE PACIFIC THAN IN WESTERN EUROPE.

MARSHALL MADE THIS STATEMENT YESTERDAY AS HE GAVE TESTIMONY FOR THE FIFTH DAY BEFORE THE COMBINED SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES INVESTIGATING U.S.POLICY IN THE ORIENT AND THE OUSTER OF MARSHALL'S BROTHER FIVE-STAR OFFICER, GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR. MARSHALL WAS BEFORE THE SENATORS NEARLY SIX HOURS.

MARSHALL READ INTO THE RECORD A PARAPHRASED VERSION OF A MESSAGE DATED JAN.13 FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO MACARTHUR. TRUMAN TOLD MACARTHUR THE MESSAGE WAS "NOT TO BE TAKEN. . .AS A DIRECTIVE" THAT "ITS PURPOSE IS TO GIVE YOU SOMETHING OF WHAT IS IN OUR MINDS REGARDING POLITICAL FACTORS" ON KOREAN WAR POLICY. MARSHALL SAID IT WAS A COMPANION TO A 16-POINT TENTATIVE POLICY PROPOSAL, ON MILITARY OPERATIONS, SENT TO MACARTHUR FROM THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF JAN.12.

TRUMAN'S MESSAGE SAID:

"IN REACHING A FINAL DECISION ABOUT KOREA, I SHALL HAVE TO GIVE CONSTANT THOUGHT TO THE MAIN THREAT FROM THE SOVIET UNION AND THE NEED FOR RAPID EXPANSION OF OUR ARMED FORCES TO MEET THIS DANGER...PENDING (THIS BUILDUP...WE MUST ACT WITH GREAT PRUDENCE (AS TO) EXTENDING THE HOSTILITIES...

"STEPS WHICH MIGHT IN THEMSELVES BE JUSTIFIED (MILITARILY) WOULD NOT BE BENEFICIAL IF THEY INVOLVED JAPAN OR WESTERN EUROPE IN LARGESCALE HOSTILITIES...

"SUCCESSFUL RESISTANCE" IN KOREA WOULD "DEMONSTRATE THAT AGGRESSION WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED...PROVIDE A RALLYING POINT (FOR) THE FREE WORLD (AGAINST) THE WORLDWIDE THREAT WHICH THE SOVIET UNION NOW POSES... DEFLATE THE DANGEROUSLY EXAGGERATED POLITICAL AND MILITARY PRESTIGE OF COMMUNIST CHINA" IN ASIA AND "AFFORD MORE TIME FOR" THE BUILDUP OF RESISTANCE IN ASIA.

MARSHALL LAUDED THE JOINT CHIEFS--CHAIRMAN GEN.OMAR N.BRADLEY AND THE HEADS OF THE ARMY, NAVY AND AIR FORCE--SAYING, "I FRANKLY DOUBT THAT THIS GOVERNMENT WILL EVER BE SO FORTUNATE AS TO HAVE SUCH A COLLECTION OF EXPERIENCE AT ONE TIME IN THE CHIEFS OF STAFF."

DEFENDING LIMITED WAR IN KOREA, MARSHALL SAID: "WE ARE GOING AHEAD WITH OUR OWN MANEUVERS TO PRODUCE THE MOST ADVANTAGEOUS SITUATION WE CAN."

AT A MEETING ON APRIL 8, MARSHALL SAID, THE JOINT CHIEFS DECIDED THAT "ON PURELY MILITARY CONSIDERATIONS" MACARTHUR MUST BE DISMISSED.

OTHER POINTS MARSHALL MADE:

1. HE NEVER "IN ANY RESPECT" COUNTERMANDED RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS AS TO DISCUSSION OF FORMOSA'S FUTURE AND ENTRY OF RED CHINA INTO THE UNITED NATIONS IN ANY KOREAN CEASE-FIRE TALKS.

2. THE ADMINISTRATION FORESAW "AN EMOTIONAL WAVE" TO FOLLOW MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL BUT THOUGHT THIS WOULD BE FOLLOWED BY "SOME SOBER THINKING." THE DECISION TO FIRE MACARTHUR WAS "UNAVOIDABLE."

3 LAST JANUARY WASHINGTON OFFERED--FOR MACARTHUR TO ACCEPT OR REJECT ON HIS OWN TERMS--TO SUPPLY SMALL ARMS TO BETWEEN 200,000 AND 300,000 SOUTH KOREANS. MACARTHUR HAD SAID THESE POTENTIAL TROOPS WERE NOT ARMED BECAUSE OF DECISIONS BEYOND HIS AUTHORITY.

MARSHALL HIGHLIGHTS

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-HERE ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS OF SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY BEFORE THE COMBINED ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE TODAY.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ARE TAKEN FROM THE CENSORED RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS. THE HEARING IS CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC.

SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH): SINCE THE CONSTITUTION STATES THAT CONGRESS SHALL HAVE THE POWER, AND I QUOTE "TO MAKE RULES FOR THE GOVERNMENT, AND REGULATIONS OF THE LAND AND NAVAL FORCES," DO YOU WISH YOUR TESTIMONY OF RECENT DAYS TO STAND, THAT NO COMMANDER OF HIGH RANK SHOULD FURNISH TO A MEMBER OF CONGRESS, AND PARTICULARLY TO A MINORITY LEADER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, INFORMATION THAT MAY BE SOUGHT FROM THAT COMMANDER?

SECRETARY MARSHALL: I WOULD HAVE TO QUALIFY THAT TO THE EXTENT OF SAYING THAT YOU HAD A VERY SPECIAL SITUATION HERE, IN WHICH THE VIEWS OF THE SUPREME COMMANDER IN THE FIELD WERE IN DIRECT CONTRAST TO THAT OF THE ADMINISTRATION, AND HAD, IN VARIOUS WAYS, BEEN GIVEN PUBLIC NOTICE, TO OUR EMBARRASSMENT IN OUR RELATIONS WITH OUR ALLIES AND IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF FEARS AMONG THOSE ALLIES. XXXX HERE WAS A WORLD POSITION OF THE SUPREME COMMANDER OF THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES AND HERE WAS THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES AS THE EXECUTIVE AGENT FOR THOSE UNITED NATION FORCES, AND THE DECLARATIONS ONE WAY OR THE OTHER BY THAT SUPREME COMMANDER HAVE TO BE VERY INTIMATELY RELATED TO THAT.

CAIN: DO YOU, GENERAL MARSHALL, WITHHOLD FROM THIS JOINT COMMITTEE ANY INFORMATION OR COMMENT BECAUSE IT MIGHT SEEM TO REFLECT UPON THE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION IN POWER WHICH YOU HAVE CALLED THE CONSTITUTED AUTHORITY?

MARSHALL: THAT WAS NOT MY INTENTION WHATEVER AND I DON'T THINK I CAN RECALL ANYTHING THAT I HAVE WITHHELD ALONG THAT LINE.

CAIN: MAY I ASK IF THE DISMISSAL OF GEN.MACARTHUR WAS DISCUSSED BY THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL?

MARSHALL: IT WAS NOT.

CAIN: MAY I ASK, GENERAL--FOR I THINK THIS QUESTION IS VERY IMPORTANT--WHY IT WAS NOT, WHEN I BEAR IN MIND WHAT YOU HAVE JUST READ TO THIS COMMITTEE, A PART OF WHICH CHARGES THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL WITH ADVISING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES WITH RESPECT TO THE INTEGRATION OF DOMESTIC, FOREIGN AND MILITARY POLICIES RELATING TO THE NATIONAL SECURITY XXX? IT IS MY INTERPRETATION OF THE STATUTE XXX THAT THERE WAS EVERY REASON TO BELIEVE THAT THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL WAS REQUIRED TO CONSIDER THE QUESTION OF GEN.MACARTHUR'S REMOVAL IN THE INTERESTS OF NATIONAL SECURITY. I MAY BE WRONG.

A180WX

MARSHALL: I THINK THAT IS A MATTER OF OPINION,SIR. I DO NOT THINK SO.

CAIN: I KNOW XXX THAT THE SECRETARY OF THE ARMY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DISCIPLINE AND MORALE OF THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES. WOULD YOU TELL ME HOW A DECISION WOULD BE REACHED TO RELIEVE GENERAL MACARTHUR WITHOUT CONSULTATION BY THE JCS (JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF) AND OTHERS IN HIGH AUTHORITY WITH THE SECRETARY OF THE ARMY?

MARSHALL: IN THE FIRST PLACE, THE SECRETARY OF THE ARMY WAS NOT HERE (BEING IN KOREA), AND IN THE NEXT PLACE, AS I ENDEAVORED TO EXPLAIN YESTERDAY. GEN.MACARTHUR WAS NOT SERVING UNDER THE SECRETARY

OF THE ARMY; HE WAS SERVING NOT ONLY AS A COMMANDER OF THE UNITED STATES AIR, NAVAL AND ARMY FORCES IN KOREA, BUT ALSO AS THE COMMANDER OF THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES IN KOREA.

CAIN: GEN.MARSHALL, WERE THE VIEWS OF EITHER THE CIVILIAN SECRETARY OF THE NAVY OR THE CIVILIAN SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCES REQUESTED IN CONNECTION WITH THE DISMISSAL OF GEN.MACARTHUR?

MARSHALL: NOT TO MY KNOWLEDGE.

CAIN: I HAVE GATHERED THEN FROM YOUR ANSWERS XXX THAT NO CIVILIAN WITHIN THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE OR THE DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY WAS CONSULTED OR HAD ANY INFLUENCE IN THE DISMISSAL OF GEN.MACARTHUR. IS THAT CORRECT,SIR?

MARSHALL: I AM SUPPOSED TO BE THE CIVILIAN SECRETARY OF DEFENSE.

CAIN: UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH PERTAIN, THOUGH THE CHIEF OF STAFF OF EACH OF THE SERVICES IS IN HIMSELF SUBORDINATE TO THE CIVILIAN HEAD OF EACH OF THESE THREE SERVICES, NONE OF THE CIVILIANS WERE CONFERRED OR CONSULTED WITH OR HAD ANY PART TO PLAY IN A GREAT QUESTION WHICH INVOLVED BASICALLY THE NATIONAL SECURITY OF OUR COUNTRY. I THINK IT IS A BAD PROCEDURE,SIR.

CAIN: X X X GEN. MACARTHUR HAS PROBABLY TURNED MORE SWORDS INTO USEFUL PLOWSHARES THAN ANY OTHER MILITARY FIGURE IN HISTORY. ALL OF USE RECOGNIZED GEN. MACARTHUR TO BE AN OUTSTANDING WORLD MILITARY LEADER, AND ONE OF THE GREATEST AMERICANS OF ALL TIME. DID YOU, SIR, OR OTHERS IN YOUR PRESENCE, APPRECIATE AND UNDERSTAND THAT THE METHOD YOU AND OTHERS HAD IN MIND FOR REMOVING GEN. MACARTHUR WOULD DESTROY HIS USEFULNESS AS A NATIONAL LEADER WITHIN THE ADMINISTRATION IN THIS CONTINUING DAY OF CRISIS?

MARSHALL: THE SERIOUS CONSIDERATIONS THAT WERE DISCUSSED WITHIN MY RECOLLECTION RELATED TO THE IMMEDIATE REACTIONS THAT WOULD FLOW FROM HIS RELIEF, AND WHICH I THINK WE HAD A CORRECT ESTIMATE OF, AND VERY PARTICULARLY THE REACTIONS OF HIS ARMY, WHICH WAS THE MOST IMPORTANT REACTION OF ALL TO BE CONSIDERED. BEYOND THAT, I DO NOT THINK THE DISCUSSION WENT.

MAY 13 1951

CAIN: ARE THE UNITED STATES AND OUR ALLIES IN WESTERN EUROPE NOT PROCEEDING ON THE ASSUMPTION THAT AN AGGRESSION IS NOT LIKELY TO TAKE PLACE IN WESTERN EUROPE UNTIL THE ALLIES HAVE CREATED AN ADEQUATE DEFENSE ESTABLISHMENT?

MARSHALL: TO THAT I WOULD SAY CERTAINLY, SO FAR AS THE OFFICIALS INVOLVED IN THIS MATTER IN THIS GOVERNMENT ARE CONCERNED, OUR PRESENT CONCEPTION IS THAT WE CAN NEVER TELL AT WHAT MOMENT THE REACTION FROM RUSSIA MIGHT COME.

CAIN: IS THERE ANY REASON TO BELIEVE, ON THE BASIS OF YOUR INTELLIGENCE REPORTS, THAT AN AGGRESSOR IS PRESENTLY THREATENING TO INVADE WESTERN EUROPE?

MARSHALL: THE IMPRESSION FROM THE REPORTS THAT WE GATHER FROM MANY SOURCES IS THERE HAS BEEN A CONTINUOUS BUILD-UP AND NOT NECESSARILY IN STRENGTH, THOUGH IT MAY BE, BUT PARTICULARLY IN ARRANGEMENTS, SPECIFICALLY IN THE SATELLITE STATES, AND IN REGARD TO DISPOSITIONS OF SOVIET TROOPS IN WESTERN EUROPE, AND AS TO SOVIET INCREASES IN STRENGTH, AS WE UNDERSTAND THEM, IN THE FAR EAST.

CAIN: GEN. MARSHALL, IS IT NOT GENERALLY AGREED THAT AMERICA AND HER WESTERN EUROPEAN ALLIES WOULD BECOME IMMEDIATELY INVOLVED IN WAR IF AN AGGRESSOR OCCUPIED BERLIN OR ANY PART OF WESTERN EUROPE BY FORCE?

MARSHALL: I WOULD ASSUME SO.

CAIN: HOW WOULD YOU CHARACTERIZE THE CONFLICT IN KOREA? IS IT, IN YOUR OPINION, A POLICE ACTION OR A WAR. AND IF IT IS A WAR, WOULD YOU DEFINE IT TO BE A LARGE OR A SMALL WAR?

MARSHALL: I WOULD CHARACTERIZE IT AS A LIMITED WAR WHICH I HOPE WILL REMAIN LIMITED.

SENATOR LODGE (R-MASS): WOULD YOU NOT SAY THAT IT WAS VITAL FOR THE ALLIES AT LEAST NOT TO HAMPER THE OPERATIONS OF TROOPS BY SENDING WAR MATERIALS TO THE ENEMY, EVEN THOUGH SOME OF THEM ARE NOT SENDING TROOPS THEMSELVES?

MARSHALL: X X X I THINK THE TIME HAS NOT ONLY COME, BUT ARRIVED SOME TIME BACK, FOR THE ALLIES TO ENFORCE ABSOLUTELY A STRICT EMBARGO.

(200) MAJOR ISSUES

WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-AT LEAST FIVE MAJOR ISSUES HAVE EMERGED FROM NINE DAYS OF TESTIMONY BY GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR AND SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL, SENATOR RUSSELL (D-GA) TOLD REPORTERS LATE TODAY.

RUSSELL HAS BEEN PRESIDING AT THE SENATE INQUIRY INTO FIRING OF GENERAL MACARTHUR BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND RELATED ISSUES.

RUSSELL LISTED THE POINTS IN CONFLICT THIS WAY:

1. SHARP DIFFERENCES BETWEEN GEN.MACARTHUR AND THE ADMINISTRATION "AS TO THE METHODS FOR WAGING THE WAR IN KOREA."
2. QUESTIONS AS "TO THE WISDOM OF FIRING GEN.MACARTHUR AND AS TO THE NECESSITY AND THE METHOD USED."
3. SHARP DIFFERENCES AS TO WHETHER EXTENSION OF THE KOREAN WAR WOULD "INVOLVE RUSSIA IN THAT WAR."
4. DIFFERENCES AS TO THE STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE OF FORMOSA. "ALTHOUGH SECRETARY MARSHALL NOW SAYS THE ADMINISTRATION NEVER PLANNED TO LET THE COMMUNISTS TAKE IT, HE DIFFERS WITH GEN.MACARTHUR AS TO ITS VALUE."
5. QUESTIONS AS TO THE EFFECT UPON THE JAPANESE TREATY AND JAPANESE PEOPLE OF THE REMOVAL OF GEN.MACARTHUR.

RUSSELL TOLD NEWSMEN "OUR COMMITTEES WILL HAVE GREAT DIFFICULTY IN REACHING DECISIONS OR AGREEMENTS ON SUCH THINGS AS METHODS OF CONDUCTING THE WAR."

"WE LACK THE MILITARY BACKGROUND REQUIRED FOR ANSWERS BUT SOME MEMBERS PROBABLY WILL HAVE THEM," HE ADDED.

MARSHALL-JAPAN

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY HE FEELS THERE IS "A GREAT THREAT TO JAPAN" FROM RUSSIA'S BUILD UP OF FORCES IN THE FAR EAST.

"IT WAS THAT REASON IN PARTICULAR," HE TOLD SENATORS, "THAT CAUSE ME TO EXERCISE CONSIDERABLE PRESSURE TO HAVE THE TWO DIVISIONS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD SENT OUT TO HOKKAIDO. GENERAL MACARTHUR HAD ASKED FOR FOUR DIVISIONS AT AN EARLIER PERIOD WHEN THERE WERE NONE AVAILABLE."

MARSHALL WAS TESTIFYING AT SENATE HEARINGS ON GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL. SENATOR FLANDERS (R-VT) HAD QUESTIONED HIM ABOUT HIS TESTIMONY EARLIER THIS WEEK THAT RUSSIA RECENTLY HAS BEEN BUILDING UP ITS FORCES IN SAKHALIN AND IN THE VICINITY OF VLADIVOSTOK, PORT ARTHUR AND CARIEN.

HOKKAIDO IS THE NORTHERN MOST ISLAND IN THE JAPANESE CHAIN. SAKHALIN IS A SOVIET ISLAND NEAR HOKKAIDO.

MARSHALL SAID HIS OWN FEAR WAS "VERY GREAT THAT OUR HAZARD WAS THERE, AND WE SHOULD TERMINATE IT AS QUICKLY AS WE COULD DO IT."

AT THAT POINT THE CENSOR KNOCKED OUT 20 WORDS OF MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY.

MARSHALL-FORMOSA (150)
WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY IT WOULD BE HIGHLY DANGEROUS FOR THE ISLAND OF FORMOSA TO FALL INTO UNFRIENDLY HANDS, BUT HE TESTIFIED HE THOUGHT THE EFFECT HAD BEEN OVER-EMPHASIZED BY GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

AT SENATE HEARINGS ON MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL, SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH.) SAID MACARTHUR HAD TESTIFIED THAT IF FORMOSA IS OCCUPIED BY AN ENEMY, THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE FOR THE UNITED STATES WOULD LOGIALL MOV

ENEMY, THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE FOR THE UNITED STATES WOULD LOGICALLY MOVE BACK TO THE WEST COAST OF THE UNITED STATES.

"TO WHAT EXTENT DO YOU AGREE WITH THIS MILITARY ESTIMATE OF THAT SITUATION?" CAIN ASKED MARSHALL.

MARSHALL REPLIED:

"I THINK THAT IS AN OVER-EMPHASIS--WHEN YOU PUT IT THAT WAY--AS TO THE RESULT. BUT I THINK IT WOULD BE A HIGHLY DANGEROUS BUSINESS FOR THE UNITED STATES TO HAVE FORMOSA PASS INTO UNFRIENDLY HANDS."

MARSHALL HAD TESTIFIED EARLIER IN THE HEARINGS THAT IT IS THE UNWAVERING POLICY OF THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION TO KEEP FORMOSA FROM FALLING INTO UNFRIENDLY HANDS.

(190) MARSHALL -SURPRISE ATTACK
WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL SAID TODAY THE ADVANTAGE A NATION GAINS BY LAUNCHING A SURPRISE ATTACK IS OUTWEIGHED IN THE LONG RUN BY "A MUCH GREATER DISADVANTAGE."

"OUR GREAT STRENGTH BEFORE THE WORLD LIES IN THE FACT THAT WE WOULD NOT DO SUCH A THING AS THAT," HE TOLD SENATORS AT AN INQUIRY INTO FAR EASTERN POLICIES.

MARSHALL SAID ITT AAS JEKINCONCEIVABLE" THAT THIS COUNTRY COULD LAUNCH A SURPRISE ATTACK. IT NOT ONLY WOULD DO IT, HE SAID, BUT UNDER ITS CONSTITUTIONAL SET UP IT COULD NOT BE DONE. HE CONTINUED;

"NOW MY OWN REACTION TO IT IS THAT THERE IS AN IMMENSE ADVANTAGE ON THE PART OF THE NATION THAT CAN MOVE INTO THE CONFLICT IN A MOMENT WITHOUT ANY FORMAL DECLARATION, AND I THINK THERE IS A MUCH GREATER DISADVANTAGE IN THE LONG TERM AS A RESULT OF HAVING DONE SO.

"SO THAT WE HAVE TO FACE THE TREMENDOUS DISADVANTAGE OF BEING PUT UNDER ATTACK IN A MOMENT -- WE DON'T KNOW WHERE. AND THE WORLD KNOWS THAT WE CAN NOT DO THAT OURSELVES. WE CAN NOT AND WE WOULD NOT.

THEN HE ADDED:

"BUT I WOULD SAY THIS: WHEN YOU ARE CONSIDERING THAT THERE ARE A GREAT MANY OTHER CONSIDERATIONS THAT SHOULD COME INTO PLAY, AND THE PRINCIPAL ONE IS THAT IT SHOULD BE APPARENT BEFORE THE WORLD THAT IF THEY DO SEIZE THIS ADVANTAGE, THEY ARE GOING TO PAY A TERRIBLE PRICE ABSOLUTELY AND CERTAINLY."

MARSHALL-WAR
WASHINGTON, MAY 10-(AP)-TO SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL, THE CONFLICT IN KOREA IS "A LIMITED WAR WHICH I HOPE WILL REMAIN LIMITED."

THAT WAS HIS REPLY WHEN SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH) ASKED HIM TODAY IF HE WOULD CALL IT A POLICE ACTION--AS PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS DONE--OR A WAR.

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR TOLD SENATE INVESTIGATORS LAST WEEK THAT IN HIS VIEW THE KOREAN CONFLICT WAS WAR FROM THE BEGINNING. HE DID NOT QUALIFY IT BY ANY SUCH WORD AS "LIMITED."

WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL EXPRESSED HIMSELF TODAY AS "ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN" THE COMMUNIST OBJECTIVE IS THE COMPLETE DOMINATION OF THE WORLD.

AND IN ANSWER TO A QUESTION BY SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH.) AS TO WHETHER HE SAW ANY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN RUSSIAN, CHINESE OR AMERICAN COMMUNISTS, MARSHALL SAID:

"MY OWN REACTION IS THAT THE CHINESE COMMUNIST LEADERSHIP IS IDENTICAL WITH THE SOVIET COMMUNISTS AND THESE GROUPS IN AMERICA."

THEY ALL HAVE THE SAME OBJECTIVES BUT EMPLOY DIFFERENT MEANS, ACCORDING TO THE CIRCUMSTANCES, HE SAID.

THE DEFENSE SECRETARY WAS TESTIFYING AT SENATE HEARINGS ON THE DISMISSAL OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

MARSHALL-BOMBING
WASHINGTON, MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SUGGESTED TODAY THERE MIGHT HAVE BEEN HEAVY PUNISHMENT OF AMERICAN FORCES WITHDRAWING BY SEA FROM NORTHEAST KOREA LAST JANUARY IF BOTH SIDES IN THE WAR HAD BEEN BOMBING FREELY.

HE SAID THAT FIGURED IN DISCUSSIONS BY THE CHIEFS OF STAFF AT THE TIME ABOUT POSSIBLE BOMBING OF CHINESE BASES AND SUPPLY ROUTES.

WHEN THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS LAUNCHED THEIR NOVEMBER OFFENSIVE, THE U.S. TENTH CORPS WAS IN NORTHEAST KOREA. IT MADE A FIGHTING WITHDRAWAL TO HUNGNAM WHERE THE TROOPS WERE EVACUATED TO SOUTHERN KOREA.

TESTIFYING BEFORE SENATE INVESTIGATORS, MARSHALL SAID:

"WE DIDN'T WANT ANY RISK OF RETALIATORY BOMBING ON OUR BRIDGEHEAD, BEACHHEAD, ON THE NORTHEASTERN COAST OF KOREA WHERE OUR LOSSES MIGHT HAVE BEEN TERRIFIC IN SHIPPING AND EVACUATION."

AT THIS POINT, CENSORSHIP DELETED 100 WORDS. THEN MARSHALL CONTINUED:

"WE HAD A VERY COMPACT TARGET, THE SHIPS TIED UP TO THE DOCKS, A VERY VULNERABLE TARGET, AND WE COULD HAVE BEEN DONE CONSIDERABLE HARM.

"WE WENT AHEAD WITH OUR EFFORT TO GET ACTION TO MEET THE SITUATION ON THE YALU, BUT WE REALIZED AS WE TALKED ABOUT IT THAT WE MIGHT GET INTO DEEP TROUBLE IN THIS BEACHHEAD WHERE WE WERE EVACUATING."

"I RECALL NO RECOMMENDATIONS OF THAT CHARACTER OF HIS," MARSHALL SAID AT SENATE HEARINGS TODAY IN RESPONSE TO QUESTIONS FROM SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH).

SOME CRITICS OF GENERAL MACARTHUR HAVE SUGGESTED HIS KOREAN WAR PROGRAM WOULD LEAD TO INVOLVING MASSES OF AMERICAN TROOPS ON THE CHINA MAINLAND.

MACARTHUR HIMSELF DENIED TO SENATORS INVESTIGATING HIS DISMISSAL FROM THE FAR EASTERN COMMANDS THAT HE EVER PROPOSED SENDING AMERICAN GROUND FORCES INTO CHINA.

MARSHALL-KOREA ADVANCE

WASHINGTON,MAY 11-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY THAT "IN THE LIGHT OF EVERYTHING THAT HAS HAPPENED" IT WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER IF THE U.N.FORCES HAD HALTED THEIR NORTHWARD ADVANCE LAST FALL IN THE "NARROW WAIST" OF KOREA, INSTEAD OF SPREADING OUT ALONG KOREA'S NORTHERN FRONTIER.

HOWEVER, HE QUALIFIED THIS TESTIMONY TO SENATORS INVESTIGATING GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S DISMISSAL BY SAYING:

"IN THE FIRST PLACE, THE MOVEMENT NORTH OF THE (38TH) PARALLEL BY THE ORIGINAL EFFORT WORKED OUT TO THE DESTRUCTION, ALMOST COMPLETE DESTRUCTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN ARMY--WHICH WOULD SEEM TO BE A VERY IMPORTANT FACTOR IN ESTABLISHING THE SECURITY OF THE SOUTH KOREAN REPUBLIC AND MAKING POSSIBLE A GENERAL UNIFICATION OF ALL OF KOREA."

MARSHALL WENT ON TO SAY:

"LATER AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT QUESTION WAS POSED AS TO THE ADVANCE OF OUR FORCE WHEN THERE WERE INDICATIONS OF THE POSSIBILITY OF A COMMUNIST BUILDUP OF CHINESE TROOPS, AND IN THE LIGHT OF AFTER EVENTS IT WAS, I THINK, UNFORTUNATE.

"THERE IS THE FACTOR (THAT) WE DETERMINED WHAT THEY HAD AND, AS GEN.MACARTHUR PUTS IT, WE UPSET THEIR PLANS AND PRECIPITATED THEIR ACTION AND MADE IT KNOWN TO US.

"YOU HAVE ANOTHER SITUATION, OF COURSE, IN NORTHEAST KOREA, WHERE THE 10TH CORPS WAS DEPLOYED OVER A WIDE AREA. THAT DEPLOYMENT, OF COURSE, CAME OUT OF A PERIOD WHEN GEN.MACARTHUR WAS ATTEMPTING TO UNIFY THE COUNTRY, TO SET UP A BASIS FOR ELECTIONS AND MATTERS OF THAT CHARACTER.

"THEN YOU COME TO THE MONDAY QUARTERBACKING ON THE VERY FIRST MOVES THAT WOULD BE MADE IN REGROUPING THE ENTIRE COMMAND IN THE LIGHT OF WHAT WAS HAPPENING ON THE WESTERN FLANK DIRECTLY SOUTH OF THE RIVER AND DOWN TOWARDS THE 38TH PARALLEL. I DON'T LIKE TO ANSWER THE QUESTION BECAUSE IT IS AWFULLY EASY TO TELL WHAT IS THE RIGHT THING THE DAY AFTER."

THEN FLANDERS SAID TO SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL:

FIRST LEAD MARSHALL-CASUALTIES

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SENATOR GILLETTE (D-IOWA) TOLD SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL TODAY "IT SEEMS DEPLORABLE" THAT UN FORCES FIGHTING IN KOREA "HAVE SUFFERED CASUALTIES OF APPROXIMATELY 25 PER CENT OF THE TROOPS ENGAGED."

MARSHALL, TESTIFYING BEFORE THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES-FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE AT THE MACARTHUR HEARINGS, DID NOT CHALLENGE THE PERCENTAGE FIGURE.

"TO ME IT SEEMS DEPLORABLE," GILLETTE SAID, "THAT WITH PRACTICAL LACK OF AIR FORCE THROWN AGAINST OUR MEN IN KOREA, OR THE UNITED NATIONS' ARMY, THAT WE HAVE SUFFERED CASUALTIES OF APPROXIMATELY 25 PER CENT OF THE TROOPS ENGAGED.

"IS IT NOT TRUE THAT IS A VERY UNUSUAL PERCENTAGE IN THE TYPE OF WARFARE WE ARE CONDUCTING THERE?"

MARSHALL'S REPLY:

"I THINK THE LARGER PORTIONS OF THOSE CASUALTIES DEVELOPED DURING A PERIOD WHEN WE WERE TREMENDOUSLY OUTNUMBERED.

"THE CASUALTIES, FOR EXAMPLE, IN THE FEW DAYS OF JUNE WERE AS HIGH, ALMOST, AS ANY MONTH IN THE WAR. THE INVASION DIDN'T BEGIN UNTIL THE 25TH OF JUNE. THE CASUALTIES IN JULY AND AUGUST WERE VERY HEAVY, AND A VERY CONSIDERABLE PERCENTAGE OF THOSE WERE MEN MISSING IN ACTION, PRESUMABLY PRISONERS.

"NOW, WHEN YOU COME AROUND TO THE TYPE OF WARFARE WE ARE NOW ENGAGED IN, OF THE PAST THREE MONTHS, THOSE CASUALTIES, THOSE CASUALTY RATES, HAVE BEEN VERY GREATLY REDUCED."

EARLIER MARSHALL HAD TESTIFIED THAT THE CASUALTY RATE "PER 100 MEN PER WEEK" AMONG U.S. TROOPS FIGHTING IN KOREA HAS DROPPED SHARPLY IN THE PAST TWO MONTHS, AND THAT IT IS, "CONSIDERING COMBAT, VERY LOW."

MARSHALL-INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SECRETARY MARSHALL SAID TODAY IT WILL BE A LONG TIME BEFORE THIS COUNTRY'S CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY IS DEVELOPED "TO THE POINT WHERE IT CAN GIVE US MORE ACCURATE REPORTS."

ONE REASON, MARSHALL SAID, IS THAT EVERYBODY KEEPS TALKING ABOUT THE C.I.A. AND "IF OTHER COUNTRIES KNOW WHAT WE ARE ABOUT, WE DON'T GET ANYTHING ALONG THAT PARTICULAR LINE."

BY CONTRAST, MARSHALL SAID, GREAT BRITAIN AND SOME OTHER COUNTRIES HAVE INTELLIGENCE UNITS THAT "YOU NEVER HEAR OF."

"IF IS JUST KEP ENTIRELY OUT OF DISCUSSION AND COMMENT," THE DEFENSE SECRETARY TOLD SENATORS AT THE MACARTHUR HEARING, "AND WE HAVE A LONG WAY TO GO TO REACH THE POINT WHERE WE HAVE MORE AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES."

THE DISCUSSION BEGAN WHEN SENATOR STENNIS (D-MISS) COMMENTED THAT U.S. INTELLIGENCE REPORTS FAILED TO INDICATE A CHINESE COMMUNIST INVASION OF KOREA WAS IMMINENT AT THE TIME OF THE WAKE ISLAND CONFERENCE LAST OCTOBER.

THE DEFENSE SECRETARY TOLD SENATE INVESTIGATORS RIDGWAY "WAS TAKING SOME RISKS IN THE WAY HE WAS MOVING ABOUT IN HIS THEATER, AND FLYING UP TO ADVANCE POSTS THERE."
AS A RESULT, MARSHALL SAID, THE PENTAGON THOUGHT IT "MUST HAVE ANOTHER MAN IMMEDIATELY AVAILABLE IN CASE GEN.RIDGWAY MET WITH SOME ACCIDENT OR BECAME A CASUALTY."
VAN FLEET SUCCEEDED RIDGWAY AS EIGHTH ARMY COMMANDER WHEN RIDGWAY REPLACED GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR AS SUPREME COMMANDER IN THE FAR EAST.

HE CRITICIZED THE "CONFUSED AND TUMULTUOUS" DEMOBILIZATION AFTER WORLD WAR II AND ADDED:
"I FEEL MORE STRONGLY THAT THE FAILURE TO ESTABLISH A VERY DEFINITE PROCEDURE FOR MAINTAINING OUR DEFENSIVE POSTURE WAS A VERY SERIOUS ERROR, JUST AS I THINK NOW IS THE TIME TO DO THIS.
"WHEN YOU BUILD UP A FORCE, THE MAJOR CONSIDERATION IS THE SYSTEM UNDER WHICH YOU DO IT."
MARSHALL TOLD THE SENATE'S ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES THAT LACK OF A SYSTEM AT THE BEGINNING OF THE LAST WAR UNDULY PROLONGED THE PERIOD "OF CARRYING THE BURDEN OF THE FORCE AND NOT GETTING THE ADVANTAGE OF IT AS A FORCE".
HE SAID THAT IF THE PUBLIC UNDERSTOOD THE MERITS OF THE CASE "THEY WOULD BRING TREMENDOUS PRESSURE TO BEAR I THINK TO PASS THIS MANPOWER BILL INTO AN EFFECTIVE LAW AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE." THEN THE SECRETARY SAID:
"I AM TALKING AT CONSIDERABLE LENGTH, BUT I FEEL VERY STRONGLY ABOUT IT AND I AM ALMOST ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN I AM RIGHT."
BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS HAVE PASSED MODIFIED VERSIONS OF THE ADMINISTRATION'S DRAFT AND UNIVERSAL SERVICE MEASURE. THE DIFFERENCES IN THE TWO BILLS ARE NOW BEING IRONED OUT IN A SENATE-HOUSE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, WHICH HAS CARRIED ON ITS WIRE THE COMPLETE TESTS OF BOTH MEN'S TESTIMONY, HAD SLIGHTLY LOWER ESTIMATES OF THE WORD COUNTS, BASED ON THE TIME REQUIRED TO TRANSMIT THE TRANSCRIPT ON ITS 50-WORDS-A-MINUTE TELEPRINTERS.
SENATOR FULBRIGHT (D-ARK), QUESTIONING THE GENERAL THIS AFTERNOON, REMARKED:
"GENERAL MARSHALL'S VOICE IS EXHAUSTED XXX HE SOUNDS JUST LIKE I FEEL AFTER I HAVE BEEN TALKING FOR FOUR OR FIVE HOURS AT A STRETCH."
THE NUMBER OF WORDS DELETED FOR SECURITY REASONS FROM MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY WAS 2,800, OR ONE AND FOURTH-TENTHS PERCENT OF THE TOTAL.
THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT CENSOR HAD DELETED, THROUGH YESTERDAY, 6,600 WORDS OF MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY, OR THREE AND EIGHT-TENTHS PERCENT OF THE TOTAL.

MACARTHUR-TIME

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SENATORS INQUIRING INTO THE DISMISSAL OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR ARE CONSIDERING SOME RULE TO LIMIT QUESTIONING IN ORDER TO SPEED UP THEIR HEARINGS.

TODAY WAS THE NINTH DAY OF HEARINGS AND ONLY TWO WITNESSES HAVE BEEN QUESTIONED -- MACARTHUR HIMSELF AND SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE C. MARSHALL.

SENATOR MORSE (R-ORE) HAS SUGGESTED THAT EACH OF THE 26 MEMBERS OF THE INQUIRY PANEL BE LIMITED TO HALF AN HOUR ON THE FIRST ROUND OF QUESTIONING. IF THEY WERE NOT SATISFIED, THERE WOULD BE A SECOND ROUND, WITH EACH SENATOR AGAIN LIMITED TO HALF AN HOUR.

SENATOR LODGE (R-MASS) PROPOSED 15 MINUTES ON THE FIRST ROUND. SENATOR LONG (D-LA) SUGGESTED HALF AN HOUR ON THE FIRST ROUND AND UNLIMITED TIME ON THE SECOND.

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL (D-GA) SAID HE WILL TRY TO GET SOME DECISION ON THESE PROPOSALS BEFORE THE COMMITTEES GO AHEAD WITH THEIR THIRD WITNESS, SCHEDULED TO BE GEN. OMAR BRADLEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.

KERR-MACARTHUR

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-SENATOR KERR (D-OKLA) SAID TODAY THAT REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS "WHO USED GEN. MACARTHUR FOR ALL HE WAS WORTH" IN THE HOPE OF A PARTY PRESIDENTIAL VICTORY NEXT YEAR, ARE NOW "READY TO PASS HIM UP".

"THE REPUBLICANS JUMPED INTO THE MACARTHUR CONTROVERSY THINKING IT WAS A BAND WAGON TO ROLL THEM INTO THE WHITE HOUSE IN 1952," KERR SAID IN A STATEMENT. "NOW THEY JUMP OUT BECAUSE IT LOOKS LIKE THE OLD FAMILIAR HEARSE READY TO HAUL THEM BACK TO THE POLITICAL GRAVEYARD."

HE DECLARED THAT THE REPUBLICAN PARTY "HAS CAUGHT ONTO THE FACT THAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE DO NOT WANT TO FOLLOW GEN. MACARTHUR INTO AN ALL-OUT WAR ON THE MAINLAND OF CHINA."

ACCORDING TO REPORTS HE HAD READ AND RECEIVED, KERR STATED, "THIS SUDDEN CHANGE OF FACE SHOWED UP PLAINLY" AT A MEETING OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE IN TULSA, OKLA., THIS WEEKEND.

"IN THE PRESIDENTIAL PUSH," KERR STATED, "SENATOR TAFT WAS SAID TO BE LOSING GROUND WITH THE GRASS ROOTS POLITICOS BECAUSE OF HIS EXCESSIVE ENTHUSIASM FOR THE MILITANT MACARTHUR PROGRAM."

(WX) AKRON, OHIO, MAY 12-(AP)-SENATOR NIXON (R-CALIF) SAID TODAY GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR ALREADY HAS WON A PERSONAL VICTORY IN THE GREAT DEBATE ON THE FAR EASTERN FOREIGN POLICY.

"WE STILL HAVE A CONSIDERABLE DISTANCE TO GO BEFORE OUR POLICY AND THOSE WHO MAKE IT WILL BE ADEQUATE TO MEET THE DIFFICULT AND MOMENTOUS PROBLEMS WHICH WE FACE IN ASIA BUT AT LEAST NOW, AS A RESULT OF GENERAL MACARTHUR'S LEADERSHIP, WE HAVE STARTED ON THE RIGHT ROAD, HE DECLARED.

NIXON'S REMARKS WERE PREPARED FOR DELIVERY BEFORE A MEETING OF THE OHIO STATE BAR ASSOCIATION.

GENERAL MACARTHUR, NIXON SAID, HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY FOR BASIC CHANGES IN THE FAR EASTERN POLICY WHICH THE SENATOR VIEWED AS VALUABLE.

HE SAID THESE CHANGES INCLUDED:

1. A DIRECT STATEMENT HAS BEEN ISSUED BY A TOP ADMINISTRATION SPOKESMAN, SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL, THAT FORMOSA IS ESSENTIAL TO OUR DEFENSE AND WILL NOT BE TURNED OVER TO THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS. NIXON SAID THIS IS THE FIRST TIME SUCH A STATEMENT HAS COME FROM THE ADMINISTRATION.

2. ALSO, MARSHALL HAS STATED THAT COMMUNIST CHINA SHOULD UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES BE ADMITTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

3. MARSHALL HAS IN EFFECT ADMITTED, NIXON SAID, THAT IT WAS A MISTAKE TO ATTEMPT TO FORCE A COALITION BETWEEN CHINESE COMMUNISTS AND NATIONALISTS.

4. U.S. DELEGATES TO THE U.N. HAVE STEPPED UP EFFORTS TO OBTAIN REINFORCEMENTS FROM OTHER U.N. NATIONS FOR U.S. TROOPS IN KOREA.

5. EVEN THE STAUNCHEST ADMINISTRATION SUPPORTERS IN AND OUT OF CONGRESS "HAVE FINALLY COME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT SECRETARY ACHESON MUST GO."

6. THE ADMINISTRATION HAS BEEN "FORCED TO AGREE" THAT THE ONLY WAY TO END THE KOREAN WAR IS WITH VICTORY ON THE BATTLEFIELD AND THAT TO ACCOMPLISH THE RESULT SOME ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY MUST BE GRANTED TO COMMANDERS IN THE FIELD.

NEW YORK, MAY 12-(AP)-RUSSIA WILL NOT "PROJECT THE WAR" IN THE FAR EAST UNTIL IT FEELS IT HAS SUPERIOR FORCES THERE, SAYS GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S SPOKESMAN.

AND IN HIS OPINION, RUSSIA DOES NOT FEEL THIS TO BE SO AT THE PRESENT TIME, ADDS MAJ. GEN. COURTNEY WHITNEY, MACARTHUR'S CHIEF AIDE.

WHITNEY SPOKE WITH NEWSMEN LAST NIGHT ABOUT DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SENATE INQUIRY INTO FAR EASTERN POLICY AND MACARTHUR'S OUSTER AS FAR EASTERN COMMANDER.

EARLIER IN THE EVENING, MACARTHUR HAD A ONE-HOUR VISIT FROM JOHN FOSTER DULLES, REPUBLICAN FOREIGN POLICY ADVISER TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT. A MACARTHUR AIDE SAID THEY TALKED ABOUT THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY, WHICH DULLES IS HELPING DRAW UP.

WHITNEY WAS ASKED TO COMMENT ON SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE MARSHALL'S STATEMENT THAT THE DANGER OF WAR WITH RUSSIA IN THE FAR EAST IS "MORE ACUTE BY FAR" THAN IN EUROPE.

MACARTHUR HAS OFTEN SAID, WHITNEY ASSERTED, THAT "WHEN IN THE OPINION OF THE SOVIETS THEY HAVE SUPERIORITY OF FORCE, ONLY THEN WILL THEY PROJECT THE WAR."

WHITNEY ADDED THAT ANYTHING AMERICA DOES WILL NOT INFLUENCE THE RUSSIAN DECISION.

QUESTIONED ON MACARTHUR'S FUTURE PLANS, WHITNEY SAID HE WOULD VISIT TEXAS "IN DUE COURSE." HE DID NOT ELABORATE.

WHITNEY SAID THE GENERAL WOULD "RESPOND TO ANY REQUEST" FROM THE SENATE THAT MACARTHUR RETURN TO WASHINGTON FOR FURTHER TESTIMONY. HOWEVER, WHITNEY ADDED THAT "THE GENERAL IS QUITEWILLING TO STAND ON THE RECORD."

BRIGADIER GENERAL IN THE LINE OF THE ARMY X X X".
"EVERY DAY THIS IS POSTPONED," THE GRADING OFFICER ADDED, "IS A LOSS TO THE ARMY AND TO THE NATION."
TWENTY YEARS LATER, THE CAPTAIN BECAME A BRIGADIER GENERAL AND HE WENT ON TO BECOME THE COMMANDER OF THE LARGEST MILITARY FORCE THE UNITED STATES EVERY HAD MOBILIZED.
THE CAPTAIN IN 1916, WHO ROSE TO CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE U.S.ARMY, WAS GENERAL GEORGE C.MARSHALL.
VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE, FROM WHICH GEORGE MARSHALL GRADUATED, WILL HONOR THE GENERAL NEXT TUESDAY IN SPECIAL CEREMONIES MARKING HIS 50 YEARS OF SERVICE TO HIS COUNTRY SINCE HE LEFT VMI IN 1901.
ELDER STATESMAN BERNARD M.BARUCH WILL DEDICATE A NEW ENTRANCEWAY INTO THE CADET BARRACKS AS THE GEORGE CATLETT MARSHALL ARCH IN THE PRINCIPAL CEREMONY OF TUESDAY'S MARSHALL DAY.
THE GENERAL HAS MORE THAN LIVED UP TO THE RECOMMENDATION OF HIS FATHER WHO, IN 1897, WROTE THESE WORDS AS HE ENTERED GEORGE C. MARSHALL IN THE FOURTH CLASS AT VMI:

(850) MACARTHUR-MARSHALL ANALYSIS

MAY 13 1951

BY DON WHITEHEAD
(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-THE HISTORIC DISPUTE BETWEEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR IS A GRIM GAME OF TRYING TO PROBE THE MINDS OF THE MEN BEHIND THE GRAY WALLS OF THE KREMLIN.
THE ARGUMENT REVOLVES AROUND THE GREAT RIDDLE:
"WILL STALIN AND HIS LIEUTENANTS PLUNGE RUSSIA INTO WAR IF RED CHINA IS ATTACKED BY AMERICAN BOMBERS?"
THIS IS THE BASIC QUESTION THAT HAS EMERGED IN THE HEARING BY THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES STUDYING THE REASONS BEHIND U.S.WAR MOVES IN ASIA AND THE MACARTHUR OUSTER.
IT RUNS THROUGH THOUSANDS OF WORDS OF TESTIMONY LIKE A BLOOD-SCARLET LINE ACROSS A DARK TAPESTRY.
IT HAS SHAPED AMERICAN POLICY IN KOREA AND IN EFFECT, BROUGHT ABOUT THE GENERAL'S DISMISSAL.
A WRONG GUESS COULD MEAN WORLD WAR THREE. AND ONLY THE MEN IN THE KREMLIN KNOW THE ANSWER.
MACARTHUR HAS PROPOSED A PROGRAM TO END THE KOREAN WAR BY BOMBING RED CHINA AND MANCHURIA, BLOCKADING THE RED-HELD COAST (INCLUDING RUSSIA'S PORT ARTHUR), AND USING CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS IN THE FIGHT.
HE TOLD SENATORS LAST WEEK HE IS CONVINCED THIS ACTION ALONE WOULD NOT BRING RUSSIA INTO THE WAR. HE SAID HIS PLAN SHOULD BE ACCEPTED--THE RISK OF WAR WITH RUSSIA TAKEN--IF THERE IS TO BE AN END TO THE BLOODY CONFLICT.
BUT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL, ANOTHER "OLD SOLDIER," SAYS THE BEST WAY TO WIN IS TO INFLICT "TERRIBLE CASUALTIES" ON THE CHINESE IN KOREA--AND TO AVOID ANY SPREAD OF THE FIGHTING WHICH MIGHT BRING RUSSIA INTO THE WAR.
HE REJECTED THE MACARTHUR PROGRAM BECAUSE HE SAID IT MIGHT LAUNCH A WORLD STRUGGLE WHICH WOULD BRING ATOM BOMBS HURTLING DOWN ON AMERICAN CITIES. PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS SAID THE SAME THING.
SENATOR SALTONSTALL (R-MASS) PUT HIS FINGER SQUARELY TO THE HEART OF THE DEBATE WHEN HE SAID TO MARSHALL:
"I HAVE LISTENED TO ALL OF GENERAL MACARTHUR'S TESTIMONY, AND ALL OF YOURS, AND IT APPEARS TO ME THAT THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE ADMINISTRATION'S POLICY, AS STATED BY YOU, AND GENERAL MACARTHUR'S OPINION, REALLY BOILS DOWN TO A CLASH OF OPINION AS TO THE SOVIET'S INTENTIONS AND THE SOVIET'S CAPABILITIES FOR WAGING WAR IN THE FAR EAST. DO YOU AGREE. . .?"
MARSHALL REPLIED: "THAT IS THE PRINCIPAL BASIS OF THE DIFFERENCE OF OPINION AS TO WHAT IS THE PROPER COURSE TO FOLLOW."
HERE ARE SOME OF THE ARGUMENTS IN THE GAME OF GUESSING WHAT THE RUSSIANS MIGHT DO:
MACARTHUR SAID HE BELIEVES RUSSIA'S AIR FORCE COULD NOT STAND UP LONG IN AN ALL-OUT WAR IN ASIA BECAUSE OF THE SUPPLY PROBLEM OVER THE VULNERABLE TRANS-SIBERIAN RAILROAD.
"HOW LONG SHE WOULD BE ABLE TO MAINTAIN AN AIR EFFORT IN AN ALL-OUT WAR OUT THERE IS, OF COURSE, SPECULATIVE," HE SAID.

A134WX
"MY OWN OPINION IS THAT IT WOULD NOT BE TOO LONG. I BELIEVE THAT THEIR EFFORTS WOULD DETERIORATE FROM THE BEGINNING OF HOSTILITIES."

MAY 13 1951

HE SAID THERE WERE SOVIET GROUND TROOPS IN SIBERIA--ADJACENT TO KOREA AND MANCHURIA--BUT THEY WERE DISPOSED LARGELY IN DEFENSIVE POSITIONS AND NOT FOR ATTACK.
THEN HE GAVE THE OPINION THAT IF THE RUSSIANS ALREADY HAVE MADE UP THEIR MINDS ON A FUTURE COURSE OF ACTION "I DO NOT BELIEVE THAT ANYTHING THAT HAPPENS IN KOREA, OR ASIA, FOR THAT MATTER, WOULD AFFECT HIS BASIC DECISION."
AND HE GAVE THIS CREDO:
"I BELIEVE THAT IT (THE WAR) CAN BE BROUGHT TO A DECISIVE END WITHOUT THE CALAMITY OF A THIRD WORLD WAR.
"I BELIEVE IF YOU LET IT GO ON INDEFINITELY IN KOREA, YOU INVITE A THIRD WORLD WAR.
"I BELIEVE THE CHANCES OF THE TERRIBLE CONFLICT THAT YOU SO RIGHTLY DREAD--AND ALL THE REST OF US DREAD WITH YOU--WOULD BE MUCH MORE PROBABLE IF WE PRACTICE APPEASEMENT IN ONE AREA X X X."
ON THE OTHERSIDE, SECRETARY MARSHALL GAVE THESE VIEWS:
THE SOVIET HAVE STRONG LAND, AIR AND SEA FORCES MASSED IN ASIA WHICH THEY MIGHT THROW AGAINST OUR FORCES IN KOREA AND JAPAN WITHOUT ANY NOTICE. HE ARGUED SUCH AN ATTACK WOULD BE A "SERIOUS THING" AND WOULD MEAN HEAVY ASSAULTS BY AIR ON JAPAN AND ALL THE U.N.BASES IN THAT AREA.
HE SAID: "THE FEELING HAS BEEN THAT AN EXTENSION OF THE PRESENT WAR, UNDER THE TERMS PROPOSED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR, WOULD NOT ONLY HAZARD THE DEVELOPMENT OF A VERY MUCH ENLARGED AND PROBABLY A WORLD WAR, BUT WOULD NOT LEAD TO A QUICK DECISION (IN KOREA)."
AT ANOTHER POINT HE SAID: "HE (MACARTHUR) WOULD HAVE US ACCEPT THE INVOLVEMENT NOT ONLY IN AN EXTENSION OF THE WAR WITH RED CHINA, BUT IN AN ALL-OUT WAR WITH THE SOVIET UNION.
"HE WOULD HAVE US DO THIS EVEN THOUGH THE EFFECT OF SUCH ACTION MIGHT EXPOSE WESTERN EUROPE TO ATTACK BY THE MILLIONS OF SOVIET TROOPS POISED IN MIDDLE AND EASTERN EUROPE."
IN SUPPORT OF THIS ARGUMENT, MARSHALL PRODUCED THE TEXT OF A TREATY BETWEEN RED CHINA AND RUSSIA. ONE ARTICLE OF THE TREATY SAYS:
"IN THE EVENT OF ONE OF THE HIGH CONTRACTING PARTIES BEING ATTACKED BY JAPAN OR STATES ALLIED WITH IT AND THUS BEING INVOLVED IN A STATE OF WAR, THE OTHER HIGH CONTRACTING PARTY WILL IMMEDIATELY RENDER MILI-TARY AND OTHER ASSISTANCE WITH ALL MEANS AT ITS DISPOSAL."

NOW, MARSHALL SAID, THE RUSSIANS COULD INTERPRET THIS TREATY ANY WAY THEY CHOOSE.
HE WAS ASKED IF THE BOMBING OF RED CHINA'S BASES WOULD INVOKE THE PACT. AND HE ANSWERED: "THAT WAS THE FEAR AND THE THOUGHT OF THE CHIEFS OF STAFF AND OTHERS IN THE GOVERNMENT. . ."
AND SO IT GOES THROUGH ALL THE GRAT DEBATE--A DEADLY GAME OF GUESSING AT THE THOUGHTS OF THE MEN IN THE KREMLIN.

(600) AMS BUDGET

MACARTHUR INTERPRETIVE

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-THE MACARTHUR HEARINGS HAVE BROUGHT OUT OFFICIALLY FOR THE FIRST TIME THE EXTENT TO WHICH A FEELING OF MILITARY WEAKNESS INFLUENCES THE ADMINISTRATION POLICY IN THE FAR EAST.
OFFICIALS HAVE INDICATED PLAINLY BEFORE THIS THAT IT WILL BE TWO TO THREE YEARS AT THE PRESENT RATE OF REARMAMENT BEFORE THE UNITED STATES AND ITS ALLIES ARE PREPARED TO RISK ANY GLOBAL SHOWDOWN WITH RUSSIA.
BUT ADMINISTRATION TESTIMONY IN THE MACARTHUR HEARINGS EMPHASIZED THE DEGREE TO WHICH THIS BELIEF IN RUSSIA'S PRESENT MILITARY SUPERIORITY HAS INFLUENCED GOVERNMENT STRATEGY.
TOP AUTHORITIES TAKE THE POSITION THAT IN THE NEXT COUPLE YEARS OR SO THE ALLIED POWERS WILL HAVE TO ACCEPT WHATEVER RISKS RUSSIA FORCES ON THEM BUT AVOID TAKING LONG CHANCES WHERE THERE IS A CHOICE. IN ADMINISTRATION THINKING, KOREA IS ONE PLACE WHERE THERE IS A CHOICE.
THE TESTIMONY OF SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL AND A HERETOFORE SECRET LETTER FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO GENERAL MACARTHUR BROUGHT THIS FEELING OF RELATIVE MILITARY WEAKNESS OUT INTO THE OPEN.
IT IS ONE OF TWO CHIEF RESTRAINTS ON BROADENING THE FIGHT IN KOREA TO STRIKE DIRECTLY AT RED CHINA AND THEREBY, THE ADMINISTRATION BELIEVES, GRAVELY RISKING WAR WITH RUSSIA.
THE OTHER MAIN RESTRAINT, WHICH THE ADMINISTRATION HAS NEVER HESITATED TO EMPHASIZE, IS OF COURSE THE OPPOSITION OF THIS COUNTRY'S UNITED NATIONS ALLIES TO ANY EXTENSION OF THE CONFLICT BEYOND KOREA EVEN THOUGH JUSTIFIED BY CHINA'S INTERVENTION.
WHAT STANDS OUT, HOWEVER, IN A STUDY OF MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY IS THAT EVEN ON THE KOREAN ISSUES RAISED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR THE ATTITUDE OF THE ALLIED NATIONS MIGHT HAVE BEEN DIFFERENT IF THEY HAD POSSESSED MORE MILITARY MIGHT. CERTAINLY MARSHALL MADE CLEAR THE ATTITUDE OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT WOULD HAVE BEEN FAVORABLE TO SUCH ACTIONS AS THE BOMBING OF MANCHURIAN BASES IF THE STRENGTH OF THE ANTI-COMMUNIST ALLIANCE HAD BEEN GREATER.
MARSHALL'S POSITION IS THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN WILLING TO TAKE A CALCULATED RISK OF A SHOWDOWN WITH THE SOVIET UNION ONLY WHERE THE RED CHALLENGE TO AMERICAN SECURITY INTERESTS WAS SO GREAT AS TO POSE EQUAL DANGER IF THE UNITED STATES DID NOTHING.

A177WX
CASES IN POINT ARE THE BERLIN AIRLIFT OF 1949, IN WHICH THE WESTERN POWERS RISKED WAR TO KEEP THE COMMUNISTS FROM TAKING OVER THE GERMAN CITY; THE EUROPEAN REARMAMENT PROGRAM INSOFAR AS THAT MAY ACTUALLY HAVE BEEN PROVOCATIVE TO MOSCOW, AND THE RESISTANCE TO RED AGGRESSION IN KOREA, WHICH TRANSFORMED THE COLD WAR INTO A PARTIAL "HOT WAR."
BUT THE ADMINISTRATION'S VIEW THAT "GREAT PRUDENCE" IS NECESSARY IN KOREA WAS SET OUT IN A LETTER BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO GEN.MACARTHUR JAN.13, WHICH MARSHALL READ INTO THE HEARING RECORD YESTERDAY.
THE PRESIDENT TOLD MACARTHUR THAT HIS COURSE IN KOREA SHOULD BE SUCH AS TO "CONSOLIDATE" THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE UNITED NATIONS MEMBERS. HE SAID THAT MAJORITY INCLUDED THE NATIONS "WHOM WE WOULD DESPERATELY NEED TO COUNT ON AS ALLIES IN THE EVENT THE SOVIET UNION MOVES AGAINST US."
THE PRESIDENT THEN ADDED: "FURTHER, PENDING THE BUILDUP OF OUR NATIONAL STRENGTH WE MUST ACT WITH GREAT PRUDENCE INSOFAR AS EXTENDING THE AREA OF HOSTILITIES IS CONCERNED."
THE STATE OF UNREADINESS THUS OFFICIALLY RECOGNIZED IS A SITUATION WHICH THE KREMLIN STILL MAY TRY TO EXPLOIT EITHER IN THE FAR EAST OR IN SOME OTHER SECTOR OF THE GLOBAL FRONT SUCH AS CENTRAL EUROPE.
WHAT AMERICAN STRATEGISTS HOPE AND BELIEVE, HOWEVER, IS THAT THOUGH THE COMMUNIST BLOC IS SUPERIOR IN MANPOWER UNDER ARMS, IN THE SIZE OF AIR FORCES AND PROBABLY SUBMARINES AND OTHER WEAPONS, THIS COUNTRY'S ASSUMED GREAT SUPERIORITY IN ATOMIC BOMBS WILL BE A RESTRAINING INFLUENCE ON RUSSIAN STRATEGY.

(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, MAY 13)
(ADVANCE) (NY) WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-TWO OLD SOLDIERS -- SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE C.MARSHALL AND GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR -- HAVE GIVEN THE NATION THEIR VIEWS ON HOW BEST TO DEAL WITH THE KOREAN SITUATION IN RELATION TO GLOBAL PROBLEMS.
HERE IS A DIGEST OF MORE THAN 200,000 WORDS OF TESTIMONY BEFORE SENATE HEARINGS, WITH THE VIEWS OF EACH, OFTEN CONTRASTING, ON SPECIFIC TOPICS:

RUSSIAN AIMS

MACARTHUR: IT IS A VISION WHICH PERHAPS TRANSCENDS ANYTHING THAT THE OLD CZARIST REGIMES EVER HAD.
MARSHALL
Q--GENERAL, IS IT, IN YOUR OPINION, THE AIM OF THE SOVIET, SOVIET RUSSIA, OR THE KREMLIN, TO DESTROY OR TAKE OVER THE FREE WORLD?
MARSHALL: I THINK THEIR PURPOSE IS TO DOMINATE THE WHOLE FREE WORLD.
-DASH-

HOW TO WIN

MACARTHUR: AS SOON AS IT BECAME APPARENT THAT RED CHINA WAS THROWING THE FULL MIGHT OF ITS MILITARY FORCE AGAINST OUR TROOPS IN KOREA..... I WOULD HAVE SUPPLIED HER WITH AN ULTIMATUM THAT SHE WOULD EITHER COME AND TALK TERMS OF A CEASE-FIRE WITHIN A REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME OR HER ACTIONS IN KOREA WOULD BE REGARDED AS A DECLARATION OF WAR AGAINST THE NATIONS ENGAGED THERE, AND THAT THOSE NATIONS WOULD TAKE SUCH STEPS AS THEY FELT NECESSARY TO BRING THE THING TO A CONCLUSION.
(MACARTHUR HAS PROPOSED "SUCH STEPS" AS BOMBING OF BASES AND SUPPLY LINES IN COMMUNIST CHINA, USE OF CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS NOW ON FORMOSA, AND A COMPLETE NAVAL AND ECONOMIC BLOCKADE OF COMMUNIST CHINA).
MARSHALL: INFLICT TERRIFIC CASUALTIES ON THE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCES (IN KOREA). IF WE BREAK THE MORALE OF THEIR ARMIES, BUT MORE PARTICULARLY, IF WE DESTROY THEIR BEST TRAINED ARMIES AS WE HAVE BEEN IN THE PROCESS OF DOING, THERE, IT SEEMS TO ME, YOU DEVELOP THE BEST PROBABILITY OF REACHING A SATISFACTORY NEGOTIATORY BASIS WITH THOSE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCES, WITHOUT GETTING OURSELVES INTO WHAT WE THINK WOULD BE A GREAT HAZARD TOWARD DEVELOPING A MUCH ENLARGED STRUGGLE

30.24- 22917

WITH CONSEQUENTLY LARGER CASUALTIES OR A COMPLETE WORLD WAR.
.... I HAVE MY OWN DOUBTS AS TO WHETHER THE ACTIONS RECOMMENDED BY GEN. MACARTHUR WOULD BRING THE CONFLICT TO A VICTORIOUS END.
-DASH-

A146

LENGTH OF WAR

MACARTHUR: I BELIEVE THAT IF YOU CARRY THAT OUT (AIR AND NAVAL ACTION AGAINST COMMUNIST CHINA) YOU STAND THE BEST CHANCE THAT IS POSSIBLE OF ENDING THIS WAR IN THE QUICKEST TIME AND WITH THE LEAST COST IN BLOOD.....

I DO NOT BELIEVE IT WOULD TAKE A VERY GREAT ADDITIONAL COMPONENT OF TROOPS TO WIND THIS THING UP.

MARSHALL: KOREA IS NOT THE FIRST TIME THERE HAVE BEEN COMPLAINTS OF A STALEMATE, AND IT IS NOT THE FIRST TIME THERE HAVE BEEN DEMANDS FOR A QUICK AND DECISIVE SOLUTION.....

KOREA HAS LASTED FOR 10 MONTHS, BUT THE BERLIN CRISIS LASTED ALMOST 15 MONTHS AND WAS A VERY DARING UNDERTAKING.... THERE WERE TIMES WHEN THE FIGHT FOR BERLIN ALSO LOOKED LIKE A STALEMATE, BUT WE KEPT OUR HEADS AND PERSEVERED AND IN THE END WON A NOTABLE VICTORY.....

THE EFFORT TO FREE GREECE FROM COMMUNIST AGGRESSION TOOK 18 MONTHS. THERE WERE THOSE WHO SAID THIS WAS A HOPELESS ADVENTURE.....

..... I THINK THE COURSE WE ARE FOLLOWING NOW (IN KOREA) IS VIRTUALLY THE ONLY COURSE YOU COULD FOLLOW.....

IF IT GOES ON IN THE MANNER THAT IT HAS FOR THE LAST TWO MONTHS, AND PARTICULARLY IN THE LAST TWO WEEKS, IT WOULD APPEAR THAT THE TRAINED FABRIC OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCES WILL BE PRETTY WELL TORN TO PIECES.

THEY MUST HAVE -- I KNOW THEY MUST HAVE -- A DECIDED LIMIT IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF TRAINED TROOPS AND TRAINED ARMIES NO MATTER HOW GREAT THEIR POPULATION OR, WE WILL SAY, THE AVAILABILITY OF MANPOWER.

..... HOW LONG..... THOSE ARE MATTERS THAT NO ONE CAN FORETELL....

WHETHER OR NOT THEY RESORT TO OTHER MEANS, REFERRING SPECIFICALLY TO AIR OPERATIONS, I DO NOT KNOW.

-DASH-

MAY 13 1951

GLOBAL ASPECTS

MACARTHUR: THIS IS A GLOBAL PROPOSITION, AND YOU CAN'T LET ONE HALF OF THE WORLD SLIDE INTO SLAVERY AND JUST CONFINE YOURSELF TO DEFENDING THE OTHER..... YOU HAVE GOT TO HOLD EVERY PLACE. IN THE FAR EAST THERE WAS A TREMENDOUS BELIEF THAT WE WERE NOT GOING TO DEFEND THE FAR EAST, AND WHEN WE MOVED IN TO DEFEND KOREA, IT GAVE AN ENORMOUS LIFT THROUGHOUT THAT SECTION OF THE WORLD.....

THE OTHER FELLOW HAS THE SAME PROBLEMS THAT WE DO. IF WE HAVE TO WORK ON TWO FRONTS OR THREE FRONTS OR FOUR FRONTS, SO DOES HE; AND IF WE CAN'T MEET HIM AND DEFEAT HIM, OUR ULTIMATE DESTRUCTION IS CERTAIN.... I DON'T ADMIT THAT WE CAN'T HOLD COMMUNISM WHEREVER IT SHOWS ITS HEAD.....

YOU HAVE GOT A WAR ON YOUR HANDS AND YOU CAN'T JUST SAY, 'LET THAT WAR GO ON INDEFINITELY WHILE I PREPARE FOR SOME OTHER WAR,' UNLESS YOU PAY FOR IT BY THE THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS OF AMERICAN BOYS.

A147

MARSHALL: GEN. MACARTHUR ..... WOULD HAVE US, ON OUR OWN INITIATIVE, CARRY THE CONFLICT BEYOND KOREA, AGAINST THE MAINLAND OF COMMUNIST CHINA, BOTH FROM THE SEA AND FROM THE AIR.

HE WOULD HAVE US ACCEPT THE RISK OF INVOLVEMENT NOT ONLY IN AN EXTENSION OF THE WAR WITH RED CHINA BUT IN AN ALL-OUT WAR WITH THE SOVIET UNION. HE WOULD HAVE US DO THIS EVEN AT THE EXPENSE OF LOSING OUR ALLIES AND WRECKING THE COALITION OF FREE PEOPLES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. HE WOULD HAVE US DO THIS EVEN THOUGH THE EFFECT OF SUCH ACTION MIGHT EXPOSE WESTERN EUROPE TO ATTACK BY THE MILLIONS OF SOVIET TROOPS, POISED IN MIDDLE AND EASTERN EUROPE.

-DASH-

WILL RUSSIA COME IN?

MACARTHUR: I BELIEVE THERE IS AN EXCELLENT CHANCE THAT IF YOU APPLY THE POWER AGAINST THE CHINESE (AIR AND NAVAL ACTION AGAINST COMMUNIST CHINA), THAT WOULD NOT NECESSARILY INVOLVE THE SOVIET INTO TAKING ACTION AGAINST US. THERE IS NO CERTAINTY THAT RUSSIA WILL COME IN.

THERE IS NO CERTAINTY THAT ANYTHING THAT HAPPENS IN KOREA WILL INFLUENCE HER..... YOU HAVE TO TAKE A CERTAIN DEGREE OF RISK ON THESE THINGS..... I DO SAY THE WORST THING WE CAN DO IS GO ON INDECISIVELY SACRIFICING THESE MEN, WITH NO DEFINITE END IN SIGHT.....

YOU UNDERSTAND IT WAS A CALCULATED RISK FROM THE DAY WE ENTERED KOREA ON JUNE 27; THE CALCULATED RISK WAS WHETHER CHINA OR THE SOVIET WOULD INTERVENE.....

I BELIEVE IT CAN BE BROUGHT TO A DECISIVE END WITHOUT THE CALAMITY OF A THIRD WORLD WAR. I BELIEVE IF YOU LET IT GO ON INDEFINITELY IN KOREA, YOU INVITE A THIRD WORLD WAR.

MAY 13 1951

Q TO MARSHALL:

DO YOU THINK THAT THE POSSIBILITY IS REMOTE OR THAT IT IS VERY REAL -- THAT THE SOVIET MIGHT INTERVENE?

MARSHALL: I THINK IT IS A VERY REAL POSSIBILITY, AND LIKE ALL OTHER MATTERS PERTAINING TO THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT, THE DECISION IS OF A FEW MEN AND CAN BE AN INSTANT DECISION WHENEVER THEY CHOSE TO MAKE IT.

THEY MAY MAKE IT WITHOUT ANY REFERENCE TO A SPECIFIC EVENT, AND AGAIN THEY MAY FIND THEMSELVES IMPERILED AS THEY FEEL IT, IN THEIR FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNISM IN THE WORLD, AND THEREFORE TAKE ACTION TO REDUCE THAT PERIL.....

I ASSUMED, AND WE HAVE ASSUMED, THAT IF WE STARTED THAT PROCEDURE, PARTICULARLY THE BOMBING AND THE NAVAL ACTION, IN RELATION TO MANCHURIA AND CHINA, WE WOULD IMMEDIATELY HAVE WHATEVER RETALIATION THEY WERE ABLE TO EFFECT.

-DASH-

POLICY IN KOREA

MACARTHUR: THE INERTIA THAT EXISTS! THERE IS NO POLICY -- THERE IS NOTHING, I TELL YOU -- NO PLAN, OR ANYTHING.....

A148

WHEN YOU SAY MERELY, "WE ARE GOING TO CONTINUE TO FIGHT AGGRESSION," THAT IS NOT WHAT THE ENEMY IS FIGHTING FOR.

THE ENEMY IS FIGHTING FOR A VERY DEFINITE PURPOSE -- TO DESTROY OUR FORCES IN KOREA.

I DON'T SEE HOW IT IS POSSIBLE THAT COMMUNIST CHINA COULD BE MORE AT WAR WITH US THAN SHE IS TODAY..... AND WE ARE NOT AT WAR WITH HER.

WE ARE VERY LIMITED IN OUR REPULSE OF HER EFFORTS.....

MARSHALL: OUR OBJECTIVE IN KOREA CONTINUES TO BE THE DEFEAT OF AGGRESSION AND THE RESTORATION OF PEACE. WE HAVE PERSISTENTLY SOUGHT TO CONFINE THE CONFLICT TO KOREA AND TO PREVENT ITS SPREADING INTO A THIRD WORLD WAR. IN THIS EFFORT, WE STAND ALLIED WITH THE GREAT MAJORITY OF OUR FELLOW-MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

OUR EFFORTS HAVE SUCCEEDED IN THWARTING THE AGGRESSIONS IN KOREA, AND IN STEMMING THE TIDE OF AGGRESSION IN SOUTHEAST ASIA AND ELSEWHERE THROUGHOUT THE-WORLD.

-DASH-

UNITED NATIONS ALLIES

MACARTHUR: ..... I WOULD SAY INDUBITABLY IT IS ADVANTAGEOUS FOR US TO HAVE ALL OF THE ALLIES THAT WE CAN GET AND PROCURE.

THE GREAT DIFFICULTY IN TE CONT

IBUTIONS TH

MAY 13 1951

THE GREAT DIFF

THE GREAT DIFFICULTY IN THE CONTRIBUTIOS THAT ARE BEING MADE, THEY'RE NOT IN COMMENSURATE STRENGTH WITH WHAT WE PUT IN. THE FORCES WE HAVE IN KOREA ARE ONLY TOKEN FORCES FROM EVERYBODY EXCEPT THE SOUTH KOREANS AND OURSELVES.

WE HAVE PLENTY OF ALLIES, BUT THE NUMBERS OF THEM DO NOT CONTRIBUTE IN THE SAME GENEROUS AND NOBLE WAY IN WHICH WE DO.....

IF THE OTHER NATIONS OF THE WORLD HAVEN'T GOT SENSE ENOUGH TO SEE WHERE APPEASEMENT LEADS AFTER THE APPEASEMENT WHICH LED TO THE SECOND WORLD WAR IN EUROPE, IF THEY CAN'T SEE EXACTLY THE ROAD THEY ARE FOLLOWING IN ASIA, WHY THEN WE HAD BETTER PROTECT OURSELVES AND GO IT ALONE.

MARSHALL: I HAVE ALWAYS FELT THAT GEN. MACARTHUR.... DI NOT FULLY REALIZE THE STATE OF MIND OF THESE ASSOCIATES OF OUR ALLIES, AND THE EXTRAORDINARY DIFFICULTY WE HAD IN LINING UP, HAVING THEM ALL LINE UP WITH US WHERE WE HAD TO HAVE THEM BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE LOSS OF OUR ALLIES, THE LOSS OF CONTINUATION AND DEVELOPMENT OF COLLECTIVE ACTION, COLLECTIVE DEFENSE AND THE HAZARD OF ENTERING INTO A GENERAL WAR APPEALED TO US AS BEING SO SERIOUS THAT THE OTHER POSSIBILITIES WHICH WOULD FLOW, IN HIS OPINION, FROM CARRYING OUT HIS PROPOSALS, WERE NOT CONSIDERED ADVISABLE.....

BY HIS (MACARTHUR'S) PUBLIC STATEMENTS OR STATEMENTS THAT WERE PUBLIC IN THE ORDINARY PRESS, HE SET UP A VERY SERIOUS REACTION AMONG OUR ALLIES, WHICH THREATENED OUR COLLECTIVE ACTION WIT THEM, AND WHICH THREATENED OUR POSITION IN THE WORLD IN RELATIONS TO THIS GREAT CRISIS, AND WHICH THREATENED TO LEAVE US IN A SITUATION OF GOING IT ALONE.

Q (BY SEN. WILEY)-- WHAT DID HE SAY OR DO THAT CAUSED THESE ALLIES OF OURS TO HAVE SO MUCH POWER THAT THEY APPARENTLY DETERMINED WHAT SHOULD BE DONE?

A149

MARSHALL: THEY DID NOT DETERMINE WHAT SHOULD BE DONE, BUT WE HAD AN ISSUE WITH OUR ALLIES BEFORE THE WORLD, WHEN, IN EFFECT, THIS COUNTRY, IN CONNECTION WITH FOREIGN POLICY, WAS SPEAKING WITH TWO VOICES.....

BY HIS PUBLIC STATEMENTS HE HAD CREATED A FEELING OF GREAT UNEASINESS AMONG OUR ALLIES, AS TO THE CONSEQUENT RESULTS FROM HIS PROPOSALS HE WAS CREATING A FEELING OF UNCERTAINTY WITH OUR ALLIES.....

WHEN YOU CREATE THE FEELING AMONG YOUR ALLIES THAT YOU ARE ON THE VERGE OF DOING SOMETHING WHICH THEY FEEL IS OF GREAT MISFORTUNE TO THEM AND A HAZARD TO THEM, YOU ARE NOW INVOLVED IN A QUESTION OF POLICY, AND THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES BY THE CONSTITUTION IS THE ONLY ONE WHO SHOULD INTERPRET THAT.....

AS TO OUR ALLIES, THEY DID NOT DETERMINE GENERAL MACARTHUR'S RELIEF. THEY GAVE NO IMPRESSION OF THAT KIND EVEN REMOTELY THAT I CAN RECALL PERTAINING TO HIS RELIEF.....

HOWEVER, I WOULD FEEL THAT WE WERE JEOPARDIZING OUR ENTIRE RELATIONSHIP ON A COLLECTIVE BASIS.

Q -- YOU MEAN THEY (THE ALLIES) WOULD HAVE PULLED OUT?

MARSHALL: THAT WOULD REMAIN TO BE SEEN.

Q -- IT HAS BEEN CHARGED THAT THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA ARE SUBJECT TO THE CONTROL OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND OF OUR PARTNERS IN KOREA, IN WHICH CONTROL WE HAVE LOST INDEPENDENCE OF MILITARY ACTION IN A WAR INVOLVING 350,000 OF OUR MEN, WHICH HAS RESULTED TO DATE IN 65,000 OF OUR OWN CASUALTIEIS.

MARSHALL: I WOULD SAY WE HAVE NOT ANY MORE THAN WE LOST CONTROL OF OUR TROOPS IN EUROPE THOUGH IT WAS AN AMERICAN ALLIED COMMANDER, JUST AS IN THIS CASE IT IS AN AMERICAN ALLIED COMMANDER.

Q -- COULD IT NOT BE SAID IN THE LIGHT OF THESE (CASUALTY) FIGURES THAT WE ARE ALREADY GOING IT ALONE?

MARSHALL: I DO NOT THINK SO, SIR.

-DASH-

ON BUYING TIME

MACARTHUR: THE GREAT TROUBLE, SENATOR, IS WHEN YOU TRY TO BUY TIME IN KOREA YOU ARE DOING IT AT THE TREMENDOUS EXPENSE OF AMERICAN BLOOD. THAT DOES NOT SEEM TO BE BUYING TIME. IT SEEMS TO ME IT IS SACRIFICING OUR YOUTH.

I SAY THAT IF YOU ARE TRYING TO BUY TIME YOU ARE DOING IT THE WORST WAY YOU CAN. YOU ARE BUYING TIME AT THE EXPENSE OF AMERICAN BLOOD. I THINK THAT IS TOO EXPENSIVE.

MAY 13 1951

A150

MARSHALL: OUR EFFORTS IN KOREA HAVE GIVEN US SORELY NEEDED TIME AND IMPETUS TO ACCELERATE THE BUILDING OF OUR DEFENSES AND THOSE OF OUR ALLIES AGAINST THE THREATENED ONSLAUGHT OF SOVIET IMPERIALISM.

-DASH-

RESTRICTIONS IN WARFARE

MACARTHUR: I BELIEVE THE MAJOR THING IS TO TAKE OFF THE INHIBITIONS AND LET US USE THE MAXIMUM OF FORCE WE HAVE.....

MOST EXPLICITLY, I WAS PROHIBITED FROM BOMBING ANY PLACE BEYOND THE AREA OF KOREA.

MARSHALL: THE RESTRICTIONS IMPOSED ON GEN. MACARTHUR IN THE CONDUCT OF THE CAMPAIGN IN KOREA WERE IN GENERAL TO CONFINE THE OPERATIONS TO KOREA, AND UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES TO CARRY OUT OPERATIONS BEYOND THE BORDER OF KOREA INTO MANCHURIA.

HE WAS ALSO CAUTIONED AGAINST HAVING UNITS WITHIN, I THINK IT WAS, ABOUT 15 MILES OF THE BORDER IN NORTHEAST KOREA WHERE IT TOUCHED THE PERIMETER OF SIBERIA, THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT.

-DASH-

ON BOMBING

MACARTHUR: OUR STRENGTH IS IN THE AIR AND THE NAVY, AS COMPARED TO THE CHINESE. THAT IS WHERE WE SHOULD APPLY THE PRESSURE, THEY CANNOT, THEY HAVE NOTHING TO RESIST IT WITH. THEY ARE WIDE OPEN.

..... IN MY OWN PROFESSIONAL OPINION, COMMUNIST CHINA, ITS ABILITY TO WAGE MODERN WAR, HAS BEEN TREMENDOUSLY EXAGGERATED; AND I BELIEVE WHEN WE PLACE THE PRESSURE ON ITS DISTRIBUTIVE SYSTEMS THAT SHE WOULD BE FORCED TO YIELD WITHIN A REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME.

Q TO MARSHALL: IF YOU WERE ASSURED THAT THE SOVIET RUSSIA FORCES WOULD NOT BE THROWN INTO THAT WAR, WOULD YOU BE DISPOSED TO FAVOR THE RECOMMENDATION OF GEN. MACARTHUR THAT WE FOLLOW PLANES INTO MANCHURIA AND BOMB THE MILITARY SET-UPS.....?

MARSHALL: ONCE THE CHINESE COMMUNIST TROOPS HAD APPEARED IN FORCE

IN MANCHURIA AND IF, FROM A HYPOTHETICAL POINT OF VIEW, THERE WAS NO DANGER WHATEVER OF A SOVIET INTERVENTION. I WOULD SAY THAT CERTAINLY THE BOMBING YOU MENTION WOULD START ALMOST IMMEDIATELY.....

WE MIGHT EASILY BE FORCED INTO ACTION AND ARE PREPARED TO TAKE THAT ACTION, BUT IT IS AVOIDABLE UP TO THE PRESENT TIME. IT MAY NOT BE AVOIDABLE BEGINNING TOMORROW, BUT IT IS AVOIDABLE AT THE PRESENT TIME, AND WE HAVE TO RELATE THAT TO THE OPINION OF MANY OTHER COUNTRIES, MANY OTHER PEOPLES THAT ARE INVOLVED IN THIS SAME STRUGGLE.

-DASH-

SOVIET STRENGTH IN FAR EAST

MACARTHUR: I BELIEVE THE DISPOSITIONS OF THE SOVIET FORCES ARE LARGELY DEFENSIVE.....

THIS SIDE OF THE BAIKAL (SIBERIAN MOUNTAIN) REGION THERE IS NO INDUSTRIAL SET-UP OF MAJOR PROPORTIONS, SO THAT ALL THE MUNITION EQUIPMENT, ALL THE STRATEGIC WAR WEAPONS, ALL OF THE SUSTENANCE THAT GOES IN SUCH MAJOR QUANTITY TO SUPPORT ARMED FORCES, MUST PASS OVER THAT RAILWAY LINE WHICH RUNS FROM EUROPEAN RUSSIA ACROSS SIBERIA.

A151

MAY 13 1951

THAT LINE IS STRAINED TO THE VERY UTMOST NOW TO MAINTAIN ON A NORMAL PEACE BASIS THE FORCES WHICH THE SOVIET MAINTAINS IN SIBERIA.

I DO NOT BELIEVE THAT IT WOULD BE WITHIN THE CAPACITY OF THE SOVIET TO MASS ANY GREAT ADDITIONAL INCREMENT TO FORCE TO LAUNCH ANY PREDATORY ATTACK FROM THE ASSOCIATIC CONTINENT.

.... THEIR AIR IS NOT TO BE DISCOUNTED..... THE SOVIET PROBABLY SUFFERS GREATLY FROM A LACK OF MAINTENANCE FACILITIES, GASOLINE SUPPLIES AND OTHER THINGS. HOW LONG SHE WOULD BE ABLE TO MAINTAIN AN AIR EFFORT IN AN ALL-OUT WAR THERE IS, OF COURSE, SPECULATIVE. MY OWN OPINION IS THA IT WOULD NOT BE TOO LONG.....

THAT SHE COULD GET COMMAND OF THE SEA IN THE FACE OF OUR MAGNIFICENT NAVY, I WOULD BE VERY DOUBTFUL OF UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES..... OVER IN THE FAR EAST THEIR (SOVIET) FLEETS..... ARE LIGHT ELEMENTS, CRUISER, DESTROYER.

Q TO MARSHALL -- WHAT IS YOUR OPINION AS TO THE POTENTIAL POWER OF RETALIATION AVAILABLE TO THE SOVIET IN THE KOREAN WAR?

MARSHALL: YOU ARE ASKING, AS I UNDERSTAND IT, THE RETALIATION OR THE ACTION OF THE SOVIET MILITARY PLANES.

Q -- IF THE SOVIET WANTED TO SEE FIT TO ENTER THE KOREAN WAR.

MARSHALL: FROM THE INFORMATION ESTIMATES THAT I HAVE SEEN, IT WOULD BE A VERY SERIOUS MATTER, BECAUSE THEY HAVE, ACCORDING TO ESTIMATES THAT I HAVE SEEN, A CONSIDERABLE FORCE -- I HAVE FORGOTTEN EXACTLY HOW MANY THOUSANDS IN THE VICINITY OF VLADIVOSTOK, DAIREN, PORT ARTHUR, HARBIN.

I DON'T KNOW WHETHER THERE ARE ANY PLANE CONCENTRATIONS IN RELATION TO SAKHALIN, BUT THERE HAVE BEEN REPORTS OF TROOP CONCENTRATIONS AND PARTICULARLY JAPANESE PRISONER, FORMER PRISONER, ORGANIZATIONS, PRESUMABLY OF INDOCTRINATED JAPANESE ON THE SAKHALIN POINT, WHICH IS NOT VERY FAR OFF NORTHWEST HOKKAIDO (JAPAN).

-DASH-

ON CASUALTIES

MACARTHUR: IT ISN'T JUST DUST THAT IS SETTLING IN KOREA, SENATOR, IT IS AMERICAN BLOOD.

MARSHALL: ..... AS TO THE CASUALTIES THAT ARE DAILY OCCURRING THERE (IN KOREA), WITH OUR TROOPS, AND THOSE OF OUR ALLIES, NO ONE, I BELIEVE IS MORE CONSCIOUS OF THEM THAN I AM.

..... DURING SOME VERY PAINFUL YEARS, I HAD A DAILY QUESTION OF CASUALTIES FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD, AND IT IS AN AGONIZING PROCEDURE, SO I CAN FULLY UNDERSTAND THE REACTION OF A COMMANDER IN GEN. MACARTHUR'S POSITION, TO THE STRUGGLE IN KOREA, UNLESS HE COULD CLEARLY SEE AN EARLY AND VICTORIOUS WAY OUT.

BUT THERE ARE MANY OTHER CONSIDERATIONS THAT THIS GOVERNMENT HAS TO TAKE INTO ACCOUNT, AND IT BECOMES A HARD DUTY OF THOSE RESPONSIBLE TO CONSIDER WHAT IS THE WISEST COURSE TO FOLLOW IN SUCH MATTERS.

-DASH-

TROOPS' MORALE

MMACARTHUR: THE MORALE OF OUR FORCES OVER IN KOREA WHEN I LEFT THEM WAS TOPS. THEY WERE SPLENDID IN EVERY WAY.

Q -- ARE THEY HAPPY ABOUT NOT BEING ABLE TO BOMB THE ARSENAL BACK IN MANCHURIA?

MACARTHUR: I THINK THE VOTE WOULD BE 100 TO NOTHING IN FAVOR OF BOMBING.

MARSHALL: WE HAVE TO DO ALWAYS ALL IN OUR POWER NOT ONLY TO MAINTAIN BUT TO BUILD UP THE FIGHTING MORALE OF OUR FORCES.....

A152

.....I WAS TOLD ONLY THIS MORNING THE LAST REPORTS INDICATED A VERY HIGH MORALE.....

MAY 13 1951

BUT I AM DISTURBED AND I SHOULD THINK YOU WOULD BE DISTURBED AT THE EFFECT THAT WILL SWEEP THROUGH THAT FORCE OF A SITUATION IN WHICH THEIR COMMANDER HAS STATED HIS VIEWS WHICH ACCENTUATE THE CASUALTIES THAT THEY ARE SUFFERING AND, IN EFFECT, THAT IT IS WITHOUT JUSTIFIED PURPOSE.

THAT IS NOT ONLY ONE TIME, BUT A NUMBER OF TIMES; AND THE EFFECT OF THE FACT THAT THEIR COMMANDER HAS BEEN IN COMPLETE DISAGREEMENT WITH THE CONSTITUTED AUTHORITIES OF THE GOVERNMENT; THAT IS A MOST SERIOUS MATTER, AND WE SHOULD FIND SOME WAY OF PROCEEDING WITH THIS INVESTIGATION THAT DOES NOT DESTROY US IN THE FIELD BY SERIOUS REACTION IN THE WAY OF MORALE.

-DASH-

APPEASEMENT

MACARTHUR: SENATOR, I HAVE MY OWN DEFINITION OF APPEASEMENT. I BELIEVE WHEN YOU ENTER INTO WAR, YOU SHOULD USE SUFFICIENT FORCE TO IMPOSE YOUR WILL UPON THE ENEMY. HE (THE ENEMY) IS THE AGGRESSOR, WITHOUT CAUSE OR REASON. HE IS THE ONE THAT SPRUNG THAT FOUL BLOW ON US. IT'S TO STOP THAT, THAT WE FIGHT. AND I SAY THAT ANYTHING THAT DOES NOT TEND TO STOP THAT IS, IN MY LEXICON, APPEASEMENT.

.....THE RECOGNITION OF RED CHINA ..... THE TURNING OVER OF FORMOSA.....THOSE, IF THEY WERE ACCEPTED, WOULD AGAIN FIT MY DEFINITION OF APPEASEMENT.....

IF THE OTHER NATIONS OF THE WORLD HAVEN'T GOT SENSE ENOUGH TO SEE WHERE APPEASEMENT LEADS AFTER THE APPEASEMENT WHICH LED TO THE SECOND WORLD WAR IN EUROPE, IF THEY CAN'T SEE EXACTLY THE ROAD THEY ARE FOLLOWING IN ASIA, WHY THEN WE HAD BETTER PROTECT OURSELVES AND GO IT ALONE.

MARSHALL: WE HAVE SPURNED APPEASEMENT. WE HAVE BROUGHT TO BEAR WHATEVER HAS BEEN NECESSARY, IN MONEY AND MANPOWER, TO CURB THE AGGRESSOR, AND WE HAVE SOUGHT IN EVERY POSSIBLE WAY TO AVOID A THIRD WORLD WAR.

-DASH-

REASONS FOR MACARTHUR'S RECALL

MACARTHUR: I KNOW NOTHING ABOUT THEREASONS FOR MY RECALL EXCEPT THE ORDER THE PRESIDENT ISSUED...I CAN'T BELIEVE THE TRADITIONAL AUTHORITY THAT THE COMMANDER IN THE FIELD HAS TO NEGOTIATE WITH HIS VIS-A-VIS, THE SITE COMMANDER, ON AN ARMISTICE WOULD BE THE SUBJECT OF CRITICISM FROM ANY SOURCE WHATSOEVER IN THE WORLD.....

I HAD NOT RECEIVED THE SLIGHTEST INFORMATION THAT THE MATTER WAS UNDER DISCUSSION.....
I HAVE BEEN A SOLDIER 52 YEARS. I HAVE IN THAT TIME, TO THE BEST OF MY ABILITY, CARRIED OUT EVERY ORDER THAT WAS EVER GIVEN ME. X X X X ANY INSINUATION BY ANYONE, HOWEVER HIGH HIS OFFICE, THAT I HAVE EVER IN ANY WAY FAILED, TO THE LEVEL OF MY ABILITY, TO CARRY OUT MY INSTRUCTIONS IS COMPLETELY UNWORTHY AND UNWARRANTED.....
THE REASON WAS GIVEN THAT IT WAS FELT I COULD NOT GIVE MY COMPLETE SUPPORT TO THE POLICIES OF THE UNITED STATES AND OF THE UNITED NATIONS..... BUT IT SEEMS TO ME COMPLETELY INVALID. I HAVE NOT ONLY CARRIED OUT EVERY DIRECTIVE THAT I HAVE EVER RECEIVED BUT THAT I WAS TRYING TO DO WAS TO FIND OUT WHAT THE DIRECTIVES WERE FOR THE FUTURE.

MARSHALL: .....WHAT HAS BROUGHT ABOUT THE NECESSITY FOR GEN. MACARTHUR'S REMOVAL IS THE WHOLLY UNPRECEDENTED SITUATION BY A LOCAL THEATER COMMANDER PUBLICLY EXPRESSING HIS DISPLEASURE AT, AND HIS DISAGREEMENT WITH, THE FOREIGN AND MILITARY POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES.
IT BECAME APPARENT THAT GEN. MACARTHUR HAD GROWN SO FAR OUT OF SYMPATHY WITH THE ESTABLISHED POLICIES OF THE UNITED STATES THAT THERE WAS GRAVE DOUBT AS TO WHETHER HE COULD ANY LONGER BE PERMITTED TO EXERCISE THE AUTHORITY IN MAKING DECISIONS THAT NORMAL COMMAND FUNCTIONS WOULD ASSIGN TO A THEATER COMMANDER. IN THIS SITUATION, THERE WAS NO OTHER RECOURSE BUT TO RELIEVE HIM.
.... BUT GEN. MACARTHUR'S RELIEF WAS NOT BASED ENTIRELY ON THAT FACTOR.....

MAY 13 1951

DURING THE EARLY PART OF MARCH, WHEN IT APPEARED LIKELY THAT THE FORWARD MOVEMENT OF THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES WOULD SOON BRING THEM BACK TO THE VICINITY OF THE 38TH PARALLEL, IT WAS DECIDED THAT CONSIDERATION SHOULD BE GIVEN TO THE PREPARATION OF A STATEMENT TO BE ISSUED BY THE PRESIDENT AS THE EXECUTIVE AGENT OF THE UNITED NATIONS, RELATING TO THE POSSIBILITY OF A NEGOTIATED SETTLEMENT FOR THE KOREAN CONFLICT.....
ON MARCH 20, THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF DISPATCHED THE FOLLOWING MESSAGE TO GEN. MACARTHUR:
"STATE PLANNING A PRESIDENTIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SHORTLY THAT WITH THE CLEARING OF BULK OF SOUTH KOREA OF AGGRESSORS, UNITED NATIONS NOW PREPARED TO DISCUSS CONDITIONS OF SETTLEMENT IN KOREA ..... TIME WILL BE REQUIRED TO DETERMINE DIPLOMATIC REACTIONS AND PERMIT NEW NEGOTIATIONS THAT MAY DEVELOP....."
ON THE 24TH OF MARCH, GEN. MACARTHUR ISSUED A PUBLIC STATEMENT WITH RESPECT TO THE KOREAN CONFLICT. HE STATED THAT SHOULD THE UNITED NATIONS DEPART FROM ITS EFFORT TO CONFINE THE WAR TO THE AREA OF KOREA....RED CHINA WOULD BE DOOMED TO THE RISK OF IMMINENT MILITARY COLLAPSE.....HE FURTHER POINTED OUT THAT IF THESE BASIC FACTS WERE CARRIED OUT THERE SHOULD BE NO DIFFICULTY IN ARRIVING AT DECISIONS ON THE KOREAN PROBLEM, PROVIDED THE ISSUES WERE RESOLVED ON THEIR OWN MERITS WITHOUT BEING BURDENED BY SUCH MATTERS AS FORMOSA AND RED CHINA'S SEAT IN THE UNITED NATIONS.....
HE ADDED THAT WITHIN HIS AUTHORITY AS MILITARY COMMANDER HE STOOD READY TO CONFER IN THE FIELD WITH THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE ENEMY FORCES..... TO FIND ANY MILITARY MEANS WHEREBY THE REALIZATION OF THE POLITICAL OBJECTIVES OF THE UNITED NATIONS MIGHT BE ACCOMPLISHED.
AT THE TIME THE FOREGOING STATEMENT WAS ISSUED, THE CLEARANCE OF THE PROPOSED PRESIDENTIAL DECLARATION WITH THE OTHER 13 NATIONS HAVING FORCES IN KOREA HAD VERY NEARLY BEEN COMPLETED.
IN VIEW OF THE SERIOUS IMPACT OF GEN. MACARTHUR'S STATEMENT ON THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THESE NATIONS, IT BECAME NECESSARY TO ABANDON THE EFFORT, THUS LOSING WHATEVER CHANCE THERE MAY HAVE BEEN AT THAT TIME TO NEGOTIATE A SETTLEMENT OF THE KOREAN CONFLICT.

-DASH-

TIMING OF MACARTHUR'S REMOVAL
MACARTHUR: I HAD NOT RECEIVED THE SLIGHTEST INFORMATION THAT THE MATTER WAS UNDER DISCUSSION.....
BEING SUMMARILY RELIEVED IN THAT WAY MADE IT IMPOSSIBLE TO CARRY OUT DIRECTIVES THAT I WAS WORKING ON AT THAT MOMENT. I HAVE TO TURN THEM OVER TO MY SUCCESSOR, GEN. (MATTHEW) RIDGWAY, WHO WAS 350 MILES AWAY ON THE KOREAN FRONT.
I DON'T THINK THERE IS ANY QUESTION THAT THE INTEREST OF THE UNITED STATES WAS JEOPARDIZED IN SUCH A SUMMARY MODE OF TURNING OVER GREAT RESPONSIBILITIES WHICH INVOLVE THE SECURITY OF THE COUNTRY.....
MARSHALL: WITH THE UNANIMOUS CONCURRENCE OF ALL THOSE PRESENT (SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON, MARSHALL, GEN. OMWR BRADLEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF; AND AMBASSADOR AVERILL HARRIMAN, SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT), THE PRESIDENT AT THAT TIME (THE MORNING OF APRIL 9) TOOK HIS DECISION TO RELIEVE GEN. MACARTHUR.
ON TUESDAY, THE 10TH, AT 3 P.M. THERE WAS ANOTHER MEETING OF THE PRESIDENT WITH THE SAME GROUP TO PASS ON THE FORM OF THE MESSAGE.....
ORIGINALLY, IT WAS DECIDED TO TRANSMIT THE NOTIFICATION TO GEN. MACARTHUR AT 8 P.M.. WASHINGTON TIME. ON WEDNESDAY. APRIL 11.....
HOWEVER, LATE ON TUESDAY, APRIL 10, THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT THE ACTION TO BE TAKEN HAD BECOME KNOWN PUBLICLY, AND IT WAS THEN DECIDED BY THE PRESIDENT TO ACCELERATE THE TRANSMISSION OF THE OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION TO GEN. MACARTHUR BY APPROXIMATELY 20 HOURS.....
CHAIRMAN RUSSELL: I MUST OBSERVE I THINK THAT IS ONE OF THE MOST STARTLING INSTANCES I EVER HEARD OF, THAT A MATTER OF THIS TREMENDOUS IMPORTANCE SHOULD HAVE BECOME PUBLIC BEFORE IT WAS INTENDED THAT IT SHOULD.
MARSHALL: I BELIEVE THIS WAS A RUMOR WHICH THEY THOUGHT HAD PRETTY GOOD FOUNDATION, BUT I WAS NOT INVOLVED IN THAT.

--DASH--

MAY 13 1951

JOINT CHIEFS' RECOMMENDATIONS
(THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF ON JAN. 12 PROPOSED 16 RECOMMENDED COURSES OF ACTION RELATING TO KOREA. A COPY WAS SENT TO MACARTHUR FOR HIS INFORMATION, PENDING A DECISION ON THE RECOMMENDATIONS. MACARTHUR REFERRED TO FOUR OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS: ("CONTINUE AND INTENSIFY NOW AN ECONOMIC BLOCKADE OF TRADE WITH CHINA.
("PREPARE NOW TO IMPOSE A NAVAL BLOCKADE OF CHINA AND PLACE IT INTO EFFECT AS SOON AS OUR POSITION IS STABILIZED OR WHEN WE HAVE EVACUATED KOREA, AND DEPENDING UPON CIRCUMSTANCES THEN OBTAINING.
("REMOVE NOW RESTRICTIONS ON AIR RECONNAISSANCE OF CHINA COASTAL AREAS AND MANCHURIA.
("REMOVE NOW THE RESTRICTIONS ON OPERATIONS OF THE CHINESE NATIONALIST FORCES AND GIVE SUCH LOGISTIC SUPPORT TO THOSE FORCES AS WILL CONTRIBUTE TO EFFECTIVE OPERATIONS AGAINST THE COMMUNISTS.")
MACARTHUR: THE POSITION OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF AND MY OWN SO FAR AS I KNOW WERE PRACTICALLY IDENTICAL.... AS FAR AS I KNOW, THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF HAVE NEVER CHANGED THOSE RECOMMENDATIONS. IF THEY HAVE, I HAVE NEVER BEEN INFORMED OF IT..... A DECISION PUTTING THIS (MEMORANDUM) INTO EFFECT NEVER ARRIVED.
CHAIRMAN RUSSELL: SO IF THAT WAS A RECOMMENDATION OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, IT ENCOUNTERED A VETO SOMEWHERE ALONG THE LINE, EITHER FROM THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE OR THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES?
MACARTHUR: I WOULD ASSUME SO, SIR.
--DASH--

30.24- 22921

A125

MARSHALL: AT THE TIME THIS MEMORANDUM WAS PREPARED, WE WERE FACED WITH THE VERY REAL POSSIBILITY OF HAVING TO EVACUATE OUR FORCES FROM KOREA. THE PROPOSALS ADVANCED BY THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.... WERE PUT FORWARD AS TENTATIVE COURSES OF ACTION TO BE PURSUED IF AND WHEN THIS POSSIBILITY CAME CLOSER TO REALITY.....

THEREAFTER THE SITUATION OF OUR FORCES IN KOREA CONTINUED TO IMPROVE.....

AS THE RESULT OF THIS CHANGE IN THE MILITARY SITUATION FROM THAT WHICH PREVAILED DURING THE EARLY PART OF JANUARY, IT BECAME UNNECESSARY TO PUT INTO EFFECT ALL OF THE COURSES OF ACTION OUTLINED IN THE JOINT CHIEFS' MEMORANDUM OF JAN. 12.

NONE OF THESE PROPOSED COURSES OF ACTION WERE VETOED OR DISAPPROVED BY ME OR BY ANY HIGHER AUTHORITY. ACTION WITH RESPECT TO MOST OF THEM WAS CONSIDERED INADVISABLE IN VIEW OF THE RADICAL CHANGE IN THE SITUATION WHICH ORIGINALLY HAD GIVEN RISE TO THEM.

--DASH--

FORMOSA AND CEASE FIRE TERMS

MACARTHUR: THE POSITION THAT WAS TAKEN BY THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF IN WHICH I WAS IN FULLEST AGREEMENT, LATE IN MARCH AS I RECALL, WAS THAT THE TERMS OF AN ARMISTICE OR CEASE FIRE, SHOULD SPECIFICALLY NOT INCLUDE THE RECOGNITION OF ANY SEATING OF RED CHINA IN THE UNITED NATIONS OR A CONSIDERATION OF TURNING OVER FORMOSA (TO RED CHINA).

IT WAS, I UNDERSTAND, IN THOSE TWO PARTICULARS, DISAPPROVED BY THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE WHO SAID THAT HE BELIEVED THAT THOSE TWO ITEMS MIGHT WELL BE CONSIDERED AT THE CONFERENCE, THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

....I BELIEVE THAT FROM OUR STANDPOINT WE PRACTICALLY LOSE THE PACIFIC OCEAN IF WE GIVE, UP OR LOSE FORMOSA.

MARSHALL: AT THE TIME I BECAME SECRETARY OF DEFENSE LAST SEPTEMBER, THE ESTABLISHED POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES WAS TO DENY FORMOSA TO COMMUNIST CHINA AND TO OPPOSE THE SEATING OF THE COMMUNIST CHINESE IN THE UNITED NATIONS.

THERE HAS BEEN NO DEVIATION FROM THAT POLICY WHATSOEVER. AT NO TIME HAVE I ENTERTAINED THE OPINION THAT THERE SHOULD BE ANY DEVIATION.....

MAY 13 1951

WHEN THE TIME COMES FOR NEGOTIATION OF A SETTLEMENT OF THE CONFLICT IN KOREA, THE QUESTIONS OF FORMOSA AND THE SEATING OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN THE UNITED NATIONS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY BE RAISED BY OTHER PARTIES TO THE DISCUSSION.

..... THIS GOVERNMENT WILL NOT OPPOSE DISCUSSION OF THESE QUESTIONS. IN SUCH DISCUSSIONS, HOWEVER, I AM CONFIDENT THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL CONTINUE TO ADHERE TO ITS PRESENT POSITION, NAMELY, THAT IT WILL OPPOSE ANY SETTLEMENT OF THE KOREAN CONFLICT WHICH WOULD REWARD THE AGGRESSOR IN ANY MANNER WHATEVER, AND IT WILL OPPOSE THE ATTEMPT OF ANY NATION OR REGIME TO SHOOT ITS WAY INTO THE UNITED NATIONS.

BLOCKADE

MAC ARTHUR: THERE IS NO WEAPON OF WAR, IN MY OPINION, THAT IS QUITE AS EFFICACIOUS AS A BLOCKADE.

IF YOU PUT ON A BLOCKADE, AND IT IS SUCCESSFUL, YOU ARE APT TO KILL THEM BY THE MILLIONS. EVERY OTHER WEAPON HAS A CERTAIN DEGREE OF LIMITATION.... BUT WHEN YOU PUT YOUR BLOCKADE ON THEM AND PREVENT THEM FROM GETTING FOOD, AND THE ORDINARY PROCESSES THAT KEEP LIFE IN MODERN CIVILIZATION, YOU THREATEN THE LIFE OF THE ENTIRE GROUP.

Q -- IF BRITAIN FORBADE FURTHER IMPORTS INTO CHINA THROUGH HONG KONG OF WAR MATERIALS, WOULD NOT THE SAME OBJECTIVE BE ACHIEVED AS THOSE SOUGHT BY THE BLOCKADE?

MACARTHUR: THAT WOULD BE A PART OF A BLOCKADE. IT WOULD CLOSE THE MAIN ENTRANCE.

--DASH--

A128

MARSHALL: TO CONTINUE AND INTENSIFY THE ECONOMIC BLOCKADE OF CHINA HAS BEEN PUT INTO EFFECT (BY THE UNITED STATES).

TO PREPARE NOW TO IMPOSE A BLOCKADE, A NAVAL BLOCKADE, OF CHINA, THAT HAS NOT -- THE PREPARATIONS HAVE BEEN MADE, BUT IT HAS NOT BEEN PUT INTO EFFECT.....

ON MAY 7 LAST, THE UNITED KINGDOM AND FRANCE INDICATED THAT THEY WERE NOW PREPARED TO SUPPORT A RESOLUTION INTRODUCED BY THE UNITED STATES (IN THE UNITED NATIONS) FOR AN INTERNATIONAL EMBARGO AGAINST COMMUNIST CHINA. NOW THAT IS QUITE A CHANGE THERE OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT AND THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT. IMPOSITION OF SUCH AN INTERNATIONAL EMBARGO WILL, OF COURSE,MAKE THE QUESTION OF A NAVAL BLOCKADE OF FAR LESS IMPORTANCE, ALMOST ACADEMIC MAY 13 1951

--DASH--

INTELLIGENCE RIFT?

Q--IS IT TRUE THAT CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY MEN WERE NOT GIVEN ACCESS TO YOUR INTELLIGENCE FILES AND THAT THEY WERE CONFRONTED WITH AN ORDER THAT THEY COULD NOT HAVE ACCESS TO THE BATTLEFIELD?

MACARTHUR: TOMMYROT...PURE BUNKUM...I THINK ANY THEATER COMMANDER WOULD BE GLAD TO HAVE ANY ASSISTANCE HE COULD GET IN INTELLIGENCE.

Q--YOU KNOW OF NO FRICTION BETWEEN THE CHIEF OF YOUR INTELLIGENCE SERVICE, GEN. WILLOUGHBY, AND THE OTHERS OF THE C.I.A. UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF GEN. SMITH?

MACARTHUR: NOTHING THAT WOULD NOT BE NORMAL AND MINOR, NOTHING THAT EVER REACHED ME.

MARSHALL: I DO RECALL IN A HAZY SORT OF A WAY A CONVERSATION WITH GEN. SMITH OF THE C.I.A. REFERRING TO SOME DIFFICULTY IN RELATION TO GEN. WILLOUGHBY, &3,. MACARTHUR'S G-2.

--DASH--

RUSSIAN-CHINESE PACT

(THE TREATY, AS QUOTED IN THE U.S.S.R. INFORMATION BULLETIN, SAYS THAT IN THE EVENT EITHER RUSSIA OR COMMUNIST CHINA IS "ATTACKED BY

GEN. WILLOUGHBY, GEN. MACARTHUR'S G-2.

--DASH--

RUSSIAN-CHINESE PACT

(THE TREATY, AS QUOTED IN THE U.S.S.R. INFORMATION BULLETIN, SAYS THAT IN THE EVENT EITHER RUSSIA OR COMMUNIST CHINA IS "ATTACKED BY JAPAN OR STATES ALLIED WITH IT, AND THUS BEING INVOLVED IN A STATE OF WAR, THE OTHER HIGH CONTRACTING PARTY WILL IMMEDIATELY RENDER MILITARY AND OTHER ASSISTANCE WITH ALL MEANS AT ITS DISPOSAL.")

Q--GENERALLY YOU DO NOT THINK THE LANGUAGE....IS BROAD ENOUGH TO ENCOMPASS A RIGHT TO EXPECT ASSISTANCE BY RED CHINA FROM RED RUSSIA IN CASE RED CHINA WAS ATTACKED BY ANY OTHER COUNTRY THAN JAPAN?

MACARTHUR: I THINK THE TERMS OF THE TREATY AS FAR AS I RECALL THEM WERE SO ELASTIC THAT IT WAS SUBJECT TO INTERPRETATION ALONG THOSE LINES.

MARSHALL: THE FACT THAT THE PACT DIRECTLY REFERRED TO THE JAPANESE, POSSIBLE INTERVENTION ON THE MAINLAND OF ASIA, I KNOW CONTROLLED THE ACTION OF THIS GOVERNMENT IN NOT USING ANY JAPANESE WHATSOEVER IN KOREA.

--DASH--

RUSSIAN DOUBLE-CROSS?

MACARTHUR: WHETHER THEY (THE COMMUNIST CHINESE) WOULD WISH TO HAVE SOVIET TROOPS AND FORCES INJECTED INTO THE VERY HEART OF CHINA, I DON'T KNOW, SIR.

THERE ARE MANY POSSIBILITIES AS TO THE SHADE OF HELP THAT THEY MIGHT DESIRE, AND THE RISKS THEY WOULD THEMSELVES RUN IF THEY PLACED THEMSELVES COMPLETELY WITHIN THE MILITARY DOMINION AND POWER OF THE SOVIET.

IT IS QUITE POSSIBLE THAT THEY WOULD REGARD THAT WITH A DEGREE OF FEAR AND DISMAY THAT WOULD TEND TO PREVENT THEM FROM CONSIDERING IT SERIOUSLY.

--DASH--

Q TO MARSHALL-- IT HAS BEEN SUGGESTED THAT THE RUSSIAN TACTICS ARE TO GET ITS STOOGES, THE RED CHINESE IN THIS INSTANCE, SO EXHAUSTED THAT IT CAN EASILY TAKE OVER THE COUNTRY IF THE RED CHINESE ARE ESSENTIALLY WEAKENED. DO YOU THINK THAT IS A POSSIBILITY IN THE MINDS OF THE RUSSIANS?

MARSHALL: I DON'T KNOW. IT IS A CONSIDERATION.

2ND NITE LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (420)

BY DON HUTH

TOKYO,SUNDAY,MAY 13-(AP)-MASSING RED TROOPS TODAY STEPPED UP THEIR PREPARATIONS IN THE MOUNTAINS OF CENTRAL KOREA FOR A NEW OFFENSIVE DESPITE HEAVY ALLIED ARTILLERY AND PLANE ATTACKS.

ANOTHER RED CONCENTRATION, ESTIMATED AT 15,000, WAS REPORTED ON THE WESTERN FRONT ABOUT 20 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

ONE DEVELOPMENT SUGGESTED THE REDS MAY BE ABOUT SET TO STRIKE.

AP CORRESPONDENT GEORGE MCARTHUR REPORTED IN A FIELD DISPATCH THAT RED VEHICULAR MOVEMENTS REACHED A LOW POINT SATURDAY. IN THE PAST, A SHARP FALLING OFF OF SUPPLY MOVEMENTS HAS PRECEDED THE OUTBREAK OF COMMUNIST OFFENSIVES.

REDS IN THE CENTER WERE POURING DOWN FROM THE NORTH TOWARD A THREE-MILE-WIDE BRIDGEHEAD ON THE SOUTH BANK OF THE CHOYANG RIVER MORE THAN 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

THIS AFTERNOON'S FAR EAST AIR FORCE SUMMARY SAID PLANES ATTACKED RED CONCENTRATIONS IN CENTRAL KOREA NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL THROUGHOUT THE DAY SATURDAY. LAST NIGHT THE ATTACKS WERE SUSTAINED BY LIGHT AND MEDIUM BOMBERS USING RADAR.

FEAF SAID THAT MORE THAN 200 OF SATURDAY'S 970 SORTIES (INDIVIDUAL FLIGHTS) WERE DIRECTED AT RED TROOPS, SUPPLIES, VEHICLES AND ANTI-AIRCRAFT POSITIONS IN THE CENTER.

THE MID-MORNING COMMUNIQUES OF BOTH THE U.S. EIGHTH ARMY IN KOREA AND GENERAL HEADQUARTERS IN TOKYO NOTED A STEPUP OF RED ACTIVITIES.

"AIR OBSERVATION REPORTED AN INCREASE IN ENEMY ACTIVITY AND MOVEMENT IN THE AREA SOUTHEAST OF HWACHON DURING THE DAY (SATURDAY)," EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED.

HWACHON, SEVEN MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL, IS 15 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE REDS' CHOYANG RIVER BRIDGEHEAD NEAR CHUNCHON IN SOUTH KOREA.

THE REDS REPULSED AMERICAN INFANTRY IN A SIX-HOUR BATTLE SATURDAY AND EXPANDED THE BRIDGEHEAD.

THE GENERAL HEADQUARTERS COMMUNIQUE SAID "AIR SIGHTINGS INDICATE ACCELERATION OF HOSTILE ACTIVITY IN FORWARD AREAS AND MOVEMENT OF SUPPLIES SOUTHWARD."

A123KX

GROUND ACTIVITY WAS LIMITED LARGELY TO SKIRMISHES. BUT SOUTH KOREANS HAD TO REPEL A HALF DOZEN RED COUNTERATTACKS NEAR INJE, JUST NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL AND MORE THAN 75 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. AT ONE POINT, THE SOUTH KOREANS WERE FORCED BACK 400 YARDS.

NAVY CARRIER-BASED PLANES RAKED REDS IN TRENCHES NEAR INJE.

BOTH INJE AND CHUNCHON WERE RED BUILDUP AREAS. ANOTHER WAS NEAR KAPYONG, 32 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

AT EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, AP CORRESPONDENT ROBERT EUNSON SAID REPORTS WERE RECEIVED THAT 15,000 REDS WERE MASSING ON THE WESTERN FRONT NEAR THE VILLAGE OF KALGONG. THE VILLAGE IS SIX MILES EAST OF JUNSAN IN AN AREA ABOUT 20 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL.

ALLIED PATROLS IN THE WEST RAN INTO RED ANTI-TANK AND MORTAR FIRE.

NORTH OF UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, REDS ON BOTH SIDES OF THE ROAD FOUGHT A HALF DOZEN SMALL SKIRMISHES SATURDAY. A RED MULE TRAIN WEST OF THE ROAD WAS BLASTED BY ARTILLERY FIRE.

MORE THAN 1,700 REDS WERE KILLED OR WOUNDED IN GROUND ACTION SATURDAY, EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED.

ALLIED PLANES ACCOUNTED FOR OTHERS. IN WASHINGTON, U.S.AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS SAID ITS PLANES HAVE INFLICTED 108,000 RED CASUALTIES FROM THE START OF THE WAR THROUGH MAY 9.

MAY 13 1951

FAR EAST AIR FORCE PILOTS REPORTED THEY KILLED OR WOUNDED 600 REDS SATURDAY. SHORE-BASED MARINE PILOTS CLAIMED 250 CASUALTIES IN ONE STRIKE NORTH OF UIJONGBU.

ABOUT 1,000 REDS, USING MORTARS AND AUTOMATIC WEAPONS, SPEARHEADED THE RED THRUST ACROSS THE CHOYANG NEAR CHUNCHON.

ALLIED ARTILLERY HAMMERED AT AN ESTIMATED DIVISION OF CHINESE REDS ALSO REPORTED SOUTH OF THE CHOYANG AND EAST OF CHUNCHON. TWO NORTH KOREAN REGIMENTS WERE FARTHER EAST NEAR INJE.

IN THE WEST, THE REDS LABORIOUSLY HAULTED HEAVY ARTILLERY INTO POSITIONS SOME 20 MILES OR LESS NORTH OF SEOUL. THAT SECTOR WAS RELATIVELY QUIET SATURDAY, HOWEVER.

CLOUDS OF SMOKE FROM SMUDGE POTS AND BURNING TIMBERS ROSE OVER RED CONCENTRATIONS ALL ALONG THE WAR FRONT. IT WAS AN OLD DEVICE TO CONCEAL PREPARATIONS FOR AN EXPECTED NEW COMMUNIST GENERAL ATTACK.

ALLIED WARPLANES DARTED THROUGH THE SMOKE SCREEN, HOWEVER, TO SLASH AT TROOP CONCENTRATIONS, MULE PACK TRAINS, AND HEAVY MOVEMENTS BY TRUCKS, MOTORCYCLES AND OXEN CARTS.

THROUGH THE HAZE, ALLIED PILOTS REPORTED COMMUNIST TROOPS MOVING BY TWO AND SPREAD OUT FOR MILES ALONG THE NORTH KOREAN HINTERLAND.

THE REDS MARCHED ABOUT 50 YARDS APART TO PRESENT MORE DIFFICULT TARGETS FOR STRAFING ALLIED PLANES.

THEY WERE HEADED SOUTH AND EAST FROM THE COMMUNIST COLLECTING POINTS ABOVE HWACHON, 15 MILES NORTH OF CHUNCHON, THE PILOTS SAID.

CHUNCHON, NOW A NO-MAN'S TOWN EIGHT MILES SOUTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL AND 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL, CONTROLS RAIL AND ROAD NETWORKS RADIATING THROUGH KOREA'S MOUNTAINOUS CENTER.

THERE WAS NO INDICATION WHEN OR WHERE THE REDS WOULD STRIKE NEXT. THE CHINESE USUALLY MOVE THEIR STRIKING FORCE AND SUPPORTING UNITS TO WITHIN ONE DAY'S MARCH OF THE FRONT. WHEN THE PRESENT BUILDUP MOVEMENT STOPS, A RENEWED RED ASSAULT MAY QUICKLY FOLLOW.

THE MAIN MOVEMENT BEHIND THE RED FRONT SATURDAY WAS TO THE EAST ABOVE CHUNCHON. RED FORCES CRAMMED CONVOYS OF TRUCKS AND MOTORCYCLES

30.24- 22923

FROM HWACHON TOWARD YANGGU AT THE EASTERN TIP OF THE BIG HWACHON RESERVOIR--THIRD LARGEST IN ALL KOREA.

AN ALLIED OFFICER TOLD AP CORRESPONDENT JIM BECKER THAT THE REDS APPEARED TO BE USING THE SAME TACTICS WHICH PRECEDED THEIR APRIL 22 OFFENSIVE.

"TWO DAYS BEFORE THEY HIT US WE SAW QUITE A FEW OF THEM," THE OFFICER SAID. "THE DAY BEFORE THEY STRUCK, WE COULDN'T FIND ANY. THEN THE ATTACK CAME."

THAT ATTACK WAS SHATTERED IN LESS THAN A WEEK, WITH RED CASUALTIES ESTIMATED AT 75,000 -- ABOUT ONE-FOURTH OF THE 300,000 MEN THEY USED.

A205KX

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, THE U.S. EIGHTH ARMY COMMUNIQUE SATURDAY NIGHT TOLD OF COMMUNIST CONCENTRATIONS "INCLUDING ARTILLERY AND PACK TRAINS" HIT BY ALLIED AIR AND ARTILLERY NORTH-NORTHWEST OF UIJONGBU. AMERICAN PATROLS ABOVE UIJONGBU, WHICH IS 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, REPORTED ABOUT 200 REDS AND AN UNKNOWN NUMBER OF ARTILLERY PIECES IN THE AREA. CENSORSHIP CONCEALED THE EXACT LOCATION.

PATROLS WERE ACTIVE IN THE PUPYONG AND KAPYONG AREAS, 15 TO 32 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL, WHERE OTHER RED CONCENTRATIONS HAVE BEEN SPOTTED.

A DOZEN U.S. F-86 SABRE JETS TANGLED BRIEFLY WITH 16 RUSSIAN-BUILT MIGS SOME 30 MILES SOUTHEAST OF THE YALU RIVER BOUNDARY SATURDAY. ONE MIG WAS DAMAGED WHILE THE REST STREAKED FOR HOME. ALL OF THE SABRES RETURNED WITHOUT DAMAGE, THE AIRFORCE SAID.

OTHER FIFTH AIR FORCE FIGHTERS AND LIGHT BOMBERS FLEW 612 SORTIES SATURDAY AND CLAIMED 400 REDS KILLED OR WOUNDED. THE EIGHTH ARMY ESTIMATED ENEMY CASUALTIES FRIDAY WERE 850 DEAD OR WOUNDED.

FIRST LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP (520)

BY OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, MAY 12-(AP)-AMERICAN TROOPS BATTLED IN VAIN FOR SIX HOURS TODAY TO BREAK UP A RED BRIDGEHEAD BULGING OUT OF A SMOKE-SCREENED ENEMY BUILDUP AREA IN CENTRAL KOREA.

THE BRIDGEHEAD, THREE MILES WIDE, IS SOUTH OF THE CHOYANG RIVER, EAST OF CHUNCHON.

AN ESTIMATED TWO RED BATTALIONS, FIRING MORTARS AND AUTOMATIC WEAPONS, HELD THE BRIDGEHEAD AGAINST A STOUT ATTACK BY U.S. INFANTRYMEN WITH HEAVY AIR AND ARTILLERY SUPPORT.

THE AMERICANS BROKE CONTACT IN MID-AFTERNOON.

AGGRESSIVE ALLIED PATROLS TRADED SHOTS WITH DUG-IN REDS ELSEWHERE ALONG THE CENTRAL AND WESTERN FRONTS.

CHINESE COMMUNISTS COVERED THEIR BEHIND-THE-FRONT ACTIVITIES WITH A PALL OF SMOKE FROM FIRED TIMBER AND SMUDGE POTS.

UNITED NATIONS OFFICERS SAID THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT THE REDS WERE BUILDING FOR A SECOND SPRING OFFENSIVE, EXPECTED WITHIN THE NEXT TWO WEEKS.

THE LOCATIONS OF THE RED-BUILT FIRES HINTED THAT THE NEXT ENEMY BLOWS WOULD COME FROM POINTS 20 MILES NORTHWEST AND 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

ONE WALL OF SPREADING SMOKE 35 MILES LONG PARTLY HID COMMUNIST TROOP MOVEMENTS IN THE MOUNTAINOUS COUNTRY NORTH OF CHUNCHON. THAT TOWN IS 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL AND EIGHT MILES SOUTH OF PARALLEL 38. THE SMOKE-SCREEN EXTENDED FROM KUMHWA TO INJE, NORTH OF THE PARALELL.

IT WAS BELOW THIS BUILDUP AREA THAT THE REDS FORGED THEIR CHOYANG RIVER BRIDGEHEAD.

UNITED NATIONS PILOTS REPORTED RED SOLDIERS MOVING SOUTH TOWARD CHUNCHON IN PAIRS, 50 YARDS APART TO MAKE AIR ATTACK MORE DIFFICULT. THE TROOPS WERE STRUNG OUT FOR MILES ALONG THE NORTH KOREAN ROADS.

A FRONT LINE DISPATCH SAID REDS ALSO WERE REPORTED MASSING IN THE YANGGU SECTOR AT THE EAST END OF THE HWACHON RESERVOIR.

U.N. ARTILLERY POURED EXPLOSIVES INTO A RED BUILDUP REGION NORTH-EAST OF CHUNCHON WHERE AN ESTIMATED CHINESE DIVISION WAS REPORTED.

REDS SENT UP ANOTHER SMOKE PALL NEAR MUNSAN, ABOUT 20 MILES NORTHWEST OF SEOUL. THERE THE RED CONCENTRATION WAS 12 MILES SOUTH OF PARALLEL 38.

OTHER RED BUILDUPS HAVE BEEN OBSERVED BETWEEN MUNSAN AND CHUNCHON. THEY WERE NEAR PUPYONG AND KAPYONG, 15 TO 32 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.

A UNITED NATIONS OFFICER SAID AIR SPOTTERS SATURDAY SAW NO SIGN OF THE LARGE ENEMY GROUPS SEEN FRIDAY NORTH OF CHUNCHON.

HE POINTED OUT, HOWEVER, THAT THE SAME SITUATION PREVAILED BEFORE THE REDS LAUNCHED THEIR FIRST SPRING OFFENSIVE APRIL 22.

MAY 13 1951

"TWO DAYS BEFORE THEY HIT US WE SAW QUITE A FEW OF THEM," THE OFFICER SAID. "THE DAY BEFORE THEY STRUCK WE COULDN'T FIND ANY. THEN THE ATTACK CAME."

EVEN THE SAME TELL-TALE FIRES PRECEDED THE FIRST RED ASSAULT.

THAT DRIVE CAME TO A HALT 10 DAYS AFTER IT BEGAN. THE REDS SUFFERED 75,000 CASUALTIES.

UNITED NATIONS PILOTS REPORTED THEY KILLED NEARLY 400 REDS IN A FIRE-BOMB ATTACK ON A RED BUILDUP AREA NEAR KAPYONG.

U.S. B-29 SUPERFORTS HIT RED AIRFIELDS IN NORTH KOREA SATURDAY FOR THE EIGHTH CONSECUTIVE DAY.

TWELVE AMERICAN F-86 SABRE JETS CLASHED WITH 16 RUSSIAN-TYPE MIG-15 JETS OVER NORTHWEST KOREA SATURDAY, DAMAGED ONE AND DROVE THE REST BACK ACROSS THE BORDER INTO THEIR MANCHURIAN SANCTUARY.

ALL THE AMERICAN JETS RETURNED SAFELY TO THEIR BASE.

ALLIED FLIERS ATTACKED AT LEAST 300 RED VEHICLES MOVING TOWARD THE FRONT FRIDAY NIGHT. MORE THAN TWO-THIRDS WERE HEADED FOR THE CENTRAL FRONT BUILDUP AREA. PILOTS SAID THEY DESTROYED MORE THAN 80 VEHICLES.

THE FLIERS ALSO REPORTED AN INCREASE IN RED RAIL TRAFFIC.

AP CORRESPONDENT GEORGE MCARTHUR REPORTED FROM THE WEST-CENTRAL FRONT THAT 5,000 REDS WERE MASSING IN A VALLEY JUST BELOW THE 38TH PARALLEL NORTHWEST OF CHUNCHON.

HE ALSO SAID THE REDS HAVE EXTENSIVE ARTILLERY POSITIONS ON A LINE 25 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL.

NEAR UIJONGBU, 11 MILES NORTH OF SEOUL, REDS ATTACKED A UNITED NATIONS PROBING FORCE AND HURLED HAND GRENADES AT ITS TANKS.

ON THE EASTERN FRONT, WHICH IS JUST NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL, SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS ROUTED A NORTH KOREAN BATTALION NEAR INJE, MORE THAN 75 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. THE SOUTH KOREANS OCCUPPIED INJE FRIDAY.

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, SUNDAY, MAY 13-(AP)-LT.GEN. JAMES A. VAN FLEET TODAY PAID TRIBUTE TO THE FIGHTING ABILITY OF SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS ON THE EASTERN AND WESTERN FRONTS AND SAID THEY WERE NOW READY "TO MAKE A MAJOR CONTRIBUTION TO THE WAR EFFORT."

THE UNITED NATIONS GROUND FORCES COMMANDER ISSUED A STATEMENT SAYING THE SOUTH KOREANS "HAVE SHOWN GREAT AGGRESSIVE SPIRIT ALL DURING EARLY MAY WHICH FURNISHES A TREMENDOUS EXAMPLE TO THE REST OF THE ROK (REPUBLIC OF KOREA) TROOPS."

"IT IS AN ENCOURAGEMENT TO THE REST OF THE U.N. FORCES," HE ADDED, "TO KNOW THAT WE HAVE ROKS WHO CAN NOW MAKE A MAJOR CONTRIBUTION TO THE WAR EFFORT."

HIS STATEMENT APPARENTLY WAS MADE TO LIGHTEN THE EFFECTS OF THE COLLAPSE OF THE SIXTH ROK DIVISION ON THE CENTRAL FRONT DURING THE HEIGHT OF THE RECENT COMMUNIST OFFENSIVE.

ITS COLLAPSE ENDANGERED THE ENTIRE U.N. CENTRAL KOREAN POSITIONS AND NECESSITATED A LARGE SCALE WITHDRAWAL BY THE ALLIESM

INJE IS ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT.

"I AM HIGHLY PLEASED BY THEIR EFFORTS," HE ADDED.

THEN WITH OBVIOUS EMOTION, VAN FLEET TOLD THE NEWSMEN OF HIS RECENT TRIPS TO THE BATTLEFRONTS.

"UP THERE I VISITED THE SOLDIER, THE 'QUEEN OF BATTLES'. IT IS WONDERFUL TO GO UP THERE, AND IMBIBE HIS SPIRIT. HE IS THE MAN WHO SHOOTS THE GUNS. WHEN YOU SEE HIM THERE YOU FEEL LIKE HUGGING HIM LIKE YOUR OWN CHILD. BUT HE IS A MAN AND HE'S HANDLING THE HARDEST JOB IN THE WORLD."

KOREAN MASCOTS (650)

BY JOHN RANDOLPH

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, MAY 12-(AP)-TWENTY-TWO SAD BUT DRY-EYED LITTLE KOREAN KIDS WERE ROUNDED UP TODAY TO BE SENT TO SAFETY IN THE SOUTH--FAR AWAY FROM THEIR BELOVED U.S. FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION, WITH WHICH THEY HAVE TRAVELED FOR MONTHS ALONG THE DEADLY WAR FRONT.

THERE WERE THREE LITTLE GIRLS AND 19 BOYS, MANY WITH COWBOY HATS AND CAP GUNS, AND ALL BETWEEN THE AGES OF 5 AND 12.

REGIMENTS AND COMPANIES OF THE DIVISION HAD PICKED THEM UP ALONG THE ROAD AND PAMPERED AND CARED FOR THEM AS MASCOTS.

MAJ. GEN. CHARLES D. PALMER, THE DIVISION COMMANDER, DECIDED THEY REALLY HAD TO GO TO THE REAR. HE HAS ARRANGED FOR THEIR ADMISSION TO VARIOUS CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGES IN TAEGU.

THE ELDEST BOY WAS CHO HYUN KOO, A HANDSOME LAD WHO WORE TWO ENORMOUS CAP PISTOLS WITH THE QUIET DIGNITY OF A TEXAS SHERIFF.

"MY HOME IS CHUNGJU," HE SAID IN QUITE GOOD ENGLISH. "I STAYED WITH THE HEAVY MORTAR COMPANY. YES, I HAVE CAPS FOR THE PISTOLS. THE MOTOR POOL GOT THEM FROM THE UNITED STATES."

HE PATTED THE GUNS, MUCH TO THE ADMIRATION OF THE SMALLER FRY.

THE HEAVY MORTAR OUTFIT HAD DONE ALL RIGHT BY CHO. BESIDES HIS PISTOLS HE WORE A LONE RANGER SWEATER, A BASEBALL CAP, A PAIR OF BLUE JEANS AND COWBOY BOOTS.

HIS MOST PRIZED POSSESSION WAS A 17-JEWEL WRIST WATCH THAT LOOKED SUSPICIOUSLY LIKE THOSE ISSUED TO ARTILLERY OFFICERS.

THEN THERE WAS PAK.

"I PICKED UP PAK IN KAESONG ON THE RETREAT FROM PYONGYANG LAST DECEMBER," SAID PFC. BERNARD LAROCHE, 67 BEECH ST., FITCHBURG, MASS., A MEDIC.

"IT WAS ALMOST ZERO, BUT HE WAS ROLLING A HOOP DOWN THE ROAD AND ALL HE HAD ON WAS A T-SHIRT AND THOSE FUNNY RUBBER SLIPPERS. AN INTERPRETER TOLD US HIS MOTHER HAD BEEN SHOT BY THE NORTH KOREANS. LATER WE FOUND TWO PIECES OF SHRAPNEL IN THE BOY'S BACK.

"HE HAD A FUNNY KIND OF SMILE WITH BIG GAPS BETWEEN HIS TEETH. WE TOOK HIM ALONG. FOR ALMOST A MONTH ALL HE WOULD SAY WAS, 'NO BANG BANG'."

TODAY 7-YEAR-OLD PAK KNOWS ENOUGH ENGLISH TO HANDLE THE GIS' LAUNDRY ACCOUNTS. HE WAS WEARING A BLUE DENIM SUIT AND A YELLOW SILK CAVALRY SCARF.

MAY 13 1951

A202KX

CHARLIE CHONG LOOKED LIKE A HALF-PINT FIRST SERGEANT. HE WORE CLOTHES AND SHOES SIMILAR TO ARMY ISSUE, BUT THEY WERE HAND MADE. HE ALSO WORE A PAIR OF HUGE CAP PISTOLS.

KIM OK PO WORE ARTILLERY INSIGNIA AND A RED SCARF. CHO HANG CHUN HAD ON A SUIT OF FATIGUES AND AN ENGINEER'S BADGE. LEE CHONG WORE A HELMET LINER. CHE TE SHE WAS IN AN INFANTRYMAN'S UNIFORM, COMPLETE TO THE BLUE BRAID ON HIS OVERSEAS CAP.

PERHAPS THE ODDEST NUMBER IN THE LOT WAS LITTLE DOTTIE, 5-YEAR-OLD GIRL ADOPTED BY A TOUGH FRONTLINE INFANTRY OUTFIT -- COMPANY KING OF THE SEVENTH CAVALRY REGIMENT.

SHE WAS LITTLE MORE THAN A PAIR OF BIG BROWN EYES, SPARKLING UNDER A SHOCK OF STRAIGHT BLACK HAIR. SHE WAS A PICTURE OF ORIENTAL INNOCENCE, BUT SHE HAD PICKED UP ENGLISH THAT WOULD SHOCK A TRUCK DRIVER.

THE YOUNGSTERS KNEW SOMETHING WAS UP, BUT FEW REALIZED THEY WERE LEAVING A HAPPY-GO-LUCKY LIFE WITH THEIR GI FRIENDS.

SEVEN YEAR-OLD LEE EUN SUM SOBBED QUIETLY IN THE ARMS OF LT. WILLIAM DOERNBACH OF EGG HARBOR CITY, N.J.

30.24- 22925

THE LITTLE GIRL KNEW WHAT IT WAS ALL ABOUT. FOUR TIMES SHE HAD RUN AWAY FROM AN ORPHANAGE. EACH TIME SHE HAD TRACKED HER DIVISION ACROSS KOREA WITH THE SKILL OF AN INTELLIGENCE AGENT.

"YOU COME BACK!" SHE CRIED TO HER LIEUTENANT.

ANOTHER OFFICER LOOKED ON SYMPATHETICALLY. HE WAS MAJ. CARL CUMMINS OF 1465 GAYLORD ST., DENVER, A MEDICAL INSPECTOR.

"I KNOW HOW SHE FEELS," HE SAID. "I WAS AN ORPHAN FROM THE FIRST WORLD WAR. I WAS FOUR WHEN THEY SENT ME TO THE HOME. I HAVE NEVER FORGOTTEN IT.

"BUT THEY'LL MAKE OUT ALL RIGHT. I KNOW THAT, TOO. THEY'LL REMEMBER THEIR GI FRIENDS AND HAVE PLEASANT MEMORIES OF THE TIME THEY SPENT WITH US. THEY'RE BETTER OFF THAN THOSE POOR LITTLE DEVILS OUT THERE."

THE MAJOR GESTURED TO THE IRON GATES OUTSIDE THE RAILROAD COLLECTION STATION, WHERE MORE THAN A DOZEN STREET URCHINS HELD ONTO THE BARS AND WATCHED THE CHILDREN INSIDE.

THE AMERICANIZED CHILDREN WERE WELL-CLAD, WELL-FED, ROUND-CHEEKED. ON THE OUTSIDE WERE THIN FACES--THE LEAN AND HUNGRY LOOK.

Canberra , australia, may 12-(ap)-australia will send her aircraft carrier sydney to korea in october to relieve the british carrier glory, prime minister robert g. menzies announced today.

menzies said the sydney would be a substantial addition to australia's contribution to the united nations' forces in the korean conflict.

the prime minister made the announcement after a discussion on the adequacy of australia's korean forces by his cabinet yesterday the announcement came amid aroused indignation in the capitals of both australia and new zealand were indignant over a charge by the washington (d.c.) post that the two nations are laggards in the korean war effort. the post made the charge in an editorial thursday.

a high australian government spokesman urging that asserted yesterday that the post's comments the two countries be nudged into greater contributions in korea were based on false impressions. he said the newspaper was considering only the troops in both the fighting line, ignoring the fact that australian occupation forces in japan provided a base for the forces in the field and that australian aircraft and warships have been in korea since the start of hostilities.

new zealand's prime minister sidney g. holland asserted in wellington that his country was one of the first to answer the call for forces in korea. since then, he added, new zealand has "been asked to augment that strength and we have complied with every request made to us."

KOREA-PLANES (375)

BY ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-THE U.S. AIR FORCE HAS LOST 212 PLANES IN KOREA WHILE THE COMMUNISTS WERE LOSING 149.

IN MAKING THESE FIGURES PUBLIC TODAY, THE AIR FORCE OFFERED NO EXPLANATION. HOWEVER, THE AMERICAN AIRCRAFT HAVE BEEN USED CONSTANTLY IN SUPPORT OF GROUND FORCES AND IN BOMBING MISSIONS TO ENEMY HELD AREAS GUARDED BY ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS.

ON THE OTHER HAND, THE U. S. AIR FORCE HAS HAD DIFFICULTY IN LOCATING ENEMY PLANES TO DESTROY. IN THE FIRST FEW WEEKS OF THE WAR, THE ORIGINAL NORTH KOREAN COMMUNIST AIR FORCE WAS WIPED OUT. SINCE COMMUNIST CHINA ENTERED THE WAR, SHE HAS CHOSEN TO BASE HER PLANES SAFELY IN MANCHURIA, SENDING THEM OUT ONLY ON OCCASIONAL SALLIES CLOSE TO THE YALU RIVER BOUNDARY.

THE PLANE LOSS FIGURES WERE ISSUED AT A NEWS CONFERENCE BY LT.GEN. OTTO P.WEYLAND, WHO RECENTLY RETURNED FROM HIS POST OF DEPUTY COMMANDER OF FAR EAST AIR FORCES, TO BECOME DEPUTY COMMANDER OF THE TACTICAL AIR FORCE WITH HEADQUARTERS AT LANGLEY FIELD,VA.

THE U.S. AIR FORCE NOW HAS ABOUT 12 OF ITS 81 GROUPS DEPLOYED IN THE FAR EAST TO FIGHT THE KOREAN WAR AND BE READY FOR A CHINESE RED AIR FORCE EQUIPPED WITH THOROUGHLY MODERN RADAR DEVICES AS WELL AS JET FIGHTER PLANES.

MAY 13 1951

WEYLAND'S NEWS CONFERENCE BROUGHT OUT:

1. FROM LAST JUNE 26, WHEN THE U. S. SENT ITS FIRST PLANES INTO THE KOREAN WAR, THROUGH MAY 9 PLANES UNDER FAR EAST AIR FORCE CONTROL (U.S.A.F. AIRCRAFT, PLANES OF OTHER U.N. NATIONS, MARINE LAND BASED CRAFT, BUT NOT NAVAL PLANES) DESTROYED 149 ENEMY AIRCRAFT, PROBABLY DESTROYED 27, DAMAGED 167. OF THE TOTAL, 53 MIG-15 JETS WERE DESTROYED, 17 PROBABLY DESTROYED AND 103 DAMAGED, ALL IN AIR COMBAT.

2. IN ACCOMPLISHING THIS, FEAF LOSSES TO ENEMY ACTION (ENEMY PLANES AND ANTI-AIRCRAFT AND OTHER GROUND FIRE) TOTALLED 212 PLANES. U.S.A.F. PERSONNEL LOSSES THROUGH MAY 4 AMOUNTED TO 563.

BUT IN THE SAME PERIOD, THE U.S. AIR FORCE CLAIMS TO HAVE INFLICTED 108,000 CASUALTIES ON ENEMY TROOPS AND TO HAVE DESTROYED OR DAMAGED "WELL OVER 1,000 TANKS," 2,000 FIELD GUNS, MORE THAN 11,000 RAILROAD CARS AND 827 LOCOMOTIVES.

WEYLAND, WITHOUT ATTEMPTING TO MAKE STATISTICAL ESTIMATES, WAS CERTAIN THERE HAS BEEN A SUBSTANTIAL BUILDUP OF RED AIR STRENGTH. HE THOUGHT THE CHINESE RED AIR FORCE IS CAPABLE OF FLYING 500 SORTIES A DAY AGAINST U. N. BASES IN KOREA--"BUT I DON'T THINK THEY COULD SUSTAIN THAT VERY LONG." (A SORTIE IS ONE FLIGHT BY ONE PLANE.)

BECAUSE OF THE CONTINUING "WORKING OVER" OF NORTH KOREAN AIR FIELDS BY U. N. PLANES TO KEEP THEM INOPERATIVE, THE ENEMY IS FORCED TO FLY ALL BUT A VERY SMALL NUMBER OUT OF HIS FIELDS ACROSS THE BOUNDRY OF MANCHURIA, WEYLAND SAID.

london, may 12-(ap)-the times of l...

efforts by the united nations if the pr... present communist offensive fails.

the independent newspaper declared that if peace is to be achieved in korea, it must be made with the particip... of the chinese communists.

otherwise, it said, "peace is impossible."

the paper said the british government is right in realising that "the chinese communist government is firmly established and that chiang kai shek in no way represents a possible alternative.

the paper called general macarthur's "recipe for victory" a "policy of dangerous simplicity." and termed macarthur's "indifference to political considerations x x x still more astonishing."

"mad ening, obstinate, shortsighted and destructive though they have been, the chinese communists are necessary to a korean settlement -- if settlement there is to be," the times said.

MAY 13 1951

"it is for this reason that the british government have held it to be good sense until all hope is gone to do nothing which would make some kind of agreement with china more difficult.

"economic sanctions, a naval blockade and bombing of manchuria are all measures which would extend the war without bringing it to an end."

the paper said the chinese reds seem "indifferent to their appaling losses" and have not shown the slightest wish to negotiate, but added

"yet no nation, not even the chinese can be quite indifferent to the price they are paying in the field. there is at least a chance they will hesitate to go on if the present offensive fails. in that case the united nations would be wise to stand on or near the 38th parallel and not to pursue the chinese if they then withdrew.

"that would be the time for the united nations to put forward formal proposals for peace and to neglect no way of getting into touch with the peiping government.

"if that fails -- as of course it well may -- the united nations will have to decide whether to adopt general macarthur's policy or to choose yet another way."

PARIS, MAY 12-(AP)-RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS NOW FIND THEMSELVES
UNABLE TO AGREE ON HOW TO DISAGREE ON AN AGENDA FOR THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS.
DEPUTIES OF THE BIG FOUR MET FOR THE FIFTIETH TIME TODAY, ENDING THEIR TENTH WEEK OF TALKS ON AN AGENDA.
THEY HAVE AGREED ON SEVERAL ITEMS THAT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS

WESTERN POWERS, WANT TO SEND ALL THREE TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS AS "DISAGREED ITEMS," BUT RUSSIA IS INSISTING THAT AT LEAST ONE OF THEM BE AGREED--ON HER TERMS.
HERE ARE THE DISAGREEMENTS: RUSSIA WANTS GERMAN DEMILITARIZATION DISCUSSED FIRST, THE WEST WANTS IT TO APPEAR LATER IN THE AGENDA.
RUSSIA WANTS THE ITEM ON REDUCTION OF ARMS AND ARMIES TO APPLY ONLY TO RUSSIA, THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE, WHILE THE WEST
WANT TO TALK ABOUT WORLD-WIDE DISARMAMENT, INTERNATIONALLY CONTROLLED.
RUSSIA WANTS THE MINISTERS TO DISCUSS "THE NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY AND

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, MAY 12-(AP)-AMERICAN AND GERMAN AUTHORITIES--DETERMINED TO HALT THE FLOW OF STRATEGIC GERMAN GOODS THROUGH THE IRON CURTAIN--HALTED 4,000 TONS OF STEEL RAILS HEADED FOR HUNGARY YESTERDAY.
THE ACTION IS BELIEVED TO SIGNAL THE OPENING OF A DRIVE TO PLUG THE GERMAN BORDER LEAKS THROUGH WHICH AN ESTIMATED $1,000,000,000 (B) WORTH OF STRATEGIC GOODS HAVE FOUND THEIR WAY INTO COMMUNIST COUNTRIES SINCE WORLD WAR II.
THE MOVE WAS ANNOUNCED ONLY A FEW HOURS AFTER U.S. SENATORS HAD DEMANDED THAT U.S. HIGH COMMISSIONER JOHN J. MCCLOY EXPLAIN WHY HE HAD NOT STOPPED "RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES FROM FREELY AND OPENLY DRAINING WAR POTENTIAL MATERIALS FROM WEST GERMANY."
THE 325 CARLOADS OF RAILS HAD BEEN LEGALLY LICENSED FOR EXPORT BY GERMAN AUTHORITIES. A U.S. HIGH COMMISSION ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THEY WERE HALTED "BECAUSE THE SHIPMENT WAS DEEMED INADVISABLE."

FRANKFURT,GERMANY, MAY 12-(AP)-THE TALL, BLONDE LATVIAN YOUTH WITH THE QUICK SMILE SAID:

"WE HAVE A SAYING IN MY COUNTRY. WE SAY A MAN JOINS THE ARMY TO FIGHT AND HAVE A CLEAN SHIRT. THAT'S WHY I'M SIGNING UP HERE."

HE WAS THE FIRST ALIEN ACCEPTED FOR ENLISTMENT IN THE U.S. ARMY UNDER ITS NEW PROGRAM TO RECRUIT 2,500 NON-GERMAN ALIENS IN GERMANY.

WITH HIM WERE TWO OTHERS, A POLE AND AN ESTONIAN. THEY LED THE LIST OF 34 APPLICANTS WHO SIGNED UP TODAY AS ENLISTMENTS WERE OPENED.

ALL THREE WORE THE DARK BLUE UNIFORM OF THE U.S. ABOR SERVICE UNITS. THEY ALL SPOKE ENGLISH.

THE 27-YEAR-OLD LATVIAN SAID HIS FATHER HAD BEEN A CAVALRY OFFICER AND THAT HE HIMSELF HAD BEEN WITH THE LATVIAN LEGION IN WORLD WAR II.

THE 32-YEAR-OLD ESTONIAN HAD GRIMMER REASONS FOR WANTING TO JOIN. VIRTUALLY HIS WHOLE FAMILY DISAPPEARED INTO THE SOVIET MAW.

"IT'S HARD FOR ME TO PUT IN WORDS WHY I WANT TO JOIN," HE SAID SOBERLY. "BUT IT'S THE ONE WAY I CAN GO AND SO I AM GOING THAT WAY IF I CAN."

THE POLE, A 23-YEAR-OLD COLLEGE GRADUATE WHO ESCAPED TO THE WEST IN 1945, HAD A HARD-HEADED REASON FOR APPLYING FOR ENLISTMENT.

"YOU KNOW," HE SAID GRINNING, "THEY SAY THAT SOMETIMES A MAN WHO IS IN THE THICK OF A FIGHT IS BETTER OFF THAN ONE WHO STAYS BEHIND. THEY SAY HE CAN SAVE HIS LIFE BY FIGHTING."

THE POLE AND THE ESTONIAN SMILED AS THE YOUNG LATVIAN TRIED ON A U.S. ARMY JACKET FOR PHOTOGRAPHERS. IF ALL GOES WELL THEY WILL BE WEARING THEM OFFICIALLY IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

ALL THREE SAID THAT THERE WERE MANY OTHER ALIENS WHO WERE DISAPPOINTED BECAUSE THE ENLISTMENT PROGRAM IS RESTRICTED TO MEN BETWEEN 18 AND 35 WHO ARE UNMARRIED.

LT.WILLIAM F.SCHUMACHER, OF (275 W. 238TH ST. THE BRONX) NEW YORK, WHO IS IN CHARGE OF ENLISTMENTS HERE, SAID THE MEN SIGNED UP WILL HAVE TO PASS VARIOUS TESTS BEFORE BEING FORMALLY SWORN INTO SERVICE.

THESE TESTS WILL BE THE SAME AS THOSE GIVEN MEN IN AMERICA WHO ENTER THE ARMY.

THE ARMY HAS SET UP NINE REGIONS IN WEST GERMANY AND ONE IN WEST BERLIN TO PROCESS APPLICANTS.

THE 34 SIGNED UP AS THE OFFICES OPENED IN FRANKFURT WILL BE PROCESSED NEXT BY AN INTERVIEWING TEAM.

SCHUMACHER SAID STEPS PRESUMABLY WOULD MOVE FAIRLY FAST.

AND THEN HE ADDED:

"IT'S NOT A GOOD IDEA TO USE THE NAMES OF ANY OF THESE MEN. REMEMBER, THEY MAY HAVE RELATIVES LEFT IN THE EAST."

(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, MAY 13)

BY GEORGE BOULTWOOD

(ADVANCE) BONN, GERMANY, MAY 12-(AP)-ARE THE NAZIS MAKING A COME-BACK IN WESTERN GERMANY?

THIS QUESTION IS BEING ASKED BY ALARMED ALLIED AND GERMAN OFFICIALS SINCE THE STARTLING ELECTION SUCCESSES OF A NEW POLITICAL PARTY WHICH OPENLY BACKS NAZI IDEAS. NEARLY 400,000 WEST GERMANS LAST SUNDAY VOTED FOR THE RADICAL RIGHTWING SOCIALIST REICH PARTY AND GAVE IT 16 SEATS IN THE LOWER SAXONY STATE PARLIAMENT. SIMILAR SUCCESS ON A NATIONAL SCALE WOULD GIVE THEM MORE THAN 2,000,000 SUPPORTERS.

THE PARTY WON 11 PER CENT OF THE STATE VOTE BY CALLING FOR THE RESTORATION OF THE "MANY GOOD FEATURES OF NAZIISM," RULE BY THE 10 PER CENT ELITE OF THE NATION THROUGH THE HITLERITE "LEADERSHIP PRINCIPLE," AND THE NEUTRALIZATION OF GERMANY BETWEEN EAST AND WEST. NOW IT IS PLANNING A DRIVE TO SPREAD THESE DOCTRINES INTO OTHER STATES.

WEST GERMAN CHANCELLOR KONRAD ADENAUER HAS REPORTED TO THE ALLIED HIGH COMMISSION THAT THE NEW PARTY IS A SERIOUS THREAT TO THE DEMOCRATIC ORDER IN WEST GERMANY. BUT HE SAYS HIS GOVERNMENT CAN COPE WITH IT.

THUS A VITAL POLITICAL BATTLE WILL BE FOUGHT IN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS BETWEEN THE BONN REGIME AND THE NAZI-LIKE PARTY. THE BONN CABINET SAYS IT WILL ASK THE NEW FEDERAL CONSTITUTIONAL COURT TO OUTLAW THE PARTY. BUT THE COURT DOES NOT BEGIN ITS WORK FOR ANOTHER SIX WEEKS, AND IT MAY BE MONTHS BEFORE A RULING ON THE NEW PARTY IS HANDED DOWN.

MEANWHILE, BONN MUST CONTENT ITSELF WITH OUTLAWING THE PARTY'S JACKBOOTED "REICHSFRONT" GUARDS, WHICH APED HITLER'S STORM TROOPERS, AND WITH ASKING THE VARIOUS STATE GOVERNMENTS TO KEEP THE ACTIVITIES OF THE NEO (NEW)-NAZIS IN BOUNDS.

THE PRESENT SITUATION HAS A SPINE-CHILLING RESEMBLANCE TO THE 1930'S WHEN HITLER'S THUGS WERE BULLYING THEIR WAY INTO POWER. THE WESTERN ALLIES STILL HAVE THE POWER TO BAN THE PARTY AS A THREAT TO THE BASIC AIMS OF OCCUPATION. THEY ARE RELUCTANT TO DO SO, BELIEVING IT WOULD BE BETTER FOR THE PRESTIGE OF THE BONN GOVERNMENT IF IT HANDLES THE SITUATION ITSELF.

THE NAZI-STYLE SOCIALIST REICH PARTY (SRP) HAS EMERGED AT A CRITICAL TIME IN THE LIFE OF THE YOUNG WEST GERMAN REPUBLIC. THE WESTERN ALLIES ARE PREPARING TO GIVE UP ALMOST ALL THEIR RULING RIGHTS. TALKS BEGAN THIS WEEK ON THE SUBSTITUTION OF "CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENTS" FOR ALLIED RULE BY RIGHT OF CONQUEST. IN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS A NEW RELATIONSHIP, IN WHICH THE ALLIES WILL HAVE NO RIGHT OF DIRECT INTERFERENCE IN GERMAN AFFAIRS, WILL BE WORKED OUT.

SO, WHILE THE ALLIES ARE GIVING THE REPUBLIC POLITICAL FREEDOM, BONN WILL BE FIGHTING TO PRESERVE THAT FREEDOM.

WHY DID 11 PER CENT OF THE LOWER SAXONY ELECTORATE VOTE FOR THE SRP?

MAY 13 1951

A141

THE PARTY'S BIGGEST SUCCESSES WERE IN THE COUNTRY DISTRICTS AND THE INDUSTRIAL AREAS BUILT UP BY THE NAZI LABOR FRONT. THE TRADITIONALLY RIGHT-WING FARMERS' VOTE WAS SWELLED BY DISCONTENTED REFUGEES AND EXPELLEES FROM EAST GERMANY AND EAST EUROPE. THE INDUSTRIAL PROJECTS WERE NATURALLY STAFFED WITH THE MOST ARDENT NAZI FOLLOWEES, MANY OF WHOM APPEAR UNREPENTANT TO THIS DAY.

SRP SPEAKERS AT MASS RALLIES TROTTED OUT MANY OF THE OLD CATCH-PHRASES. THERE WAS MUCH TALK OF "GERMAN BLOOD" AND "GERMAN HONOR." THERE WAS NO APPARENT PARTY PROGRAM OR ANY REASONED DISCUSSION OF WEST GERMAN POLITICS. THE BONN GOVERNMENT WAS SIMPLY CONDEMNED AS "THE TRAITORS COLLABORATING WITH THE ALLIES."

ANOTHER POPULAR PARTY LINE WAS THE DEMAND FOR EVACUATION OF GERMANY BY ALL FOUR POWERS AND THE FLAT REFUSAL TO HAVE ANYTHING TO DO WITH AIDING WESTERN DEFENSE. THE PARTY BY NO MEANS BARS REARMAMENT. BUT "GERMAN BLOOD" MUST BE SHED ONLY FOR GERMANY--NOT TO COVER THE RETREAT OF THE WESTERN ARMIES, SAID FORMER NAZI GEN. OTTO ERNST REMER.

REMER, PROMOTED PERSONALLY BY HITLER FOR HELPING SUPPRESS THE 1944 ANTI-NAZI REVOLT, IS THE PARTY'S PRIZE SPEAKER. HE WAS PRESENTED AS A HEROIC FIGURE AND OBVIOUSLY IS BEING GROOMED AS A NEW "FUEHRER."

THE PARTY IS VIOLENTLY CRITICAL OF THE WESTERN ALLIES. BUT IT HAS LITTLE TO SAY ABOUT RUSSIA. IN FACT, SOME OF ITS IDEAS, SUCH AS THE NEUTRALIZATION OF GERMANY, WOULD PLEASE THE KREMLIN. SIGNIFICANTLY, NEITHER THE COMMUNISTS NOR THE SRP HAVE ATTACKED EACH OTHER. OTHER PARTIES ACCUSED THE SRP OF BEING IN THE PAY OF THE RUSSIANS. REMER SAID THAT "ON THE HONOR OF A GERMANY OFFICER," THIS WAS UNTRUE.

WHAT ARE THE FUTURE PROSPECTS FOR SRP? SOME OBSERVERS HERE THINK THAT WITHIN A FEW MONTHS IT WILL BECOME THE FOCUS OF ALL THE RADICAL

RIGHT ELEMENTS IN WEST GERMANY. THERE ARE SEVERAL SCATTERED RIGHT-WING EXTREMIST GROUPS IN SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN AND THE RUHR, SO FAR REGARDED AS MERELY COMIC, WHO ARE READY TO SWELL THE SRP RANKS. THEY CAN WIN MORE FRIENDS AMONG THE MANY DISGRUNTLED REFUGEES WHO FIND THEIR OWN REFUGEE PARTY TOO MODERATE.

THERE IS ALSO THE POSSIBILITY OF A SECRET ALLIANCE WITH THE EXTREME LEFT.

THE SUPPORT SRP WON IN LOWER SAXONY WAS A SHOCK. THERE MAY BE OTHER SHOCKS COMING.

NIGHT LEAD AUSTRIAN (170)

VIENNA, AUSTRIA, MAY 12-(AP)-THE COMMUNISTS SAID TPNPPP BLUE-SHIRTED AUSTRIAN COMMUNIST YOUTHS WOULD PARADE HERE TODAY IN A DEMONSTRATION FOR MOSCOW'S "PEACE FRONT," BUT THEY RECKONED WITHOUT VIENNA'S SIGHT-SEEING ATTRACTIONS.

HUNDREDS OF BOYS AND GIRLS THE PARTY BROUGHT FROM THE EASTERN AND WESTERN PROVINCES FOR A THREE-DAY RALLY STRAYED FROM THEIR LEADERS TO LOOK OVER SHOP WINDOWS AND OTHER PLACES OF INTEREST. THEY APPARENTLY WERE FREE LOADING AT THE PARTY'S EXPENSE.

ESTIMATES OF THE NUMBER ACTUALLY TAKING PART IN THE BALLYHOOED YOUTH MARCH RANGED FROM 10,000 TO 30,000, INCLUDING MIDDLE-AGED MEN AND CHILDREN AS YOUNG AS SIX. THE ROUTE FOLLOWED THE RINGSTRASSE, BOULEVARDS GIRDLING THE INNER CITY.

THE COMMUNISTS PAID ALMOST THE FULL FARES OF THE PROVINCIAL VISITORS AND ARRANGED FOOD AND LODGING FOR THEM. THIRTY-FOUR GARLANDED SPECIAL TRAINS STEAMED INTO THE CAPITAL WITH THE BOYS AND GIRLS THIS MORNING.

THE ANTI-COMMUNIST SOCIALIST PARTY, WHICH HAD OBSERVERS AT VIENNA'S FOUR MAIN TERMINALS, SAID NO MORE THAN 10,500 HAD ARRIVED FOR THE RALLY. THERE WERE SCATTERED STREET FIGHTS BETWEEN SOME OF THE VISITORS AND SOCIALIST YOUTHS DISTRIBUTING ANTI-COMMUNIST LITERATURE.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA, MAY 12-(AP)-SCATTERED STREET FIGHTS BROKE OUT IN VIENNA TODAY BETWEEN SOCIALISTS AND GROUPS OF YOUNG COMMUNISTS ARRIVING FOR A THREE-DAY WHITSUNTIDE "PEACE RALLY."

THE FIGHTS OCCURRED AS TRAINS STEAMED INTO VIENNA'S WEST STATION, IN THE FRENCH SECTOR, PACKED WITH COMMUNIST BOYS AND GIRLS FROM THE WESTERN PROVINCES OF AUSTRIA.

THE COMMUNISTS, WERE MET OUTSIDE THE STATION BY SOCIALIST YOUTHS DISTRIBUTING ANTI-COMMUNIST PAMPHLETS.

THE SOCIALISTS WERE ABOUT 100 IN NUMBER. EACH TIME A TRAIN ARRIVED, THEY WERE ATTACKED BY THE OLDER BOYS AMONG THE COMMUNISTS. EACH TRAIN UNLOADED ABOUT 400 REDS.

POLICE ARRESTED SEVERAL COMMUNISTS WHO WERE LATER RELEASED.

SEVERAL YOUTHS WERE SLIGHTLY INJURED, AS WAS CITY COUNCILMAN HUBERT PFOCH, CHAIRMAN OF THE SOCIALIST YOUTH FEDERATION IN VIENNA.

THE CLASHES WERE NOT SERIOUS. THEY WERE MOSTLY FIST FIGHTS BETWEEN INDIVIDUAL COMMUNISTS AND SOCIALISTS.

BUT THE LIVELY RECEPTION THE COMMUNISTS RECEIVED INDICATED THAT FURTHER TROUBLE MIGHT BE EXPECTED DURING A WEEKEND IN WHICH THE COMMUNISTS CLAIMED "VIENNA WILL BE OURS."

AUSTRIA'S POWERFUL ANTI-COMMUNIST SOCIALIST PARTY APPARENTLY INTENDED TO DISORGANIZE THE COMMUNIST PEACE RALLY AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE.

THE COMMUNISTS HAVE PREDICTED THAT 50,000 AUSTRIAN YOUTHS WILL MARCH THROUGH THE CITY THIS AFTERNOON.

BUT PART OF THEIR MARCH ROUTE HAS BEEN TORN UP BY STREET REPAIR SQUADS.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, MAY 12-(AP)-HUNGARY'S ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOPS HAVE SIGNED THE (COMMUNIST-SPONSORED) BERLIN PEACE APPEAL CALLING FOR A PEACE PACT AMONG THE BIG FIVE POWERS, INCLUDING RED CHINA, THE OFFICIAL NEWS AGENCY MTI REPORTED TODAY.

A CAMPAIGN TO COLLECT SIGNATURES TO THE APPEAL WAS LAUNCHED IN HUNGARY APRIL 8. THE BISHOPS SIGNED IT AFTER BITTER ATTACKS IN THE PRESS ACCUSING THEM OF HAVING VIOLATED OPENLY THE CHURCH-STATE AGREEMENT OF LAST AUGUST. UNDER THIS AGREEMENT, THE CATHOLIC BISHOPS AGREED AMONG OTHER THINGS TO "ACKNOWLEDGE AND SUPPORT" THE (COMMUNIST-LED) GOVERNMENT AND TO "SUPPORT THE MOVEMENT FOR PEACE."

AT THE START OF THE CAMPAIGN THE BISHOPS SAID THEY WERE WILLING TO "AGREE WITH EVERY WELL-MEANING MAN, PEOPLE OR ORGANIZATION WHICH STRIVES TO AVERT WAR," BUT DID NOT WANT TO SIGN THE BERLIN APPEAL. THEY SAID THEY WANTED "TO KEEP AWAY FROM THE FIELD OF NATIONAL OR INTERNATIONAL POLITICS."

ALMOST 5,500,000 (M) HUNGARIANS HAVE SIGNED SO FAR, MTI SAID.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, MAY 12-(AP)-HUNGARIAN FOREIGN MINISTER GYULA KALLAI HAS RESIGNED AND KAROLY KISS, VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE PRESIDENTIAL COUNCIL, WAS NAMED TO SUCCEED HIM, AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SAID TONIGHT.

KISS, 47, IS A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY'S POLITBURO AND PRESIDENT OF ITS CENTRAL CONTROL COMMITTEE.

KALLAI HAD BEEN FOREIGN MINISTER SINCE THE DISMISSAL OF HIS PREDECESSOR, LASZLO RAJK, WHO WAS CONVICTED OF TREASON AND EXECUTED OCT.15, 1949.

KALLAI WAS THE LAST REPRESENTATIVE IN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE RADICAL "YOUTHS OF MARCH" GROUP, CONSISTING MAINLY OF YOUNG INTELLECTUALS WHO FIRST JOINED RAJK'S STUDENT ORGANIZATION IN PRE-WAR HUNGARY. THEY WERE ASSOCIATED WITH LEFTIST POLITICIANS OPPOSING THE GERMANS DURING WORLD WAR II.

TWO OTHER MEMBERS OF THIS GROUP, FORMER INTERIOR MINISTER SANDOR

ZOLD AND UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE GEZA LOSONCZY, WERE DISMISSED FROM THEIR POSTS EARLIER THIS YEAR. RUMORS OF THEIR ARREST HAVE NEVER BEEN CONFIRMED.

--DASH--

ANNOUNCEMENT OF KALLAI'S RESIGNATION FOLLOWS BY TWO WEEKS RELEASE BY HUNGARY OF ROBERT A.VOGELER, AMERICAN BUSINESS MAN WHO HAD SERVED 17 MONTHS OF A 15-YEAR SENTENCE ON CHARGES OF ESPIONAGE. WHEN VOGELER WAS ARRESTED IN BUDAPEST IN NOVEMBER, 1949, AMERICAN MINISTER NATHANIEL P.DAVIS DEALT WITH KALLAI IN EFFORTS TO SEE VOGELER AND, IF POSSIBLE, EFFECT HIS RELEASE.

KALLAI HEADED THE FOREIGN OFFICE IN THE SUBSEQUENT EXTENDED NEGOTIATIONS WHICH CULMINATED WITH VOGELER'S RELEASE. CONCESSIONS GRANTED BY THE UNITED STATES WERE: PERMISSION FOR REOPENING HUNGARIAN CONSULATES IN CLEVELAND AND NEW YORK, APPROVAL FOR AMERICANS TO TRAVEL IN HUNGARY, AND THE RETURN OF HUNGARIAN PROPERTY LOOTED BY THE NAZIS AND HELD IN THE AMERICAN ZONE OF GERMANY.

LAST OCTOBER, WHEN FOREIGN MINISTERS OF RUSSIAN SATELLITE STATES WERE SUMMONED TO PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, TO HEAR THE LATEST WORD FROM MOSCOW ON "THE REMILITARIZATION OF WESTERN GERMANY," KALLAI WAS THERE FOR HUNGARY. WORD FROM THE KREMLIN WAS BROUGHT BY DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV.

belgrade, yugoslavia, may 12--(ap)--yugoslavia's official press repeated today demands that argentina return ante pavelic, wartime leader of the pro-axis puppet croatian state, to face trial as a war criminal.

earlier this week the newspaper borba -- official spokesman of marshal tito's independent communist party -- said pavelic had set up a croatian government in exile in argentina.

pavelic, whose wartime ustachi organization was accused of killing more than 700,000 serbs and jews in the "independent state of croatia" he set up under mussolini's blessings, was named on international lists as a major war criminal. when the war ended, he managed to stay just ahead of american and british military authorities who sought his arrest in austria and italy.

borba said his presence in argentina was revealed in a the newspaper croatia published in argentina. it asked how argentina could shelter "this bloody hangman" in the light of that country's professed adherence to the principles of the united nations. NOT yet reached the formal government level. this is probably because tito's government and argentina are currently involved in friendly trade relations and officials here are marking time in hopes argentina will act on the pavelic case voluntarily.

--dash--

yugoslavia demanded in a formal note to the u.s. state department the handing over of pavelic's top lieutenant, andrija artukovich, who ca to the united states in 1948 as a displaced person and now lives in los angeles.

as former croatian minister of interior, minister of justice and president of the state council under pavelic, artukovich faces similar war crimes charges if he is returned to yugoslavia.

immigration authorities started hearings last tuesday on whether to extend artukovich's permit to remain in this country. the hearings are still going on.

buenos aires, argentina, may 12--(ap)--NO mention has been made either by government officials or the argentine press of the yugoslav reports that croatian quisling leader ante pavelic -- wanted in yugoslavia for war crimes -- is living in this country.

even yugoslav legation officials here declined to comment on the press reports from belgrade that pavelic had set up a croatian government in exile.

although there have been NO formal requests for his extradition, the press of premier marshal tito's independent communist government has demanded repeatedly in recent editorials that the yugoslavs be turned over to the yugoslavs to face trial. pavelic headed the pro-axis independent state of croatia during the war and the yugoslavs charge his notorious ustachi organization murdered hundreds of thousands of serbs and jews.

diplomatic sources said they have information from yugoslav residents here that pavelic has been in argentina since 1947 or 1948, but they have NO idea of his present whereabouts.

the yugoslav newspaper croatia, published here, said its report of april 26 that pavelic had set up an exile government had come from a radio broadcast, but that none of the paper's staff had ever seen him.

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, MAY 12-(AP)-SYRIAN AND ISRAELI REPRESENTATIVES HAVE DRAFTED AN AGREEMENT ACCEPTING THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL'S CEASE FIRE ORDER HALTING BORDER FIGHTING, AN ISRAELI SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY.

THE AGREEMENT, WORKED OUT BY THE MIXED SYRIAN-ISRAELI ARMISTICE COMMISSION UNDER U.N. AUSPICES, HAS NOT YET BEEN SIGNED. THE SPOKESMAN SAID SYRIA HAD ASKED FOR A POSTPONEMENT OF THE SIGNING PENDING TALKS IN DAMASCUS TODAY BETWEEN THE SYRIAN MINISTER OF DEFENSE AND ACTING CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE U.N. PALESTINE OBSERVERS, COL. BENNET DE RIDDER.

NO DATE HAS BEEN SET FOR THE NEXT MEETING, BUT THE SPOKESMAN SAID IT PROBABLY WOULD TAKE PLACE BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL MEETS AGAIN TUESDAY TO DISCUSS THE BORDER FEUD BETWEEN THESE TWO COUNTRIES.

THE DRAFT AGREEMENT, REACHED YESTERDAY AFTER A SERIES OF THREE MEETINGS ON BOTH SIDES OF THE FRONTIER, ALSO CALLS FOR WITHDRAWAL OF ALL MILITARY AND PARAMILITARY FORCES FROM THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE OF PALESTINE.

THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE WAS SET UP AS A BUFFER BETWEEN SYRIA AND ISRAEL AT THE END OF THE PALESTINE WAR IN 1948. THE AGREEMENT ALSO PROHIBITS AGGRESSIVE ACTION ACROSS OR AGAINST THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE.

ISRAEL HAS CHARGE THAT SYRIAN ARMY FORCES CROSSED THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE IN A RECENT SERIES OF ATTEMPTS--BACKED BY HEAVY ARTILLERY, MORTAR AND MACHINEGUN FIRE--TO INVADE ISRAEL. THE SYRIANS CLAIM ISRAELI FORCES ATTACKED ARAB INHABITANTS OF THE ZONE NORTH OF THE SEA OF GALILEE. THE FIGHTING DIED DOWN AFTER THE SECURITY COUNCIL ORDERED A CEASE-FIRE EARLIER THIS WEEK. NO SERIOUS INCIDENTS HAVE BEEN REPORTED SINCE THAT TIME.

SUB INTRO BRITISH TRADE (A50KX)
BY STANLEY RICH

HONG KONG, MAY 12-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT OF THIS BRITISH COLONY NEXT WEEK WILL ISSUE FIGURES INTENDED TO SHOW THAT ITS EXPORTS TO RED CHINA BY SEA DROPPED MORE THAN 50 PER CENT AND ITS RAIL SHIPMENTS BY ABOUT ONE-THIRD IN THE FIVE MONTHS SINCE THE CHINESE ENTERED THE KOREAN WAR.

THE REPORT, NOW BEING RUSHED TO COMPLETION, IS TO BE A SORT OF "WHITE PAPER" ON HONG KONG'S TRADE WITH THE REDS.

ITS RELEASE WILL CLIMAX A SHORT BUT FEVERISH CAMPAIGN BY HONG KONG TO "CLEAR HERSELF" WITH WESTERN POWERS WHO THINK SHE IS DOING TOO MUCH BUSINESS WITH RED CHINA.

SIR ALEXANDER GRANTHAM, THE COLONY'S GOVERNOR, SAID LAST NIGHT THAT PEOPLE WHO CALLED HONG KONG AN "APPEASER" WERE TALKING "PLAIN RUBBISH."

A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THAT THE STATISTICAL ANALYSIS WAS INTENDED TO ANSWER "SHARP CRITICISMS" OF HONG KONG FROM THE UNITED STATES.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID THERE WAS A REPORT CIRCULATING IN THE UNITED STATES THAT HONG KONG HAD SENT RED CHINA TWICE AS MUCH IRON, STEEL, RUBBER AND OTHER COMMODITIES LAST MONTH AS SHE DID A YEAR AGO. HE CALLED THIS "UTTER NONSENSE" BUT CONCEDED IT MIGHT HAVE ARISEN FROM HONG KONG'S PRACTICE UP TO NOW OF REPORTING TRADE IN MONEY FIGURES RATHER THAN BY TONNAGE VOLUME.

THUS THE RECORD SHOWS THAT HONG KONG EXPORTS TO RED CHINA IN MARCH TOTALLED 258,000,000 HONG KONG DOLLARS (ROUGHLY $43,000,000 U.S.), COMPARED WITH MARCH, 1950, EXPORTS OF 94,000,000 HONG KONG DOLLARS (ROUGHLY $16,000,000 U.S.).

TO CONCLUDE FROM THIS THAT EXPORTS WERE THREE TIMES AS GREAT IN MARCH, 1951, IS "ABSOLUTELY WRONG," HE SAID, BECUSE IT IGNORES PRICE RISES AND DEVALUATION OF THE HONG KONG DOLLAR AND THE BRITISH POUND.

MAY 13 1951

A51KX

THE FORTHCOMING OFFICIAL REPORT, HE SAID, WILL SHOW THAT BETWEEN DECEMBER, 1950, AND APRIL, 1951, HONG KONG EXPORTS TO RED CHINA DROPPED "MORE THAN 50 PER CENT BY SEA AND ROUGHLY ONE-THIRD BY RAIL." THE REPORT IS TO BE MADE IN TONNAGES RATHER THAN DOLLARS SO AS TO PERMIT A FAIR COMPARISON.

ONE REASON HONG KONG FEELS SHE IS BEING UNFAIRLY CRITICIZED IS THAT THIS COLONY VIEWS TRADE WITH CHINA AS LITERALLY AS A MATTER OF LIFE OR DEATH.

HONG KONG IMPORTS FROM CHINA ALL HER FIREWOOD, ALL HER PORK, WHICH IS THE STAPLE MEAT OF THE COLONY'S 2,475,000 CHINESE; AND 60 TO 70 PER CENT OF ALL HER VEGETABLES.

HONG KONG FEELS THAT ANY EMBARGO ON RED CHINA WILL BE RETURNED IN KIND AND WONDERS WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF THE REDS CUT OFF HER FOOD AND FIREWOOD.

SINGAPORE, MAY 12-(AP)-BRITAIN'S ORDER TO SINGAPORE AND MALAYA TO HALT RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO COMMUNIST CHINA WILL COME BEFORE THE EXECUTIVE COUNCILS OF THE TWO TERRITORIES "AT THE EARLIEST OPPORTUNITY," AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT SAID TONIGHT.

TRADERS EXPECT ACTION THIS WEEKEND. HOWEVER, THE FREIGHTER NANCY MOLLER WAS PERMITTED TO SAIL TODAY WITH 3,500 TONS OF RUBBER FOR THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS, WHO QUADRUPLED THEIR PURCHASES HERE AFTER THE OUTBREAK OF THE KOREAN WAR.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S NOTE SUGGESTED FORMAT ON OF A COMMITTEE OF GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES AND RUBBER DEALERS TO ESTABLISH THE NUMBER OF BONAFIDE CONTRACTS MADE BEFORE THE IMPOSITION OF THE BAN AND TO FIX FAIR PRICES AT WHICH TO TAKE THEM OVER, THE STATEMENT SAID.

BRITAIN ANNOUNCED THE BAN THURSDAY. IT COVERS SINGAPORE, MALAYA AND BORNEO. IT DOES NOT COVER TWO INDEPENDENT COMMONWEALTH NATIONS WHICH PRUDCE SOME RUBBER, CEYLON AND INDIA. INDIA IS NO LONGER SELLING RUBBER ABROADC, CONSERVING HER SUPPLIES FOR DOMESTIC USE. INDICATIONS ARE THAT CEYLON IG UNLIKELY TO BAN EXPORTS TO CHINA.

INDONESIA, A MAJOR PRODUCER, ALSO PLANS TO SELL WHERE SHE CAN. SO DOES BURMA, BUT THREE YEARS OF CIVIL WARFARE HAVE WHITTLED DOWN HER EXPORTS TO A MINIMUM.

THE SINGAPORE MARKETS WERE CLOSED TODAY AND WILL REMAIN SHUT DOWN UNTIL TUESDAY BECAUSE OF THE WHITSUNDAY HOLIDAY. FIRST GRADE RUBBER SOLD AT THE EQUIVALENT OF 48 U.S.CENTS A POUND AT THE CLOSE FRIDAY, 30 CENTS BELOW ITS PEAK OF THREE MONTHS AGO. TRADERS FIGURED IT WILL DROP STILL FURTHER.

THE EMBARGO ORDER CAME AFTER WEEKS OF CRITICISM IN BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES OF THE SALES TO CHINA WHILE SHE IS FIGHTING BRITISH, AMERICAN AND OTHER UNITED NATIONS TROOPS IN KOREA. SINGAPORE, MAY 12-(AP)-THE FREIGHTER NANCY MOLLER, HER HOLDS JAMMED WITH 3,500 TONS OF MALAYAN RUBBER FOR COMMUNIST CHINA, LEFT SINGAPORE TODAY, HEADED EAST TOWARDS HONGKONG.

THERE STILL WAS A QUESTION WHETHER SHE WOULD BE PERMITTED TO MAKE THERUN TO WHAMPOA IN CHINA'S KWANTUNG PROVINCE, IN VIEW OF BRITAIN'S ANNOUNCED BAN ON FURTHER RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO THE RED CHINESE.

THE NANCY MOLLER, PROBABLY CARRYING THE LAST OF DIRECT RUBBER SHIPMENTS FRO MALAYA TO THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS, HAD PERMISSION FOR THIS CARGO IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE MALAYAN EXPORT LICENSING CONTROL EFFECTIVE HERE APRIL 9.

THE SHIP'S AGENT DECLINED TO DISCUSS THE FREIGHTER'S SAILING. THE OFFICE OF ECONOMIC AFFAIRS SAID IT COULD NOT COMMENT ON WHETHER ANY ACTION IS ANTICIPATED.

HOWEVER, THE MASTER ATTENDANT'S OFFICE, WHERE FINAL CLEARANCE IS NECESSARY, SAID IT HAD NO ORDERS TO HALT THE SHIP.

MEANWHILE, SINGAPORE AND MALAYAN FINANCIAL CIRCLES STILL BUZZED WITH REACTION ON BRITAIN'S DECISION THURSDAY TO BAN RUBBER EXPORTS TO RED CHINA. BOTH THE CROWN COLONY OF SINGAPORE AND MALAYA AWAITED INSTRUCTIONS FROM LONDON BEFORE TAKING ANY DEFINITE STEPS HERE.

MALAYAN RUBBER PRICES DROPPED YESTERDAY TO THEIR LOWEST POINT IN SIX MONTHS, THEN RECOVERED SLIGHTLY. THE MARKET FOR FIRST GRADE RUBBER CLOSED AT THE EQUIVALENT OF 48 U.S. CENTS A POUND. RUBBER WAS SELLING THREE MONTHS AGO AT 78 CENTS.

THE MARKETS WERE CLOSED TODAY AND WILL REMAIN SHUT SUNDAY AND MONDAY OVER THE WHITSUNDAY HOLIDAY, BUT RUBBER PRODUCERS AND DEALERS WERE BUSY ISSUING STATEMENTS AND COMMENT OVER THE BAN. BRITAIN REQUESTED THAT HER COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS "INSURE THAT THERE SHALL BE NO FURTHER EXPORTS OF RUBBER TO CHINA FROM MALAYA OR THE OTHER BRITISH TERRITORIES INVOLVED THIS YEAR."

THE RUBBER BAN ANNOUNCED BY BRITAIN DOES NOT EXTEND TO INDIA AND CEYLON, ALTHOUGH BOTH ARE MEMBERS OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH. INDICATIONS ARE THAT CEYLON IS UNLIKELY TO PLACE A BAN ON RUBBER EXPORTS TO RED CHINA.

PREMIER DON STEPHEN SENANAYAKE SAID IN COLOMBO TODAY THAT "THE PRICE OF RUBBER IS FALLING. WE ARE CONTEMPLATING WHAT ACTION SHOULD BE TAKEN TO SEE THAT THE PRICE REMAINS STABLE. WE ARE NOT CONTEMPLATING TAKING ANY ACTION THAT IS LIKELY TO FURTHER DEPRESS THE MARKET."

CEYLON HAS NOT RECEIVED SO FAR ANY REPRESENTATIONS FROM THE UNITED NATIONS ON THE RUBBER BAN ISSUE.

INDIA HALTED FOREIGN SALES OF RUBBER ABROAD APRIL 16 TO CONSERVE THE SUPPLY FOR DOMESTIC NEEDS. THAT COUNTRY PRODUCES ONLY 16,000 TONS ANNUALLY, BUT CHINA HAD MADE APPRECIABLE PURCHASES THERE BEFORE THE BAN WAS INVOKED.

IN RANGOON, AN OFFICIAL SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THE BURMESE GOVERNMENT HAS PLACED NO RESTRICTIONS ON RUBBER EXPORTS TO ANY PART OF THE WORLD--INCLUDING RED CHINA. AS YET, HE SAID, THE GOVERNMENT HAS NOT FORMULATED A POLICY REGARDING ANY BAN IN LINE WITH THE BRITISH ONE.

THE SPOKESMAN ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT RUBBER EXPORTS HAVE BEEN WHITTLED DOWN TO A MINIMUM BY THE COUNTRY'S THREE-YEAR REBELLION, MAINLY BECAUSE THE PLANTATIONS ARE LOCATED WITHIN REBEL TERRITORY.

SINGAPORE, MAY 12-(AP)-THE TIN MARKET HELD STEADY TODAY SELLING AT $567 1/2 (STRAITS) (ABOUT $155) PER PICUL (133 1/3 POUNDS).

THE SINGAPORE FREE PRESS CARRIED A CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION DEPARTMENT REPORT INQUIRING INTO THE RESALE TO IRON CURTAIN COUNTRIES OF MALAYAN SHIPPED TIN.

THE REPORT SAID THE RESALE WAS DISCOVERED BY BRITISH INTELLIGENCE WHICH TRACED SEVERAL SHIPMENTS TO SINGAPORE FIRMS AND ASKED THAT AN INVESTIGATION BE MADE.

IT IS BELIEVED THE SINGAPORE FIRMS SHIPPED THE TIN IN GOOD FAITH, NOT KNOWING IT WOULD BE RESOLD TO THE COMMUNISTS.

SINGAPORE, MAY 12-(AP)-HIGH LEVEL AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH MILITARY LEADERS WILL CONFER HERE WITHIN A FEW DAYS.

THEIR SECRET TALKS MAY WELL BE AIMED AT AN OVERALL PLAN FOR SOUTHEAST ASIA IN THE EVENT OF A SUDDEN COMMUNIST ASSAULT AGAINST THIS RICH AND VITAL AREA. THERE HAS BEEN WIDESPREAD SPECULATION THAT PEIPING MIGHT OPEN A DRIVE INTO INDOCHINA, OR ELSEWHERE IN THIS NEIGHBORHOOD, TO TAKE OFF SOME OF THE HEAT IN KOREA.

THE ONLY OFFICIAL INDICATION TO DATE OF THE FORTHCOMING TALKS IS AN ANNOUNCEMENT BY MALCOLM MACDONALD BRITISH COMMISSIONER GENERAL OF SOUTHEAST ASIA, THAT GEN. JEAN DE LATTRE DE TASSIGNY, FRENCH HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR INDOCHINA, WILL ARRIVE IN SINGAPORE FOR A "SOCIAL CALL" ON MAY 30.

IT WAS LEARNED, HOWEVER, THAT AMERICAN VICE ADMIRAL ARTHUR D. STRUBLE, FORMER COMMANDER OF THE SEVENTH FLEET IN THE KOREAN-FORMOSAN WATERS AND NOW FIRST FLEET COMMANDER, IS AMONG THE U.S. MILITARY OFFICIALS EXPECTED TO TAKE PART IN THE TALKS.

IN ADDITION, SIR JOHN HARDING, BRITISH COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF FAR EAST LAND FORCES, IS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE DEFERRED A TRIP TO BRITAIN ORDER TO ATTEND THE PARLEY, ALONG WITH OTHER BRITISH FAR EAST AIR, SEA AND LAND LEADERS.

MACDONALD RECENTLY CONFERRED WITH GEN. DE LATTRE IN INDOCHINA, WHERE THE FRENCH ARE FIGHTING OFF THE COMMUNIST-LED NATIONALISTS OF HO CHI MINH.

NEW DELHI, INDIA, MAY 12-(AP)-UNITED STATES OFFICIALS ARE CHAGRINED AT THE PRO-SOVIET FEELING ENGENDERED HERE BY THE SHIPMENT OF RUSSIAN WHEAT TO THIS NATION, ANNOUNCED ON THE SAME DAY THAT PRIME MINISTER NEHRU ACCEPTED TERMS FOR MUCH LARGER U.S. AID.

NEHRU HIMSELF CONTRIBUTED TO A MAJOR COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA GAIN AMONG INDIA'S HUNGRY MILLIONS BY THE DRAMATIC ANNOUNCEMENT IN PARLIAMENT THURSDAY THAT "RUSSIAN SHIPS WITH WHEAT HAVE STARTED FOR INDIA." HE REFERRED TO A RELATIVELY MINOR 50,000-TON PURCHASE.

ONLY AN HOUR LATER DID HE TELL PARLIAMENT THAT HE SAW NO POLITICAL STRINGS ATTACHED TO FAMINE RELIEF BILLS IN THE U.S. CONGRESS TO SUPPLY INDIA WITH 2,000,000 TONS OF WHEAT.

THE RESULT WAS THAT THE AMERICAN MOVE TO HELP WAS OBSCURED BY THE START OF THE RUSSIAN SHIPMENT. OBSCURED ALSO WAS THE FACT THAT MORE THAN 100,000 TONS ARE COMING TO INDIA EACH MONTH FROM THE UNITED STATES THROUGH REGULAR TRADE CHANNELS.

ONE INFLUENTIAL NEWSPAPER, THE BRITISH-CONTROLLED STATESMAN, HEADLINED THE RUSSIAN MOVE AND GAVE SECONDARY POSITION TO INDIA'S ACCEPTANCE OF UNITED STATES TERMS.

THE SAME ATTITUDE WAS REFLECTED IN OTHER PARTS OF THE INDIAN PRESS, AND IN THE CONVERSATIONS OF INDIAN OFFICIALS, LEADERS AND PLAIN CITIZENS.

MAY 13 1951

FOR WEEKS, INDIANS HAVE BEEN VIEWING WITH GROWING IMPATIENCE REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON ON THE UPS AND DOWNS OF PROPOSALS FOR A GRANT OR LOAN TO INDIA. IT IS A $190,000,000 PROJECT.

AN IMPORTANT SEGMENT OF INDIAN OPINION, WAVERING BETWEEN EAST AND WEST, SWUNG FURTHER TOWARD THE RUSSIAN CAMP WHEN NEHRU ANNOUNCED RUSSIA ALREADY WAS STARTING THE 50,000 TONS WITHOUT WAITING FOR THE CONCLUSION OF NEGOTIATIONS ON THE TERMS.

THE SOVIET EMBASSY ALLOWED THE STORY TO CIRCULATE THAT THE RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR TOLD INDIAN OFFICIALS, "LET'S FORGET TERMS AND GET WHEAT STARTED IN ORDER TO FEED THE HUNGRY PEOPLE."

RUSSIA HAS OFFERED TO MAKE A BARTER AGREEMENT FOR UP TO 500,000 TONS.

THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT AND U.S. INFORMATION SERVICES HAVE FAILED TO GET ACROSS TO THE INDIAN PEOPLE THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN DOING FOR A LONG TIME ON A LARGE SCALE WHAT THE SOVIET PROPOSES TO DO ON A SMALL SCALE.

SHIPPING RECORDS SHOW THE UNITED STATES HAS SOLD AND DELIVERED 411,000 TONS OF GRAIN TO INDIA IN THE FIRST FOUR MONTHS THIS YEAR. THE ONLY DELIVERY FROM COMMUNIST COUNTRIES IN THAT PERIOD WAS 42,000 TONS FROM RED CHINA.

A170

LESSER OFFICIALS IN INTIMATE TOUCH WITH THE INDIAN FOOD SITUATION ADMIT THAT THEIR MAIN RELIANCE IS ON THE UNITED STATES TO AVERT FAMINE.

ONE OFFICIAL SAID INDIA HAS BOUGHT AND ARRANGED FOR DELIVERY OF ENOUGH GRAIN TO TIDE INDIA OVER UNTIL AUGUST.

"BUT FROM AUGUST ON, WE HAVE ONLY 300,000 TONS PER MONTH IN SIGHT AND WE MUST HAVE AN AVERAGE OF 600,000 TONS," HE SAID. "THERE IS NO PLACE IN THE WORLD WHICH CAN SUPPLY THAT FOOD AND SHIPPING TO GET IT TO US AT THAT RATE EXCEPT THE UNITED STATES."

BUT INDIAN JOURNALISTS ARE INCREASINGLY CAUSTIC ABOUT THE SLOW PROGRESS OF THE FAMINE RELIEF BILLS IN THE CONGRESS.

"THE UNITED STATES TOOK ONLY 24 HOURS TO HELP KOREA, BUT IT ALREADY HAS TAKEN SIX MONTHS TO HELP SAVE INDIA'S PEOPLE," SAID ONE

30.24- 22937

INDIAN JOURNALIST.
THE HINDUSTAN TIMES, WHICH OFTEN REFLECTS GOVERNMENT OPINION, SAID IN AN EDITORIAL: "AMERICANS ARE MAKING A POOR IMPRESSION PSYCHOLOGICALLY ON OUR PEOPLE BY THE WAY THEY ARE DISCUSSING THE REQUEST FOR 2,000,000 TONS OF FOOD GRAINS. THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT THE ADMINISTRATION IS NOT TO BLAME AND, IN A COUNTRY WHERE THE PRESS IS FREE AND LEGISLATORS MOSTLY ARE FREE AGENTS, PUBLIC OPINION CANNOT BE CONTROLLED. BUT THE FREE EXPRESSION OF THE PEOPLE DOES INDICATE THE MORAL VALUES OF THE PEOPLE IN SUCH MATTERS. IT DOES SHOW A SPIRIT OF BARGAINING NOT VERY DIFFERENT FROM THAT WHICH GUIDED IMPERIALIST REGIMES."
NEHRU SAID THURSDAY THAT HE CONSIDERED THE BILLS BEFORE THE U.S. SENATE AND HOUSE "HAVE NO POLITICAL OR DISCRIMINATORY CONDITIONS ATTACHED TO THEM."
THIS OBVIOUSLY WAS MEANT TO CLARIFY HIS STATEMENT OF MAY 1 THAT FOREIGN AID "MUST NOT HAVE POLITICAL STRINGS ATTACHED TO IT."
SOME WASHINGTON LEGISLATORS SAID NEHRU'S MAY 1 SPEECH CAUSED A POOR IMPRESSION AND CAUSED THE AID LEGISLATION TO BE LAID ASIDE TEMPORARILY. PREVIOUSLY THE RELIEF LEGISLATION ENCOUNTERED OBJECTIONS BECAUSE NEHRU CRITICIZED AMERICAN POLICY IN KOREA AND THE FAR EAST.

NEW DELHI, INDIA, MAY 12-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES HAS SUFFERED A MAJOR PROPAGANDA SETBACK IN INDIA AS THE RESULT OF RUSSIA'S SKILLFULLY TIMED MOVE TO SEND 50,000 TONS OF WHEAT TO FEED THIS COUNTRY'S FAMINE-THREATENED MILLIONS.
INDIAN OFFICIALS, MEN ON THE STREET AND THE INDIAN PRESS GREETED THE SOVIET MOVE WITH WIDESPREAD APPROVAL. THEY HAVE BEEN RECEIVING WITH GROWING IMPATIENCE THE WEEKS-LONG REPORTS ON THE UPS AND DOWNS OF U.S. PROPOSALS TO GRANT OR LOAN 2,000,000 TONS OF FOOD GRAINS TO INDIA.
IT IS APPARENT THAT AN IMPORTANT SEGMENT OF INDIAN PUBLIC OPINION, WHICH HAS BEEN WAVERING BETWEEN THE EAST AND THE WEST, SWUNG FURTHER TOWARD THE RUSSIAN CAMP AFTER THIS LATEST DEVELOPMENT.
THE RUSSIAN MOVE COMPLETELY OBSCURED THE FACT THAT THE U.S. IN THE PAST MONTHS HAS BEEN EXPEDITING GRAIN SHIPMENTS TO INDIA AT THE RATE OF MORE THAN 100,000 TONS A MONTH.
U.S. INFORMATION AND OTHER PROPAGANDA MEANS HAVE FAILED TO GET ACROSS TO THE AVERAGE INDIAN THE FACT THAT WHAT THE SOVIETS ARE DOING ON A SMALL SCALE THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN DOING FOR A LONG TIME ON A LARGER SCALE.
SHIPPING RECORDS SHOW THAT IN THE PERIOD BETWEEN JAN. 1 AND MAY 1, THE U.S. DELIVERED TO INDIA 411,000 TONS OF GRAIN. THE ONLY CONTRIBUTION FROM COMMUNIST COUNTRIES DURING THAT PERIOD WAS 42,000 TONS FROM RED CHINA.
PRIME MINISTER JAWAHARLAL NEHRU HIMSELF CONTRIBUTED TO THIS SWING OF SENTIMENT BY THE DRAMATIC MANNER IN WHICH HE TOLD PARLIAMENT THAT NOT ONLY HAD NEGOTIATIONS FOR RUSSIAN WHEAT STARTED BUT THAT RUSSIAN SHIPS LADEN WITH WHEAT ALREADY WERE ON THEIR WAY.
HE MADE THIS ANNOUNCEMENT FIRST AND THEN TOLD PARLIAMENT AN HOUR LATER THAT INDIA WAS IN ACCORD WITH WHICHEVER PROPOSAL THE U.S. ADOPTED FOR SENDING 2,000,000 TONS OF WHEAT. BUT THE RUSSIAN ANNOUNCEMENT BLUNTED THE EFFECT OF THE OTHER.
CAPITALIZING ON THE PROPAGANDA VALUE OF THE SITUATION, THE SOVIET EMBASSY ALLOWED WORD TO CIRCULATE THAT THE RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR HAD CAST ASIDE FORMAL NEGOTIATIONS AND TOLD INDIAN OFFICIALS: "LET'S FORGET THE TERMS AND GET WHEAT STARTED IN ORDER TO FEED YOUR HUNGRY PEOPLE."
AN INDIAN GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN EMPHASIZED THAT THE SOVIET WHEAT SHIPMENTS STARTED WITHOUT WAITING FOR NEGOTIATIONS OF A FORMAL AGREEMENT. THE PROPOSED AGREEMENT IS EXPECTED TO BE BASED ON BARTER BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES INVOLVING HALF A MILLION TONS OF RUSSIAN GRAIN FOR INDIA.

A108
DESPITE THE APPARENT IMPORTANCE OF THIS RUSSIAN GESTURE, TOP GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS DIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR FINDING FOOD TO AVERT THE THREATENED FAMINE SAY THEY STILL MUST PLACE THEIR MAIN RELIANCE ON THE U.S. FOR FUTURE SUPPLY.
ONE TOP OFFICIAL SAID HE THINKS "WE HAVE THE SITUATION UNDER CONTROL UNTIL AUGUST." HE SAID SUFFICIENT GRAIN DELIVERIES HAD BEEN ARRANGED UP TO THAT TIME.
"BUT FROM AUGUST ON," HE DECLARED, "WE HAVE ONLY 300,000 TONS PER MONTH IN SIGHT AND WE MUST HAVE AN AVERAGE OF 600,000 TONS. THERE IS NO PLACE IN THE WORLD WHICH CAN SUPPLY THAT FOOD AND THE SHIPPING TO GET IT TO US AT THAT RATE EXCEPT THE UNITED STATES."

NEW DELHI, INDIA, MAY 12-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER JAWAHARLAL NEHRU INTRODUCED IN PARLIAMENT TODAY AN AMENDMENT TO THE INDIAN CONSTITUTION WHICH WOULD GIVE THE GOVERNMENT POWER TO RESTRICT FREEDOM OF SPEECH "IN THE INTERESTS OF THE SECURITY OF THE STATE."
THERE WAS SPECULATION THAT THE AMENDMENT--THE FIRST TO THE 17-MONTH-OLD CONSTITUTION--WAS AIMED AT THE POSSIBLE NECESSITY FOR CRACKING DOWN ON COMMUNIST NEWSPAPERS IF THEY BEGIN STIRRING UP VIOLENCE WITH PROPAGANDA.
THE AMENDMENT ALSO CONTAINS PROVISIONS FOR STRENGTHENING THE GOVERNMENT'S HAND IN CARRYING OUT LAND REFORM AND NATIONALIZATION OF INDUSTRY.
EXPLAINING THE PROPOSED RESTRICTIONS ON FREEDOM OF SPEECH, NEHRU SAID GUARANTEE OF SUCH FREEDOM IN THE CONSTITUTIONS OF OTHER COUNTRIES "IS NOT REGARDED AS DEBARRING THE STATE FROM PUNISHING OR PREVENTING THE ABUSE OF THIS FREEDOM."
THE 14-POINT AMENDMENT IS LIKELY TO BE DEBATED DURING THE NEXT WEEK.

MANILA,SUNDAY,MAY 13-(AP)-THE PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT YESTERDAY TOOK STEPS GENERALLY INTERPRETED HERE AS LEADING TO THE OUTLAWING OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY.

THE NATIONAL DEFENSE DEPARTMENT SPONSORED A BILL IN CONGRESS UNDER WHICH ORGANIZERS, DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS OF "ILLEGAL ASSOCIATIONS" COULD BE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

SENTENCES FROM FOUR YEARS TO DEATH COULD BE IMPOSED IN REBELLION AND INSURRECTION CASES.

THERE ARE NO "ILLEGAL ASSOCIATIONS" NOW, BUT THE COMMUNIST PARTY WAS ONCE HELD TO BE ONE BY THE PHILIPPINES SUPREME COURT IN 1932. THAT DECISION LATER WAS OVERTURNED.

ANOTHER MEASURE SPONSORED BY THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT WOULD PERMIT MILITARY INTELLIGENCE AGENTS INVESTIGATING SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES TO ACT AS REGULAR PEACE OFFICERS IN MAKING ARRESTS, SEARCHES AND SEIZURES.

BOTH BILLS GREW OUT OF THE LONG TRIAL OF 29 ACCUSED COMMUNISTS CHARGED WITH REBELLION, MURDER AND ARSON. THAT TRIAL ENDED FRIDAY WITH DEATH SENTENCES FOR SIX OF THE DEFENDANTS. APPEALS WILL BE FILED.

RAMON MAGSAYSAY, DEFENSE SECRETARY, SAID IN A STATEMENT THE GOVERNMENT "MUST BE GIVEN EFFECTIVE WEAPONS TO COMBAT THE ACTIVITIES OF SUBVERSIVE ELEMENTS."

ATOM BOMB TEST (400)

BY LEIF ERICKSON

HONOLULU, MAY 12-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES HAS EXPLODED ANOTHER BOMB AT ENIWETOK IN THE FIRST ATOMIC TEST EMPHASIZING DEFENSE AGAINST THE A-BOMB.

EVEN THE TIME OF THE CLOSELY-GUARDED "OPERATION GREENHOUSE" EXPLOSION WAS NOT DEFINITELY KNOWN. BUT PRESUMABLY IT TOOK PLACE MONDAY OR TUESDAY IN THE 200-SQUARE-MILE PROVING GROUNDS 2,000 MILES WEST OF HERE.

ITS FORCE WAS THROWN AGAINST STRUCTURES BUILT AT THE ENIWETOK PROVING GROUND TO DEVELOP INFORMATION ON CONSTRUCTION DESIGN AND MATERIALS WHICH BEST CAN WITHSTAND THE A-BOMB'S DESTRUCTIVE POWER.

EARLY SPECULATION THAT THE TEST MIGHT INVOLVE A HYDROGEN BOMB WAS DISCOUNTED. THE HYDROGEN BOMB EXPERIMENTATION WAS BELIEVED TO BE STILL IN THE EARLY STAGES.

THE FIRST POSITIVE WORD ON THE LATEST TEST CAME FROM REP. HENRY M. JACKSON (D-WASH). HE SAID HERE THAT HE HAD ATTENDED "A TEST" AT ENIWETOK.

A SHORT TIME LATER, IN WASHINGTON, A MEMBER OF THE SENATE-HOUSE ATOMIC COMMITTEE, ASKING TO REMAIN ANONYMOUS, SAID "THE TEST HAS BEEN FINISHED."

THIS SOURCE SAID MAY 7 WAS THE TARGET DATE FOR THE MAIN AND FINAL TEST AT ENIWETOK. HE SAID THE RESULTS HAD NOT YET BEEN EVALUATED AND HE HAD NO IMMEDIATE INFORMATION ON THE EXACT NATURE OF THE TEST.

THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION SAID ONLY THAT A "TEST PROGRAM IS UNDER WAY" AT ENIWETOK.

JACKSON, JUST BEFORE LEAVING BY PLANE FOR SAN FRANCISCO AND SEATTLE, SAID HE WOULD HOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE ~~TOMORROW~~ AFTERNOON AT 1:30 P.M., PACIFIC DAYLIGHT TIME (3:30 P.M., EST). this in Seattle.

THIS INDICATED THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION POSSIBLY MIGHT MAKE AN ANNOUNCEMENT ~~TOMORROW~~ today.

THE SECURITY RULE ON ATOMIC EXPERIMENTS IS THAT THE AEC MAKES ALL INITIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS AND PARTICIPANTS OR OBSERVERS CANNOT REPORT OR DISCUSS BEYOND THE BOUNDARIES OF THE PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE AEC.

ADVANCE REPORTS BY THE COMMISSION CLEARLY INDICATED THAT STRUCTURAL DEFENSE AGAINST A BOMB ATTACK WOULD BE A KEY PHASE OF "OPERATION GREENHOUSE."

A29FX

THE COMMISSION SAID FULL REPORTS ON "DESIGN CRITERIA" WOULD BE GIVEN THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS AND THE CIVILIAN DEFENSE ADMINISTRATION.

THE CURRENT TEST WAS LAUNCHED NOV. 1, 1949 BY JOINT TASK FORCE 3 COMMAND BY AIR FORCE LT.GEN.ELWOOD R.QUESADA.

IN THE SUBSEQUENT 18 MONTHS, HUNDREDS OF CIVILIAN WORKERS HAVE BEEN EMPLOYED AT ENIWETOK BY THE CONTRACTING FIRM OF HOLMES AND NARVER OF LOS ANGELES.

IT WAS CONSIDERED LIKELY THAT MOST OF THEIR WORK WAS ON STRUCTURES DESIGNED TO PROVIDE INFORMATION ON THE BEST TYPE OF CIVILIAN AND INDUSTRIAL SHELTER FROM THE A-BOMB.

RECENT ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE AEC INDICATED THE BLAST WOULD BE FROM A FIXED POSITION TO MAKE POSSIBLE CONTROLLED FIELD LABORATORY STUDY.

ELABORATE PRECAUTIONS WERE TAKEN TO GUARD THE TEST AGAINST POSSIBLE SNOOPERS. STRONG NAVAL AND AIR FORCE PATROLLED 40,000 SQUARE MILES OF THE PACIFIC.

A17KX (JACKSON)

PRECEDE SAN FRANCISCO DAY (230)

SEATTLE,MAY 12-(AP)-REP.JACKSON (D-WASH) SAID TODAY THAT LATEST ATOMIC TESTS AT ENIWETOK ATOLL IN MID-PACIFIC SHOWED THAT RADIOACTIVITY IS NOT A CRITICAL FACTOR IN A-BOMB EXPLOSIONS, AND TACTICAL USE OF ATOMIC WEAPONS IN THE FIELD IS COMPLETELY FEASIBLE.

JACKSON, A RANKING MEMBER OF THE JOINT CONGRESSIONAL ATOMIC COMMITTEE, SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT RESULTS OF THE THIRD SERIES OF TESTS AT ENIWETOK WERE OF VITAL IMPORTANCE BOTH FROM THE STANDPOINT OF MILITARY OPERATIONS AND CIVILIAN DEFENSE.

HE SAID THAT SECURITY RESTRICTIONS PREVENTED DISCLOSURE OF THE EXACT TIME AND NUMBER OF THE MOST RECENT ATOMIC TESTS, BUT THEY OCCURRED WITHIN RECENT DAYS. JACKSON ATTENDED THE CLOSELY-GUARDED "OPERATION GREENHOUSE" ATOMIC TRIAL AS OBSERVER FOR THE JOINT COMMITTEE.

THE WASHINGTON CONGRESSMAN, WHO ARRIVED AT MID-DAY BY PLANE FROM SAN FRANCISCO, SAID THE TEST "MARKS A DEFINITE STEP FORWARD IN THE FIELD OF ATOMIC WEAPONS AND HAS IMMEASURABLY IMPROVED OUR ATOMIC STOCKPILE POSITION."

"OUR ATOMIC WEAPONS WILL BE MORE EFFECTIVE THAN EVER BEFORE, THEY ARE MANY TIMES MORE POWERFUL THAN THE A-BOMBS DROPPED ON HIROSHIMA AND NAGASAKI, WHICH REPRESENTED A FORCE EQUIVALENT TO 20,000 TONS OF TNT," JACKSON SAID.

HE REPEATEDLY EMPHASIZED THAT ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT LESSONS LEARNED IN PAST WEEKS AT ENIWETOK WAS THAT CIVILIAN DEFENSE CREWS CAN GO

IMMEDIATELY INTO AN AREA DEVASTATED BY AN ATOMIC EXPLOSION WITHOUT FEAR OF LETHAL RADIOACTIVITY.

"THIS SAME DISCOVERY THAT DEATH-CAUSING RADIOACTIVITY DOES NOT CONTAMINATE THE EXPLOSION AREA PAVES THE WAY FOR THE TACTICAL USE OF ATOMIC WEAPONS IN WARFARE," JACKSON EXPLAINED. "WE LEARNED THAT OUR TROOPS CAN ADVANCE THROUGH THE VERY AREA DESTROYED BY ATOMIC BLASTS."

HE SAID THIS FINDING APPLIED, HOWEVER, TO WHAT COULD BE TERMED "NORMAL GROUND CONDITIONS" AND DID NOT HOLD FOR LOCALES WHICH MIGHT BE BADLY CONTAMINATED BY RADIOACTIVE SEA WATER OR RAIN.

JACKSON DISMISSED QUERIES ON FURTHER DETAILS OF THE NEW ENIWETOK TEST WITH SERIES OF "NO COMMENTS."

THE QUESTIONS DEALT WITH SPECULATION WHETHER A HYDROGEN BOMB HAD BEEN EXPLODED AT ENIWETOK OR WAS CONTEMPLATED IN A FUTURE TEST UNOFFICIALLY REPORTED SET FOR THE TIP OF THE ALEUTIAN ISLAND CHAIN.

JACKSON HAD NOTHING TO SAY ON A RECENT ANNOUNCEMENT BY SEN. MAGNUSON (D-WASH) THAT AN ATOMIC TRIAL WAS IN THE WORKS FOR THE ALEUTIANS. HE SAID ANY ANNOUNCEMENT ON SUCH A TEST WOULD HAVE TO COME FROM THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION.

THE PRIMARY PURPOSE OF "OPERATION GREENHOUSE," JACKSON SAID, WAS TO TEST VARIOUS BUILDING DESIGNS AND MATERIALS AGAINST THE FORCE OF AN ATOMIC EXPLOSION.

"WE FOUND THERE ARE CERTAIN KINDS OF STRUCTURES THAT CAN WITHSTAND ATOMIC BLASTS WITHIN THE EXPLOSION AREA," JACKSON SAID. "THIS WILL HAVE A VITAL EFFECT ON FUTURE BUILDING IN PREPARATIONS FOR ANY GLOBAL ATOMIC WAR."

HE SAID DETAILED INFORMATION ON STRUCTURAL AND MATERIAL FINDINGS WOULD BE RELEASED BY THE AEC WITH THE INSTITUTE OF AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE AFTER RESULTS OF THE TEST HAVE BEEN EVALUATED.

JACKSON SAID AN INTERESTING SIDELIGHT, HOWEVER, WAS THE DISCOVERY THAT HUMAN BEINGS CAN BETTER WITHSTAND THE EFFECT OF ATOMIC BLASTS THAN SOME BUILDINGS. HE DID NOT ELABORATE.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THIS THIRD IN A SERIES OF ATOMIC TESTS AT THE 200 SQUARE MILE ENIWETOK PROVING GROUNDS, 2000 MILES WEST OF HAWAII, WERE STARTED NOV. 1, 1949 BY JOINT TASK FORCE 3 UNDER THE COMMAND OF AIR FORCE LT.GEN.ELWOOD R.QUESADA.

MAY 13 1951

A60KX

JACKSON SAID UPWARDS OF $100,000,000 (M) WAS SPENT IN PREPARATION AND THOUSANDS OF ARMY, NAVY, AIR FORCE AND AEC MEN WERE INVOLVED.

HE SAID ELABORATE SECURITY MEASURES WERE TAKEN TO PROTECT A WIDE AREA AROUND THE ATOLL TO FORESTALL ANY POTENTIAL ENEMY OPERATIONS SUCH AS A SNEAK SUBMARINE APPROACH TO ENIWETOK FOR PICTURES OF THE EXPLOSION.

SUCH PICTURES, HE SAID, COULD GIVE AN ENEMY A CLUE TO THE NUMBER OF KILOWATT TONS OF FORCE PRODUCED BY OUR LATEST A-BOMBS.

JACKSON PLANS TO VISIT HIS HOMETOWN IN EVERETT, WASH., AND REMAIN IN THE SEATTLE AREA FOR SEVERAL DAYS BEFORE RETURNING TO WASHINGTON, D.C.

WITH HONOLULU (1-80)

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 12-(AP)-REP. HENRY M. JACKSON (D-WASH) SAID TODAY THE UNITED STATES "HAS COME A LONG WAY SINCE HIROSHIMA AND NAGASAKI" IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ATOMIC BOMB.

JACKSON ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING BY PAN AMERICAN CLIPPER FROM THE PACIFIC WHERE HE SAID HE WITNESSED AN ATOMIC TRIAL AT THE ENIWETOK PROVING GROUNDS.

HE REFUSED TO DISCUSS DETAILS OF THE TRIAL AND SAID SECURITY REASONS PREVENTED HIM FROM TELLING WHEN IT WAS HELD OR WHO ATTENDED.

HOWEVER, HE SAID HE "WAS WELL SATISFIED WITH THE RESULT OF THE TEST. IT MEANS FURTHER IMPROVEMENT IN OUR WEAPONS PROGRESS. WE HAVE COME A LONG WAY SINCE THE HIROSHIMA AND NAGASAKI BOMBS WHICH INVOLVED THE EQUIVALENTS OF ABOUT 20,000 TONS OF T.N.T."

HE WAS REFERRING TO THE TWO A-BOMBS DROPPED ON JAPAN NEAR THE END OF WORLD WAR II--THE ONLY ATOMIC CHARGES SO FAR FARIED IN ACTUAL COMBAT.

JACKSON DEPARTED AT 9:05 A.M. (PDT) ABOARD AMERICAN AIRLINES FLIGHT 671 FOR SEATTLE. HE WAS DUE THERE AT 11:55 A.M. (PDT) AND HAS SCHEDULED A NEWS CONFERENCE IN THE OLYMPIC HOTEL AT 12:30 P.M.

IN WASHINGTON, REP.HEBERT (D-LA) DESCRIBED THE TEST BLAST HE WITNESSED IN THE FAR PACIFIC AS "AN UNFORGETTABLE EXPERIENCE WHICH DEFIES DESCRIPTION."

LIKE JACKSON, HEBERT IS A MEMBER OF THE SENATE-HOUSE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMITTEE. HE RETURNED TO WASHINGTON LAST NIGHT AFTER A 10-DAY TRIP THAT TOOK HIM TO THE ENIWETOK PROVING GROUNDS.

NIMITZ BOARD

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 12-(AP)-FLEET ADMIRAL CHESTER W. NIMITZ AND SEVEN OTHER MEMBERS OF A PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSION SET UP TO SAFEGUARD THE NATION'S INTERNAL SECURITY AGAINST COMMUNISM HAVE RESIGNED, PRESIDENT TRUMAN ANNOUNCED TODAY.

THE RESIGNATIONS FOLLOWED THE REFUSAL OF A SENATE COMMITTEE HEADED BY SENATOR MC CARRAN (D-NEV) TO RECOMMEND SPECIAL LEGISLATION EXEMPTING COMMISSION MEMBERS AND THEIR STAFF FROM CERTAIN FEDERAL LAWS.

THESE LAWS FORBID ANYONE TO ~~DRAW~~ GOVERNMENT ~~PAY~~ WHILE DOING BUSINESS WITH THE GOVERNMENT OR REPRESENTING CLIENTS BEFORE FEDERAL AGENCIES. SOME OF THE COMMISSIONERS ARE LAWYERS ACTIVE BEFORE FEDERAL AGENCIES.

MC CARRAN HAS TAKEN THE POSITION THAT THE LAW SHOULD APPLY TO THEM AS WELL AS ANYBODY ELSE. HE HAS FREQUENTLY BEEN CRITICAL OF THE ADMINISTRATION, CONTENDING AMONG OTHER THINGS THAT IT HAS NOT BEEN SUFFICIENTLY DILIGENT IN MOVING AGAINST SUBVERSIVES.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN ANNOUNCED THAT HE WAS REFUSING TO ACCEPT THE RESIGNATIONS PENDING A FURTHER DECISION ON THE EXEMPTION LEGISLATION WHICH MC CARRAN'S SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE HAS BLOCKED.

THE WHITE HOUSE MADE PUBLIC A LETTER THE PRESIDENT WROTE TODAY TO MCCARRAN ASKING THE COMMITTEE TO REVERSE ITS POSITION. THE HOUSE ALREADY HAS PASSED THE EXEMPTION MEASURE, BUT THE SENATE GROUP VOTED 6 TO 3 AGAINST IT ON APRIL 30.

THE INTERNAL SECURITY COMMISSION, HEADED BY NIMITZ, WAS APPOINTED LAST JAN. 23 BY MR. TRUMAN TO MAKE A FULL STUDY OF THE NATION'S SCURTY

LAST JAN. 23 BY MR. TRUMAN TO MAKE A FULL STUDY OF THE NATION'S SECURITY PROBLEMS AND REPORT ON HOW THEY COULD BE MET WHILE AT THE SAME TIME PRESERVING PERSONAL LIBERTIES. IT HAS BEEN INOPERATIVE PENDING A DECISION ON THE EXEMPTION LEGISLATION.

NINE MEMBERS WERE APPOINTED TO THE COMMISSION. ALL SUBMITTED THEIR RESIGNATIONS EXCEPT INDUSTRIALIST HARVEY S. FIRESTONE, JR.

THE WHITE HOUSE SAID THE ONLY REASON HE DID NOT QUIT TOO IS THAT HE IS OUT OF THE COUNTRY.

BESIDES NIMITZ AND FIRESTONE THE MEMBERS ARE MISS ANNA LORD STRAUSS, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS; REV. KARL MORGAN BLOCK, BISHOP OF CALIFORNIA; FORMER SENATOR JOHN A. DANAHER OF CONNECTICUT; WILLIAM E. LEAHY, WASHINGTON LAWYER; CHARLES H. SILVER, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN WOOLEN CO.; REV. EMMET M. WALSH, ROMAN CATHOLIC COADJUTOR BISHOP OF YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, AND RUSSELL C. LEFFINGWELL, NEW YORK LAWYER AND CHAIRMAN OF J.P. MORGAN, INC.

ADMIRAL NIMITZ IN A LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT ON MAY 8 DECLARED THERE WAS AMPLE PRECEDENT FOR EXEMPTING THE COMMISSIONS MEMBERS FROM THE "CONFLICT OF INTERESTS" STATUTES AND DECLARED:

"THE USEFULNESS OF SUCH A COMMISSION AS THIS WOULD BE GRAVELY IMPAIRED IF ANY OF ITS MEMBERS OR COUNSEL WERE IN QUESTIONABLE STATUS IN THE LIGHT OF THESE STATUTES."

HE SAID SUCH EXEMPTIONS WERE GRANTED BY CONGRESS ONLY LAST YEAR IN BEHALF OF STAFF MEMBERS OF THE KEFAUVER CRIME INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE. BEFORE THAT, HE ADDED, EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOOVER GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION COMMISSION AND ITS STAFF HAD BEEN EXEMPTED.

"IT APPEARS TO THIS COMMISSION", HE SAID, "TO BE IMPORTANT IN THE INTEREST OF THE NATION THAT THE USE ON GOVERNMENT COMMISSIONS OF PRIVATE CITIZENS WHO ARE NOT REGULARLY IN THE EMPLOY OF THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE PERMITTED AND SANCTIONED AND DEVELOPED ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS."

THE PRESIDENT IN HIS LETTER TO MCCARRAN ASSERTED:

"IT SEEMS TO ME THAT CONGRESS WOULD BE AS ANXIOUS AS I AM TO MAKE SURE THAT THERE ARE NO COMMUNISTS OR OTHER SUBVERSIVES IN THE GOVERNMENT EMPLOY. WHILE THIS WAS NOT THE ONLY PURPOSE FOR WHICH THIS COMMISSION WAS CREATED, SURELY IT IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT.

"I EARNESTLY HOPE THAT THE CONGRESS WILL PASS THIS LEGISLATION TO MAKE IT POSSIBLE FOR THE COMMISSION TO GO AHEAD SPEEDILY WITH ITS WORK WHICH MEANS SO MUCH TO THE NATION'S SAFETY AND WELFARE."

HE SAID THE COMMISSION CAN NOT EFFECTIVELY PERFORM ITS FUNCTIONS UNLESS EXEMPTION LEGISLATION IS PASSED.

LIKE NIMITZ, MR.TRUMAN SAID THERE ARE MANY PRECEDENTS FOR SUCH LEGISLATION, PARTICULARLY WHERE OUTSTANDING CITIZENS ARE CALLED UPON TO RENDER PART TIME SERVICE TO THE GOVERNMENT.

"FOR EXAMPLE," HE SAID, "IT WOULD BE EXTREMELY DIFFICULT, IF NOT IMPOSSIBLE, TO OPERATE THE SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM, AND OUR ENTIRE DEFENSE MOBILIZATION EFFORT, IF AN EXEMPTION FROM THESE STATUTES WERE NOT MADE FOR MANY OF THE MEN WHO SERVE IN CARRYING OUT THESE PROGRAMS.

A14WX

"IT WOULD BE LITTLE SHORT OF DISASTROUS TO ADOPT A GENERAL POLICY UNDER WHICH NO EXEMPTIONS FROM THESE STATUTES WOULD BE ALLOWED. I WOULD AGREE, OF COURSE, THAT THE EXEMPTIONS SHOULD BE MADE CAREFULLY, AND ONLY WHEN THEY SERVE AN IMPORTANT PUBLIC SERVICE AND WHERE THERE IS LIKELY TO BE NO REAL CONFLICT OF INTEREST."

HE SAID HE REGARDED THE COMMISSION AS ABOVE REPROACH AND THERE COULD BE NO REASONABLE GROUND FOR ANY FEAR THAT ITS MEMBERS WOULD USE THEIR OFFICES TO FURTHER ANY PERSONAL INTEREST.

UNLESS THE EXEMPTION LEGISLATION IS PASSED, SOME OFFICIALS HAVE INDICATED NIMITZ HIMSELF MIGHT RUN AFOUL OF THE "CONFLICT OF INTERESTS" LAWS, BECAUSE HE HAS LIFETIME GOVERNMENT PAY AS A FIVE-STAR ADMIRAL.

IN ADDITION FIRESTONE'S RUBBER FIRM DOES CONSIDERABLE BUSINESS WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

INDIA GRAIN

BY BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-REP.COX (D-GA) ACCUSED INDIA TODAY OF PLAYING RUSSIA AGAINST THE UNITED STATES IN AN EFFORT TO "BLACKMAIL" CONGRESS INTO A FREE GIFT OF 2,000,000 TONS OF GRAIN.

HIS CHARGE WAS THE FIRST ROUND TO BE FIRED IN WHAT IS EXPECTED TO BE A NO-HOLDS-BARRED FOREIGN POLICY DEBATE WHEN THE INDIA GRAIN BILL COMES TO THE HOUSE FLOOR.

AFTER TWICE SHELVING THE BILL, LEADERS FOR A THIRD TIME SCHEDULED IT FOR A SHOWDOWN TEST NEXT TUESDAY.

HOUSE MEMBERS WERE CAUTIOUS ABOUT PREDICTING THE OUTCOME OF A VOTE ON THE ADMINISTRATION PROPOSAL FOR $190,000,000 IN FAMINE RELIEF FOR INDIA.

REP.VORYS (R-OHIO), REPUBLICAN FOREIGN POLICY SPOKESMAN IN THE HOUSE, SAID HE THOUGHT SOME KIND OF A GRAIN BILL WILL BE PASSED--"BUT HOW MANY STRINGS ARE GOING TO BE TIED TO IT IS ANOTHER QUESTION."

MEANWHILE, INDIAN PEOPLE WERE REPORTED FROM NEW DELHI TO BE GREATLY PLEASED BY WORD THAT RUSSIA IS SENDING 50,000 TONS OF WHEAT TO HELP MEET THE HUNGER SITUATION. SKILLFUL RED PROPAGANDA WAS CREDITED WITH MAKING THIS SOUND A LOT MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE FACT THAT THE U.S. ALREADY HAS BEEN SENDING GRAIN TO INDIA AT THE RATE OF MORE THAN 100,000 TONS A MONTH.

REPRESENTATIVES VOX AND VORYS BOTH EXPRESSED THEIR VIEWS IN TALKING TO A REPORTER. COX PREDICTED THE GRAIN-AID BILL WOULD BE KILLED OUTRIGHT, OR AT LEAST CHANGED TO PUT THE ASSISTANCE ON A STRAIGHT LOAN BASIS WITH INDIA OBLIGED TO REPAY IN STRATEGIC MATERIALS TO THE EXTENT POSSIBLE. (THE RUSSIAN DEAL IS ALSO EXPECTED TO BE ON A BARTER BASIS.)

CHARGING THAT RUSSIA IS "THE DOMINATING INFLUENCE IN INDIA RIGHT NOW," COX SAID:

"INDIA IS USING THIS SITUATION TO BLACKMAIL US INTO GIVING THEM WHEAT. IF WE DON'T GIVE IT TO THEM, THEY SAY THEY WILL GET IF FROM RUSSIA. WE ARE SIMPLY FOLLOWING THE OLD POLICY OF APPEASING EVERYTHING THAT'S RUSSIAN."

A NUMBER OF FACTORS HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THE HEAT GENERATED BY THE GRAIN-FOR-INDIA MEASURE.

AS THE FIRST MAJOR FOREIGN POLICY BILL OF THE 82ND CONGRESS, IT HAS BECOME THE TARGET FOR A NUMBER OF LEGISLATORS WHO DEPLORE THE FIRING OF GENERAL MACARTHUR AND WHO CRITICIZE THE WHOLE ADMINISTRATION FAR EAST FOREIGN POLICY.

IT HAS ALSO HIGH-LIGHTED INDIA'S POLICY OF NON-INTERVENTION AGAINST THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN KOREA.

PRIME MINISTER NEHRU'S STATEMENT OF TWO WEEKS AGO TO THE EFFECT INDIA WOULD REFUSE GRAIN IF "POLITICAL STRINGS" WERE ATTACHED STIRRED UP SO MUCH HOUSE RESENTMENT THAT LEADERS POSTPONED CONSIDERATION OF THE BILL.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STATEMENT IN NEW DELHI LAST THURSDAY, NEHRU EXPRESSED GRATITUDE OVER U.S.EFFORTS TO SUPPLY NEEDED GRAIN AND ADDED THAT HE SAW NO POLITICAL STRING ATTACHED TO BILLS NOW BEFORE CONGRESS.

NEW COMPLEXITIES CROPPED UP WHEN THE GOVERNMENT'S LATEST CROP REPORT SHOWED HEAVY LOSSES WERE IN PROSPECT ON THE U.S.WINTER WHEAT CROP, WITH THE NEED FOR PROBABLE LIMITATIONS ON EXPORTS ABROAD.

TIN DISPUTE
BY EDWIN B.HAAKINSON

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-SENATOR LYNDON JOHNSON (D-TEX) TODAY ACCUSED TIN PRODUCERS--PARTICULARLY IN BRITISH MALAYA--OF TRYING "TO SOAK" THE UNITED STATES WITH EXORBITANT PRICES.

"WE FEEL THAT THE TIN PRODUCERS HAVE BEEN TAKING ADVANTAGE OF A DESPERATE WORLD SITUATION," JOHNSON SAID. "WHILE THE TIMES CALL FOR SACRIFICES, THE TIN MINING INDUSTRY HAS BEEN INSISTENT UPON GUARANTEES FOR THE PERPETUATION OF ITS MOST PROSPEROUS PERIOD."

JOHNSON HEADS A PREPAREDNESS SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE. HIS GROUP RECOMMENDED MARCH 4 THAT THE GOVERNMENT STOP BUYING TIN---A STRATEGIC WAR METAL---UNTIL SUPPLIERS QUIT "GOUGING" IT. THE COMMITTEE REPORTED THAT PRICES SOARED MORE THAN 150 PER CENT DURING THE KOREAN WAR.

BUYING WAS STOPPED, AND PRICES AT SINGAPORE SOON DROPPED FROM $1.75 A POUND TO $1.33 BUT THE U.S. IS STILL STAYING OUT OF THE MARKET.

JOHNSON REVIVED THE ISSUE TODAY BY RELEASING AN EXCHANGE OF LETTERS BETWEEN HIM AND F.S.MILLER, OF NEW YORK, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE PACIFIC TIN CONSOLIDATED CORPORATION. THE SENATOR SAID THIS CORPORATION IS THE ONLY AMERICAN TIN PRODUCER OPERATING IN MALAYA, A BRITISH CROWN COLONY AND CHIEF SOURCE OF TIN WHICH MUST BE IMPORTED BY THIS COUNTRY.

MILLER SAID HE HAD DISCUSSED THE COMMITTEE REPORT "WITH LEADING ENGLISH AND CHINESE TIN PRODUCERS FROM MALAYA" AND HAD FOUND NO PROOF OF CHARGES THERE HAD BEEN RESTRICTION OF PRODUCTION, BOOSTING OF PRICES, AND FAILURE TO COOPERATE IN THE COMMON DEFENSE AGAINST COMMUNISM.

HE ALSO QUOTED AN EDITORIAL FROM "THE STRAITS TIMES OF SINGAPORE" WHICH SAID IN PART:

"WHAT MALAYA WANTS, BOTH FOR RUBBER AND TIN, IS A REASONABLE PROSPECT OF A PROSPEROUS STABILIZED FUTURE. UNTIL THERE IS SOME SAFEGUARD AGAINST A COLLAPSE OF PRICES WHEN STOCKPILING ENDS, MALAYA OWES AMERICA NOTHING."

MAY 13 1951

A183WX
IN ANSWER TO THIS, JOHNSON WROTE:

"THE PARENTS AND RELATIVES OF AMERICAN BOYS WHO DIED FIGHTING THE JAPANESE IN THE PACIFIC SO THAT MALAYA, AMONG OTHER AREAS, WOULD BE SET FREE FROM THE JAPANESE CONQUEST WOULD FIND IT DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND WHY MALAYA OWES AMERICA NOTHING.

"IT WAS THE BLOOD AND TREASURE OF AMERICA THAT PLAYED THE DECISIVE ROLE IN SETTING MALAYA FREE AND, INCIDENTALLY, RECOVERED THE TIN MINES FOR THEIR OWNERS."

JOHNSON SAID THIS COUNTRY IS WILLING TO RECOGNIZE ANY SPECIAL PROBLEMS OF TIN PRODUCERS AND NEGOTIATE ON A REASONABLE PRICE BASIS.

BUT IF TIN PRODUCERS "WISH TO REJECT SUCH AN APPROACH AND TO SOAK US WHAT THE TRAFFIC WILL BEAR, THE UNITED STATES MUST BE FREE TO ACT IN WHATEVER MANNER WILL PROTECT ITS OWN BEST INTERESTS," HE SAID ADDING:

"AND THOSE INTERESTS ARE NOT RELATED TO SHABBY DOLLAR PATRIOTISM."

MILLER MAINTAINED IN HIS LETTER THAT MALAYAN TIN MINES ARE NOW PRODUCING AT THE MAXIMUM RATE UNDER VERY DIFFICULT CIRCUMSTANCES, INCLUDING COMMUNIST GUERRILLA ATTACKS AND A SHORTAGE OF CERTAIN TYPES OF PERSONNEL. DENYING THAT PRODUCTION HAS BEEN RESTRICTED, HE BLAMED THE PRICE RISE ON "INEPT HANDLING" OF THE U.S. STOCKPILING PROGRAM. HE SAID THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT "CUT THE GROUND FROM UNDER OUR FEET" IN EFFORTS TO EXPLAIN TO THE U.S. VIEWPOINT TO MALAYAN PRODUCERS.

BYRD SAID IN A STATEMENT "THE AMENDMENT IS PARTICULARLY AIMED AT GREAT BRITAIN."

"THE FACT THAT GREAT BRITAIN HAS BEEN SENDING WAR MATERIALS TO THE RED CHINESE THROUGH HONG KONG IS TO ME A MOST OUTRAGEOUS PROCEDURE," HE SAID.

"THOSE WAR MATERIALS ARE BEING USED NOT ONLY AGAINST AMERICANS IN KOREA BUT AGAINST THE BRITISH TROOPS WHO ARE THERE."

"TO SHIP SUCH MATERIALS TO THE RED CHINESE WILL DEFINITELY PROLONG THE KOREAN WAR."

ON THURSDAY, THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED IT WAS BANNING FURTHER SHIPMENTS OF RUBBER TO CHINA IN 1951 AND PROMISED "A VERY VIGILANT WATCH" OVER EXPORTS GENERALLY FROM BRITAIN AND HER COLONIES.

BYRD SAID THE UNITED NATIONS CANNOT LIVE UNLESS ALL OF ITS MEMBERS CARRY "THEIR PROPER SHARE OF THE BURDEN" IN THE KOREAN WAR AND IN OTHER WAYS.

"IN ORDER TO PRESERVE THE UNITED NATIONS," HE SAID, "NOT ONLY MUST ALL THE MEMBERS CONTRIBUTE THEIR SHARE OF FIGHTING TROOPS BUT ALL MEMBERS MUST DESIST FROM GIVING AID AND COMFORT TO THE ENEMY BY THE SHIPMENT OF WAR MATERIALS OR OTHERWISE."

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-REP.STEFAN (R-NEBR) SAID TONIGHT THE UNITED STATES SHOULDN'T BUY "ANYTHING AT ALL" FROM RUSSIA.

HE SAID THE ECONOMIC COOPERATION ADMINISTRATION (ECA) IS SPENDING $325,000 FOR FERTILIZER FOR THE PPILIPPINE ISLANDS AND THAT THE INITIAL PURCHASE WAS MADE THROUGH A NEW YORK FIRM WHICH GOT THE FERTILIZER FROM EAST GERMANY.

"WE SHOULD BUY THAT FERTILIZER SOMEWHERE ELSE," HE TOLD A REPORTER TONIGHT. "I SAY DON'T GIVE RUSSIA ONE SINGLE U.S. DOLLAR BY BUYING FROM THEM.

"DOLLARS ARE AS GOOD TO THE KREMLIN AS AMMUNITION."

THE ECA SAID TTHERE WAS NOTHING IMPROPER IN THE TRANSACTION.

STEFAN SAID HE HAS ALREADY MENTIONED THE TRANSACTION TO CONGRESS BUT AT THIS TIME PLANS NO FURTHER ACTION.

IN A STATEMENT TO THE HOUSE TWO DAYS AGO, STEFAN HE HAD JUST RECEIVED "FROM ECA BULLETIN NO. 2216 X X X WHICH IS AN ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE ECA THEY ARE SPENDING $325,000 TO BUY FERTILIZER FROM THE RUSSIANS X X X " TO SHIP TO THE PHILIPPINES.

CONTROLS

MAY 13 1951

BY JOSEPH C.GOODWIN

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-THE PRICE CONTROL CLEAVER IS LOPPING ABOUT 12 CENTS A POUND OFF SOME CHUCK STEAKS AND POT ROASTS, AND FIVE TO SIX CENTS OFF RUMP ROAST.

THE REDUCTIONS, ORDERED LAST NIGHT BY THE OFFICE OF PRICE STABILIZATION, WILL SHOW UP IN THE DOLLARS-AND-CENTS CEILING PRICES ON ALL BEEF WHICH MUST BE POSTED ON MEAT COUNTERS MONDAY MORNING.

ALTHOUGH THE NEW ORDER WAS ISSUED ON THE SAME DAY THAT THE BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS REPORTED A THREE PER CENT DROP IN LIVESTOCK PRICES DURING THE WEEK ENDED MAY 8, IT HAD NO APPARENT CONNECTION WITH THIS DEVELOPMENT. → Retailers must have their prices posted by June 4.

NOR WAS THERE A CONNECTION WITH THE PROJECTED GENERAL ROLLBACK WHICH IS SCHEDULED TO REDUCE ALL BEEF PRICES BY ABOUT 10 CENTS A POUND BY NEXT OCT.1. THE NEW ORDER SIMPLY AMENDS CEILING REGULATIONS TO ALLOW FOR "INEQUITIES" AND TO PROVIDE OTHER ADJUSTMENTS IN AN ORDER ISSUED APRIL 29.

THIS DIRECTED RETAIL DEALERS TO POST CONTROLLED CEILING PRICES BY MAY 14.

HERE IS WHAT THE NEW ORDER DOES:

IT SETS THE SAME PRICE FOR STEAKS AND POT ROASTS OF THE VARITIES KNOWN AS CHUCK ARM AND CHUCK BLADE, BONE IN.

ARM CHUCKS WERE ABOUT 13 CENTS A POUND HIGHER THAN CHUCK BLADES IN THE ORIGINAL APRIL 29 BEEF ORDER. ON MONDAY, THE CEILING ON ARM CHUCKS WILL DROP 12 CENTS AND THE CEILING ON CHUCK BLADES WILL GO UP ONE CENT.

THE REDUCTIONS IN THE ANNOUNCED CEILING PRICE ON CHOICE AND GOOD GRADE RUMP ROASTS, BONE IN, WILL BRING THE BUTCHER SHOP PRICE DOWN FROM 84 CENTS A POUND TO ABOUT 79 CENTS, O.P.S., OFFICIALS SAID. THE PRICE OF CHOICE AND GOOD BONELESS RUMP REMAINS AT $1.12 A POUND.

THE OPS POSTPONED THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF RETAIL KOSHER BEEF PRICE CEILINGS FROM NEXT MONDAY TO MAY 21.

WHOLESALE PRICES IN GENERAL DECLINED FOR THE SECOND WEEK IN A ROW DURING THE WEEK ENDED MAY 8, LARGELY BECAUSE OF THE 3.0 PER CENT DROP IN LIVESTOCK PRICES. THE BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS REPORTED YESTERDAY AN INDEX OF 182.9 PER CENT OF THE 1926 AVERAGE WAS A DECLINE OF 0.3 PER CENT FROM THE PRECEDING WEEK.

THE INDEX WAS 1.6 PER CENT ABOVE THE LEVEL OF JAN.23, JUST BEFORE THE PRICE FREEZE; 16.6 PER CENT ABOVE THE MAY 24-JUNE 25 (PRE-KOREA) AVERAGE, AND 17.7 ABOVE A YEAR AGO.

CRYPTOGRAPHY

BY ELTON C.FAY

WASHINGTON,MAY 12-(AP)-THE SENATE COMMITTEE HEARINGS ON THE MACARTHUR CASE HAVE PRODUCED BARE REFERENCES TO ONE OF THE MOST CAREFULLY GUARDED SECRETS OF THE MILITARY--ITS SYTEM OF CRYPTOGRAPHY.

IN WAR, OR EVEN IN PEACE, "CRACKING THE CODE" OF ANOTHER NATION CAN HAVE VALUE EQUAL TO THE DESTRUCTION OF ENEMY ARMIES OR FLEETS. BECAUSE THE UNITED STATES LEARNED JAPAN'S COMMUNICATIONS CODE, IT WAS READY WHEN THE JAP FLEET MADE THE COSTLY AND UNSUCCESSFUL STRIKE AT MIDWAY ISLAND IN WORLD WAR II.

THE TERM "CRYPTOGRAPHY" REALLY COVERS BOTH THE USE OF THE CODE AND OF CIPHER TRANSMISSION MACHINES.

THUS, A SECRET MESSAGE CAN BE TRANSMITTED BY THE USE OF A MACHINE WHICH TRANSMITS SYMBOLS OR GROUPS OF SYMBOLS WHICH ARE (AS THE MILITARY SAYS) "DE-CRYPTOGRAPHED" MECHANICALLY UPON RECEPTION OF THE MESSAGE.

OR CRYPTOGRAPHY MAY BE MERELY THE OLD BUT STILL USEFUL SYSTEM OF USING LETTERS OR GROUPS OF LETTERS WHICH HAVE NO MEANING UNTIL A "KEY" IS USED TO CONVERT THE MESSAGE INTO PLAIN LANGUAGE.

OF PARTICULAR CONCERN TO THOSE CHARGED WITH MAINTAINING THE SECURITY OF CRYPTOGRAPHY SYSTEMS IS THE CHANCE THAT A MESSAGE SENT BY CIPHER MAY APPEAR, BY ACCIDENT, AT A LATER DATE IN A PUBLIC DOCUMENT. THIS WOULD BE USEFUL MATERIAL FOR AN ESPIONAGE AGENT WHO, HAVING PICKED UP FROM RADIO OR OTHER SOURCES A COPY OF THE CODED MESSAGE, COULD COMPARE IT WITH THE PLAIN-LANGUAGE TEXT AND THUS "CRACK THE CODE."

CRYPTOGRAPHIC MESSAGES SENT IN SYMBOL COULD BE AS SIMPLE AS THE GADGET USED TO RUN A PLAYER PIANO OR COULD BE MUCH MORE INTRICATE--WHICH THEY ARE.

THE MILITARY PLACES THE TIGHTEST PROTECTION NOT ONLY OVER THE MACHINES AND CODES BUT OVER COPIES OF MESSAGES WHICH HAVE BEEN TRANSMITTED CRYPTOGRAPHICALLY.

REGULATIONS REQUIRE, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THAT CRYPTOGRAPHIC MATERIAL MUST BE KEPT "IN THE MOST SECURE STORAGE AVAILABLE AND WILL NEVER BE LEFT UNATTENDED EXCEPT WHEN LOCKED IN A THREE-COMBINATION SAFE OR ITS EQUIVALENT." DECODED CRYPTOGRAPHIC MESSAGES MAY NOT NEVER BE KEPT IN THE SAME SAFES WITH THE CODE USED TO DECIPHER THEM.

MAY 13 1951

A190WX

TO PREVENT "CODE CRACKING," MATERIAL SENT CRYPTOGRAPHICALLY IS PARAPHRASED BEFORE BEING RELEASED FOR USE BY OTHERS THAN THOSE TO WHOM THE MESSAGES ARE DIRECTED.

REGULATIONS SPECIFY THAT "ROUTINE REPORTS AND MESSAGES WHICH MUST BE GIVEN WIDE DISTRIBUTION, OR THE CONTENTS OF WHICH HAVE BEEN OR MAY EVENTUALLY BE FURNISHED THE PRESS" SHOULD BE TRANSMITTED WHENEVER POSSIBLE IN PLAIN LANGUAGE, BUT THAT IF CODE TRANSMISSION IS REQUIRED THE TEXT SHOULD BE PARAPHRASED BEFORE BEING DISTRIBUTED.

PRECISE INSTRUCTIONS FOR PARAPHRASING ALSO ARE SET DOWN. THE SEQUENCES OF PARAGRAPHS AND OF SENTENCES IN PARAGRAPHS MUST BE CHANGED; POSITIONS OF SUBJECT, PREDICATE AND MODIFIERS MUST BE ALTERED; SYNOMYMS SHOULD BE USED.

NIGHT LEAD MACARTHUR-GIANTS

BY VINCENT P. O'MAHONEY

NEW YORK, MAY 12-(AP)-GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR SWAPPED HIS BATTERED CAMPAIGN HAT FOR A GREY HOMBURG TODAY AND TOOK IN A BASEBALL GAME. IT WAS THE FIRST TIME IN 11 YEARS HE HAD WORN CIVILIAN CLOTHES.

THE DEPOSED FAR EASTERN COMMANDER GOT A ROARING WELCOME FROM THE CROWD AS HE SHOWED UP, IMMACULATELY ATTIRED, FOR THE GIANTS-PHILLIES GAME.

HIS SPANKING NEW OUTFIT INCLUDED: GREY DOUBLE-BREASTED SUIT, BLUISH-GREY NECKTIE, WHITE SHIRT, AND SHINY BLACK SHOES.

GONE WERE THE GOLD BRAID "SCRAMBLED EGGS" OF HIS MILITARY HEADGEAR.

INSTEAD, A BLACK BAND DECORATED HIS GREY HAT.

THE 10,000 FANS AT THE POLO GROUNDS ROSE AND CHEERED AS THE GENERAL AND HIS WIFE ENTERED THE FIELD.

THEIR BOX AT FIRST BASE WAS FESTOONED WITH AMERICAN FLAGS AND THE GENERAL'S FIVE-STAR FLAG.

GIANTS' MANAGER LEO DUROCHER AND PHILLIES MANAGER EDDIE SAWYER GREETED MACARTHUR.

"IT'S BEEN A LONG TIME, LEO, SINCE TOKYO," SAID MACARTHUR TO DUROCHER.

MAY 13 1951

THE REFERENCE WAS TO DUROCHER'S 1946 VISIT WITH A BASEBALL TROUPE TO JAPAN.

A RECORDING OF A 17-GUN SALUTE WAS PLAYED OVER THE BALL PARK'S PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM.

MACARTHUR THEN SPOKE BRIEFLY TO THE CROWD. HE SAID HE AND HIS WIFE WERE "HAPPY TO WITNESS THE GREAT AMERICAN GAME OF BASEBALL THAT HAS DONE SO MUCH TO BUILD THE AMERICAN CHARACTER."

"MRS. MACARTHUR AND I," HE ADDED, "ARE BOTH FANS. BY THAT I MEAN WE HAVE SENSE ENOUGH TO ROOT FOR THE HOME TEAM."

THAT BROUGHT A ROAR FROM THE GIANTS FANS WHO LATER SAW THEIR TEAM LOSE 6 TO 5 IN AN EXTRA-INNING GAME TO THE NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPION PHILLIES.

"WE'RE GOING TO SETTLE DOWN NOW TO WATCH THE LONG HITS, MARK THE ERRORS AND RAZZ THE UMPIRE, EVEN IF WE KNOW HE IS RIGHT," MACARTHUR CONCLUDED IN HIS REMARKS TO THE CROWD.

MACARTHUR HAD TO TRY THREE TIMES BEFORE HE THREW OUT A SATISFACTORY "FIRST BALL" TO GIANTS CATCHER RAY NOBLE.

THE FIRST TWO BALLS STRUCK THE GROUND BEFORE REACHING THE CATCHER.

NOBLE CAUGHT THE THIRD BALL ON THE FLY, RAN TO THE GENERAL'S BOX AND SHOOK HANDS WITH HIM.

A48

"HE'S GOT A GOOD CURVE BALL!" DUROCHER SHOUTED TO CAMERAMEN.

HORACE STONEHAM, GIANTS PRESIDENT, MRS. DUROCHER, AND HANS LOBERT, FORMER BASEBALL GREAT, NOW A GIANTS SCOUT, SAT WITH THE MACARTHURS.

MACARTHUR APPLAUDED SEVERAL TIMES DURING THE GAME, ESPECIALLY WHEN CARROLL LOCKMAN HIT A HOME RUUN FOR THE GIANTS IN THE FIRST INNING AND ALVIN DARK SLAMMED A LONG TRIPLE FOR THE HOME TEAM IN THE THIRD.

THE GAME LASTED THREE HOURS AND FIVE MINUTES.

MACARTHUR HAD NONE OF THE TRADITIONAL BALL PARK FARE--HOT DOGS, PEANUTS, OR POP.

WHEN THE GAME ENDED, THE FANS OBSERVED A MANAGEMENT REQUEST TO REMAIN SEATED WHILE MACARTHUR AND HIS PARTY LEFT THE FIELD.

A RECORDING OF "OLD SOLDIERS NEVER DIE" WAS PLAYED AS HE LEFT.

"WONDERFUL GAME," MACARTHUR SAID TO REPORTERS WHEN HE ARRIVED BACK AT HIS HOTEL.

"WE HAD A WONDERFUL TIME," SAID MRS.MACARTHUR.

NEW YORK, MAY 12-(AP)-MAJ.GEN.COURTNEY WHITNEY, ADVISER TO GEN.MACARTHUR, SAID TODAY THE FORMER FAR EAST COMMANDER STUDIED THE POTENTIALITY OF ATOMIC WEAPONS IN THE KOREA WAR, BUT NEVER "ACTUALLY RECOMMENDED" THEIR USE.

"LOGICALLY, IT CAN BE ASSUMED HE FELT NO PRESSING NEED," WHITNEY SAID IN ANSWER TO QUESTIONS DURING A NEWS CONFERENCE AT THE WALDORF-ASTORIA.

WHITNEY SAID WHETHER GEN.MACARTHUR WOULD HAVE CONSIDERED USE OF ATOMIC WEAPONS IF EVACUATION OF KOREA HAD BECOME NECESSARY WAS "TOO HYPOTHETICAL" A QUESTION. HE ADDED GEN. MACARTHUR "NEVER THOUGHT OUR TROOPS WOULD BE FORCED OUT OF KOREA."

CONCERNING EMPLOYMENT OF AN ATOMIC BOMB OR ATOMIC WEAPON, WHITNEY SAID MACARTHUR "CONSIDERED IT TO THE EXTENT HE STUDIED ITS POTENTIALITY, BUT NEVER ACTUALLY RECOMMENDED ITS EMPLOYMENT.

"HE STUDIED ITS POTENTIALITY AFTER THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS HAD CREATED A NEW SITUATION AND A NEW WAR WITH WHICH HE WAS NOT SENT TO COPE WITH IN KOREA. HE WAS SENT TO FIGHT THE NORTH KOREANS, NOT CHINESE COMMUNISTS," WHITNEY SAID.

WHITNEY SAID THAT MACARTHUR, IN A CONFERENCE YESTERDAY WITH JOHN FOSTER DULLES, REPUBLICAN FOREIGN AFFAIRS EXPERT, "MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE WILL CONTINUE TO DO HIS DUTY AS A CITIZEN AND HELP IN ANY WAY HE CAN."

DULLES IS WORKING ON THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY FOR THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND CONFERRED SEVERAL TIMES WITH MACARTHUR IN TOKYO.

WHITNEY SAID THE GENERAL BELIEVES THE JAPANESE WILL BE SELF-SUPPORTING BY NEXT YEAR.

ASKED TO COMMENT ON REPORTED DIFFERENCES OVER FAR EASTERN TRADE POLICIES BETWEEN MACARTHUR AND BRITAIN, WHITNEY SAID THE BRITISH SOUGHT TO PROTECT THEIR FAR EASTERN INTERESTS FROM JAPANESE COMPETITION WHILE MACARTHUR HELD THE JAPANESE SHOULD HAVE UNRESTRICTED COMPETITIVE RIGHTS TO ENTER TRADE AND COMMERCE.

NIGHT LEAD TEACHER-MACARTHUR (320)

NEW YORK, MAY 12-(AP)-A JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER SAID TODAY HIS PRINCIPAL TRIED TO COERCE HIM INTO ATTENDING THE MACARTHUR WELCOME PARADE HERE. THE TEACHER GAVE THREE REASONS WHY HE DID NOT WANT TO GO.

THE TEACHER, NORMAN LONDON, IS UNDER INVESTIGATION BY THE BOARD OF EDUCATION FOR ALLEGED REFUSAL TO ACCOMPANY HIS CLASS TO THE PARADE APRIL 20 WELCOMING GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.

HE SAID IN A STATEMENT TODAY THAT ONE REASON HE DIDN'T WANT TO GO TO THE PARADE WAS BECAUSE HE HAD BEEN A SOLDIER IN THE PHILIPPINES

IN WORLD WAR TWO. HE ADDED:
"IT IS NO SECRET THAT THE TROOPS HEARTILY DISLIKED GENERAL MACARTHUR."
ANOTHER REASON, HE SAID, WAS THAT AS A FORMER TEACHER IN HARLEM, THOUGH WHITE HIMSELF, HE LONG HAD OPPOSED "EVERY FORM OF RACIAL BIAS AND BIGOTRY."
"I COULD NOT BRING MYSELF TO HONOR A MAN," HE SAID, "WHOSE FAR EAST COMMAND WAS DESCRIBED AFTER A THOROUGH, ON-THE SPOT INVESTIGATION BY THURGOOD MARSHALL, COUNSEL FOR THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF COLORED PEOPLE, AS CONDONING DISCRIMINATION AGAINST NEGROES."
LONDON SAID HIS THIRD REASON WAS THAT IT WAS HIS OPINION, "CONFIRMED BY MUCH THAT I HAVE READ CONCERNING GENERAL MACARTHUR'S OWN RECENT TESTIMONY IN WASHINGTON, THAT HIS POLICIES WOULD LEAD TO AN IMMEDIATE WORLD-WIDE CONFLICT."
LONDON SAID THAT IN MANY SCHOOLS THE TEACHERS WERE GIVEN THEIR CHOICE OF GOING TO THE PARADE WITH PUPILS OR STAYING IN SCHOOL WITH CHILDREN WHO WERE NOT ATTENDING THE PARADE.
BUT HIS PRINCIPAL, HE SAID, "ATTEMPTED TO COERCE ME INTO ATTENDING BY THREATENING TO INFORM DR.JANSEN--A THREAT WHICH HE CARRIED OUT."
LONDON REFERRED TO DR.WILLIAM JANSEN, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS, WHO HAS ASKED DR.ELIAS LIEBERMAN, ASSOCIATE SUPERINTENDENT IN CHARGE OF THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL DIVISION, TO INVESTIGATE THE CASE.
THE PRINCIPAL OF LONDON'S SCHOOL, ABRAHAM WIENER, SAID HE HAD NO COMMENT ON LONDON'S STATEMENT, AND THAT ALL QUESTIONS ABOUT THE CASE SHOULD BE REFERRED TO DR.JANSEN OR DR.LIEBERMAN.
IEJENSEN AN

CASE SHOULD BE REFERRED TO DR.JANSEN OR DR.LIEBERMAN.

THE PULITZER PRIZE PLAYHOUSE PRESENTED THE PLAY, ENTITLED "KOREA--THE THOUSAND YARD LOOK," OVER THE AMERICAN BROADCASTING COMPANY TV NETWORK.
A QUARTER-ACRESTUDIO WAS USED FOR THE PRODUCTION WITH STAGE SETTINGS AND PROPS, INCLUDING ARMY-LOANED WEAPONS AND EQUIPMENT, SIMULATING THE BATTLE BACKGROUND OF KOREA.
BOYLE, A PULITZER PRIZE WINNER IN 1945, NARRATED THE PLAY. HE DESCRIBED THE "THOUSAND YARD LOOK" AS THE "LOOK OF DISTANCE THAT COMES INTO THE EYES OF A MAN WHEN HE HAS SEEN TOO MUCH OF BATTLE AND TOO LITTLE OF HOME."
BOYLE IS NOW WORKING OUT OF THE AP'S NEW YORK HEADQUARTERS.

(350) WALLACE-CHINA - May 12 -
(WX) SOUTH SALEM, N.Y.-(AP)-FORMER VICE PRESIDENT HENRY WALLACE DENIED LAST NIGHT HE DISCUSSED BRINGING COMMUNISTS INTO THE CHINESE NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT DURING CONVERSATIONS HE HAD WITH GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK IN 1944.
HE TOOK SHARP ISSUE WITH THE AGREEMENT VOICED YESTERDAY IN WASHINGTON BY SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL AND SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) THAT A 1949 UNITED STATES "WHITE PAPER" (OFFICIAL DOCUMENT) ON CHINA INDICATED HE HAD SUGGESTED CHINESE COMMUNISTS BE TAKEN INTO THE CHIANG (NATIONALIST) GOVERNMENT "AS EARLY AS 1944."
AT SENATE HEARINGS ON THE OUSTER OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR, KNOWLAND

QUOTED FROM THE "WHITE PAPER," RELEASED IN 1949.

WALLACE HAD BEEN SENT TO CHINA BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

KNOWLAND QUOTED THE DOCUMENT AS SAYING WALLACE TOLD CHIANG THAT MR. ROOSEVELT HAD INDICATED IF THE NATIONALISTS AND COMMUNISTS COULDN'T GET TOGETHER THEY MIGHT CALL IN A FRIEND--AND HAD INDICATED THAT HE (ROOSEVELT) MIGHT BE THAT FRIEND.

IN HIS STATEMENT ISSUED HERE LAST NIGHT, WALLACE SAID:

"ROOSEVELT WAS NOT INTERESTED IN MAKING OVER THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT. WHAT HE WAS INTERESTED IN WAS SEEING THE CHINESE FROM ALL TYPES OF POLITICAL FAITHS DOING A GOOD JOB OF FIGHTING THE JAPANESE."

WALLACE SAID NO SPECIFIC AGREEMENT OF ANY KIND WAS "INDICATED" BY EITHER THE PRESIDENT OR WALLACE.

"THE PRESIDENT WAS...INTERESTED IN A STRONG...DEMOCRATIC CHINA," WALLACE SAID, "AND...WANTED ALL DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CHINA AND RUSSIA SETTLED BEFORE THE WAR CAME TO AN END."

KNOWLAND SAID YESTERDAY IT APPEARED THAT "THROUGH THE VOICE OF VICE PRESIDENT WALLACE" CHIANG WAS BEING PRESSURED TO COME TO SOME AGREEMENTS WITH RUSSIA.

WALLACE QUOTED A LETTER HE SAID MR.ROOSEVELT HAD WRITTEN CHIANG JUST AFTER WALLACE'S FOUR-DAY TALK WITH THE NATIONALIST CHIEF. IN THE LETTER, ROOSEVELT SAID HE WELCOMED THE INDICATION GIVEN HIM BY WALLACE OF CHIANG'S DESIRE "FOR IMPROVED RELATIONS BETWEEN THE U.S.S.R.AND CHINA."

"IT OCCURS TO ME," THE LETTER CONTINUED, "THAT ANY SUCH CONFERENCE (BETWEEN CHINA AND RUSSIA) WOULD BE GREATLY FACILITATED IF A WORKING ARRANGEMENT HAD BEEN REACHED BEFOREHAND BETWEEN THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT AND THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS."

WALLACE SAID HE THEN RECOMMENDED TO MR.ROOSEVELT, AT CHIANG'S SUGGESTION, THAT "AN AMERICAN OFFICER OF THE HIGHEST CALIBER" BE SENT TO CHINA AS A PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE BETWEEN CHIANG AND THE PRESIDENT. HE MENTIONED LT.GEN.ALBERT C.WEDEMEYER AS A POSSIBLE CANDIDATE.

SUBSEQUENTLY, WEDEMEYER DID GO TO CHINA, AS COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE CHINA THEATRE. THEN IN JULY, 1947, AFTER HAVING RETURNED TO THIS COUNTRY, HE WAS SENT BACK BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON A SIX-WEEKS' FACT-FINDING STUDY.

THE RESULT OF THAT STUDY BECAME THE LONG-SECRET" WEDEMEYER REPORT," PORTIONS OF WHICH WERE MADE PUBLIC ONLY 10 DAYS AGO, IN CONNECTION WITH THE SENATE HEARINGS.

MAY 13 1951

WALLACE SAID EARLY TODAY HE HAD GONE THROUGH ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTS AND FOUND ANOTHER THAT WOULD SHOW HE DID NOT SUGGEST A CHIANG-COMMUNIST COALITION, AS MARSHALL AND KNOWLAND SUGGESED.

THIS DOCUMENT, HE SAID, WAS A SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT MADE TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND NOT INCLUDED IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S WHITE PAPER. HE SAID THE NEW YORK TIMES OF JAN. 19,1950, PUBLISHED THIS REPORT IN FULL.

IN THIS REPORT, WALLACE SAID, HE SUGGESTED THAT CHIANG TAKE "WESTERN TRAINED MEN" INTO HIS COALITION, NOT COMMUNISTS.

WALLACE ADDED THAT HE NOTED THAT THE U.S. ALREADY SUPPORTED A COALITION OF WARLORDS, LANDLORDS AND BANKERS UNDER CHIANG.

HIS SUGGESTION, HE SAID, WAS TO INCLUDE IN THE COALITION "PROGRESSIVE" BANKERS AND MERCHANTS AND THOSE GENERALS WHO ARE NEITHER SUBSERVIENT TO LANDLORDS NOR OPPOSED TO THE PEASANTS.

WALLACE SAID SUCH MEN UNDERSTAND THEIR OWN COUNTRY AND THE WESTERN WORLD.

AMS BUDGET--ATOMIC OVEN (600)

BY ALTON L.BLAKESLEE

ASSOCIATED PRESS SCIENCE REPORTER

(ADVANCE) UPTON, N.Y., MAY 12-(AP)-TWO NEW STEPS IN CANCER TREATMENT WITH THE POTENT ATOMIC OVEN AT BROOKHAVEN NATIONAL LABORATORY WERE DISCLOSED TODAY.

ONE IS PRODUCTION OF A NEW KIND OF RADIOACTIVE IODINE THAT MAY HIT HARDER AND MORE SAFELY AT THYROID GLAND CANCER, AND THYROID CANCER THAT HAS SPREAD THROUGH THE BODY.

THIS IODINE GIVES OFF X-RAYS TO HIT CANCER CELLS. BUT IT LIVES OR LASTS SUCH A SHORT TIME THERE IS LESS CHANCE OF THE RAYS' DAMAGING HEALTHY BODY CELLS.

SECOND WAS THE DISCLOSURE THAT THREE HUMANS NOW HAVE LAIN ATOP THE HUGE ATOMIC OVEN FOR TREATMENT OF BRAIN CANCERS BY BOMBARDMENT WITH ATOMIC BULLETS COMING FROM THE CHAIN REACTION GOING ON INSIDE.

TWO OF THEM--BOTH MEN--STILL ARE ALIVE AFTER TREATMENTS TWO MONTHS AGO. THE FIRST PATIENT, A WOMAN, HAS SINCE DIED. BUT THE RESULTS "ARE SUFFICIENTLY HOPEFUL TO CONTINUE STUDYING THE METHOD," SAID DR.D.D.VAN SLYKE OF BROOKHAVEN.

THE BULLETS ARE NEUTRONS, PRODUCED BY FABULOUS BILLIONS INSIDE THE OVEN. THEY CREATE RADIOACTIVE RAYS IN THE BRAIN CANCER. AN INJECTION OF BORON IS GIVEN FIRST, AND MUCH OF IT CONCENTRATES IN THE CANCER. THE NEUTRON BULLETS MAKE THE BORON RADIOACTIVE, TO EMIT CANCER-DAMAGING RAYS.

BOTH DEVELOPMENTS WERE ANNOUNCED AS THE VEIL OF SECRECY WAS REMOVED FROM ONE GREAT WHITE FACE OF THE ATOMIC PILE OR OVEN TO PERMIT MORE SCIENTISTS TO USE IT FOR PEACEFUL RESEARCH.

THIS WEST FACE OR SIDE OF THE PILE IS BLOCKED OFF BY HIGH STEEL PARTITIONS AT BOTH SIDES, HIDING THE REST OF THE OVEN AND ITS STILL-SECRET FACES. THIS WEST SIDE NOW CAN BE USED, WITH NO DANGER OF SECRETS BEING DISCLOSED, BY QUALIFIED SCIENTISTS WHO WILL NOT NEED FULL FBI SECURITY CLEARANCE.

THESE SCIENTISTS WILL SEE ONLY A WHITE CONCRETE WALL, 30 FEET HIGH, 55 FEET WIDE, AND FIVE FEET THICK, SHIELDING THE ATOMIC PILE.

A163

MAY 13 1951

IT IS STUDDED WITH 30 PORTHOLES, WHICH CAN BE OPENED TO LET STREAMS OF NEUTRONS FLY OUT, OR TO PLACE MATERIALS INSIDE TO MAKE THEM RADIOACTIVE BY NEUTRON BOMBARDMENT. THREE STEEL BALCONIES GIVE THREE WORKING LEVELS FOR EXPERIMENTS IN BIOLOGY, PHYSICS, MICROBE LIFE, THE STRUCTURE OF MATTER, OR OTHER RESEARCH.

NEWSMEN WERE SHOWN THIS MUCH OF THE ULTRA-SECRET ATOMIC PILE, WHILE STAFF MEMBERS AT BROOKHAVEN TOLD OF PROMISING NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN PEACEFUL USES OF ATOMIC ENERGY.

THE RADIOACTIVE IODINE-132 IS ONE. IODINE CONCENTRATES IN THYROID TISSUE. THE NEW FORM OF IODINE HAS A SHORT LIFE. IN 2 HOURS AND 24 MINUTES, HALF OF IT DISAPPEARS, BREAKING DOWN INTO THE HARMLESS GAS, XENON. A BIG DOSE WOULD DISAPPEAR WITHIN 24 HOURS.

IT MAY BE SAFER AND BETTER FOR THYROID CANCER BECAUSE THE PRESENT FORM OF RADIOACTIVE IODINE TAKES EIGHT DAYS FOR HALF OF IT TO BREAK DOWN, SOME OF IT IS STILL RADIOACTIVE A MONTH AFTER A DOSE IS GIVEN.

THE NEW IODINE WAS PRODUCED BY REMOTE-CONTROL CHEMICAL SEPARATION INSIDE A HUGE STEEL-AND-CONCRETE CELL, STARTING WITH URANIUM AND PRODUCTS FROM URANIUM-SPLITTING TAKEN FROM THE OVEN.

A164

ANOTHER SURPRISE--A LIQUID TURNED TO A SOLID BY X-RAYS--WAS SHOWN BY DR.LYLE BORST, DIRECTOR OF REACTOR SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING.

IT IS A PIECE OF CLEAR PLASTIC (LUCITE). EXPOSURE TO X-RAYS HAD MADE THE SMALL MOLECULES IN THE LIQUID STATE LINK TOGETHER IN LONG CHAINS, AND THE PLASTIC TOOK SOLID FORM. ORDINARILY THIS IS DONE BY HEAT, PRESSURE, AND A CHEMICAL THAT SPEEDS UP THE LINKING PROCESS. THE LINKING BY X-RAYS SOMEHOW MADE THE PLASTIC STRONGER, AND GAVE IT ELECTRICAL INSULATING QUALITIES, HE SAID.

IT IS SPECULATION WHETHER THIS X-RAY EFFECT COULD HELP SCIENCE MAKE PROTEINS AND DRUGS LIKE CORTISONE SYNTHETICALLY. PROTEINS ARE LONG-CHAIN MOLECULES, FORMED BY LINK-UP OF SMALLER, SIMPLER MOLECULES.

"IF THE COURSE OF RIVERS WERE CHANGED OR MOUNTAINS LEVELED I'M SURE WE'D HAVE HAD SOME WORD OF IT."

HE ALSO EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT ARGENTINE REPORTS OF A NEW METHOD OF OBTAINING ATOMIC ENERGY MIGHT BE DUE TO MISINTERPRETATION BY PRESIDENT PERON.

"PRESIDENT PERON," HE SAID, "HAS THE REPUTATION OF BEING A POOR MOUTHPIECE."

PIKE ADDED "I SUSPECT ARGENTINA DOES NOT HAVE ATOMIC ENERGY IN A USEFUL FORM THIS YEAR--AND WON'T HAVE NEXT YEAR." HE MADE IT CLEAR HE HAD NO DIRECT INFORMATION ABOUT ARGENTINE ATOMIC POWER.

(400) NIGHT LEAD INDUSTRY

BY STERLING F. GREEN

(WX) HOT SPRINGS, VA., MAY 12-(AP)-THE COUNTRY'S PRICE AND STABILIZATION BOSSES TOLD INDUSTRY TODAY THAT A LAPSE OF PRICE CEILINGS WOULD SET OFF A "CHAIN REACTION" DESTROYING THE WHOLE ANTI-INFLATION STRUCTURE.

ECONOMIC STABILIZER ERIC JOHNSTON AND PRICE DIRECTOR MICHAEL V. DISALLE, ADDRESSING 90 LEADERS OF MANY OF THE COUNTRY'S BIGGEST CORPORATIONS, SAID THE NEXT TWO YEARS ARE LOADED WITH A "TERRIFIC" INFLATIONARY HAZARD.

THEY SPOKE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, TO THE BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE. REPORTERS OBTAINED AN ACCOUNT LATER FROM THEM AND FROM SECRETARY OF COMMERCE SAWYER.

DISALLE, SPEAKING OF THE IMPORTANCE OF INTEGRITY IN BUSINESS AS WELL AS GOVERNMENT, SUGGESTED THAT BUSINESSMEN WHO RECOGNIZE THE NEED FOR PRICE CEILINGS ARE DODGING A RESPONSIBILITY WHEN THEY LET THEIR BUSINESS ORGANIZATIONS "PASS RESOLUTIONS TO THE CONTRARY."

THE USUALLY AFFABLE PRICE DIRECTOR DID NOT SPECIFY WHICH RESOLUTIONS HE HAD IN MIND. IT WAS RECALLED, HOWEVER, THAT THE UNITED STATES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE THIS MONTH WENT ON RECORD FAVORING RELIANCE ON "INDIRECT" CONTROLS--SUCH AS TAXES, CREDIT RESTRAINTS AND SAVINGS--INSTEAD OF DIRECT PRICE-WAGE CEILINGS.

SAWYER REPORTED THAT MEMBERS OF THE ADVISORY COUNCIL--TAKING A DIFFERENT TACK FROM THE CHAMBER--GENERALLY FAVOR THE EXTENSION OF PRESENT STABILIZATION CONTROLS BEYOND THE JUNE 30 EXPIRATION DATE OF THE PRESENT LAW. THERE IS LESS ENTHUSIASM, HE ACKNOWLEDGED, FOR SOME OF THE MORE DRASTIC REVISIONS PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

JOHNSTON'S THEME WAS THAT THERE MUST BE AN "INTEGRATED SYSTEM" OF CONTROLS, TYING DIRECT CEILING TOGETHER WITH A "NEARLY BALANCED BUDGET," CREDIT CONTROLS, AN INCREASE IN SAVINGS, AND "A PROPER ALLOCATION OF SCARCE MATERIALS."

SAWYER SAID MOST OF THE BUSINESSMEN, WHO HAVE NOW COMPLETED TWO DAYS OF MEETINGS WITH DEFENSE AGENCY CHIEFS, ARE AGREED THAT "CHAOTIC CONDITIONS" WOULD FOLLOW THE SCRAPPING OF PRICE-WAGE CONTROLS.

HOWEVER, SOME INDUSTRY SPOKESMAN CRITICIZED "INCONSISTENCY" IN THE GOVERNMENT APPROACH. ONE BUSINESSMAN COMPLAINED THAT WHILE PRICES WERE BEING HELD DOWN BY ONE AGENCY, OTHER AGENCIES WERE BREAKING THE STABILIZATION LINE. HE REFERRED TO THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION AND THE 4 PERCENT FREIGHT RATE INCREASE IT GRANTED ON MARCH 12. A 15 PERCENT INCREASE NOW IS UNDER STUDY.

SAWYER REPORTED INDUSTRY WAS DIVIDED ALSO ON THE FAIRNESS OF THE OVERALL PRICE FORMULA ISSUED BY JOHNSTON LAST MONTH. IT FORBIDS PRICE INCREASES TO ANY INDUSTRY WHICH WOULD INCREASE PROFITS ABOVE 85 PERCENT OF THE AVERAGE EARNINGS LEVEL IN ANY THREE OF THE FOUR YEARS 1946 THROUGH 1949.

(WX) HOT SPRINGS, VA., MAY 12-(AP)-ECONOMIC MOBILIZER CHARLES E. WILSON REPORTEDLY TOLD 90 INDUSTRIAL LEADERS HERE LAST NIGHT THAT BY THE END OF THE YEAR DEFENSE SPENDING WILL HIT A HIGH-GEAR ANNUAL RATE OF $50,000,000,000 (B), BRINGING ABOUT HEAVY INFLATIONARY PRESSURE.

HE SPOKE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS TO A MEETING OF THE BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE. PERSONS ATTENDING THE THREE-DAY MEETING GAVE REPORTERS AN ACCOUNT OF THE SPEECH.

WILSON, SECRETARY OF COMMERCE SAWYER, NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY ADMINISTRATOR MANLY FLEISCHMANN, PRICE STABILIZER ERIC JOHNSTON, PRICE DIRECTOR MICHAEL V.DISALLE AND FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD CHAIRMAN WILLIAM M.MARTIN WERE ALL ON HAND TO ADDRESS THE BUSINESS LEADERS.

THEIR CLEAR PURPOSE WAS TO HEAD OFF ANY PRESSURE FROM INDUSTRY FOR RELAXATION IN CONTROLS. JOHN L.LEWIS' UNITED MINE WORKERS AND LIVESTOCK, COTTON AND OTHER FARM GROUPS HAVE ALREADY INDICATED THEY WOULD LIKE CONTROLS SCRAPPED.

FLEISCHMANN WAS REPORTED TO HAVE TOLD THE INDUSTRIALISTS THAT THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN (CMP) TO BE PLACED IN OPERATION JULY 1 WILL EASE SHORTAGE OF MATERIALS FOR CIVILIAN GOODS. UNDER CMP, HE SAID, MILITARY AND DEFENSE-SUPPORTING INDUSTRIES WILL BE LIMITED TO ORDERING STEEL, COPPER AND ALUMINUM FOR THREE MONTHS AHEAD INSTEAD OF DUMPING

THEIR ENTIRE DEMANDS ON METAL PRODUCERS AT ONE TIME.
SAWYER TOLD REPORTERS CIVILIAN SUPPLIES OF RUBBER ARE "IMPROVING MATERIALLY" AND ALUMINUM CONTROLS HAVE BEEN RELAXED IN SEVERAL CASES. HE SAID HE COULD PROMISE THAT HIS DEPARTMENT WOULD WIPE OUT CONTROLS AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT.
THE BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL WAS ORGANIZED BY FORMER PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER WHEN HE WAS SECRETARY OF COMMERCE. IT SERVES AS CRITIC AND ADVISER ON GOVERNMENT-BUSINESS MATTERS.

ST.LOUIS,MAY 12-(AP)-THE DEMOCRATIC MAYOR OF ST.LOUIS TODAY BOYCOTTED A LUNCHEON AT WHICH THE AMERICAN LEGION'S NATIONAL COMMANDER ATTACKED THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION FOR WHAT HE DESCRIBED AS "A DIPLOMACY OF EXPEDIENCY."
COMMANDER ERLE COCKE,JR., CALLED FOR AN IMMEDIATE ALL-OUT EFFORT BY AMERICA TO WIN THE KOREAN WAR IN A SPEECH HIGHLIGHTING A CELEBRATION OF THE FOUNDING OF THE AMERICAN LEGION IN ST.LOUIS 32 YEARS AGO.
MAYOR JOSEPH M.DARST READ A COPY OF THE SPEECH IN ADVANCE, REFUSED TO ATTEND THE LUNCHEON AS SCHEDULED, AND TOLD NEWSMEN COCKE'S REMARKS WERE "MUCH OUT OF LINE."
DARST SAID HE FELT IT WOULD BE BETTER FOR HIM TO STAY AWAY FROM THE LUNCHEON "THAN TO WALK OUT IN THE MIDDLE OF A SPEECH."
COCKE SAID THAT FOR THE FIRST TIME AMERICA HAD ENTERED A WAR "AFRAID THAT WE MIGHT MAKE THE ENEMY MAD."
"A WAR IS JUSTIFIED FOR ONE REASON ALONE AND THAT IS VICTORY," THE 29-YEAR-OLD COMMANDER DECLARED.
"THE CHINESE REDS HAVE ELECTED TO FIGHT US. THEY ARE DOING EVERYTHING THEY CAN TO WHIP US. YET OUR TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO PULL THEIR PUNCHES.
COCKE SAID AMERICA IS PLAYING INTO RUSSIA'S HANDS BY ITS CAUTIOUS POLICY IN THE FAR EAST, AND ADDED: "WHAT WE MUST RECOGNIZE IMMEDIATELY IS THAT AMERICA MUST FIGHT COMMUNISM IN SELF-DEFENSE AND FIGHT IT WITH EVERYTHING AMERICA HAS--AND RIGHT NOW!"
HE DESCRIBED THE NATION'S GREATEST NEED TODAY AS "A FOREIGN POLICY THAT IS AMERICAN IN ORIGIN, AMERICAN IN CONCEPT AND AMERICAN IN OBJECTIVE."
"WE HAVE THE POWER AND STRENGTH TO BACK UP SUCH A POLICY," HE SAID. "WE MUST DIVORCE OURSELVES FROM A DIPLOMACY OF EXPEDIENCY."
COCKE CRITICIZED THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT AND THE UNITED NATIONS FOR "PLAYING POLITICS WITH THE BRITISH TO SAVE HONG KONG AT THE COST OF AMERICAN LIVES."
"THEY ARE ENCOURAGING AGGRESSION DIPLOMATICALLY BY THEIR WILLINGNESS TO BARGAIN FOR APPEASEMENT," HE SAID. "THEY ARE ENCOURAGING FURTHER ACTS OF AGGRESSION BY SANCTIONING THE TRADING WITH THE CHINESE AND RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS."

AMS BUDGET (600)
NIGHT LEAD REPUBLICANS
BY JACK BELL
TULSA,OKLA.,MAY 12 (AP)-REP.HALLECK (R-IND) PREDICTED TODAY THE HANDLING OF THE KOREAN WAR WILL REMAIN "A SORDID SYMBOL OF DISASTER" FOR THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION IN THE 1952 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.
THE INDIANA CONGRESSMAN TOLD THE FINAL PUBLIC SESSION OF THE GOP NATIONAL COMMITTEE HERE IT WOULD BE A "FATAL ERROR," HOWEVER, FOR THE REPUBLICANS TO "ALLOW OURSELVES TO BE LED INTO BYPATHS OF ARGUMENT OVER PERSONALITIES AND TRANSIENT EVENTS."
THIS WAS AN OBVIOUS REFERENCE TO THE GREAT DEBATE OVER FAR EASTERN POLICIES OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR, THE DEPOSED PACIFIC COMMANDER.
HALLECK'S CAUTIONARY NOTE AGAINST ANY DIRECT REPUBLICAN TIEUP WITH MACARTHUR'S VIEWS APPEARED TO REPRESENT THE GENERAL SENTIMENT OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEMBERS.
MOST OF THESE LEADERS AGREED THAT MACARTHUR HAD STIRRED DEEP INTEREST IN THE COUNTRY, ADDING THAT THIS HAD REBOUNDED TO THE BENEFIT OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AND AGAINST THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION.
HOWEVER, THEY MADE IT CLEAR THAT THEY DON'T LOOK UPON MACARTHUR AS A POSSIBLE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE AT THEIR NOMINATING CONVENTION, TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO THE WEEK OF JULY 7, 1952.
IN THE ESTIMATE OF SOME OF THE INFLUENTIAL REPUBLICANS THE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION RACE STILL REMAINS BETWEEN SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT OF OHIO AND GEN. DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER, COMMANDER OF THE NORTH ATLANTIC DEFENSE FORCES. EISENHOWER HAS SAID HE ISN'T A CANDIDATE BUT HIS NAME HAD BEEN MENTIONED IN SPECULATION ABOUT BOTH THE REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.
REPRESENTING DIFFERENT VIEWPOINTS, REP. SCOTT (R-PA), FORMER GOP

30.24- 22949

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN, AND SINCLAIR WEEKS OF MASSACHUSETTS, CHAIRMAN OF THE PARTY'S FINANCE COMMITTEE, SAID IN SEPARATE INTERVIEWS THEY REGARD THE PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST AS LYING BETWEEN TAFT AND EISENHOWER. HOWEVER, BOTH SAID THERE IS A POSSIBILITY SOME OTHER CANDIDATE MAY MAKE A CHALLENGING BID IN THE NEXT YEAR.

THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE TOOK UNDER CONSIDERATION A PROPOSAL BY ARTHUR E.SUMMERFIELD, MICHIGAN NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN, TO BROADEN THE BASE OF REPRESENTATION ON THE COMMITTEE.

SUMMERFIELD PROPOSED AT A CLOSED SESSION THAT EACH STATE WHICH HAS A MAJORITY OF REPUBLICANS IN ITS CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION BE PERMITTED TO NAME AN ADDITIONAL NON-VOTING MEMBER OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

HE ALSO PROPOSED THE SAME ADDITIONAL REPRESENTATION FOR STATES WHICH HAVE REPUBLICAN GOVERNORS.

SUMMERFIELD TOLD THE COMMITTEE THIS WOULD BROADEN THE BASE OF REPRESENTATION FROM AREAS WHERE REPUBLICANS ELECT PUBLIC OFFICIALS, AS COMPARED WITH THE SOUTH WHICH NOW HAS EQUAL REPRESENTATION OF TWO MEMBERS PER STATE DESPITE THE FACT THAT PRACTICALLY NO REPUBLICANS EVER ARE ELECTED TO OFFICE IN THAT AREA.

GUY G.GABRIELSON, THE NATIONAL CHAIRMAN, TOLD REPORTERS THE COMMITTEE WILL CONSIDER THE PROPOSAL AT ITS NEXT MEETING, PROBABLY IN JANUARY, 1952.

THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT THE COMMITTEE HAD AGREED TENTATIVELY TO MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO THE THIRD WEEK IN JANUARY. THIS IS SUBJECT TO RATIFICATION LATER BY THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

HARRY DARBY, KANSAS COMMITTEEMAN, ENDORSED THE SUMMERFIELD PROPOSAL. HOWEVER, THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT MOST COMMITTEE MEMBERS WERE COOL IN THEIR RECEPTION TO THE PLAN TO EXPAND THE 106 MEMBER GROUP.

MAY 13 1951

HALLECK'S CAUTION AGAINST LINKING THE REPUBLICANS TOO DIRECTLY WITH MACARTHUR APPARENTLY WAS NOT SHARED BY REP. O.K.ARMSTRONG (R-MO).

JUST BACK FROM A VISIT TO THE FAR EAST, ARMSTRONG TOLD THE DELEGATES THAT HE THINKS THE PARTY SHOULD GET BEHIND MACARTHUR'S PROPOSALS TO BLOCKADE CHINA, BOMB MANCHURIAN BASES AND USE CHINESE NATIONALIST TROOPS.

HALLECK ALSO APPROVED USE OF THE CHINESE NATIONALISTS AS A SEPARATE ISSUE, ASSERTING THAT IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE NOT TO ACCEPT SUCH AID.

ARMSTRONG TOLD THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS THAT WHEN HE WAS ON FORMOSA HE WAS SHOWN A CHINESE NATIONALIST INTELLIGENCE REPORT INDICATING THAT RUSSIA IS BUILDING AN ATOMIC BOMB PLANT IN NORTHWEST CHINA.

HE SAID THE MATERIALS FOR THIS PLANT HAD BEEN SOLD TO RED CHINA "BY OUR FREE NATION ALLIES" AND DEMANDED THAT CHINA BE BLOCKADED.

ARMSTRONG SUGGESTED THE REPUBLICANS ADOPT THIS SLOGAN FOR 1952: "TIRED OF WAR? VOTE REPUBLICAN."

HALLECK SAID THE REPUBLICANS MUST LET NOBODY FORGET HOW THE KOREAN WAR CAME ABOUT.

"WE ARE IN IT BECAUSE OF THE GREATEST MISMANAGEMENT AND MISCALCULATION OF ANY GREAT NATION IN ALL TIMES," HE DECLARED.

"NO ONE YET CAN FORESEE THE OUTCOME OF THE VENTURE IN KOREA," HE SAID IN AN ADDRESS, "BUT IN NOVEMBER OF 1952 THE WRETCHED STORY OF ITS BACKGROUND, INCEPTION AND HALF-HEARTED PROSECUTION WILL REMAIN A GREAT ISSUE POINTING UP THE GLARING ERRORS AND TRAGIC FAILURE OF THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION.

"IT WILL STILL BE AN ISSUE INVOLVING THE ADMINISTRATION'S RECORD OF CODDLING COMMUNISTS AND ABETTING THEIR RISE TO POWER ON THE CONTINENT OF ASIA."

HALLECK CONDEMNED WHAT HE CALLED "INTEMPERATE OUTBURSTS FROM THE WHITE HOUSE," ADDING THESE WERE CLIMAXED BY "THE DISGRACEFUL MANNER IN WHICH ONE OF THE GREATEST MILITARY MEN WAS RELIEVED OF HIS COMMAND -- RELIEVED BY AN ILL-TEMPERED EXECUTIVE ORDER ISSUED IN THE DEAD OF NIGHT."

"SURELY," HE SAID, "THE VERY LACK OF STATURE OF THIS LITTLE-MINDED ADMINISTRATION IS AN ISSUE NOW WHICH WILL REMAIN WITH US IN THE MONTHS AHEAD."

REP.FRANCES P.BOLTON (R-OHIO), APPEALED TO REPUBLICAN WOMEN TO LAUNCH A CRUSADE FOR "CLEAN GOVERNMENT," ADDING THAT AN "INSISTENT DEMAND" FOR REFORMS "IS RISING LIKE A GROUND SWELL FROM EVERY CORNER OF THE LAND."

JOSEPH FARRINGTON, DELEGATE FROM HAWAII TO CONGRESS, TOLD THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS THAT IF THE WHOLE NATION HAD SUFFERED THE SAME RATE OF CASUALTIES IN KOREA AS HAD HAWAII THE TOLL OF AMERICANS NOW WOULD HAVE REACHED 200,000 INSTEAD OF APPROXIMATELY 70,000.

A RESOLUTION RECOMMENDING HAWAII BECOME THE 49TH STATE WAS APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY AT THE CLOSING SESSION.

THE RESOLUTION, OFFERED BY REP. CARROLL REECE (R-TENN), SAID THAT ADMISSION OF HAWAII AS A STATE WOULD STRENGTHEN THIS COUNTRY IN THE PACIFIC "FROM BOTH A MILITARY AND POLITICAL STANDPOINT." LEGISLATION FOR ADMISSION IS PENDING BEFORE CONGRESS.

A MEMORIAL TO THE LATE ERNEST M.MORRIS OF INDIANA, A FORMER COMMITTEEMAN, WAS ANOTHER RESOLUTION APPROVED.

TULSA,OKLA.,MAY 12 (AP)-REP.O.K.ARMSTRONG (R-MO) SAID TODAY HE HAS SEEN A CHINESE NATIONALIST INTELLIGENCE REPORT INDICATING RUSSIA IS BUILDING AN ATOMIC BOMB PLANT IN NORTHWEST CHINA.

ARMSTRONG, WHO RECENTLY RETURNED FROM A VISIT TO THE KOREAN FRONT, TOLD THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE HE WAS SHOWN THE INTELLIGENCE REPORT ON A VISIT TO NATIONALIST HEADQUARTERS IN FORMOSA.

"IT SHOWED THAT THREE YEARS AGO THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT BEGAN THE BUILDING OF AN ATOMIC BOMB PLANT IN NORTHWEST CHINA," HE TOLD THE GOP DELEGATES.

"IT SHOWED FURTHER THAT ALL OF THE CRITICAL MATERIALS FOR THE PLANT WERE SOLD TO THE CHINESE REDS BY OUR FREE NATION ALLIES."

~~PRECEDE WASHINGTON~~ (A11)

MARSHFIELD, WIS., MAY 12-(AP)-SENATOR JOSEPH MCCARTHY (R-WIS.) PREDICTED TONIGHT THAT SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON WOULD BE FIRED WITHIN 30 DAYS.

"ACHESON IS SLATED TO GO WITHIN THE NEXT 30 DAYS," MCCARTHY TOLD 600 PERSONS AT A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINNER. "IF MY 'GOOD FRIEND' PRESIDENT TRUMAN DECIDES TO KEEP HIM IT WILL ONLY BE TO PROVE MCCARTHY WRONG."

EARLIER IN THE DAY MCCARTHY'S OFFICE IN WASHINGTON RELEASED A STATEMENT IN WHICH THE SENATOR FORECAST THAT ACHESON WOULD BE FIRED WITHIN THE NEXT THREE WEEKS. PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS DENIED HE INTENDS TO LET ACHESON OUT.

MCCARTHY DECLARED A DECISION TO DISMISS ACHESON WAS MADE SHORTLY AFTER WILLIAM M.BOYLE, JR., CHAIRMAN OF THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE, "WROTE THE STATE DEPARTMENT THAT DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN WERE BEING FLOODED WITH LETTERS DEMANDING SOMETHING BE DONE ABOUT THE STATE DEPARTMENT."

"BOYLE'S LETTER DELIVERED BY SEALED MESSENGER INSTRUCTED THE DEPARTMENT TO MAKE SOME TOKEN EFFORT TO CLEAN OUT PRO-COMMUNIST ELEMENTS IN THE DEPARTMENT IN ORDER TO PACIFY THE PUBLIC," THE MCCARTHY STATEMENT SAID. "OTHERWISE, THE LETTER WARNED, THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IS DOOMED TO DEFEAT IN THE '52 ELECTION."

THE SENATOR CONTENDED IT WAS "ONE OF THE GOOD RESULTS" OFUTHE "TRAGIC FIRING OF GEN.MACARTHUR."

BOYLE SAID IN A STATEMENT ISSUED THROUGH HIS OFFICE THAT MCCARTHY'S ASSERTION "IS TYPICAL OF THE MANY OTHER FALSE AND IRRESPONSIBLE STATEMENTS ISSUED BY THE SENATOR IN AN EFFORT TO KEEP HIS NAME IN THE HEADLINES."

IN PREDICTING ACHESON'S DISMISSAL, MCCARTHY SAID IT WOULD BE "ONE OF THE GOOD RESULTS OF THE TRAGIC FIRING OF GEN.MACARTHUR."

HE ADDED THAT MACARTHUR'S RETURN "CALLED ATTENTION TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S SELL-OUT TO COMMUNISM AND HAS AWAKENED THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SO THOROUGHLY THAT THE ADMINISTRATION CAN NO LONGER IGNORE DEMANDS THAT ACHESON BE REMOVED."

MCCARTHY DECLARED IT WOULD BE "A GREAT VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE WHEN ACHESON GOES BUT THE SELL-OUT TO RUSSIA WILL CONTINUE UNLESS THE ADMINISTRATION ALSO GETS RID OF ALL THE LIEUTENANTS, WHOM ACHESON AND HISS (ALGER HISS) ENGINEERED INTO KEY SPOTS OVER THE LAST TEN YEARS."

C "UNFORTUNATELY", THE STATEMENT SAID, "PRESIDENT TRUMAN IS NOW

SEARCHING FOR A REPUBLICAN STOOGE, TO REPLACE ACHESON, WHO WILL PROMISE TO KEEP ON THE ACHESON-HISS LIEUTENANTS."

MCCARTHY URGED GRADUAL REPLACEMENT OF AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA WITH NATIONALIST CHINESE TROOPS FROM FORMOSA.

HE DECLARED RUSSIA IS NOT USING ITS OWN TROOPS IN KOREA BUT CHINESE COMMUNISTS AND THAT GEN.MARSHALL AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT SHOULD BE WILLING TO "LET OUR CHINESE FRIENDS FIGHT OUR CHINESE ENEMIES."

KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP
BY DON HUTH

TOKYO, MONDAY, MAY 14-(AP)-ALLIED ARTILLERY AND AIRPOWER POUNDED AT COMPARATIVELY SMALL CHINESE FORCES ALONG THE KOREAN FRONT SUNDAY WHILE THE U.S. EIGHTH ARMY STIFFENED ITS LINE FOR AN EXPECTED ALL-OUT RED ASSAULT.

ALLIED COMMUNIQUES REPORTED INCREASED PRESSURE AGAINST REPUBLIC OF KOREA (ROK) FORCES ON THE EASTERN FRONT. THE ROKS MADE LIMITED WITHDRAWALS EAST OF INJE, SOME 25 AIR MILES INLAND FROM THE EAST COAST.

JUST WHEN THE COMMUNISTS WOULD UNLEASH THEIR 500,000-MAN FORCE IN A NEW OFFENSIVE WAS ANYONE'S GUESS. THE BUILDUP OF RED TROOPS ON THE WESTERN AND CENTRAL FRONTS LOOKED ALMOST COMPLETE.

A HIGH AND RESPONSIBLE SOURCE AT U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS TOLD AP CORRESPONDENT NATE POLOWETZKY THE REDS NOW WERE CAPABLE OF RESUMING THEIR SOUTHWARD DRIVE ANYTIME THEY CHOSE.

IT COULD COME WITHIN THE NEXT FEW DAYS, OR THE REDS, CONSCIOUS OF THE STAGGERING LOSSES SUFFERED IN THEIR FIRST SPRING OFFENSIVE LAUNCHED APRIL 22, MIGHT WAIT A WEEK OR TWO.

RECONNAISSANCE PLANES UNCOVERED A BRAND NEW COMMUNIST AIRFIELD BEING RUSHED TO COMPLETION AT PYONG, 25 MILES NORTHEAST OF THE RED KOREAN CAPITAL AT PYONGYANG. THIRTEEN B-29 SUPERFORTS PAID AN UNINVITED CALL ON THE RED AIRSTRIP AND CRATERED IT WITH 130 TONS OF BOMBS.

LT. GEN. EARLE E. PARTRIDGE, FIFTH AIR FORCE COMMANDER, DECLARED THAT THE REDS "COULD BUILD UP (AIRPOWER) FAIRLY RAPIDLY AGAIN" AFTER THE BIG ALLIED STRIKE AT SINUIJU ON MAY 9, BUT, "WE ARE KEEPING A WATCHFUL EYE ON THEM."

MAY 14 1951

FINAL EVALUATION OF THE 300-PLANE ASSAULT ON SINUIJU SHOWED AN AREA OF TEN SQUARE MILES EMBRACING THE REDS' BIGGEST KOREAN AIR BASE WAS SET AFLAME.

BUILDINGS, BARRACKS, AMMUNITION DUMPS AND PLANES ON THE GROUND WERE THOROUGHLY "CLOBBERED." ENEMY LOSSES INCLUDED 17 PLANES DESTROYED OR DAMAGED--15 OF THEM ON THE GROUND.

PARTRIDGE SAID HE BELIEVED THAT FOR THE TIME BEING, AT LEAST, THE STRIKE HAD REDUCED CONSIDERABLY THE COMMUNISTS' CAPABILITIES OF STRIKING FROM BASES INSIDE KOREA.

DURING SUNDAY, FIFTH AIRFORCE PLANES FLEW MORE THAN 500 SORTIES AGAINST RED TROOP CONCENTRATIONS AND SUPPLY LINES. LOW HANGING CLOUDS HAMPERED FRONTLINE AIR STRIKES.

HEAVY CENSORSHIP OF FIELD DISPATCHES CONTINUED AT EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH REPORTED KOREAN CIVILIANS STREAMING BACK INTO THE OLD KOREAN CAPITAL OF SEOUL DESPITE ARMY ATTEMPTS TO KEEP THE BATTERED CITY CLEAR FOR MILITARY REASONS.

ABOUT 110,000 CIVILIANS WERE BACK IN SEOUL AND MORE STOLE ACROSS THE HAN RIVER EVERY NIGHT ON RAFTS AND BOATS. ALLIED GUARDS WERE POSTED TO KEEP CIVILIANS SOUTH OF THE HAN RIVER.

RANDOLPH WAS ABLE TO REPORT THAT AN U.N. TANK PATROL WENT UP THE MAIN NORTH ROAD TO UIJONGBU WITHOUT SERIOUS OPPOSITION. NORTHEAST OF THAT ROAD JUNCTION AN UNUSUAL SMALL-SCALE ACTION WAS FOUGHT SUNDAY.

A UNITED NATIONS PATROL BUMPED INTO A CHINESE COMMUNIST PATROL WHICH QUICKLY CALLED IN REINFORCEMENTS UNTIL IT REACHED COMPANY SIZE. THE ALLIED UNIT THEN CALLED FOR AIR, TANKS AND ADDITIONAL GROUND SUPPORT SOON THE REDS WERE NOT ONLY OUTNUMBERED, BUT COMPLETELY ENCIRCLED. IT WAS ONE OF THE FEW TIMES IN THE WAR THAT THE REDS WERE ACTUALLY OUTNUMBERED. IN THE FOLLOWING ACTION, 30 TO 100 OF THE ENEMY WERE KILLED AND 34 CAPTURED.

RANDOLPH SAID THERE WERE SIGNS THE CHINESE HAD A LARGER THAN USUAL NUMBER OF AUTOMATIC WEAPONS. THEY APPARENTLY WERE TRYING TO BUILD UP THE STRONGEST POSSIBLE FIREPOWER FOR THEIR TROOPS WHO HAVE MADE A PRACTICE OF ATTACKING WITHOUT AIR OR HEAVY ARTILLERY SUPPORT.

ALONG THE CENTRAL FRONT SUNDAY ALLIED TANKS AND INFANTRY ROAMED FREELY NORTH OF THEIR LINES WITH LITTLE OPPOSITION. THE REDS HOWEVER LURKED IN THE HILLS AND RIDGE LINES.

ALLIED ARTILLERY POURED INCREASING BARRAGES INTO SUSPECTED COMMUNIST POSITIONS WHILE FIGHTERS AND LIGHT BOMBERS LASHED AT THEM FROM THE SKIES.

AP CORRESPONDENT JIM BECKER ON THE CENTRAL FRONT SAID THAT ON SATURDAY THE OUTWARD APPEARANCE OF COMMUNIST FORCES IN CENTRAL KOREA CLOSELY RESEMBLED THAT OF THREE WEEKS AGO, IMMEDIATELY PRIOR TO THE FIRST RED SPRING DRIVE.

ON SUNDAY TENSION BUILT UP, BUT PATROLS MADE NO CONTACTS OR IMPORTANT SIGHTINGS OF THE FOE.

THE REDS STILL HELD A THREE MILE BRIDGEHEAD SOUTH OF THE CHOYANG RIVER, NORTHEAST OF CHUNCHON. THE ENEMY MAY HOPE TO USE THIS OPENING AS A FUNNEL TO POUR TROOPS THROUGH THE U.N. LINE WHEN THE OFFENSIVE ROLLS.

SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS CLUNG TO INJE, A ROAD CENTER, FOUR MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL UNDER RED ARTILLERY FIRE. OTHER SOUTH KOREANS DREW HEAVY SMALL ARMS AND AUTOMATIC WEAPON FIRE SOUTHWEST OF INJE FROM AN ESTIMATED RED REGIMENT ON THE NORTH BANK OF THE CHOYANG RIVER.

ON THE EAST COAST, A 700-MAN RED FORCE WAS ENGAGED BY SOUTH KOREANS NORTHWEST OF YANGYANG, ABOUT SEVEN MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL. THERE WERE NO DETAIL ON THIS ACTION.

THE EIGHTH ARMY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED AN ESTIMATED 1,745 CASUALTIES INFLICTED ON THE REDS THROUGH GROUND ACTION SATURDAY.

AIR SEPARATE (450)
BY WILLIAM C. BARNARD.

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, MAY 13-(AP)-THE GREAT AMERICAN AIR STRIKE AT SINUIJU ON WEDNESDAY BLASTED A TEN-SQUARE-MILE AREA AND RELIEVED THE IMMEDIATE THREAT OF RED AIR POWER AGAINST ALLIED GROUND FORCES, THE FIFTH AIR FORCE REPORTED TODAY.

THIS HEAVIEST SINGLE ATTACK OF THE WAR WAS MADE BY MORE THAN 300 FIFTH AIR FORCE AND MARINE PLANES AGAINST THE ENEMY'S NORTH KOREAN AIR BASE FRONTING MANCHURIA ON THE YALU RIVER BOUNDARY.

TODAY'S OFFICIAL EVALUATION, AFTER CLOSE STUDY OF PHOTOGRAPHS, LISTED 15 ENEMY PLANES DESTROYED OR SERIOUSLY DAMAGED ON THE GROUND AND TWO DAMAGED IN THE AIR; AMMUNITION, FUEL AND SUPPLY DUMPS BLOWN UP; 106 BUILDINGS DESTROYED; AND APPARENTLY HEAVY ENEMY PERSONNEL LOSSES. ALL AMERICAN PLANES WERE REPORTED TO HAVE RETURNED TO BASE.

LT. GEN. EARLE E. PARTRIDGE, FIFTH AIR FORCE COMMANDER, STATED:

"THE COMMUNISTS UNDOUBTEDLY WERE TRYING TO BUILD UP THEIR AIR CAPABILITY AT SINUIJU, FROM WHERE THEY COULD FAN OUT PLANES AND AVIATION SUPPLIES TO BASES CLOSER TO THE FRONT LINES. UNDER THE PROTECTION OF MIG-15S AT ANTUNG (MANCHURIA) JUST A FEW MILES AWAY, AND HEAVY FLAK BATTERIES AT SINUIJU AND THOSE JUST ACROSS THE RIVER, THE REDS APPARENTLY THOUGHT THEY COULD GET AWAY WITH THEIR BUILDUP.

"WE WATCHED THEM CLOSELY, AND WHEN THE TARGET BECAME SUFFICIENTLY LUCRATIVE, WE STRUCK FAST AND HARD. I AM SURE THIS ATTACK HAS REDUCED CONSIDERABLY THEIR IMMEDIATE CAPABILITY OF STRIKING AT UNITED NATIONS

FORCES FROM KOREAN BASES.
"OUR SHOW OF POWER MAY MAKE THEM PONDER, TOO.
"THE REDS COULD BUILD UP FAIRLY RAPIDLY AGAIN, HOWEVER, AND WE ARE KEEPING A WATCHFUL EYE ON THEM."
THE GREAT RAID EMPLOYED VARIABLE-TIME FUSED BOMBS, ROCKETS, NAPALM JELLIED GASOLINE AND MACHINE GUN FIRE.
THE FIRST SHOOTING STAR JETS NEUTRALIZED THE BRISTLING ENEMY ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS, AND THEN FOR A FULL HOUR THE ATTACKERS WORKED OVER THE MAJOR RED AIR BASE ON KOREAN SOIL. WHEN IT WAS OVER, FIRES WERE RAGING OVER AN AREA OF TEN SQUARE MILES.
"THERE WAS SO MUCH SMOKE AND FLYING DIRT YOU COULD HARDLY SEE A THING," ONE PILOT SAID.
PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN LATER, HOWEVER, SHOWED THE TREMENDOUS SWEEP OF THE RAID. THIRTY-EIGHT RUSSIAN-BUILT PLANES WERE SPOTTED IN PROTECTED AREAS ON THE GROUND. TWENTY-THREE OF THESE WERE BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN DAMAGED IN PREVIOUS ALLIED RAIDS, BUT FOR GOOD MEASURE THE FLIERS WORKED THEM ALL OVER AGAIN AND MADE CERTAIN THAT ALL 38 WERE NOW USELESS.
THIS WAS A DISAPPOINTMENT OF A SORT, FOR THE PILOTS HAD EXPECTED TO FIND UP TO 100 OPERABLE ENEMY PLANES THERE.
IN SUNDAY OPERATIONS, THE FIFTH AIR FORCE MOUNTED MORE THAN 500 SORTIES (INDIVIDUAL FLIGHTS) BEFORE 6 P.M.
ONE F-80 WAS LOST BEHIND RED LINES.
MANY ENEMY TROOPS IN SMALL GROUPS WERE HIT.

LT.RICHARD HELLAGE OF ERIE, PA., LEADING AN F-80 FLIGHT, REPORTED STRIKING AT SEOUL. IN ADDITION HIS FLIGHT DAMAGED 13 BUILDINGS.
A RECONNAISSANCE PILOT, CAPT.BERT L.VAUT OF PAULS VALLEY, OKLA., SPOTTED 400 REDS AND CALLED IN FIGHTERS.
"AFTER THE FIGHTERS MADE A FEW PASSES," SAID LT.JOHN M.TOLIVER OF INDIANAPOLIS, IND., "OUR GROUND TROOPS MOVED UP. THIS HAPPENED THREE TIMES. WHEN IT WAS OVER, OUR TROOPS HAD TAKEN THE HILL THE COMMIES WERE DEFENDING."
LT.JACKSELL M.BROUGHTON OF ROCHESTER, N.Y.; LT.BUDD H.BUTCHER OF FULLERTON, CALIF.; AND LT.JOHN L.CROWNE OF 2407 CLEMSON RD., JACKSONVILLE, FLA., ALL REPORTED EFFECTIVE F-80 BLOWS AT RAILWAYS NORTH OF PYONGYANG.
TOTAL CLAIMS DURING SUNDAY INCLUDED ABOUT 250 ENEMY CASUALTIES AND DESTRUCTION OF 375 SUPPLY BUILDINGS, 21 VEHICLES, FIVE SUPPLY DUMPS, THREE GUN POSITIONS AND ONE LOCOMOTIVE.

WITH THE U.S. MARINES IN KOREA, MAY 13-(AP)-REMEMBER THE GREMLINS F WORLD WAR II? THERE'S A NEW FICTIONAL LITTLE CHARACTER IN THE KOR AR WHO GETS THE BLAME FOR VARIOUS ACTS OF MISCHIEF IN THE FIELD.
TROOPS CALL HIM "THE LITTLE MAN IN THE PENTAGON."
HE'S THE "LITTLE MAN" WHO LEAVES THINGS LIKE SPOONS AND CAN-OPENERS UT OF C-RATIONS AND INVENTS THINGS LIKE WATER-RESISTANT TOWELS AND ENT STOVES THAT FUNCTION LIKE A COMBINATION BLAST FURNACE-REFRIGERAT
THIS "MAN" WENT INTO ACTION IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE WAR, WHEN HE BSERVED THAT THE C-RATION SITUATION WAS GOING ALTOGETHER TOO OOTHLY.
THE C-RATION CONSISTS OF TWO CANS. ONE CONTAINS MEAT AND EGETABLES--HAM AND LIMA BEANS OR SPHAGHETTI, OR ANY OF A DOZEN THER MIXTURES CONCOCTED BY THE ARMY.
ALMOST ALL OF THEM CAN BE HEATED AND EATEN RIGHT IN THE CAN.
THE OTHER CAN CONTAINS BISCUITS, CANDY AND COFFEE. IT OPENS WITH COFFEE-CAN TYPE OF KEY.
THE "LITTLE MAN" TURNED HIS INGENUITY TOWARD THE CAN OF MEAT. HE EASONED THAT TO EAT THE MEAT WOULD REQUIRE (1) A SPOON AND (2) A AN OPENER.
HE IS TRICKY. THIS FELLOW. IN THE NEXT SHIPMENT OF RATIONS HE NCLUDED THE CAN OPENER -- BUT LEFT OUT ALL THE SPOONS. THIS HAD HE RESULT OF REDUCING STRONG FIGHTING MEN TO SCREAMING WRECKES WHEN ACED WITH AN OPEN, STEAMING CAN OF FOOD AND NOTHING WITH WHICH TO COOP IT OUT.
A MONTH OR SO AGO A NEW SHIPMENT OF C-RATIONS BEGAN TO ARRIVE N KOREA. THIS ONE, NUMBERED THE C-7, HAS SPOONS GALORE---BUT NO AN OPENERS.
THE "LITTLE MAN'S" GREATEST PERFORMANCE CAME JUST THE OTHER AY WHEN NEW CASES OF C-RATIONS CONTAINED NEITHER SPOONS NOR CAN-ENERS.
RIGHT ON THE BOX, IN BOLD BLACK LETTERS, THE PRESENCE OF BOTH SPOON AND CAN-OPENER WAS ADVERTISED ON EACH BOX.
THIS "LITTLE MAN" SPENDS HIS SPARE TIME WORKING ON OTHER ITEMS F EQUIPMENT.
AMONG HIS BETTER EFFORTS IS THE WATER-RESISTANT TOWEL. THIS IS N OLIVE-DRAB AFFAIR THAT MIGHT FOOL THE NOVICE INTO THINKING IT ORKS LIKE A REGULAR BATH TOWEL. HE WOULD SOON FIND HIS MISTAKE.
STEP OUT DRIPPING FROM A SHOWER AND GRAB THE TOWEL. WITHIN ECONDS IT IS WRINGING WET AND SO ARE YOU. IT IS TREATED WITH SOME YSTERIOUS CHEMICAL WHICH RENDERS IT A SOPPING MASS UPON CONTACT WITH ORDINARY WATER BUT NEVER SOAKS UP MOISTURE ON THE HUMAN BODY.
MASTERFUL AS IS THE INVENTION, THE TENT STOVE IS A SUPERIOR JOB. HE TENT STOVE -- THERE ARE AT LEAST 4,000,000 OF THEM IN KOREA -- SES MORE FUEL THAN AN OUTMODED P-38 FIGHTER PLANE, BUT GIVES OFF LESS EAT.
IT IS A CIRCULAR OBJECT AND ITS STOVE PIPES MUST BE OPENED EVERY HOUR ON THE HALF-HOUR. WHEN IT IS BLAZING MERRILY AWAY AT A FUEL CONSUMPTION RATE WHICH CAUSES IT TO RUN DRY AT THE COLDEST POSSIBLE HOUR OF THE MORNING, IT IS A PHYSICAL IMPOSSIBILITY TO GET WITHIN THREE FEET OF IT. WITHIN THAT RADIUS IT THROWS MORE HEAT THAN A BLAST-FURNACE.

MAY 14 1951

AP82
THREE-FEE AND ONE INCH FROM IT, HOWEVER, AND YOU WILL HAVE TO ASK IF THE THING IS TURNED ON.
THESE LITTLE REFINEMENTS ARE NOT SIMPLE, BUT THEY ARE WHAT THE "LITTLE MAN IN THE PENTAGON" IS PAID FOR.
WITH THE WICKED KOREAN WINTER A THING OF THE PAST, OUR MYTHICAL PENTAGONIAN WAS FORCED TO EXERT HIMSELF IN ANOTHER DIRECTION. HE PRODUCED PROBABLY THE MOST INEFFICIENT ITEM OF EQUIPMENT YET DEVISED.
IT'S A CANTEEN CUP. IT HAS A NEAT ROLLED EDGE OF ALUMINUM WHICH RETAINS THE HEAT JUST BEAUTIFULLY. IN FACT LONG AFTER THE COFFEE IN THE CUP IS COOLER THAN A SUMMER ROMANCE ON NEW YEAR'S EVE, THE EDGE OF THE CUP WILL SEAR THE SKIN RIGHT OFF THE DRINKER'S LIP.
THERE IS A PETETION CIRCULATING AMONG THE MARINES AND SOLDIERS NOW AND IT URGES THE FOLLOWING SENTENCES UPON THE "LITTLE MAN IN THE PENTAGON:"
"HE SHALL SPEND THE NEXT YEAR OF HIS LIFE AT THE NORTH POLE ALTERNATELY ROASTING AND FREEZING AROUND HIS STOVE, TRYING TO DRY HIS HANDS ON HIS SOGGY TOWEL, SEARING HIS LIPS ON A CUP OF LUKEWARM COFFEE AND STARING AT A HUGE PILE OF SPOONS AND CAN-OPENERS--BUT NO C-RATIONS."

MAPS ($50)
BY WILLIAM C. BARNARD.
ON THE KOREAN FRONT (I THINK)--MAY 13-(AP)-MANY WAR CORRESPONDENTS ARE KNOWN AS "BIG PICTURE MEN."
A "BIG PICTURE MAN" IS A GUY WHO GLANCES FOR A MOMENT AT ONE OF THOSE HUGE ARMY MAPS OF THE KOREAN BATTLEFRONT AND MURMURS ASSUREDLY: "OH, YES, THE WHOLE PLAN OF ACTION IS VERY CLEAR."

WELL, I'M A LITTLE PICTURE MAN, MYSELF. I CAN'T READ THOSE MAPS AT ALL. THEY ARE AS INVOLVED AS GEOMETRY, AND GOODNESS KNOWS I NEVER DID UNDERSTAND WHAT THAT WAS ALL ABOUT. THE MAPS ARE COVERED WITH RED AND BLUE MARKS, FIGURES, ARROWS AND WHORLS. NOW AND THEN I CAN SPOT LITTLE SQUARES WITH STRANGE LOOKING FLAGS ON THEM.
PEOPLE HAVE TRIED TO HELP ME LOTS OF TIMES. I REMEMBER THE FIRST KINDLY INSTRUCTOR--AN ARMY CAPTAIN AT SEOUL. I WAS STARING VACANTLY AT A WAR MAP WHEN HE WALKED UP AND SAID:
"IT'S A WIDE FRONT, ISN'T IT?"
"I DON'T KNOW," I REPLIED. "I DON'T KNOW WHERE THE FRONT IS."
"WHY, IT'S RIGHT THERE," HE SAID, SURPRISED. HE POINTED AT THE MAP.
"OH, THERE?" I SAID. "IT'S SO MARKED UP WITH COLORED CRAYONS THAT I COULDN'T SEE IT."
"GOOD HEAVENS," SAID THE CAPTAIN. "THOSE CRAYON MARKS ARE (CAPS) THE FRONT."
I SAID I WAS HAPPY TO LEARN IT, AND HE SAID: "LOOK HERE,--IT'S PLAIN YOU NEED SOME INSTRUCTION IN READING A WAR MAP. I CAN SHOW YOU EVERYTHING THERE IS TO KNOW IN FIVE MINUTES."
HE EXPLAINED IT FOR 15 MINUTES, BUT LOST ME AFTER THE FIRST 10 SECONDS. AFTER HE FINISHED HE SAID CHEERILY: "I'LL BET YOU'LL NEVER HAVE ANY TROUBLE WITH THESE MAPS AGAIN.
"ONCE YOU GET THE HANG OF IT, THERE'S NOTHING TO IT. NOW SHOW ME WHERE THE MARINES ARE."
I HAD NO IDEA WHERE THE MARINES WERE BUT MADE A DESPERATE GUESS AND POINTED. INSTANTLY, BY THE CAPTAIN'S CRESTFALLEN EXPRESSION, I KNEW I HAD BLUNDERED.
"AREN'T THOSE THE MARINES?" I ASKED SHAKILY.
"NO," HE SAID. "THAT IS A RAILROAD LINE."
DURING THE FOLLOWING MONTHS I HAVE MADE A SERIOUS EFFORT TO UNDERSTAND WAR MAPS, BUT I ALWAYS RUN INTO ONE SERIOUS DIFFICULTY: A WAR MAP DOESN'T STAY THE SAME. THEY ARE ALWAYS FOOLING WITH IT.
LET TROOPS START SHIFTING AROUND AND THE FELLOW WHO HANDLES THE CRAYONS HAS HIMSELF A TIME, ERASING ARROWS AND WHORLS HERE AND PUTTING THEM IN SOMEPLACE ELSE. IF THEY'D LEAVE A MAP ALONE A FEW DAYS, I MIGHT GET SOMEWHERE WITH IT, BUT THEY CHANGE IT EVERY DAY. THEY EVEN CHANGE THE LITTLE RED NUMBERS WHICH ABOUND ON ALL WAR MAPS.
THOSE NUMBERS ARE CONFUSING. ONE MORNING I BOUNCED IN HAPPILY AND TOLD A BRIEFING OFFICER: "IT LOOKS AS THOUGH I HAVE MYSELF A WHALE OF A STORY."

"WHAT STORY?"
"THE FLIGHT OF THE CHINESE," I GLOATED. "I ADDED UP YOUR TROOP TOTALS AND FOUND LESS THAN 500 CHINESE LEFT ON THE CENTRAL FRONT."
"THOSE NUMBERS AREN'T TROOP TOTALS," THE OFFICER SHOUTED. "THEY ARE JUST POINTS OF REFERENCE AND HAVE NOTHING AT ALL TO DO WITH TROOPS."
THERE WENT MY STORY.
NOT ONLY ARE MAPS CONFUSING INDIVIDUALLY, THERE ARE LOTS OF THEM.
THIS WHOLE COUNTRY IS LOUSY WITH MAPS. DIVISIONS, BATTALIONS, REGIMENTS AND COMPANIES ALL HAVE THEIR MAPS.
WANDER INTO ANY SORT OF HEADQUARTERS AND SOMEONE WILL LEAD YOU OVER TO A MAP AND START POINTING TO ARROWS AND WHORLS AND SQUARES WITH FUNNY FLAGS.
THE OTHER DAY I STRUGGLED UP A HILL TO A COMMAND POST. IT WAS A FINE PLACE TO WATCH A BATTLE IN PROGRESS. THE WHOLE SCENE WAS RIGHT THERE BELOW.
"WHAT'S GOING ON?" I ASKED A MAJOR.
HE PULLED A MAP OUT OF HIS POCKET AND SAID:
"OUR BOYS ARE IN THIS VALLEY AND THEY ARE TRYING TO TAKE THIS HILL AND....."
"WAIT A MINUTE," I INTERRUPTED. "IS THE VALLEY YOU ARE TALKING ABOUT THE ONE RIGHT BELOW U?"
"THAT'S

ABOUT THE ONE RIGHT BELOW US?"
"THAT'S RIGHT," SAID THE MAJOR.
"THEN JUST PUT THAT MAP AWAY," I SAID, "AND SHOW ME THE GOOD OLD GROUND. I'M ALERGIC TO MAPS."

BRITISH BUDGET (550)

BY ARTHUR CAVEHON

LONDON, MAY 13-(AP)-BRITAIN IS ALMOST AS SHARPLY SPLIT OVER

POLICIES IN KOREA AND CHINA AS ARE THE ADHERENTS OF GENERAL MACARTHUR AND GENERAL MARSHALL IN THE UNITED STATES.

BUT THE SPLIT HERE IS ALONG DIFFERENT LINES, AND HAS NOT YET BOILED UP INTO A GREAT DEBATE AS IN AMERICA. IN THE MAIN, IT IS A DISCUSSION OF WHETHER BRITISH-AMERICAN UNITY MUST BE PRESERVED IF THAT MEANS GOING ALONG IN A WAR WITH RED CHINA AND POSSIBLY RUSSIA.

MAY 14 1951

THERE IS LITTLE SUPPORT IN THIS COUNTRY FOR THE POSITION TAKEN BY GEN. MACARTHUR. NO BRITISH GOVERNMENT--LABOR OR CONSERVATIVE--COULD EASILY PERSUADE THIS NATION TO GO TO WAR AGAINST RED CHINA IN THE PRESENT POLITICAL AND MILITARY CIRCUMSTANCES.

THE GOVERNMENT--AND MOST BRITONS--FEEL THAT WORLD PEACE IS DOOMED UNLESS A WAY IS FOUND OF SETTLING THE KOREAN CONFLICT.

YET, BRITAIN HAS NO MORE READY ANSWER TO THE PROBLEM OF A SETTLEMENT THAN HAS WASHINGTON. THERE IS A GROWING BODY OF OPINION THAT BRITAIN SHOULD TAKE SOME ACTION TO SETTLE THE KOREAN QUESTION. BUT WHAT SHOULD THAT ACTION BE? THE BRITISH HAVE NO ANSWER THEY AGREE

FOR THE MOMENT, BRITAIN HAS MOVED--ON TIPTOES--INTO A TOUCHER POLICY TOWARD RED CHINA AS A RESULT OF THE MACARTHUR DEBATE. SHE HAS TAKEN STEPS TO STOP HER RUBBER SHIPMENTS TO CHINA.

FOR THE FIRST TIME, FOREIGN SECRETARY HERBERT MORRISON ANNOUNCED ON FRIDAY THAT THE STATUS OF STRATEGIC FORMOSA NEED NOT BE DEFINED UNTIL AFTER A KOREAN SETTLEMENT. THUS A MAIN POINT OF BRITISH-AMERICAN DIFFERENCES OVER A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY WAS REMOVED.

BRITAIN ALSO HAS DECIDED TO SUPPORT AN AMERICAN MOVE IN THE UNITED NATIONS TO DECLARE AN ECONOMIC BLOCKADE AGAINST SHIPMENTS OF WAR-POTENTIAL GOODS FROM NON-COMMUNIST COUNTRIES TO CHINA. IN ADDITION SHE HAS RECOGNIZED THE NEED TO BOMB MANCHURIAN BASES MAY ARISE IF UNITED NATIONS FORCES IN KOREA ARE HEAVILY ATTACKED FROM THE AIR.

IN THIS GENERAL DRIFT OF GETTING TOUCHER--CAUTIOUSLY--WITH RED CHINA THE LABOR GOVERNMENT IS BACKED BY THE CONSERVATIVE LEADERSHIP.

THE LINE OF CONSERVATIVE WINSTON CHURCHILL IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THURSDAY WAS TO SET BRITAIN'S FAR EASTERN POLICY AGAINST THE LARGER FRAMEWORK OF BRITISH-AMERICAN RELATIONS-- THAT PRESERVATION OF THE FRIENDLIEST RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES IS A LIFE-AND-DEATH MATTER FOR BRITAIN AND INDEED FOR ALL WESTERN EUROPE.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT LEADERS RECOGNIZED FROM THE FIRST THAT THEIR ATTITUDE TOWARD THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS WOULD COME UNDER HEAVY FIRE IN THE GREAT DEBATE IN WASHINGTON. THEY WERE READY, THEREFORE, TO MAKE SOME CHANGES IN THEIR POLICY TO OFFSET THE STRESSES AND STRAINS PUT ON THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

MAY 14 1951

BUT THE BRITISH THINK MORE DEMANDS WILL COME FROM WASHINGTON AS THE BIG DEBATE CONTINUES. THEY ARE PRETTY SURE, FOR INSTANCE, THERE IS GOING TO BE A CAMPAIGN IN AMERICA CALLING ON THIS COUNTRY TO WITHDRAW ITS UNRECOGNIZED DIPLOMATIC MISSION FROM PEIPING, THE RED CAPITAL.

THIS MIGHT BRING THE SPLIT IN BRITAIN TO A HEAD.

THE SIGNS RIGHT NOW ARE THAT THE BRITISH WOULD TAKE SUCH A STEP ONLY IN THE DIRE CIRCUMSTANCE OF SOME KIND OF WAR SITUATION IN CHINA.

IT IS JUST SUCH A SITUATION THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S CRITICS FEAR WILL ARISE. THESE CRITICS NOT ONLY ARE THE LEFTISTS WHO ARE RALLYING AROUND THE SPELLBINDING FORMER LABOR MINISTER, ANEURIN BEVAN. THEY INCLUDE SOME LIBERALS AND MANY CONSERVATIVES WHO REFLECT THE VIEWS OF BRITISH RUBBER AND TIN INSTERESTS IN MALAYA.

SHOULD SUCH AN ISSUE ARISE IN SHARP ENOUGH FORM TO POSE TO BRITONS THE POSSIBILITY OF DIRECT INVOLVEMENT IN A WAR WITH RED CHINA, A FIRST-CLASS POLITICAL CRISIS WOULD ARISE.

FOR ONE THING, MOST BRITONS ARE DEEPLY ANTI-WAR RIGHT NOW. FOR ANOTHER, THE KOREAN CAMPAIGN AS A WHOLE HAS NOT HAD ANY ENTHUSIASTIC SUPPORT. AND FINALLY, THE PEOPLE HERE BELIEVE THE WEST CAN BE AT WAR WITH CHINA AND REMAIN AT PEACE FOR LONG WITH RUSSIA.

MAY 14 1951

THE LEFTWING WEEKLY, NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, ASSERTED BRITAIN SHOULD MAKE THESE THINGS CLEAR TO WASHINGTON WHEN "TEMPERS HAVE COOLED X X X X IN SIX MONTHS TIME."

THE COMMUNISTS HAD SCHEDULED ALL MANNER OF SUNDAY SPORTS EVENTS THROUGHOUT THE CITY AS PART OF THEIR BIG THREE-DAY WHITSUNTIDE RALLY.

BUT ALMOST EVERYBODY IN VIENNA, INCLUDING LARGE NUMBERS OF BLUE-SHIRTED COMMUNIST YOUTH BROUGHT IN FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTRY, GATHERED INSTEAD TO GET THEIR FIRST SIGHT OF A HELICOPTER AND TO WATCH HUNDREDS OF WHITE-CLOTHED CHILDREN CELEBRATING THEIR ROMAN CATHOLIC CONFIRMATION PARADE IN GAY HORSE-DRAWN CARRIAGES THROUGH PRATER PARK IN THE RUSSIAN SECTOR.

THE HELICOPTER, FLOWN FROM WIESBADEN,GERMANY, EXPRESSLY TO DRAW ATTENTION AWAY FROM THE COMMUNIST GAMES, WAS PILOTED BY CAPT.ROBERT J.MARTIN, OF MANCHESTER,CONN. HE BROUGHT HIS FLYING EGGBEATER DOWN AT THREE STRATEGIC SPOTS IN THE CITY AND EVERYBODY FLOCKED TO GET A LOOK AT IT.

MAY 14 1951

SOME OF THE COMMUNIST GAMES WERE CALLED OFF ON ACCOUNT OF NO ATTENDANCE. FOOTBALL GAMES AND SWIMMING MEETS--USUALLY SUREFIRE CROWD ATTRACTORS--PLAYED TO NO MORE THAN 200 SPECTATORS ALTOGETHER.

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, MAY 13-(AP)-BULGARIA'S DEPUTY MILITARY ATTACHE, IVAN IVANOV, STARTED ANOTHER SATURDAY FRACAS, THE YUGOSLAV PRESS AND RADIO CHARGED TODAY, DESIGNED ON ORDERS FROM MOSCOW TO PORTRAY THIS COUNTRY AS A TROUBLEMAKER.

IVANOV FIGURED IN A SATURDAY NIGHT STREET BRAWL LAST MARCH. YUGOSLAVIA CHARGED THAT HE AND HUNGARIAN CHARGE D'AFFAIRES ISTAN HRABEC ENGAGED IN A FIST FIGHT WITH A SLAV TAXI DRIVER AND TWO PASSENGERS. HRABEC WENT BACK TO BUDAPEST FOR TREATMENT OF HIS INJURIES AND A SERIES OF BITTER NOTES WERE EXCHANGED BETWEEN PRO-

MOSCOW HUNGARY AND INDEPENDENT COMMUNIST YUGOSLAVIA OVER THE INCIDENT.

BELGRADE RADIO AND PREMIER MARSHAL TITO'S OFFICIAL PARTY NEWSPAPER BORBA GAVE THIS ACCOUNT OF YESTERDAY'S AFFAIR:

A MEMBER OF THE PEOPLE'S MILITIA, OFF DUTY AND ON HIS WAY TO A RESTAURANT, SAW A JEEP HALT SUDDENLY BEFORE A HOUSE. A MAN DARTED TOWARD THE HOUSE SHOOTING GLANCES FROM SIDE TO SIDE.

THE SUSPICIOUS MILITIAMAN STOPPED HIM AND DEMANDED HIS IDENTITY CARD. THE MAN REFUSED, SO THE MILITIAMAN ESCORTED HIM TO THE RESTAURANT FOR QUESTIONING BEFORE WITNESSES.

THE MAN EVENTUALLY PRODUCED HIS PASSPORT, IDENTIFYING HIMSELF AS IVANOV. THE MILITIAMAN APOLOGIZED, BUT IVANOV SHOUTED: "WHY DID YOU POINT A PISTOL AT ME?" OTHER MILITIAMEN SAID THEIR COLLEAGUE WAS CARRYING NO GUN.

MAY 14 1951

BELGRADE RADIO SAID THE SCENE WAS "DESIGNED TO PROVOKE ANOTHER INCIDENT TO SHOW YUGOSLAVIA AS A TROUBLEMAKER IN THIS PART OF THE WORLD. X X X THE AIM OBVIOUSLY IS TO WORSEN RELATIONS (BETWEEN YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA) ON ORDERS FROM MOSCOW."

Athens, Greece, May 13--(AP)--Costa Tsiandaphillides, correspondent for the rightwing newspaper Acropolis [illegible] who recently returned from Korea, said today that American troops had "preferred to go on strike" rather than fight in the bitter cold south of the Yalu River in January.

In a preface to his article, Triandaphillides said his report should not be construed as a criticism of the Americans, whom he called a "big people—a people of good men." He added that Americans are sacrificing the lives of their children, their blood, wealth and comforts for the "salvation of the world" and that it would be immoral to say anything detrimental about them.

MAY 14 1951

Triandaphillides has had experience in covering various wars, since the Italian invasion of Greece in 1940. He said that powerful American forces in North Korea nad "fled in the face of an insignificant enemy without even being pursued." The correspondent said the Chinese were first reported to be using a million men in their January offensive, the figure later was cut to between 500,000 and 600,000, and he implied the true figure was not nearly so high.

The Greek correspondent asserted that inexperienced American troops in the U.S. Tenth Corps had never been trapped north of the 38th parallel by Chinese troops. He declared the Chinese and North Korean Communists in that area could have been wiped out in a few hours.

Triandaphillides said that while he was in Tokyo a senior American pilot, who said he had flown over the Kremlin, had told him that U.S. planes had been over Moscow and that a master plan is ready for total destruction of the Russian capital with A-bombs within 12 hours after the outbreak of a general war.

MOSCOW, MAY 13-(AP)-PRAVDA TODAY GAVE THE FIRST EXTENDED SOVIET PRESS COMMENT ON THE TESTIMONY OF GEN. MACARTHUR AND SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL BEFORE SENATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEES. IT CONCLUDED THAT THE GREAT DEBATE IS NO CONTROVERSY TO ALL.

THE EDITORIAL SAID THE 16-POINT PROGRAM OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF OF JAN. 12, 1951 SHOWED THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT IS CARRYING OUT A "FRANK PROGRAM OF UNLEASHING A WORLD WAR IN ASIA".

IT WAS THIS PROGRAM THAT GEN. MACARTHUR WAS CARRYING OUT BEFORE HIS REMOVAL, IT SAID, AND IT IS THE PROGRAM WHICH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, SECRETARY MARSHALL AND GEN. RIDGWAY IN KOREA ARE CARRYING OUT NOW.

(SECRETARY MARSHALL TESTIFIED THE 16 POINTS, NOT ALL OF WHICH HAVE BEEN DISCLOSED, WERE DRAWN UP WHEN THE UNITED NATIONS WAS FACING A POSSIBLE EVACUATION OF KOREA. SOME OF THE POINTS HAVE BEEN CARRIED OUT, HE SAID, BUT ACTION ON OTHERS WAS NOT TAKEN WHEN THE SITUATION CHANGED AND THE U.N. FORCES BEGAN ADVANCING NORTH. GEN. MACARTHUR HAS PARTICULARLY URGED ACTION ON FOUR OF THE POINTS, INCLUDING USE OF NATIONALIST CHINESE TROOPS, BOMBING OF BASES OUTSIDE KOREA, AND ECONOMIC AND NAVAL BLOCKADE.)

MAY 14 1951

PRAVDA SAID BOTH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, SECRETARY MARSHALL AND GEN. RIDGWAY ON THE ONE HAND AND GEN. MACARTHUR ON THE OTHER STAND FOR A PROGRAM OF "EXPANDED AMERICAN AGGRESSION IN THE FAR EAST."

"IN REALITY," THE EDITORIAL DECLARED, "IN THE RULING CIRCLES THERE IS NO ARGUMENT ON THE ESSENCE OF THESE QUESTIONS. THE COMMON PLATFORM ON WHICH THE DIFFERENT GROUPS OF AMERICAN IMPERIALISM ARE UNITED IN QUESTIONS OF FAR EASTERN POLICY IS THE RELIANCE ON EXPANDED AGGRESSION."

TOKYO, MAY 13-(AP)-MILITARY PROSECUTORS SAY THAT TWO RUSSIAN-TRAINED MEN ARE AMONG THE 18 KOREAN AND JAPANESE DEFENDANTS ON TRIAL IN PROVOST COURT ON CHARGES OF SPYING.

ONE OF THE PROSECUTORS, WHO ASKED THAT HIS NAME BE WITHHELD, SAID, "WE ARE GOING TO INTRODUCE EVIDENCE IN AN ATTEMPT TO PROVE THAT BOTH OF THEM WERE INDOCTRINATED AND CONVERTED TO COMMUNISM BY THE RUSSIANS.

"BOTH WERE IN THE JAPANESE ARMY DURING WORLD WAR II AND WERE CAPTURED BY THE RUSSIANS, WHO TOOK THEM TO RUSSIA, WHERE THEY WERE TRAINED IN ESPIONAGE.

"THEY WERE SENT FROM THERE TO NORTH KOREA, WHERE THEY WERE FURTHER TRAINED IN ESPIONAGE."

THE TRIAL OPENED LAST FRIDAY. IT RESUMES AT 9 A.M., MONDAY AFTER A WEEKEND RECESS. THE DEFENDANTS ARE CHARGED WITH ACTS INIMICAL TO THE SECURITY OF THE OCCUPATION.

THE DEFENDANTS ARE EXPECTED TO ENTER PLEAS WHEN THE TRIAL REOPENS.

30.24- 22959

PROSECUTORS SAID THE 18 WERE MEMBERS OF THREE SPY RINGS THAT BEGAN OPERATIONS IN JAPAN LAST SUMMER.

THEY SAID THAT THE DEFENDANTS HELPED OBTAIN INFORMATION HERE REGARDING MILITARY SECRETS, SUCH AS THE SIZE AND DISPOSAL OF TROOPS, AND SENT IT TO THE COMMUNISTS IN NORTH KOREA.

ONE OF THE DEFENDANTS WAS DESCRIBED AS AN OFFICER IN THE NORTH KOREAN ARMY INTELLIGENCE ORGANIZATIONS.

CHIEF PROSECUTOR ROBERT M. MURRAY OF 56 HARDING PARKWAY, MOUNT VERNON, N.Y., SAID HE BELIEVED THE TRIAL WAS "ONE OF THE BIGGEST SPY TRIALS IN HISTORY. NEVER HAVE SO MANY BEEN CAUGHT AND TRIED AT THE SAME TIME."

TWENTYSEVEN OTHERS ARE AWAITING TRIAL HERE.

TAIPEH, FORMOSA, MAY 13-(AP)-THE CHINA UNION PRESS DECLARED TODAY AT LEAST 7,000 CHINESE COMMUNIST TROOPS ARE SERVING WITH HO CHI-MINH'S REBEL FORCES IN NORTHERN INDOCHINA.

THE AGENCY, WHICH CLAIMS TO RECEIVE MOST OF ITS INFORMATION FROM UNDERGROUND SOURCES, SAID ELEMENTS OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST FORCE HAD BEEN OBSERVED IN THE INDOCHINESE TOWNS OF MONCAY, LANGSON, CAOBANG AND HAGIANG. THE TROOPS, IT SAID, WERE FROM THE COMMAND OF GEN. CHEN KENG, DEPUTY COMMANDER OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST SECOND FIELD ARMY.

PART OF THIS ARMY, ACCORDING TO NATIONALIST REPORTS, WILL BE ENTRUSTED WITH THE TASK OF FULL-SCALE INTERVENTION IN INDOCHINA.

THE PRO-NATIONALIST "CHINA NEWS" SAID UNITS OF THE SECOND FIELD ARMY HAD BEEN SHIFTED FROM SZECHWAN PROVINCE, IN THE WEST, TO HANKOW, IN CENTRAL CHINA. SOME QUARTERS HERE TOOK THIS TO MEAN THEY WERE ON THEIR WAY TO THE INDOCHINA BORDER.

ANOTHER REPORT HERE SAID 100,000 LABORERS WERE BUILDING ONE OF THE LARGEST AND MOST MODERN AIRFIELDS IN CHINA AT HANKOW. THE REPORT SAID 200 SOVIET PILOTS AND GROUND PERSONNEL WERE STATIONED THERE.

HONG KONG, MONDAY, MAY 14-(AP)-THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS ANNOUNCED TODAY RAIDS IN 23 MANCHURIAN CITIES, INCLUDING RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED PORT ARTHUR, HAD SMASHED TWO "COUNTER-REVOLUTIONARY" SPY RINGS.

THE PEIPING RADIO SAID A NUMBER OF PERSONS WERE ARRESTED BY SECURITY POLICE, BUT DIDN'T SAY HOW MANY OR SPECIFICALLY WHEN THE RAIDS TOOK PLACE.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS CONSIDERED OF MORE THAN USUAL SIGNIFICANCE IN THIS BRITISH CROWN COLONY. PEIPING HAS PICTURED MANCHURIA AS A STRONGHOLD OF COMMUNISM AND CITED THE SPRAWLING TERRITORY AS A SHINING EXAMPLE TO AREAS "IMPROPERLY INDOCTRINATED."

MOREOVER, MANCHURIA HAS BEEN REGARDED GENERALLY AS THE PART OF CHINA MOST STRONGLY UNDER DIRECT SOVIET CONTROL. PORT ARTHUR, ON THE TIP OF LIAOTUNG PENINSULA, IS RUMORED AS POSSIBLY RUSSIA'S STRONGEST MILITARY BASE IN ASIA OUTSIDE HER OWN BOUNDARIES.

THE RED RADIO SAID THE MASS ARRESTS HAD ALERTED "THE ENTIRE POPULACE" OF MANCHURIA TO THE DANGER OF COUNTER-REVOLUTIONARY INFILTRATION.

EARLIER, THE CHINESE REDS DROPPED A HINT THAT HER GREAT PURGE OF SUSPECTED WESTERN SYMPATHIZERS MAY HAVE BACKFIRED.

HONG KONG, MAY 13-(AP)-RED CHINA DROPPED A HINT TODAY THAT HER GREAT PURGE OF SUSPECTED WESTERN SYMPATHIZERS MAY HAVE BACKFIRED, FORCING HER TO SHIFT TO AN INDIVIDUAL HOUSE-TO-HOUSE CAMPAIGN INSTEAD OF THE MASS SPECTACLE METHODS THUS FAR USED.

AN EDITORIAL IN THE MAY 1 EDITION OF THE PEIPING "PEOPLE'S DAILY," WHICH REACHED HERE TODAY, MAKES IT EVIDENT THAT CHINA'S "RESIST THE U.S.--AID KOREA MOVEMENT" IS NOT GOING WELL. IT URGED THAT THE MOVEMENT BE "CARRIED OUT IN WAYS DIFFERENT FROM THOSE EMPLOYED IN THE LATTER PART OF APRIL."

OBSERVERS HERE SAID IT WAS SIGNIFICANT THAT THE NEWSPAPER CHOSE "THE LATTER PART OF APRIL" FOR SPECIAL NOTE. IN THAT BLOODY PERIOD, BY RED ADMISSION, MORE THAN 250,000 CHINESE SAW ALMOST 1,000 "COUNTER-REVOLUTIONARIES" EXECUTED AT CANTON, NANKING, HANGCHOW AND SHANGHAI. THOUSANDS OF OTHERS HEARD THE EXECUTIONS DESCRIBED IN BROADCASTS.

THE EDITORIAL SAID THAT NOW "IT IS NECESSARY TO DIMINISH THE AMOUNT OF LARGE-SCALE MASS ACTIVITIES AND GUARD AGAINST CONVOCATION OF TOO MANY MEETINGS."

THIS SOUNDED LIKE COMMUNIST JARGON FOR "PUBLIC EXECUTIONS" AND "PUBLIC TRIALS," WHICH THE MASSES APPARENTLY HAVE NOT FOUND EDIFYING.

OBSERVERS CONCEDED, HOWEVER, THAT IT MIGHT ALSO REFER TO THE HUGE AND TIRESOME PARADES AND DEMONSTRATIONS STAGED ALMOST DAILY SINCE THE "RESIST THE U.S." MOVEMENT BEGAN.

THE EDITORIAL RECOMMENDED AN IMPORTANT CHANGE IN THE SYSTEM OF "MASS EDUCATION." INSTEAD OF HERDING PEOPLE TO WITNESS TRIALS AND EXECUTIONS, IT SAID, INDIVIDUAL GROUPS SHOULD CARRY OUT "STREET-TO-STREET, LANE-TO-LANE AND DOOR-TO-DOOR PROPAGANDA ACTIVITIES."

TO DEMONSTRATE WHY THIS CHANGE WAS NEEDED, THE NEWSPAPER CITED "BLANK SPOTS," WHERE MASS INDOCTRINATION HAD NOT ACHIEVED RESULTS.

IN NORTH CHINA, IT SAID, 20 TO 30 PER CENT OF THE PEOPLE WERE STILL LIVING IN "BLANK" OR "WEAK" AREAS. IN TIENTSIN, 30 PER CENT OF THE FACTORY WORKERS, 50 PER CENT OF THE RESIDENTS AND 20 PER CENT OF THE STUDENTS "HAVE NOT SUBMITTED TO PATRIOTIC EDUCATION."

IN ONE AREA OF HOPEH PROVINCE, THE EDITORIAL DECLARED, ONLY 16 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION WAS IN THE HABIT OF ATTENDING MEETINGS.

THE "PEOPLE'S DAILY" CALLED FOR "COORDINATION OF KEY PERSONNEL" AND SAID TOO MANY WILLING VOLUNTEERS HAD NOT BEEN ABSORBED INTO THE PROPAGANDA SYSTEM. IT DECLARED THAT OFFICIALS WHO CONSIDERED THE PROPAGANDA NETWORK "A BURDEN RATHER THAN A BLESSING" WERE COMPLETELY MISTAKEN.

MANILA, MONDAY, MAY 14-(AP)-PRESIDENT QUIRINO HAS DIRECTED FOREIGN SECRETARY CARLOS ROMULO TO PRESS WORLD WAR II CLAIMS TOTALING $414,000,000 (M) AGAINST THE UNITED STATES, HIS OFFICE SAID TODAY.

OF THAT SUM, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID, $14,000,000 REPRESENTS RENTALS, SERVICES RENDERED AND DAMAGES TO VARIOUS GOVERNMENTAL UNITS DURING THE WAR.

MAY 14 1951

THE STATEMENT WAS NOT SPECIFIC ABOUT THE REMAINING $400,000,000, SAYING ONLY THAT THE AMOUNT REPRESENTED "CLAIMS OF THE ARMED FORCES OF THE PHILIPPINES."

PHILIPPINES ARMY SOURCES WHO REFUSED USE OF THEIR NAMES SAID THE LARGEST PART OF THIS INVOLVED BACK PAY FOR FILIPINOS WHO SERVED IN THE U.S. ARMED FORCES IN THE FAR EAST UNDER GENERAL MACARTHUR.

THEY SAID MACARTHUR EARLY IN THE WAR ORDERED FILIPINO SOLDIERS PAY UPPED FROM 18 PESOS ($9) A MONTH TO THE PESO EQUIVALENT OF U.S. SOLDIERS' PAY IN DOLLARS. THAT MEANT 50 PESOS FOR A FILIPINO HOLDING EQUAL RANK TO A U.S. SOLDIER RECEIVING $50A MONTH.

HOWEVER, THE SOURCE SAID, THE U.S. GOVERNMENT SETTLED ALL BACK PAY CLAIMS FROM FILIPINOS AT THE BASIC RATE OF 18 PESOS PER MONTH.

SOME PART OF THE CLAIM ALSO WAS SAID TO INVOLVE THE MUCH-DISPUTED MATTER OF PAY FOR GUERRILLAS. THE U.S. ARMY ALREADY HAS SETTLED THE SUBJECT, AS FAR AS IT IS CONCERNED. IT REFUSED TO RECOGNIZE TEENS OF THOUSANDS OF SO-CALLED GUERRILLAS ON THE GROUND MOST OF THEM JOINED UP AFTER THE FIGHTING WAS OVER.

THE STATEMENT BY QUIRINO'S OFFICE SAID THE $400,000,000 CLAIM HAS BEEN TAKEN UP PREVIOUSLY IN WASHINGTON BY PHILIPPINES ARMED SERVICE REPRESENTATIVES.

QUIRINO TOLD ROMULO TO FORM A COMMISSION TO DISCUSS PHILIPPINES CLAIMS WITH THE U.S. EMBASSY HERE. THAT WAS IN LINE WITH A RECOMMENDATION OF THE BELL MISSION THAT ALL CLAIMS BE SETTLED BY BOTH SIDES THROUGH A COMMISSION.

THE STATEMENT FROM QUIRINO'S OFFICE SAID ALSO THE U.S. IS PRESSING THE PHILIPPINES FOR SETTLEMENT OF A $35,000,000 (M) LOAN MADE LAST YEAR, AT A TIME WHEN THE DOLLAR AND PESO RESERVES OF THE HARD-PRESSED PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT WERE PRACTICALLY EXHAUSTED.

IRANIAN BUDGET (580)
BY ROBERT B.HEWETT
TEHRAN, IRAN, MAY 13-(AP)-PREMIER F. MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH FAINTED AND PLUNGED HEADLONG FROM THE ROSTRUM TODAY AFTER EMOTIONALLY TELLING PARLIAMENT HIS LIFE HAD BEEN THREATENED.
MOSSADEGH HAD TOLD THE MAJLIS (LOWER HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT) HE WOULD STAY IN THE PARLIAMENT BUILDING UNTIL HIS LIFE-LONG DREAM, THE NATIONALIZATION OF IRAN'S VAST OIL WEALTH, WAS FINALLY ACCOMPLISHED.
SKEPTICAL DEPUTIES LAUGHTED AT THE NERVOUS PREMIER AS HE TOLD OF THREATS ON HIS LIFE BY THE FANATIC SECRET MOSLEM SECT OF FEDAYAN ISLAM, AND DECLARED A SHINING FIGURE IN A DREAM HAD TOLD HIM HE WAS DESTINED TO PUSH THROUGH THE GOVERNMENT SEIZURE OF OIL.
BUT THE MAJLIS, NEVERTHELESS, DID AS MOSSADEGH DEMANDED - ELECTED FIVE OF ITS NUMBER TO WORK JOINTLY WITH A SENATE FIVE-MAN GROUP ON A COMMITTEE TO RUN THE GIANT ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY WHEN IT IS TAKEN OVER FROM THE BRITISH.
WHEN HE HAD FINISHED HIS DRAMATIC SPEECH, MOSSADEGH FAINTED AND FELL DOWN THREE STEPS TO THE FLOOR. DEPUTIES RUSHED TO HIS AID AND CARRIED HIM FEET FIRST TO THE PARLIAMENT DISPENSARY. DOCTORS THERE PRONOUNCED HIM FULLY RECOVERED A FEW MINUTES LATER.
MANY OF THE DEPUTIES FELT THAT MOSSADEGH HAD EMPLOYED THESE DRAMATICS TO PRESSURE THEM INTO SPEEDY ACTION. HIS SPEECH WAS INTERRUPTED BY LAUGHTER WHEN HE TOLD HOW HE HAD SHOWN SHAH MOHAMMED REZA PAHLEVI A GUN HE WAS CARRYING FOR PROTECTION. ONE DEPUTY SAID PRIVATELY THAT MOSSADEGH WAS "SEEING THINGS UNDER THE BED."
BUT THE DEPUTIES ACCEDED TO HIS DEMAND THAT NO CONSERVATIVES BE NAMED TO THE NATIONLIZATION BOARD. THE CONSERVATIVES HAVE OPPOSED HIS MOVE TO SEIZE THE BRITISH-CONTROLLED ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY. THE DEPUTIES NAMED THREE MEMBERS OF MOSSADEGH'S NATIONAL FRONT PARTY AND TWO OTHERS WHO ARE KNOWN TO BE ARDENT FOLLOWERS OF NATIONALIZATION AT ANY COST. —

LATER A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID MOSSADEGH HAD ACCUSED ANGLO-IRANIAN OF HAVING INSTIGATED THE DEATH THREATS AGAINST HIM. CARRYING OUT HIS THREAT TO REMAIN AT THE MAJLIS PENDING COMPLETION OF NATIONALIZATION, THE PREMIER HAD SERVANTS TAKE HIS BEDDING TO A COMMITTEE ROOM AND SET UP HIS OFFICE NEARBY.

— QUICK NATIONALIZATION HAS BEEN APPROVED FOLLOWING A VIOLENT SERIES OF KILLINGS, STRIKES IN THE OIL FIELDS AND CLASHES BY RIVAL DEMONSTRATORS, WHICH STARTED WITH THE ASSASSINATION OF PREMIER ALI RAZMARA IN MARCH.
THE RADICAL FEDAYAN ISLAM, A SECRET SOCIETY WHOSE TERRORISM HAS HAD A STRONG INFLUENCE IN IRANIAN POLITICS, WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR RAZMARA'S ASSASSINATION. ALTHOUGH THE SECT ALSO IS VIOLENTLY DEDICATED TO OIL NATIONALIZATION AND ORIGINALLY BACKED MOSSADEGH'S CAMPAIGN TO OUST BRITISH AND ALL OTHER FOREIGN INFLUENCE, THE GROUP RECENTLY HAS TURNED ON THE NEW PREMIER.

MAY 14 1951

LAST WEEK THE GROUP DISTRIBUTED LEAFLETS ATTACKING MOSSADEGH BECAUSE HE FAILED TO RELEASE A DOZEN OF ITS MEMBERS JAILED ON CHARGES OF PLOTTING MORE ASSASSINATIONS OF IRANIAN OFFICIALS. THE LEAFLETS ACCUSED THE PREMIER OF "CRIMES AGAINST ISLAM" AND THREATENED TO "SETTLE ACCOUNTS" WITH HIM.
MOSSADEGH SAID HE WOULD REMAIN WITHIN THE SANCTUARY OF THE PARLIAMENT BUILDING, EATING, SLEEPING AND CONDUCTING THIS BUSINESS THERE UNTIL HIS PROGRAM IS CARRIED OUT. THE DEPUTIES SHOUTED THEIR DISAPPROVAL OF THIS PROMISE.
THE AGING PREMIER (HIS AGE IS VARIOUSLY GIVEN AT 69 OR 76) LONG HAS BEEN NOTED FOR HIS EMOTIONAL SPEECHES IN PARLIAMENT. WHEN HE WAS DEPUTY HE OFTEN WEPT AND SOMETIMES FAINTED AFTER PRESSING HIS POINTS.
MOSSADEGH TOLD THE DEPUTIES TODAY HE HAS BEEN PREPARED TO BE A "MARTYR FOR MY COUNTRY" EVER SINCE HE HAD LAST YEAR.
"ONE NIGHT," MOSSADEGH SAID, "I DREAMED I SAW A PERSON WITH RAYS OF LIGHT RADIATING FROM HIS FACE. HE SAID, 'DR. MOSSADEGH, GO AND TEAR THE CHAINS OFF THE FEET OF THE IRANIAN PEOPLE.' SINCE THAT DREAM I HAVE GIVEN NO IMPORTANCE TO MY LIFE. WHEN THE NATIONALIZATION OF OIL WAS PASSED BY PARLIAMENT, I ACCEPTED THAT AS THE DREAM CAME FROM GOD."
BESIDES THE THREATS FROM THE FEDAYAN ISLAM, MOSSADEGH SAID HE WAS IN DANGER FROM THE SMALL GROUPS OF LEFTIST DEMONSTRATORS WHO HAVE BEEN GATHERING OUTSIDE THE DOORS OF HIS HOME AND AROUND THE SHAH'S PALACE DEMANDING THE RELEASE OF THEIR FOLLOWERS FROM PRISONS. THESE LEFTISTS -- MOSTLY INSPIRED BY THE OUTLAWED TUDEH (COMMUNIST) PARTY -- WERE JAILED FOR CONSPIRING TO INSTIGATE MAY DAY DISORDERS.
"THIS CAUSED ME TO BELIEVE AND GIVE IMPORTANCE TO MY LIFE," THE PREMIER SAID, IS A HAND THAT WANTS TO PUT AN END TO MY LIFE, CROWDS COULD CARRY OUT ADDING A LITTLE LATER THAT "RASCALS IN THE CR... THEIR AIM."

MAY 14 1951

The makeup of the Joint Parliamentary Nationalization Board—empowered by law to "take over" the supervision of Anglo-Iranian immediately—appears to be such there will be little compromise with Mossadegh. The senators on the board representatives are believed to hold moderate also favor nationalization, but most of them are known to be supporters of Mossadegh.

views. The 11th member is Finance Minister Ali Varasteh, named to the board by the premier himself.

The majlis members elected by the Majlis include two from Mossadegh's own National Front, Dr. Ali Shayegan and Hossein Makki; Allahyar Saleh, a member of the Iran Party which backs Mossadegh fully; Dr. Abdulla Moazzami, University of Tehran law professor; and Nasser Gholi Ardelan, a deputy representing the Kurdish tribes.

wellington, n.z., may 13--(ap)--a second washington post editorial dubbing new zealand and australia "laggards" in korean aid was displayed prominently in morning newspapers here today.

the average man in new zealand is boiling about the editorials and the concensus seems to be that cordial relations between this country and the united states have been adversely affected thereby.

today's editorial was called to the attention of external affairs (foreign) minister frederick doidge, but he declined comment until after he confers tomorrow with prime minister sidney g. holland.

when, and if, a statement is issued it probably will be couched in mild terms, since holland is most anxious to avoid anything which would mar u.s.-new zealand relations. but this does not mean the government is not taking a serious view of the post's editorials.

the man in the street is making most unsupplimentary remarks about them. he feels that on the basis of population, new zealand does not have a bad record in korea. it has a field artillery regiment plus supporting units, which with recent reinforcements, total 1,500 men, two frigates with 300 men plus a dakota squadron in a forward area of malaya.

thus approximately 2,000 out of a population of 2,000,000--or one in a hundred--are serving. military men note th t new zealand has introduced compulsory military training for her 18-year-olds, which is more than the united states can say.

a few weeks ago, new zealand welcomed president truman's offer of a pacific security agreement and the deeds of american troops in korea are fully recognized here. but new zealanders today feel the post's editorials are not helping to cement those advantages here.

MARSHALL TESTIMONY
BY WILLARD H.MOBLEY
WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE C.MARSHALL CLOSED OUT A FULL WEEK OF TESTIMONY ON THE FIRING OF GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR BY PUTTING HIS HEAVIEST EMPHASIS ON THE WORLDWIDE THREAT POSED BY SOVIET RUSSIA.

HE SAID HE BELIEVED THERE HAD BEEN "IMPLICATIONS" THAT THE REDS WOULD STRIKE IF AMERICA SHOULD ADOPT THE KOREAN WAR POLICIES ADVOCATED BY MACARTHUR. AND HE ADDED HE SAW NO "APPEASEMENT" IN EFFORTS HE SAID SHOWED PROMISE OF WINNING IN KOREA.
IT WAS THE SAME CENTRAL THEME MARSHALL HAD CARRIED THROUGHOUT THE LONG QUESTIONING BY MEMBERS OF THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES -- THAT THIS COUNTRY CANNOT AFFORD EITHER TO INCITE RUSSIA TO FULL INTERVENTION IN KOREA IF IT CAN BE AVOIDED, OR TO BECOME SO BOGGED DOWN THERE THAT THE SOVIETS WILL FEEL IT SAFE TO HIT ELSEWHERE.
UNDER QUESTIONING BY SENATOR LONG (D-LA) LATE SATURDAY THE FIVE-STAR GENERAL PUT THAT VIEW ALL IN ONE PACKAGE:
"I THINK THE DESIRE OF THE RUSSIANS IS TO HAVE US BLED WHITE IN KOREA -- THERE IS NO QUESTION ABOUT THAT IN MY MIND -- TO HAVE US MORE COMPLETELY ENGAGED THERE THAN WE CAN AFFORD TO BE IN VIEW OF THE SITUATION, THE VULNERABILITY OF WESTERN EUROPE."
THAT WAS MARSHALL'S RESPONSE WHEN LONG POSED THIS QUESTION:
"IN OTHER WORDS YOU ARE NOT INCLINED TO GO ALONG WITH THOSE WHO FEEL THAT WE ARE BEING BLED WHITE IN KOREA, WHILE RED RUSSIA REMAINS ALOOF WITH EVERY BIT AS MUCH POTENTIAL AS SHE EVER HAD?"
THAT WAS A POINT ON WHICH MACARTHUR, PRESENTING HIS OWN CASE, HAD LAID THE COMMITTEES FOR WIDENING THE SCOPE OF ACTION IN KOREA.
STRESS WITH MARSHALL OVER THE WISDOM OF LONG WAS FOLLOWING UP AN EXCHANGE WITH MARSHALL OVER THE WISDOM OF LETTING COMMUNIST CHINA GET THE FEELING THAT "WE ARE AFRAID TO CALL HER HAND."
THE SECRETARY COMMENTED THAT "WHEN THEY (THE CHINESE REDS) ARE LOSING MANY THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE WITH EACH OPERATION, THE QUESTION IS WHETHER THEY WILL END UP WITH ANY HANDS."
THE DISCUSSION OF DIRECT THREATS FROM THE KREMLIN CAME UP IN QUESTIONING BY SENATOR GILLETTE (D-IOWA). GILLETTE ASKED IF RUSSIA HAD EVER MADE ANY WAR THREATS IN THE EVENT THAT MACARTHUR'S PROPOSALS, SUCH AS BOMBING IN MANCHURIA, A BLOCKADE ON THE CHINA COAST, AND USE OF NATIONALIST CHINESE TROOPS, WERE CARRIED OUT.
"I THINK THERE HAVE BEEN IMPLICATIONS," MARSHALL SAID BUT ADDED THAT HE DID NOT RECALL ANY SPECIFIC STATEMENT.
THE EXCHANGE ON "APPEASEMENT" OCCURRED IN QUESTIONING BY SENATOR SPARKMAN (D-ALA).

B20WX
THE SENATOR BROUGHT UP A STATEMENT BY DEANK RUSK, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE IN CHARGE OF FAR EASTERN AFFAIRS, ABOUT THE KOREAN WAR. MACARTHUR HAD REFERRED TO THAT STATEMENT AS INVOLVING THE "CONCEPT OF APPEASEMENT."
AS QUOTED BY SPARKMAN, THE EXCERPT FROM A TALK MADE BY RUSK WAS THIS:

"WHAT WE ARE TRYING TO DO IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE AND SECURITY WITHOUT A GENERAL WAR. WE ARE SAYING TO THE AGGRESSORS, 'YOU WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO GET AWAY WITH YOUR CRIME. YOU MUST STOP IT.' AT THE SAME TIME, WE ARE TRYING TO PREVENT A GENERAL CONFLAGRATION WHICH WOULD CONSUME THE VERY THINGS WE ARE NOW TRYING TO DEFEND."

SPARKMAN SAID MACARTHUR WAS ASKED TO GIVE HIS OPINION OF THAT STATEMENT AND THE MACARTHUR REPLIED:

"THAT POLICY, AS YOU HAVE READ IT, SEEMS TO ME TO INTRODUCE A NEW CONCEPT INTO MILITARY OPERATIONS, THE CONCEPT OF APPEASEMENT."

SPARKMAN ASKED MARSHALL IF HE CONSTRUED THAT AS APPEASEMENT.

"IT DOES NOT APPEAR AS APPEASEMENT TO ME," MARSHALL SAID.

SPARKMAN: "ISN'T THAT A STATEMENT OF WHAT WE ARE TRYING TO DO, STOP THE AGGRESSOR AND TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF THE CONFLGRATION."

MARSHALL: "I THINK THAT IS A SIMPLE STATEMENT OF THE EFFORT."

SPARKMAN POINTED UP WITH QUESTIONS ANOTHER DIFFERENCE IN THE VIEWPOINTS OF MARSHALL AND MACARTHUR.

REFERRING TO MACARTHUR'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS AND HIS TESTIMONY BEFORE THE SENATE COMMITTEE, SPARKMAN SAID HE HAD BEEN "GREATLY SURPRISED" TO HEAR THE DEPOSED GENERAL SAY IN EFFECT THAT HE DID NOT CONSIDER RED CHINA UNDER THE CONTROL OR DIRECTION OF MOSCOW EVEN THOUGH THE TWO NATIONS FOLLOW A PARALLEL COURSE.

"DO YOU BELIEVE," SPARKMAN ASKED, "THAT RED CHINA DOES ACT ON HER OWN OR IS SHE SUBJECT TO DIRECTION AND INFLUENCE FROM MOSCOW?"

"I HAVE GONE ON THE ASSUMPTION THAT SHE WAS OPERATING NOT ONLY IN CONJUNCTION WITH BUT LITERALLY UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE SOVIET UNION," MARSHALL REPLIED.

PREVIOUSLY, IN THE SATURDAY TESTIMONY, MARSHALL HAD SAID "WE ARE MOVING TOWARD SUCCESS" IN ENDING RED CHINSE AGGRESSION IN KOREA BUT WARNED THAT SOVIET RUSSIA IS THE "REAL OPPONENT."

"WE ARE DESTROYING THEM, IN ONE SENSE, DAY BY DAY," MARSHALL SAID IN REFERENCE TO THE AGGRESSORS IN KOREA.

LONG DEVOTED A CONSIDERABLE PART OF HIS QUESTIONING TO THE CHANCES FOR WINNING AMERICAN OBJECTIVES THROUGH THE "LIMITED" WAR POLICY NOW BEING FOLLOWED IN ASIA.

HE MENTIONED SUCH SITUATIONS AS THE BERLIN BLOCKADE AND THE RED THREATS IN GREECE, WHERE HE SAID "WHAT THEY CALLED THE STALEMATE PROVED TO BE THE DAWN JUST BEFORE THE DAYBREAK." MARSHALL AGREED FULLY WITH LONG'S VIEW OF THE GERMAN AND GREEK DEVELOPMENTS.

"AND THAT IS WHAT YOU ARE HOPING THIS SITUATION IN KOREA WILL BE?" LONG FOLLOWED UP.

"VERY MUCH SO," MARSHALL REPLIED.

LONG ASKED IF IT IS MARSHALL'S JUDGMENT THAT "ACTUALLY WE ARE WINNING, AT LEAST WE ARE DAY BY DAY REACHING WHAT WE COULD REGARD AS SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME OF THIS VENTURE TO RESIST AGGRESSION."

"WE ARE MOVING TOWARD THAT," MARSHALL SAID.

HE AGREED AGAIN WHEN LONG SUGGESTED THAT WHAT HE IS HOPING FOR IS "THAT SOONER OR LATER WE WILL BE ABLE TO WORK IT OUT WITHOUT ANY WAR AT ALL."

Transcript of Secretary Marshall's Testimony Saturday Afternoon at Foreign Policy Hearing

*WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Following is the censored transcript of yesterday's afternoon session of the hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees on the Administration foreign policy. Censorship deletions are indicated by * * . [The transcript of the morning testimony was published in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday.]

CHAIRMAN RUSSELL — The committee will come to order. Senator Stennis, you may proceed.

SENATOR STENNIS — Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Mr. Secretary, I think you have thoroughly exhausted the subject and then covered it and re-covered it again, and very eminently, so I think, and you have given us a great deal of very helpful and hopeful light.

I remember when I first came on the committee you gave me a good strong briefing on the U. M. T. plan, the military manpower bill, that was very helpful to me, indeed.

Now when you were giving answers there to Senator Lodge there was a little confusion over here and I did not get the benefit of just what you said with reference to this matter of bombing, the hazard that would be entailed from the bombing of the Manchurian or Chinese area. Would you mind briefly repeating that again?

You explained the hazards that would come from it and how it would lead on over as you thought perhaps into the European picture. Would you mind repeating that briefly, please.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, we feel that the Soviet interest in the outcome of this Korean struggle is a very vital one as it affects their relations with their satellites, particularly the Eastern satellites, and as the Chinese Communist group is the largest and the most valuable potential that they have to fight their battles for them.

Now the bombing into Manchuria in close proximity, we will say, to the Soviet Union territory, both those cases we think create a hazard that might result in the Soviet intervention which we fear would start a general struggle all over the world. * * * (Nine lines deleted.) We do not think it is advisable to take the hazard, which we think is very serious, in leading to an all-out war, and in connection therewith, the comparison as to the Western European hazards, we feel are quite different from those that exist in connection with the Korean operation.

The same thought applies to other factors in connection with the extension of our operations outside of Korea proper; and in my discussions, particularly today, and yesterday with Senator Hickenlooper, I also brought out the factor that it was not entirely a one-way street. * * * (Ten lines deleted.)

Intervention of Soviet In War Discussed

Q.—Well, I thank you, sir, and I apologize for asking you to repeat that, but I thought it might be cut off the record, and I knew that we did not get it here over on this side because of the confusion to the rear somewhere.

Now, there is some thought right along that line, General, of what is going to involve Russia in the war is a victory for us in Korea, and that is the thought to the effect that she is not going to let her side, so to speak, lose, and if that theory should be correct, why a quick victory over here—I mean a bombing—or hope for a quick victory through bombing—would not be any worse than a slow solution through the present tactics, would it?

A.—I wouldn't answer—I couldn't answer that yes or no.

Q.—No. A.—Because you have got two factors in there. You have got a very important factor in there in that if you take one presentation there it would merely mean that we don't do anything—

Q.—Yes. A.—For fear we win. Well, we cannot accept that. So, on the other hand, we are fearful of this particular procedure's provoking it. But our position before the world is quite different if we have been quite sincere and long-suffering in endeavoring to avoid such a development.

Q.—Well, it boils down, after all, in a very broad way to the question of what will Russia do? Or what is going to be her position? That is the main argument, and that is where the real differences of opinion come about, is it not, General? A.—In general, yes. I think we feel that our great opponent is the Soviet Union.

Q.—Yes. A.—And that opponent exercises a tremendous influence over all these satellite countries and over a country like China, which you may not accurately characterize as a satellite country, but which, nevertheless, is highly dependent on the Soviet Union.

Q.—Well, one thing that has concerned me all along is about the failure of the embargo, the failure to stop the flow of the goods in there, and I can tell from your testimony you have been very much concerned about that.

I am interested in the future operations of the United Nations. It seems to me like the big question involved here is—is it going to be able to function well enough on the first test to survive as an institution? And I cannot understand why they have been so slow about going into this economic blockade.

Now it is not something you are to blame for, or any individual or anything like that, but any comment or any additional light you could give on that I would think would be very helpful.

A.—Well, I can think of none at the moment, Senator, other than our own experience in the political discussions, in reaching agreements; and when you add to it the number of nations involved, it is an extraordinarily difficult matter; when you have their troops involved, you have added to the complications.

Now, I referred, I think before this committee, but I will state this in case I didn't—that in the last war, we were only involved, so far as our direct negotiatory arrangements were concerned, with the British Commonwealth, that is, Great Britain, as the leader of the British Commonwealth.

Q.—Yes.

A.—So, we had a Combined Chiefs of Staff of the British and ourselves. The French did not come back into the struggle for a long time, of course, not that we were not able to raise some troops after taking over North Africa, and equipping them and training them.

Now, we had many difficulties, and yet there were just two sides to our discussions, in the Combined Chiefs of Staff. Now, the minute you add to that a large number of groups, take the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—there we have twelve nations, and they have their chiefs of staff, men like General Bradley, and they have their committees—

Some Noted Complications To Acting in Concert

Q.—Yes.

A.—Now, when you try to get together with them, you have instantly gotten the increased difficulty of any negotiatory proceedings, and that is bound to be—is bound to make it very difficult. I think the difficulty increases with each stage of additions to the numbers involved.

30.24- 22965

Now, I think someone either put the question to me, or made the observation, that we were approaching a time when collective action, in some ways, became a rather impractical proposition? I would say it becomes a difficult proposition, but a very essential proposition, but it requires a great deal of patience.

We have that in our procedures here of necessity, and yet this is all among ourselves.

Now, when you add these other nations to it, that increases the difficulty tremendously; and as we go into this business of this group of nations being involved in a military question of decision, and all the combinations involved in that, then you have an extraordinarily difficult procedural set-up.

Yet, unless one is opposed to the policy or the theory of collective security toward the peace of the world, there is no other method possible.

Now, how do you do it? Well, I think if you go back through history, you will find time after time, when we have these annoying complications, these dangerous effects of such complications, and yet we have before us what to me is a matter of vast importance. That is, the development, gradual strengthening of the United Nations organization itself.

There has hardly been a time when we weren't involved one way or another in extreme complications—Russian vetoes, for example, complete stalemates, for example, and this time, at least at the start, they made a very rapid approach, but it is nothing unusual, it is nothing unusual when you get into difficulties, to find the complete cooperation at the start developed into a very puzzling complication.

You take, to get very intimate, you take our set-up as we went into the Battle of the Bulge. Everything is fine up until the time we get into the battle and then we have recriminations from this source and from that to do something other than what we were doing. That is natural. A nation reacts almost like an individual, and we have got that right now.

Q.—Well, continuing on with that thought, it seems to me like what is on trial here is this idea of collective security in operation, and I believe that the thing that has disturbed the American people more than any other thing about the whole Korean matter is this economic situation, these goods being fed into China.

There might not have been as much noise made about that, but I believe that caused more concern among the thinking people and here is the idea of collective security being on trial and the leading nation, the most powerful nation, taking a strong position for that economic blockade, and its people being so deeply concerned about it, it looks to me like that would be a powerful argument.

A.—It has caused a great bitterness, of course.

Q.—I mean it would be a powerful argument in favor of the blockade with the other nations going on, argument to them to go on and accede to it. If that could be cleared up, it would certainly add a great deal to the idea of collective action, it seems to me. A.—I think the economic blockade we are on the way to very rapidly clearing up.

Q.—I am referring to the economic blockade. Now, we voted overnight, the United Nations voted overnight, to send troops in there and go to war, so to speak, and now we have spent months since Red China actually came in without taking a final vote to really impose sanctions.

A.—The moment the situation became difficult then, you were involved in all sorts of, you might say, withdrawals and certainly extreme reticence.

Q.—I know in my study of the United Nations that its conception at the time it was being organized at all, it was greatly emphasized the effectiveness of an economic blockade on a nation that set out to disturb the peace, so to speak, and it seems to me like the main weapon there is what we have fallen down perhaps the worst on in this first great test of the operations.

A.—Well, I would think, Senator, we have a very special condition which I hope will pass, and that is a large number of nations who are very weakly prepared and one nation that is completely prepared so far as we know, and shows every indication of action completely against our interests. Now I hope that situation gradually fades away in the world, and if it does to any extent, then I think the United Nations procedures would be greatly simplified.

Q.—And as I understood you a while ago, you said you saw strong hope for developments along that line, even in the last few weeks. A.—I expressed my thought I think as to the developments of accord in connection with this particular operation, but you are always going to have an extremely difficult condition in the United Nations so long as so much of the world is weak and the aggressive nation, the one with an intent which is against all of our interests, is very strong.

Q.—Yes. Well, I had a memorandum here about the nations that objected to the principle that you referred to as hot pursuit when you wanted to invoke this policy there of hot pursuit, and you said just before lunch that you had already put the names of those nations in the record. A.—It went in the record as the nations contributing forces or means to the fighting in Korea.

Q.—Yes. Well, back to the time that Senator George questioned you, I believe that was Monday morning or Tuesday morning anyway, about your mission to China, I was not a member of the Congress when you made that mission and I did not clearly get your testimony the other day, although you were clear. I just did not quite understand it. Now you went to China, you did not go there as a soldier; you went there as a special representative of the State Department? A.—A special representative of the President, with the rank of Ambassador.

General Is Asked To Define Directive

Q.—Special representative of the President with the rank of Ambassador. And you said something the other day, you more or less adopted Senator George's language, but in referring to your directive would you mind repeating again there just what your directive was?

A.—My directive was to endeavor to bring to an end the internal strife in China—that is, the civil war—and the policy of our Government, as announced, related to the expressions by the President of the feeling of this country that it be advisable—desirable—that the Chinese would form a representative government, which means, in effect, a two-party government, in which all parties would be represented, including the Communist party. That directive was based on negotiations that had been started by the Kuomintang Government and been carried forward, particularly from 1943 to the summer of 1944, and finally under Mr. Hurley's attendance in the fall of 1944.

That procedure had come to a definite head in October, 1945, when the proposal was made that they have this conference, this P. C. C., Political Consultative Conference; and on Dec. 18, when they had agreed on the date for that conference, which was Jan. 10, 1946.

Now, my directive in the beginning was to endeavor to use my influence in whatever way it was possible to do so, to bring the fighting to an end, and the desire over there of the various parties interested, Government, the Communists and other parties of Jan. 10, between these various groups, and that was accomplished on the morning of the tenth. I got out there just before Christmas.

Then, thereafter, when they had reached their own agreements in this political conference of all the parties, as a result of that, in part, I was called upon to act as an adviser to their representatives toward the demobilization of the military forces and their amalgamation, and then later—

Q.—Now, pardon me, was that the Nationalist forces and the Communist forces? A.—The Communist forces.

Q.—They were going to demobilize? They had agreed to that? A.—They had agreed on that.

Q.—All right. A.—And there were to be fifty Government divisions and ten Communist divisions, and they were to be amalgamated in army corps—armies, as they call them. So, then I returned to the United States at that moment to see about getting money and technical advice, construction companies and shipping and surplus property and U. N. R. R. A.

And on my return to China in April I found that there had been a very decided break in carrying out the terms of their agreement among themselves. From then on I was involved both in the military side in endeavoring to keep the peace and on the political side in trying to find some basis for implementing their agreements that would be acceptable to all parties.

Q.—Was that—or that never was consummated. The Nationalist power gradually went down from that time on? A.—The Nationalist power started on the down-hill the following December.

Q.—Well, the term has been used so much that you went over there to form a coalition with the Nationalists and the Communists. And as I understood the other day, you said that was not the proper use of the term. As I understood, you said you went to help form a representative government, the two-party system.

A.—I was having specific reference to the fact that under the terms of their political agreement among themselves was involved the idea of having a coalition cabinet, and that was the thing they couldn't start at all. All the other disagreements, in the main, were based on representation.

I made a misstatement, it was brought to my attention, in the record, when I stated the State Council consisted of representation of which forty were of the National Government; actually it was twenty of the National Government and twenty of the others.

Hope of Success Was Held For Agreement in China

Q.—All of the others combined? A.—All of the other parties, yes; with the proviso that the Generalissimo had the power of veto, and that could only be overridden by a two-third vote, which meant that part of his own party would have to be disaffected. Now, it was a struggle to get that going, which was to be the intermediate set-up until a properly based constitution could be agreed upon.

Q.—And did you see hope there—did you expect that plan to work when it was agreed on on Jan. 10? A.—It looked like it was very favorable. It wasn't agreed on Jan. 10. The meeting started on Jan. 10.

Q.—It was started and agreed on soon after that.

A.—It looked like it had a fair chance of success because the Communists were very anxious to go through with it, because I think quite evidently, they felt that their discipline and their strength, particularly with the people of the lower classes, the peasantry, was so much better than that of the Nationalist Government that they could gain the control politically.

And the hope in the matter, so far as I saw it, was that other parties—the Young China party, Democratic League and so on, I think there were about four—and the nonparty group, could coalesce and the Generalissimo back them, and they would be a group which I would think would have drawn strength from both the other parties—those that were outraged at the character of the operations of the Nationalist party in its lower echelons, and those that had gone into the Communist party, who were not real Communists, these individuals, but they were violently antagonistic to the present regime of the Nationalist Government.

And it looked as though there would be enough drawn from those groups, together with what existed in the way of an independent group, which was a very small group, to hold the balance of power between the two, alongside of the evident factor to me and to my associates that the Kuomintang Government was utterly incapable of suppressing the Communists by military means.

Q.—And when you got back over there from your trip to America, to check with these business firms and engineering firms and all, you found that it had already broken apart, and never did operate—— A.—It had broken apart to the extent that they hadn't gotten together in the way it was indicated in their agreements, in council.

Personal Contacts Were Discouraged

Q.—Well, there was a matter just a few days ago, mentioned here, that I didn't fully understand. You were talking about the operation of the State Department and the Defense Department, in working together at what you called the lower echelons, the working squads.

The question was first brought up by Senator Bridges, I believe, about Secretary Louis Johnson, and what changes were made after you went in on that. I didn't understand exactly how that operated.

You put in the policy, I mean, the program of the lower echelon, working squads from the State Department and Defense Department working together—was that it? A.—I can best explain what the condition was when I went in.

Q.—Yes, sir. A.—There was rather a prohibition against individual contacts that were not formalized; so it consisted, except at the top level, largely of an exchange of memorandums, and what I did was authorize and encourage communications back and forth by the individuals concerned; and when I spoke of the lower level, working levels, I mean the pick-and-shovel men that study the documents and see what all of the implications are that they can figure out, and as a rule, propose the solution.

Well, in doing that, they would discuss, back and forth, so you would have a considerable measure of agreement before you got any further. Then it would come to the Chiefs of Staff, and they would have meetings directly with members of the State Department.

Finally, when the matter was still in trouble, we would have those meetings in the office of the Chief of Staff, with Mr. Acheson and his assistants, and Mr. Lovett and myself and all the Chiefs of Staff, and go over each phase of the matter; or, in a very vital period, we would meet before we ever really got started in the matter, and discuss it in general, to see how it appealed to the various members, in trying to reach a——

Q.—That was considered the most practical way of getting these viewpoints, and all considered, is the method evolved? A.—That is what I have always found in such administration. I merely went ahead on the basis on which I was accustomed to.

Q.—Switching over to another subject, I understand General Fox was sent to Formosa by General MacArthur in September, 1950—— A.—August.

Q.—August, 1950, and reported back that the troops were not in condition, and so forth—were not, I will say, in condition to go into battle, then. Well now, I didn't understand whether there was another mission which went back later, or—that presently something is going on, I understand, with reference to training? A.—A military mission has been sent out there.

Q.—Yes, but has there ever been a time when those men were what you would call ready for service in Korea? A.—I could not go back of that commission.

Q.—I mean they were not in August, 1950, but at any time since August, 1950, have they been ready for battle service? A.—I can't tell you that until I see the report of our military mission which has just gone out there.

Q.—Well, I do not mean to try to go into it in detail, but after reading the Wake Island report, the report of the Wake Island conference, General Marshall, the thing that impressed me was how they were all off, you might say, on their intelligence and how far wrong they were as to what was going to happen.

There has been a great deal said about the lack of intelligence and the lack of cooperation among the different agencies of intelligence. As I say, it has a great bearing in my thinking because it is quite disappointing to me to see how far off all of them were at this Wake Island conference. Could you give us any light on the operation of intelligence or should that come better from the Chiefs of Staff? I leave that to you.

A.—I will say this, Senator, and it is a rather touchy subject.

SENATOR STENNIS—Well, I am asking it just for light.

SENATOR CONNALLY (taking the chair)—Turn the light on.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, I am trying to answer you.

SENATOR STENNIS—I know you are.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—It is a rather touchy subject, particularly because it takes a long time to develop an effective intelligence service such as we intend for the C. I. A. under General Smith, and one of our great difficulties as I see it is the amount of public discussion in regard to it, because all of that detracts against it.

I think those special agencies, notably Great Britain and others, you never hear of them, I doubt if you even know the designation of the unit. It is just kept entirely out of discussion, comment, and we have a long way to go to reach the point where we have more authoritative sources. However, in this particular case, it is bound to be a matter of speculation. It is bound to be a matter of speculation.

You could have a concentration of troops as a threat and you could have a concentration of troops with the definite intent to go ahead aggressively; but I believe that we will be quite a while yet before we have developed our Central Intelligence Agency to the point where it can give us more accurate reports.

It is a problem not only of direction, but more particularly of opportunity for development, because you can't do any of these things openly.

We are weakened a great deal by the concentration of public attention on the instrument from which we expect all this secret data, because if other countries know what we are about, we don't get anything along that particular line. So I think it is of great importance that it be made more effective, but I think it has to be given time and it has to be given more secrecy, more remoteness from public attention, or it can never be very effective, in my own opinion; because its most effective sources you have just got to be absolutely silent about and hardly even think about.

That comes up in a great many matters. In its inception, first build-up, I was opposed to some of the first contacts being proposed, not by the agency, but by others, in connection with the Government; and I thought those contacts should not be because it involved too many people, involved almost essentially a breakdown, and therefore it would be an ineffective service; and therefore it is not as dependable as it should be.

'Good Many Struggles' With Intelligence

SENATOR STENNIS—I reckon we can express the hope that the intelligence upon which our Army is having to operate there is better than it was just prior to the invasion by the Chinese Reds. I am sure you have cause to think it will be better.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—We have a good many struggles with intelligence. The Battle of the Bulge, landing in Normandy was a German struggle for intelligence, our landing in Africa was a struggle for intelligence. All that is involved. Some have been successful and some have not. That is always the case, but I hope it will be improved.

Q.—You spoke of this retaliatory bombing that we could experience. Now, where was this strength to come from. This retaliatory bombing?

A.—In November, so far as our information was concerned that I was aware of, there was a build-up in the number of planes that the Chinese Communists were reported to have in Manchuria; but later on in January and particularly March, there were indications of a very decided build-up, which added to the threat of a very effective retaliation, but that was not the case in a large way, as I recall the information, in November.

Q.—Well now, this build-up of that strength, this was not coming directly out of China, was it? Do you not think there was a Soviet connection there when that new air strength. A.—I am quite certain the Chinese did not build the planes.

Q.—Yes. They build practically none, as I understand it, practically none in China. A.—I don't think they build bombers and fighting planes.

Q.—Well, you mention here about the replacements and all. This replacement program for the soldiers, then, is already in operation as to Korea, and it is just a matter now of the wheel continuing to turn, is that correct? A.—Rotation.

Q.—Rotation, Yes.

A.—Yes, sir. You see, up until March, we couldn't even obtain enough men for the actual replacements of casualties, except by going into our units back here and taking them away from those units, and to that extent decidedly lessening and temporarily destroying, almost, the efficiency of those units.

Finally, in March we began to catch up in the production of trained men so that we reached a point toward the latter part of March where, for the first time, we could provide all the replacements from these trained men.

Now, the next struggle was to get enough trained and developed as individuals to start the rotation. So, I think actually what happened in the end of March was that, for the first time, we provided all the replacements that were needed for casualties, discharges and other gradual reductions of the forces, and about 7,000 men, for the first time for rotation.

Now, since that, we have been able in April to provide all the men for replacements, and I think it is 12,000 for rotation.

As we get into this month, May, by the end of May, we ought to be approaching 20,000 for rotation, and be able to meet all of our replacements without touching any of our units in this country.

To step away from the Korean campaign, we want to increase this production of trained men so that we can begin to put in the ranks of the National Guard the trained basic soldiers.

'I Have Said Nothing About Reinforcements'

Q.—So, you have, then, the replacement program, and the rotation program already in effect now. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—But that does not involve any reinforcements, not any large-scale reinforcements anyway?

A.—It has involved up to March, including March, the build-up to normal organizational strength because they were still about almost 2,000 under-strength in American soldiers. The deficiency was being made up by South Korean soldiers. But by the end of March, I think we had replaced, in some cases not even replaced because they had never had them, a full strength of United States soldiers.

Q.—You mean the divisions were something like 2,000 short and filled by South Koreans? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—But all that you have said does not mean that you are having any additional number of divisions there at any given time? A.—What I have been talking about is the refreshing and stimulating and strengthening of the unit and the great improvement of morale as a result of those actions. I have said nothing about reinforcements.

SENATOR STENNIS—That we understand. Thank you very much, General Marshall, and thank you, Mr. Chairman.

SENATOR RUSSELL (resuming as chairman)—Thank you, Senator Stennis. Senator Fulbright.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT — Mr. Secretary, I hesitate to burden this record any further, but for appearance's sake I had better direct a few remarks to show my presence here, and perhaps because of the fact that not all arguments have been thrust upon you in the last six days, but I will try to limit myself to just a few questions.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Mr. Chairman, I wonder if the Senator would like to speak up. We would like to hear his questions over here.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT—Well, Senator, General Marshall's voice is exhausted, and I unconsciously sort of felt that mine was, too, after talking for a week. I do not blame him.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I will try to do better.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT — He sounds just like I feel after I have been talking for four or five hours at a stretch.

You said a moment ago, I believe, in answer to a question of Senator Stennis, that you regard our great opponent as Soviet Russia.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Yes, sir.

Q.—You do not regard this struggle as a sort of modern ideological crusade against communism, I take it? A.—When I said Soviet Russia and the Soviet Union, I was thinking in terms of the Communist Government.

Q.—Well, that is true: they are Communistic, with which I agree. I understood you to say that the enemy we are concerned about is Russia. It is the armies of Soviet Russia. A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—If those armies did not happen to be Communist, but were the old-fashioned imperialists of the czars, you would still be concerned about them, wouldn't you? A.—If they had shown the indications——

Q.—That is what I mean. If they aggressed against, if they invaded countries; if they exhibited a tendency to expand, dominate all their neighbors, which the old-fashioned imperialism did in various instances from Napoleon and the czars, whenever they had an opportunity.

My only point is that you do not look upon this as sort of a crusade against communism everywhere and in any form; but it is because it is an aggressive force, and has taken on the power of the Russian state is what concerns you, is it not?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Now, with regard to Yugoslavia, it was my understanding that the Department of Defense supported our action in giving relief, assistance to Yugoslavia this year, is that not correct? A.—During my period, that is correct, and I think otherwise elsewhere.

Yugoslav Difference From Soviet Defined

Q.—If I recall correctly, General Bradley or General Collins, some member came up and testified in behalf of that legislation. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Well, now the Yugoslavs are admitted Communists, are they not? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—But the significant thing is they do not adhere nor are they subject to the directions of Moscow, isn't that what makes them different from other Communists? A.—Exactly that.

Q.—It seems to me a good illustration of the point I am seeking to make is this is not a crusade. What we are really concerned about is the threatening force of arms directed by Moscow, is that correct? A.—That is correct, with the results that would follow.

Q.—Granted that communism has turned out to be an effective tool in the hands of an expansive power and one that has made it difficult for us to combat because as a nation we do not understand very well psychological warfare, for example. We have refused up to now to support adequately a propaganda effort.

Right now the House has recently cut I think 90 per cent off of the recommended program and we have always had difficulty in the Congress in such a program. Well, it is in that field that communism is especially effective as a propaganda weapon, is it not?

A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—It seems to me that is a matter which some of our people are a little bit confused about and it may lead to some important differences as to the way we approach the war.

Now it leads to one other question. General MacArthur made a statement that was received with much enthusiasm that there is no substitute for victory. Now if it is an ideological crusade, I think that idea fits very well that you just can't compromise with sin, but if it is a continuation of the age-old struggle between tyranny in one form or another and the forces of law and order as we believe they are, it seems to me that there is room for qualifying the thought that there is no substitute for victory. Here is what I have in mind. We had unconditional victory in the last war, did we not? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—We defeated Germany and Japan unconditionally. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—I would not say that the result has been entirely satisfactory, has it? A.—It wouldn't seem so, sir.

Q.—So it looks as if we are justified in examining that idea of unconditional surrender, does it not? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Isn't that what you really are approaching in your policy in Korea, that you are seeking a way that you can compromise—compromise is a bad word. It has come to have a meaning perhaps that is difficult to explain, like the word "appeasement," which used to be a very respectable word but now has become a word which you don't dare to use in any connection, so we will leave those two out, but aren't we trying in Korea in a sense not to go for all-out victory in the sense we did in the last war, partly because we found that not to be effective to achieve our purposes, but to do something short of that which in this instance is to avoid a war as long as we possibly can, with the hope that we may never have an all-out war? Isn't that what your real objective is?

A.—That is the objective to the extent that it first appeared necessary to destroy the aggressor considering the geographical situation and the continued menace which would follow for the South Korean Government if that aggressor from North Korea remained in organized being.

Now, as I understood the application of the United Nations' action in the matter and our own procedure in connection with it, we were trying to bring to a halt any idea of aggression, of any people who attempt that sort of action, and particularly recognizing that this was an aggression which was undoubtedly stimulated, organized, by the Soviet Union.

The Fundamental Aims Of United Nations Action

Q.—Yes. I grant that is certainly an essential and, you might say, primary purpose—to prevent the expansion of Russian power, to prevent aggression. But I can not quite agree, nor I do not think you mean to say, that that is all of it, that it is purely negative. It seems to me that we at the same time are trying to establish the machinery by which these international disputes may be settled by some kind of persuasion or reason rather than this idea of complete victory, unconditional surrender.

30.24- 22967

To put it another way—do you not think we would be perhaps faced with a difficult situation assuming we completely defeated China and Russia? What would we do with them? Would we not have the same situation on a bigger scale that we have had with Germany and Japan—a very difficult situation with regard to administration? We do not have the people. We would not want to go in and administer. I mean that idea of complete victory does not entirely solve the situation, does it? What we really want is for them to give up their aggression and to accept the United Nations, is it not, which would bring a machinery for settling our differences by peaceful means rather than by force? Would you not say that is really our objectives?

A.—I think our real desire is to have them establish the practice of acting like a decent nation should.

Q.—That is right, through the United Nations. That is the way we have suggested. A.—That is our machinery——

Q.—That is the machinery we have accepted—— A.—For that action.

Q.—It seems to me that this idea there is no policy in Korea, that there is no objective is one that is not sound, even though this objective is a new kind of objective and one that is not surrounded by all the glamor and emotional connections that the old-fashioned victory is surrounded with.

It is much easier to appeal to most people's emotions by talking with the language and concepts we used a century ago, but it seems to me this objective is just as real, albeit it is a new one, a new kind of objective. But it is one we consciously wanted new because we are not satisfied with the old way of having a war every twenty-five years. It seems to me that is what we had in mind.

I grant it is a very difficult thing to put into language that is appealing to the press and to the people, but that still remains the job, I think, of the Government to do it.

I just wondered if some thoughts along that line might not be helpful, because I feel very strongly myself that that is what we are groping for in this struggle in Korea, the first and the most real opportunity to try to make the United Nations have some substance and have some real meaning.

We had that opportunity in Ethiopia and it was turned down by the League of Nations. Wouldn't you say that is a fairly good example?

A.—I think that is a very good example.

Senator Wishes Principle Had Been Applied Earlier

Q.—If we had done the same thing then as now, or, even better, if we had done the same thing when Hitler moved into the Rhineland and said, "No, you won't"—— even if we had to go to war, we might very well have established the principle then we are trying to establish now, is that true? A.—I think that is so. What we are struggling for is a genuine basis of collective action.

Q.—That is right. A.—To secure the peace.

Q.—The trouble we have is that those words, "collective action" and "reason" and "reconciliation of differences" don't sound good and they are not sort of vaguely connected with knights in shining armor and they don't look good in headlines and that is why it is extremely difficult to sell these ideas to the people, it seems to me.

The other approach has a great deal more sex appeal in a political sense, political appeal, than the old-fashioned way.

One other thing. I would take it from that that you do not feel that full-scale war with Russia is inevitable at all.

A.—I do not think it is inevitable. I think it is a very dangerous possibility.

Q.—I agree with that. A.—And I think the degree of danger depends a great deal on how we carry ourselves. One simple factor is that we prepare to meet such an emergency in time to have the deterrent action that we so much hope for.

Q.—I have had a feeling myself—and, of course, I don't pose as an expert—but a sort of feeling about the matter that if we can get through the next eighteen months without a real war with Russia, that we might very well be over the hump; that they would not dare—— A.—How many months?

Q.—Just out of the air I said eighteen months. I was taking that—that isn't far from what——

A.—That certainly will make a great difference in our strength if we proceed in the way we are going and we would present a much more formidable prospect to the Soviet Government in their undertaking an aggressive operation.

Q.—I think after this initial difficulty with our allies, that as this thing develops, our own differences can be reconciled and we are making progress, I believe, in spite of our mutual criticisms, toward a better understanding among ourselves.

Which brings me up to my last question. If you have any statistics on the casualties of this last three weeks, I have heard it said by, I believe, and read estimates of tremendous casualties, something in the neighborhood of 80,000 for our enemies and some three or four thousand for ourselves, of which a very large percentage were of our allies. Is there anything secret about those statistics?

A.—No, sir; we will get you exactly that.

Q.—Do you happen to have them? A.—I want to get the exact terms of what you are talking about.

Q.—What I would think would be interesting, and if they are as I have understood them to be, I think it would be, I do not mean that casualties are ever anything but a very sad thing, but still they give an insight into the thing.

It was something to this effect: how much of the casualties were our enemies—I don't know whether you have it—between just dead and battle casualties, as a whole, and our own; and especially with our own, how many were Americans and how many were allies.

I was told, and I don't vouch for it at all, because it was unofficial, that ours were somewhere in the neighborhood of 4,000, and that half of those were our allies and half Americans.

A.—Well, you spoke of the last three weeks, and I presume you were referring to, or covering this recent phase of the Soviet attack?

Q.—That is right. A.—I will obtain that for you in those terms that you have mentioned.

Q.—I think it would be very interesting. A.—We have them in a number of different ways, but they are very hard to resolve to a particular period. I will have that done.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT—Thank you very much, Mr. Secretary. I want to draw the chairman's attention to the fact that I took only twenty minutes.

THE CHAIRMAN—Thank you Senator Flanders.

SENATOR FLANDERS—General Marshall, I also am going to try to be very brief. Did I call you "General Marshall," or "General MacArthur?" I intended to say "General Marshall" or "Secretary Marshall."

When General MacArthur was here, I questioned him with regard to whether or not there were any large deposits of, or reserves of supplies in Siberia which were adequate for carrying on a fairly continued offensive, as distinguished from a defensive.

I don't remember his exact words, but he said he felt that the Soviet preparations were defensive only, and he knew of no large reserves of supplies.

Now, you have spoken, I think, of—I think you used the phrase "thousands of planes" in the Vladivostok region, and large land forces on Sakhalin. Do you feel that the Russians are prepared for an offensive movement of some dimensions?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I felt, from the information that has been given me from our various sources, that the Soviet had a considerable build-up in the Far East, which had been built up in a rather recent period, notably in Sakhalin, and the vicinity of Vladivostok, as to the planes, and Port Arthur and Dairen, as to planes.

Now, as to the build-up of supplies, I don't recall exactly what has been given me, but as to the possible power of such a Soviet set-up, I have gotten the impression from the information, that it conveys a great threat to Japan, and it was that reason in particular that caused me to exercise considerable pressure to have the two divisions of the National Guard sent out to Hokkaido, General MacArthur had asked for four divisions at an earlier period when there were non available for—

Q.—Hokkaido is the northern island——

A.—The northern island, which comes very close to Sakhalin, and my own fears without recalling the exact details of the thing—my own fear was very great that our hazard was there, and we should terminate it as quickly as we could do it;

* * * (two lines deleted).

So that my reaction from the data was very different from that I read—which he stated; but I think you could get a more precise answer from the Chiefs of Staff.

Senator Seeks Reason For Different Opinions

Q.—Would you be willing to say whether you think the difference of opinion between yourself and General MacArthur, on this matter, is a difference of judgment or a difference of information?

A.—I don't know, sir. I have checked very carefully to see that all the information from the C. I. A. went to his headquarters, and I presume, of course, he either saw it specifically or it was briefed for his attention.

Q.—Here is another matter. This is a thing which has puzzled me in the testimony.

Why would the various proposals of Jan. 12, listed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and sent to General MacArthur on Jan. 12—conditioned on the conflict being stabilized, or having Korea evacuated—why were these suggested methods of offensive action tied to stalemate, or defeat—perhaps the word "stalemate" is not equivalent to "stabilized"; if so, I don't know what stabilized means?

A.—I have talked about that in various ways, Senator; but I do suggest that you ask the originators of the phrase, and they can give you a direct answer as to what their intent was.

Q.—I have listened and, to some extent, scanned the testimony and still find myself mystified by that situation; but I will ask the head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The next question, I am afraid, I will have to wait for the answer, too; why is not such a stalemate as you hope for a justification for the offensive actions proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff?

I will excuse you. I just ask that question now, and am excusing you from answering, and reminding myself to ask the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

I think that is a very mysterious situation, from anything I have been able to read in the record here, or from any of the witnesses.

Now, Mr. Secretary, you and I are about the same age. I looked it up in certain books of reference, and find that I am three months and three days older than you are.

A.—That gives you an advantage.

Q.—However, I am not going to pull seniority on this thing.

We have seen, I think, in our lifetime, I reckon, about five wars. We have seen the Spanish-American War, the Philippine War, the conquest of the native tribes of the Philippines, the First World War, the Second World War; and this war, not now officially a war, but having all of the obvious aspects of a war.

I think in all of those except this last one, we have seen an immense amount of discussion and dissension among the American people, and in the Congress as we approached it.

However, in each case, as Senator Knowland said yesterday or the day before, when it became obvious that we were in the fight, the American people buckled down and saw it through.

Now, this latest event, it seems to me, has two unusual features: One of them is that almost immediately it seemed to meet the approval of the people—in fact, I must admit, or think, I can say that it met, at the time, with the approval of some of us who are criticizing it now; but it did meet with general approval because it seemed to be the thing to do, both in policy and as a matter of right and morals as well.

But there is one thing that it seems to be in which this particular contest differs from any we have ever had, and perhaps differs from anything that the world has seen hitherto, and that is that we are given no idea as to what the military end of our present engagement is going to be. We have presented to us a sort of a vacuum. And it is my strong belief that the attractiveness of General MacArthur's program is because it drops into this aching void of one knowing nothing of what the military end is that we are aiming at. And General MacArthur proposes something to put in there and nobody else does.

I am speaking for myself when I say that nobody else does because I cannot get my fingers on anything definite except just keeping on a while longer and seeing what happens.

Senator Says MacArthur Has Offered "An End"

I think that accounts, aside from General MacArthur's great achievements, his great reputation, and his undoubted picturesqueness—he has offered an end.

I think along with that goes a certain suspicion on the part of the American people that there may be an end in sight, but one which is not thought politic to put into words. It is difficult to think of any conclusion which can be arrived at by negotiation with those who oppose us which does not involve appeasement. So I think that is the question that is in the back of the minds of everybody, and it keeps continually coming to the surface as the real expectation of the end—an end in which the military operations are concluded on an agreement which either immediately or in due course of time, whatever the due course of time may be, involves the recognition of Communist China in place of Nationalist China in the United Nations, and the turning over of Formosa.

Now you have unequivocally and unhesitatingly disavowed for yourself that end to this military operation, as I have heard you and as I have read what you have said. But in the absence of any other possible conclusion presented, it seems to me that that suspicion is bound to remain and bound to grow.

And so I have made a speech instead of asking you a question, but leading up to this question: can you suggest any end to these military operations which would be a reasonable conclusion to come to bring them to a conclusion?

A.—Of course, I am a little embarrassed there, Senator, with going into statements that lead to the conclusion of a war plan. However, I can say this: up to the present time, and particularly during the last three months there has developed a procedure as to the way our forces are being conducted, first under General Ridgway, and now under General Van Fleet, which has been highly destructive of Chinese Communist power, meaning trained forces.

* * * (Seven lines deleted.)

We face a situation where, in the opinion of the Chiefs of Staff —and you can ask them directly— of the procedures to be followed, there does not appear at the moment any along the line of the conventional military operation.

Just what we can do to change that aspect is a matter that is constantly under consideration, but as I have said many times, we feel that the procedures as proposed by General MacArthur of limitations that we should not abandon, I mean of not limitations, of conditions which we consider we should not risk.

Now I appreciate the point of view as to public reactions and Congressional reactions in this matter. I don't know what else to say to you at this time. I do not think the situation is so dubious as has been expressed here a great many times, and I am getting an increasing confidence toward the possibility of a satisfactory conclusion. Whether or not it will be a military triumph or not I don't know how you would characterize it.

It would be a triumphant demonstration, I think, of our military powers in proportion to the people engaged, but it would not include, I am quite certain, the matters that you referred to, which you fear in relation to Formosa and the entrance of the Communist Government into the United Nations.

Q.—Have you any thought or suggestion as to with whom we would treat when it came to such a conclusion as we hoped for? Would it be with some exhausted remnant of the North Korean Government or would it be with Communist China or would it be with Russia or who would it be with? A.—I hope it won't be with Russia. I can't answer you specifically, Senator.

Q.—If I knew with whom we could treat, I could make a suggestion. A.—Well, the suggestion might be very valuable. I will say this, though, that in treating certainly with the Soviet Union, and I presume with the North Korean representation, and I also feel certain with the Chinese regime representation, that we would have to proceed to get the best conditions but we would never dare relax with the feeling that they were conclusive for quite a time.

SENATOR FLANDERS — Mr. Chairman, may I make a three-minute suggestion?

THE CHAIRMAN—Yes, sir, we have no limitation here.

SENATOR FLANDERS — Except that we are supposed to ask questions and listen.

THE CHAIRMAN — Well, you will not be setting any new precedent if you make a great long statement before you ask a question, Senator.

SENATOR FLANDERS — Well, I will promise to ask a question at the end of it. This will not take me long, but if we knew with whom to treat, with whom to discuss, here is something we might do.

SENATOR CONNALLY — Mr. Chairman, may I ask the Senator a question?

SENATOR FLANDERS — Yes, sir.

SENATOR CONNALLY—Would you consider it proper that we might deal with an intermediary, some government?

SENATOR FLANDERS — Yes, an intermediary between us and whom?

SENATOR CONNALLY—All of them.

SENATOR FLANDERS — The question is with whom.

SENATOR CONNALLY—All of them.

SENATOR FLANDERS—Yes.

SENATOR CONNALLY — You suggest that.

A Proposal to Restore Korea Under the U. N.

SENATOR FLANDERS—Yes.

Suppose that we ask our Ambassador, Mr. Austin, in the United Nations to call attention to the immense loss of life, the immense cost and the suffering, both of the armies and the civilian populations that was going on; make the proposal, which is essentially the original United Nations' purpose, of arranging a cease-fire, but setting up a commission to administer the cease-fire, and the withdrawal of forces, but have ready a distinctly United Nations force in which we would not be 90 per cent or thereabouts, of the thing, to maintain civil order, and then spend—allow three years of government under the United Nations to be followed by a free election at the end, and then spend a fraction of what we are now spending, and ask the other nations to appropriate their corresponding fractions to rebuilding that unhappy country.

Now, that is something that is new in the world's history, and it seems to me something new is required; and it just strikes me that if that is subject to the veto power of the Soviet Government, that their faces would get very red if they proposed to veto a proposal of that sort.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I don't think they possess a blush.

SENATOR FLANDERS — Well, it seems to me that some unusual way out of this thing has to be found, and I am just making this suggestion, and I promised to ask a question at the end of it, and the question would be, do you think it is worth considering?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Well, I think certain phases of that have already been considered. I don't undertake to pass on the complete statement, but I know certain phases of that we have been considering very carefully; now, if the fighting was terminated, would we set up the situation under those conditions.

The Question of Using Troops From Formosa

Q.—The additional point then that I am recommending, and trying to make, is as to whether the suggestion may not contain in it some things that would tend to end the fighting; that is not merely to apply it after the fighting, but there may be in it something useful in shortening the period of conflict.

A.—And I might also say that Mr. Pace, if you call him before your committee, as I believe you are doing, can give you, I think, some very illuminating statements regarding the role he was to carry out in the rehabilitation of Korea after this devastating experience.

SENATOR FLANDERS — That is all, Mr. Chairman. Thank you, General Marshall.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Sparkman.

SENATOR SPARKMAN—I have sat here all through this week listening to you, I have been here, I believe, every session and most of the time and, in addition to that, I have been reading the transcript each day.

I wish to say I think you have made a wonderful contribution in the manner in which you have cleared up many of these things that many of us were wondering about. I think you have given us a background and perspective that otherwise we might not have had.

I realize that most of the questions that I should like to ask have been asked, most of them many times, and I hope that I shall not keep you very long. I do want to ask just a few brief questions, which I think will call for very brief answers; first, with reference to the use of the Nationalist troops. Now, General MacArthur in his testimony said that in his opinion it would take about four months to make them ready for use.

I did not get whether he meant four months from this time or from what time. Could you tell us about that?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I can't answer that offhand. I have forgotten. All I remember is Chiang Kai-shek offered 33,000 the one period.

Q.—In the period—— A.—In the beginning, and it wasn't found advisable to accept them on the basis of efficiency, equipment—

SENATOR CONNALLY—Didn't he refuse to accept them?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I beg your pardon?

SENATOR CONNALLY—Didn't he oppose accepting them at that time?

SENATOR SPARKMAN—General MacArthur did.

SENATOR CONNALLY — That is what I am talking about.

SENATOR SPARKMAN — For two reasons.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—On our side of the water on the ground of the harzard introduced into the general situation in relation to enlargement of the war and the possibility of the Soviet Government coming into the war.

Again in November he made another proposal, which was either forty thousand or sixty thousand —I think sixty thousand—and the reaction of the Chiefs of Staff to that was based largely on the Fox group of thirty-seven men.

SENATOR SPARKMAN—That was the group General MacArthur himself sent down.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — It came from his headquarters under his direction, but it was requested by the Chiefs of Staff.

Q.—I remember his testifying —— A.—Covered most of the month of August and they made the report the 11th of September.

Q.—As I understand it, this mission recently has been sent in accordance with the recommendations made by that board and in accordance with the recommendations subsequently carried out with the generalissimo. A. — That is correct, I think.

Q.—Now, General MacArthur also testified before us that it was not his recommendation that the Nationalist troops be moved to the mainland en masse, but that he did think that there were possibilities for a limited number to be used in Korea for some—through infiltration to join the guerrillas, the non-Communists on the mainland, and others to be used in small forays or commando landing parties and such as that. I don't know whether you care to comment on it or not, but is there very much guerrilla activity going on? That is, back of the Communist lines.

A.—I would not like to talk about that, sir.

Q.—I will not press for it. General MacArthur did say—and as I understand, this has been the view of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, too—that the primary objective of the forces on Formosa is to defend Formosa. A.—Correct, sir.

Q.—And has been from the first. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—General Marshall, that leads me to this question, and it seems that you are going to have to repeat this just about every day in order to keep people from saying the wrong thing—and that is with reference to Formosa. You have said here, without any equivocation, that it is the policy of our Government, and had been, I believe you said, for at least two years, that Formosa should under no conditions fall into Communist hands.

A.—The reference to two years, I don't think, is correct.

Q.—I thought I saw that used.

A.—I don't recall making that statement, but it has been for some time the definite policy, it has been the recommendation of the Chiefs of Staff, it has been my own thought and it has been the policy of the Government.

Q.—And it is very definitely the policy of the Government now? A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—And that same thing applies to the recognition of Red China? A.—It does.

Q.—And seating of Red China in the United Nations. A.—Yes.

Q.—And the admission of Red China—— A.—Just a minute, Senator. The recognition of Red China I am not commenting on one way or the other, but the two things I was talking about were their introduction to the United Nations and the security of Formosa.

Q.—And the security of Formosa? A.—From Communist control.

Q.—Now, General Marshall, you were quoted as saying that you would advocate the use of the veto to prevent the seating of Communist China in the United Nations and, of course, it is charged repeatedly that the United States is going to favor or at least to let go by suffrance the seating of Red China in the United Nations. Now, you know nothing of any such plan as that, do you? A.—No, sir, I do not.

Q.—did you say—the record—it seems there was a break into your answer, and the record was not carried out fully—but, in your opinion, if the veto can be used, do you believe it ought to be used?

A.—Well, I stepped into pretty deep water there. In the first place, I think I said that the power of the veto is a legal question in some respects, and it is any lawyer's respective view.

As to the policy of this government as to the use of the veto, I am not sufficiently informed; at the time I was talking about it, I was endeavoring to make clear that I thought very positive action should be taken to prevent Formosa from falling into the control or the domination of any Communist government or regime.

Q.—Or to allow China to be seated in the United Nations? A.—The same.

Q.—As I recall, you bracketed the two together. A.—I have not discussed this with the State Department as to the veto provision, because that wasn't exactly my bailiwick, but I did barge into it.

Legality of Veto Under Discussion

Q.—General Marshall, I want to say I am certainly in complete accord with you; yet I think it is only fair for the record to show the thing you have just said, that there is honest difference of opinion over the legal question as to whether or not the veto can be used, and I will call your attention—— A.—I were merely told by my lawyer in the Defense Department that this was a lawyer's paradise for backs and forths. That is all I know.

Q.—We will not tie you into legal discussions, but I call your attention to an article in The Washington Evening Star of yesterday afternoon, an Associated Press article quoting former United States Senator Warren R. Austin of Vermont, who is now our Ambassador to the United Nations and our representative on the Security Council, in which he dictated a statement and, Mr. Chairman, I should like to read the statement into the record. Mr. Austin's statement in part follows: and I quote: "There is a great deal of confusion on the question of whether or not the seating of the Chinese Communists can be vetoed. The Charter of the United Nations gives the great powers the right to the admission of new members, but the Charter names China as a member of the United Nations.

"Therefore the issue is not one of whether or not China should be admitted but rather one posing the question which one of two claimant governments should occupy the Chinese seat. This is a decision to be made by two-thirds majority of the sixty members of the United Nations and not one on which the exercise of the veto will be allowed. It is a question of credentials, not of admission. We believe in rule by law and we believe the law does not give us the power to veto in this matter.

"However, we shall continue to do everything in our power to persuade the majority not to admit the Chinese Reds."

I just thought that in all fairness to the record it would be well to have that placed in it at this point.

SENATOR SMITH — Will the Senator yield for just a second?

SENATOR SPARKMAN—Very briefly, yes.

SENATOR SMITH—Would you object to putting in the editorial on the same subject in THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning?

SENATOR SPARKMAN — No no, I would be very glad to because I admit the differences that do exist, real differences of good lawyers, and I would be very glad to have that in at the same point.

THE CHAIRMAN—The editorial will go into the appendix. I believe that will be Exhibit F, according to the chart I am trying to keep.

SENATOR SMITH—Put those two editorials together as they are.

SENATOR SPARKMAN — This is an Associated Press news item.

30.24- 22969

(The editorial above referred to will be found in the appendix of this record).

SENATOR SMITH—Thank you, Senator.

The Problem of Using More Korean Soldiers

SENATOR SPARKMAN—Yes, sir. Now, General Marshall, there is another question I am not sure has been answered. If it has, I do not care about cluttering up the record, but the question that has always come into my mind has been this with reference to the use of Nationalist troops, and let me say I for one have always felt that the Nationalist troops on Formosa did constitute a real asset for this country both for the defense of Formosa and for possible use to help any movement that might be to our advantage, and so I am not one that believes that they just ought to be discredited entirely, but the question has often come to my mind whether or not it would be just as economical and just as feasible to use these additional South Koreans that are available in lieu of the Nationalist Chinese, that is in Korea.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Well, the best military opinion I can give you now and coming from out there is our present use of them in filling vacancies in the existing South Korean divisions is their most effective use, and it is not desirable under the conditions that now exist to increase the number of divisions. That is General Ridgway's recommendation, and I think approximately General MacArthur's recommendation.

Q.—Now, General Marshall, this letter from President Truman on Jan. 13 that you placed in the record yesterday or the day before, I have forgotten which—it must have been the day before yesterday because in yesterday morning's Washington Post was a news item headed "MacArthur's Views on Message Given" — General MacArthur himself is not quoted, but General Whitney, his aide, is quoted. The substance of it is that by the letter of Jan. 13th the President, in effect, was intending to pull out of Korea, and that it was to be taken as an excuse—in fact, General Whitney used the phrase — "to make the Eighth Army a scapegoat." Now, I thought, as a matter of fact, the impression I got from reading the letter was the purpose of it, and perhaps the effect of it, was to stimulate greater resistance over there rather than any urging or indication of pulling out or withdrawal.

A.—I am quite certain there was no consideration of any kind in the most remote manner of the President trying to make the Eighth Army a scapegoat. I think the message itself can be read in plain terms, and I would not endeavor to interpret it because I think it is a simple matter of understanding.

Q.—Was there any intention at any time to make the Eighth Army the scapegoat? A.—I have just answered that.

Senator Cites Article Of The United Press

Q.—I mean not in connection with this letter but at any time. A.—That would almost be treasonable.

Q.—Well, I agree with you, and yet that is the statement that I am reading from this—— A.—I didn't select that aide, you know.

Q. (continuing) — United Press article. He refers to it in so many words. A.—I don't care to discuss it, Senator.

Q.—He says, "MacArthur wasn't going to use the Eighth Army as a scapegoat." A.—I don't care to discuss his procedure.

Q.—All right. I just wanted to be certain that we got it onto the record that it was not intended to lessen the resistance but really to step it up, was it not? A.—I think you can read the message from the President and understand it very clearly.

Q.—That is the way I read it. Now, I was very glad that you brought out many of these things in a true perspective—for instance, the message to General MacArthur suggesting the possibility of sending arms over there to use to arm South Koreans, by which the number could be increased, as I recall, a minimum of 75,000 and a maximum of 300,000, and he decided it would be better to use it on the Japanese state police. As I understand, the Joint Chiefs of Staff went along with his recommendation. A.—I think that is correct.

Q.—You told us that, I believe. A.—Yes.

Q.—Now reading the telegram that he sent back to Mr. Henry Hazlitt in response to his telegram, there is just nothing wrong on the face of it; but when you read it together with the directive that had gone out from the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the decision, why, it seems to me that, what shall we say, he was passing the buck. You will recall that he said——

A.—Yes, sir, I recall.

Q.—He said it was a political matter over which he had no control.

A.—I didn't know whether you had finished or not. He did not receive a directive from the Chiefs of Staff. He received——

Q.—A suggestion.

A.—A proposal to which they wished to have a reply. And then he made a reply. And as to the message he received, I don't care to go into the interpretation, its possible implication.

Q.—Standing alone, it would have been all right. But, denying that he had any part in it, it seems to me that did not coincide with the exchange of the two earlier messages.

A.—I don't think he denied he didn't have any part in it.

Speech by Shawcross Is Recalled by Sparkman

Q.—Well, he said it was beyond his control or some such word. I will get the exact language. "The issue is one determined by the Republic of Korea and the United States Government and involves basic political decisions beyond my authority." I do not care about belaboring that point. You discussed it very fully yesterday, as I recall. Now, General Marshall, General MacArthur also testified about the trade with Red China, and it is a matter of great concern to all of us, any trade that is going in there, particularly with items that are usable for war purposes.

When he was here he had a report which had been given to him, as I recall, by the consul general at Hong Kong which showed that, I believe, some $40,000,000 worth of products had gone through the port of Hong Kong over a period of three weeks' time. He said that they contained both proscribed and nonproscribed materials. Then, later on he detailed some of those things that were included in there.

Just yesterday, I attended a committee meeting of the Banking and Currency Committee in which we had some people up to discuss this question of trade and in the course of it I was given, and I got a copy of the speech that Sir Hartley Shawcross, the president of the Board of Trade, made in the House of Commons on May 10, and I was attracted by this paragraph:

"General MacArthur, if correctly reported, seems perhaps not to have fully appreciated the nature of some of the information in the document itself." He is talking about this report. "He referred by name to a number of items on this so-called strategic list, as I think it was called, but he did not mention the smallness of the quantities of many of the items involved. Thus he referred to petroleum, diesel oils, fuel oils, gasoline, kerosene, and lubricants. Certainly, they were on the list. His recital of the fact caused very naturally great anxiety. What he does not seem to have pointed out, at any rate so far as the reports covered here are concerned, is that the list showed nil quantities as having being exported to China. In fact, all exports of that kind had been prohibited as long ago as July, 1950." I close the quotation. I presume you have no knowledge of those things yourself?

A.—I have not a detailed knowledge.

SENATOR SPARKMAN — Mr. Chairman, let me ask you, was this report that General MacArthur purported to be quoting from—I will not say quoting, but listing these things from—was it introduced, placed in the record?

THE CHAIRMAN—I do not recall that it was.

SENATOR SPARKMAN — If not, I should like for us to request it from General MacArthur or ask the State Department to get us a copy of that report, and at the same time I should like for you to ask the State Department to give us a report covering the trade of Japan with Red China from July 1 of last year to the present time.

It is my understanding that several million dollars worth of goods are going from Japan, and have been right up certainly until within the last few days.

I do not do this in any sense of criticism, but to indicate the difficulty of this whole thing.

I know that the trade with Japan can be sustained on economic facts, but I think that it is well to have it in the record, have it available for the record, in order that we may see the complexity of this whole trade situation.

THE CHAIRMAN — Under the procedure we have adopted here, if the Senator will just drop me a little note indicating these documents he desires, I shall undertake, as chairman of the committee, to secure them for use of the committee.

Answer by MacArthur Quoted to Witness

SENATOR SPARKMAN — Yes, Mr. Chairman; thank you, I will do that.

Now, General, just another question or two and I am going to quit; General Marshall, when General MacArthur was before us, an excerpt from a talk given by Dean Rusk was read to him, and I want to quote it to you just very briefly:

"What we are trying to do is to maintain peace and security without a general war. We are saying to the aggressors, 'You will not be allowed to get away with your crime. You must stop it.' At the same time, we are trying to prevent a general conflagration which would consume the very things we are now trying to defend."

The question was put to General MacArthur—he was asked to give his opinion of that statement, and General MacArthur said this, and I quote his words, as found on Page 100 of the transcript:

"That policy, as you have read it, seems to me to introduce a new concept into military operations, the concept of appeasement."

Do you construe that as appeasement?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Will you read Rusk's statement again, please?

SENATOR SPARKMAN — Yes. "What we are trying to do is to maintain peace and security without a general war. We are saying to the aggressors, 'You will not be allowed to get away with your crime. You must stop it.' At the same time, we are trying to prevent a general conflagration which would consume the very things we are now trying to defend."

SECRETARY MARSHALL — It does not appear as appeasement to me.

Q.—Isn't that a statement of what we are trying to do, stop the aggressor and to prevent the spread of the conflagration?

A.—I think that is a simple statement of the effort.

Q.—Secretary Marshall, as I understand, one of the basic differences in the opinions that you have stated here and the opinions of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as you have given them, and those entertained by General MacArthur, has to do with the ability of the Chinese to fight, the ability of the Soviets to come to her aid, and also as to the tie between Red China and Soviet Russia.

General MacArthur has stated on several different occasions that while China, Red China, and Russia were associates, or allies, and I believe he referred to their courses as being parallel, that he considered Red China as being independent and acting on her own.

Do you believe that Red China does act on her own, or is she subject to direction and influence from Moscow?

A.—I have gone on the assumption that she was operating not only in conjunction with but literally under the direction of the Soviet Union.

SENATOR SPARKMAN—Well, of course, I think so, too, and I think I was greatly surprised when General MacArthur made that statement in effect when he spoke to Congress and again when he testified here that China parallels Russia but is not under the power or the direction, control, the influence of Moscow.

Thank you very much, General Marshall.

THE CHAIRMAN — Senator Long.

SENATOR LONG—I will try to be fairly brief, General Marshall, although I do want to cover several subjects. I believe you have been pretty clear with regard to your mission to China in 1946. There is one thing that I wanted to get clear in my own mind, however.

I believe you stated that, after negotiations broke down, that the Chinese Nationalist troops were defeated by the Chinese Communists notwithstanding the fact that there were about three million Chinese Nationalist troops and about a million and a half Chinese Communist troops. Is that correct?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — Those were the comparative strengths, I think, in December of 1946, and at that time the Nationalist Government was at the peak of its military progress, and from that time on it went into the downgrade. Does that answer the question?

Q.—Are you now referring to the close of the truce period, the period at which the truce was ended?

A.—The truce period closed before that. The general effort of the Nationalist Government to destroy the power of the Communist regime by military action had its beginnings in June.

Q.—What year?

A.—Nineteen Forty-six, and it was a sporadic procedure with a great deal of negotiations in the effort to terminate the development of hostilities.

Manchuria was somewhat apart at the time. It was very active fighting there on both sides, but in North China the truce had been generally kept, but, as I say, in June it began to react in North China and both sides became heavily involved here and there, and it was constantly increasing the menace of general fighting.

The actual last ameliatory efforts I think were in October. I have forgotten just what the exact date was, but it ceased to be a practical proposition to mediate in any way towards terminating hostilities because for my own part I felt that the Communists were so engaged in at least propaganda attacks against the United States, and certainly some deliberate attacks which I referred to in connection with the Marines in North China, that it was no longer a practical proposition for me to attempt to be a go-between between the two governments.

Q.—You stated that at that time you felt that the Chinese Nationalists were at the very peak of their military power?

A.—Yes, sir. Not military power so much as the military achievements, but I think I also said afterwards that they had gotten themselves into a position of great weakness by an over-extension.

Sparkman Seeks To Correct Error

Q.—Because they had overextended their position? A.—They had overextended their position.

SENATOR SPARKMAN — Will

...he Senator yield to me for about ...wenty seconds to correct an er...or?

SENATOR LONG—Yes.

SENATOR SPARKMAN—If this may be placed back where I was asking General Marshall questions, think I asked this question wrong. General Whitney said that this letter told MacArthur to hold his position and that it represented a reversal of policy. I think I stated my question wrong a while ago.

The final question I asked you did bear on the same thing, and, Mr. Chairman, if I may in order that it be straight I would like to insert the item at that point.

THE CHAIRMAN—Senator, under the procedure we have adopted here, you will have to read it if it gets into the record. Otherwise we can have it appear in the appendix. We will be glad to have it appear in the appendix just as it is.

SENATOR SPARKMAN—If the Senator will let me read just about thirty seconds, I will do so:

"MacArthur believed, Whitney said, that the message differed from previous directives of the Joint Chiefs of Staff because it directed him to hold indefinitely in Korea. He said MacArthur construed it as the President's implication that he desired our position in Korea to be held indefinitely and that this was a reversal of the views he, MacArthur, had previously received from Washington."

THE CHAIRMAN—Do you desire the remainder of it to be printed?

SENATOR SPARKMAN—Yes, I think it would be well for the whole thing to go in as an exhibit.

THE CHAIRMAN—That will appear in the appendix.

SENATOR SPARKMAN—Thank you.

(The article above referred to will be found in the appendix of this record.)

SENATOR LONG—The point I had in mind is at the time these negotiations broke down, the Chinese Nationalists had about three million troops and the Chinese Communists had about a million and a half according to your best recollection.

SECRETARY MARSHALL—That is my recollection of the period.

Q.—Now what is your impression of the equipment the troops had? How well were the Chinese Nationalists equipped compared to the equipment available to the Chinese Communists? A.—The equipment of the Chinese Nationalists was of a regular order. They were in divisional units and they had for the most part the equipment appropriate to that sort of a unit.

Q.—Did it include artillery? Did they have good artillery, good tanks, that sort of thing? A.—Well, they had not so many tanks and I don't know how good they were. Their artillery was in part good and a part ineffective.

The Communists were equipped with nondescript material, some that they had taken from the Japanese, some that they had taken from the Nationalist Government in various military encounters, and some presumably that they had obtained from Russia, but we had a very hard time identifying equipment picked up in captures that were of that nature.

As a matter of fact, they seldom lost any equipment. They salvaged all their equipment in most actions because there was a great dearth of it among their troops.

Nationalists Called Better Equipped

Q.—Would you say that generally speaking the Chinese Nationalists were far better equipped than the Chinese Communists? A.—Very much so.

Q.—Notwithstanding that, the Chinese Nationalists were finally driven off the continent during the next two years. What was your impression as to the morale of the Chinese Nationalist troops engaged in those encounters? A.—It depended very largely on leadership, and I thought in the main they had very ineffective leadership and they handled their operations with a great deal of ineptitude, and I think that was the characterization of the operations many times by my observers and those that were out there after I left China.

Q.—I have read details of even whole divisions that were sent into battle well equipped that surrendered without even firing a shot, it was said, but I am sure what the person who told me that meant was that they surrendered without making a serious effort. Do you know whether any surrenders of that sort occurred? A.—I wouldn't like to answer that because I don't remember specific details. It was a general impression of their failure to fight to the point of justification of the advantages they possessed in the way of equipment, but not to mention the disadvantages they possessed in the lack of leadership, effective leadership.

SENATOR CONNALLY—May I intervene right there just for a moment. I heard General Barr. General Barr was our military man with the troops, was he not?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—Yes, sir.

SENATOR CONNALLY—He testified and told us that he never knew of a defeat of the Nationalists by reason of their lack of arms or equipment or supplies, ammunition, but that defeats were caused by their unwillingness to fight.

Thank you.

SENATOR LONG—I wanted to get the details on that. Now do you believe or have reason to believe that substantial additional military aid from this nation at that time would have changed the result?

SECRETARY MARSHALL—I do not think so. I think the question was one of leadership, and the question was one of the support of the army by the people.

Q.—Do you think they would have changed the result had we had more American military advisers to advise the Chinese Nationalists tactically? A.—I think the presence of American military advisers with the troops would have been helpful, but what was basically lacking was the support of the army by the people, meaning the men in the army themselves had acquired a feeling of resentment toward the Government or uncertainty as to the Government which so weakened their willingness to fight that along with the incapacity of leadership their effectiveness was greatly limited.

Q.—I have heard this story several times, that there was a great amount of, shall we say, graft in the ranks of the army, that in some cases money that was supposed to go to pay the troops went to the higher ranking officers, and by the time it got down to the troops, the officers had entered into speculations and inflation had set in so that the money wouldn't buy what it would have bought originally or that possibly the troops didn't get their full amount anyway. Was it your impression based on the advice given you by your military advisers that there was some merit to those rumors?

A.—There had been considerable merit to those rumors during periods of the war which General Stilwell brought to my attention.

At the time I was out there, I think in the main that procedure had been halted. Always there would be a certain portion of it because that was sort of habitual under the conditions of the years in China.

Later on I can only guess what would happen when the severely inflationary situation developed and it took so much money to buy anything and the troops or their leaders couldn't meet the situation without getting additional funds. To what extent that developed, I don't know.

U. S. Tried to Improve Chinese Government

Q.—Now, it was subsequent to that time that the Greek-Turkish aid program was put into effect, that the Truman doctrine was announced, is that correct? A.—It was authorized, I think, along about in the late spring of 1947; but probably did not get under way until that summer.

Q.—Now, in the Greek-Turkish aid program, particularly as applied to Greece, there were actually efforts made by this Government to improve upon the quality of the government by the Greeks, as I understand it, as well as to give them advice and military aid.

That program was announced and adopted subsequent to the unsuccessful attempt to stabilize the situation in China, is that correct?

A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—There is some argument that possibly at the time we undertook that bold policy in Greece, that we should have pursued the same course in China. Looking back on it, do you have the impression that that would have been practical, at the time?

A.—Well, the effort of our Government, in many ways, through many people, was to try to bring influence to bear that would improve the administrative procedure of the Government, and brighten it up, as it were.

Q.—Speaking of the Chinese Government, now? A.—Chinese Nationalist Government.

Q.—Yes, sir.

A.—But the doctrine promulgated by the President of the United States was directly along that line.

What we did in Greece was not done by compulsion; it was not done, we will say, assertively; but it was done by continual efforts along diplomatic lines, by the Ambassador, and it was done—and in this group that was sent out to Greece to make particularly the economic recovery of Greece possible, it was done in connection with that, which, of course, exercised quite an influence on the Greek Government because they were receiving money to do certain things, and if they were unwilling to try to clarify their governmental situation, it was confessedly in a poor way, why, they would be in a rather inconsistent position.

However, I think in Greece, though I don't know this authoritatively, the complication was—many parties, many parties, and under the threat of changes of control at any moment.

In China, you were not having any changes at all, and had not had for a long period of years, but they were suffering from the corrosive effect of people a long time in authority.

Q.—By and large, one of the main differences of the result in the Greek policy and the Chinese policy, I take it then, would be the difference of cooperation between the two governments and the difference of understanding between the people who were trying to work it out, and in Greece you had occidental people who seemed to understand our way of doing things better, and in China we had great difficulty in working out an understanding on how to try to meet the situation, I take it?

A.—Yes; we were dealing with a China of several thousand years of, we will say, culture or methods or procedures, good, bad and indifferent, and with a fixative which was very hard to overcome.

In Greece you had all sorts of complications, but they were quite a different character, I think, in the main.

Marshall Plan Aimed At World Recovery

Q.—Yes. Now, after the successful approach in Greece and Turkish aid, you then proposed what has now become known the world over as the Marshall Plan to attempt to stabilize the world economy and particularly the free nations. And that was in a large measure proposed, I take it, to prevent the spread of communism, to prevent governments from falling under the domination of the Soviet; is that correct?

A.—It was to produce a healthy situation as rapidly as possible because we felt that in the poverty-stricken state of Europe, if that was long continued, we would have developed an utterly impossible situation governmentally, which would have been largely communistic.

Q.—Now there has been some point made that it was originally proposed under the Marshall Plan that the Soviet and her satellites could have shared in that program. Is that correct, that originally they could have participated in it if they cared to?

A.—It was wide open so far as west of Asia. And if you recall, Molotov came to Paris with a large entourage of people to work on various aspects of it, and for some reason, which he would not explain, but apparently his feeling that the British and the French had sort of ganged up against the Soviet Union, and that I was in the plot, he, without any notice, departed from Paris.

But specifically, the proposal was worded so that it included all of those nations. And I might say, I think, that in the discussion with my own people in the State Department there was some opposition to stating it that way because they felt that the entry of the Soviet into the matter would merely mean a stalemate—they would just make it impossible to proceed. I felt that that was a probability, but that, nevertheless, we must make the proposal in those terms because it would be most unwise for us to set the line of demarcation which the Iron Curtain now does define.

Q.—In other words, if the world was to be divided into two blocs, one bloc of largely capitalist nations and free nations, and another of Communist nations, if that cleavage were to take place, we should not take the initiative in making it so?

A.—That is it, sir.

Q.—And you didn't want the remaining free nations to go behind the Iron Curtain, or to become Communist because of the economic breakdown of their economy? A.—That is it.

Q.—Of course, when the Soviet group declined to cooperate, that made it fairly simple for you to go right ahead and then with the free nations that did desire to participate? A.—In one way it made it simple, but we had continuous efforts, and in a very disagreeable and dangerous way, by Communist procedures to try to break it down.

Q.—If the Soviet satellite nations had seen fit to go along, that might itself have posed some problem for the Soviet, in that by those nations cooperating with this nation, their desire would certainly have been to cooperate with our peaceful intentions to better the world generally. It would have been difficult for the Soviet to have lined them up on that basis, inimical to the proper interests of this nation; is that correct?

A.—If they had gone along with good faith, it would have had a tremendous effect in Europe.

Q.—It would have been a tremendous effect in reducing the aggressive designs of the Communists in Russia as well as in their satellite countries.

Now the question has been raised about Formosa, and I would like to get your judgment on it if you would comment on it. Do you believe that if Formosa should fall into unfriendly hands that it actually throws our defenses back to California and the Western Coast of the United States?

A.—I will try to recall how I answered that question this morning. I think I said that I did not think it retired our frontiers to that extent, but I thought it would be a great danger to our position in the Western Pacific.

Senator Notes Barriers Between Formosa and U. S.

Q.—Just measuring it on a map or on a globe of the world, roughly, I discovered that it is farther from Formosa into the United States than it is from the Equator to the North Pole, and that we have a large and substantial number of islands between Formosa and the United States no matter what course one would take; is that correct? A.—I would have to go sit down with you to study that map. That is a brand new approach.

Q.—Nevertheless, this nation, having the greatest Navy that the world has ever known, and having air power that certainly need not take a back seat to any nation, do you see why we would be forced back in our defenses * * *

Q.—I see. Now, if we bring Chiang's troops into Korea, speaking of the Chinese Nationalists, would that tend to complicate our problem in trying to arrange negotiations to arrive at a settlement of the Korean question?

I have in mind, for example, it might make it more difficult to work out a settlement there.

A.—We thought of that difficulty, but our main reaction was to the development of a situation which would introduce the threat of development into a general war and the specific reaction in the opinion of our allies that this would be a very dangerous procedure.

Q.—I see. Now, you have stated that under no conditions should we let Formosa fall into Red hands, particularly if we were in position to prevent that. If Chiang's troops are not able to defend it, how are we going to keep it from falling into their hands?

A.—The move at the present time by our mission going out there is to try to improve their training and build up, we hope, their morale and also they have the stimulating effect of the commitment of this Government to help them on the sea in resisting, on the sea and in the air, of course, in resisting an invasion.

Q.—Do you think that we can afford to make commitments indefinitely that will keep our Navy in position to prevent them from crossing—— A.—I could not answer that right now.

Q.—Continuing to Formosa. If we expect to do that indefinitely, that, too, makes it more difficult to work out a final settlement of the Korean question, does it not? A.—It is related to it.

Q.—Now, with regard to the fighting in Korea, how much more, if anything, do you think the Chinese Government, would be able to do in carrying the war to us? You stated, I believe, that she does have a substantial number of airplanes that could be flown in, is that correct? A.—I stated in regard to — Chinese Communist forces?

Q.—Chinese Communist forces. A.—The reports we have indicate a considerable build-up in the number of planes.

* * * (Here seven lines were deleted.)

Q.—Do you have the impression that China would be able to substantially increase the amount of mechanized equipment that is presently operating against us in Korea? A.—Do you mean to introduce it into Korea or to produce it as a matter of industrial——

Q.—I mean to send more into Korea. I do not believe she has the industrial potential to produce a great amount, but do you believe that she might have a substantial amount of additional mechanized equipment that could be sent into Korea? A.—We have assumed all along that they have tanks in some numbers, and probably artillery.

Q.—So far, they have used very little in the way of tanks, have they? A.—They used them a great deal at the start; that is the North China element. Those were all knocked out, of course, in the end.

Q.—You mean the North Korean elements. You said North China; you mean the North Koreans. A.—Yes.

Q.—Have you seen any evidence of the Chinese Communist using those?

A.—Well, it is hard to identify a tank from the air as being a Chinese or North Korean tank. Our air has destroyed a good many tanks from week to week, where they have picked them up on the road, and the great difficulty of the Chinese Communist forces in the war and the North Korean forces, has been to bring this heavy equipment forward, because of the damage that is inflicted upon their transportation, and the damage that is inflicted on such heavy matériel by our planes.

They are restricted to movements almost entirely at night, and they have had very bad trails to go over, and then in concealment, photographically and otherwise, we generally can locate about where they are, so that they have had a very hard time introducing this heavier equipment into the fighting since it has developed in the present stage.

Q.—Well, I take it then that you doubt that they are puling their punches in so far as using mechanized equipment is concerned? A.—I think they have done the best they could under the circumstances.

Training Program By Enemy Discussed

Q.—And so far as you know, there is no reason to believe that they could send large numbers of tanks and half-tracks and motorized equipment in addition to what they have already sent forward?

A.—Well, they may have been training personnel to handle this additional and larger number of heavy pieces of matériel, because they have had very heavy losses with what they have had, and they have to replace that with trained people, as well as the matériel itself.

I would rather assume that they are having more difficulty in replacing trained personnel than they are in the matter of the equipment. I am just guessing; and they are having great difficulty, I know, with all heavy equipment in carrying it on the front, and keeping it sufficiently concealed there to be ready for a movement forward.

Q.—Now, China had an army of a million and a half in the civil war, and presumably they have increased their armies substantially more since that time. Do you believe that they are able to maintain a greater force of manpower in the field than they presently have against us?

A.—I would have difficulty in answering that, except to say that I do feel that they have had a very serious proportion of their trained force debilitated, dissipated, in one way or another from the actions they have been in. Now, to what extent they have remaining well-trained elements I couldn't answer that, but the Chiefs of Staff may be able to give you a more direct reply.

Q.—Well, my impression is that so far they have had between 200,000 and 300,000 men operating against us, who were Chinese Communists.

A country of that enormous population, to a layman, would seem to be capable, at least, of putting millions of men into the field, or at least an army of a million or two million men, and that is a desire I have—I am curious to know whether or not you thought they were able to maintain a larger army in Korea than they are presently maintaining there?

A.—Well, I think you would get a better answer of that from the Chiefs of Staff, but you have got to consider order in China; you have got to consider their commitments to the south opposite Indo-China; and order in China, and various strong locations which have to be kept under strong control.

Q.—General MacArthur made the statement that China is already making her maximum effort in Korea. Are you inclined to agree with that statement?

A.—Well, I am inclined to agree with that statement. * * * (Three and a half lines deleted.)

Senator Proposes Troop Exchange

Q.—I would like to ask this question with regard to our Allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization: Although we need more troops in Europe, I take it, why can't we work out some basis upon which they could share the fighting in Korea while we send additional American troops to protect the areas within the borders of those nations?

For example, we are sending four divisions, as fast as we can raise them, to Europe. That gives them additional security. Why can't they send some of the divisions that they are raising, in view of that, to help out with the actual fighting, bleeding, and sacrifice that must go into fighting for freedom?

A.—We would be getting nowhere on that basis of putting in and taking out at the same time. What we are trying to build up is a respectable defense in Western Europe.

Q.—I believe that the average American would be very happy to have them put in six divisions and let us take out six of our combat divisions. They would get better protection, and at the same time have the opportunity to share some of the sacrifices, sir. Has that been considered? A.—I do not think that has been considered.

Q.—Now, along the same line, wouldn't all of our troops in Korea be safer if we had a reasonable margin of safety there? In other words, if we had more troops, wouldn't each man be safer, and have a better chance? A.—I think that is so.

Q.—Therefore, I was wondering why not send more troops, even if it was more of our own? A.—You ask that from the Chiefs of Staff, and get their direct answer to that, because that is getting right into our general war plans.

Q.—All right, sir. Along a different line, do you believe that we could win a war against Russia, if the war was started now? A.—I don't want to talk about it on the record, and I would rather hesitate to talk about it off the record.

Q.—The point I had in mind is that it has been my feeling that if a war against Soviet Russia occurred in another two years or another year, say, we might have a greater certainty to winning the war, but that to win it would mean a greater cost.

For example, if the war occurred later on, even though we might have our nation better prepared, you would have to recognize the fact that the progress our enemies would make, in terms of atomic preparedness, would enable them to inflict much greater damage upon us, even though we correspondingly would be able to increase, inflict much greater damage upon them.

A.—* * * (two lines deleted).

Q.—Of course the point I had in mind, again, General Marshall, and if you would not care to comment on it, I would completely understand, but it does seem to me that in our planning we are overlooking the fact that even though we might somewhat increase our certainty of victory by postponing a risk that we must some day take, nevertheless we are going to have greater damage done to us by postponing it.

Now, it would seem that if we would take stronger and more forceful efforts against China, that we could probably shorten the conflict there.

I don't know, but I assume that would be possible, might be possible, and as far as the risk of war with China, at least as far as Russia is concerned, it would seem like it might be unwise just to indefinitely continue to let her feel that we are afraid to call her hand.

A.—We are—what?

Q.—We are afraid to call her hand. A.—Well, you would have to qualify that last expression, because when they are losing many thousands of people with each operation, the question is whether they will end up with any hands.

Q.—In other words, you are not inclined to go along with those who feel that we are being bled white in Korea, while Red Russia remains aloof, with every bit as much potential as she ever had? A.—I think the desire of the Russians is to have us bled white in Korea. There is no question about that in my mind—to have us more completely engaged there than we can afford to be, in view of the situation, the vulnerability of Western Europe.

Q.—The point I had in mind being that if we could adopt measures that would bring it to a speedier conclusion there, even at the risk of war with Russia, is she gaining or are we gaining in this case? I take it that you do believe that time is on our side? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—In postponing an ultimate conflict? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And of course what you are hopeful of is that we will be able to prevent a war; that sooner or later we will be able to work it out without any war at all—that is our real objective? A.—That is correct.

Q.—Do you believe it would be a good idea to further disperse our industry? A.—What?

Q.—Further disperse our industries in this nation?

A.—That is getting into a pretty technical question at the present time. The dispersal of industry is a very expensive business, and a very difficult business when you are trying to increase production.

I would not care to comment on that at this particular moment. I used to know pretty well all the conditions, but I don't know them sufficiently well to comment on them at the present time, except to say that that particular proposal has not been brought to my attention.

Q.—Now, there are some people who feel that by taking a somewhat hesitant policy about going all-out against our enemies, we may be actually encouraging them to become aggressive, on the theory that because we do not meet them with a more forceful solution to the question, that they may be encouraged to think that we are afraid of them. Do you have any comment to make on that?

A.—Well, I would say that we have a very difficult situation in relation to things like that, when all of our thoughts have to be expressed publicly, and we don't get theirs at all.

Q.—General Marshall, so far, with regard to the Berlin blockade and the policy that we followed in Greece, we have had the previous situations where there appeared to be stalemates, and that were enormously expensive to this nation; and in those previous occasions, what they called the stalemate proved to be the dawn just before the daybreak, didn't it? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And that is what you are hoping this situation in Korea will be? A.—Very much so.

Q.—A prelude to a victory for what we are trying to accomplish. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And so, although in one sense it would appear to be a stalemate, your judgment is that actually we are winning, at least we are day by day reaching what we could regard as a successful outcome of this venture to resist aggression? A.—We are moving toward that.

Q.—Moving toward—— A.—A successful outcome.

The President Is Quoted On 'Fallacy of Aggression'

Q.—Originally we started out, I believe, in your language, to repel an attack, or repel an aggression and to destroy the aggressor. Now, we are not trying to destroy the Chinese aggressors, as a nation, I take it, or as a Government? A.—The aggressor in Korea we would destroy, if we could, if that were a practical military operation at the moment. We are destroying them, in one sense, day by day.

Q.—Even General MacArthur has not recommended that we attempt to actually destroy the Chinese Government; so, insofar as destroying the aggressor, we were at one time attempting to destroy the North Korean Government as an aggressor, but we are not trying to destroy the Chinese Communist Government, as a—— A.—We are trying to destroy the North Korean army, and pacify Korea.

Q.—Pacify what? A.—Pacify Korea.

Q.—The statement of the President, on April 11, 1951, is to the effect that we are trying to limit the conflict, and that even though it may not be limited, that we are not going to accept the responsibility of being the ones that broaden it into an all-out war. That is the policy that this nation is still pursuing, I take it?

MAY 14 1951

A.—It is not only the question of not accepting responsibility. We don't want to develop into an all-out war; and particularly if we would lose our allies by doing so.

Q.—The President said in that speech:

"If the Communist authorities realize that they cannot defeat us in Korea, if they realize it would be foolhardy to widen the hostilities beyond Korea, then they may recognize the fallacy of continuing their aggression. A peaceable settlement may then be possible. The door is always open."

I take it that in line with that, it is your feeling that when they proceeded to launch their last offensive, which cost them enormously in manpower, with very little loss in manpower to this nation, that that type of thing should hasten their realization that they cannot defeat our forces and drive them out, and that should hasten the day when you should be able to work out a satisfactory solution to the Korean question.

A.—Somewhat along that line, sir.

SENATOR LONG—That is all the questions I want to ask you, General. Thank you.

'Two Great Issues' Outlined by Gillette

THE CHAIRMAN—Senator Gillette.

SENATOR GILLETTE — Mr. Chairman, is it the desire of the chairman to finish with the general tonight?

THE CHAIRMAN — Well, of course, if that can be accomplished without curtailing any Senator in the questions that he proposes to propound, I should like very much, if we could, to complete the first round of questions today.

SENATOR GILLETTE — In compliance with that, I shall be very glad—

THE CHAIRMAN — General Marshall, what are your wishes in that matter?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I beg your pardon?

THE CHAIRMAN—What are your wishes in that matter?

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I would like to finish, but I am in your hands.

THE CHAIRMAN—You may proceed.

SENATOR GILLETTE — General, a number of years ago when I was company commander, I used to feel sorry for the little fellow who was No. 8 in the last set of squads down at the end of the line; and during this long week I have been exemplifying that No. 8 man down at the left end of the line.

But, realizing how worn and tired you must be in this prolonged grilling, I shall make my interrogation very, very short.

We have been sitting here, as you know, General, in conformity with unanimous consent request that the chairman of the Armed Services Committee had secured from the Senate and which he very cogently and very clearly presented at the outset of these hearings.

The Armed Services Committee is not only sitting in that capacity in conformity with the Senatorial permission, but they are sitting in conformity with their responsibility as an agency of the United States under the rules of the Senate. We of the Foreign Relations Committee have been sitting in through their courtesy.

None of us are sitting as a high board of strategy, as I conceive it, but trying to develop facts that will aid in dispelling the confusion that is general throughout the country, which has been brought to a head with the recall of General MacArthur.

In my opinion, there were two great issues that have been joined here:

First, was there such a conflict of views as to the conduct of the military effort in Korea between the Commander in Chief and his Joint Chiefs of Staff, on the one hand, and the field commander, on the other, as to seriously imperil the successful conduct of the war?

Was an implementing field commander taking a position in public pronouncements, or statements that would be made public, incompatible with, or having an adverse effect on, policies of our country, which had been determined through the policy-making process?

This hearing, of course, has covered that over and over again, and you have been asked numerous questions and have answered and we shall continue.

I want to ask you just three or four questions in connection with that issue and then I will refer to what I conceive to be the second real issue.

It is asserted that we have been reluctant to accept some of the suggestions made by General MacArthur and those who believe, as he has asserted, that it does not meet with the approval of our allies and that we would risk alienation of our allies.

My first question, is it reasonable to fear that our allies would risk losing United States great economic and military aid by refusing to accept our views as to bombing Manchurian bases and blockading China coasts or using Chiang's troops as a Chinese mainland threat if we presented these proposals with definite insistence?

SECRETARY MARSHALL. (About 220 words were deleted here by censor.)

Secretary Recalls An Implicit Threat

Q.—Thank you, sir. The second question, can any instance be named where the Soviet republic at any time any place or any circumstances, including the Yugoslavian episode, threatened or intimated that she would risk total war with us with our war potential including our atomic warfare development, if we took certain steps contemplated or suggested by General MacArthur to quickly end the Korean conflict?

A.—The question was not related exclusively to Korea, was it?

Q.—Yes, sir. A.—I thought you said any place.

Q.—Can any instance be named where the Soviet at any time, any place or any circumstance, including Yugoslavia, threatened or intimated that she would risk total war with us with our war potential, including atomic warfare development, if we took certain steps to quickly end the Korean conflict? A.—How does that question include Yugoslavia?

Q.—We will eliminate Yugoslavia. Has she at any time to your knowledge intimated or suggested that if we took the steps suggested to end the Korean conflict, that she would risk total war with us? A.—I think there have been implications but I don't recall any specific statement.

Q.—Now the third question, is it reasonable to assume that Soviet rulers would today risk a prolonged highly mechanized war with the free world when the United States and Great Britain together control 80 per cent of the world's oil and could quickly destroy oil fields possible (sic) accessible to the Soviet to keep these supplies from her? Do you think that she would risk a war with that potential?

A.—We have felt that she has built up her power to the extent that would enable her to inflict great damage on us.

How it would work out in the long run of the fight, I don't know, but we have been increasingly informed from various sources that she was poised ready to do that if she chose and gave every indication of not allowing the various moves she made to deter her from an action that might precipitate the war.

Q.—Now, those three questions I have just asked you, of course, are slanted somewhat favorable to the MacArthur view. This question I shall now ask you is slanted in the other direction.

Many people are saying throughout the country in commenting on the MacArthur position, "we do not want a general war. We only want to bombard Manchuria and attack China to shorten the Korean conflict."

Now, the question. Is it not a fact that there are others with great power uncommitted in this struggle who will take part in that decision? Maybe they will not precipitate a general war if we take the steps indicated, but maybe they will. Would not those of you and us making our decisions be completely irresponsible if not criminal if you did not take into consideration the awful possibilities of a general war?

A.—That is correct, sir.

Q.—Now I have four or five very short questions, or they can be answered, I am sure, very briefly, that I do not believe have been touched on.

* * * (Fourteen lines deleted.)

Q.—Do you believe, General, as a military man, that the threat such as General MacArthur has advocated of an attack by troops of Chiang on the China mainland would have the effect of a diversionary action that would compel Red China to withdraw the pressure on the northern end of Korea? A.—I think that it might be an embarrassment to the Chinese Communist Government, but I do not believe, with my own knowledge of these troops, and with my knowledge of how much support they would have to receive from us—water and air, and particularly in securing their supply service and continuing it in action—that the result would be commensurate with the effort that we would have to make.

Q.—You have argued very cogently in my opinion relative to the claim that has been made that our present method that we are pursuing of attempting to destroy manpower would be relatively useless because of the comparatively inexhaustible manpower that could be thrown against us by Red China. You have argued, as I said in my opinion cogently, that the supply of trained manpower is not inexhaustible, that to be effective they must throw in trained troops. You did not in my recollection refer to another factor which seems to me of importance, and I shall ask you with reference to it.

I hold in my hand what purports to be a copy of a memorandum, a letter, given by certain underground Korean forces to Marshall Carter of the State Department under date of Oct. 30, 1948 in which the statement was made that "the Soviet Ambassador Nicholai Vassily, in May, 1948, initiated the idea of a formation of an international Red Army in the Mongolian Peoples Republic to be known as the Mongolian Peoples Republic Army, of 250,000 men, and setting out the component parts that they contemplated."

Question on Percentage Of Casualties Posed

But this statement—"2,000 selective Japanese and others were picked to train 14,500 men to be future officers of this international Red Army in Asia, to be called the Soviet Foreign Legion." Is it not a very important factor that the loss of these trained officer personnel would be probably to a large extent irreplaceable?

A.—It would be a matter of certainly very slow replacement, a very serious loss.

Q.—And it would definitely impair, would it not, the efficacy of any forces thrown against us? A.—It would very materially impair their ability to make use of their unlimited manpower.

Q.—I wanted to ask you one question with reference to the percentage of casualties. To me it seems deplorable that with practical lack of Air Force thrown against our men in Korea, or the United Nations' Army, that we have suffered casualties of approximately 25 per cent of the troops engaged. Is it not true that is a very unusual percentage in the type of warfare we are conducting there?

A.—I think the larger portions of those casualties developed during a period when we were tremendously outnumbered.

The casualties, for example, in the few days of June were as high, almost, as any month in the war. The invasion didn't begin until the 25th of June. The casualties in July and August were very heavy, and a very considerable percentage of those were men missing in action, presumably prisoners.

Now, when you come around to the type of warefare we are now engaged in, of the past three months, those casualties, those casualty rates, have been very greatly reduced.

Q.—Just one other question, and then I will revert to this second issue. You spoke, I think in answer to one of the interrogations propounded to you today, in determining where the President should meet General MacArthur, and in reply to a question as to why General MacArthur had not been asked to come over here where the matter could be canvassed with him, rather than for him to proceed without, I believe you stated that he had shown a "marked reluctance" to come to the United States. It that correct?

A.—I think I stated that I thought it was unfortunate that he had not come to the United States, and gotten in touch with the public and the reactions here, and our other problems relating to the general situation in the Far East as seen in this locale.

'Reluctance' No Factor In Orders to Soldier

Q.—Then, I am in error when I understood you to say that he had shown marked reluctance. A.—Reluctance? I don't recall using that language. Of course, the record will show.

Q.—Of course, marked reluctance of any soldier, from a private up to the supreme commander is not usually considered a heavy factor in issuing orders to him is it?

A.—Well, the reluctance, if any, expressed by General MacArthur, in my comments would be those of the advisability of his leaving his present responsibilities in the critical state in which they were. I have here a summary, in answer to questions of some member of the committee, as to invitations to General MacArthur to come to this country.

I might lead off with one dug out of the record sent by me shortly before I retired as Chief of Staff, Sept. 17, 1945.

I addressed this to General MacArthur:

"When the situation in Japan permits, I suggest that you make a visit home where undoubtedly a series of welcomes and celebrations will be proposed. This would amount to visits to several representative cities throughout the United States, including a stop in your state.

"Admiral Leahy has communicated with you in reference to a request from the Governor of Wisconsin that you come home there. In Washington the Congress would certainly invite you to address a joint session, and there would be a reception or dinner by the President.

"Following all this, you would probably want to consider a period of rest. Available is a completely staffed de luxe cottage at the Ashford General Hospital"—which I believe is a reference to White Sulphur Springs, which was formerly the Greenbrier Hotel—"at White Sulphur Springs.

"I believe your return should best be timed with the hearings of the Congressional committees on the post-war national defense. They have indicated their desire to have you testify. I understand these hearings will be conducted during late October and November. Please let me have your views concerning such proposed visit, together with your desires.

"It would be well to consider bringing back in your party some reprsentative enlisted men as well as officers and naval officers, in addition to members of your staff."

MAY 14 1951

Visits of Top Officers Are Recounted

Q.—What date was that, please?

A.—That was my message of Sept. 17, 1945. General MacArthur did not think it was wise for him to come back at that time.

Further search of the records showed these invitations to General MacArthur, and I will give you a brief response:

On March 1, 1948, Congressman Eaton asked him, on behalf of the Foreign Affairs Committee. He said he was sorry he could not make the trip at that time. That will be in your records up here.

On May 2, 1948, Senator Bridges asked him on behalf of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He said he was sorry he could not make it at that time.

On Aug. 12, 1949, the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees passed a resolution that the Secretary of Defense requested General MacArthur and Admiral Badger to return if not incompatible with national interests to give views on pending arms implementation bill.

The Secretary of Defense transmitted the resolution for MacArthur's comments, and MacArthur rejected the invitation. I don't know what the manner of the statement was, but you would have that here in your records—the rejection.

Now, in addition, I found out on inquiry that in 1946 some time in the summer, the President sent a communication through his aide, to General MacArthur, inviting him to come back in particular to receive a decoration.

I believe that covers that phase of the matter, but I would like to add to it this further statement in regard to one of the questions asked, that is the visits to General MacArthur himself. I found that Admiral Leahy had not made such a visit, but that the Chiefs of Staff, complete with General Bradley, the chairman, had visited General MacArthur in January and February, 1950; that General Bradley in June, 1950, interviewed General MacArthur in Tokyo, with the then Secretary of Defense, Mr. Johnson, and on the twelfth to the eighteenth of October, as you just referred, he accompanied the President to the interview on Wake Island.

Admiral Sherman made the visit, of course, with the Chiefs of Staff in January and February to Tokyo to see General MacArthur, and in August, 1950, with General Collins, he made another visit. General Eisenhower visited him in the period between April and May, 1946. General Collins, the Chief of Staff of the Army, visited him in October, 1949 and in January to February appeared with the complete Chiefs of Staff group. Then in July, he proceeded again out there, and interviewed General MacArthur in company with General Vandenberg, and in August, he duplicated that visit in company with Admiral Sherman; and then again, he made a visit in early December, 1950, and then again in January, January 12 or 18, I don't know what specific time he was in Tokyo, in company with General Vandenberg, he made another visit.

General Vandenberg, I have already referred to, visited General MacArthur with the Chiefs of Staff in January and February. He visited him with General Collins in July, and he visited him again with General Collins in January, 1951. I am sorry to have interrupted the trend of your questions.

SENATOR GILLETTE — Well, General, that answers much more explicitly, much more fully than I anticipated, the question that I asked you, which was specifically whether marked reluctance was usually a factor in determining orders to be issued from any member of the armed services, from the top to the bottom.

A.—Well, his regrets in each case were based on the importance of the situation there.

Q.—I see.

Now I have just one more question, and it is based, it is what I conceive to be this second issue, and it is based on this quotation from General MacArthur's address to the joint session of Congress, and I quote:

"Our victory was complete and our objectives had been reached when Red China intervened with a numerically superior ground force. This created a new war and an entirely new situation, a situation not contemplated when our forces were committed against the North Korean invaders, a situation which called for new decisions in the diplomatic sphere to permit the realistic adjustment of military strategy. Such decisions have not been forthcoming. While no man in his right mind could advocate sending our ground forces into Continental China, and such was never given a thought, the new situation did urgently demand a drastic revision of strategic planning if our political aim was to defeat this new enemy as we defeated the old."

Now, predicated upon that statement, here is my question: Did our policy makers at a time when we were suffering serious reverses in Korea, through the entry of new elements into the war, fail to adjust policies to the changed conditions and factors, and actually leave the field commander to operate without specific policies or directions for military implementation?

A.—I do not think that was the case.

SENATOR GILLETTE—That is all, Mr. Chairman. Thank you, General.

MAY 14 1951

...man Praises Witness and Senators

THE CHAIRMAN — Gentlemen, that concludes the first round of questions. I have heretofore referred to the ususual nature of these hearings, and I think the committee might be interested in some data that the staff of the committee has assembled with respect to this hearing.

We have been here now for nine days and in that period we have heard only two witnesses. That is, so far as I know, a new record for investigations by a committee of the Congress.

The staff has assembled these figures as to dates: General MacArthur was on the stand between twenty-two and twenty-three hours, and General Marshall has been on the stand for more than twenty-four hours. General MacArthur's testimony was 787 pages; up to last evening General Marshall's testimony covered 700 pages, and the estimate for today compared with the same time for yesterday's would run it over 900 pages of testimony, and that would be the case of General Marshall.

If you are interested, the words deleted from General MacArthur's testimony on account of the security angle amounted to 2,800, which is 1.4 per cent of the total works. The words deleted from General Marshall's testimony up through yesterday were 6,600, for a percentage of 3.8 per cent.

When we see these two men who have made such great contributions to their country appear before this committee and stand this grueling examination, I think I can with certitude observe that these men who came into the Army in the period of the old soldiers of the song not only do not die but they are a tough breed and don't fade very easily.

The members of the committee have been able to get up, walk around, even retire from the room for a few moments on occasion, and neither of these witnesses has asked at any moment that there be any recess in the hearings for any reason, and have insisted at times when the committee has indicated a desire to recess, that they desired to have the hearings continue.

General, I want to thank you for your complete cooperation with this committee. You have been here with us for six days, and you have had propounded to you innumerable questions dealing with a great many different matters.

In view of the fact that you have served as Chief of Staff, as Ambassador and personal representative of the President to China at one of the most critical periods of history, served as Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, why you have been asked about not only a number of policies but a number of specific instances.

Your recollection as to details and as to dates of all of these various transactions has been perfectly astonishing to me. I have sat here and wondered if I could recall as vividly incidents of my legislative career over the past several years as you have this very varied experience that you have had, and I have concluded that I would not like to have been put to the test.

Some of these questions have very frankly been repetitious and your patience has been almost infinite. You have replied to them again and again—not all of them. When I say "all," I mean all of them, of course, haven't been repetitious, but some of them unquestionably have.

I think we are building a record in these hearings, whatever else they might accomplish, that will be a rich treasure house for the historian when he goes to analyze and to write the history of this period of our nation's history.

I thank you, sir, for your cooperation and for the great assistance that you have been to this committee. I am afraid that it will be necessary for me to request you to be back here on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

I hope that Senators over the week-end, if they don't read this record, will reflect upon these hearings. If they do, I think that they will see that the ground has been rather thoroughly covered as to the general aspects of the issues before us.

It doesn't mean that there won't be other questions that will be asked to elaborate upon to bring out different thoughts on some of these questions, but I hope that it will result in avoiding going over the same ground again and again.

I want to thank the members of this committee for their splendid cooperation and for the calm and judicious approach that each Senator has made to this subject.

I still hope that these hearings will be of great benefit to the American people and we shall continue in our effort to arrive at the truth, to gain some knowledge of all of these facts that are of such vital importance to enable us to discharge our responsibilities as Senators under the Constitution.

SENATOR KNOWLAND — Mr. Chairman, I wonder if I could ask to have placed in the appendix of our daily record here the citations which have been given by the Government of the United States to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, one of them awarding him the Distinguished Service Medal and the other one awarding him the Legion of Merit, degree of chief commander, and have it appear in our appendix.

SENATOR RUSSELL—Yes, sir; without objection, that will appear in the appendix. Any other matter to be brought to the attention of the committee. If not, we stand in recess until ten o'clock Monday morning.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — You wish me here, Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIRMAN — Mr. Secretary, I am afraid I must ask you to be here.

SECRETARY MARSHALL — I will be here.

THE CHAIRMAN—I understand your position. If we don't finish with you, we understand entirely that you must leave here Monday afternoon; but if you can be here Monday morning, we would like to have you.

(Whereupon, at 5:33 P. M. the committee recessed to reconvene at 10 A. M. [E. D. T.] Monday, May 14, 1951.)

AMS BUDGET
MILITARY BUILDING
BY RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL PLANS TO ASK CONGRESS FOR SEVERAL BILLIONS OF DOLLARS--POSSIBLY SIX TO EIGHT BILL-
IONS--TO USE ON A GIGANTIC MILITARY BUILDING PROGRAM.
A SPOKESMAN FOR THE HOUSE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE SAID TODAY IT IS EXPECTED THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT WILL SEND UP THIS REQUEST SHORTLY AND THAT HEARINGS WILL BEGIN ABOUT THE END OF THIS MONTH.
THIS OFFICIAL, WHO MAY NOT BE QUOTED BY NAME, DESCRIBED THE PRO-GRAM AS THE LARGEST PROPOSAL OF ITS SORT IN THIS COUNTRY'S HISTORY.
HE SAID IT INCLUDES NEW INSTALLATIONS AND EXPANSION OF EXISTING INSTALLATIONS IN EVERY STATE IN THE UNION AND AT OVERSEAS BASES. IT IS A LONG-RANGE PROGRAM THAT WOULD REQUIRE SEVERAL YEARS TO COMPLETE.
SUCH A PROGRAM, INVOLVING HUGE OUTLAYS OF MATERIALS AND LABOR, PROBABLY IS ONE OF THE REASONS FOR REPEATED WARNINGS FROM THE ADMINI-STRATION THAT THE FULL IMPACT OF REARMAMENT ON DOMESTIC ECONOMY HAS NOT YET BEEN FELT.
FURTHER, IT COULD FORESHADOW THE POSSIBILITY OF A FUTURE EXPANSION
IN THE SIZE OF THE ARMED FORCES, NOW NEARING THE 3,462,000 GOAL SET

FOR JUNE 30.
AS AN AFTERMATH OF THE OUTBREAK OF THE KOREAN WAR, CONGRESS AUTHORIZED AN EMERGGENCY MILITARY BUILDING PROGRAM OF $1,500,000,000 (B). THIS WAS IN ADDITION TO PROGRAM OF NEARLY $600,000,000 (M) APPROVED EARLIER.

MACARTHUR-CONGRESS

MAY 14 1951

BY EDWIN B.HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-SOME SENATORS ARE BEGINNING TO WONDER (A) HOW TO GO ABOUT GETTING THE MACARTHUR FIRING INQUIRY FINISHED UP AND (B) WHETHER ANYTHING CONCLUSIVE WILL EVER COME OUT OF IT.
TWO OF THEM, FROM OPPOSITE SIDES OF THE POLITICAL FENCE, RAISED THOSE QUESTIONS IN SEPARATE INTERVIEWS TODAY AS THE HEARINGS HEADED INTO A NEW WEEK WITH SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL STILL ON THE GRIDDLE AFTER SIX DAYS OF QUESTIONING:
SENATOR FLANDERS (R-VT)--"IT'S JUST LIKE THE WAR IN KOREA--THERE SEEM TO BE NO WAY TO TERMINATE IT. OUR QUESTIONS ARE LEADING US INTO FIELDS THAT ARE VAGUE, INDEFINITE AND PURPOSELESS."
SENATOR GILLETTE (D-IOWA)-"""I'M AFRAID WE'RE GETTING FAR AFIELD BECAUSE SENATE COMMITTEES ARE NOT A HIGH BOARD OF STRATEGY AND WE'RE NOT COMPETENT TO PASS UPON HOW TO FIGHT A WAR, EVEN IF WE HAVE THE AUTHORITY--AND THAT'S DOUBTFUL."
THEY GOT NO PARTICULAR HELP FROM SENATOR RUSSELL (D-GA), PRESIDING OVER THE JOINT SESSIONS OF THE ARMED SERVICES AND FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEES IN THEIR STUDY OF FAR EAST POLICY AND THE SPLIT THAT LED PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO DISMISS GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR FROM HIS ASIAN COMMANDS.
THE ARMED SERVICES CHAIRMAN DISCUSSED A PART OF THE SAME PROBLEM WITH NEWSMEN YESTERDAY AS MARSHALL FINISHED A FULL WEEK OF TESTIMONY WITH ANOTHER DAY ON THE STAND TO COME. HE OUTLINED MAJOR ISSUES HE SAID HAD BEEN BROUGHT INTO FOCUS--BUT SUGGESTED NO CONCLUSIONS--AND SAID:
"OUR COMMITTEES WILL HAVE GREAT DIFFICULTY IN REACHING DECISIONS OR AGREEMENTS ON SUCH THINGS AS METHODS OF CONDUCTING THE WAR.
"WE LACK THE MILITARY BACKGROUND REQUIRED FOR ANSWERS BUT SOME OF THE MEMBERS PROBABLY WILL HAVE THEM."
THE BEST RUSSELL WOULD DO BY WAY OF A PROGRESS REPORT, ON THE BASIS OF MACARTHUR'S PRESENTATION OF HIS OWN CASE AND MARSHALL'S LEAD-OFF OUTLINE FOR THE ADMINISTRATION, WAS A LIST OF QUESTIONS THAT HAVE EMERGED.
HE MENTIONED THESE AS MAJOR ONES: (1) THE "METHODS FOR WAGING THE WAR IN KOREA," (2) THE WISDOM OF FIRING MACARTHUR AND "THE NECESSITY AND THE METHOD USED" FOR THAT STEP, (39 WHETHER EXTENSION OF THE KOREAN WAR WOULD BRING RUSSIA INTO IT, (4) THE STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE OF FORMOSA, ON WHICH MACARTHUR LAYS MORE STRESS THAN THE ADMINISTRATION THOUGH MARSHALL SAYS THERE NEVER WAS ANY IDEA OF LETTING THE COMMUNISTS HAVE IT, AND (5) THE EFFECT OF THE MACARTHUR OUSTER ON THE JAPANESE PEOPLE AND ON A PEACE TREATY FOR JAPAN.
RUSSELL SAID HE HOPED TO WIND UP WITH MARSHALL--LIKE MACARTHUR A FIVE-STAR GENERAL--ABOUT NOON MONDAY.
HE TOLD A REPORTER HE WAS TRYING TO SPEED UP QUESTIONING "BUT WE WANT TO GET ALL THE FACTS AND IF LENGTHY EXAMINATION IS REQUIRED, WE WILL HAVE IT."
AND CHAIRMAN CONNALLY (D-TEX) OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE SAID THE CLOSED-DOOR HEARING--WITH TESTIMONY RUSHED TO NEWSMEN AFTER MILITARY SECRETS HAVE BEEN DELETED--"WILL RUN FOR A LONG, LONG TIME I'M AFRAID."
RUSSELL SAID NO ONE NOW KNOWS HOW MANY WITNESSES MUST BE HEARD OR EXACTLY WHO THEY ARE.

IF QUESTIONING OF SECRETARY MARSHALL IS CONCLUDED TOMORROW, RUSSELL SAID THE NEXT WITNESS WILL BE EITHER SECRETARY OF THE ARMY PACE OR GENERAL OMAR BRADLEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.

A28WX
PACE WAS VISITING MACARTHUR'S COMMAND AT TIME OF THE PRESIDENTIAL DECISION TO OUST THE KOREAN WAR COMMANDER. PACE WAS TO HAVE DELIVERED THE MESSAGE--WHICH HE DID NOT KNOW ABOUT--IN PERSON BUT A BREAADOWN IN COMMUNICATIONS AND FEAR OF A POSSIBLE LEAK CAUSED AN EARLY MORNING WHITE HOUSE ANNOUNCEMENT HERE, 20 HOURS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE.
OTHERS WHO WILL FOLLOW PACE AND BRADLEY INCLUDE GEN. J.LAWTON COLLINS ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF, ADMIRAL FORREST SHERMAN, NAVY CHIEF OF OPERATIONS, AND GEN. HOYT VANDENBERG, AIR FORCE HEAD.
THEY MAKE UP THE JOINT CHIEFS GROUP OVER WHICH BRADLY PRESIDES. BOTH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND MARSHALL HAVE SAID THEY UNANIMOUSLY APPROVED THE MACARTHUR OUSTER.

MAY 14

BESIDES QUESTIONS ABOUT THAT, THE SERVICE COMMANDERS FACE SCORES OF QUERIES WHICH MARSHALL HAS TOLD SENATORS COULD BEST BE ANSWERED "BY THE JOINT CHIEFS."
PROBABLY NEXT AFTER THEM ON THE FIRING LINE WILL BE SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON. HE IS EXPECTED TO FACE THE SHARPEST GRILLING OF THE WHOLE INQUIRY.
MANY REPUBLICANS AND EVEN SOME DEMOCRATS HAVE DEMANDED ACHESON'S REMOVAL AS SECRETARY OF STATE AND MARSHALL, WHO FORMERLY HELD THAT POST ALSO, HAS TURNED MANY QUERIES TOWARD ACHESON.
FOLLOWING HIM WILL BE A LONG LIST OF OFFICIALS, SUCH AS INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS, PACIFIC GROUND, AIR AND SEA COMMANDERS, AND PROBABLY SOME OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS AND ADVISERS WHO TURNED THUMBS DOWN ON MACARTHUR'S STRATEGY AND PUBLIC REMARKS.
MARSHALL HIT HARD IN HIS ESTIMONY SATURDAY AT MACARTHUR'S CONTENTIONS THAT ADMINISTRATION STRATEGY IN KOREA WOULD LEAD ONLY TO A STALEMATE AND THAT THERE WAS A LACK OF CLEAR POLICY.
"WE ARE MOVING TOWARD A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME OF THE KOREAN WAR," MARSHALL TOLD SENATOR LONG (D-LA) UNDER A SERIES OF QUESTIONS, ADDING THAT THE KOREAN AGGRESSORS ARE BEING DESTROYED "IN ONE SENSE, DAY BY DAY THROUGH TREMENDOUS CASUALTIES."
HE TOLD SENATOR SPARKMAN (D-ALA) THAT THE ADMINISTRATION POLICY "DOES NOT APPEAR AS APPEASEMENT TO ME."
WARNING AGAINST STEPS THAT HE SAID MIGHT LEAD RUSSIA TO JOIN IN THE KOREAN WAR OR TO HIT ELSEWHERE, MARSHALL SAID:
"I THINK THE DESIRE OF THE RUSSIANS IS TO HAVE US BLED WHITE IN KOREA."
HE SUGGESTED THAT RUSSIA WANTS AMERICA "MORE COMPLETELY ENGAGED THERE THAN WE CAN AFFORD TO BE IN VIEW OF X X X THE VULNERABILITY OF EUROPE."
MARSHALL TOLD SENATOR CAIN (R-WASH) THAT HE OPERATES ON THE ASSUMPTTION THAT RUSSIA "MAY STEP INTO THE AGGRESSION AT ANY MOMENET" IN WESTERN EUROPE.
AND IN THE SAME EXCHANGE HE NAMED THE SOVIET UNION AS THE "REAL OPPONENT" IN KOREA AS WELL AS OTHER THREATENED AREAS. IN THAT HE DISAGREED TO AN EXTENT WITH MACARTHUR WHO HAD PICTURED COMMUNISM ITSELF, WHEREVER IT APPEARS, AS THE OPPONENT.

SENATOR LYNDON JOHNSON (D-TEX) SAID THE BOILING CONTROVERSY HAD SIMMERED DOWN TO TWO BASIC ISSUES:
"1. THE METHOD EMPLOYED IN RELIEVING GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR FROM HIS COMMAND IN THE FAR EAST.
"2. WHICH COURSE--THAT HELD OUT BY GENERAL MACARTHUR OR THAT HELD

30.24- 22975

OUT BY GENERAL MARSHALL--IS BEST FOR OUR FIGHTING MEN IN KOREA AND THE SECURITY OF OUR NATION."

HE ADDED THAT THE NUB OF THE LATTER QUESTION IS "WHETHER GENERAL MACARTHUR'S PROGRAM TO BOMB MANCHURIAN BASES WOULD LAUNCH WORLD WAR III."

POLITICAL ECHOES OF THE MACARTHUR-TRUMAN CONTROVERSY SOUNDED IN WIDESPREAD PARTS OF THE NATION.

SENATORS MCCARTHY (R-WIS) AND NIXON (R-CALIF) FORECAST THE DEPARTURE OF SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON FROM HIS KEY POST.

MCCARTHY CONFIDENTLY PREDICTED THAT ACHESON "WOULD BE FIRED WITHIN THE NEXT THREE WEEKS."

"MACARTHUR'S RETURN HAS CALLED ATTENTION TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S SELLOUT TO COMMUNISM AND HAS AWAKENED THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SO THOROUGHLY THAT THE ADMINISTRATION CAN NO LONGER IGNORE DEMANDS THAT ACHESON BE REMOVED," MCCARTHY SAID AT MARSHFIELD, WIS.

NIXON IN A SPEECH AT AKRON, OHIO, SAID "EVEN THE STAUNCHEST AMINISTRATION SUPPORTERS IN AND OUT OF THE CONGRESS HAVE FINALLY COME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT SECRETARY ACHESON MUST GO. WHILE HIS RESIGNATION MAY NOT OCCUR IMMEDIATELY, THE MACARTHUR INCIDENT HAS MADE HIS REPLACEMENT VIRTUALLY INEVITABLE."

DEMOCRATS BLASTED BACK.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CHAIRMAN WILLIAM M.BOYLE, JR., SAID TESTIMONY BY SECRETARY MARSHALL" HAD A SOBERING EFFECT ON THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN INDULGING IN AN EMOTIONAL JAG IN CONNECTION WITH THE RETURN OF GENERAL MACARTHUR TO THIS COUNTRY."

HE SAID STATEMENTS BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND MARSHALL'S TESTIMONY "HAVE SERVED TO BLOW AWAY MUCH OF THE FOG CREATED BY THESE EMOTIONAL OUTBURSTS."

SENATOR KERR (D-OKLA), FIRST MAN TO DEMAND THE MACARTHUR OUSTER ON THE SENATE FLOOR, SAID SOME REPUBLICANS ARE TRYING TO CUT AWAY FROM MACARTHUR AND HIS KOREAN PROPOSALS. HE SAID HE SAW STRONG SIGNS OF SUCH A MOVE IN REPORTS ON THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETING IN TULSA, OKLA.

MACARTHUR INTERPRETIVE

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-EVIDENCE IS MOUNTING HERE THAT CHINA'S COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT IS RUNNING INTO TROUBLE BOTH WITH RUSSIA AND WITH THE CHINESE PEOPLE AS WELL.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS DEEPLY CONCERNED ABOUT WHEN AND HOW THE KOREAN WAR MAY BE ENDED, APPEAR DIVIDED IN THEIR ESTIMATES AS TO WHAT THE EVENTUAL EFFECT ON THE KOREAN SITUATION MAY BE.

ONE BODY OF OPINION IS THAT TROUBLE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND CHINA--THE POSSIBILITIES OF WHICH SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON HAS BEEN TALKING ABOUT FOR MORE THAN A YEAR--COULD LEAD TO A DECISION ON THE PART OF THE MEN AT PEIPING TO CUT THEIR LOSSES BY ENTERING INTO NEGOTIATIONS FOR A KOREAN PEACE. IT WOULD NOT SURPRISE SOME OF HIS ASSOCIATES IF ACHESON DEVELOPED THAT POSSIBILITY WHEN HE APPEARS AT THE MACARTHUR HEARING.

A SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT EMPHASIS ON THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE SITUATION WAS PLACED BY SECRETARY OF DEFENSE MARSHALL LAST WEEK WHEN HE WARNED THAT ANY RED CHINESE FEELING THAT THE RUSSIANS HAVE LET THEM DOWN WOULD INJECT AN ADDITIONAL ELEMENT OF DANGER INTO THE KOREAN SITUATION. THIS REASONING IS THAT THE RUSSIANS MIGHT CONSIDER IT NECESSARY TO INCREASE SUBSTANTIALLY THE ASSISTANCE THEY HAVE BEEN GIVING THE COMMUNIST FORCES IN KOREA.

THE DIFFERENCE IN THE TWO LINES OF SPECULATION SEEMS TO STEM PRIMARILY FROM THE DIFFERENCE IN POSSIBLE RED CHINESE AND SOVIET REACTIONS.

INFORMATION REACHING GOVERNMENT QUARTERS HERE FROM INSIDE RED CHINA IS THAT DISSATISFACTION AND UNREST ARE BEGINNING TO BUILD UP AGAINST THE CHINESE REGIME. THIS IS ATTRIBUTED PARTLY TO CONTINUING HEAVY CHINESE LOSSES IN KOREA AND PARTLY TO THE WIDESPREAD PURGES WHICH THE COMMUNISTS HAVE BEEN CARRYING OUT AMONG THE PEOPLE THEY RULE.

RESPONSIBLE OFFICIALS REGARD ALL INFORMATION FROM BEHIND THE BAMBOO CURTAIN WITH SKEPTICISM. YET THE CURRENT CROP OF RUMORS AND REPORTS IS CONSIDERED SIGNIFICANT BECAUSE IT LOGICALLY FITS THE SITUATION AND ALSO BECAUSE IT MAY INDICATE A HOME FRONT PRESSURE ON THE COMMUNIST REGIME TO MODIFY ITS COURSE IN KOREA.

THAT THE COMMUNIST BATTLE LOSSES HAVE BEEN VERY HEAVY IS SHOWN BY TESTIMONY IN THE MACARTHUR HEARINGS. GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR TESTIFIED WEEK BEFORE LAST THAT THE CHINESE AND THE KOREAN REDS HAD LOST ABOUT 750,000 MEN. SECRETARY MARSHALL TESTIFIED THAT MANY OF CHINA'S BEST DIVISIONS HAD BEEN WRECKED IN THE MOST RECENT RED OFFENSIVE.

MAY 14 1951

MEANWHILE FROM TOKYO ON WEDNESDAY CAME REPORTS FROM HIGH RANKING UNITED STATES MARINE OFFICERS TO THE EFFECT THAT CHINESE REDS HAD EXPECTED TO SUPPORT THEIR APRIL OFFENSIVE WITH 3,000 PLANES AND HUNDREDS OF TANKS FROM RUSSIA BUT THAT THE PROMISED EQUIPMENT NEVER SHOWED UP. THIS WAS PUT FORWARD AS ONE OF THE REASONS WHY THE REDS WERE UNABLE TO PRESS THEIR OFFENSIVE MORE SUCCESSFULLY.

WHILE MARSHALL DID NOT GO INTO ANY SUCH INFORMATION BEFORE THE MACARTHUR COMMITTEE, HE DID DISCUSS THE SITUATION WITH RESPECT TO THINESE-RUSSIAN RELATIONS AND TOOK THE LINE THAT THE RUSSIANS SUFFER "A VERY GREAT LOSS OF SOMETHING THEY NOW POSSESS" IF THE CLOSE COMMUNITY OF INTERESTS AND COOPERATION BETWEEN THEM AND THE CHINESE SHOULD BE DESTROYED.

"HERE IS A SITUATION," MARSHALL SAID, "WHERE THE CHINESE CAN BE BROUGHT TO FEEL, BY CONTINUED HIGHLY DESTRUCTIVE LOSSES, THAT THE SOVIETS HAVE LET THEM DOWN. THEREFORE, THE SITUATION IS MORE DANGEROUS."

AT ANOTHER POINT MARSHALL TESTIFIED THAT THE BULK OF CHINESE WAR MATERIAL WAS COMING FROM RUSSIA.

MACARTHUR EARLIER HAD EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT "THE SUPPLIES THAT ARE BEING FURNISHED BY THE SOVIET ARE DIMINISHING."

"I DO NOT BELIEVE," MACARTHUR SAID, "THE SOVIET IS SUPPLYING THE CHINESE COMMUNIST TROOPS IN THE SAME WAY THAT THEY SUPPLIED THE ORIGINAL NORTH KOREAN ARMY. I BELIEVE THAT THESE FORCES FROM CHINA NOW ARE MUCH MORE ON THEIR OWN RESOURCES THAN THE NORTH KOREAN FORCES THAT ORIGINALLY ATTACKED."

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S FORMER DEPUTY IN JAPAN SAID TONIGHT THAT "BY AND LARGE" THIS COUNTRY IS ON THE RIGHT ROAD, IN KOREA AND ELSEWHERE, TO STOPPING WORLD WAR III.

LT.GEN.ROBERT L.EICHELBERGER, WHO COMMANDED THE EIGHTH ARMY UNDER MACARTHUR, DIFFERED WITH HIS FORMER CHIEF IN FORECASTING SUCCESS FOR U.S. ARMS IN KOREA AND IN OPPOSING AIR BOMBARDMENT OF MANCHURIAN BASES "SO LONG AS THE SOVIETS DO NOT CHANGE THE PICTURE."

EICHELBERGER FIRMLY AGREED, HOWEVER, WITH MACARTHUR'S STATEMENT THAT WESTERN EUROPE'S DEFENSE SHOULD BE GIVEN STRONG AMERICAN SUPPORT.

"NEVER, EVEN ON THE DAY OF THE LANDING IN NORMANDY, HAS SO MUCH OF THE FUTURE OF THE WORLD BEEN WRAPPED UP IN THE SUCCESS OF THE MISSION OF ONE MAN AS IT IS TODAY IN GEN. (DWIGHT D.) EISENHOWER'S WORK OF CREATING A REAL DEFENSE IN EUROPE," THE GENERAL SAID.

EICHELBERGER'S REMARKS WERE PREPARED FOR A BROADCAST (8:30 P.M., EST) SPONSORED BY THE COMMITTEE OF THE PRESENT DANGER, AN ORGANIZATION OF EDUCATORS AND OTHERS SEEKING TO AROUSE THE PUBLIC IN THE INTEREST OF NATIONAL DEFENSE.

THE GENERAL SAID THAT WHILE AMERICAN LOSSES IN KOREA WERE "TREMENDOUS" UNTIL LAST JANUARY, THE SITUATION HAS GREATLY IMPROVED AND AMERICAN FIREPOWER NOW IS CAUSING "DEVASTATING" CASUALTIES AMONG THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

"NO TROOPS CAN STAND UP INDEFINITELY AGAINST SUCH LOSSES," EICHELBERGER SAID.

(200) FOREIGN POLICY

WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-W.AVERELL HARRIMAN, SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN, SAID TODAY THAT THE KOREAN WAR MAY END "NEXT WEEK, THE WEEK AFTER, IN A MONTH OR IN TWO MONTHS."

HARRIMAN DECLINED TO MAKE ANY FLAT PREDICTION BUT SAID UNITED NATIONS FIGHTING FORCES ARE PROVING TO THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS THAT THEY WILL HAVE TO CALL OFF THEIR AGGRESSION.

SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) DECLARED, HOWEVER, THAT IT MAY BE A LONG TIME BEFORE THE WAR CAN BE ENDED IF AMERICAN TROOPS HAVE TO GO ON FIGHTING "WITH AT LEAST ONE HAND TIED BEHIND THEIR BACKS."

HE SAID GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR, IN HIS CALL FOR BROADER ACTION AGAINST THE CHINESE REDS, HAS PRESENTED "THE ONLY POSSIBLE PROGRAM" FOR WINNING THE WAR.

BRIDGES AND HARRIMAN DEBATED FOREIGN POLICY ON THE NBC TELEVISION PROGRAM, "AMERICAN FORUM OF THE AIR."

HARRIMAN, FORMER AMBASSADOR TO MOSCOW AND LONDON, SAID THE ADMINISTRATION HAS SOUGHT CONSISTENTLY SINCE THE END OF WORLD WAR II TO BUILD UP THE UNITY OF THE FREE WORLD. HE PREDICTED THAT WORLD WAR III CAN BE AVOIDED IF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE DO NOT YIELD TO "IMPATIENCE AND RECKLESS ACTS."

BRIDGES CONTENDED THAT U.S. POLICY HAS BEEN "TOUGH IN SOME PLACES, WEAK AND VACILLATING IN OTHERS." DEMANDING A STRONGER AND MORE CONSISTENT STAND, HE SAID THE ADMINISTRATION "BECAUSE OF ITS VACILLATION" MUST SHARE WITH THE KREMLIN THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE PRESENT DANGER

SENATOR SPARKMAN (D-ALA) SAID IN A RADIO BROADCAST TODAY (BLAIR MOODY'S MEET YOUR CONGRESS) HE "BELIEVED STRONGLY THAT THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS ARE UNDER THE DIRECT CONTROL OF MOSCOW."

ON THE OTHER HAND, SPARKMAN, A MEMBER OF THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS, SAID GEN.MACARTHUR IN HIS SPEECH BEFORE CONGRESS AND TESTIMONY BEFORE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES HAD "STRESSED THAT COMMUNIST CHINA ACTED AS AN INDEPENDENT NATION" IN ENTERING THE KOREAN CONFLICT."

THEY ENDORSED AN ANALYSIS DISTRIBUTED BY THE NATIONAL COUNCIL AGAINST CONSCRIPTION, A PRIVATE ORGANIZATION WITH HEADQUARTERS IN WASHINGTON. THE COUNCIL HAS BEEN ESPECIALLY ACTIVE IN COMBATTING PROPOSALS FOR UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING.

"THE TREND OF EVENTS SINCE AMERICA ADOPTED THE 'PEACE THROUGH STRENGTH' APPROACH CLEARLY REVEALS THAT WE ARE CLOSER TO WORLD WAR THAN WE ARE TO WORLD PEACE," THE COUNCIL'S REPORT SAID. IT CONDEMNED "BOTH RUSSIAN AND AMERICAN PARTICIPATION IN THE BIGGEST ARMS RACE IN HISTORY."

"THE FIRST AND MOST IMPORTANT CHANGE REQUIRED IN AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY IS A CHANGE OF ATTITUDE; A RECOGNITION OF OUR OWN TREMENDOUS GUILT AND A DESIRE TO REPENT. A REPENTANT AMERICA WHOSE DEMOCRACY WAS NO LONGER CONFUSED WITH MAINTAINING IMPERIALISM OR PERPETUATING POVERTY AMONG POTENTIAL ENEMIES OR PREPARING FOR A GLOBAL WAR COULD TAKE THE INITIATIVE AWAY FROM A RUSSIA WHOSE SOLE VIRTUE TO MANY PEOPLE IS HER WILLINGNESS TO HELP THEM GET RID OF THEIR PRESENT RULERS."

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-AMERICA'S PROPAGANDA ABROAD IS FALLING SHORT FOR LACK OF A "GENERAL IDEA OF WIDE APPEAL TO MANKIND," A FOREIGN POLICY ASSOCIATION EXPERT SAID TODAY.

IT IS NOT ENOUGH, SAID SAUL K.PADOVER, DEAN OF THE SCHOOL OF POLITICS, NEW SCHOOL FOR SOCIAL RESEARCH, FOR AMERICA'S SPOKESMEN TO PROCLAIM THAT THIS COUNTRY IS "FOR DEMOCRACY."

IT TAKES SOMETHING MORE TANGIBLE AND UNDERSTANDABLE HE SAID, TO COUNTER THE "STIRRING VISION OF THE FUTURE" WHICH COMMUNISM, "FOR ALL ITS BRUTALITIES AND TOTAL CONTEMPT FOR THE ORDINARY DECENCIES," HAS BEEN ABLE TO RAISE IN THE MINDS OF MEN.

PADOVER'S VIEWS WERE SET FORTH IN A PAMPHLET PUBLISHED BY THE FOREIGN POLICY ASSOCIATION, WHICH DESCRIBES ITSELF AS A NON-PROFIT, NON-POLITICAL GROUP DEVOTED TO STUDIES IN THE INTERNATIONAL FIELD.

HE TOOK THE STAND THAT THE CONTEST WITH THE SOVIET PROPAGANDA MACHINE MAY PROVE MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE TEST OF ARMS NOW GOING ON IN

30.24- 22977

KOREA, AND DECLARED THAT THE PRESSING NEED FOR "A DRAMATIC FORMULATION OF AN OVER-ALL IDEAL."

THERE HAVE BEEN A FEW INSTANCES OF POSITIVE POLICY STATEMENTS FOR THE VOICE OF AMERICA AND OTHER OUTLETS TO WORK ON, PADOVER SAID, BUT IN GENERAL "AMERICAN DECLARATIONS HAVE BEEN CURIOUSLY DEFENSIVE AND VACILLATING, MOSTLY MARKED BY NEGATIVES." HE WENT ON:

"AMERICAN LEADERS HAVE DECLARED THEMSELVES AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION, AGAINST COMMUNISM, AGAINST DICTATORSHIP. BUT, POTENTIAL FRIENDS ABROAD ASK, WHAT ARE AMERICANS FOR? THE USUAL REPLY IS" FOR DEMOCRACY.

"BUT DEMOCRACY HAS DIFFERENT MEANINGS TO DIFFERENT PEOPLE, AND NO MEANING TO OTHERS. TO AN AFRICAN, AMERICAN DEMOCRACY MAY MEAN DISCRIMINATION AGAINST NEGROES. TO A FRENCH WORKER IT MAY SIGNIFY THE FREEDOM TO ACCUMULATE A FORTUNE AT THE EXPENSE OF OTHERS. X X X TO PREACH THE DESIRABILITY OF FREEDOM TO A STARVING COOLIE IS TO SAY ALMOST EXACTLY NOTHING TO HIM."

PADOVER URGED STAFFING AMERICA'S INFORMATION AGENCIES WITH THE FOREMOST EXPERTS IN SUCH FIELDS AS POLITICAL AND SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY AND CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. HE SUGGESTED ALSO THAT THE VOICE OF AMERICA MIGHT BE PROFITABLY TAKEN OUT OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT WHERE HE SAID IT IS MORE OR LESS SECONDARY TO OTHER VITAL ACTIVITIES.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-REP.CRUMPACKER (R-IND) SAID TODAY A NEW "VOICE OF AMERICA" IS NEEDED--ONE THAT WILL "SPREAD THE TRUTH ABOUT THIS COUNTRY."

HE SAID IN A STATEMENT THAT A RECENT NEWS STORY FROM INDIA GAVE "SHOCKING PROOF" OF THE "INABILITY" OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S "VOICE" AND INFORMATION SERVICE "TO DO ITS JOB."

"THE NEWS REPORT SAID THE UNITED STATES HAD SUFFERED A MAJOR PROPAGANDA SETBACK IN INDIA AS A RESULT OF RUSSIA'S SHIPMENT OF 50,000 TONS OF WHEAT TO INDIA," CRUMPACKER SAID.

"THE STORY THEN SAID, "HE CONTINUED, "THAT IN INDIA 'THE RUSSIANS MOVE COMPLETELY OBSCURED THE FACT THAT THE U.S. IN THE PAST MONTHS HAS BEEN EXPEDITING GRAIN SHIPMENTS TO INDIA AT THE RATE OF MORE THAN 100,000 TONS A MONTH."

CRUMPACKER SAID THE STORY CONCLUDED THAT U.S. INFORMATION AND OTHER PROPAGANDA MEANS HAD "FAILED TO GET ACROSS TO THE AVERAGE INDIAN THAT WHAT THE SOVIETS ARE DOING ON A SMALL SCALE THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN DOING FOR A LONG TIME ON A LARGER SCALE."

"THE UNITED STATES BADLY NEEDS A NEW 'VOICE'--A SMART, AGGRESSIVE INFORMATION SERVICE THAT WILL TAKE THE INITIATIVE IN SPREADING THE TRUTH ABOUT THIS COUNTRY," HE SAID. "POURING MORE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS INTO THE PRESENT OUTFIT WILL CURE NOTHING.

((ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-THE FORTHCOMING SELECTIVE SERVICE APTITUDE TEST MAY TURN OUT UNFORTUNATELY FOR SOME COLLEGE STUDENTS WHO ARE GETTING BY ALL RIGHT IN THE CLASSROOM.

COL. LEWIS F.KOSCH, CHIEF OF THE MANPOWER DIVISION OF SELECTIVE SERVICE, SAID SO TODAY.

IN DOING SO, HE APPARENTLY CONTRADICTED HENRY CHAUNCEY, PRESIDENT OF THE PRINCETON, N.J., ORGANIZATION WHICH WILL ADMINISTER THE TEEST.

CHAUNCEY SAID MANY LEADING EDUCATORS HAVE URGED COLLEGE STUDENTS TO TAKE THE TEST, EVEN IF THEY HAVE THE BEST OS SCHOLASTIC RECORDS, ON THE GROUND THAT "THERE'S EVERYTHING TO GAIN AND NOTHING TO LOSE."

BOTH KOSCH AND CHAUNCEY WERE HEARD ON A RADIO (LIBERTY NETWORK) PROGRAM, "YOUTH AND THE DRAFT," ALONG WITH DR.ARTHUR S.ADAMS, PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN COUNCIL ON EDUCATION, AND JOHN G.ADAMS, ASSISTANT GENERAL COUNSEL OF THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT.

DR.ADAMS SAID THE COUNCIL IS GETTING MANY QUERIES FROM COLLEGE STUDENTS AS TO WHETHER THE TEST RESULTS "MIGHT BE USED AGAINST THEM."

CHAUNCEY SAID THE RESULTS WOULD NOT BE USED AGAINST THEM, BUT THEN ASKED KOSCH WHHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF A STUDENT IN THE UPPER HALF OF HIS CLASS MADE A POOR SCORE ON THE TEST.

"THE LOCAL BOARD IS UNDER AN OBLIGATION TO CONSIDER ALL THE INFORMATION BEFORE IT," KOSCH REPLIED.

"BUT I BELIEVE OUR SYSTEM OF APPEALS CAN TAKE CARE OF ANY INJUSTICES THAT MIGHT OCCUR."

DR.ADAMS SAID SOME STUDENTS HAVE COMPLAINED THAT IF THEIR TEST PAPERS GO ONLY TO THE DRAFT BOARD THEY WON'T BE ABLE TO DETERMINE WHETHER THEY HAVE THE BASIS FOR AN APPEAL.

KOSCH SAID ANY DRAFT REGISTRANT HAS ACCESS TO HIS FILE AT THE LOCAL BOARD, AND CAN FIND OUT AT ANY TIME WHAT HIS SCORE IS.

JOHN ADAMS ASKED ABOUT THE COLLEGE STUDENT WHO SPENDS HIS SPARE TIME AT A COUNTRY CLUB AND HAS LOW GRADES, BUT WHO BREEZES THROUGH THE TEST WITH A GOOD SCORE.

KOSCH CONCEDED THAT IF THERE WERE NO OTHER EVIDENCE IN THE MAN'S FILE TO CONTRADICT THE HIGH TEST SCORE HE MIGHT GET A DEFERMENT WHICH HE DID NOT MERIT.

THE TEST WILL BE GIVEN MAY 26, JUNE 16, JUNE 30 AND JULY 12, AT 1,200 CENTERS--A DIFFERENT SET OF QUESTIONS EACH TIME, BUT ALL WITH THE SAME DEGREE OF DIFFICULTY, CHAUNCEY SAID.

THE DEADLINE FOR CANDIDATES TO GET THEIR APPLICATION CARD FROM THEIR DRAFT BOARD AND MAIL IT TO PRINCETON IS NEXT TUESDAY.

DRAFT BOARDS MAY USE EITHER THE TEST SCORE OR THE STUDENT'S SCHOOL RECORD IN DECIDING WHETHER OR NOT TO DEFER HIS INDUCTION.

DULLES

WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID TONIGHT THEY EXPECT JOHN FOSTER DULLES TO LEAVE FOR LONDON IN ABOUT TEN DAYS FOR TALKS DESIGNED TO SMOOTH OUT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN OVER A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY.

THE TALKS WILL START AMID SIGNS THAT BRITISH VIEWS ON THE FUTURE OF FORMOSA, AND ON RED CHINA'S ROLE IN THE JAPANESE TREATY, ARE SHIFTING MORE IN LINE WITH U.S. POLICY.

OFFICIALS HAD SAID PREVIOUSLY THAT DULLES PROBABLY WOULD MAKE SUCH A TRIP BUT THERE HAD BEEN NO INDICATION OF THE DATE. A DEFINITE ANNOUNCEMENT NOW IS EXECTED SOON.

DULLES, REPUBLICAN ADVISER TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT, IS PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPECIAL ENVOY FOR THE JAPANESE TREATY.

BRITAIN AT ONE TIME PROPOSED THAT THE TREATY SHOULD GIVE FORMOSA TO CHINA AND THAT CHINA SHOULD BE INVITED TO JOIN THE TREATY TALKS. IN BOTH PROPOSALS, IT WAS UNDERSTOOD HERE, BRITAIN MEANT COMMUNIST CHINA. THESE SUGGESTIONS WERE OPPOSED PUBLICLY BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND WERE ATTACKED VIGOROUSLY BY SOME CONGRESSMEN.

A STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL SAID BRITAIN NOW HAS CLARIFIED ITS VIEW AND THE CHANCES FOR AGREEMENT ARE CONSIDERABLY IMPROVED. THE BRITISH POLICY IS SAID TO OPPOSE ANY HANDING OF FORMOSA TO RED CHINA WHILE THE COMMUNISTS ARE ACTING AS AN AGGRESSOR IN KOREA OR ELSEWHERE.

ALSO, THE BRITISH ARE SAID TO FEEL A FINAL DECISION ON FORMOSA IS NOT ESSENTIAL TO THE SIGNING OF A JAPANESE TREATY--AND THAT THE UNITED NATIONS MAY DECIDE THE ULTIMATE FATE OF THE ISLAND JUST OFF CHINA'S COAST NOW HELD BY NATIONALIST CHINESE TROOPS UNDER CHIANG KAI SHEK.

THESE LATTER POINTS VIRTUALLY CONFORM WITH THE ANNOUNCED AMERICAN POLICY LOOKING TOWARD A U.N. DECISION ON FORMOSA AT THE APPROPRIATE TIME.

THE CAIRO CONFERENCE CALLED FOR FORMOSA TO BE RETURNED TO CHINA--BUT AT THAT TIME COMMUNISTS HAD NOT SEIZED CONTROL OF CHINA.

THE LONDON TALKS MAY SPEED ACTION ON A TREATY. DULLES ALREADY HAS BEEN DRAFTING A TENTATIVE DOCUMENT FOR RESTORING JAPANESE SOVEREIGNTY AND ENDING THE ALLIED OCCUPATION. EARLIER HE TOURED THE PACIFIC FOR TALKS ON THE TREATY WITH AUSTRALIA, JAPANESE OFFICIALS, NEW ZEALAND, THE PHILIPPINES, AND OTHERS.

BEEF PRICES

BY WILLIAM O.VARN

WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-STEAKS, ROASTS AND OTHER BEEF CUTS GO ON SALE AT DOLLARS AND CENTS CEILING PRICES IN ABOUT 300,000 RETAIL STORES ACROSS THE COUNTRY TOMORROW. BUT THIS DOESN'T MEAN THE HOUSEWIFE WILL GET LOWER BEEF PRICES RIGHT AWAY.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS SAID TODAY LITTLE IMMEDIATE CHANGE IS EXPECTED IN PRICE LEVELS ACROSS THE COUNTER.

THEY TOLD A REPORTER THE PRINCIPAL RESULTS WILL BE: (1) MORE UNIFORM PRICES FOR VARIOUS RETAIL CUTS IN STORES IN THE VARIOUS PRICING ZONES ACROSS THE COUNTRY; AND (2) ASSURANCE TO THE HOUSEWIFE THAT SHE WILL GET EXACTLY THE CUT OF BEEF SHE WANTS FOR HER MONEY.

CEILING PRICES ON BEEF AT WHOLESALE WERE EFFECTIVE LAST WEDNESDAY. BOTH WHOLESALE AND RETAIL PRICES HAVE BEEN FROZEN UNDER THE GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION ISSUED IN JANUARY. SOME DEALERS WERE FROZEN WITH PRICES HIGHER THAN OTHERS. THE DOLLARS AND CENTS CEILINGS THUS WILL MEAN SLIGHT CUT BACKS FOR SOME AND SMALL INCREASES FOR OTHERS.

ON THAT, OFFICE OF PRICE STABILIZATION (OPS) OFFICIALS SAID THEY EXPECTED THE CHANGES WOULD AVERAGE OUT WITH LITTLE NET DIFFERENCE.

ALTHOUGH THE RETAIL CEILINGS WILL BE IN EFFECT MONDAY, DEALERS STILL HAVE UNTIL JUNE 4 TO POST THE PRICES IN THEIR STORES. THE DOLLARS AND CENTS CEILINGS ON KOSHER BEEF WON'T BE EFFECTIVE, HOWEVER, UNTIL MAY 21. OPS GRANTED A WEEK'S EXTENSION TO PERMIT RECALCULATION OF KOSHER BEEF PRICES.

ANY REAL BENEFIT TO CONSUMERS FROM THE BEEF PRICE ORDER ISSUED BY OPS APRIL 28 IS NOT DUE BEFORE AUG. 1. A ROLLBACK OF AROUND FOUR TO FIVE CENTS A POUND IS DUE THEN, WITH ANOTHER OF THE SAME AMOUNT SCHEDULED FOR OCT. 1. THESE CUTBACKS ARE PLANNED AT ALL LEVELS IN THE BEEF INDUSTRY.

BUT UNLESS CONGRESS DECIDES TO EXTEND THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT BEYOND JUNE 30, AND LEAVE OPS WITH THE RIGHT TO CONTROL MEAT PRICES, THE CUTS MAY NEVER TAKE EFFECT. CONGRESS ALREADY IS WRESTLING WITH THE NEW LEGISLATION AND IS UNDER PRESSURE TO JUNK MEAT CONTROLS.

THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION AND PRICE DIRECTOR MICHAEL V.DISALLE ON THE OTHER HAND ARE URGING THE LAWMAKERS TO KEEP CONTROLS ON MEAT AND TIGHTEN THE LAW.

MAY 14 1951

A5WX

THE BIG ISSUE IS CONTROL OF PRICES ON LIVE ANIMALS. LIVESTOCK MEN, FEEDERS WHO FATTEN THE ANIMALS FOR SLAUGHTER AND THE SLAUGHTERERS DIDN'T LIKE IT WHEN DISALLE ORDERED ROLLBACKS IN THE AMOUNTS SLAUGHTERERS MAY PAY FOR LIVESTOCK.

A10 PERCENT REDUCTION IS DUE IN THE ACCOUNTING PERIOD STARTING MAY 20. AN ACCOUNTING PERIOD FOR A SLAUGHTERER USUALLY RUNS A CALENDAR MONTH OR A FIVE-WEEK PERIOD.

THE LIVESTOCK MEN CONTEND THE ROLLBACKS WILL CAUSE PRODUCERS TO RUSH ANIMALS TO MARKET TO BENEFIT BY HIGHER PRICES. THEY SAY THIS IN TURN WILI BRING FUTURE MEAT SHORTAGES AND MIGHT NECESSITATE RATIONING. THEY ALSO PREDICT THE BEEF GRADING PROVISIONS OF THE PRICE ORDERS, TOGETHER WITH THE ROLLBACKS WILL DRIVE MEAT INTO THE BLACK MARKET. THEY SAY THE ORDERS CAN'T BE ENFORCED. DISALLE AND OTHER OPS OFFICIALS DENY THIS. THEY SAY THE PRICE ROLLBACKS ON LIVE ANIMALS, WITH RESULTANT CUTBACKS THIS SUMMER AND FALL IN RETAIL PRICES, ARE FAIR. THEY CLAIM LIVESOTKCK MEN AND FEEDERS STILL WILL BE ABLE TO SELL THE ANIMALS AT PRICES HIGH ENOUGH TO MAKE A PROFIT. THEY SAY CATTLE HAVE BEEN SELLING FOR MONTHS AT PRICES FAR ABOVE WHAT IS CONSIDERED BY LAW TO BE A FAIR RETURN TO THE PRODUCER.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN BACKED UP DISALLE LAST THURSDAY WHEN HE TOLD HIS NEWS CONFERENCE HE PERSONALLY APPROVED THE BEEF PRICE ORDERS BEFORE THEY WERE ISSUED. AND HE SAID, THE ORDERS CAN BE ENFORCED.

WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-REP. JENKINS (R-OHIO) SAID TODAY THE ADMINISTRATION PLAN FOR CONTROLLING FOOD PRICES IS "A FAKE" AND WILL RESULT IN "LESS FOOD ON THE TABLE" AND "NO RETAIL PRICE REDUCTIONS."

"IN THE LONG RUN," JENKINS SAID IN A STATEMENT COMMENTING ON RECENT HEARINGS TO EXTEND THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT, "SHORTAGES AND BLACK MARKETS WILL BE INEVITABLE."

HE SAID ONE OF THE KEY AMENDMENTS SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN IS TO FREEZE THE PARITY PRICE ON EACH COMMODITY AT THE BEGINNING OF EACH MARKETING YEAR OR SEASON.

"THIS IS A CONFESSION," JENKINS SAID, "THAT THE ADMINISTRATION HAS NOT THE SLIGHTEST INTENTION OF STABILIZING THE COST OF LIVING.

"IF THE ADMINISTRATION HAD ANY REAL PLAN TO CONTROL THE GENERAL PRICE LEVEL, THERE WOULD BE NO REASON TO FREEZE PARITY FOR A YEAR AT A TIME BECAUSE PARITY WOULD BE AUTOMATICALLY STABILIZED. WHEN FARMERS' COSTS ARE LEVELLED OFF, PARITY ALSO LEVELS OFF--INASMUCH AS PARITY IS BASED ON THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE PRICE FARMERS RECEIVE FOR THEIR PRODUCTS AND THE PRICE THEY PAY FOR THEIR EVERYDAY NECESSITIES."

JENKINS SAID MR.TRUMAN'S REQUEST FOR AUTHORITY TO PAY SUBSIDIES TO FOOD PRODUCERS AND PROCESSORS, IF GRANTED, WOULD BE "A FRAUD ON CONSUMERS."

"INSTEAD OF PAYING THEIR ENTIRE FOOD BILL AT THE GROCER," JENKINS SAID, "CONSUMERS WOULD BE PAYING A LARGE PART OF IT TO THE FEDERAL TAX COLLATOR AS WELL, AND THE BILL WOULD INCLUDE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS TO PAY THE GOVERNMENT BEAUROCRATS HANDLING THE SUBSIDY PAYMENTS."

HE SAID FARMERS WANT NO PART OF A SUBSIDY HANDOUT PLAN.

"FARMERS," JENKINS SAID, "WANT TO STAND ON THEIR OWN FEET, RECEIVING FAIR PRICES IN THE MARKET RATHER THAN CHECKS FROM THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT."

HE SAID THE "HYPOCRISY" OF THE ADMINISTRATION'S ATTITUDE TOWARD FOOD PRICES HAS "BEEN PROVED IN THE LAST FEW DAYS BY ITS SO-CALLED ROLLBACK OF BEEF PRICES."

"THE ADMINISTRATION HAS BALLYHOOED THIS ORDER AS A BOON TO CONSUMERS. ACTUALLY, IT IS NOTHING OF THE SORT," HE SAID, ADDING:

"THE ROLLBACK OF 10 PER CENT APPLIES ONLY TO THE PRODUCERS OF BEEF. THE ONLY PEOPLE BENEFITING WILL BE THE PACKERS AND THE DISTRIBUTORS --THE MIDDLEMEN.

"RETAIL PRICES, DESPITE ALL THE HOOPLA, WILL NOT COME DOWN A CENT."

(430) WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-SENATOR EDWIN C.JOHNSON (D-COLO) HAS CALLED ON PRICE STABILIZATION CHIEF MICHAEL V.DISALLE TO HEAD OFF A REPORTED PLAN BY MANUFACTURERS TO BOOST THE PRICE OF NEWSPRINT.

JOHNSON, CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE COMMERCE COMMITTEE, MADE PUBLIC TODAY A COPY OF A LETTER HE WROTE DISALLE LAST THURSDAY. IT SAID IN PART:

"ON WHAT I CONSIDER GOOD AUTHORITY, I LEARN THAT THE MANUFACTURERS OF NEWSPRINT PLAN TO ANNOUNCE ANOTHER PRICE INCREASE OF $9.00 PER TON. THIS IS AN INCREASE OF APPROXIMATELY 10 PER CENT OVER THE PRESENT PRICE OF $106 TO A PROPOSED PRICE OF $115 IN NEW YORK AND $123 PER TON IN THE MIDWEST.

"IN THE LAST FIVE YEARS THE PRICE OF NEWSPRINT HAS BEEN RAISED ABOUT $50 PER TON. IN 1950 THE MANUFACTURERS OF THIS COMMODITY SHOWED THE GREATEST PROFITS IN THEIR ENTIRE HISTORY. NOW IN THE FACE OF AN EFFORT TO STABILIZE PRICES, WE ARE FACED WITH APPROXIMATELY A 10 PER CENT INCREASE IN NEWSPRINT. X X X"

SUCH AN ADVANCE WOULD COST THE NATION'S NEWSPAPERS FROM $300,000,000 TO $400,000,000 ANNUALLY, JOHNSON SAID. THIS, HE SAID, PROBABLY WOULD FORCE SOME PAPERS OUT OF BUSINESS; RESULT IN CONSOLIDATION OF OTHERS, "THEREBY CREATING A MONOPOLY WHICH IS NOT HEALTHY FOR THE COMMUNITY," AND CAUSE THE REMAINDER TO CUT DOWN IN SIZE AND NEWS CONTENT.

DECLARING THAT "THE CORNERSTONE OF OUR FREEDOM RESTS WITH THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS," JOHNSON SAID:

"THESE THINGS ARE IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC AND SHOULD INVOKE THE ACTIVITY OF OUR STABILIZATION PROGRAM TO STOP THE NEW PRICE GOUGE WHICH I AM TOLD IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER."

30.24- 22979

IN A SEPARATE ACTION, THE OFFICE OF PRICE STABILIZATION (OPS) TODAY ANNOUNCED PRICE CEILINGS ON PULPWOOD PRODUCED IN NEW ENGLAND AND NORTHERN NEW YORK. PULPWOOD IS USED IN MAKING PLASTICS AS WELL AS IN MAKING PAPER PRODUCTS.

OPS SAID THE PULPWOOD CEILINGS, WHICH ARE EFFECTIVE MAY 16, ARE HIGHER THAN THEY WERE IN JUNE 1950 BUT ARE BELOW THE HIGHEST PRICES CHARGED FROM DECEMBER 19-JANUARY 25, THE LEVEL AT WHICH PRICES WERE FROZEN GENERALLY BY THE GOVERNMENT JAM. 26.

FO

FROZEN GENERALLY BY THE GOVERNMENT JAN.26.

FOR MAINE, THE CEILING PRICES ON PULPWOOD DELIVERED TO A MILL BY A TRUCK HAUL OF UP TO 20 MILES ARE (PER CORD OF 128 CUBIC FEET):

PEELED SPRUCE AND FIR $21.75, ROUGH SPRUCE AND FIR $17.25; PEELED HEMLOCK $19.75, ROUGH HEMLOCK $15.75; PEELED POPLAR $18.25, ROUGH POPLAR $14.75; PEELED NORTHERN HARDWOODS $21, ROUGH $16.75; PEELED PINE $18.75, ROUGH $15.25.

LOWER CEILINGS ARE FIXED FOR PULPWOOD F.O.B. CAR, LAKE OR STREAM OR AT THE ROADSIDE.

MAINE IS DESIGNATED ZONE 1. PRICES IN ZONE 2, INCLUDING NEW HAMPSHIRE AND PARTS OF VERMONT, ARE MUCH THE SAME, BUT RANGE UP TO $3.50 MORE A CORD FOR PEELED SPRUCE AND FIR AT LAKE OR STREAM. PRICES IN ZONE 3, CONNECTICUT AND PARTS OF VERMONT AND NEW YORK, RANGE UP TO $5.50 HIGHER THAN IN ZONE 1.

FOLO WASHINGTON NEWSPRINT

MONTREAL, MAY 13-(AP)-AN OFFICIAL OF CONSOLIDATED PAPER CORPORATION SAID TONIGHT HE KNEW OF NO PLAN BY CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS TO BOOST THE PRICE OF NEWSPRINT.

HE WAS COMMENTING ON A REPORT FROM WASHINGTON IN WHICH SENATOR JOHNSON (D-COLO) SAID HE HAS CALLED ON PRICE STABILIZATION OFFICIALS TO HEAD OFF A REPORTED PLAN BY MANUFACTURERS FOR SUCH A PRICE BOOST.

JOHNSON SAID HE UNDERSTOOD THE INCREASE WOULD BE $9 A TON, BRINGING THE PROPOSED PRICE TO $115 IN NEW YORK AND $123 A TON IN THE MIDWEST.

AMS BUDGET
WAGE BOARD
BY NORMAN WALKER
(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, MAY 13-(AP)-SENATOR TAFT (R-OHIO) TODAY SUGGESTED CHANGING THE WAGE STABILIZATION BOARD SO PUBLIC MEMBERS COULD CALL THE TUNE AND OUTVOTE THE COMBINED LABOR AND INDUSTRY MEMBERS.

TAFT SAID THAT UNDER THE PRESENT TRIPARTITE SYSTEM--WITH EQUAL NUMBERS OF PUBLIC, INDUSTRY AND LABOR MEMBERS--THE MANAGEMENT AND UNION GROUPS CAN TEAM UP TO PUT ACROSS WHAT THEY WANT, AND "THUS THE ENTIRE STABILIZATION PROGRAM MAY BE SCUTTLED."

PUTTING PUBLIC MEMBERS IN A MAJORITY POSITION ON THE BOARD, TAFT SAID, IS ONE IDEA CONGRESS MAY WANT TO EXPLORE WHEN IT CONSIDERS EXTENSION OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT, WHICH IS THE SOURCE OF ALL MOBILIZATION CONTROL POWERS.

TAFT'S VIEWS WERE GIVEN AS A SUPPLEMENT TO A REPORT FROM THE SENATE LABOR-MANAGEMENT SUBCOMMITTEE. THE REPORT UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSED THE IDEA OF GIVING ORGANIZED LABOR FULL REPRESENTATION IN FORMING AND ADMINISTERING OBILIZAION POLICIES.

THE COMMITTEE SAID FULL LABOR PARTICIPATION, ALONG WITH THAT O

OF GIVING ORGANIZED LABOR FULL REPRESENTATION IN FORMING AND ADMINISTERING MOBILIZATION POLICIES.

THE COMMITTEE SAID FULL LABOR PARTICIPATION, ALONG WITH THAT OF BUSINESS AND AGRICULTURE, WOULD RESULT IN BETTER MOBILIZATION PLANNING, GREATER NATIONAL SUPPORT AND UNDERSTANDING FOR OBJECTIVES, AND SPEEDIER REALIZATION OF AIMS.

MAY 14 1951

TAFT'S SUPPLEMENTAL VIEWS TO THE MAIN COMMITTEE REPORT CONTENDED THAT ANYONE COMING FROM LABOR OR ANOTHER SEGMENT OF SOCIETY TO A GOVERNMENT JOB SHOULD GIVE HIS "PRIMARY LOYALTY TO THE GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES."

THE COMMITTEE ITSELF EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE THAT THIS WOULD BE SO. BUT IT RECOGNIZED THAT "GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, LIKE OTHER HUMAN BEINGS, ARE PRODUCTS OF THEIR ENVIRONMENT AND IT IS EXPECTED THAT THEIR JUDGMENTS AND DECISIONS WILL BE AFFECTED BY THAT ENFIRONMENT."

TADT SAID THAT WHEN ORGANIZED LABOR'S REPRESENTATIVES WALKED OUT OF MOBILIZATION JOBS EARLIER THIS YEAR IN DISAGREEMENT WITH GOVERNMENT POLICIES THEY SHOWED "THEIR COMPLETE SUBSERVIENCE TO LABOR UNION OFFICIALS."

HE SAID LABOR AND INDUSTRY MEMBERS OF THE WAGE STABILIZATION BOARD ARE "FRANKLY REPRESENTATIVE OF AND ARE SUPPOSED TO PRESENT THE VIEWS OF SPECIAL GROUPS."

NOTING THAT AT PRESENT THERE IS ONE BOARD OF EQUAL PUBLIC, LABOR AND INDUSTRY REPRESENTATION EMPOWERED BOTH TO "FIX WAGES AND SETTLE LABOR DISPUTES," TAFT ADDED:

"IT MAY BE THAT THERE SHOULD BE ONLY ONE BOARD, BUT THE DANGER IS THAT IN THE DESIRE TO SETTLE LABOR DISPUTES, THE WHOLE MATTER OF WAGE FIXING AND WAGE STABILIZATION WILL BE RELEGATED TO A SECONDARY POSITION.

"IN MANY CASES THE INTERESTS OF BOTH LABOR AND MANAGEMENT ARE TO SETTLE THE DISPUTE AND PASS THE COSTS ON TO THE PUBLIC. IN THESE TRI-PARTITE BOARDS, LABOR AND MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIVES CAN OUTVOTE THE PUBLIC REPRESENTATIVES, THUS THE ENTIRE STABILIZATION PROGRAM MAY BE SCUTTLED.

"IN THEORY, I DO NOT BELIEVE THAT THERE SHOULD BE GROUP REPRESENTATION ON A BOARD WHICH FIXES PRICES AND WAGES. IF THERE IS SUCH REPRESENTATION, I BELIEVE THE PUBLIC MEMBERS OUGHT TO OUTNUMBER THE REPRESENTATIVES OF SPCIAL GROUPS."

THE SUBCOMMITTEE ITSELF SAW NOTHING DISTURBING IN A UNIO MAN SERVLING TEMPORARILY WITH THE GOVERNMENT WITHOUT SEVERING CONNECTIONS WITH HIS LABOR ORGANIZATION. ON THIS POINT, THE COMMITTEE REPORT SAID:

"THE VAST MAJORITY OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS COMING FROM INDUSTRY AND LABOR SERIOUSLY INTEND TO FUNCTION FAIRLY, AND IT IS THIS INTENTION ON THE PART OF EVERY GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL THAT REALLY MATTERS. X X X THE AVERAGE CITIZEN WHO TAKES A GOVERNMENT POSITION X X X THINKS OF HIMSELF AS A PUBLIC SERVANT, WHETHER HE COMES FROM MANAGEMENT OR FROM LABOR."

(ADVANCE) PHILADELPHIA, MAY 13-(AP)-DAVID BEN-GURION, PRIME MINISTER VF ISRAEL, PRESENTED THE OFFICIAL COLORS OF HIS LAND TO THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA TODAY AT CEREMONIES AT INDEPENDENCE HALL.

THE ISRAELI LEADER MADE THIS CITY HIS FIRST STOP ON A NATIONWIDE TOUR IN SUPPORT OF A $500,000,000 (M) ISRAEL BOND ISSUE, MARKING THAT NATION'S THIRD ANNIVERSARY.

THE BLUE AND WHITE FLAG WAS ACCEPTED BY CITY SOLICITOR FRANK TRUSCOTT, WHO EXTENDED PHILADELPHIA'S WELCOME TO BEN-GURION IN THE ABSENCE OF MAYOR BERNARD SAMUEL, WHO IS OUT OF TOWN.

BEN-GURION SAID HE WAS "PROUD TO PRESENT THE FLAG OF ISRAEL TO THE CITY IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS SIGNED."

MAY 14 1951

HE ADDED:

"THE FOUNDERS OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE SET THE STANDARD FOR TRUE DEMOCRACY THE WORLD OVER. ISRAEL IS PROUD TO HAVE FASHIONED ITS OWN DEMOCRATIC TENETS AFTER THAT HISTORIC DOCUMENT."

TRUSCOTT IN A WELCOMING ADDRESS LIKENED BEN-GURION TO THE FOUNDERS OF THIS COUNTRY.

BEN-GURION GOES TO BALTIMORE TOMORROW, BOSTON ON TUESDAY, PITTSBURGH THURSDAY, CHICAGO FRIDAY, DETROIT MAY 21, CLEVELAND MAY 22 AND LOS ANGELES MAY 24.

MASS RALLIES ARE TO BE HELD IN BOSTON AND AT THE CLIMAX OF THE TOUR IN THE HOLLYWOOD BOWL AT LOS ANGELES.

THE BOND DRIVE SEEKS FUNDS FOR THESE PURPOSES: $205,000,000 FOR INDUSTRY AND POWER PROJECTS, $130,000,000 AGRICULTURE, $40,000,000 TRANSPORTATION, $45,000,000 TRADE AND SERVICES, $30,000,000 HOUSING AND $50,000,000 FOR THE CENTRAL DEVELOPMENT FUND.

THE ISRAELI LEADER CAME HERE BY AUTOMOBILE FROM NEW YORK. HE STOPPED OFF IN PRINCETON, N.J., TO TALK WITH SCIENTIST ALBERT EINSTEIN.

A POLICE ESCORT MET THE BEN-GURION PARTY AT THE CITY LINE AND ESCORTED HIM TO A PRIVATE LUNCHEON. HE VISITED HOSPITALS AND OTHER COMMUNITY CHEST AGENCIES.

HE IS TO LEAVE BY SPECIAL TRAIN FOR BALTIMORE AT 8:12 A.M. (EST) TOMORROW.

HOSPITAL, WHERE HE IS RECOVERING FROM INJURIES SUSTAINED IN AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

NELSON, 48, AND HIS THREE CHILDREN WERE INJURED YESTERDAY WHEN THEIR CAR STRUCK A TREE ON THE EAST RIVER DRIVE ALONG THE SCHUYLKILL RIVER. RAIN HAD CAUSED POOR DRIVING CONDITIONS AND NELSON TOLD POLICE HIS CAR WENT OUT OF CONTROL EITHER BECAUSE OF THE SLIPPERY ROADS OR A POSSIBLE MECHANICAL FAILURE.

HE WAS ADMITTED TO THE HOSPITAL WITH FRACTURES OF THE RIGHT SHOULDER, RIBS AND RIGHT LEG, INTERNAL INJURIES AND HEAD LACERATIONS.

HIS DAUGHTER, MRS.EILEEN ROWLAND, 22, ALSO SERIOUSLY INJURED, WAS ADMITTED WITH A JAW FRACTURE AND A POSSIBLE SKULL FRACTURE.

TWO YOUNGER CHILDREN, ROBERT, 8, AND JOSEPHINE, 11, WERE TREATED FOR CUTS AND BRUISES.

NELSON IS ON TRIAL IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY COURT ON CHARGES OF SEDITION FILED BY JUDGE MICHAEL A.MUSMANNO, OF THE STATE SUPERIOR COURT. THE TRIAL HAS BEEN PROGRESSING FOR FOUR MONTHS.

NELSON, WHO IS FREE ON BOND, WAS IN PHILADELPHIA WITH COURT PERMISSION TO SEEK FUNDS AND CONTACT WITNESSES IN CONNECTION WITH HIS TRIAL.

HE HAS ALSO BEEN CITED FOR CONTEMPT OF THE HOUSE UNAMERICAN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE FOR REFUSING TO STATE WHETHER HE KNEW A MAN REPORTED TO HAVE GIVEN HIM ATOMIC SECRETS FOR THE SOVIET CONSULATE AT SAN FRANCISCO. NELSON REFUSED TO SAY WHETHER HE KNEW THE COMMITTEE'S "SCIENTIST X," DR.JOSEPH WEINBURG, ON THE GROUNDS THAT IT MIGHT TEND TO INCRIMINATE HIM.

LAKEWOOD,N.J.,MAY 13-(AP)-A MARINE NAMED RAY MARINE, WHO WAS BLINDED BY JAPANESE BULLETS ON IWO JIMA, WAS GIVEN A $23,000 HOME TODAY BY GRATEFUL TOWNSPEOPLE OF LAKEWOOD.

BY HIS SIDE WAS HIS FIANCEE, MARY JANE SHAFTO. THEY WILL BE MARRIED JUNE 2 AND MOVE INTO THE SIX-ROOM, WHITE FRAME HOUSE ON A SHADY RESIDENTIAL STREET.

THE HOME WAS BUILT BY DONATIONS OF NICKELS AND DIMES AND DOLLARS AND THE LABOR OF MANY CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS ON WEEKENDS. DEALERS IN MATERIAL FROM LONG BRANCH TO BARNEGAT GAVE THE LUMBER AND NAILS AND PLASTER.

THE FUND WAS STARTED BY OCEAN COUNTY JUDGE HARRY E.NEWMAN, PUBLISHER OF THE LAKEWOOD DAILY TIMES. BEFORE LONG $6,300 HAD COME IN TO THE NEWSPAPER AND A TRUST FUND WAS SET UP.

ABOUT 300 PERSONS CAME TO THE DEDICATION CEREMONIES TODAY. THE TRUSTEES OF THE FUND WERE THERE, REPRESENTATIVES OF LOCAL VETERANS GROUPS, COUNTY AND LOCAL OFFICIALS.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE LAKEHURST NAVAL AIR STATION TRANSMITTED THE MESSAGE FROM THE NAVY: "WELL DONE."

FINALLY 25-YEAR-OLD RAYMOND MARINE MOUNTED THE STEPS OF THE FRONT PORCH OF HIS HOME WHICH HE HAS NEVER SEEN.

HE ACCEPTED THE KEY AND HELD IT OVER HIS HEAD. IN A VOICE CHOKED WITH EMOTION, HE SAID:

ANNAPOLIS, MD., MAY 13-(AP)-THE NAVY TODAY HONORED A MARINE FLIER WHO TOOK ON A WHOLE JAPANESE SQUADRON SINGLE HANDED AND KNOCKED DOWN FOUR OF THE ENEMY BEFORE HIS PLANE RAN OUT OF GAS AND HE PLUNGED TO HIS DEATH.

CEREMONIES WERE HELD AT THE NAVAL ACADEMY FOR LT. COL. HAROLD WILLIAM BAUER. THE ONLY MARINE GRADUATE WHO WAS POSTHUMOUSLY AWARDED THE CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR FOR VALOR IN WORLD WAR II.

A BRONZ PLAQUE WAS PLACED IN A ROOM USED BY BAUER DURING HIS DAYS AT THE ACADEMY. TODAY'S WAS THE 15TH DEDICATION IN A SERIES OF 17 AWARDS TO ACADEMY GRADUATES WHO HAVE WON THE NATION'S HIGHEST MILITARY DECORATION.

THE DEDICATION ADDRESS WAS GIVEN BY GENERAL ALEXANDER A. VANDEGRIFT FORMER COMMANDANT OF THE MARINE CORPS. VANDEGRIFT ALSO HOLDS THE MEDAL OF HONOR.

BAUER'S MARINE FIGHTER SQUADRON WAS CREDITED WITH BAGGING 92 JAPANESE PLANES AND HELPING TO SINK TWO DESTROYERS IN THE GUADALCANAL AREA.

THE MARINE COLONEL, WAS HONORED FOR GALLANTRY FROM MAY 10 TO NOV.14, 1942.

THE CITATION SAID BAUER'S FORCES, THOUGH OUTNUMBERED MORE THAN TWO TO ONE, "BOLDLY ENGAGED THE ENEMY" IN A BATTLE SEPT.28 AND SHOT DOWN ONE BOMBER. FIVE DAYS LATER HE SHOT DOWN FOUR JAP FIGHTER PLANES AND LEFT ANOTHER "SMOKING BADLY."

HIS LAST ACTION, ON OCT.16, WAS TO ENGAGE AN ENTIRE ENEMY SQUADRON ATTACKING THE DESTROYER MCFARLAND. THE CITATION CONTINUES:

"ALTHOUGH ALONE WITH HIS FUEL NEARLY EXHAUSTED, (HE) FOUGHT HIS PLANE SO BRILLIANTLY THAT FOUR OF THE JAPANESE PLANES WERE DESTROYED BEFORE HE WAS FORCED DOWN BY LACK OF FUEL."

BAUER WAS BORN IN WOODRUFF, KANS., IN 1908.

(WX) HOT SPRINGS, VA., MAY 13-(AP)-MOBILIZATION DIRECTOR CHARLES E. WILSON, PREDICTED TODAY THAT THE ONE-YEAR SQUEEZE OF CIVILIANS--FROM

JULY 1 TO MID 1952--WILL CARRY THE COUNTRY OVER THE "HUMP" OF THE DEFENSE PROGRAM.

ANOTHER 5 TO 10 PERCENT CUT IN STEEL FOR AUTOS--"BUT NOT MUCH MORE"--AND ROUGHLY COMPARABLE CURTAILMENT IN REFRIGERATORS, WASHING MACHINES AND OTHER CIVILIAN GOODS ARE IN PROSPECT, WILSON TOLD REPORTERS.

ECONOMIC STABILIZER ERIC JOHNSTON, HERE WITH WILSON TO ADDRESS THE BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, PREDICTEI THAT THE ACCELERATION OF DEFENSE SPENDING WILL BOOST THE NATIONAL INCC TO A $300,000,000,000-A-YEAR RATE BY EARLY 1952.

THIS INFLATIONARY SURGE OF BUYING POWER--AN INCOME GAIN OF $37,-000,000,000(B) FROM THE START OF THIS YEAR--MAKES IT IMPERATIVE THAT DIRECT PRICE-WAGE CONTROLS BE CONTINUED, JOHNSTON TOLD THE 90 INDUSTRI LISTS WHO MAKE UP THE COUNCIL.

"TO OFFSET IT BY 'INDIRECT' METHODS SUCH AS TAXES, CREDIT RESTRAIN AND INCREASED SAVINGS, AS SOME BUSINESS GROUPS HAVE PROPOSED, WOULD REQUIRE A $16 BILLION TAX BOOST AND SAVING AT A RATE 2 1/2 TIMES THE PRESENT RATE, JOHNSTON SAID.

"THAT COULDN'T HAPPEN," JOHNSTON SAID. "SO WE'LL HAVE TREMENDOUS PRESSURES ON THE WAGE AND PRICE FRONTS THIS YEAR AND NEXT."

MEXT.

MBUT JOHNSTON DISCLOSED THAT HE WILL ANNOUNCE, "WITHIN A WEEK OR TWO," A PROPOSAL TOMPROMOTE SAVING BY THE PUBLIC. HE WOULD NOT DIVULGE HIS PLAN, EXCEPT THAT IT WOULD PROVIDE "INCENTIVES" FOR VOLUNTARY SAVINGS--A POSSIBLE HINT OF A NEW-TYPE SAVINGS BOND OFFERING.

WILSON AGREED THAT THE OUTLOOK FOR A YEAR-LONG SCARCITY SQUEEZE MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE TO LET DIRECT CONTROLS LAPSE ON JUNE 30 WHEN THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT EXPIRES. OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PROPOSAL FOR A TIGHTER CONTROL LAW, THE FORMER PRESIDENT OF GENERAL ELECTRIC CORPORATION SAID:

"IF I WERE BACK IN INDUSTRY, I WOULD GO ALONG WITH IT."

THE DEFENSE PLANT EXPANSION PROGRAM WILL TAKE MUCH OF THE STEEL, ALUMINUM AND COPPER NOT GOING DIRECTLY INTO MUNITIONS AND DEFENSE-SUPPORTING INDUSTRIES, WILSON SAID.

IT WILL LEAVE THE OUTPUT OF CIVILIAN GOODS AT PERHAPS 70 PER CENT OF THE HIGH 1950 RATE, HE ESTIMATED.

U.N.-EMBARGO

BY FRANCIS W.CARPENTER

(ADVANCE) UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., MAY 13-(AP)-SPURRED BY STRONG UNITED STATES PRESSURE FOR ACTION, THE U.N. TAKES UP THIS WEEK A CRUCIAL DEBATE ON A PROPOSED WORLD-WIDE ARMS EMBARGO AGAINST RED CHINA. IT IS EXPECTED TO BE APPROVED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY BUT ONLY AFTER VIGOROUS OPPOSITION FROM THE SOVIET BLOC.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE, AFTER LONG OPPOSITION, DECIDED LAST WEEK TO GO ALONG WITH THE UNITED STATES ON THE ISSUE OF THE ARMS EMBARGO. THE RESTRICTIONS WOULD APPLY ALSO TO MATERIALS USED IN THE WAR EFFORT OR IN PRODUCING ARMS AND ATOMIC ENERGY. THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, ONCE HAVING DECIDED TO ACCEPT THE UNITED STATES IDEAS, ANNOUNCED THURSDAY IT WAS CUTTING OFF RUBBER EXPORTS TO RED CHINA FOR THE REST OF 1951.

INFORMED PERSONS AT THE UNITED NATIONS EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE HEAT RAISED BY THE CONSERVATIVES IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS ABOUT RUBBER SHIPMENTS, PLUS MUCH ADVERSE COMMENT IN THE UNITED STATES ABOUT THEM, WENT A LONG WAY TOWARD THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S DECISION TO ACCEPT THE EMBARGO IDEAS.

LAST MONTH SELIM SARPER, TURKEY, CHAIRMAN OF A SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PUNISHMENTS FOR RED CHINA, BECAME IRKED AT LONG DELAYS BY HIS COMMITTEE ON PUNISHING RED CHINA AND CALLED A MEETING FOR THURSDAY, MAY 3. AT THAT TIME THE UNITED STATES DELEGATE, ERNEST A.GROSS, LAID DOWN A BROAD PLAN FOR RESTRICTIONS ON SHIPMENTS TO RED CHINA.

SIR GLADWYN JEBB, BRITAIN, INDICATED AT THAT MEETING THAT THE BRITISH DID NOT FEEL THE TIME HAD COME FOR AN EMBARGO AND ACCORDINGLY WOULD NOT SUPPORT IT. THAT VIEW WAS TAKEN ALSO BY CANADA, AUSTRALIA, AND FRANCE WHILE TURKEY, BRAZIL AND THE PHILIPPINES ACTIVELY BACKED THE U.S. VIEWS.

MAY 16

SOMETHING HAPPENED IN THE TIME BETWEEN THAT MEETING AND THE NEXT ON MONDAY, MAY 7. OPPOSITION FROM BRITAIN AND FRANCE CRUMBLED. GROSS TOSSED IN A FORMAL RESOLUTION AND THE DELEGATES SAID THEY WOULD REFER IT BACK HOME FOR INSTRUCTIONS.

THE COMMITTEE MEETS TOMORROW FOR A VOTE AND IT IS EXPECTED TO BE APPROVED 11 VOTES TO NOTHING, WITH THE 12TH MEMBER, EGYPT, ABSTAINING. INDIA AND BURMA WERE NAMED ON THE COMMITTEE BUT THEY HAVE REFUSED TO SERVE.

UPON COMMITTEE APPROVAL, THE U.N. EXPECTS TO CALL A MEETING OF THI 60-NATION POLITICAL COMMITTEE, PERHAPS ABOUT MID-WEEK. THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL IS EXPECTED TO BE APPROVED FINALLY BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY BUT EVEN SO IT WILL HAVE ONLY THE FORCE OF A MORAL RECOMMENDATION. THE ASSEMBLY CANNOT ISSUE ORDERS, IT CAN ONLY RECOMMEND. THE SOVIET BLOC IS EXPECTED TO IGNORE THE ASSEMBLY DECISION.

THE AMERICAN RESOLUTION PROPOSED THAT:

1. THE ADDITIONAL MEASURES COMMITTEE, WHICH IS THE TECHNICAL NAME OF THE PUNISHMENTS GROUP, NOTES ACTION ALREADY TAKEN TO DENY CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE MILITARY STRENGTH OF THE AGGRESSOR AND NOTES ITS BELIEF THAT PRIORITY SHOULD BE GIVEN TO RECOMMENDATIONS ON ECONOMIC MEASURES.
2. SHIPMENTS OF ARMS, AMMUNITION, IMPLEMENTS OF WAR, ATOMIC ENERGY MATERIALS, PETROLEUM, AND ITEMS USEFUL IN THE PRODUCTION OF ARMS, AMMUNITION AND IMPLEMENTS OF WAR SHOULD BE PROHIBITED TO AREAS CONTROLLED BY COMMUNIST CHINA OR THE NORTH KOREANS.
3. EVERY STATE DETERMINE THE EXTENT TO WHICH EXPORTS FALL WITHIN THE EMBARGO AND APPLY CONTROLS TO MAKE IT EFFECTIVE.
4. THE ASSEMBLY RECOMMENDS THAT ALL STATES COOPERATE TO MAKE IT WORK AND PREVENT CIRCUMVENTION BY TRANSSHIPMENT OR OTHER METHODS.
5. ALL COUNTRIES REPORT TO THE ADDITIONAL MEASURES COMMITTEE QUICKLY AND FREQUENTLY.
6. THE COMMITTEE STUDY REPORTS AND INFORM THE ASSEMBLY HOW THE EMBARGO IS WORKING.
7. THE COMMITTEE STUDY MORE MEASURES AND MAKE A FURTHER REPORT, DEFERRING ITS REPORT HOWEVER, IF THE U.N. GOOD OFFICES COMMITTEE MAKES SATISFACTORY PROGRESS.
8. THE ASSEMBLY RE-AFFIRM THE U.N. POLICY FOR ENDING THE

30.24- 22983

HOSTILITIES IN KOREA AND ACHIEVING U.N. OBJECTIVES BY PEACEFUL MEANS.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON FEB.1 SAID COMMUNIST CHINA WAS AN AGGRESSOR IN KOREA. IT SET UP THE GOOD OFFICES COMMITTEE TO SEEK A SETTLEMENT BUT PEIPING HAS IGNORED THE COMMITTEE. THE PUNISHMENTS COMMITTEE, SET UP AT THE SAME TIME, HELD UP ITS WORK UNTIL IT BECAME APPARENT THE CHINESE REDS WERE NOT TALKING. THEN THE U.S. BEGAN PRESSING FOR ACTION.

($80)

(ADVANCE) UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., MAY 13-(AP)-FIVE ECONOMISTS REPORTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS TONIGHT THAT IT WOULD COST AT LEAST $19,000,000,000(B) A YEAR CAPITAL TO HELP SET THE WORLD'S UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES ON THEIR FEET.

MOST OF THE MONEY, THEY SAID, WOULD HAVE TO COME FROM THE "DEVELOPED" COUNTRIES--THROUGH PRIVATE INVESTMENT, GOVERNMENT LENDING, OR INTERGOVERNMENTAL GIFTS.

THE SURVEY WAS ORDERED BY THE U.N. ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL. IT WILL BE DISCUSSED DURING THREE WEEKS OF MEETINGS, BEGINNING HERE TOMORROW, OF THE COUNCIL'S 18-NATION ECONOMIC, EMPLOYMENT AND DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION.

THE EXPERTS ARE THEODORE W.SCHULTZ, CHAIRMAN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS; W.ARTHUR LEWIS, PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL ECONOMY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MANCHESTER, ENGLAND; ALBERTO BALTRA CORTEZ, PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS, NATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF CHILE; D.R.GADGIL, DIRECTOR OF THE GOKHALE INSTITUTE OF POLITICS AND ECONOMICS, POONA, INDIA; AND GEORGE HAKIM, COUNSELOR OF THE LEBANON LEGATION AT WASHINGTON.

THEIR PROBLEM WAS TO CHART A WAY TO GET FAST IMPROVEMENT IN THE STANDARD OF LIVING, AND REDUCING UNEMPLOYMENT, IN WHAT THE U.N. CALLS "UNDERDEVELOPED" AREAS. THE EXPERTS CONFESSED THEY HAD SOME DIFFICULTY WITH THAT TERM.

"WE USE IT," THEY FINALLY DECIDED, "TO MEAN COUNTRIES IN WHICH PER CAPITA REAL INCOME IS LOW WHEN COMPARED WITH THE PER CAPITA REAL INCOMES OF THE U.S.A., CANADA, AUSTRALASIA AND WESTERN EUROPE. IN THIS SENSE, AN ADEQUATE SYNONYM WOULD BE 'POOR COUNTRIES.'"

THEIR 100-PAGE ANALYSIS STEMMING FROM THAT DEFINITION DEALS WITH THE DOUBLE PROBLEM OF SHIFTING POPULATION FROM AGRICULTURAL TO INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION AND BUILDING UP NATIONAL CAPITAL.

THE $19,000,000,000(B) ANNUAL CAPITAL NEEDS WOULD COVER AN AREA WHICH HELD A POPULATION OF 1,527,000,000 IN MID-1949--AND WAS EXPECTED TO INCREASE BY 1.25 PER CENT IN THE 1950-1960 DECADE. SEVENTY PER CENT OF THE FUND WOULD BE REQUIRED FOR ASIA.

"IF ANYONE THINKS THIS ($19 BILLION) IS LARGE, HE SHOULD COMPARE IT WITH NET INVESTMENT IN THE U.S.A., WHICH NOW RUNS AT BETWEEN $25 AND $30 BILLION A YEAR FOR A POPULATION ONE-TENTH THE SIZE OF THAT WE ARE CONSIDERING, AND FOR AN ECONOMY THAT IS ALREADY HIGHLY DEVELOPED," THE ECONOMISTS POINTED OUT.

THEY ADDED THAT THE FIGURE COVERS ONLY NEEDS FOR INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE. CAPITAL REQUIRED FOR SOCIAL OVERHEADS WOULD BOOST THE FIGURE.

THEY SAID THAT THE FIGURES ARE NOT BEYOND THE CAPACITY OF THE DEVELOPED COUNTRIES TO PROVIDE. BUT THEY NOTED "WE WISH TO EMPHASIZE THAT THE ORDER OF MAGNITUDE INVOLVED IS WELL IN EXCESS OF WHAT IS NOW GENERALLY BELIEVED. WHEN MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS SPEAK ABOUT RAPIDLY INCREASING THE STANDARDS OF LIVING OF THE UNDER-DEVELOPED WORLD, THEY SHOULD REALIZE THAT WHAT THEY ARE TALKING ABOUT INVOLVES A TRANSFER OF SEVERAL BILLION DOLLARS EVERY YEAR."

CLOSER TO HOME, THE ECONOMISTS SAID THAT THE POOR COUNTRIES WOULD HAVE TO GIVE THEIR PEOPLE PROFIT INCENTIVES AND LAND REFORMS; SHUN INFLATION; DEVELOP LOCAL LEADERS IN TECHNOLOGICAL WORK; AND GUARANTEE PROTECTION TO FOREIGN CAPITAL AS SOME OF THE STEPS TO IMPROVING THEIR OWN STATUS.

THEY CALLED FOR DEVELOPED COUNTRIES TO QUIT COMMERCIAL PRACTICES THAT HINDER DEVELOPMENT OF THE POOR COUNTRIES. THE U.S. AND EUROPE WERE CRITICIZED FOR THE EXTENT TO WHICH THEY PROTECTED SUGAR BEET PRODUCTION. THE U.S. WAS ALSO CRITICIZED FOR SUBSIDIZED EXPORTS OF PRIMARY COMMODITIES PRODUCED IN COMPETITION WITH THE POOR COUNTRIES.

THE ECONOMISTS CALLED ON THE RICH COUNTRIES NOT ONLY TO SET UP BANKS LIKE THE U.S. EXPORT-IMPORT BANK BUT TO INSURE POOR AREA INVESTMENTS BY THEIR NATIONALS AGAINST TRANSFER DIFFICULTIES AND BY EXEMPTING FOREIGN-EARNED INCOMES FROM DOUBLE TAXATION.

THE U.N., IT WAS SUGGESTED, SHOULD SET UP AN INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY, TO ASSIST THE POOR COUNTRIES BY DIRECT GRANTS, THE INTERNATIONAL BANK FOR RECONSTRUCTION WAS URGED TO LEND POOR COUNTRIES $1,000,000,000(B) A YEAR. AN ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR AFRICA, SIMILAR TO COMMISSIONS SET UP FOR EUROPE, THE FAR EAST AND LATIN AMERICA, WAS ALSO PROPOSED.

MANY OF THE CONCLUSIONS ARE EXPECTED TO DRAW FIRE. THE SOVIET UNION OPPOSES MANY PRINCIPLES OF PRIVATE FUND AND PROFIT OPERATIONS.

THE U.S. HAS IN THE PAST OPPOSED SETTING UP ANYTHING LIKE AN INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY.

THE ECONOMISTS ALSO HAD A TIP FOR THE POOR COUNTRIES--TAP THE PRIVATE HOARDS OF SOME OF THEIR CITIZENRY.

IN SOME COUNTRIES IN SOUTH EAST ASIA AND THE MIDDLE EAST, THEIR REPORT SAID, PRIVATE GOLD HOARDS ARE AS LARGE AS 10 PER CENT OF THE NATIONAL INCOME. THE EXPERTS ADMITTED IT WOULD BE TOUGH TO LAY HANDS ON THE GOLD.

NEW YORK, MAY 13-(AP)-FORMER SECRETARY OF THE ARMY KENNETH C.ROYALL SAID TODAY HE HAS CHANGED HIS MIND AND NOW THINKS GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR IS WRONG IN HIS FAR EAST POLICY DISPUTE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

ROYALL TOLD A COMMUNION BREAKFAST HIS FIRST IMPRESSION WAS THAT MACARTHUR WAS "ENTIRELY CORRECT" IN HIS VIEW THAT U.S. PLANES SHOULD BOMB MANCHURIAN BASES.

"AT THAT TIME," HE SAID, "I DID NOT FEEL ANY MATERIAL DANGER OF WAR AS A RESULT OF THE BOMBING. HOWEVER, AS I LISTENED TO BOTH SIDES I CHANGED MY OPINION FOR TWO REASONS:

"ONE, THE KOREAN WAR WAS APPARENTLY THE FIRST STEP IN A LARGER PLAN TO COMMUNIZE ALL OF ASIA. SECOND, IF WE WERE TO BOMB MANCHURIA I THOUGHT THERE WOULD BE A RETALIATION AGAINST JAPAN, AT LEAST, AND THAT UNDER THE RUSSO-CHINA TREATY ANY INVOLVEMENT WITH JAPAN MIGHT NECESSARILY LEAD TO WORLD WAR III."

THE FORMER CABINET OFFICER SAID HE NOW AGREES WITH DEFENSE SECRETARY GEORGE C.MARSHALL "THAT WE SHOULD NOT BOMB MANCHURIAN BASES UNLESS WE ARE THREATENED WITH BEING THROWN OUT OF KOREA, WHICH I DOUBT, OR UNLESS THERE IS SOME ATTACK BY THE CHINESE ON SOME TERRITORY OUTSIDE OF KOREA."

ROYALL DISCOUNTED THE PROPOSED USE OF CHIANG KAI SHEK'S NATIONALIST TROOPS AGAINST RED CHINA'S FORCES.

"THEY (THE NATIONALIST TROOPS) WERE NEVER ANY GOOD" HE SAID. "WE SENT MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN AID TO CHIANG KAI SHEK, HIS ARMY WAS THREE TIMES THE SIZE OF THE COMMUNISTS, BUT HE SO LACKED THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE AND HIS TROOPS WERE SO POOR THE COMMUNISTS BEAT HIM BACK."

THE MACARTHUR-TRUMAN CONTROVERSY, ROYAL SAID, MIGHT BE THE TURNING POINT IN AVOIDING ANOTHER WORLD WAR BECAUSE IT HAS "CONVINCED THE RUSSIAN LEADERS THAT AMERICA AS A WHOLE "IS DETERMINED TO FIGHT COMMUNISM.

NEW YORK, MAY 13-(AP)-JEAN MONET, ORIGINATOR OF THE SCHUMAN PLAN FOR A UNIFIED EUROPEAN MARKET FOR COAL AND STEEL, SAID TODAY THE SIGNING COUNTRIES STILL HOPE ENGLAND WILL JOIN BUT THEY CAN OPERATE WITHOUT HER.

MONET, FRENCH DIRECTOR GENERAL OF PLANS, AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER ROBERT SCHUMAN, WHOSE PUBLIC PROPOSALS GAVE HIS NAME TO THE PLAN, WERE INTERVIEWED IN PARIS BY MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

THE FILMED INTERVIEWS WERE PART OF MRS. ROOSEVELT'S WEEKLY TELEVISION SHOW OVER THE NATIONAL BROADCASTING COMPANY NETWORK, BROADCAST FROM NEW YORK.

THE COAL AND STEEL PLAN WAS SIGNED APRIL 18 BY SIX EUROPEAN COUNTRIES--BELGIUM, ITALY, FRANCE, LUXEMBOURG, THE NETHERLANDS AND WESTERN GERMANY.

SCHUMAN SAID IT WOULD HELP ELIMINATE HISTORICAL CONFLICT BETWEEN FRANCE AND GERMANY AND RAISE LIVING STANDARS IN ALL SIX NATIONS.

MRS. ROOSEVELT THEN ASKED MONET WHETHER THE PLAN COULD "FUNCTION SUCCESSFULLY WITHOUT THE PARTICIPATION OF GREAT BRITAIN."

"THE CONTINENTAL EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HAVE UNFORTUNATELY LIVED UP TO NOW IN DISUNITY IN EUROPE WITHOUT GREAT BRITAIN," MONET REPLIED. "WHY COULDN'T THEY NOW LIVE IN UNITY?"

HE ADDED THAT "OUR HOPE IS THAT GREAT BRITAIN WILL COOPERATE, AND THAT A FORM OF ASSOCIATION WILL BE FOUND BETWEEN THIS COMMUNITY AND GREAT BRITAIN."

IN ANOTHER PART OF THE PROGRAM DR. HEINZ KREKELER, GERMAN CONSUL-GENERAL HERE, AND ROGER SEYDOUX, FRENCH CONSUL-GENERAL, AGREED THAT THE COAL-STEEL POOL HAD OPENED THE WAY FOR FEDERATION OF EUROPE.

KREKELER ADDED THAT "THERE IS ONE ARTICLE IN THE SCHUMAN PLAN WHICH HAS NEARLY BEEN FORGOTTEN," AND THAT HE CONSIDERED IT "ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT."

"IT MAKES PROVISION FOR THE FREE EXCHANGE OF EVERY WORKER IN THIS FIELD," KREKELER SAID. "IT AFFECTS MILLIONS OF PEOPLE AND GIVES THEM SOME REAL MEANING FOR FREEDOM--FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT THROUGHOUT ALL EUROPE FOR MANY MILLION PEOPLE."

"THAT," HE ADDED, "MEANS MUCH MORE THAN A UNIFIED MARKET."

SECOND NIGHT LEAD KOREAN WAR ROUNDUP.
TOKYO, TUESDAY, MAY 15-(AP)-RED TROOPS POURED SOUTHWARD IN TWO AREAS OF CENTRAL KOREA TODAY UNDER COVER OF A DRIVING RAIN, ADDING TO THEIR BUILDUP FOR A NEW OFFENSIVE.
THE COMMUNISTS MIGHT BE EXPECTED TO UNLEASH IT IN THE UNFAVORABLE WEATHER---IDEAL FOR CONCEALMENT AND FOR THEIR LIGHT TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM; UNFAVORABLE FOR ALLIED TANKS AND PLANES.
THE REINFORCEMENTS WERE SPOTTED IN THE YANGGU AND CHUNCHON AREAS. CHUNCHON IS EIGHT MILES SOUTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL AND 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.
YANGGU IS SEVEN MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL AND MORE THAN 70 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL. IT IS AT THE EASTERN END OF THE HWACHON RESERVOIR.
THERE WAS LIGHT TO MODERATE CONTACT ALL ALONG THE FRONT. BUT THE REDS WERE CONCENTRATING ON THE TWO POINTS IN THE MOUNTAINOUS CENTRAL AND EAST-CENTRAL AREAS.
IN RAINY WEATHER MONDAY, ALLIED TROOPS KILLED OR WOUNDED 1,580

IN RAINY WEATHER MONDAY, ALLIED TROOPS KILLED OR WOUNDED 1,580 REDS, U. S. EIGHTH ARMY REPORTED.
U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE PILOTS CLAIMED THEY KILLED OR WOUNDED 400 MORE.

MAY 15 1951

AP CORRESPONDENT NATE POLOWETZKY, AT EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, SAID MANY ALLIED COMMANDERS HAVE SPECULATED THAT THE REDS WOULD CHOOSE RAINY WEATHER TO RENEW THEIR SPRING OFFENSIVE.
THE EARLIER OFFENSIVE, OPENED APRIL 22, BOGGED DOWN IN A LITTLE OVER A WEEK UNDER THE WEIGHT OF STAGGERING LOSSES. IT WAS STAGED IN GENERALLY CLEAR WEATHER. ALLIED PLANES AND ARTILLERY MADE THE MOST OF THAT.
DESPITE UNDAVORABLE WEATHER MONDAY, ALLIED PLANES MOUNTED 800 SORTIES. THEY HAMMERED AT RED TROOPS, SUPPLIES AND AIRFIELDS. WARSHIPS OFFSHORE ALSO KEPT UP DAILY BOMBARDMENTS OF COASTAL SUPPLY LINES.
ALLIED ARTILLERY, WHICH PLAYED A MAJOR ROLE IN STOPPING THE REDS' APRIL OFFENSIVE, WAS TURNED ON THE COMMUNISTS MASSING IN THE CHUNCHON AREA.
A FIELD DISPATCH SAID THE REDS WERE TRYING TO EXPAND A BRIDGEHEAD, ALREADY MORE THAN THREE MILES WIDE, ON THE SOUTH BANK OF THE CHOYANG RIVER NEAR CHUNCHON.
ON THE WESTERN FRONT, NORTH OF SEOUL, A DUG-IN BATTALION OF REDS RESISTED ALLIED PATROLS MOVING UP THE HIGHWAY BEYOND UIJONGBU.
THE BATTALION, HOLDING POSITIONS BORDERING THE ROAD WHICH FORKS NORTHEASTWARD FROM UIJONGBU, RESISTED ALLIED PATROLS ALL DAY MONDAY DESPITE HEAVY U. N. AIR AND ARTILLERY ATTACKS.
THE RAIN BEGAN AS A DRIZZLE MONDAY. IT INCREASED TUESDAY. ALLIED SUPPLY ROEADS WOULD SOON BECOME IMPASSABLE IF THE RAINS CONTINUED.
THE REDS' CHOYANG RIVER BRIDGEHE$IEUST-CENTRAL KOREA WAS SOUTHWEST OF INJE, A TOWN WHERE CONSIDERABLE FIGHTING HAS OCCURRED.
INJE, FOUR MILES NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL, IS ON A HIGHWAY LEADING DOWN TO CHUNCHON, WHERE THE BIGGEST RED BUILDUP IS IN PROGESS.
TODAY A DELAYED REPORT SAID SOUTH KOREAN FORCES HAVE SECURED HIGH GROUND NORTHEAST OF INJE AFTER FORCING BACK A RED BATTALION.
THE CENSOR-DELAYED REPORT ALSO DISCLOSED RED FORCES RE-ENTERED INJE MAY 12, THE DAY AFTER SOUTH KOREANS ENTERED THE TOWN. THERE WAS A BATTLE IN THE STREETS BEFORE THE REDS WITHDREW.
OTHER SOUTH KOREANS WERE STRUCK WITH NINE ATTACKS TWO DAYS AGO WHILE WITHDRAWING TO NEW POSITIONS IN THE AREA.

AP CORRESPONDENT GEORGE MCARTHUR SAID FRONT LINE OFFICERS BELIEVED A COMMUNIST ASSAULT COULD COME WITHIN TWO DAYS IF THE RAIN CONTINUED.
AT U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, AP CORRESPONDENT NATE POLOWETZKY WAS TOLD BY OFFICERS "THE BAD WEATHER MAY SPEED UP THE REDS INTO DOING SOMETHING."
THE ENEMY GREW BOLDER DURING THE DAY. MORE CHINESE AND NORTH KOREANS FILTERED OVER THE MOUNTAINS AND INTO CONCENTRATION POINTS NORTH OF SEOUL ON THE WESTERN FRONT AND BETWEEN KUMHWA AND HWACHON IN THE CENTRAL SECTOR.
THERE WAS CONFIDENCE AMONG ALLIED FIELD COMMANDERS THAT THE EIGHTH ARMY COULD DUPLICATE THE CRUSHING DEFEAT OF THE FOE'S APRIL 22 DRIVE.
LT.GEN.JAMES A. VAN FLEET, EIGHTH ARMY COMMANDER, INSPECTED THE WEST-CENTRAL FRONT DURING THE DAY. HE EXPRESSED SATISFACTION.
THE BULK OF THE RED ARMIES--ESTIMATED AT MORE THAN 500,000 IN ALL--APPEARED TO BE SET FOR ATTACK. MANY WERE OBSERVED IN ZIG-ZAG SLIT TRENCHES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.
ONE PILOT SAID THEY WERE "CRAWLING LIKE ANTS" ON A HILLSIDE AFTER A NAPALM (JELLIED GASOLINE) AIR ATTACK ON A RED POSITION NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.
A HEAVILY-CENSORED DISPATCH FROM AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH ON THE WESTERN FRONT SAID TWO DETERMINED ACTIONS WERE FOUGHT BY ALLIED UNITS NORTHEAST AND WEST-NORTHWEST OF UIJONGBU, WHICH IS 11 MILES ABOVE SEOUL. NORTHEAST OF UIJONGBU AN AMERICAN TASK FORCE WAS AMBUSHED BY CHINESE BUT PULLED BACK AFTER A SHARP FIGHT.

MAY 15 1951

A198KX
IN THE SECOND FIGHT, ANOTHER AMERICAN UNIT 12 MILES TO THE WEST SURROUNDED MORE THAN 100 REDS AND KILLED 20. THIRTEEN REDS WERE WOUNDED.
RANDOLPH NOTED THAT A TRICKLE OF CHINESE DESERTERS, INCLUDING OFFICERS, WAS FLOWING INTO ALLIED LINES IN THE WEST. THE NUMBERS WERE INSIGNIFICANT, HE SAID, BUT THE FACT THAT THERE WERE ANY AT ALL CONTRASTED SHARPLY WITH CONDITIONS SIX WEEKS AGO.
ONE RED OFFICER WAS WOUNDED BY HIS COMPANY COMMANDER WHEN HE TRIED TO CROSS THE LINE. HE SHOT THE COMMANDER AND MADE HIS ESCAPE. OTHER DESERTERS, COMPLAINING OF BEING BADLY FED, WALKED IN WITH ALLIED SURRENDER LEAFLETS.
ON THE CENTRAL FRONT MONDAY MOST OF THE ACTION WAS NORTHEAST OF CHUNCHON, STRATEGIC ROAD CENTER HELD BY NEITHER SIDE. ALLIED ARTILLERY BLASTED AT REDS WHO EXPANDED THEIR BRIDGEHEAD SOUTH OF THE CHOYANG RIVER IN A FLANKING THREAT AGAINST CHUNCHON.
TWO COMMUNIST DIVISIONS WERE POISED NORTH OF CHUNCHON ITSELF.
AN ALLIED PATROL DUCKED RED MORTAR SHELLS WHILE IT MOVED WARILY THROUGH THE STREETS OF CHUNCHON, 45 MILES NORTHEAST OF SEOUL.
ONE U.N. PATROL SPEARED ACROSS THE PUKHAN RIVER WEST OF CHUNCHON AND MET NO ENEMY.
SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS FOUGHT INCREASING COMMUNIST POWER SOUTH OF YANGGU, AT THE EASTERN END OF THE BIG HWACHON RESERVOIR.
THE AIR WAR MONDAY WAS CONCENTRATED MAINLY IN NORTH KOREA AGAINST ROADS LEADING TO RED SUPPLY AREA.
ONE F-80 SHOOTING STAR WAS LOST BEHIND ENEMY LINES.
B-29 SUPERFORTS DROPPED 120 TONS OF BOMBS ON HAMHUNG RAIL YARDS AND THE SONDOK AIRFIELD TO THE SOUTHWEST.
RED CASUALTIES SUNDAY WERE ESTIMATED BY THE U.S. EIGHTH ARMY TO BE 910 KILLED OR WOUNDED.

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, MAY 14-(AP)-UNITED NATIONS TROOPS DUG IN AND WAITED TODAY, CONFIDENT THEY COULD STOP THE NEXT RED OFFENSIVE WHEN IT COMES.
THE WHOLE KOREAN FRONT WAS QUIET. IT USUALLY IS WHEN THE COMMUNISTS ARE GETTING SET TO STRIKE.
AN 8TH ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID THE REDS COULD STRIKE AGAIN ANY TIME THEY WANTED. THE CONSENSUS WAS THAT THEY WOULD IN ABOUT TEN DAYS.
THERE WERE HINTS THE NEW ONSLAUGHT WOULD BE BACKED BY GREATER FIRE POWER--AND POSSIBLY PLANES.
A NEW AIR FIELD WAS DISCOVERED AT PYONG, 25 MILES NORTHEAST OF PYONGYANG, THE RED KOREAN CAPITAL. B-29 SUPERFORTS TORE IT UP WITH 130 TONS OF BOMBS.
LT.GEN. EARLE E. PARTRIDGE, 5TH AIR FORCE COMMANDER, SAID THE REDS "COULD BUILD UP (AN AIR FORCE) FAIRLY RAPIDLY. . . WE ARE KEEPING A WATCHFUL EYE ON THEM."
A RED PATROL SURROUNDED AND OVERRUN ON THE WESTERN FRONT WAS EQUIPPED WITH AN UNUSUAL NUMBER OF AUTOMATIC WEAPONS, AP CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH REPORTED.
THE FIRST CHINESE SPRING OFFENSIVE WAS BY INFANTRY ALONE. IT COST THE REDS 75,000 CASUALTIES BY U.S. 8TH ARMY ESTIMATES. THAT DRIVE BEGAN APRIL 22 AND DIED OUT IN TEN DAYS.
PROBING U.N. TROOPS KILLED OR WOUNDED MORE THAN 2,600 REDS OVER THE WEEKEND. PILOTS HUNTING THROUGH THE GRAY SKIES MONDAY MORNING FOR RED CONCENTRATIONS REPORTED THEY BLASTED 250 MORE.
LOW CLOUDS HELD U.S. 5TH AIR FORCE SORTIES DOWN TO 500 SUNDAY AND 200 MONDAY MORNING. PRIME TARGETS WERE RED EFFORTS TO SUPPLY THEIR FRONT LINE TROOPS FOR THE EXPECTED ASSAULT.
ON THE GROUND PATROLS PLAYED A GRIM GAME OF HIDE AND SEEK. AP CORRESPONDENT NATE POLOWETZKY AT 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS SAID IT WAS REMINISCENT OF PREVIOUS TIMES JUST BEFORE THE REDS STRUCK.
U.N. PATROLS REACHING OUT IN FRONT OF THEIR LINES ON THE WESTERN AND CENTRAL FRONTS FOUND FEW REDS, OR NONE AT ALL. POLOWETZKY SAID "THE LACK OF GROUND CONTACT SOUNDED AN OMINOUS NOTE." IT INDICATED THE COMMUNISTS HAD PULLED BACK TO STRIKE.

A37FX
ALLIED ARTILLERY AND WARPLANES RAINED EXPLOSIVES ON THE HILLS NORTH OF CHUNCHON ON THE CENTRAL FRONT. CHINESE ARE BELIEVED MASSING NORTH OF THAT RUINED ROAD CENTER.
COMBINED AIR AND GROUND FIRE SUNDAY FAILED TO DISLODGE REDS DISCOVERED DUG INTO RIDGES NORTHEAST OF CHUNCHON.
FARTHER TO THE NORTHEAST, REDS SHOWED STIFFENING RESISTANCE FROM THE INJE AREA TO THE EAST COAST. THE U.N. LINE HERE RUNS THROUGH RUGGED MOUNTAIN TERRAIN NORTH OF THE 38TH PARALLEL.
THE COMMUNISTS APPEARED DETERMINED TO KEEP SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS FROM DRIVING A WEDGE INTO THE RED SUPPLY ROAD LINKING INJE AND KANSONG ON THE SEA OF JAPAN. THREE SUNDAY BATTLES WOUND UP WITH BOTH SIDES RIGHT WHERE THEY STARTED.
SOUTH KOREANS FOUGHT A TWO-HOUR RIFLE BATTLE WITH TWO RED BATTALIONS SOUTHWEST OF INJE SUNDAY AFTERNOON. THE REDS HELD FIRM AND REPUBLICAN TROOPS PULLED BACK ACROSS THE SOYANG RIVER. SOUTH KOREANS ALSO WITHDREW AFTER A FOUR-HOUR BATTLE SUNDAY NIGHT NORTHEAST OF INJE.
DELAYED REPORTS FROM THE EAST COAST SAID ARTILLERY HALTED AN ATTACK BY A BATTALION OF REDS.
BEHIND THE OTHER END OF THE BATTLELINE U.N. TROOPS WERE HAVING TROUBLE WITH CIVILIANS SNEAKING BACK INTO WAR-SHATTERED SEOUL. ABOUT 110,000 HAVE RETURNED DESPITE ARMY ATTEMPTS TO KEEP THEM OUT. GUARDS WERE POSTED TO TRY TO KEEP THE CITY CLEAR FOR THE MILITARY.

THE FOLLOWING MAY PRECEDE THE TOKYO STORY A38 ON THE CITATION GIVEN AP WAR CORRESPONDENT JOHN RANDOLPH:
EDITOR'S NOTE: JOHN RANDOLPH, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT CITED FOR COURAGEOUS ACTIONS UNDER FIRE IN KOREA, TICKLED THE NATION'S FUNNYBONE IN 1949 WITH STORIES ON THE PLIGHT OF GRADY, THE COW THAT GOT STUCK IN A YUKON, OKLA., SILO.
HE BECAME A WAR CORRESPONDENT LAST DECEMBER.
ONE OF HIS TOP WAR STORIES WAS THE TRAGIC TALE OF "MASSACRE VALLEY," WHERE ELEMENTS OF A U.S. INFANTRY DIVISION WERE CUT OFF AND BUTCHERED BY CHINESE COMMUNISTS.
RANDOLPH, 32, WAS BORN IN DETROIT. HE WORKED FOR THE SEATTLE STAR FROM 1936 UNTIL THE NEWSPAPER SUSPENDED OPERATIONS IN 1947--EXCEPT FOR FOUR YEARS IN THE ARMY. HE JOINED THE AP AT OKLAHOMA CITY IN AUGUST, 1947.

BY RUSSELL BRINES
TOKYO, MAY 14-(AP)-A LANKY, EAGER WAR CORRESPONDENT DRIFTED OUT OF THE KOREAN DUSK ONE NIGHT AND ASKED PERMISSION TO ACCOMPANY AN AMERICAN OUTFIT PREPARING FOR AN ATTACK.
THE BATTALION COMMANDER TRIED TO TALK HIM OUT OF IT, BECAUSE IT WAS APRIL 23, THE SECOND NIGHT OF THE HEAVY CHINESE OFFENSIVE ON THE WESTERN FRONT.
BUT JOHN RANDOLPH, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT, WENT ALONG ANYWAY.
THE NEXT DAY MANY AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS CARRIED HIS GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF THE FIGHT PUT UP BY COMPANY B, FIRST BATTALION OF THE U.S. SEVENTH INFANTRY REGIMENT.
TODAY, THREE WEEKS LATER, THE REST OF THE STORY CAME OUT.
RANDOLPH HAS BEEN CITED FOR "HIS COURAGEOUS ACTIONS UNDER FIRE ON BEHALF OF MY MEN" BY THE BATTALION COMMANDER, LT. COL. FRED C. WEYAND OF HEALDSBURG, CALIF.
THE AMERICANS WERE UNDER CONSTANT FIRE FROM AUTOMATIC WEAPONS, MORTARS AND ARTILLERY, WEYAND SAVOABKTIKIP

THE AMERICANS WERE UNDER CONSTANT FIRE FROM AUTOMATIC WEAPONS, MORTARS AND ARTILLERY, WEYAND SAID IN A LETTER TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. SEVERAL MEN IN THE LEAD PLATOON FELL IN THE OPEN.
"WITH COMPLETE DISREGARD FOR HIS OWN SAFETY MR. RANDOLPH MOGED FORWARD TO CARRY THESE WOUNDED MEN TO LESS EXPOSED POSITIONS WHERE THEY COULD RECEIVE MEDICAL ATTENTION. ALL IN ALL, I BELIEVE HE MADE FOUR SUCH TRIPS."
THE AP NEWSMAN MENTIONED ONLY CASUALLY IN HIS STORY THAT HE HAD HELPED CARRY SOME WOUNDED.
THE COLONEL ADDED:
"SEVERAL MEN IN THIS BATTALION UNDOUBTEDLY OWE THEIR LIVES TO HIS (RANDOLPH'S) EFFORTS TO GET THEM IMMEDIATE MEDICAL ATTENTION."
THEN THERE WAS THAT BULLET HOLE IN THE AP JEEP, WHICH RANDOLPH NEVER COMPLETELY EXPLAINED TO HIS OFFICE.
THIS IS THE WAY WEYAND EXPLAINED IT:
COMPANY B WAS STALLED BY THE HEAVY CHINESE RESISTANCE IT ENCOUNTERED. BUT COMPANY A, ON THE LEFT, TOOK ITS OBJECTIVE. THE CHINESE HAD TO COMMIT A RESERVE BATTALION AGAINST IT, AND THEREBY TOOK PRESSURE OFF OF A TRAPPED BELGIAN BATTALION.

A39FX
THEN COMPANY B WAS ORDERED TO WITHDRAW.
"IT WAS PITCH BLACK," THE COLONEL WROTE, "AND THE COMPANY WAS ITSELF VIRTUALLY SURROUNDED. NEEDLESS TO SAY, MR. RANDOLPH--BUSY HELPING THE WOUNDED--WAS ONE OF THE LAST OUT. WHILE THE COMPANY IMMEDIATELY MOVED TO THE REAR, OUT OF THE ASSEMBLY AREA, MR. RANDOLPH REMAINED BEHIND WITH THE COVERING FORCE.
"SHORTLY THEREAFTER, CHINESE INFILTRATED INTO THE IMMEDIATE AREA AND BEGAN FIRING AND THROWING GRENADES FROM A DISTANCE OF LESS THAN 100 YARDS. DURING THIS ACTION, SERGEANT JAY T. BARE (HOMETOWN UNAVAILABLE), ONE OF MY FINEST PLATOON SERGEANTS, WAS MORTALLY WOUNDED.
"AGAIN, WITH NO REGARD FOR HIS OWN LIFE, MR. RANDOLPH LIFTED THE SERGEANT INTO HIS OWN JEEP AND DROVE THROUGH A HAIL OF ENEMY FIRE TO GET HIM TO A COVERED POSITION. HIS JEEP WAS SPLATTERED WITH ENEMY FIRE. SERGEANT BARE DID NOT SURVIVE HIS WOUNDS, BUT JOHN RANDOLPH'S EFFORTS TO HELP HIM WON THE ADMIRATION AND RESPECT OF THE ENTIRE BATTALION."
WEYAND SAID HIS COMBAT VETERANS RECENTLY SAW CLIPPINGS OF RANDOLPH'S STORY.
"ALTHOUGH HIS ACCOUNT WAS COMPETELY FACTUAL, HIS MODESTY APPARENTL FORBADE MENTION OF HIS OWN CONTRIBUTIONS. I AM TAKING ACTION THROUGH ARMY CHANNELS TO SECURE OFFICIAL RECOGNITION OF HIS COURAGEOU ACTIONS UNDER FIRE ON BEHALF OF MY MEN. I THOUGHT HOWEVER, THAT YOU WOULD BE PERSONALLY INTERESTED IN KNOWING THE TYPE OF MAN THAT YOU HAVE WORKING FOR YOU.
"HE HAS WON HIMSELF A PLACE IN OUR HEARTS AND HE WILL ALWAYS BE WELCOME IN OUR MESS AS A GUEST, OR IN THE LINE, AS OUR COMRADE."
JOHN RANDOLPH, UNTIL A FEW MONTHS AGO, HAD NEVER SEEN WAR, ALTHOUGH HE HAD ARMY SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
HIS SLY HUMOR TOLD AMERICA ABOUT THE TROUBLES OF GRADY THE COW, WHEN IT WAS STUCK IN THE OKLAHOMA SILO A COUPLE OF YEARS AGO.

TOKYO, MAY 14-(AP)-GEN. MATTHEW B. RIDGWAY REVIEWED A DETACHMENT OF WACS TODAY IN HONOR OF THE NINTH BIRTHDAY OF THE WOMENS' ARMY CORPS.
BUT HIS BEAUTIFUL WIFE STOLE THE SHOW.
SHE STOOD GRACEFULLY BESIDE HER HUSBAND ON A REVIEWING STAND IN THE IMPERIAL PLAZA GROUNDS. IT WAS HER FIRST PUBLIC APPEARANCE IN TOKYO.
THE BLACK-HAIRED BEAUTY WITH PIERCING DARK EYES WAS DRESSED IN A BLACK SHANTUNG DRESS, WHITE SILK SCARF, WIDE-BRIMMED BLACK HAT, ELBOW-LENGTH BLACK GLOVES.
AFTER THE REVIEW, GENERAL RIDGWAY TOLD THE WACS:
"WHEN YOUR CORPS WAS ORGANIZED NOT SO VERY LONG AGO IT WAS OFTEN SAID YOU WOULD RELEASE SOLDIERS FOR ACTIVE DUTY. THOSE WORDS WERE POORLY CHOSEN TO EXPRESS WHAT WAS REALLY INTENDED. FOR YOU ARE SOLDIERS PERFORMING SOLDIERS' DUTIES, SUBJECT TO SOLDIERS' DISCIPLINE AND PROUDLY READY, AS I KNOW YOU ARE, TO SHARE WHATEVER THE COUNTRY'S SERVICE MAY DEMAND...."
IT WAS THE FIRST TIME WAC UNITS HERE HAVE BEEN REVIEWED BY A SUPREME COMMANDER SINCE THE ORIGINAL DETACHMENT LANDED IN JAPAN IN NOVEMBER, 1945.
THE WACS TODAY WERE MEMBERS OF THE GHQ WAC COMPANY, COMMANDED BY CAPT. MARY LOUISE SULLIVAN OF 306 SO. 49TH STREET, OMAHA. THEY MARCHED TO MUSIC PLAYED BY THE 293RD ARMY BAND.
AMONG THOSE ON THE REVIEWING STAND WERE LT. COL. MARIA GALLOWAY, 2715 DUNKIRK AVE., NORFOLK, VA., REPRESENTING ARMY NURSES; LT. CMDR., ALBERTA BURK, INDEPENDENCE, IA., REPRESENTING NAVY NURSES; MAJ. CHARLOTTE E. TEMPLE, 2018 MILBOURNE AVE., FLINT, MICH., REPRESENTING THE WOMEN'S AIR FORCE; LT. FRANCISCO VAN DER PLAS, DUTCH NURSES; LT. SHIGLIERA P. STALEMATE (500)

BY JOHN RANDOLPH

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, MAY 14-(AP)-THERE HAS BEEN A LOT OF TALK ABOUT THE KOREAN WAR BECOMING A STALEMATE.

AS A MATTER OF COLD FACT IT HAS BEEN A STALEMATE FOR THE PAST FIVE AND ONE-HALF MONTHS.

EXCEPT FOR THE EVACUATION OF NORTHEAST KOREA AND SOME GUERRILLA FIGHTING IN THE SOUTH, THE MAIN FRONT HAS NEVER MOVED MORE THAN 85 MILES SINCE THE FIRST WEEK OF DECEMBER.

ALL THE SOUND AND FURY OF BATTLE SINCE EARLY DECEMBER HASN'T CHANGED THE REAL MILITARY SITUATION IN KOREA.

THE UNITED NATIONS ARMY UNDER AMERICAN LEADERSHIP IS PLAYING IT COOL, KEEPING OUT OF THE CLINCHES, AND CUTTING UP ITS HUGE ADVERSARY WHEN IT CAN WITHOUT TRYING TOO HARD FOR A KNOCKOUT.

LAST NOVEMBER, THE ALLIES WERE ON THE YALU RIVER, NORTH KOREA WAS ON THE MAT, AND THE REFEREE WAS UP TO THE COUNT OF NINE.

THEN RED CHINA STEPPED IN.

SINCE THEN THE U.N. ARMY HAS ALMOST GONE OUT OF ITS WAY TO AVOID TAKING CHANCES WITH THE CHINESE--ALMOST AS IF THE FAR EAST COMMAND WAS MARKING TIME DELIBERATELY UNTIL THE DIPLOMATS SETTLE THE WAR OR THEIR GOVERNMENTS SEND OVER ENOUGH TROOPS TO WIN IT.

THIS DOESN'T MEAN THAT THE ARMY COMMAND OVER HERE ISN'T PLAYING THE GAME. IT HAS DONE WONDERS CONSIDERING THE ODDS. BUT WHENEVER THE COMMAND HAS HAD A CHOICE BETWEEN A BOLD MOVE OR A CAUTIOUS ONE, IT HAS USUALLY BEEN CAUTIOUS.

NOW, WHEN THE CHINESE ARE OBVIOUSLY REORGANIZING AFTER SOME MURDEROUS LOSSES, THERE SEEMS TO BE LITTLE U.N. DESIRE TO MAKE EVEN SWIFT LIMITED BUT DETERMINED COUNTERATTACKS--ALTHOUGH THIS IS THE BEST TIME TO DO SO.

BUT BOLD OFFENSIVE ACTION AND COUNTERATTACKS, EVEN IF THEY DO NOT RISK THE SAFETY OF THE ARMY, WOULD MEAN CASUALTIES. AND EVER SINCE THE DARK HOURS OF LAST FALL THE COMMAND HAS BEEN EXTRAORDINARILY SENSITIVE ABOUT CASUALTIES AND HAS MADE EVERY EFFORT POSSIBLE TO AVOID THEM.

A50FX

ASIDE FROM THE EVER PRESENT RISKS OF WAR, THE COMMAND HAS TAKEN ONLY TWO REAL CHANCES SINCE DECEMBER. ONE WAS THE PARACHUTE DROP OF THE 187TH AIRBORNE REGIMENT LAST MARCH AT MUNSAN. THE OTHER WAS THE EIGHTH ARMY ORDER FOR THE 23RD REGIMENT TO STAY IN CHIPYONG AND RISK COMPLETE CHINESE ENCIRCLEMENT.

NEITHER OF THESE WAS A RECKLESS DECISION. THE PARATROOPERS ACTUALLY LANDED ALMOST UNOPPOSED AND WERE RELIEVED BY A TANK TASK FORCE BY NIGHTFALL. CHIPYONG WAS A MUCH CLOSER SHAVE, BUT LARGELY BECAUSE--(1) THE CHINESE SIMPLY OBLITERATED THE SOUTHKOREAN EIGHTH DIVISION SCREENING THE TOWN AND (2) BAD WEATHER PREVENTED SOME SUPPLY AIRDROPS.

THE "PLAY IT SAFE" POLICY HAS BEEN A TREMENDOUS SUCCESS IN KEEPING U.N. CASUALTIES DOWN.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO GET ANY OVERALL OFFICIAL FIGURE, BUT BY ANY STANDARD ALLIED LOSSES IN KOREA SINCE DECEMBER MUST BE SENSATIONALLY BELOW THE NORMAL CASUALTY EXPECTATIONS FOR AN ARMY IN THE FIELD.

THERE HAVE BEEN TWO UGLY INCIDENTS SINCE THE STALEMATE BEGAN. ONE WAS THE MID-FEBRUARY MASSACRE NORTH OF HOENGSONG WHEN NEARLY HALF THE 38TH REGIMENT WAS TRAPPED. BUT THIS TOO WAS PARTLY BECAUSE OF THE QUICK DEATH OF THE SOUTH KOREAN EIGHTH DIVISION AND PARTLY BECAUSE THE REGIMENT WAS STRUNG OUT OVER 17 MILES.

THE OTHER UNHAPPY EVENT WAS THE ALMOST TOTAL LOSS OF THE BRITISH GLOUCESTER BATTALION APRIL 23 TO 25 WITH NEARLY 600 CASUALTIES.
